

Dr. Seymour: Financial Backing Needed To Help College Reverse Enrollment Decline

By NORVIN HANSEN
There are a host of ways local and area businessmen and individuals can help Wayne State College, and one of the best ways is through financial backing.
That's the core of the talk college president Dr. Lyle Seymour gave to about 35 Wayne Chamber of Commerce members Monday night.
Invited to discuss Wayne State's enrollment problems during the Chamber's quarterly meeting, Dr. Seymour told the group the college has no funds in its budget for promotion and money is needed to do the job.
"We need more exposure and there are as many ways to do that as there are media," he replied to a question by Chamber member Charles Carhart about how businessmen can aid the college in upping its enrollment.
"We need promotion to tell people like those in Oakland that Wayne State is their college, that it's a regional institution," he said.
Wayne State is trying to break away from its "restricted" offerings in a variety of ways, Dr. Seymour said. The college is offering new programs such as the ones in special education and community counseling and is moving out into area towns to bring the campus closer to them.

But financial backing through a college booster club or the existing Wayne State Foundation would help the college greatly in telling people in the area what it has to offer students.
"Wayne State Foundation is playing an important part, providing scholarships, matching funds and print collections," Dr. Seymour said.
The foundation would be a good "vehicle" to make use of additional contributions because it is already established and is working to promote the college, he said.
Scholarships, especially to incoming students and freshmen, are one way to attract students, he said, encouraging any local service groups to provide them if they have the funds.
He agreed the Chamber could do other things to help the college, such as giving packets of coupons and small gifts to new freshmen as has been discussed in the past.
Dr. J.J. Liska, Chamber president, noted that the Chamber will try to make this a reality by the time school starts this fall.
The college's ability to provide courses in the areas of health will be enhanced once the new hospital is completed on the northeast edge of the campus, Dr. Seymour noted. Although it will be some time before the hospital and college can cooperate to offer courses, that will be another way to stem the decreasing enrollment, he said.

The enrollment dips at the college, which have resulted in several faculty cutbacks, is the result of general drop in population in this part of the state, Dr. Seymour explained. Studies predict further declines in student numbers during the next several years, something which is going to effect the college enrollment more and more, he said.
To counteract this decline, the college is going to have to change its image to try to attract new students, according to Dr. Seymour.
"We're going to have to look for a different (student) clientele. No longer will we be able to rely on the 18 to 22 year olds for our enrollment."
The college will have to start appealing to adults who want to take courses for their personal enjoyment at irregular times and to adults who want to take courses so they can advance in their vocations, he explained.

Other observations Dr. Seymour made during his talk:
✓ College officials and instructors can explain to the legislature the need for the college in this part of the state, but it would be better if private individuals urged legislators to adequately fund the institution. "We at Wayne State have a vested interest... but if you say the college is needed, it will have more effect."
✓ Wayne State is not the only state college which is having enrollment problems. Peru State has suffered even greater drops in enrollment, and even Kearney State has the same problem.
✓ Promoting Wayne State's band day would be a good way to draw attention to the college, especially now that the University of Nebraska has dropped its band day.
✓ The college is continuing study on ways to change what is offered during the summer months to make its shortened semesters and summer courses more attractive to students. Students like the short semesters because it permits them

Work Now Underway

A TILDEN CONTRACTOR moved men and equipment into Wayne Monday to begin construction of a water line across Wayne State College. The line will provide water to the new hospital being constructed on the northeast edge of Wayne State College campus. Here, workmen put water pipe along the main street leading into the campus in preparation for tearing up ground for installing the line.

Inside today . . .

The Wayne Midjets finished their season with a perfect record, 17-0, thanks to an 8-6 win over Norfolk Monday night.
And the Legion players finished their season with a 12-5 record highlighted by a 3-2 win over Norfolk in 13 innings.
Those are just some of the sports stories you will find in the sports section inside this issue of The Wayne Herald.

Plenty of Activities Planned for Reunion

A jam packed schedule of events, guaranteed to provide equal amounts of fun and nostalgia, has been prepared for former students and faculty of Wayne Prep and Hahn High Schools for this weekend.
The first all-school reunion for the school, which operated from 1930 to 1952 as Wayne Prep and from 1952 to 1964 as the H.H. Hahn Campus School, is expected to attract several hundred people, according to general chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Kent Hall.
Features of the two day affair:
Friday
3 to 5 p.m. — Registration at WSC Administration Building
6 p.m. — Luau for early birds at Wayne County Fairgrounds
Saturday
10 a.m. to 5 p.m. — Registration at WSC Administration Building
All Day — golf at Wayne Country Club and tennis at WSC courts

Work at WSC Forces Change In Traffic

Drivers entering Wayne State campus will have to drive a different pattern for the next two or three weeks.
Because a new water line is being laid along the middle campus drive east from Twelfth and Main Streets, the road is closed. Drivers now will enter from Main Street on the road which curves around the Willow Bowl. Normally this is an exit only.
Parking in the Hahn lot remains open, except in the north row of stalls. Cars exiting from the Hahn lot will go south past the Hahn Building, then east to leave the campus.
Capt. Darel Soden of the campus patrol said driving conditions will be hazardous, and he urges driving with caution. And he has another suggestion: "It could be the time to start riding a bike."
The 10 inch water main will serve the new Providence Hospital now under construction at the east end of the campus.

MRS. HERBERT THUN Trip to Town Profitable for Rural Woman

A trip to town with her grand children netted a rural Wayne woman $50 in Birthday Bucks last week.
Mrs. Herbert Thun won Thursday night's cash prize when she ended up being the shopper in one of the participating stores with the birthday closest to the date drawn earlier. She was in Felber Pharmacy when the date was announced at 8:15 p.m.
She received $50 in Birthday Buck coupons. The coupons can be spent just like cash in any of the approximate 80 businesses, firms and stores taking part in the weekly drawing.

Carroll Man Honored for His Service

President Nixon and Gov. J. James Exon have signed a certificate honoring Phil Olson of Carroll for his five years of service as a member of the Wayne County Selective Service board.
Olson, George Farran of Win side and Merf Hilton of Wayne were board members when the local draft board office in Wayne officially closed last week.
Rather than meeting monthly as had been done in past years, the boards will meet quarterly now that the draft system has been reorganized in Nebraska.
The local office is being replaced by an area office at Norfolk which will serve Wayne, Knox, Pierce, Madison and Stanton Counties.
Mrs. Shirley Bergt, former executive secretary for the county board, reminds 18 year-

Tornado Signal To Sound on Saturday Night

Residents of Wayne will get a chance to hear what a real tornado alert sounds like Saturday night.
The practice alert is scheduled for 7 p.m.—if the weather doesn't turn stormy.
The tornado signal—three 30 second blasts of the siren separated by 15-second periods of silence—will be sounded to give everybody a chance to become familiar with it. The all-clear signal is a continuous 60-second blast.
The practice alert will be postponed if the weather turns stormy enough that persons might confuse the practice alert with a real alert, says Cliff Pinkelman, Wayne volunteer fire chief. If the alert is called off because of bad weather, it will be announced over local radio station KTCH, he said.
Pinkelman said the practice alert will give everybody a chance to look for places of safety just as if it were a real one.

