Hansen, Potter Picked As North All-Star Co-Captains

Mark Hansen of Fremont and Paul Potter of Columbus were elected co-captains this week to head the North All-Star basketball team Friday night for the fifth annual Nebraska Coaches Association All-Star basketball game in Lincoln.

The 12-member team picked the pair during the closing sessions of the eight-day workout at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium.

Potter, standing at 6-3 and weighing 175, will enter the game with a 21.3 shooting mark while Hansen, noted as the shortest player on the team — 5-10 — will supply the needed quickness in the backcourt. The Fremont native has a 15 point average.

Coach Alden Johnson noted that most of the players are in sound physical shape. The exception is player, J. J. Collins of Omaha Tech, a 5-11 guard who is currently nursing an ankle injury suffered during a practice session.

Two other players are recovering from sore feet, Johnson added. Neligh's Mark Murphy has a sore foot from a blister deep inside his foot. Another player with a foot problem is Steve Baumert of Howells.

"We have quite a physical group," the head mentor commented during Tuesday night's steak fry at Brestler Park. "These kids work hard and they play hard."

Johnson said he is pleased with the group's progress, but noted that it's hard to compare the players' abilities.

"Each one of those players is going to have a man-sized job trying to stop the South squad. The South is big, and we're going to have to compensate for our lack of height with some quick offensive plays and a good defense," he said.

Turning to his assistant, Bryon Loeschler of North Platte, Johnson jokingly commented that Loeschler is in charge of the defense. "If anything goes wrong there, he'll be the man to see," Johnson smiled.

Johnson said he is not centering his game around one player, namely Rick Seidel. The coach admitted he is not looking forward to matching Seidel up with Segel in what appears to be a re-take of the Class B state championship class between Sidney and Fairbury.

"Everyone will have an equal opportunity to play," Johnson stressed, "because everyone here is an all-star."

Loeschler, in looking at his job, said he doesn't "feel belittled" by being an assistant. "It's a great opportunity to help coach these kids."

During Monday's workout the group treated area youngsters to a mini-camp for learning basketball fundamentals. In that afternoon session, the players and boys were filmed by a Nebraska Educational Television crew for ETV rebroadcast of the game and mini-camps on Saturday.

ALL EYES were focused on North All-Star coach Alden Johnson as he helped to direct the basketball camp's first mini basketball meeting for area youngsters at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium Monday. Over 40 boys showed up for the affair, with the North All-Stars and coaches teaching the boys fundamentals of basketball. Bottom picture, six local players and All-Star Ed Gogan of Arcadia pause a moment before the drill start. With Gogan are, from left, Sean Willis, Tom Gunn, Clinton Nelson, John Keating, Perry Nelson and Jeff Sperry.

Three Golfers Tie at 46

Three Wayne women golfers tied for first place during the Wayne women's golfing session Tuesday.

Dee Stolltenberg, Marion Evans and Loreene Gildersleeve each scored 46 in the post league action. A total of 31 members participated.

Freshman Physicals Start Today

Freshmen boys going out for sports this year should report to Dr. Roy Matson's office at 10 a.m. today (Thursday) for their physicals.

Football coach Duane Blomkamp said boys whose names end AL should have their exams today with the remainder scheduled for the 23rd.

Practice is slated to get underway 3 p.m. Aug. 21, he said.

THINK! — Before you louse something up.

Bruggeman, Brudigan Racing One-Two At Riviera Raceway

Two Hoskins drivers are one two in the Riviera Raceway point standings this week.

Gerald Bruggeman tops the list with 893 season points. Gene Brudigan is close behind at 890. Both drivers keep on the hot trail, aiming to collect a grand total of 118 points each racing night, said raceway manager Bob Haase.

Bruggeman kept the edge in his favor Sunday with a win in one heat race and a second in the A feature. Brudigan, on the other hand, also picked up a win in a heat race but was one car short in the A feature, finishing right behind Bruggeman for third.

"Both men are making this an exciting season," Haase noted, "since the race for first is so close this late in the season."

To give other area drivers an idea of the closeness of the races, last week Bruggeman captured high point honors at Columbus' Rebel Raceway while Brudigan took third place in other area races.

Clearwater — Gene Brudigan — Second in a heat race.

Rebel Raceway — Brudigan is second in a heat race, second in B feature, fourth in A feature.

