Kids' Activities Are Varied

Dion. Showing them pictures during the record is Mary Prideman. At right, Kathy Barclay helps Chris Hillier work on his craft project under the watchful eyes of Kristy Dohman. The program, in the second week of the first three week session, attracts 110 youngsters daily. Other pictures, page 12.

County Tops Record

Residents of Wayne County raised a record amount in this year's annual Nebraska Easter Seal Society fund campaign.

Contributions have reached $1,500 to date, according to the state Easter Seal office. That is nearly double the $898 figure raised a year ago.

Mrs. Mathilde Harms' of Wayne was responsible for organizing and setting up drives in both the city and rural areas of the county.

Her reply when she learned that donations were way over the figure contributed a year ago: "Maybe it paid to work so hard to contact all those people."

The Nebraska Easter Seal Society and the handicapped Nebraskans who are served by it thank the residents of Wayne County for their generosity, according to a spokesman for the organization. The hard work of all the volunteers who helped surpass the county record is greatly appreciated, the spokesman said.

Through contributions during the annual spring fund drive the Nebraska Easter Seal Society offers to handicapped children and adults therapy, transportation to medical facilities and special schools, day and resident camping, equipment such as wheelchairs, braces, and walkers, medical evaluations, and the like.

Handicapped Nebraskans seeking help should contact their county Easter Seal committee or the state office in Omaha.

Judge Likely to Rule on City Officials' Reply to Suit by Chief of Police

District judge George Dittrick will likely rule July 11 on the reply by Wayne city officials to a suit filed against them by the former chief of police.

Former chief Vern Fairchild in May filed suit against the Wayne mayor and councilmen, asking that he be reinstated as chief and receive pay for the time since his firing in April. Mayor Kent Hall fired Fairchild, chief for nearly eight years, on April 30 following an investigation Fairchild conducted involving local liquor establishments.

Fairchild filed suit May 21 against Hall and councilmen Jim Thomas, Pat Gross, Vernon Russell, Ivan Beeks, Frank Prober, Keith Mostey, Darrel Fuellberth and Harvey Brasch. He said in the suit that he was fired illegally.

The city officials' reply to Fairchild's suit, filed in district court Monday, is a legal move to have the case dismissed. The reply argues that Fairchild has no legal capacity to sue and that his suit does not contain sufficient facts to carry the suit any further.

Lightning Destroys Switch Box on Farm

Lightning destroyed a switch box at the Paul Lessmann farm three miles north and two and a quarter miles east of Wayne about 10 p.m. Sunday.

According to Wayne volunteer fire chief Cliff Pinkelmann, lightning struck the yardlight outside and travelled through the wiring into the house. No other damage was reported, he said.

Wakefield Man Wins 2nd Prize

A Wakefield man, Max Brudigan, is the latest winner in Wayne's Birthday Bucks promotion.

Brudigan won $50 in Birthday Bucks last week by being the person in a Wayne store with the birthday closest to the date.

chosen in a random drawing. He was in Gambles when the date was announced Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

Had a person been present whose birthday fell on the exact date drawn, he or she would have won $300 in Birthday Bucks.

The Birthday Bucks given out weekly in the drawing can be used just like cash in any of the stores or firms taking part in the promotion, now in its third week.

A prize of $300 is offered again this Thursday evening, with the $50 in Birthday Bucks to be awarded if the top prize is not claimed.

Shoppers need not register for the promotion, and no purchases are required.

New Setup Takes Effect

At WS Soon

A new organization setup goes into effect at Wayne State College next month, reducing the number of schools from four to two.

Acting president Dr. Lyle Seymour said the plan is the result of an attempt to streamline the college administration.

The plan, approved by the Board of Trustees of the State Colleges at a meeting in Wayne Saturday, also reduces the number. See NEW SETUP, page 7.

Wayne, Laurel Youths At Youth Ministry Lab

Twenty three high school members of Lutheran churches from the eastern part of the state, including one from Wayne and another from Laurel, are taking part in a Youth Ministry Lab at Midland Lutheran College in Fremont.

The 23 include Vicki Erickson of Wayne and Julie Wallin of Laurel.

The Lab is designed to help the young people, many of them officers of church youth groups, develop capabilities in planning, decision making, problem solving and other leadership skills, according to the Rev. R. B. Turner, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church at Leigh and Lab coordinator.

Three staff members, the Rev. and Mrs. Knight Wells of Valley, Tom Nelson of Omaha and Bea Bailey of Johnson, will be working with Pastor Turner and the young people in their all-day sessions.

The Youth Ministry Lab is an annual workshop sponsored by the Nebraska Synod of the Lutheran Church in America. It began Sunday evening and will conclude Saturday noon.

Wayne Sisters Gain 1st Chair at All-State

Two Wayne sisters, Michele and Stephanie Mendyk, have earned first chair flute and oboe positions in the all-state band division of All-State 1973, now underway at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln.

Michele, who will be a junior this fall, auditioned with 21 other flutists for the first chair position. Stephanie, who will be a senior, was one of four oboists auditioning.

The two youths, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Lee Mendyk, are among high school students from across the state taking part in the three-week program at UNL. The youths receive instruction in music, dance, art, debate and drama.

Many Bikes Not Registered

There may be as many as 300 bicycles in the city of Wayne which are not registered with the police department, according to acting chief E. L. "Pat" Hailey.

Hailey said only 445 bikes were registered by Friday's deadline. That's about 300 fewer than were registered with the police department a year ago, he added.

Registering the bikes helps the police find the owners of those which have been stolen and found later by police, according to Hailey. Police merely have to check their files to see who the bike belongs to so it can be returned to the owner, he said.

Cost of registering bikes is minimal — 50 cents.

MICHELE STEPHANIE

In addition, the two sisters are members of the all-state orchestra and all state choir, and they are receiving private instruction on the flute, violin, oboe and cello.

They have been members of the Wayne High School band, orchestra and chorus as well as the Wayne State College orchestra.

All-staters maintain a rigid schedule, beginning rehearsing early in the morning for a total of 19 public presentations during All-State 1973, which began June 10 and ends June 28.

On Sunday a Centennial Willa Cather Concert will be presented by the all-state orchestra, chorus and soloists. The program, based on the writings of Nebraska author Willa Cather, will be presented at 3 p.m. in Kimball Recital Hall.

The final concert by the band orchestra and chorus will be presented in the Sheldon Sculpture Garden on June 28.

A total of 280 all-staters are attending the event, with 182 enrolled in music, 19 in art, 16 in dance, 18 in debate and 45 in theater.

The two Wayne girls are attending the event through partial scholarships from UNL and the Wayne Music Boosters.

Stoltenberg, Ray Butts and Al Voorhies. Not pictured, B. J. Hirt.

The Wayne Herald needs recipes from area women, men or youngsters for the third annual farmer feeder supplement to be put out the latter part of July.

Anyone who would like to take a stab at disproving the TV dinner rumor is invited to send their specialties to Recipes, c/o The Wayne Herald, 114 Main, Wayne, 68787.

The Dennis Swansons and Eric left Monday for California where he will be stationed. Gerry and Hughie Bleich accompanied them to spend some time.

Defense Leads Wayne Past Norfolk Legion Team, Midgets Remain Perfect

A strong defensive show by the Wayne Legion Club plus some good hitting gave the locals an upset victory over host Norfolk Tuesday night, 6-0. The shutout came on Roger Saul's three hit pitching when Wayne ripped across three runs in the fourth, and three more in the fifth to give the team a 5-1 mark before Wednesday night's lineup with Wakefield.

Five hits sparked the locals in their first scoring opportunity. Saul, Kerry Jech, Kim Baker, Charlie Roland and Bill Schwartz each hit a single after Doug Sturm struck out in the opening of the fourth.

Saul came home on Roland's hit followed by two more visits by Baker and Roland via Schwartz's single.

In the next frame, hits by Baker and Roland -- Baker with a double -- brought across two more runs while an error on Norfolk's third baseman allowed Wayne's final run.

In the Midgets contest, the team upped its perfect record to 7-0 with a 7-2 win over Norfolk. Earle Overin pitched a five-hitter in the seven-inning game, whiffing nine batters.

Catcher Mike Meyer had the hot bat for the night, slamming two singles in three at bats while notching one run batted in. Meyer also scored two runs.

Wayne's biggest strike came in the top of the third when the locals collected four runs after taking a 1-0 lead in the first.

Last Friday night the Midgets added another victory to their record with a 6-3 win over Bancroft.

Overin fired a three-hitter in the seven-inning match after Wayne streaked across three big runs in the opening frame.

Marty Hansen, Paul Mallette and Gordie Cook scored on hits by Ritch Workman and Dave Nuss. The Midgets expanded the 3-0 margin in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings on singles by Overin, Workman and Cook before Bancroft retaliated in the final inning for its three scores.

Friday, both the Legion and Midgets are slated to head for Laurel.

The Hubbard Pee Wees and Midgets stole a pair of games from Allen last Thursday, both coming on one-run margins.

Twelve free passes hurt the area club after Allen limited the visitors to one hit in the team's fourth loss of the season in as many starts.

The Midgets, under the direction of Allen hurler Jeff Creamer, nearly picked off a win in a pitching duel. But miscues turned out to be the deciding factor. Creamer fanned 10 Hubbard players, while allowing only three hits.

Allen's ace pitcher, Paul Snyder, was lost indefinitely with a severely bruised ankle.

Rain Spoils Wayne's Attempt for 3rd Win

Wayne's town team had to settle for a 3-3 deadlock Sunday night after rains stopped play between the locals and winless Dakota City.

The home team had a 3-1 lead after the second, thanks partly to Dennis Paul's home run. That was Paul's second round tripper of the year, the first one coming in the team's first practice game with Wakefield.

Steve Hix and Mike Creighton each got on by a walk before shortstop Randy Helgren cracked a single to score both runners.

It wasn't until the top of the sixth that Wayne's outlook for its third win looked cloudy and the weather showed signs of not cooperating.

Dakota City's catcher started out the frame with a double, followed by the third baseman's free trip to first on an error by Steve Hix.

Left fielder Sailors then hit a single to score the second run before Wayne hurler Mike Ginn settled down to strikeout his next two opponents.

But a substitution in regular lineup changed the momentum of the game when Johnson hit a single to score the third run.

Rain then forced the teams to stop action after seven frames. Unless there is a tie for a place in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League standings involving the two teams, Wayne and Dakota City will not finish the game.

Tonight (Thursday) Wayne will be on the road to South Sioux City before returning Friday to play Crofton.

According to team manager Hank Overin, Crofton is one of the stronger teams in the South Dakota Nebraska town team leagues.

Reber Fires No-Hitter

Wakefield's town team upped its record to 2-1 Sunday night and moved into a two-way tie with Wayne for second place in the Northeast Nebraska League after dropping a 3-0 shutout to South Sioux City.

Lynn Reber fired a no-hitter in the Sunday night contest, facing only 29 men in the nine-inning match. Reber collected 12 strikeouts and walked two.

But the Wakefield hurler also got help from Randy Johnson's round tripper in the top of the first and John Gallu's double in the same inning that set up a 2-0 lead after the first.

Tonight (Thursday) Wakefield will travel to Newcastle before hosting Homer Sunday night.

Laurel Stays In Second In Tri-league

Laurel's town team stayed in second place with a 4-1 record after rain forced postponement of the showdown between the area team and No. 1 ranking Tilden Battle Creek (5-0).

Fans will have to wait until July 5 to see the two teams collide.

In the meantime, Laurel was scheduled to face last place Verdigre (0-6) Wednesday night in the Tri County Amateur Baseball League.

Ponca, Homer on Top Of Northeast League

Ponca and Homer are the new leaders in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League.

Ponca trimmed New Castle, 6-2, while Homer spanked Winnebago, 12-2, during Sunday night's town team action. Both teams are tied for the No. 1 spot with identical 3-1 records.

Wayne, South Sioux City and Newcastle were in a five-way tie with the top two teams last week. Each team at that point had a 2-1 mark.

Wakefield ended South Sioux's bid to stay in the race this week with a 3-0 shutout at the South Sioux City diamond.

Closer to home, Wayne and Dakota City called it quits after seven innings when rain postponed further action in the 3-3 deadlocked match. Main a q e r Hank Overin said the game will not be finished unless it becomes a question of where the locals place in the standings at the end of the season.

Allen made it a double win with a 10-5 win over Jackson Sunday to halt the home team's three-game win streak.

Jeff Creamer picked up another victory after taking over in the fifth from starting pitcher Scott Von Minden.

Brent Chase broke open the game with a bases loaded single in the sixth. Chase and Dave Rahn had two hits each. Randy Lanser and Chuck Peters lashed three hits each.