Wayne Girl Crowned District Dairy Queen

A Wayne girl will join 13 other district 4-H dairy show winners on Sept. 23 to vie for scholarships and prizes during the 26th annual Ak-Sar-Ben livestock show in Omaha.
Ranee Kniesche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kniesche, of rural Wayne, will represent the district not only as a purple and blue ribbon winner but also as queen of the South Sioux City district show.

RANEE KNIESCHE

Monday afternoon Ranee won the crown in competition with four other girls.
Joining Ranee among the list of purple ribbon winners are her sister Rhonda, Michelle Kubik of Wayne and David Anderson of Laurel. Anderson won first place in showmanship.
In addition to the purple ribbon winners, those winning blue ribbons also are invited to the Omaha show. Youths must be 12 years of age to advance to Ak-Sar-Ben. They include Vincent Kniesche, Ranee Kniesche, Dennis Anderson, Rhonda Kniesche, Kris Anderson, Cindy Bull and Sheryl Anderson, all of Wayne.

Sisters Married Saturday Afternoon In Double Ceremony at Grace Church

Grace Lutheran Church of Wayne was the scene of a double wedding Saturday afternoon.

Sandra Georgette Eynon became the bride of Dean Chase of Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Means of Marcus, Ia., and Jean Lynn Eynon exchanged vows with Duane Blomenkamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Blomenkamp of Wayne.

The brides are the daughters of Mrs. William Eynon of Wayne and the late William Eynon.

The altar was appointed with bouquets of white and lavender gladiolus, pink carnations and white daisies for the two double ring ceremonies. Pews were marked with small bouquets of pink and purple carnations, lavender mums and purple statice, carrying out the color theme chosen by the sisters.

Pat Smith of Holdrege, and Mrs. Ken Murphy of Columbus, who were Sandra's attendants wore floor length gowns, in a purple and lavender floral print double knit which tied in back and featured long sleeves. They wore white picture hats and carried baskets of lavender mums, pink carnations and baby's breath.

Jean's attendants, Mrs. Ron Brown of Aurora and Sharon Andrews of Omaha, were attired in hot pink and dark lavender A-line chiffon frocks fashioned with empire waists and a shoulder drape. They wore matching picture hats and carried garden bouquets of roses, mums and daisies.

Sandra's wedding dress was of white organza over taffeta, with Alencon lace forming the bolero style bodice and capping the sheer bishop sleeves which were caught at the wrists to lace cuffs. The long, full organza skirt swept from a dropped waistline. Matching lace edged her mantilla veil which was caught to a small circlet cap and she carried pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Jean's gown, fashioned of silk organza over taffeta and pearls, was reembodyered Alencon lace, was designed with rick collar, gibson sleeves, fitted to the wrist and cuffed with wide lace ruffles, empire bodice and A-line skirt of circularly cut double ruffles which extended to a peacock train at the back. She wore a rolled brim Victorian hat of hair braid banded in lace traced organza and draped in layered silk illusion which cascaded to the back waist. Her bouquet was of pink and white roses, pink and purple carnations and baby's breath.

Best man for Dean Chase was Wayne Chase of South Sioux City and groomsmen were Jim Stark of Ponca, Rex Wheeler of South Sioux City and Larry Schlines of Sioux City, Ia. were ushers.

Duane Blomenkamp's attendants were Boyd Blomenkamp of Alliance and Ron Soenkens of Pierce. Ushers for the Eynon Blomenkamp wedding were Rob Andrew of Pierce and Ron Dalton of Wayne.

Mrs. Jim Pryor sang "Song of Ruth" and "Jesus Shepherd Be Thou Near Me," and Bob Barr of Lincoln sang "Wedding Song." Beth Bergt was organist. The Rev. E. J. Bernthal officiated at the ceremonies.

Sandra was given in marriage by her brother Thomas Eynon and Jean was given in marriage by another brother, George Eynon.

The brides' mother wore a floor length blue chiffon dress complemented with a white garland corsage. Mrs. Means wore a pink and white knit, floor length dress and Mrs. Blomenkamp chose a beige double knit and lace dress, also in formal length. The bridegrooms' mothers had pink rose corsages.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Dan Dunne of Omaha and Cheryl Lessmann.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barr and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Christensen served as hosts for the reception for 300 guests held at the Wayne Country Club following the ceremony.

Mrs. Gary Anderson of Glenwood, Ia., and Mrs. Gary Munson of Norfolk cut and served the Eynon Chase wedding cake and Cheri Thomsen of Omaha and Mrs. Boyd Blomenkamp of Alliance cut and served the Eynon Blomenkamp wedding cake. Mrs. Wayne Chase of South Sioux City and Judy Griess of Omaha poured and Mrs. George Eynon of Norfolk, Carol Willers, and Mrs. Bob Reeg served punch.

Waitresses were Renee Milligan, Susan Fredrickson and

Rousseau Paintings Called Memorable

Shortly before Henri Rousseau died, a French critic wrote of him, "I would like to have some of these pictures, not to hang them up on the wall, for they exercise a dangerous fascination, but to look at from time to time when we need to be reminded of sincerity." It is these qualities of fascination and sincerity which make Rousseau's paintings memorable.

He was self-taught, so his canvases, particularly the early ones, are amateurish. But everything he painted was so charming, simple and direct, that he is justly known as the most enchanting of the modern painters. We have no details about his early life, the influences on his art, about his teachers, about his two marriages; we do not know the exact years he spent in Mexico, if indeed he spent any at all.

Rousseau's family were tradespeople who apparently stimulated in him an appreciation of music and the arts. When he was 18, he supposedly went to Mexico as a saxophonist with a regimental band, accompanying the French Army sent by Napoleon III to assist Emperor Maximilian. He worked as a law clerk for a while, but returned to the army, serving as a sergeant in the Franco-Prussian war.

In 1871, he became an inspector at a toll station outside Paris, a post he held until 1885.

In 1885, aged 40 and a widower, Rousseau retired on a small pension, remarried, and settled in a working class section of Paris. Although he had no formal training, he was determined to become a professional painter. Having settled on this unlikely career, he condemned himself to a life of semi-poverty, but his tenacity was remarkable. He added to his meagre pension by performing small services — giving legal advice, working for a local newspaper, giving music and art lessons to his neighbors.

It was the custom for French artists to submit their paintings to juries for acceptance in large exhibitions. However, in 1884, a group of painters, rebelling against this exclusiveness established an annual "Salon of Independents," with no juries and no prizes, open to everyone. This was fortunate for Henri Rousseau, since it is doubtful that his early works would otherwise ever have been seen. He took himself and his art seriously, but the rest of the world found it hilarious. When he exhibited his first piece in 1886, the public laughed and the critics were merciless.

There were some who did not laugh, who saw the subtleties beneath the coarseness of his work, and Rousseau began to attract serious admirers in the early 1890's, by 1895 he was quite well known.

He had been painting for perhaps a dozen years when he finally found his stride, developed his own personal language. His second wife died in 1897 and he lived on, alone, in a small studio, sleeping, eating, writing, teaching, and painting all in one room. About this time he began concentrating on creating the exotic jungle scenes which brought him, ultimately, fame, if not financial success.

1907 to 1910 was a wonderful period in his life. At 63, Rousseau was being idolized by the most advanced group of artists and writers in Paris, he was recognized and admired. He received his first large commission, for "The Snake Charmer," which now hangs in the Louvre.