Bruggeman — Second in a heat race, first in B feature, third in A feature.

ACTION was fast and furious during the first scrimmage for the North All-Stars Monday night. Coach Alden Johnson had his squad go through about an hour workout with area players. Although no actual score was kept, one report was that the North team defeated the locals, 77-71. During that action, Chuck Collins, player in white, tries to steal the ball from All-Star Mark Hansen. Playing in the game are Mark Murphy, left, and Ed Gogan, behind Collins.

Overin's Homer Keys Meet Win

Wayne's Julie Overin ripped a grand slam home run Sunday night to help power her team to an 11-9 victory over Emerson and championship honors in the 15-and-under girls softball tournament at Pender.

Overin connected for the circuit hit in the first frame, scoring four of the team's five runs to put the locals out in front, 5-4.

Emerson erased Wayne's lead in the next inning with three runs for a 7-5 margin; but the locals rallied with four more runs in the top of the third to virtually put the game away.

Mary Proett, Judy Janke and Mary Kovensky each scored two runs, with Julie Kovensky going three for three at the plate while tallying three runs.

Wayne stretched its lead to two, 10-8, in the top of the fourth before each team scored one run in the final frame.

The Wayne girls started out the six-team double-elimination meet with a 13-12 nipping of Pender, the 1973 Ralph Bishop softball league winners. In other first-round action, Wakefield fell to Thurston and Emerson beat Rosalie.

Judy Janke turned out to be the heroine in the Thurston-Wayne clash, throwing a no-hitter and helping the local club collect a 10-3 victory.

Wayne's first encounter with Emerson was set for Wednesday, but the Emerson girls failed to show up, putting the locals in the finals bracket.

Emerson's bid for the title regained momentum when the area girls fought their way back out of the loser's division to meet Wayne Sunday.

In their second contest, Emerson delivered Wayne's first loss, 12-8, before Wayne came back to defeat Emerson.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON Lincolnite Larry Fauss will rap up his fifth straight summer of "vacationing" in Wayne. And with it, a lot of memories.

For starts, the public relations man for Central Telephone and Utilities Company likes to spend his summer break from the Lincoln office dodging basketballs and cars for stories on the Nebraska Coaches Association All-Star baseball camps.

Yes, that's how Fauss spends his time off — directing the flow of information from the North camp as well as assisting the South squad headquartered in Kearney. His dodging basketballs becomes apparent not only on the courts, when trying to get background stories on the coaches and players, but also through the halls of Bowen Hall where the group is staying.

And for the cars? Well, last week Fauss had one of his closest experiences with a traffic accident on his way from delivering a story to Fremont. As he was starting to turn the S curve on Highway 77, he came close to running into a line of cars backed up after an accident. Some quick thinking, though, prevented a serious mishap when he took a ditch.

But Fauss shrugged this off as a part of life and continued on his way. After all, it is his job to get the news out.

"I REALLY love this work," Fauss remarks after taking a short break from his busy eight-day workout. "You get to meet a lot of people you ordinarily don't get a chance to see, and the players are an outstanding bunch of guys."

Fauss admits the task of supplying radio stations and newspapers around the area with plenty of daily information on hometown and area players and the overall activities of the camp is almost a 24-hour job.

"This year I have two assistants helping me in the North camp," he notes. Lee Johnson, son of coach Alden Johnson, and Rick Alloway, both of Lincoln, are helping to keep pace with the stories as Fauss tries to maintain a daily schedule of reporting, photographing and taping interviews.

Fauss notes that the extra guys were needed this year because of the overload in work. He added that the South camp is manned by his partner, Dave McBride and his staff. The one bad thing about this year, Fauss sighs, is that he will lose the service of McBride, a former high school pupil when Fauss was a Lincoln teacher. McBride will graduate from the University of Nebraska.

FAUSS' AVERAGE daily workout might include an early start — say about 4 or 5 a.m. to start deliveries of news stories and radio tapes taken care of the night before. When he arrives back from his tour, he may try to get a little sleep before starting in again to get more information and pictures on players and coaches.

When not typing away he can usually be found in the darkroom printing or developing film. After that, its back to the typewriter and getting ready to mail or send out the information.

By the time the dust settles, it is usually about midnight or later — that gives him roughly four hours sleep before the next day begins.