Today (Thursday) Allen has an open date. On Sunday the area teams face Newcastle at Allen.

The Hubbard Pee Wees and Midgets stole a pair of games from Allen last Thursday, both coming on one-run margins.

Twelve free passes hurt the area club after Allen limited the visitors to one hit in the team's fourth loss of the season in as many starts.

The Midgets, under the direction of Allen hurler Jeff Creamer, nearly picked off a win in a pitching duel. But miscues turned out to be the deciding factor. Creamer fanned 10 Hubbard players, while allowing only three hits.

Allen's ace pitcher, Paul Snyder, was lost indefinitely with a severely bruised ankle.

No Meeting

The Wayne City recreation board cancelled June's regular monthly meeting Monday night and will hold July's meeting on July 16 at 7 p.m. in the fire hall.

President Norma Ehlers said there was not enough business to justify holding the June meeting.

Whorlow Captures Flight at O'Neill

Wayne's Ken Whorlow won the fifth flight at the O'Neill Dad's Golf Tournament Sunday with a 18 hole total of 80.

Whorlow was among 120 golfers who competed in the eight flight competition. Other area men placing were Lyle Garvin, Wayne, third in the fourth flight (89); Hart Vollers, Laurel, fourth in the third flight (87); Ernie Swift, Allen, second in the eighth flight (96).

This Sunday area golfers will have another chance to compete at the men's open golf tournament in Plainview.

Norfolk's Powder Puff Draws Hoskins Gal Back to the Track

What's the mother of five children doing behind the wheel of a modified racing car?

That's an easy question, according to Mrs. Gene Brudigan of Hoskins. "Trying to win."

Sunday night Mrs. Brudigan and five other competitors were ready to tune their engines for the first powder puff derby of the year at Norfolk's Riviera Raceway, but one thing stood in the way — the weather.

Rain dampened the track and the racing spirits for the near capacity crowd ready to view the modified and stock car races.

But it didn't dampen Mrs. Brudigan's spirits. This Sunday night the girls are slated to try again.

For the Hoskins resident, Sunday night will be her first attempt to return to powder puff racing after a year's lapse. "I enjoy racing," the brunette quipped, "mainly because my husband also races." And what a driver he is. Last week Gene was second in the point standings with 91 — four short of leader Gerald Bruggeman, another Hoskins driver.

"Gene got me started in racing — a couple of years ago," she said. "Since then she has picked up two trophies and is looking forward to trying for another."

That isn't too bad considering she races only at Norfolk's track about once a year. Sunday night, she was ready to don her racing helmet and take command of her husband's Budweiser Special. "I do get kind of shaky behind the wheel," she noted, but she remembers her husband's advice once she's out on the track. "Take it easy on the curves, but go like the devil on the straightaways."

The area driver admits she doesn't go full speed all the time. Mrs. Brudigan uses a little caution and goes about half as fast as the car can perform.

Should be interesting though, to see how she does back on the track.

Wayne State basketball coach, Ron Jones might be interested in meeting the new assistant mentor at Chadron State College.

Bob Van Poppel, a three year assistant coach at Wittenberg University at Springfield, Ohio, should have picked up some valuable skills while the Wittenberg team was compiling a 53-21 record and taking the conference title the past two years.

Another reason for coach Jones' interest is that Poppel, 29, may be in line for the head coaching job at Chadron if present coach Mac Peyton retires as planned after the 1973-74 season.

Say, where's all that Wayne town team support? Doesn't anyone out there know that Wayne has another potential winner on its hands?

It seems that when the locals are home the turnout is small, but when they travel to area towns such as Newcastle and Wakefield the other team really has the support.

Despite Sunday night's rainout (with Wayne and Dakota City tied at 3-3) the home team still is a strong contender for the league title.

Maybe some people don't realize that on the whole the majority of Wayne's team is made up of local boys. The main exceptions are two of the three member pitching staff — Paul Eddie and Randy Benish. Mike Ginn, as everyone knows, is a home town lad who is combining his pitching talents with his freiding abilities on the Wayne club.

Watch out for two Wakefield High wrestlers this season. Both Pat Nicholson and Kenny Dolph may have a few surprises in store for their counterparts.

The Trojan grapplers, along with coach Lyle Trullinger, attended a wrestling camp last week at Lake Okoboji. The two matmen, 132 and 98 pounds respectively, should be in good shape, according to Trullinger, after picking up tips from four wrestling greats.

Dan Gable, former Olympic wrestler from Iowa State, and national champs Dale Bahr, Tommy Chesbro and Dave Martin conducted the clinic for the 150 wrestlers at the second session.

Dr. Freeman Decker of Wayne State College did it again. For the third time in four years he won a Master Anglers Award for his 21 pound northern pike.

While fishing in Canada recently with two brothers, grandson and two friends from Lincoln, Dr. Decker caught the hefty fish near Manitoba.

Women Take To The Track This Sunday

Despite heavy rains last Sunday night, racing will go on as usual this Sunday night at Norfolk's Riviera Raceway well, almost as usual.

In addition to the regular feature races, action will continue from last week where the showers cut it short. That means area fans will have a chance to view the powder puff derby. Races begin at 8 p.m.

Last Sunday Hoskins drivers continued their winning ways. In the second heat of the modified car division, Gene Brudigan pulled out from the fifth place spot in the seven car event and nailed his win for the night.

Brother Harold Lee Brudigan came back two heat races later to grab a win. The third member of the Hoskins racing trio, Gerald Bruggeman, won the B feature after earlier placing fifth in the first heat.

In the late model races, Dennis Crippen of Wakefield took some bouncing around in the start of the first heat but managed to end up in the second place spot in a field of five cars. Wayne driver Ron Fink came in fourth in that race.

Last Friday night Gene Brudigan added three wins to his growing list, capturing the A and B features along with a heat race at Columbus' Rebel Raceway.

Harold Brudigan won second in the same heat race as his brother. Bruggeman netted a third in another heat race and sixth in the A feature.

Wayne Girls Take Two From Wakefield

Wayne girls took the best of the three game series with Wakefield Saturday, winning the 12 and under and 15 and under contests.

Catcher Nancy Nuss led the 12 and under group to a 15-5 slaughter with two singles, scoring three runs in three times at bat.

In the 15 and under game, Wayne nipped the area girls, 9-8, mainly with the help of Mary Kovensky's two singles — one good for an RBI.

The 18 and under class found Wakefield more difficult after taking a 6-0 lead going into the fifth inning. There the visitors lashed out with seven big runs on five hits — including a double by shortstop Taylor.

After Wednesday's bye, the local girls will travel to Pender Saturday in the third week of action in the Ralph Bishop League.

In league play last week, Winside fell twice to Pender, 7-6 and 9-7.

Winside's Jean Weible blasted two hits, including a home run and a triple that scored three runs. But the visitors could not get by Pender in the 7-6 squeaker. Mary Landanger took her first loss of the season, making her record 0-1 in the 18 and under group.

In the 15 and under battle, Pender again was victorious, 9-7. Jan Weible collected six RBIs on three hits for Winside.

For the 12 and under group it took 19 runs to better Pender. Jackie Gramberg won her first game as Winside finished with a 19-17 victory.

Joan Bowers, Brenda Voss and Gramberg each had three hits.

After hosting Laurel Wednesday, Winside will draw a bye Saturday.

Ready to Close

ber of departments in the schools from 16 to nine, according to Dr. Seymour.

The schools will be professional and applied studies, headed by Niel Edmunds, and arts and sciences, headed by Irvin Brandt.

Dr. Seymour said the organizational change reflects the legislative budgetary cuts for the state colleges. It also is the result of an attempt to bring the number of administrators more in line with the reduced staff at the college, he said.

The college staff now amounts to 80 full time teachers, down from a high of about 110 in 1971.

according to Dr. Seymour. The cuts have been the results of budgetary cuts in recent years, he said.

Dr. Seymour said that the college is starting to recognize that it has to serve the entire region of Northeast Nebraska. It is already starting to do that, he said, by offering extension courses and will continue the emphasis by offering a variety of courses which should appeal to many persons who do not necessarily wish to receive a college degree.

EXTENSION NOTES

Myrtle Anderson

Cold Storage on Camping Trips
Keeping perishable food cold to insure safe eating on camping trips takes planning, but with a good ice chest it should be no problem.

Generally, count on ice taking up almost half of the space in the chest and lasting possibly two or three days. Fresh water frozen at home in a plastic container and used in the chest can provide drinking water as it melts.

A good feature to look for when selecting an ice chest is a removable food tray. It can serve for preventing foods from getting ruined from wetness as the ice melts, and is also handy for storing a number of small, perishable items.

For picnics or one-day trips, all-foam coolers will keep food and beverages cool and spoilage-free, but they are not well enough insulated to keep food longer than two days. They are lightweight and inexpensive and usually last two seasons.

For longer trips, metal and plastic coated insulated coolers serve as portable outdoor refrigerators. They are sturdy and durable, coming in chest and upright models. The uprights have freezing compartments and shelves just like a refrigerator. They can be chilled with ice or with re-usable packaged refrigerants that must first be chilled in a conventional freezer. Look for models with tight fitting, hinged, lockable doors and bottom-drain plugs.

Insulated picnic jugs, vacuum bottles and water carriers are available in various sizes from one to five gallons. There are even collapsible plastic water carriers which fold up easily when not in use. When possible, carry a separate chest or insulated bag for beverages. This helps protect the perishable foods from frequent and unnecessary exposure to warm air and also saves the ice. Never store carbonated beverages in vacuum containers, as carbonation can build up pressure enough in the bottle to break its glass lining.

Because meat and poultry spoil easily, it is a good practice to pre-cook some of these foods at home and pack them frozen. Finish the cooking over a campfire as the food thaws. Freezing also prolongs their storage life in the ice chest.

It is best to keep at a minimum the number and kinds of foods that require special handling and cold storage. Whenever possible and practical, buy perishable foods in small sizes for use at one time.

Ugly and dangerous

IT'S GOING ONTO A YEAR NOW since this bridge northeast of Wayne collapsed following a heavy rain. Piling and rubble still remain in the creek bed waiting to be removed, however, and the temporary warning structures have yet to be replaced with something permanent and safe. The Wayne County superintendent of roads said this week that plans are in the works to remove the pilings, hopefully within a few days, and to erect barricades on the roads on each side of the creek. We hope county officials consider this one of the most important tasks they have to accomplish this summer. As it is now, the site is ugly and dangerous.

OBSERVATIONS

Interesting decision

The Nebraska Supreme Court ruled last week that it is not illegal for lawmakers to present potential lawbreakers with "a favorable opportunity" to violate the law.

According to the court, such an action doesn't constitute illegal "entrapment," a term used to connote situations where a person was enticed into breaking the law by a law officer.

The court made the ruling in upholding a Box Butte County district court conviction of a person for distributing or delivering marijuana.

Although that ruling pertained to the arrest of a person on distributing or delivering marijuana, we wonder if it does not apply to Wayne in the case involving the firing of the chief of police following his investigations of local liquor establishments. The chief decided that the best way to find out if laws were being broken in the businesses was to send somebody into them to see if spiking of beer would be allowed and to see if drinks could be purchased without required memberships. He was fired by the mayor for that decision.

Hopefully, the district court in Wayne County will soon decide whether the mayor had adequate and legal jurisdiction for firing the police chief. The deadline for city officials to reply to the chief's suit against them in district court is Monday.

We can only hope that neither side — the chief nor the city officials — take up delaying tactics which will postpone bringing the case before the court. There are some important issues which will be decided in this case, and it will be in the best interests of everybody — city officials, police chief and the public — to have them decided as quickly as possible.

Grants are costly

We've said several times that we would be better off if we did away with federal government handouts and started financing local projects with local funds.

A recently completed study shows why we would benefit by doing just that.

Wayne County paid out some $1,431,000 in federal income and excise taxes which were allocated to the federal grants-in-aid programs, according to the study. What did the county receive in return? About $1,430,000.

The state as a whole also came out on the short end in the deal, paying out $235,000,000 for the $284,000,000 received. At that rate, Nebraskans are paying $1.15 for every $1 of aid in matching funds.

Residents of this county are pulling the wool over their own eyes when they look upon these grants from the federal government as some gift which we should feel grateful for receiving. We're paying for them, buddy, and they're costing more than they are worth.

Attorney general's office to decide if state taxpayers will get tax cut

LINCOLN — The Statehouse was atwitter last week about the tax cut bill. Gov. J. James Exon, you will recall, signed a legislative bill rolling the state personal income tax rate for this year back from 15 per cent to 13 per cent.