His last years were saddened by an unhappy love affair and a lawsuit; in 1909 he was tricked by an unscrupulous former pupil into an attempted fraud connected with the Bank of France. He was convicted and sentenced to two years in prison but, because of his advanced years and "obvious innocence in worldly affairs," the sentence was remanded.

Rousseau died in 1910. Shortly after his death the first U. S. exhibit of his work was held. Since that time, many paintings by Rousseau have been acquired for private and public collections. No country, not even his own, has responded so warmly as the United States to this sincere and unassuming artist.

CARNIVAL EVENING, OIL BY HENRI ROUSSEAU

Pink and Blue Fete Held Monday Evening

A pink and blue shower was held Monday evening for Mrs. Wayne Newton of Laurel in the Bob Zohner home, Laurel. Luncheon hostesses were Judy Zohner, Barb Hansen and Audrey Hinrichs, all of Laurel. Refreshments included pink ice cream and blue frosted cake. Nut cups were fashioned from diaper folded napkins.

EXTENSION NOTES

By Joycelyn Smith

Play it Cool in the Sun
Summer means warm weather, and getting out into the sunshine is one of the many pleasures of this time of the year. But summer can also mean tragedy to persons who overexert themselves and their abilities.

Soaking up the sun can be healthy if you take it in moderation, but when you are out in the sun too long you may become a victim of heat stroke or heat exhaustion.

Heat stroke or sun stroke is an extreme medical emergency. It involves a breakdown of the body's control mechanisms and in some cases, if not properly treated, it may cause death within a few hours.

A victim of heat stroke will stop perspiring and his skin will become dry. The body will be red and hot. Convulsions and loss of consciousness may result.

To treat, lower the victim's body temperature as soon as possible. Get the victim out of the sun and pour cool water on him. If enough water is available, immerse the person. Move the victim to the hospital as soon as possible.

Heat exhaustion is just the opposite of sun stroke in that the victim will perspire, usually to such an extreme that he will lose all the salt and most of the body fluids in his system.

Clammy, cool skin, together with symptoms of mental confusion, nausea, dizziness, weakness and a headache come with this sun illness. Also, the heart beat may exceed 200 beats per minute.

First of all, move the person to a shady, cool place. Although you do want to reduce the body temperature, avoid rapid cooling. Massage the arms and legs to stimulate the blood flow. Make the person drink some salt water (a solution of half a teaspoon salt with a quart of water).

To prevent both of these sun oriented afflictions, avoid overexertion, drink plenty of fluids and take salt tablets if you know you'll be under the sun's rays for a long period of time.

Wayne Swimmers Dunk Laurel

Wayne's swim team chalked up win No. three Tuesday night with its second victory over Laurel, 23-10.

The locals tied the visitors in the diving competition with 24 points each but then proceeded to move out in front in the six swimming events.

Christa Pierce led the girls swimmers for Wayne, winning the backstroke and breast stroke in the 10-and-under category. Laurel's Roxanne Kraemer picked up two firsts in the 11-12-year-old butterfly and breast stroke categories.

Wayne, now 3-2 overall, was scheduled to swim against Wausa Wednesday. According to pool manager Gary Eger, no other swim meets have been set up yet.

Pee Wees Capture Loop Title

The Wayne Pee Wees won the Ralph Bishop League title Tuesday with a nobil performance by star pitcher Tim Pfeiffer over Winside, 9-0.

The club's score matched their perfect record, 9-0, to win the championship.

Wayne's Little League also have a chance to take the League, next week following their unbelievable 30-11 white wash over Winside. The locals, currently tied with Pender at 8-1, must get by Winside Monday in order to take the top spot.

Dennis Carroll got the Little League's win on the mound, while Tim Thomas and Jerry Goeden went 4-4 and 4-5 respectively at the plate.

The Ponies made it three wins for Wayne with a 13-6 victory.

Today (Thursday) the Pee Wees and Little League will host Emerson at 1:30 p.m. before taking on Winside Monday.

Co-Leadership In Women's Golf Changes Hands

Teams 7 and 16 remain on top of the American and National divisions of the Wayne Women's golf league this week, but Team 16 has to share its lead with a new co-leader.

Team 26, in third place last week replaces Team 24 in a duel for the National lead. The duo of Jan Johnson and Joan Potts took over for Sharon Erickson and Jackie Dittman. Holding the top spot is Ann Barclay and Jan McQuistin.

The duo of Marion Evans and Janet Roenfeldt hold a two-point lead in the American league, but competition for second place grows fierce.

Three teams are tied for that second spot—Teams 2, 10, and 11. On Team 11 are Ruth Vogel and Gerl Thomas. Team 10 is made up of Marge Fuelberth and Marguerite Stehwien. Vi Rickers and Irene Block make up team 2.

Today (Thursday) the women members of the Wayne Country Club will hold their annual golf tourney, beginning at 8 a.m.

Five flights will compete in the day-long meet with a championship flight scheduled in the afternoon.

According to Mrs. Val Kleinst, tourney head, the members decided to reduce the two day meet to Thursday only. That means the women will play 18 holes in the morning, with the nine-hole championship round to follow.

Midgets Stay Perfect at 17; Legion Goes 13 for 12th Win

Thirteen innings and a come from behind win.

That's one way you could describe Wayne's Legion and Midget victories over Norfolk Monday night.

It took 13 innings for the Legion to stop Norfolk's club, 3-2, and the Midgets had to fight their way back from a 5-4 deficit to take their 17th victory in a row without a defeat, 8-6.

The Midgets almost turned their last game of the season into their first defeat. The locals pounded out a 4-0 lead in the first two frames, then watched the visitors whittle the lead down to 4-3 after three innings.

Shortstop R. Workman scored Wayne's first two runs off his single before catcher Mike Meyer came back in the following frame with another two run single.

All looked well until starting pitcher Earle Overin ran into trouble in the top of the third. Overin's fast ball kept biting the dirt, causing him to give up three walks. Two singles and one of those walks accounted for three runs.

In the fourth, Norfolk opened up on Overin for two more runs, jumping into the lead 5-4. But the lead was short-lived, as Wayne came storming back with four runs in its half of the fourth to recapture the lead.

Norfolk center fielder Bolduan came in to take over the mound duties for starter Hall. But Wayne's two singles and a triple by Meyer showed Norfolk left lowers Wayne was determined to get its 17th win.

Following Meyer's Triple, Workman sent a sacrifice fly to left field for Wayne's final run.

Norfolk still had spark, though. In the top of the seventh, the Midgets scored their sixth run with the help of two Wayne errors. But winning pitcher Paul Mallett, who came in during the fifth frame, saved the game with his fifth strikeout to retire the side. His record is 7-0.

The Legion club turned their contest into what seemed to be an all-nighter.

The game turned into a cat and mouse contest, with Norfolk first bouncing into the lead, 1-0, in the eighth frame before Wayne came back in the same inning to push the contest into another extra inning.

After three more scoreless frames, Norfolk ripped its second run of the night to take a 2-1 command—and hopefully end the 11 p.m. session.

But Wayne was determined to take its 12th victory, countering with another run in the bottom of the 12th to make the game 2-2.

Finally catcher Bill Schwartz put an end to the marathon with a single to score winning pitcher Roger Saul in the bottom of the 13th. Earlier, Saul connected for a double.