"But I wouldn't trade it," Fauss confesses.

Some vacation!

THE NORTH All Stars will finish their practice sessions Friday morning before packing up and heading for the show-down that night at Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium.

Although Wayne does not have any players on the roster, it will be represented by at least one member helping on the team.

John Keating, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Keating, was elected as student manager for the North team. He will make the trek to Lincoln and get a first-hand view of the action.

Two other Wayne boys will be there, maybe not in person but in spirit.

Scott Ehlers and Tod Bigelow, members of Wayne High's basketball team, will be featured in the basketball program. Both players were in a picture taken of Mark Murphy for the program.

If you want to get technical, the pair will appear on page 26, so informs Fauss.

Lessmann, Skokan Join Bowling Directors

Two new members were elected to the Wayne Men's Bowling Association board of directors Friday night and one officer was re-elected for another term.

Willis Lessmann and Larry Skokan replace Jim Pokett and Lee Echtenkamp, said president Jim Maly, noting that Richard Wurdinger will remain as vice president.

About 22 members attending the meeting selected Sept. 4 as the starting date for both the Tuesday night early and late leagues. The Wednesday night men's league tentatively is slated to start Sept. 5.

Generally thought of as all the small fishes seen darting about in lakes and streams, the minnow family includes the carp and the goldfish.

Girls Volleyball Practice Starts

Early Monday

Practice for Wayne High's first girls volleyball team will be divided into two different times, said coach Mavis Dalton.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m. Monday, all interested girls should report to the school gym. Practice is set for 4 p.m. also.

Coach Mavis pointed out that girls who have not had physical examinations should go to Dr. Roy Matson's office in Wayne Saturday at 1:30 p.m. "No girls will be allowed to practice unless they have had a physical," the coach stressed.

To qualify for a Nebraska Master Angler Award, a blue catfish must weigh at least 15 pounds.

Wayne Tankers Close Season at 6-2

The Wayne swim team delivered coach Gary Eglar and his wife a fitting second anniversary present Tuesday night — the team's sixth win.

The regular season finished their regular season with a convincing 231.194 win over Pender to complete the year with a 6-2 mark.

Leading the way for the home team was Kerry Jech, who picked up four firsts, Jech, competing in the 15.17 class, took wins in the backstroke, butterfly, freestyle and breast stroke.

Bud Meyer and Allen James followed with two wins each while Tracy Stollenberg paced the girls with four victories.

Both Stollenberg and Meyer looked good after the pair placed well in the AAU meet in Holdrege last weekend.

Stollenberg finished fourth in the girls 9:10 butterfly and freestyle. Meyer, meanwhile, had the highest placing of the 11-man group for Wayne, coming in second in the boy's 13:14 butterfly before finishing sixth in the freestyle.

Bellevue, Grand Island and as far away as California were represented.

On Aug. 26 some of the members of the Wayne team will head for another AAU meet, this time at Sioux City for the 17th annual Sioux City Open.

In addition to the members attending the last meet, Eglar hopes to have Ken Daniels, Lori Johnson, Monte Lowe, Pat and Lisa Barclay join the team for the meet.

Other members placing in the meet were Doug Marr, fourth in the 50 meter butterfly; Shelley Gidersleeve, fifth in the 100 meter butterfly and sixth in 100 meter freestyle; Tom Maier, third in the individual medley and sixth in the 100 meter back stroke. Dave Hamm, eighth in the 50 meter breaststroke; Peg Pinkelman, fourth in the 50 meter breaststroke and sixth in the freestyle; Kevin Jech, sixth in the 100 meter breaststroke, and Dawn Ellis, 11th in the 100 meter freestyle.

Eglar said the swimmers did a good job at Holdrege. Considering the level of competition, Teams from Lincoln, Omaha, police force we've got any more... every day you hear of firing and hiring," he noted.

In other action, the council learned by letter that the Chamber of Commerce is in favor of strict enforcement of the two hour parking limit in the business district.

The letter was the directors' reply to mayor Hall, who asked the board whether it wanted the limit enforced.

The board noted that using a woman to mark trees is a move in the right direction and that issuing courtesy tickets is desirable.

Council gave the city attorney authority to draw up an ordinance permitting motorists receiving tickets to pay fines at the city clerk's office. The fine may be small, possibly $1 or lower for each of the first several tickets.