At the same time, Exon announced he was vetoing a bill which directed the State Board of Equalization, which sets the sales and income tax levies, to consider not only the appropriations for the coming fiscal year, but the obligations the state faces in the following two fiscal periods.

An obligation is a payment the state knows it will have to make eventually, even though the money hasn't been appropriated yet. Homestead exemption, for example, requires the state to reimburse local governments for property taxes they would have collected if it weren't for the exemptions.

It was Exon's theory that the tax rates shouldn't be tied to future payments, while the Legislature contended that it was good business to build up a kitty for expenditures that would have to be made eventually.

In vetoing the bill with the three-year obligation angle, Exon concedes he didn't realize the tax cut bill also contained the same language. It was there on the assumption that the other bill would have passed and, since the same section of the statutes was involved, the second measure had to include the earlier language or it would have, in effect, been removed by the second bill.

The governor now claims that, by vetoing the first bill, he had scratched the language from the second measure at the same time. Not so, claim some legislative scholars.

The attorney general's office has been asked for an opinion and there hadn't been an answer by the middle of last week.

If the attorney general holds that Exon is bound by the three-year obligation language contained in the tax-cut bill even though he had vetoed the same language in another bill, it surely will mean 1974 tax rates will climb.

The governor publicly expressed the hope that the 13 per cent income tax rate could be extended into 1974. If, however, the equalization board, which he heads, has to take note of future obligations, the chances of continuing the 13 per cent levy appear dim.

Needle Airl Banned

The State Board of Examiners in Medicine and Surgery has decided there isn't enough known yet about the Oriental practice of acupuncture to allow Nebraska physicians to use it.

The board adopted a policy statement saying the practice could be used only as experiments in medical schools and, even then, the board wanted an advance look at what was planned and for a peer committee to review the project after it was completed.

Unknown to the board when it established its policy, an Omaha anesthesiologist, Dr. David Rosenberg, has been using acupuncture procedures on some patients.

A board representative said Rosenberg wasn't in any trouble because he would have had no way of knowing that the policy banning the needle procedures was in the works.

Rent-an-Expert Program Started

Rather than allow its staff specialists moonlight as consultants for other state agencies at extra pay, the University of Nebraska has instituted a program of "renting" them out.

Dr. Howard Neville, NU vice president for administration, said the program makes sense and ought to be fostered.

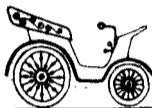

So far, only one staff member has been involved. He is George Miller, administrator of the UNL physical plant.

Miller continues to receive his full salary from UNL, $24,700, but the State Building Commission will reimburse the university for that portion of Miller's time he spends helping the commission with the construction of the new state office building.

Miller has been named project manager for that building and he expects to spend about one-third of his time working on commission business.

Neville said the theory is that a salaried employee is expected to work fulltime for the state. If his skills or talents are borrowed by another agency than his employer, the second agency ought to reimburse the home agency, not the employee.

Neville said the university has many talent resources which could be of value to other agencies — chemists to help with special laboratory problems, educators to assist with school matters, or, as in Miller's case, construction specialists to help with building projects.

WAY BACK WHEN

10 Years Ago

June 19, 1963: Ralph M. Carhart, Grand Master of Masons of Nebraska, will be honored at a banquet Friday evening at the Wayne State College Student Center by the Wayne Lodge No. 120 AF & AM. Work on improving the Girl Scout cabin has reached a high pitch with contributions from organizations, donated labor and money from Scout projects. The first annual Carrol "Play Day" was held last Sunday at the riding arena at Carrol. Approximately 125 horses were entered. A group of neighbors assembled at the Eldon Thies farm last Wednesday to mow hay and cultivate corn. Mr. Thies was injured several weeks ago in a power post hole digger accident and is a patient at a Norfolk hospital. A former Wayne resident, Dr. Kenneth Preston, will leave for a year's stay in Egypt on a Fulbright Grant.

15 Years Ago

June 26, 1958: Good neighbors cultivated corn and baled hay at the Monte Bomer farm southeast of Wayne this week. Bomer is recuperating at home following a light stroke. Planes from a four state area are expected at the flight breakfast and airport dedication Sunday morning at the Wayne airport. Coleridge will observe its seventy-fifth birthday with a diamond jubilee celebration July 1, 3 and 4. Mrs. Marilyn McGinnis, South Sioux City, has been named Clerk of the Wayne County Selective Service Board. A vocal solo by Monte McMahon, Wayne High vocal instructor, will be featured at Friday's weekly concert by the Wayne city band. Rev. T. H. Buehner will deliver his farewell sermon at Immanuel Lutheran Church northeast of Wayne Sunday morning.

20 Years Ago

June 18, 1953: Inspection of outstanding farming operations in the Wayne area is scheduled Wednesday when the Wayne and Dixon County Feeders Associations hold their annual farm tour. Wayne County Sheriff Hans Tietgen is offering a reward of $50 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the parties responsible for malicious destruction of rural school property in Wayne County. Wayne Woman's Club will hold its spring garden tour Sunday. Mrs. Beverly Jacobson was named president of the Wakefield American Legion Auxiliary last Monday. Ervin Bottinger suffered a badly broken leg last Monday when struck by falling bricks while at the Dick Utech farm. A committee of Wayne Lions Club members will meet to discuss the possibility of making usable the Girl Scout cabin on East Fourth Street.

25 Years Ago

June 24, 1948: Mrs. Eleanor C. Thesen, Omaha, will be housemother at Nelhardt Hall, according to an announcement of the college. Heading the American Legion celebration in Wayne July 3 and 4 will be the White Horse Show from the ranch of Cal and Ruth Thompson at Naper. Wayne business firms will close all day Monday, July 4, the Chamber of Commerce decided Monday evening at a regular business session. Twenty Wayne County youngsters attended a district 4-H camp last Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Stanton. Army worms constitute a new threat to crops in Wayne County, according to County Agent D. E. Warner, who said that approximately 30 farmers have reported damage to their fields by this pest.

30 Years Ago

July 1, 1943: Billie Witte, son of Mrs. Mildred Witte, Winside, suffered cuts on the head and severe bruises Tuesday when the team he was driving, hitched to a rake, ran away at Charles Farran's where he was helping put up hay. A new 2 1/2 h.p. Champion fire siren has been purchased by the village of Winside and fire department. A Fellowship meeting was held at the Methodist Church Tuesday evening.

National Chamber comments on . . . Cost of government, New York's phone bill

What necessities are taking the biggest share of the family budget? Food? Housing? Clothing?

All three have gone up over the last five years, according to government figures. The cost of food has gone up 26 per cent, housing up 31 per cent and clothing up 25 per cent.

But the biggest jump of all has been the cost of government — up 60 per cent.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States believes this is an excellent reason for bringing government spending under control.

Do taxpayers actually support striking workers? The Chamber of Commerce of the United States answers in the affirmative and offers this striking example:

In 1971, striking telephone workers in New York state elected to stay off the job after a nationwide one-week strike was called off by their union. The New York unions stayed out for an additional six months.

How did they do it? New York allows strikers to draw unemployment compensation as well as the usual welfare benefits like food stamps. Up to $75 a week. The New York Telephone Co., which by law has to maintain a fund for unemployment compensation purposes, watched its $41 million account eaten away to the point where it owed the fund more than half a million dollars at the strike's end.

The company not only had to finance the strike against itself, but now it has had to raise its contribution to the unemployment compensation fund from $4 million in 1971 to $12.3 million in 1972, $14.9 million in 1973, and $13.5 million in 1974.

How's your phone bill, New York?

Maryland's court of special appeals has overturned part of the sentence of a confessed murderer-rapist which would have compelled him to make restitution to his victim's children.

The court ruled that the sentence, ordering him to pay 40 per cent of his wages indefinitely, if and when he is paroled, "is akin to subjecting (him) to a state of penance."

But the Chamber of Commerce of the United States says wait a minute. Aren't we citizens compelled by law to pay nearly 40 per cent of our income in the form of taxes to all levels of government? And if looks like this onerous burden will continue indefinitely — and could increase.

Is this akin to being reduced to a nation of peons? And to what court can we noncriminals appeal?

All industries are affected by an increase in the federal minimum wage, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States maintains. When the wage floor goes up, wages above the minimum also rise to maintain differentials between skill levels.

And when labor costs go up, either prices increase or workers are laid off — to keep total costs at a competitive level.

Hardest hit are workers in low wage, small profit-margin industries. They are the most prone to layoff and can afford it the least. Employers in these industries, as well, may find that costs no longer allow them to be competitive. The result: A shutdown and loss of jobs for the community.

In its zeal to provide everyone with a higher wage, Congress closes the door of opportunity to those who need it the most: Our youth. Unemployment rates among those under 21, particularly minorities, are several times the national average.

Many businesses cannot afford to pay teenagers a higher minimum. Colleges and universities, which provide numerous jobs for students, face a similar problem. Financially hard-pressed private institutions may have to lay off student employees. Public universities would have to demand a larger share of our taxes.

Congress, if it does act on higher minimum wages, should certainly provide provisions for a Youth Opportunity Wage. It would keep more teenagers on the job and open job opportunities for additional youngsters.

Redwood Falls, Minn., Gazette: "The American farmer is getting too little commendation for it, but economists are pointing out that agricultural products are fast becoming, or already are, the only thing which the United States can produce as cheaply as it is produced elsewhere in the world — free or otherwise. It's a peace factor, too. More than our armaments, our food, and their need for it, are believed by some observers to have kept China and Russia out of the Vietnam War."

Junior Leaders
Junior leaders are leading the way in Wayne County.

An example of this is when they recently organized transportation, selected instructors, found the livestock and even did the scoring for a 4-H junior leader-sponsored livestock judging workshop. There was beef judging at the Bob Thomsen farm, swine judging at Kenneth Ramseys farm (Reed Anderson furnished the pigs), sheep judging at the Allen Spittgerber farm and dairy judging at the John Anderson farm.

There is a lot of organizational work required to put on a workshop like this, but the junior leader organization did all of it. Their leaders are Mrs. Merrill Baier and Mrs. Wallace Anderson.

Teaching Old Dogs New Tricks
There is an old saying that you can't teach an old dog new tricks, and it may be right. These young 4-H'ers picked up a lot of livestock judging pointers in a hurry at the judging workshop. I was especially watching young Mike Finn, age 11, as he carefully listened to pointers on judging hogs from judge Bob Fritschen, area swine specialist, then he put the instruction to good use by judging the swine class correctly. I'm sure a lot of us "old dogs" wouldn't have done half as well as these young 4-H'ers did.

Demonstration
Wayne County, like many counties, tends to have most demonstrations based on foods, clothing, first-aid and other similar projects that can be easily demonstrated at the city auditorium.

But this year it's going to be different. A week or so ago I was at the Loyal Lassies 4-H Club meeting, and Cindy Bull asked me why 4-H'ers couldn't demonstrate using live animals. I said they could, and before I knew it I had been talked into having not one, but two, demonstration contests — one at the city auditorium and the other at the fair grounds for demonstrations involving cattle, rabbits, chickens or you name it. It should prove interesting.

New Things at the Fair
Several changes are going to be made in the 4-H part of the county fair this year. A livestock herdsman contest will be started by teams of leaders and 4-H'ers. Each 4-H club's livestock exhibit will be judged for neatness and attractiveness, and the club that wins top honors will receive a trophy from the fair board.

Another new contest at the fair will be the judging of 4-H club project booths. Booths also will be judged on the basis of attractiveness, with the fair board presenting a trophy to the winning club.

In the beef, sheep and swine-breeding divisions there will be separate divisions for registered animals and animals that are either grade or crossbred. The purpose of this new division is to make 4-H more practical.

Bicycle Rodeo

You ever hear of a bicycle rodeo? Well, we are going to have one for kids enrolled in the 4-H bicycle project. It's a lot of fun, and the bicycle project is an especially good project for young boys or girls living in town.

Gardening Tips

Q. How can sunflower seeds be prepared for eating?
A. Sunflower seeds can be eaten raw or roasted. If you want them salty, soak them in salt brine first, then put them in a pan and roast them. Taste occasionally to judge when they are done.

Q. How can you get rid of flea beetles?
A. To rid your tomatoes, etc. of flea beetles, spray or dust with methoxychlor or Sevin with one or two applications 10 to 15 days apart.

Q. What should be used to get rid of poison ivy?
A. In order to stop poison ivy, apply Silvex or ask at your local nursery for a product made specifically for control of poison ivy.

Herbicides Won't Work All the Time, May Fail Some Years, Expert Says

A herbicide is not something that will work 100 per cent of the time. In a bad year even the most dependable chemicals can fail.

That is the opinion of University of Nebraska Lincoln extension agricultural engineer Del Lane in relation to the advantages of cultivation for weed control.