The Legion club, now 12-5, will face Decatur Friday night, at home before rapping up its season with a home game against West Point Sunday.

Midgets and Legion enter district baseball competition in Wayne starting next week.

Two Drivers Pace Area At Norfolk

Sunday night's action at Norfolk's Riviera Raceway was kind of a quiet night for area race drivers as only two Hoskins men picked wins.

Harold Lee Brudigan won the third heat before Gerald Bruggeman took the B feature to pace area drivers. Both Bruggeman and Bruggeman placed in other races, with Bruggeman taking third in the third heat and Brudigan finishing fourth in the A feature. Brother Gene Brudigan came in third in the B feature.

Dennis Janke of Wayne placed fourth in the late model division.

This weekend Gene Brudigan along with two other drivers will be featured in the Hare and Hounds event.

Last Friday at Columbus Gene won the second heat and the B feature while Bruggeman finished second and third. Gerald also won the A feature.

Nebraska anglers may use anise oil or any other scent to treat their baits and lures, provided they do not stun or kill fish or pollute the water.

It has never been brought to my attention before, but I'm beginning to wonder: If a girl is playing softball and is covering first base, do you call her a first baseman or a first basewoman?

No, I'm not joking. My first reaction was to call her the normal title—first baseman. But one Wayne Herald employee stands firm in her belief that a woman softball player should be called a first basewoman... or second basewoman... or third basewoman.

I believe that a girl should be called a basewoman or a baseperson as opposed to the sex connotation given to a male baseball player," said Susan Canarsky, darkroom technician.

If is a good point to be brought out. However, I don't think I would become quite as "technical" with the term as she does. Well, to each his own, er, her own?

Speaking of girls softball, Wayne's softball team has a chance to tie for the Ralph Bishop League leadership, according to city recreation manager Hank Overin.

The 15 and-under girls currently hold a 52 mark with this week off. Right now the girls may be tied with Pender, one game back.

As for the other two Wayne clubs, the 18-and-under group has a 2-5 record while the 12-and-under (known as the 15-and-under reserves in the legion) have a 4-3 showing.

You might want to check through another part of the sports to see if the Pee Wees won the Ralph Bishop League.

The young group has an 8-0 record and was supposed to play Winside Tuesday afternoon at Winside. If they got by the area squad, the kids took home the league championship.

Also, the Little League players may have a chance to win their division. Wayne carried a 7-1 record into Tuesday's match against Winside.

As far as the Ponies go, Wayne has a 2-6 mark. It looks like Winside might take this one. Overin pointed out. The club is either perfect in nine league starts or has one blemish on its record, he said.

Wakefield's Legion club has its league rapped up. Paul Eaton's squad has a 7-0 league mark while maintaining an 11-14 overall record.

This Friday night the team will complete its regular league action when it travels to Pender. Even if the club should lose, that won't endanger its chances of winning the league. The rest of the league's teams have a minimum of two losses.

This desk has been getting its fill of publicity from Sioux City's River-Cade events. So instead of making separate stories I'll pass some of it on.

South Sioux City's pool will be site of the first annual River-Cade open swim meet this Saturday. Seventy-six events are on the program, with competition starting at 8:30 a.m. The sixth annual Shrine Championship Junior Rodeo is slated for Saturday and Sunday in Sioux City. Trophies will go to first, second and third place finishers. On Sunday, the Men's River-Cade golf tournament will be held at Green Valley golf course. In addition to the 18 holes there will be a championship flight of nine holes. Next Thursday Sioux City will sponsor its tractor pull.

THE WAYNE Pee Wees won the Ralph Bishop League Tuesday afternoon. Playing on this year's league champion team were, front row from left, Brian Foote, Jere Morris,

Wayne Downs Newcastle To Share Lead

Wayne's Mike Ginn continued cracking home runs Sunday night after smashing two in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League all star game last Thursday.

The center fielder ripped one over the fence and almost made it two for the night when his second shot went foul. Anyhow, Wayne's down team won the needed win over previous front runner Newcastle, 11-5. Newcastle drops to third at 7-3 while Wayne and Homer are back on top with 6-2 marks.

Ginn slammed the circuit hit during Wayne's burst of strength in the first inning, giving the home team a 2-0 lead when he and pitcher Randy Benish came home.

That home run helped ignite three more runs for the locals. Dennis Paul ripped a double to get on, and Vaughn Benson's single put runners on first and third. Second baseman Herb Swan connected for another single, tallying Benson and Paul for a 4-0 margin.

Wayne's fifth run of the frame came after a wild pitch. With Swan making it to third and Steve Hix walking to first, the scoring play was set with first baseman Fritz Weible coming to bat. But Hix was caught in a steal between first and second. In the meantime, Swan rambled home before Hix was tagged to end the inning at 5-0.

The town team's attack proved to be too much for Newcastle starting pitcher Mark Prather. In the next frame he was replaced by John Wortman, who allowed only four runs in the following four and a third innings.

Wortman held the home club from scoring in the second before helping his club to get on the board in the top of the third.

The substitute pitcher along with shortstop Jon Ege raced across the plate on a single by right fielder Vet Beyerler.

Wayne retaliated in the bottom of the third with three more runs, upping the score to 8-2. Ginn walked to first, left fielder Paul Eddie rapped a single and Benson drew a walk to load the bases.

Wortman's troubles kept on when he walked Swan to bring Ginn home and Hix slapped a single to score two more runs before first baseman Weible hit a fielder's choice to retire the side

In the sixth frame, Newcastle went through two more hurlers when Wayne trounced on the visitors for one run by shortstop Randy Helgren, forcing the third change on the mound.

Wente came in for Wortman but his visit lasted only through four Wayne batters and two more Wayne scores before Nelson took over. A fly out by Swan for an RBI allowed the locals to score their last run to make the game, 11-2.

Now it was Newcastle's turn to do a little charging. It took the remaining three innings to show a little force, but the little contenders got help from two home runs—one by Wortman and another by Beyerler.

Beyerler let go in the top of the seventh with Ege on to rush the score to 11-4. The last run came in the ninth off Wortman's home.

Although the game was not a feature night for either of the team's hurlers—Benish getting 13 strikeouts while Newcastle's army finished with nine—it did turn out to be a hitting display for both clubs.

Wayne finished the game with 12 hits, Newcastle seven. Newcastle now stands at 3-0 in league play and 5-0 for the season. Wayne's next opponent will be Ponca tonight (Thursday) at Ponca. Sunday night the locals will travel to Dakota City.

Wayne, Wakefield Players Dominate North All-Stars

Seventeen area all star Midget players made up this year's North squad and Wayne and Wakefield players led the pack. A total of five from each squad combined efforts with three Winside and four Laurel players in the Ralph Bishop League's first Midget all star game at Pender Wednesday night.

Wayne had Mike Meyer, Earle Overin, Paul Mallette, Marty Hansen and Gordie Cook. Wakefield's Mike Soderberg, Chuck Lindstrom, Tim Rouse, Rich Puls and Doug Schwarzen represented that area squad.

Jerry Stanley, Sterling Stolpe, Scott Thompson and Brad Erwin played for Laurel and Mike Anderson, Tyler Freund and Bob Hoffman made up Winside's contribution.

The area players faced the South squad made up of players from the other half of the league. Wisner, Bancroft, Watt Hill Lyops and Pender.

"If there is enough interest," Wayne coach Hank Overin said, "we hope to continue the all star game and make it an annual thing."

Overin pointed out that the clubs experimented with a free substitution rule to permit all the all stars to play. "But the pitchers were limited to three innings," he added.

Next year if it is continued, the North squad will host the games at Wakefield.

Harvey Head Coach

Wayne State former basketball star Jon Harvey has accepted a head coaching job at Victor HLV High School in Victor, Ia.

Wayne, Homer Lead NEN League Pack

Wayne and Homer moved themselves back into a tie for the lead in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League last weekend while Newcastle fell to the third spot.

The locals whipped last week's king, Newcastle, 11-5, while Homer nipped Dakota City, 6-2.

The only other changes in the league showed Ponca moving up from fifth to fourth when it clipped Wakefield, 5-4, at Wakefield. Winnebago and Dakota City are tied for sixth place at 3-7 following Winnebago's conquest of South Sioux City.

Plenty of action tonight (Thursday) and Sunday will help determine a leader as the teams approach the season closing. Following these games, the teams only have two more scheduled meetings before the end of regular league play.

Demolition Derby to Spice 1973 Wayne County Fair

The Wayne County Fair will have a new event this year—a demolition derby.

A $675 purse will be offered to drivers who can make it through the heat races and into the feature crackup on Sunday Aug. 5.

According to co-chairman Dave Ley, the sponsoring Wayne County Jaycees will award $250 to the first place finisher, $100 to the runner up, $75 to third place finisher and $25 to the others.

"We hope to have three to four heat races," Ley said, "with about eight to 10 drivers in each heat." Ley pointed out that the top two cars left in each heat will qualify for the feature event.

Ley urged all contestants to get their $2.50 entry fee in early to secure a number for their vehicle. "Any driver who applies after the Aug. 1 deadline will have to pay $5," he said.

Both Ley and Craig Tiedtke, in charge of the derby, note that complete contest information and rules are available by writing the Wayne County JCs in Wayne or calling 375-3330.

In addition to the feature and heat races, if there are any cars still running that are not entered in the feature, the JCs plan on holding a consolation race. The first place winner will get $50, according to Ley.

OBITUARIES

Marian Tillwick

Former Carroll resident, Marian Gehrke Tillwick, of Omaha, died there July 7 at the age of 46 years.

She was born June 25, 1927 at Wayne, the daughter of Reinhard C. and Lydia Hinnerichs Gehrke. She resided at Carroll where she attended school until her family moved to Omaha while she was a teenager. She graduated from South High School in Omaha.

She was married to Raymond W. Tillwick Oct. 17, 1947. The couple celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary last November.

Funeral services were held July 10 at Mt. Olive Lutheran Church, Omaha, with burial in the Hillcrest Cemetery.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reinhard C. Gehrke of Omaha; her widower, one son, Mark at home; three daughters, Mrs. Warren (Diana) Blimling of Omaha, Sandra of Omaha, and Ruth at home; two grandchildren, Amy and Patrick Blimling; two brothers, Harlan W. of Cheyenne, Wyo. and Milton K. of Leesburg, Fla.; and one sister, Mrs. Frank (Arlene) Myers of Omaha.

Memorials may be sent to the Mt. Olive Lutheran Church of Omaha, or to Cancer Research, University of Nebraska Hospital, in care of Dr. Lemon.

Sonya Lea Swinney

Sonya Lee Swinney, infant daughter of Stacy and Geraldine Gilbert Swinney of Wayne, died Tuesday at the University of Nebraska Hospital in Omaha. She was born July 12 at St. Luke's Medical Center in Sioux City, Ia.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the First United Methodist Church, Wayne, with the Rev. Frank Kirtley officiating. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Survivors include her parents, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Swinney and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gilbert, all of Wayne.

4H CLUB

Helping Hand 4-H Club

Sixteen members of the Helping Hand 4-H Club met in the home of June Meyer July 13 at 1:30 p.m. Leaders, Mrs. Warren Holtgrew and Mrs. William Holtgrew, also attended.

Darci Janke called the meeting to order and Marjorie Vahlkamp led the pledge. Members answered roll call with a tongue twister.

The group worked on record books and fair entry tags. A discussion was held on a float for the Old Settlers reunion.

Demonstrations were given by June Meyer on how to make a pudding, Diann Suehl on how to cut carrot and celery sticks, and Carla Berg on how to make a bean bag.

Guests were Mrs. Robert Jensen, Mrs. Harry Suehl Jr., Mrs. Edwin Vahlkamp and Mrs. George Jaeger.

Lunch was served by the Meyer family and the Robert Jensen family.

The 4-H picnic will be held Aug. 26 at 12:30 p.m. at a Wayne park.

Pals and Partners

The Pals and Partners 4-H Club held a noon picnic at Ponca State Park July 15 with nine families attending.

During the business meeting, members discussed a booth for the Dixon County Fair.

The club plans to tour each members farm Aug. 7. They are to meet at the Derwood Wried farm at 6:30.

Area Feeders Plan Tour of NU Lab

Northeast Nebraska livestock producers will tour the University Field Laboratory at Mead on Aug. 6.

Arrangements are being made by the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association for a large bus to make pick-ups that morning in several towns. The bus fare will probably be about $6.

The cattle feeding and the cow-calf producing operations will be explained by Dr. Terry Klopfenstein and Dr. John Ward, in charge of the research there. Livestock waste disposal studies and a beef confinement facility will be shown and reported. Reservations should be made with Tom Gustafson of Wakefield, association secretary. A definite bus pick-up schedule will be announced later.

A Time for Learning

ABOUT 50 Wayne youngsters are spending part of their summer in school, helping area teachers learn more about specific language disabilities while overcoming some of their own. The teachers, more than 40 of them, are attending a three week workshop underway at West Elementary School in Wayne. They work with youngsters during morning sessions, then spend afternoons listening to lectures, watching demonstrations and taking part in discussions. Hosting the workshop, which began last week, is the Wayne Carroll school district. Funds for the project come from Wayne State College and Educational Service Unit No. One. Serving as supervisor and coordinator of the workshop is Mrs. Dorothy Ley of Wayne, who was instrumental in developing the local school district's program for dealing with SLD children. The program, aptly titled "Project Success," has received several awards and was chosen as one of the top seven federally funded Title III programs in the nation by the U.S. Office of Education. Involved in some workshop activities are (left) Tammy Carlson, who glances at teacher Joan Olson of Hartington during a writing session; Joni Strzman (above right), who forms a sound while watching another student take part in speech exercises; and Angela Karel, who wears a bride's mantilla after taking part in an acting-out session. With her is teacher Carl Clark of Verdigris, while Terry Rhoads laughs at the antics of another youngster performing with his hat on

Lawn Tip

"The expected high tomorrow will be 95 degrees with south-west winds at 10-20 miles per hour."

Sound familiar? These conditions over the past month have given rise to a disease of trees known as "leaf scorch." When these climatic conditions occur, water is lost through the leaves faster than the roots can replace it.

The symptom resulting from this rapid loss of water is a burnt or scorched appearance, usually beginning on the outer margins of the leaf and progressing inward. Yellowish-brown areas in the tissues between the veins are also evident. In severe cases this area is killed and the leaf eventually becomes brittle and drops.