It costs less than $1.50 per acre to cultivate corn once (not including labor), so the return per acre is potentially high for the dollars invested, Lane pointed out.

Cultivation has the added advantage of combining weed control with improved air and water circulation in the soil, he said. This is particularly true of crusting soils.

Lane warned that over cultivation can break down soil structure, thus reducing air volume and decreasing potential productivity.

He said there is no rule of thumb for deciding how much cultivation is enough. Crusting clay type soils will require more tillage than coarse, broken soil. The fastest and most economical way for cultivation is with a rotary hoe on lightly crusted soil before weeds have emerged. When working properly the lines will pick up small chunks and toss them in the air. This uproots weed seedlings and covers others over. It may be necessary to weight the hoe for the desired penetration.

Since weeds usually germinate near the surface and crop seeds more deeply, the rotary hoe kills most weeds without damaging the seeds. Crop stands may be reduced slightly, but the improved soil condition more than makes up for the loss.

Rotary cultivators, a cross between normal cultivators and rotary hoes, springy shanks and shields are all gaining popularity, Lane said.

A recent University of Wisconsin survey shows that cultivation also helps to get rid of certain insecticide residues. It was found that cultivated soils contained 76 to 82 per cent less residues than non cultivated soils of the same type.

Gardening Tips

Unguided Missiles
Before mowing pick up all objects that might become a dangerous missile if caught by rotary mower blade.

Keep children away from the area being mowed to avoid injury from flying wire or other objects.

Remember a power mower is a dangerous machine and should be operated by an adult or a responsible teenager.

Kiwanians Vote To Exclude Women Members

Wayne Kiwanians voted Monday to exclude women from their organization during a straw vote election before next week's annual national convention. The Rev. Donovan Peterson cast the only vote in favor of women participating, noting that "they have the same right." The members were to have heard from a spokesman from the Norfolk city administrator's office on the new type of city government adopted by Norfolk. According to Kiwanis president Bob Carhart, the representative was not able to attend the meeting.

'Don't Wait To Apply for SS Number'

People getting a social security number for the first time should apply at least several weeks before they'll need it, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk. Applications from people who don't recall having had a social security number before generally are screened against social security central files in Baltimore to make sure a second number isn't issued to the same person. "Screening takes time, so apply for your social security number early and you'll have it when you need it — when you get a job covered by social security," he said.

A worker builds retirement, disability, and survivors protection for himself and his family by work and earnings credited to his nine-digit social security number. "Your social security number is yours alone and remains the same for life," he said. "When you get a job covered by social security, you should make sure your employer copies your name and number correctly from your social security card to his records."

$320,000 Designated Toward Construction of Conservation Projects

Fiscal Budget Proposed For Lower Elkhorn NRD!

A proposed budget for fiscal 1974 was adopted at the May 24, 1973 Board Meeting of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District in Norfolk. The Board of Directors have tentatively set a 1 mill levy to finance the Land and Water Assistance program, Conservation Construction, and various other Land and Water Conservation measures that are of benefit to the general public.

Major items of the budget are construction, personnel, operations and maintenance. 80 per cent or .8 mill of the proposed budget is allocated for use in the Land and Water Assistance Program, Land Purchase, Rights of Ways and Construction on Public Projects.

Sixteen hundredths of one mill will be designated for personnel. Of this portion, salaries of the General Manager, Assistant Managers and fifteen full and part-time clerks must be paid and finally, four hundredths of one mill will be set aside for operations and maintenance of equipment for tree planting, grass seeding and maintenance of recreational facilities.

The one mill levy is the maximum levy allowed by law for a Natural Resources District. Major changes which prompted the proposal was the cancellation of reap cost sharing funds which prompted the installation of the Lower Elkhorn's Land and Water Development Assistance program, and the need for financial assistance by county boards, landowners, and cities to prevent pollution and degradation of our land and water.

A public hearing on the proposed budget is set for Thursday evening June 28, 1973 at 8:30 p.m. at the office of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District on South Highway 81 near Norfolk. All residents of the thirteen county area administered by the Lower Elkhorn NRD are invited to be present at this meeting to air their opinions concerning the proposals. After all, these proposals affect your taxes and in what manner your tax dollars are distributed!!!

Mayor to Recommend City Hire New Chief During Council Meet

Wayne mayor Kent Hall will recommend that the city council approve hiring a Fremont policeman as Wayne chief of police at Tuesday night's regular council meeting.

Hall said he would recommend the council hire Bob Evers, member of the Fremont police force and chief of police at North Bend.

Evers would replace Vern Fairchild, fired earlier this year by Hall following an investigation of local liquor establishments.

City ordinance requires that the council approve appointment of the chief of police upon the mayor's recommendation.

Hall also will make several other appointments during the evening. Among them will be persons to take over for Mern Mordhorst, Clele Sharer and Larry King on the planning commission; Jerry Hix on the recreation board; Richard Arett, Rowan Wittse and Willis

Johnson on the board of adjustment, and Ed Smith, Dick Banister, Larry DeForge, Al Koplitz and Frank Prather on the advisory committee on aging.

Also scheduled for council consideration during the meeting, slated for 7:30 p.m. at the Woman's Club room at the city auditorium, is the exclusive franchise agreement for garbage hauling in the city.

Council is considering entering into a franchise agreement with councilman Vernon Russell. The agreement could come up for a vote following its third reading Tuesday night.

Also on the agenda are annexation procedures involving three plots of land along the southwest and west edges of the city, discussion of an ordinance changing the administrative makeup of the city, consideration of the budget for the coming year and agreements involving use of airport facilities.

Public Invited to Attend St. Mary's Reading Talks

The public is invited to attend a series of three reading lectures sponsored by St. Mary's Catholic School Board.

The talks, to be held at 8:30 p.m. at the school hall, are scheduled for three consecutive Wednesdays beginning this week.

Speaker will be Sister M. Jamesine, new principal at St. Mary's. Sister Jamesine spent eight summers working in a reading clinic at Alverno College in Milwaukee, where she had teachers under her in a school administration course. She also has worked as a speech therapist and served as principal of large and small schools in Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana, New York and Nebraska.

SISTER M. JAMESINE

The 45-minute talks are expected to appeal to parents, grandparents and babysitters as well as individuals interested in education. The series will offer tips on helping the child of various ages learn to read.

The first talk will concern the parents' role in forming an attitude of reading readiness from the cradle to six years of age.

The second talk in the series will focus on ways the child can be helped at home after he begins school, and the third session will concern reading and the teenager.

Question and answer sessions will conclude each evening's program, and coffee will be served afterward.

Adjusted Family Income for FHA Loans Upped

The adjusted family income limit which governs the eligibility of moderate income families for rural housing loans made through the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) has been increased in Nebraska from $9,500 to $10,600, according to LaVern Ostendorf, FHA county supervisor in Wayne.

Ostendorf explained that FHA provides financing to rural families for construction, purchase and/or remodeling of homes in towns and communities with a population of less than 10,000.

Adjusted family income is determined by first deducting from the family's gross income one-half of the wife's income if she is not the primary wage earner, he said. A further deduction of 5 per cent of the adjusted gross income plus $300 for each minor child is made to determine the adjusted family income, he added.

FHA furnishes credit to rural families who are unable to get financing through local banks, savings and loan associations and other commercial lending institutions. Ostendorf said that FHA loans are also made for multi-family rental housing, for buying, developing and operating family farms, and for rural water and waste disposal systems.

'How did you say that bean plant reacted when you pinched it?'

Social scientists worry about a communications gap, and Doc for Doolittle talks to the animals.

Dr. Bob Parenti, on the other hand, "talks" to plants (some times even pinching them) — and gets feedback.

Dr. Parenti, associate professor of biology at Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia, and student assistant Greg Mears communicate regularly with plants.

Dr. Parenti, son of Wayne resident Mrs. Dorothy Parenti, notes that scientists throughout the world are coming to these conclusions following careful laboratory experiments.

—Plants have emotions similar to those of humans.

—Plants respond to affection.

—Plants can be adapted to the service of mankind.

A 1950 graduate of Hahn High School and 1968 graduate of Wayne State College, Dr. Parenti and Mears started testing a green bean plant soon after Dr. Parenti was requested to give a lecture on plant "sensitivity." The team based their initial experiments on those first used in 1966 by Cleve Backster, a polygraph expert who had worked as an interrogator for the Central Intelligence.

Backster used a galvanometer, an impulse measuring device which is modified with a polygraph apparatus for the detection tests, to record a philodendron's responses to various stimuli. Electrodes were attached

Eldon Schuler arrived in Wayne earlier this month to serve the Grace Bible congregation recently organized here.

The church, which started with 16 charter members, holds Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. each Sunday, worship at 11 and Bible study at 7:30 p.m. at the 506 Sherman St. residence of Mr. and Mrs. Merl Marshall. The Wednesday evening Sunday school, teaching, meeting and doctrinal Bible study meeting are held at the Jerry Malcolm residence at 413 Oak Drive. Members also meet at the Malcolm residence on Thursday evenings before canvassing.

The church is a completely independent work and is not affiliated with the National Council of Churches.

O'Neill Store Head McDonald's Manager

The former manager of the J.M. McDonald store in O'Neill is now in charge of the store in Wayne.

He is Neil Dinges, who had been manager at O'Neill for about three years before taking over the Wayne store last week.

Dinges replaces Don Mangers, who has been named manager of the J.M. McDonald store in Hastings.

Prior to moving to O'Neill, Dinges was with McDonald's stores as manager or assistant manager at Smith Center, Dorr, City, Wichita and Topeka in Kansas. A native of Dodge City, he began with the company there as a trainee, later moving to Eldorado, Kan., as a trainee before becoming assistant manager at Topeka.

Dinges graduated from high school and college at Dakota City.

He and his wife, Barbara, have three children: Terri, 10, Jeanette, eight, and Brian, five.

Assisting Dinges in managing the Wayne store is Dean Mischoud, assistant manager for about the past six weeks. Mischoud is from Clyde, Kan.

Mangers, who took over the Hastings store last week, was manager of the Wayne store for just over three years. A Hastings native, he had earlier worked in McDonald's stores in Beloit and Hays in Kansas and Beatrice and York in Nebraska.

He and his wife, Judy, have four children: Perry, 12, Dan, 10, Denise, nine and Mark, four. J.M. McDonald Co. operates stores throughout the Midwest, with most of them located in Kansas and Nebraska. Other stores are located in California, Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Montana, Idaho and Arizona.

Dinges graduated from high school and college at Dakota City.

Federal Funds To-WS Total $66,297

Wayne State College will get $66,297 in federal funds to make loans to 147 students, according to Congressman Charles Thone.

Thone said the funds are part of $1,448,567 the federal government is making available to 11 colleges and schools in Nebraska's first congressional district. The funds will be used to make loans to 3,213 students.

Thone added that the federal money will provide 90 per cent of the new capital needed for the loans. The money will be matched by 10 per cent by each institution.

Also receiving federal funds will be Northeast Nebraska Technical Community College at Norfolk, $13,826 for 30 student loans.

TRAFFIC CONFUSION at Seventh and Main will be cured, says the state roads department. Overhead signs will go up, new directional arrows will go down in a few days.

State Says It Will Correct 7th, Main Traffic Confusion

New arrows will be painted on the pavement and overhead signs will be installed at Seventh and Main in Wayne, according to a Department of Roads official.

Jim Person of Norfolk, DOR highway liaison officer, said Thursday that the work may be done sometime this week.

He said the present arrows painted on the pavement will be removed and more easily understood arrows will be painted in their place.

Also, directional signs will be hung from the traffic light arms extending over the intersection to further help drivers determine which lane they are to be in, he added.

Pearson noted that the directional signals which were painted on the pavement a few weeks ago are not correct and are confusing to motorists using the intersection. The error resulted from misreading of intersection plans, he said.

City clerk-administrator Dan Sherry Wednesday received a letter from a DOR traffic engineer in Lincoln saying that overhead signs are being fabricated and will be sent to Wayne for installation as soon as they are finished. The engineer requested that city employees install them since the state has no equipment in this area for that type of work.

Sherry earlier this month at the request of the city council wrote to the state roads department asking for overhead signs.

A few years ago city officials attempted to have the state install overhead signs at the intersection, but the state said they were not necessary.

The confusing directional signals on the pavement and the need for overhead signs have been mentioned and pictured editorially in The Wayne Herald several times in recent weeks.

Zany Sale Is Tuesday Night

Stores in Wayne will close at 5 p.m. Tuesday, then open again at 7 o'clock for the annual Moonlight Madness sale.

Many stores will remain open until 10 p.m., with a few possibly staying open later if they still have items to sell.