Other conditions can add to the severity of leaf scorch. Among these are shallow soils, confinement of the root system, roots which girdle the crown of the tree, drought, and a diseased root system. Trees planted near the south wall of a building may suffer due to the extreme exposure from the sun and reflection from the building.

Most trees are susceptible to leaf scorch. Ash, maple and oak are the most commonly involved species. Beech, dogwood, elm, horse chestnut and linden also are highly susceptible to scorching. Firs, pine and spruce often show leaf scorch as a brown discoloration of needle tips.

To minimize the amount of scorch, lightly fertilize trees that are low in vigor and keep the plants well watered. Recently transplanted trees should be watered faithfully during hot and dry periods.

Messy, But Fun

WAYNE youngsters enrolled in the second session of summer park recreation earlier this week turned their imaginations to using clay and plaster in forming different shapes and molds. Nancy Heithold, bottom, watches one of the instructors mix some of the plaster to form molds to be shaped, top left, before it dries. Above, five-year-old Colleen Orte finds working with clay to be a fascinating pastime.

social security QUIZ

Q. I'm 66 and have my own business. I don't work full time anymore and I understand I can collect monthly Social Security retirement payments if I do not render substantial services in my business. How can I tell whether my work in my business is "substantial?"

A. It depends on the amount of time you devote to your business, the kind of work you do, how your work compares with the work you did in past years, and other circumstances of your particular case. You should call, write, or visit any Social Security office to get detailed information.

The University system gets much greater financial support from the legislature even though state colleges provide necessary educational facilities on a regional basis. The colleges do not pose a threat to the University system, and legislators have to be made to realize this.

The college can expect even further drops in enrollment of out-of-state students, especially those from western

Counties Talk About Hiring CD Director

Several Northeast Nebraska counties will continue studying the possibility of forming a block to hire a full-time, paid Civil Defense director.

Representative of seven counties including Wayne, Dixon and Cedar—met in Hartington Tuesday night to discuss the subject.

Each county named representatives to a temporary committee to look into the subject. Representing the three area counties are Ken Eddie of Carroll, Doyle Hansen of New castle and Leonard Kuehn of Crofton.

Other counties represented at the meeting were Knox, Pierce, Madison and Stanton. Antelope County, which also may join the block, was not represented.

Being studied is formation of a block without Stanton and Madison Counties being included.

About 35 persons attended the meeting. With Eddie at the meeting were county clerk Norris Weible and another county commissioner, Floyd Burt of Winslow.

4-H Youths Prepare for 2 Contests

Four H youngsters in Wayne County who have been involved in making garments and taking part in singing groups are getting ready for their annual pre-fair contests.

Judging of garments will take place at the city auditorium all day July 26, with the public dress revue slated for the following evening. The song contest will be held in conjunction with the public dress revue.

Judging will begin at 8 a.m. next Thursday. The dress revue for the public will begin at 8 p.m. the following night.

Top winners in the two contests will be eligible to participate in the state fair at Lincoln later this summer. Ribbon winners in the two fields will be named during the dress revue song contest.

Allen Couple Honored by School Board

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Mattes received a plaque for their years of driving the school bus for the Allen school district during a dinner at Allen Saturday night.

Present for the dinner meet were board members, superintendent Gail Miller, assistant superintendent Garland Mills and their wives.

Mattes completed several years of driving the school bus this year. His wife formerly drove the bus for the school.

Iowa. The drops are expected because of increased tuition rates the college is being forced to charge.

One and possibly two dormitories—Terrace and Pile—will be closed this fall because students no longer want to live on campus. The college is trying to make dormitory living more attractive by relaxing rules and regulations and making eating on campus more reasonable.

The $4,000 donated by the city of Wayne to help promote the college is greatly appreciated by college people and could be the beginning of a continuing promotional effort by businessmen and private individuals.

Getting Ready

WORKMEN for the general contractor building the new hospital on the northeast edge of Wayne State College have been pouring concrete for footings the past few days as work on the project continues. The 26 bed, $1.5 million facility is expected to be completed in the fall of 1974. It will replace the present municipal hospital in Wayne, offering modern health care to a large area of Northeast Nebraska.

Busy time of the year

YOUNGSTERS INVOLVED in 4-H work don't have to worry about summer doldrums. Summer for them is one of the busiest times of the year, marking culmination of much of their work in their clubs throughout the year.

Scenes from that day's activities: Top—Gail Grone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Grone of Winside, waits at the end of a long line of girls about to give oral reasons to Mrs. Phil Willner of Pender.

OBSERVATIONS

One of the most confusing

Governments move in slow and mysterious ways sometimes. But as far as the Seventh and Main intersection in Wayne is concerned, the movement isn't so mysterious. It's just damn slow.

and motorists have little more help in navigating their way through the intersection than they did clear back in June and May and April.

We better keep looking

the central business district. And we should be looking for something—a downtown mall, for example—which offers local and area shoppers an extra reason to do business here rather than travel 30 or 40 miles to a large city to spend their money.

Thermopolis, Wyo., Independent Record: "The minds of children are wonderful. Do you realize that the same child who is conversant in computer-directed space exploration, solid fuel missiles and communication satellites can also sit down and explain to you how the Easter bunny brings all those wonderful goodies on Saturday night?"

Wayne Man Attends School
 Val Damme of Wayne Grain and Feed at Wayne, was among over 80 Kent Feeds dealers, employees and salesmen from throughout an eight state area in attendance at a Kent Feeds dealer training school held recently in Muscatine, Ia.
 The three-day training school, one of four held yearly by Kent Feeds, included sessions devoted to livestock, nutrition and management, animal health and salesmanship. Also included in the school were tours of the 650-acre Kent Feeds research farm and the Muscatine feed manufacturing operation.
 Instructors for the school included members of the Kent Feeds education, public relations, nutrition, animal health, research, production and sales staffs, including the company's various product managers.

Phone Firm Gets Funds For Work
 A $949,000 Rural Electrification Administration loan has been approved for Pierce Telephone Co., according to Cong. Charles Thone.
 The company provides telephone services in Pierce and Wayne Counties.
 Funds will permit the company to serve an additional 258 subscribers and provide one-party service throughout the system.
 Also to be financed are 35 miles of new lines, construction of a warehouse and other improvements in the system, Thone said.

THIS 1914 Case tractor, purchased in South Dakota by Marvin Fuoss of Winside and Ray Magnuson of rural Allen, will be one of many antique tractors on display at the 10th annual Eastern Nebraska Steam Threshing Show near Allen Aug. 11-12. According to Fuoss, above, there are only five tractors like this one left in the state. The "opposed" engine, having one piston in the front and one in the back—runs on kerosene or gas. The Winside resident promises "she'll be running when the show starts."

4-H'ers to Demonstrate In Wayne This Friday

Wayne County 4-H'ers will take part in the annual demonstration contest at the city auditorium in Wayne Friday.

The contest, to be held in the Woman's Club room, will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Conducting the contest will be county agent Don Spitze and Cheryl Kahl, University of Nebraska Lincoln student working in the county agent's office this summer.

A total of 17 youths had registered for the contest by Friday, according to Spitze.

Youths taking part in demonstrations using live animals will do so the following Friday, July 27, at the fairgrounds in Wayne. That event begins at 8:30 a.m. also.

Hog Producers Should Watch For Cholera

USDA officials are urging hog producers, truckers and market and packing plant operators to be on the lookout for hog cholera.