Employees have a special incentive for dressing up in the craziest, zaniest or wildest bedtime fashions.

Cash prizes of $20 each will be given the best dressed male and female employees during the promotion.

Cash prizes of $10 each will go to the men and women who come in second in the judging.

A special feature of this year's promotion will be the Artie Schmidt dance band which will be playing up and down the business district during the promotion.

Winter of '68-69, Christmas Rushes Stand Out for Dixon Postal Workers

Anthony McGowen remembers the winter of 1968-69 as the roughest one for him. Mrs. Irma Anderson says she'll always remember the Christmas rushes.

For both of these Dixon residents, those memories are something that won't soon be forgotten — especially after working a total of 52 years for the Dixon post office.

Effective last Thursday, Mrs. Anderson retired from the service after spending 21 years as a clerk in the Dixon office.

"It wasn't my idea to quit," she said, "but the office is being dropped from a third class rating to fourth class. As a result my job has been eliminated."

Dixon postmaster Lowell Saunders explained that the office received worst last week it would be reduced in class because the number of postal receipts (number of stamps sold, box rental, etc.) went down.

"I was offered a clerk's job in Norfolk," Mrs. Anderson added, "but lifting those 70-pound bags would be too much for me."

Although Mrs. Anderson only worked on Saturday's, she still enjoyed the Christmas rushes when mail from all around the country and from different parts of Nebraska flowed into the office.

"If I had time I would run to the map and check to see where

MRS. IRMA ANDERSON is not discouraged with the elimination of her job. Although she would like to continue in the Dixon post office, she'll always remember her 22 years in the little wooden building, especially the happy times during the Christmas mail rush.

Town Team Spills South Sioux, 6-1

Wayne finally got its third victory in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League Thursday night, spilling South Sioux City, 6-1.

The locals jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the opening frame when second baseman Jim Clark took first on a walk, stole second and third before coming home on catcher Dennis Paul's single. But that was all the scoring until the eighth inning.

Both teams drew a dry spell with Wayne hurler Paul Eddie and South Sioux's McDonald each fanning 10 batters.

Wayne then broke loose with five runs in the top of the eighth. Paul again was responsible for two of those scores when he blasted a fly to center field only to have South Sioux's fielder drop the ball.

Another error — this time on the left fielder — put Eddie on base before Mike Creighton's single scored two more runners. The final score came on an error by SSC's first baseman, allowing Steve Hix to take first while Creighton crossed the plate.

Altogether, Wayne had seven hits, including a double by Randy Benish. June 17 the home squad had to settle for a 3-3 tie with Dakota City after rain forced cancellation of the team's chance for its third win.

South Sioux, which was tied with Newcastle at 2-2, took a 2-3 mark going into Sunday's match with Newcastle.

Wayne took its 3-1 mark against Winnebago at home Sunday.

In other Thursday night action, Wakefield dropped its second game in the league to Newcastle, 6-1. The area squad, minus its top two pitchers, went with John Gallu of Norfolk.

Newcastle had a 1-0 lead after the first, then added four in the third and one in the seventh. The area team got its lone run in the fifth.

Wakefield, now 2-2, was scheduled to face Homer Sunday at the Wakefield diamond before taking on Dakota City the following Sunday.

The only other score available was Winnebago's initial win, 4-3, over winless Dakota City.

Friday night the Wayne team boosted its season mark to 8-1 with an 8-4 win over Lewis and Clark League leader Crofton.

Shortstop Paul Eddie had a triple for one of the highlights of the night, scoring two Wayne runners in the bottom of the seventh.

Randy Benish took the win, delivering a seven-hitter.

Paul Powers Potent Wakefield Past Error-Plagued Legion, 5-3; Midgets Win Number 8, 7-2

By BOB BARTLETT
Bruce Paul is a jinx. For the second time in two years the ace right-hander has helped deliver a victory over the Wayne Legion team with his outstanding pitching.

Wednesday night Paul, working in relief, fanned seven Wayne players to preserve Wakefield's 5-3 win over the once-defeated local club.

Paul, coming in for starter Sam Utecht in the fourth, finished the no-hitter after three Wayne runners scored.

The visitors, now 2-0 in Ralph Bishop League, ripped the game open with two runs in the second and three more in the torrid third frame.

That error-plagued third inning opened up with Wakefield's center fielder Bob Twite hitting a single. Randy Hallstrom then made it to first on an error by Wayne first sacker Doug Sturm to put runners at second and third.

After pitcher Sam Utecht struck out and runners had advanced to second and third, Keith Siebrandt hit what appeared to be a sacrifice bunt.

With Twite racing in from third, Wayne hurler Charlie Roland quickly picked up the ball and decided to chase Siebrandt. But after tagging him, Roland dropped the ball to allow the runner to make it to first.

Another miscue, this time by third baseman Terry Pfeiffer, filled the bases for Wakefield with Steve Kay going to first.

Young second baseman Dave Rouse, who was 0-2 at the plate, picked the right time to connect for a single. The sparky right-hander lofted one out to center field — good enough for Wakefield's two additional scores.

But then the house broke loose.

Key, in an attempt to boost the score, was caught between third and home. After a mad dash to the plate — dumping both the Wayne catcher and umpire — Kay was called out. Seconds later, it looked like Rouse, rounding second, would get tagged at third in another attempted steal. But a wild throw over Pfeiffer's head was all the incentive Rouse needed to try and score.

Again a wild melen took place when Rouse tried to slide into home and was called out.

Wayne switched the momentum of the game in the following frame when the locals added three runs off two errors and a walk. Roger Saul, Kerry Jech and Roland crossed the plate for the locals after Paul had two outs on the home team.

Wayne had the bases loaded after their three runs, but failed to get any hits.

Last year Paul had a two-hitter to stop Wayne, 2-0, but it is doubtful he had the assistance of eight Wayne mistakes to help him along.

Wayne coach Hank Overin noted that Wakefield is a good ball club. The team has a good defense, he said, in addition to some solid hitters.

The Wakefield squad has a 5-8 overall mark, with the next game Tuesday night at Sioux Falls. Last Friday night Wakefield was scheduled to meet Wisner in league play followed by a Sunday encounter with a Decatur, Ia., team.

Wayne, now 5-2, was to take on Laurel in a Friday match before facing Wisner today (Monday).

In Midget action, the locals notched their eighth straight win with a 7-2 snuffing of Wakefield.

Both clubs started out with hot streaks. Wakefield, in the first time at bat, scored two runs, followed by three Wayne tallies in its half of the first.

But Wayne took charge after that, getting one run in the second and three more in the third for a 7-2 lead.

Dave Nuss and Earle Overin were top hitters for Wayne. Each player smacked a double, with Nuss leading the way in RBI's with two.

Wakefield, 1-4 overall and 1-3 in league play, will play Walthill Lyons today. (Monday); while Wayne travels to Wisner.

At last count 12 cars were being prepared for the automobile derby to be held at Laurel Tuesday during the annual Jamboree Days celebration.

Cubs, with cars, they have constructed from inexpensive materials, will race down the south hill of Cedar Street, which will be closed to traffic for the event. Registration is at 6 p.m. and races will get underway at 7.

Verneal Gade will be announcer and Bob Zahner and Leon Johnson are timekeepers. Trophy queens, miniature size, will be Tammi Finley and Cary Asbra. First, second and third place trophies will be given.

Concluding the event will be the peach fuzz derby with fathers of the scouts taking over the wheels.

Saul Fires No-Hitter; Wayne Tops Laurel's Midget, Legion Clubs

Wayne hurler Roger Saul added a no-hitter Friday night to his 50 record with a 14-0 shutout over the Laurel Legion team.

The right-hander fanned 10 Laurel players before Charlie Roland took over in the last inning and added three more strikeouts to give the locals a total of 13.

Saul's mound chores were enough to be impressive, but he didn't stop there. In the last frame he sent a booming fly good for a triple and three RBIs to boot. That made the score 13-0 before substitute right fielder Randy Workman slapped a double, stole third and came home on an error by Laurel catcher Dave Anderson to end the match at 14-0.

Wayne (6-2) started out with three runs in the top of the first and collected two more in the following frame before the explosive frame.

Workman had the good bat for the visitors, going two for two at the plate, including a single and a double.

In the earlier game, the Midgets look No. 9 without a defeat, snipping the Laurel nine, 10-4.

Dave Nuss picked up the win on the mound after Wayne erased a 2-1 deficit in the first and pulled ahead, 3-2, in the second inning.

In the fourth, Wayne saw its biggest lead of the night when it put four runs across the plate before adding single runs in the following three frames.

Despite Wayne's seven hits, Laurel's Don Diediker had the hot bat, connected for three singles in three at bats.

Today (Monday) both Wayne squads will travel to Wisner while Laurel hosts Pender.

17 Girls Participate in State's First 4-H Foods Project

With bedrooms tucked under their arms, 17 girls invaded the lobby of the Northeast Station near Concord June 14 to take part in the first 4-H Foods

Project Camp ever held in Nebraska.

Ages of the girls ranged from 12 to 18, and all had completed the better breakfast project and were enrolled in a more advanced foods project, lunches and suppers, adventures with dips and exploring foods and nutrition or food preservation.

They were 4-H girls bound for two days of fun and laughter. In addition they were at the North Station to learn about foods and nutrition.

Joyelyn Smith, area extension home economist, planned the event for 4-Hers in the five Northwest Nebraska counties of Dakota, Dixon, Cedar and Wayne.

Featured on the camp program were Dr. Willie Ford, foods and nutrition specialist from the University of Nebraska; Dr. John Orr, associate state 4-H leader, also from the UNL; Joycelyn Smith, and Pam Heller a UNL student doing extension course field work for three weeks at the Northeast Station.

Many of the 4-H girls attending the camp also took charge of workshops. They were Jeanne Milander, Hartington; Deanna Erwin, Concord; Mary Beth Sebade, Emerson; Raneey Knie sche, Wayne; Nancy Stohler, Concord; Janet Spittgerber, Wisner, and Denise Magnuson, Laurel.

Mary Ann Landholm, Wausa; Jane Hassler, Emerson, and Pam Heller, Wisner, took charge of flag raising and lowering ceremonies.

Also taking part in the activities of the camp were Kristin Young, Anna Borg, Denise White, Dixon; Debbie Sebade, Emerson; Susan Reithwisch, Rhonda Kriesche, Leslie Greunke, Wayne; Rebecca Hansen, Hartington and Glennis Anderson, Concord.

Contest Aim: To Improve Judging

Wayne County 4-Hers interested in improving their live stock judging ability will attend an afternoon contest Wednesday south of Wakefield.

The contest will be held from 1:30 to 4:45 p.m. at the LeRoy Sievers farm one half mile south of the junction of Highways 16 and 35 south of Wakefield. Registration begins at 1 p.m.

Youths will judge both breeding class and market class in beef and swine along with market class in sheep. They will have to give reasons on one class of beef and answer questions on the four other classes.

Previously held at the Northeast Station near Concord, the event will be the official county contest, with the top scorers to make up the county's state fair team.

County 4-H Horse Buffs Await Show

Thirteen Wayne County 4-H youths will compete in the district 4-H horse show slated for Madison Friday.

Some 200 4-H horse enthusiasts from across Northeast Nebraska are expected to attend the show.

They will compete for ribbons with winners of purple and blue ribbons qualifying for state fair and Ak-Sar Ben competition.

Among the events to be held during the day are western and English pleasure riding, western, and English horsemanship, pole bending and barrel racing.

Wayne County 4-Hers to compete are Mark Flier, David Flier, Robin Flier, Jana Lange, Mike Lange, Rick Lange, Brad Langenberg, Bill Langenberg, Doug Asmus and Dave Asmus, all of Hoskins; Kevin Dorsey and Bill Davis, both of Concord, and Brian Frink, Norfolk.

Wayne County treasurer Leon Meyer said last week that his office is sending out second half personal property tax statements.

Winside Pastor Attends 2-Week Bethel Series

The Rev. G.W. Gottberg of St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Winside is in Madison, Wis., attending an intensive two-week orientation session on the Bethel Series, an international Bible study program designed to provide new Christian awareness for church members of all ages.

This is the 13th year that Adult Christian Education Foundation (ACEF), a non-profit organization, has administered the series. The orientation clinics are attended by pastors and Christian education directors who return to their churches to train teachers. The lay teachers, in turn, present an overview study of Scriptures to adult members.

The year, 100 congregations will send representatives to the Madison orientation sessions. In the 11-year history of the series, more than 2,800 congregations representing 15 different denominations have involved more than 100,000 lay teachers and students in the Bethel Series.

The 10-week study program presides students with a firm foundation of Biblical understanding and incentive and over-views for further study and a basis for interpreting the Scriptures as they relate to everyday Christian living.

The Bethel Series is international in scope. It is being used throughout the U.S. in a number of foreign countries and has been translated into six foreign languages.

Activities Typical, Campers Not at Annual Ponca Event

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Monday, June 25, 1973

Ball games, nature hikes, crafts, cookouts, marshmallow roasts, swimming, races, skits—typical events for a group camping out.

The activities may have been typical, but the group that took part in them last week at Ponca State Park wasn't.

The group was a special one, made up of some 30 mentally and physically handicapped children from across Northeast Nebraska.

Sponsoring the second annual summer camp Tuesday and Wednesday was the Northeast Nebraska Association for Retarded Children (ARC). Counselors from 4-H clubs and the Wayne Youth Association for Retarded Children (YARC) worked on a one-to-one basis with the campers to provide special attention to each camper.

Campers and counselors Tuesday split into three groups according to age. Recreation leaders for the three groups were John Warner and Melody Davenport, both of Allen, teenage; Norma Callahan, Pender, intermediate, and Denis Thrailkill, Emerson, junior.

The nature hikes started at Lookout Point on the Lewis and Clark Trail overlooking the Missouri River. According to one young camper the point got its name because if you get too close to the edge someone shouts, "Look out!"

The hikers collected nature specimens along the way to mount on plaques in craft projects.

One young boy on crutches braved the entire distance of the hike, an ear-to-ear grin on his face. Another boy who had just recently shed crutches hiked the entire distance with several rest stops.

Still another display of determination was shown by a young handicapped man at bat during the afternoon baseball game. Batting one-handed, he clouted one out of the field for a home run.

Campers and counselors were treated to a meal of Hungarian hot pot over hamburger buns and "s'mores," a concoction of graham cracker, milk chocolate and toasted marshmallow. The meal was prepared by two students from the Northeast Nebraska Opportunity Center at South Sioux City, operated by the ARC.

The day concluded with handicraft projects. The three groups made organic plaques, candle holders and paperweights out of baby food jars, ribbons and flowers.

Pocket stew and homemade ice cream were on the dinner menu. One camper evidently enjoyed his dinner, judging from his three helpings.

Campers seemed more eager than counselors to swim, despite a slight chill in the air and a chilly pool.

Youngsters competed in track events for prize ribbons. Included in the events was a race for children with multiple handicaps, including mental and physical disabilities. Once again, determination showed through—the winner of the ball throw almost threw it out of view. Campers proudly wore their ribbons on their chests the rest of the day.

The activities concluded with a potluck supper and skits. Campers and counselors exchanged certificates of participation with the participant's name on the certificate.

Whenever a boating accident results in injury or death, a written report in duplicate must be submitted to the Game Commission within 48 hours.

RICK KENNY of Carroll and Gretta Dorsey of Wayne pause for a rest during a hike to examine a branch they picked up along the way. Looking on is Charon Coan of Emerson.

Parole Okayed For Omahan Sentenced Here

An Omaha man convicted of a felony in Wayne County district court last year has been granted a parole by the State Parole Board.

He is Gale Gronenthal, 26, convicted along with a Schuyler man in connection with the alleged kidnap and rape of a Wayne State College coed.

Gronenthal was sentenced to two years in the Nebraska Penal Complex last August after pleading guilty to a charge of conspiracy to commit kidnap and rape.

The person arrested with him in connection with the incident, Danny Condrey of Schuyler, is serving five to 10 years on a charge of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury.

Winside to Get Shelter House

Plans for a new shelter house will become a reality this summer in Winside, according to mayor Vernon Hill.

The town board allocated part of its revenue sharing money to build the structure at the south end of the town's park some time before fall, he said.

The board is planning to use the majority of its money for street repairs while the remainder will be used for mosquito control, he added.

the reflectorized circles for use in bedroom windows.

The idea of the red ball, said project chairman David Lay, is to help area firemen save lives in case of a night fire. Residents are asked to place the circles in bedroom windows only, to help tell firemen where people are located in the home.

Anyone interested in obtaining the red balls can send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Wayne County Jaycees, Box 453, Wayne 68787. There is no charge.

Research —

ed to one leaf to provide a channel between the plant and an automatic, sensitized ink pen, which traces anything from a calm, narrow zig-zag line to violent, jagged lines, on a roll of moving graph paper.

Backster found that "results continue to point to a capability for perception in all living cells without regard to their assigned biological function." He also found that he could not block out whatever signals the plant received—even with a lead lined container, the signals may not even fall within any electrodynamic spectrum known to man and that the signal could likely travel hundreds of miles.

"Plants have nervous systems similar to that of humans, but not centralized," Dr. Parenti said. "They have a capability to react similarly to human beings due to their enzyme and chemical systems," he noted.

"It is a fallacy to equate everything to human reactions. Plants do have some type of reasoning ability. Who knows for sure," Dr. Parenti added. "That a plant doesn't scream when it's pulled from the ground?"

Dr. Parenti also thinks this type of research could gain scientists a broader understanding of plants as organisms and perhaps provide a study tool with which to monitor people's thought patterns.

"Plants have been on earth longer than man," Dr. Parenti said, "and there could be a possibility that enzyme or chemical reaction by plants could be analogous to some human neurological problems."

In order to establish an accurate pattern of responses, Mears stimulates the bean plant regularly by watering, natural gas, cutting or pinching, bright light and flame.

"The watering tends to have a calming effect on the plant," Mears said. "And the gas tends to anesthetize it." The pinching or cutting of a leaf makes the pen click violently.

Dr. Parenti and Mears found, like other experimenters, that after a plant has been subjected to a certain harsh or violent stimulus for so long, it tends to "go into a state of shock." The wild jagged lines become straight, much like a person's brain wave is recorded on an electroencephalogram when he dies during surgery.

Other researchers and experimenters claim that giving love and affection to plants makes them grow and stay healthy. Mears said he is skeptical right now about plants having genuine emotional responses. "But did relate an incident when the pen went wild."

One curious student came into the lab and started talking about the extrasensory perception (ESP) theories of plant, animal and human telepathy. "I believe ESP is a powerful force, but I think it is a result of Satanic influence," Mears claimed. "I got into quite an angry state of mind when arguing with the student and the pen on the galvanometer started flicking violently back and forth. The plant just goes wild sometimes," he added. "and I don't exactly know why, yet!" Last month Dr. Parenti was elected to the board of governors of the Southwestern Association of Naturalists.

Construction Underway

WORK IS CONTINUING on the new applied arts building being built at Wayne State College. Workmen for the general contractor on the $965,000 project are now involved in pouring footings for the T-shaped building being constructed on the site of the old commerce and arts building just east of the former administration building. The building will provide facilities for the college's industrial education department, home economics department and safety education department.

National Guardsmen Complete Training

As annual summer training exercises drew to a close over the weekend, units of Co. A, First Battalion of the 134th Mechanized Infantry, Nebraska Army National Guard prepared to return to home bases in Wayne and O'Neill.

Because of a fuel saving decision to keep units within the state, summer field training for Company A took place in two phases at two different training sites.

During the first phase, the men took part in a series of tactical training exercises on sites at Camp Ashland and Mead. During these exercises the men gained experience in use and deployment of the armored personnel carrier, the tracked vehicle that gives this mechanized infantry unit mobility.

After the first week, Company A along with the rest of First Battalion switched training sites with Second Battalion of the 134th Infantry First Battalion occupied the training sites at the Hastings ordnance depot and the Second Battalion set up operations at Camp Ashland. Phase two, a week long continuation of the Ashland training period, involved instruction in use and maintenance of hand-held weapons, the M-60 machine gun and M-16 automatic rifle. At Hastings, Company A also took part in training maneuvers, simulating combat logistical problems and night infiltration techniques.

The exercises are designed to ensure combat readiness of the National Guard.

Area Persons Put in Office By Carriers

Wakefield Group Approves Giving Hospital to City

At a meeting of the Wakefield Community Hospital Corporation Thursday night, members decided in a 57 to 20 vote to transfer title of the Wakefield Community Hospital to the city of Wakefield.

The transfer of title, explained Eldon Nixon, hospital administrator, will allow the community to obtain a loan at probably two per cent less interest for construction of a 42 bed, long term care wing to the present hospital.

About $300,000 is needed for construction, and it has been estimated that the total cost of constructing and equipping the wing would be $400,000.

Wakefield residents raised about $80,000 in a fund raising drive concluded in December, and more donations have come in since, raising that total to between $80,000 and $90,000.

The Wakefield Hospital Corporation had applied for 1973 Hill Burton funds, but they were not awarded because of federal cut backs in spending. Too many applicants were ahead of Wakefield for the community to receive any of the unused 1972 Hill Burton funds, hospital board members learned in a June 13 meeting at Lincoln.

Attending that meeting were Charles Kinney Jr., vice chairman of the hospital board, Weldon Mortenson, member of the building committee, and Joseph Erickson, and Robert Blanchard, members of the public relations committee.

Present at the Thursday evening meeting, which was held at the Wakefield high school library, were 99 corporation members. The remainder of the vote was by proxy.

Also at the meeting were Harold Tompkin, medical facilities consultant from Lincoln who was hired by the hospital corporation early last fall, and Bill Beaver and Fred Douglas, represented a bonding company in Omaha.

Beaver explained the procedure for getting bonds which will be sold in amounts of $1,000 and up. Douglas will be contacting area individuals at a later date, though bonds can be sold outside the area also.

Nixon said bid-letting would hopefully be between Aug. 1 and 15 in order to get construction underway by the first of September and get the wing closed in before winter weather.

The hospital recently received word from the division of hospital and medical facilities of the state health department of the favorable finding by the department for the wing. Without this government certificate of need, Nixon said, the hospital could not expect full payment for treatment of welfare and Medicare patients.

The Wakefield area has been

Residents Help Up State's MOD Giving

Wayne County residents helped do their part in increasing the state-wide donations to the March of Dimes this year, drive officials reported last week.

A total of $2,689.95 was collected by the Wayne County chapter this year, an increase of more than $300 over the $2,111.07 collected a year ago.

The three county area made up of Cedar, Dixon and Dakota collected $7,060.32, a large in crease over the $3,859.85 collected a year ago.

Total campaign receipts in the 1973 campaign in Nebraska were $415,714.86, up $63,443.69 from the 1972 receipts of $352,271.17, drive officials said.

Nebraska's 18 per cent increase over 1972 will keep the state in its usual position among the top half dozen states in the nation in terms of per capita giving, officials said.

Rowan Wittse of Wayne headed up this year's campaign in Wayne County. Twenty five per cent of the funds he helped collect will be used for direct birth defects scientific research. The rest of the funds will be split equally, with half going toward national birth defects care programs and education, half remaining in the local chapter for use in such things as education and patient care.

McDonald Buys Cannonball Bar

The Cannonball tavern in Dixon was sold to Loretta E. McDonald of Laurel recently.

Both Mrs. McDonald and her husband, Franklin, will manage the bar. As yet no date has been set when the bar will open under new management.

Mrs. McDonald said they will change the tavern's name to Loretta's Bar once she receives her liquor license.

Former owners, Patricia Treloan and her son, Dallas Barbee, are moving to Elkpoint, S.D., to take over a new business.

Eric Helleberg Is Appointed

Eric Helleberg, son of former Wayne residents Alfred Helleberg and Jean Thompson Helleberg, has received a congressional appointment to Annapolis.

Helleberg, who graduated from State College High School in Pennsylvania in June, received the James H. Snyder Memorial award for 1973. The award is sponsored by The Times to a graduating letterman who demonstrates qualities of leadership, maintains high scholastic average and has a record of school activities other than sports.

Helleberg lettered in track and field and soccer at State High.

NRD Obligates $36,000 Since Start of Program

Since the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District land and water development program began May 1 a total of $36,000 has been obligated for conservation work in the district, officials report.

Sixty cooperators have applied for assistance under the program, initiated to replace the federally funded REAP.

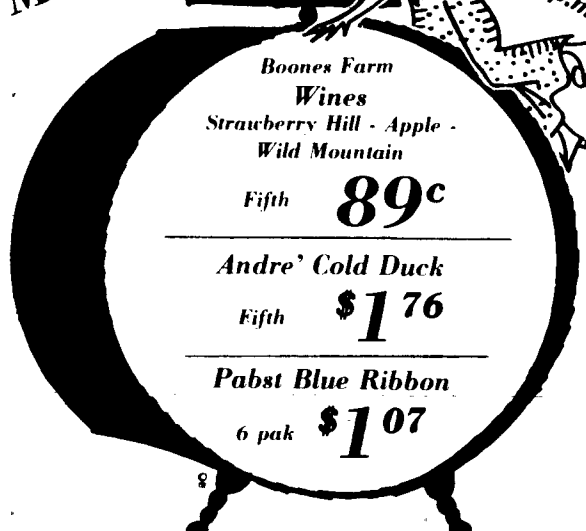

The program objectives are to prevent or abate pollution of land and water for the benefit of the community and general public. Another objective is to encourage lasting conservation practices that will reduce loss of soil, water, woodland and wildlife and will enhance outdoor recreational opportunities.