University of Nebraska Lincoln extension veterinarian Dr. Alex Hogg reports that an outbreak of hog cholera was confirmed in Indiana recently.

This was virtually the only case of hog cholera found in the continental United States for the last five months. The previous longest period with no hog cholera reported was 37 days in late 1971, Hogg said.

We are approaching the time of year when hog cholera outbreaks have reached seasonal peaks in past years and we should be looking for hog cholera despite an all-time low in the disease, he said.

All segments of the swine industry are asked to help find the trouble spots before they spread by reporting all sick pigs to a veterinarian, he urged.

Backyard Quiz

What are terrariums and what do they need?

Terrariums are containers with plants growing inside, and they may be covered or uncovered. A terrarium takes many different types of plants and, contrary to popular belief, they do take some maintenance.

Most important, keep terrariums out of direct sunlight since the glass will compound the heat and burn up the plants. They will take plenty of light but make sure that it is not direct light. They also take water, and if closed containers continue to fog, wipe off the excess water on the glass. When they no longer fog, add about a teaspoon of water per plant—but do it sparingly, more terrarium plants die of overwatering than anything else.

Energy tips, Much More Promised at Tractor Day

Energy—Use Less, Profit More! is the theme of the 1973 Tractor Power and Safety Day to be held at the University of Nebraska field laboratory at Mead Thursday, July 26, starting at 9 a.m.

However, agricultural engineers from Lincoln will be showing and telling much more.

Fitting the theme will be several demonstrations of why it pays to fit the tractor to the job, the economy of gearing a tractor up and throttling back when pulling a light load, and the economy and safety of hauling farm equipment on truck or trailer when moving on roads or highways.

On hauling farm equipment, backing a tractor off and jamming the brakes can be a killer, according to Rollin Schnieder, extension farm safety specialist. That is true, also when a load changes the center of gravity of a tractor. He will demonstrate how to counterbalance to restore the proper center-of-balance.

With hay a good cash crop, attention is sure to focus on new haying equipment to be shown and demonstrated by ag engineer Stanley Weeks and his crew.

Special interest is likely to be drawn to a new German made hay harvester, conditioner, windrower. It is claimed to be capable of harvesting nearly any type of hay at speeds up to 15 miles per hour. It works like a power lawn mower, but crimps the crop and leaves it in neat windrows.

Not new, but little seen in eastern Nebraska, will be a tub grinder. This will be used to grind some of the 2,000 pound round bales being produced at Tractor Day.

Several new loose hay stackers will be demonstrated, plus improved models of existing machines.

Many farmers do not realize how much longer it takes to stop a heavily loaded tractor as opposed to one that is unloaded, Schnieder says.

For this reason he will demonstrate the difference in stopping time if the tractor is heavily loaded or pulling a heavy load.

The joys of the little loader around the farm yard will be demonstrated by engineer Kenneth von Bergen. He will have on hand several of the types of loaders useful for handling feed, manure and other materials. Some are small enough to drive through narrow doors and haul around in a pickup.

The engineers this year have a 60-acre tract north of the main show area that they can use for field demonstrations.

On show also will be drip irrigation, automated irrigation and liquid waste disposal. Not to be outdone by Mr. Farmer, Mrs. Farmer can visit with home economists about ways to save power and money around the home. She also can fill out her library with tips on how to save energy.

A feature to be repeated is the popular Backyard Farmer panel of Nebraska Educational Television fame. The panel will again be on hand to answer questions about yard and garden problems and also to consult with farmers who have field problems.

Club News

Wednesday Workers

Plans were made for a camping trip July 14 when the Wednesday Workers 4-H Club met July 11 in the home of Lorraine and Karen Woodward.

Members practiced judging and a demonstration was given by Lisa Roeber and Karen Woodward.

Next meeting will be Aug. 1 in the home of Carolyn Mullers at 7:30 p.m. Geraldine Urbanic and Lorraine Woodward will give a demonstration on cooking.

Karen Woodward, news reporter.

Prepare Dinner

Girls of the Concordettes 4-H Club who are members of the advanced foods projects prepared and served dinner July 6 in the Jack Erwin home.

Guests were Mrs. Norman Anderson, Mrs. Arden Olson, Mrs. Roy Stohler, Mrs. Jack Erwin, Paulette Hanson and Joan Erwin.

Hostesses were Glennis Anderson, Nancy Stohler and Deanna Erwin.

Ammonia Burns May Cause Blindness

Ammonia burns of the eye lead to permanent blindness if not treated immediately, according to a board member of the Nebraska Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Board member Paul Todd said many optometrists in the state are not familiar with ammonia burns because the use of these materials by farmers has been fairly recent and is growing rapidly.

Todd said the following guidelines may help a person avoid serious damage in case of ammonia burns.

Flush the eye with water, with lid held open, until you can get the injured person to a doctor. The first 30 to 60 seconds are critical.

Put no salves, ointments or oils on an ammonia burn for at least 24 hours following the accident.

Be certain that contact lenses are removed before flushing the eye with water. Otherwise, the ammonia will be concentrated under the lens, causing even more damage. The proper method of removing the contact lens from the eye of an injured person is to float it off by having the patient open his eyes in a pan of water.

Youths Get High Marks In 'Rodeo'

Bicycle enthusiasts from Winside and Wayne received purple ribbons during the Wayne County bike rodeo Wednesday.

Earning top ribbons in the competition were Carla Berg of Winside and Mike Rethwisch of Wayne.

Earning blue ribbons during the rodeo, first ever held in Wayne County, were Bobby Lisa and Angie Schulz, both of Wayne.

Another Wayne youth, Kenley Mann, earned a red ribbon.

The contest was held at the parking lot next to Rice Auditorium at Wayne State College. Conducting the session was Cheryl Kahl, who is working in the county agent's office this summer. She will return to the University of Nebraska Lincoln this fall for her final year of study to qualify for either extension work or teaching.

Lawn Tips

Should blue grass lawns be fertilized now?

Fertilizer can be applied to blue grass lawns this time of year but only if as part of a high maintenance program. If it is applied, it must be watered in thoroughly.

Should new sod be fertilized?

New sod may be fertilized but it is not necessary. The main thing is that the sod should get a good start with plenty of water. Then when the sod has greened up well, it can be fertilized.

Weak Sister or Healthy Heifer?

Hubbard Calf Starters combine sound nutrition and built-in medication to maintain health, promote fast growth. Milk Saver replaces whole milk, saves you money. Neomycin and Terramycin for scours. Calf Weaner Pellets introduces calves to solid food and speeds growth. And with Calf Starter Concentrate, you get the added savings of making a complete feed using your grain. Grow 'em big this year... see us!

Once you change to Hubbard, you change for good.

"Out of sight, Out of mind"

Don't forget your furnace and air conditioner filters just because you don't see them every day. If they're dirty, they waste fuel energy and money. Today that's doubly serious, because the cost of living is rising and because America's domestic energy supplies are falling far behind demand.

Change your filters at least once each heating season, again each cooling season if you have a central air system. And send today for a free copy of "A Consumer's Guide to Efficient Energy Use in the Home." It's packed with ideas that can save the nation's energy and your money.

and these developments placed in more scenic areas besides leaving valuable, productive agricultural land for crop production. It all starts with a Soil Survey.