Assistance is being made available for the following conservation practices: livestock waste control systems, multi-purpose dams (flood, erosion and recreation), diversions, terraces, grass waterways and permanent grass seedings.

Cooperators are asked to contact their local soil conservation office or the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District office at Norfolk for further information or requests for assistance.

Medicare Will Cover More Persons July 1

Starting July 1, Medicare coverage will be extended to 1.7 million disabled people under 65. Disabled people who have received social security disability payments for two years or more will be able to get help from Medicare in paying their hospital and doctor bills and other covered services, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk. Medicare was previously available only to people 65 or over.

Those eligible for coverage will include disabled workers, disabled widows and disabled dependent widowers between 50 and 65, disabled mothers 50 or older who get social security benefits because they have young or disabled children in their care, and people who get benefits because they were disabled before age 22.

People getting monthly social security checks because they are disabled will be notified if they are eligible for Medicare. Widows 50 or over who have been severely disabled the last two years but haven't filed a claim because they're getting checks as mothers caring for young or disabled children should apply for disabled widows' benefits to see if they can get Medicare.

"People under 65 who need kidney transplants or dialysis will be eligible for Medicare too, if they've worked long enough under social security," Branch said.

"This health insurance protection will also be available to insured workers' wives or husbands and dependent children who need dialysis or kidney transplants," he said. Eligibility can begin in the third month after dialysis begins and can last through a year after the month dialysis ends or the patient has a kidney transplant.

Under recent changes in the social security law, the hospital insurance part of Medicare will also be extended to people 65 and older who previously didn't qualify for coverage because they haven't worked long enough under social security. Initially, the premium will be $33 a month for Medicare hospital insurance protection. The premium may be increased later if hospital costs rise.

People buying hospital coverage under this protection also will be required to enroll for medical insurance coverage. Starting July 1, the basic monthly premium for the medical insurance part of Medicare will be $6.30, an increase of 50 cents a month over the current rate.

"Disabled people require seven times as much hospital care as other people and three times as much service from doctors," Branch said.

Passenger car tires will perform better on long vacation trips if their inflation is increased by three or four pounds, says the Tire Industry Safety Council. Motorists are reminded, however, inflation levels should never exceed the maximum limit noted on the sidewall.

National Chamber looks into the future

'Well, grandkids, it ain't easy to explain about Phase 48, so we'll have to go way back to Phase 1...'

Dear Grandchildren: You have asked me to explain how we got to Phase 48 of our temporary economic controls program. I will try.

Phase 48, you may remember, resulted from the failure of Phase 47. Phase 47 was, of course, a response to the widely acknowledged faults of Phase 46.

Phase 46... but maybe I'd better go back to the beginning.

It all started with the first wage-price freeze in the summer of 1971. This freeze was supposed to halt the inflation that resulted from President Johnson's efforts to pay for both the war in Vietnam and the Great Society welfare programs without a tax increase.

Like you and me, governments can pay their debts by asking for a tax increase, which is like a pay raise. Unlike you and me, governments can also pay their debts by printing more money. When a government prints money faster than a country's businesses are able to make things to spend it on, prices go up, because there is more money to buy things with, but not more things to buy. This is what caused the trouble in 1971.

Freezes cause economic problems in the long run, because businessmen cannot tell what people want most when all prices are regulated by law rather than by what people are willing to spend. Since the important men in the government are smart enough to know this, they announced that the freeze would only be "temporary."

Phase II

And so it was. The first freeze was replaced by a more flexible series of controls called "Phase II." Under Phase II, prices and wages could increase if the government approved.

The freeze and Phase II looked good at first, because the economy was slowing down anyway when they were applied. Prices and wages usually don't rise in a slow economy. But many people do not understand that, so they gave Phase II the credit for the moderation of price increases.

However, trouble was building up under the calm exterior of Phase II. Some important commodities began to run short, because businessmen could not make any money by supplying them under the Phase II price limits. Many big labor unions were allowed wage increases much larger than Phase II was supposed to permit, because the government was afraid of them.

So, to make a virtue of necessity, the government officially ended Phase II about the time it would have come apart at the seams anyway. Phase II was replaced by Phase III, which was very loose.

All of the pressure that had been building up under Phase II came out into the open in Phase III. Prices went up fast. Some bad luck added to that. Bad weather in our Midwest farm belt and a worldwide shortage of food raised food prices much faster than usual. The government's banker, the Federal Reserve System, increased the money supply too fast in 1972. Devaluation of the dollar made American goods more attractive to foreigners, which added to shortages on the American market. A whole complex series of events caused a shortage of the fuels from which we get most of our electricity and gasoline.

Phase IV

Prices climbed fastest for those things that were in shortest supply. This stimulates increased production, which is healthy. But high prices are unpopular, for very understandable reasons. Politicians began to claim that the government could prevent high prices just by passing a law against them. Many people wanted to believe that, because passing a law is much easier than increasing supplies, which is the only real cure for high prices.

When enough people believed that passing a law was the answer to our problems, President Nixon was forced to act.

So the President proclaimed the second freeze, and then Phase IV, which was a lot like Phase II.

Phase IV didn't work, of course. Phase V was initiated to make up for its defects.

Phase V didn't work either. And that brought along Phase VI.

Anyway, that's how we eventually got to Phase 48. People just refused to believe that some problems have no easy solutions. So they began to hope that the answer lay in the next law... the next economic plan... the next phase. And there were plenty of politicians ready to tell them they were right.

There still are. That's why it's so important for you to study hard to learn how our economy really works.

With greatest affection,
Your Loving Grandfather

A closer look...

By Norvin Hansen

"Wise up... tie down..." That's the message T. P. Roberts is trying to get across to mobile home owners in Wayne and the surrounding area.

Roberts, Wayne County civil service director, has been handing out literature and urging owners of trailers to secure their homes properly so they are less likely to be damaged in case of high winds or tornadoes.

In view of the recent destruction of trailers when a tornado struck Merville, Ia., owners in this part of the state should get on the ball and get their homes secured to the ground. Roberts said many of the trailers are so unsteady now that gusts of wind which are not uncommon in this area could topple them.

Here's some suggestions to help make a trailer more secure:

- Position it with the narrow side facing prevailing winds. That presents only 20 per cent as much wall area to the winds.
- Provide natural barriers such as trees and tall, strong shrubbery.
- Tie down trailers. Doing so usually costs less than $150.
- There is a large number of tie-down systems available. The most effective one, however, has straps which go over the top of the trailer, securing it to anchors sunk in the ground.

Northeast Station near Concord, suggests we capitalize on the success of last winter's cake baking contest and try promoting Wayne as the center for a "sportsman's cookout."

Tolman thinks we could have competition for men and women in such areas as cake baking, meal cooking and breakfast cooking.

Awards might be given out during the event to persons successful in fishing and hunting during the year, he adds.

Sounds interesting, possibly worth pursuing. Any more suggestions?

Summer celebrations are starting to come hot and heavy across the state. Among those in Northeast Nebraska:

- Laurel's Jamboree Days, slated for Tuesday and Wednesday. The celebration will feature a carnival, baseball games, racing in homemade cars, midnight square dancing, parades, girls softball and teen dance.
- Ponca's Days of '56, scheduled for this coming Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Among the attractions will be a Pony Express race from South Sioux City to the Ponca rodeo arena. Last year's winning club, Ponca Trail Blazers, finished the 24.2 mile course in 57 minutes. The riders challenge any horse club to try to take their trophy away. The celebration also features nationally known rodeo riders who will compete in each evening's rodeo, and a bunch of toughies called the Boozer Gang. The gang will roam up and down Ponca streets, arresting anybody not dressed in western clothes and not wearing a special button. They'll be tossed in a jail uptown.
- Clarkson's Czech Festival, to be held the same days as Ponca's celebration.

Attractions. Czech polkas and waltzes, traditional meal featuring everything from kolaches to dumplings and sauer kraut, art fair, religious services, push button accordion contest and tarok corn petition. Tarok, a game played with a deck of cards unlike any other, is nearly a lost art.

Dr. Robert Parenti, subject of an interesting story on the front page of this issue of the newspaper, has talents other than those needed for trying to communicate with plants.

The associate professor of biology at Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia is also something of an actor. At least he has a bit part in "Bad Company," a cowboy film which showed at the drive in north of Wayne Friday and Saturday. He happened to be around when the film company was shooting in Kansas and needed somebody for a part in a stagecoach holdup scene. His beard apparently set him apart from others. The beard was probably a bit rough, considering Parenti had just come out of the mountains where he had been helping teach some young people survival skills.

Verdigree, Nebraska's All-America community, is featured in a three-page spread complete with color photographs in the spring issue of Nebraska on The March, quarterly publication of the state economic development department.

Verdigree was the smallest community — population 625 — to earn the coveted title.

The community made major accomplishments in such areas as health services, education and recreation. The projects are valued at close to $1 million.

Only 11 out of 442 communities applying for the title received it this year. The largest city was St. Petersburg, Fla. — population 216,232. That's some pretty tough competition.

Dear Editor:

On March 31 the phrase "HOPE is YOU" was a reality in Wayne. This was because you, and others like you, gave time and expertise to support the HIKE for HOPE II sponsored by Phi Nu Fraternity of Wayne State.

The medical teaching and treatment programs of HOPE are possible only through the continuing generosity of the American people — people who, when called on for help, give freely of time and assets. Your generosity is deeply appreciated.

In the United States and Brazil, as in the 10 previous countries where the U.S.S. HOPE has held medical training programs, HOPE staff members are working to train local health professionals to better care for their fellow countrymen and to help meet their critical medical personnel shortages. You have helped to make this work possible.

On behalf of all those trainees who will never get to say thank you in person, may I express gratitude for the opportunity given for a productive and healthy life to those who have never known this luxury before.

Farm Machinery, 1879-1880

Every age feels that it has been made "progress" over the methods employed by preceding generations, though environmentalists may now cast a skeptical eye on many "modern inconveniences" which they believe despoil rather than improve. This latter group hopes to return to a simpler way of life.

Hardly anyone wishes, however, to turn back the clock on agricultural machinery, rural household improvements, or farm-to-market transportation. Almost 100 years ago the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture reported on the great strides then being made in labor-saving devices. Excerpts from C. H. Walker's 1879-1880 report, a copy of which may be found at the Nebraska State Historical Society at Lincoln give an idea of what state fair-goers saw:

"In this age of perfection is the construction of agricultural machinery, competition regulates so that poor implements find few purchasers... We submit a list of the leading manufacturers that were represented with a line of their goods: The Wier Plow Company, Bres & Co., J. S. Carr & Co., Star Wagon Co., Parlin & Orendorf, Planford & Co., Moline Plow Co., Briggs & Enoch, Hears, Dunn & Co., James Selby & Co., L. B. Reynolds, D. E. McSherry, John Deere & Co., Avery Plow Co., Hays & Son, Deere & Co., Mautert & Co., Barlow Corn Planter Co., Hunt's Carriage Plow Co., Grand Detour Plow Co., Williams Harvester Co., Furst & Bradley, Freeman & Evans' Fanning Mill, Marsailles Manufacturing Co., Monitor Plow Works, Charlton Plow Co., C. W. & W. W. Marsh & Co., Walter A. Wood & Co., Champion Reaper & Mower Co., Geo. Eysterly & Son, McCormick Reaper and Mower Co., Minneapolis Harvester Co., Aultman, Taylor & Co., Eureka Mower Co., D. M. Osborn & Co., Fountain Seeder Co., White Sewing Machine Co., Estey & Smith Organ Co., Domestic Sewing Machine Co., The Guild Piano Company, Rogers Piano Co., and the Mason and Hamilton Organ Company. Some of these firms had from thirty to forty different kinds of implements competing...

"It will be no injustice to say that the Moline Plow Co. made the largest exhibit of implements, and that Furst & Bradley See OUT OF OLD NEBR., page 3.

OBSERVATIONS

Finally, action comes

We have to extend a thank you to the state officials who finally decided that the intersection of Seventh and Main in Wayne does need better markings on the pavement and overhead signs to direct motorists.

City officials in Wayne and this newspaper have been after the state to do something to make that intersection a little more understandable ever since major changes were made in it several years ago. After considerable work, the state people finally agreed that something needs to be done.

Sometime in the next few days, hopefully this week, new directional arrows will be painted on the pavement at the intersection and signs will be hung from the traffic light arms overhead. That should make the intersection much easier for motorists to negotiate, especially those who pass through it very rarely.

Sometimes it seems impossible to get government officials to take action to solve local problems. When you are dealing with state and federal officials, that is sometimes doubly difficult. This time, however, the government finally listened... and finally acted.

Let's add some color

Now we would like to see city officials in Wayne take some action which would result in sprucing up city buildings.

Rather than being bright, appealing showcases, some of our city buildings are very nearly eyesores. As such, they certainly do not give visitors as well as residents the impression that Wayne is a good place to live.

Two buildings stand out as being less than attractive—the city auditorium and the fire hall. By spending only a small amount of paint and labor, these buildings could be turned into something the whole community could be proud of.

Certainly, the buildings are old, but that does not mean that they should not be spruced up and painted up so they are bright spots in the community. In fact, the unusual, interesting architecture of the buildings is something to preserve... and make more attractive by skillful use of bright, colorful paint.

If the city would spend a small sum on improving the looks of those buildings, we think others in the downtown business district would realize how much better their buildings would look if they spent some money on paint to add color to them.

Wayne County Pays Out $1,631,000, Gets $1,418,000 From Government

To what extent has Wayne county been sharing in funds distributed by Washington under the federal grants-in-aid programs?

What portion of the allotments made in the past year to communities across the country, a total of $35 billion, went to the local area?

On the basis of a state-by-state breakdown made by the Tax Foundation, a non-profit research organization that keeps watch over government spending and taxation, the allotment to Wayne County was relatively small.

An estimated $1,418,000 was awarded in the fiscal year for local purposes under a number of aid programs.

Throughout Nebraska, the grants totaled $204,000,000, according to an analysis by the Foundation of figures released by the Treasury Department.

The purpose of the grants is to assist the states and communities with such needs as child welfare, public housing, educational activities, health facilities, urban renewal, job training and the like.

Also considered in the study was the cost of these benefits. The findings are that the overall cost is much greater, in many localities, than the aid received. In other areas, it is considerably less. In no state do they come out evenly.

It is pointed out that there is no attempt, in awarding the grants, to achieve a balance and return dollar for dollar but rather to allot them in accordance with each area's needs.

Wayne County's cost in the past fiscal year, via federal income and excise taxes collected from local residents and allocated to the aid programs, was approximately $1,631,000, as against the $1,418,000 received.

The state as a whole was also behind on that basis. Its payments for the $204,000,000 received, came to $235,000,000.

Thus, for every $1 of aid, the cost was $1.15, exclusive of matching funds.

Just how much money will be forthcoming from Washington in grants in aid from now on is uncertain. The new budget proposes eliminating about 70 specific programs and replacing them with "special revenue sharing."

made the next largest exhibit. Nothing in this department showed the advance of the age to a better advantage than the old fashioned wooden mouldboard plow, exhibited by the Messrs. Humphrey Bros., of Lincoln. This plow, we are informed, was in use during the last century by the great grandfather of the exhibitors. The contrast would have been complete had a flail been hung by the side of the steam threshers, and a sickle by the side of the self binders and harvesters. It was but a step from the primitive old plow, to the sulky plow — that step spanned the progress of one hundred years — that step brought us from toil to pleasure in cultivating the soil. They have reached such perfection in work that they will at no distant day almost entirely supersede the walking plow, as has the two-horse cultivator superseded the single and double shovel.

The introduction of steam, as a motive power, inaugurates another era in Nebraska farm life. There were three separators, moved by steam, in motion on the grounds. The J. I. Case portable engine and thresher, which requires horse power to move it from field to field, the Aultman & Taylor traction engine and separator, the engine is the motive power in moving it, but it requires the aid of a team to guide it; and the Geo. R. Davidson traction engine and separator, which like the Aultman & Taylor, is the power used in moving, requiring, however, the engineer to guide it.

"It is nearly half a century since the first successful reaper was invented: since that time the inventive genius of the country has been at work to devise some means for successfully binding. The following is a list of machines to which our attention was called: The Marsh harvester and binder, the Marsh & Whitney binder, the McCormick harvester and binder, the Walter A. Wood harvester and binder, Aultman & Taylor Buckeye harvester and binder, and the D. M. Osborn harvester and binder.

"There were three patents of sewing machines exhibited. The White, exhibited by John Zehring (two styles), the Domestic, exhibited by Frank B. Hine, of Chicago (six styles), and the New Wilson, exhibited by J. A. Bell, of Lincoln. State agent for Nebraska (four styles). Musical instruments were exhibited by W. H. Prescott and the Messrs. Hohmann, of Lincoln. Your committee regard their department as one of the most interesting connected with the State Fair.

Your committee believe there was not an implement on the ground without merit, and not one but what is worthy of a diploma. C. H. WALKER, THERON NYE, L. A. KENT, Committee

Pool memberships, costing $20 for family and $6 for individual, are required to take the lessons. ## State ETV's 'Rocket' Show Gets Attention

"Ride the Reading Rocket," a summer television reading program for children who have just completed first grade is attracting extraordinary attention, according to Dr. Richard Raecke, instructional television coordinator for the Nebraska Department of Education.

The 40 program series broadcast over the Nebraska ETV Network at 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday through Friday, is designed to help children maintain their reading level over the summer months.

More than 4,000 "Reading Rocket" activity books (priced at $1.25) have been ordered by Nebraskans, an unprecedented number, according to the Great Plains National Instructional Television Library, the distributor of the series.

The "Ride the Reading Rocket" series has proved to help children retain reading skills over the summer months. In addition, children seem to gain reading ability, improve writing skills and increase reading of library books.

The summer instructional television schedule broadcast over the stations of the Nebraska ETV Network also includes programs covering spelling, art, Spanish, ecology and social studies. The ITV programming started June 11 and runs through July 20. Airing throughout the summer months are "Sesame Street," "The Electric Company" and "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood."

New Program Offers Vets Work-Study

More than 2,000 veterans across the country who are enrolled in schools under Veterans Administration education programs will participate in a new work study program providing up to $250 in extra allowances.

Most of the veterans are disabled, said Harry Piper, director of the VA regional office in Nebraska, who noted the agency can advance the money to eligible students who will work up to 100 hours in jobs which mainly relate to or complement their educational studies.

Some of the veterans, he said, will assist other veterans as part of the agency's "outreach" activities to tell veterans about their GI Bill benefits.

Most "outreach" efforts are carried out through the agency's 72 veterans assistance centers around the country, with assistance to educationally disadvantaged veterans a high priority.

"Veteran trainees could assist in this area," Piper said, "by telephoning these veterans to motivate them to enter educational or on job training — or, better still, to visit centers for interviews with our benefits counselors."

Nebraska veterans interested in work study allowances are advised to apply to the VA regional office at Lincoln for additional information.

'Federal Okay Needed for Hoskins Sewage Project'

Construction of a new sewage treatment plant at Hoskins will not begin until sometime this fall or early next year if governmental funds are allocated for the project, said a spokesman for a Columbus engineering firm.

Byron Willman of Bruce Gilmore and Associates incorrectly told The Wayne Herald in late May that construction on the facility already is underway.

The project at Hoskins was belated with a similar one at Belden which is now under construction.

Although the two plants are similar, the one at Hoskins will cost more, a spokesman for the firm said.

Estimated cost of the Hoskins plant is between $45 50,000, according to Hoskins officials. That would be about $15,000 more than the plant at Belden will cost, said an engineering representative.

The new Hoskins plant, featuring an aeration system, will be located at the site of the present plant. It was noted that village officials decided to change to an aeration system instead of a lagoon because of the problem in acquiring land. If the Environmental Protection Agency allocates funds for the project, the engineering firm will proceed with drawing plans and specifications, according to the firm's spokesman.

It would take about 30 days to complete the plans, he said, and then state environmental control officials and federal officials will have to approve them before bids can be let.

The federal government would contribute 75 per cent of the total cost, with the state and village of Hoskins possibly splitting the remaining 25 per cent. Hoskins' present facility is built on the west side of the town. According to a federal report, the plant is overloaded and is in need of repairs. The trickling filter facility is only reducing the bacteria count by 70 per cent before it is released in a stream.

This is not enough, according to the engineering firm. Federal standards say that a treatment plant should reduce the bacteria count by at least 90 to 95 per cent, the firm says.

No New Meeting Date Set for Street Hearing

No date has been set for the second meeting between the Hoskins village board and citizens concerning construction of a new street and gutters.

Last Tuesday night both parties met in a special session to outline the town's needs as far as paving a stretch of main street from the grade school to the junction of a county road and main street. Members of the board pointed out that the lack of proper drainage along the road is causing the street to split and create chuck holes. The present surface is a hot-mix material.

In other business, board members adopted an ordinance regarding the public's use and types of sewage to be dumped into the sewer plant.

Computers Help Dairymen Increase Production

Dairy farmers in Nebraska are realizing the growing critical cost factors in the milk-to-feed ration now plaguing today's herdsmen.

Right now the dairy farmer is making approximately 54 cents on a gallon of milk — barely enough to keep up with the increasing food costs.

But also, right now, more dairy farmers are learning new ways to manage feed costs in relation to milk production through use of computers.

The Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) — a seven-state organization made up of dairy farmers — is making use of the computer to help figure cow production and herd improvements.

Under supervision of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Nebraska dairymen are able to adjust the right amount of feeds and the various combinations for each member of the herd.

And so far, the tests are passing with flying colors.

John Anderson is one member of the north central DHIA who can vouch for that.

The rural Wayne resident, who lives three miles west and two south of Wayne, started with the program in 1959 while living in Dodge.

"The purpose of the program," Anderson said, "is to give the dairy cattleman an idea of his breeding records to increase milk production and cow sales."

Since the computer is used to collect all available data on cows, the dairy farmer is able to have latest statistics on each of his cows.

The statistics include individual feed costs, information on mixtures of feed and data on the best combinations of feed for the most milk produced. The DHIA listings also gives the health and production from the time the cow is born until it dies.

"I also can look down the charts to find out what bull sired a cow and who was her dam," Anderson went on.

In addition to all this information, the rural Wayne man believes the system gives a dairy farmer a "feeling of pride." You know what you are doing to improve your herd, Anderson noted.

Presently Anderson has about 45 head.

DHIA started in Nebraska about 1910 in Douglas County. At that time there were 21 heads involved, with the central purpose aimed at improving the sire program.

With the use of better sire breeds, the program soon expanded into cow production. Farmers began to get a more complete picture of a family and how to possibly breed a better milk-producing cow.

With use of the computer records, more and more area dairymen signed up for the program, hopefully to develop a better herd.

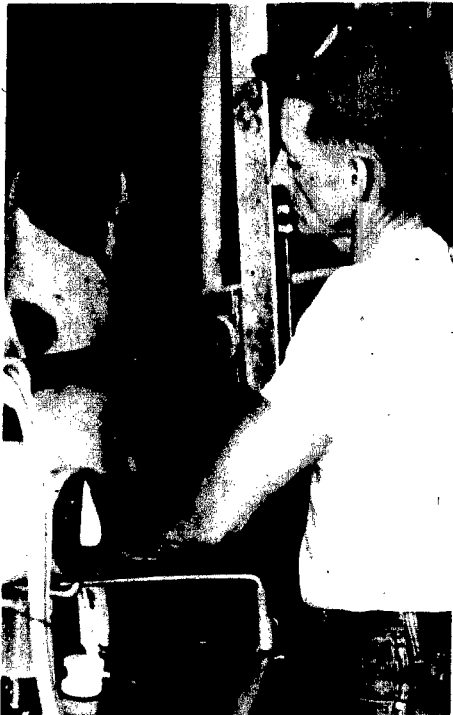

The cost of the program is about 62 cents per head per month.

Although it may sound like a lot of confusion as well as work, the majority of computer work in the field is handled by a few men.

Harlan Henzler is one of those men who work for DHIA computer testing. His job is to visit various members about once a month to check milk production.

Henzler visits a dairy farmer without prior warning, giving the farmer little chance to try to increase his production in order to get a better rating.

As Don Kubik, dairy specialist at the Northeast Station, pointed out, "the computer will tell what is happening, but it can not tell you why." All the necessary information about why a cow does a certain thing generally comes from the farmer — "he has to treat the cow as a lady," Kubik says.

DAIRYMAN John Anderson finds himself working all day and part of the night to keep his 40-45 head of dairy cattle in good condition for producing milk.