Stimulation of Soil Surveys has been a topic of discussion in the Budget Hearings of several divisions of Local Government. The 1974 Fiscal Budget of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District includes $20,000 for the increased mapping activity in the Lower Elkhorn NRD. Several other County Boards are considering designating funds in their budgets for their share in this program.

A Soil Survey is an inventory of all the soils in an area or County with special emphasis given to the top soil, sub soil and parent material. These soils are then plotted on area maps and indexed to their agricultural and construction capabilities. In addition to agricultural capabilities, these soils are identified by their applications and limitations for use in industrial and housing construction, sewage disposal systems, highways, or park and recreation facilities. If a Soil Survey should note disadvantages in the use of these soils, two alternatives can still be taken before construction begins; either a different site may be investigated, or steps to allow for the problems may be implemented.

Presently, the Soil Conservation Service is working on several Counties in the area and its various stages of completion of Soil Surveys. Only Thurston County has its Soil Survey completed and mapped. Four others, Dixon, Pierce, Wayne and Cuming have the survey work completed, but the published map has not been released. Survey work has begun on Burt, Dodge and Stanton Counties. Madison, Cedar, Colfax, and Platte Counties have yet to initiate Soil Survey for their respective counties.

The possibilities of the uses for Soil Surveys are many in number. By and large, Soil Surveys benefit agriculture. For instance, the Soil Survey can be used to determine the type of crops that are best suited to the soils and terrain in an area or farm. Also those interested in land purchase or lending on a farm can use an objective summary of the capabilities of that farm. Irrigation can affect the soil types and a survey will itemize the advantages and limitations of various soil types concerning irrigation developments.

Retarded Youngsters Find A Whole New World at Lincoln's Antelope Zoo

The Wayne Youth Association for Retarded Citizens (YARC) has taken a giant step forward toward the normalcy of the children it helps at the Beatrice State Home, according to Mrs. Kenneth Sitzman of Wayne, sponsor.

Members of the YARC had a chance to take their charges to visit the Antelope Zoo in Lincoln on a recent Sunday. For many of the children, this was the first time they had ever visited a zoo.

YARC members ran into a few of the usual difficulties that accompany taking youngsters on a field trip, such as bathroom stops, impatient riders, minor distractions—but the riders weathered the trip to Lincoln like experienced travelers.

One of the feature attractions of the Antelope Zoo is the baryard where children can pet such farm animals as a baby calf, sheep, goat, baby donkey, pinto and other docile animals. Some of the children were hesitant at first to pet the animals, but after their supervisors showed them everything was all right, they joined in. In time, they came to love the animals as most children do.

The YARC members saw that the children they work with reacted favorably to the general public. They were more venturesome. They wanted to explore the world around them.

They felt more motivated to communicate ideas. Their manners improved remarkably. They practiced better social behavior patterns.

Lynn Kamish summed up the experience with this evaluation: "Along with the many activities that took place during the day, many relationships were formed and many were enriched. The Wayne YARCers who already had a special friend at Beatrice State home got to know their friend in an entirely new setting."

Kaye Coan offered her sentiments: "It really made my feel good inside to see the kids so happy at the zoo. It makes you feel like you're actually doing something for somebody else—and that's a wonderful feeling."

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson and Mrs. Kenneth Sitzman of Wayne and the State National Bank of Wayne supplied station wagons for the trip. Willa May Raye of the social service department for the Beatrice State Home also drove a car to Lincoln.

The group was treated with a hearty picnic dinner of fried chicken. After dinner Willa May was presented a birthday cake from YARC. Her birthday and the field trip happened to fall on the same day.

She responded: "In more ways than one this is a birthday I'll never forget."

Dixon County Has New Head of Easter Seals

Mrs. Marilyn Temple of Ponca has been named Dixon County Easter Seal chairman. It was announced this week by the state Easter Seal Society.

She replaces Paul Peterson, who recently retired from that post. Mrs. Temple is not new to the work of the Easter Seal Society. She was in charge of recruiting volunteers last spring to help start the Neighbor to Neighbor fund raising kits in Ponca and the surrounding rural area. Before that her Easter Seal activities included stuffing envelopes for the campaign.

As county chairman she will provide information about Easter Seal services to handicapped residents of Dixon County. In addition she will be able to refer county residents to the Easter Seal Society to receive the available services. Some of these are rental or purchase of equipment such as wheelchairs, walkers, and hospital beds; transportation to medical centers or special schools; physical and speech therapy; day and resident camping and medical evaluations.

"I will have available information so if a handicapped person needs help he can call me. I hope I will be able to answer his questions and get the help he needs," she said.

Persons in Dixon County who would like information about Easter Seal service available to the handicapped should contact Mrs. Temple.

Mrs. Helen Anderson returned home this week after spending two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Alice Meyer and family of Lincoln.

Veterans' Benefits Questions, Answers

Q. I know a veteran who served on active duty during both World War I and World War II. Will a burial allowance of $250 be paid for each period of service?

A. No. A single payment, not to exceed $250, is payable toward the veteran's burial expenses.

Q. Is the sale of Veterans Administration repossessed homes limited to only veterans?

A. No. Anyone who qualifies may purchase these homes whether they are veterans or non-veterans.

FIGHT SMOG! RIDE A HORSE

RITTLETS WESTERN WEAR

Not a Bad Idea

PLENTY of area horse show fans will agree with this bumper sticker: "Fight Smog! Ride A Horse." There's no doubt that with the current gas shortage, a lot of drivers would like to mount a horse and forget about the problem. The only problem is those darn saddle sores. The bumper sticker was seen at a recent horse show in Wayne.

'Apples for Tension,' Says Sister Jamesine

The second in a series of three talks aimed at helping parents and teachers make better readers of children was given by Sister M. Jamesine at St. Mary's Catholic School hall Wednesday.

Sister Jamesine, principal of St. Mary's, has considerable experience as a teacher, reading clinician and speech therapist. She directed her talk last week to helping the child in the elementary grades.

"When an over-active youngster enters school, do not give him tranquilizers," she warned. "An apple a day will keep tensions away."

The speaker noted that 375 children in a test group had been given apple juice or apple sauce and 125 had been given oranges. Of the 375, 357 displayed less tension and fewer intellectual disturbances than the 125 who had received oranges.

"When competition and pressure are taken out of reading, children progress," Sister Jamesine continued, explaining that each child reads at his own maturation level and should not be pushed.

"He must keep his confidence," she insisted, adding that "pushing makes for non-reading."

Parents must have interest and enthusiasm about a child's reading, but children will do better in a relaxed situation than under pressure, according to Sister Jamesine.

Finally, parents should not be offended when a teacher gives their child individual help, the speaker advised.

Those attending the lecture received material to take with them to help their children read better and understand the written word more successfully.

In these prepared hints, emphasis was placed on utilizing such sources as newspapers, maps, phone books, signs, restaurant menus, labels, instructions to games or model car kits and important papers like income tax forms or mortgage agreements.

The hints explained how tongue twisters and word games, memorization of poems, reading aloud, use of tape recorders and even changing money can assist the child to mature faster and read better.

A list of special tips was aimed at parents of youngsters who have hearing problems, and a list of drill words was provided for children in various age groups—pre-primer, primer, first, second and third grades.

Largemouth bass are native to Nebraska waters, but small-mouth bass were introduced.