Council also:

- Gave the city attorney the okay to check with Beatrice about the cost of mounting a surplus airplane on tall steel poles. Council is considering obtaining a two seat trainer jet from the Air Force for possible display somewhere in the city.
- Gave the attorney authority to continue negotiating with Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) concerning the agreement for interconnecting the city's and NPPD's electrical power facilities. The city is in the process of gathering equipment to build a substation and a power line south of Wayne to hook up with a large power line so electrically can be purchased from NPPD.

Agreed to have maps drawn up showing exactly what sidewalks will have to be installed in north and east portions of the city now that council is moving to have sidewalks installed throughout the city.

— Learned from Harvey Brasch that six lots of land are available to the city just north of Melodee Lanes for a total price of $14,000. Brasch said the land could be used as a city park if the council wishes to purchase it.

— Learned from the attorney that radio equipment is available for the airport to help guide pilots to the airstrip. The equipment, available from the state, would cost about $50 a month, he said.

— Learned from the city engineer that low-interest loans and grants are available to the city under the newly expanded Federal Housing Administration guidelines. Councilmen Prather and Gross plan on being in Lincoln today (Thursday) to check into the possibility of obtaining FHA financial help for such things as developing an industrial park.

— Agreed tentatively to meet Tuesday to discuss possible uses of the city hospital once it is abandoned when the new facility is completed.

win, the home team's four errors didn't hurt.

Only one time during the seven-inning meet did Broken Bow threaten. In the bottom of the fifth with the bases loaded and one away, Utecht grabbed a bouncing ball to the pitchers mound and threw to home plate before catcher Siebrandt tossed it to first for the double play.

In Midget results, Coleridge fell to Auburn, S.L. in the finals of the Class B Midget tourney.

ARE YOU THINKING ABOUT A NEW WATER SOFTENER?

HERE ARE SOME HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS:

1. Have your water properly tested for hardness, Iron, PH, Nitrate, Phosphate, Silica and Sulphur.
2. Make sure the dealer is a local and reputable person — preferably a person engaged in plumbing (because this is a plumbing appliance).
3. Check if the dealer is equipped to service the equipment and has been properly schooled.

Youth Escapes Injury Sunday In Auto Mishap

The Wayne youth, Carl Jenness, 16, escaped serious injury Sunday about 6 p.m. when a convertible he was driving went into a ditch and rolled on its top, according to Wayne County sheriff's office.

Jenness was traveling south on a county road a mile north and a mile east of Wayne when he applied the brakes at an intersection and lost control of the car.

Jenness told the investigating officer a back wheel locked and caused the car to skid into the ditch.

Grads From All Over Celebrate Carroll Reunion

Students from every graduating class turned out Saturday for the first all-school reunion ever held for former Carroll High students.

Graduates from every year of the school was in existence—1909 to 1958—attended the social hour, banquet and dance, said Dale Stoltenberg of Wayne, alumni association president who helped organize the reunion.

The only person attending the event from the class of 1909 was Ora Davis Owens of Carroll.

Graduates and their spouses came from 24 states to attend the event, with one person from the San Francisco area traveling the greatest distance.

Toastmaster during the evening banquet, catered by the Carroll Cafe, was Dr. Freeman Decker, director of publications at Wayne State College and a teacher-coach at Carroll for five years.

Speaking briefly during the evening was Val Peterson of Wayne, former Carroll teacher who recently ended four years of service as foreign ambassador to Finland.

Among awards handed out were those for former students traveling the greatest distance and for the oldest graduate to attend the reunion.

Providing music during the evening banquet was Milton Owens of Carroll. He was accompanied by Mrs. John Rees.

Elected as new alumni association officers were Gilmore Sals of Carroll as president, replacing Stoltenberg; Eleanor Edwards of Wayne as vice president, replacing Ismael Hughes of Wayne; Charles Denesia of Wayne as secretary and Mrs. William Jenkins of Carroll as treasurer. Serving as secretary-treasurer for the past year was Orville Lage of Pilger.

Plans are not to hold another all-school reunion for the next three to five years, Stoltenberg said.

Helping with the reunion were Milton Owens, Carroll, program; Mrs. Stan Morris, Carroll, decorations; Mr. and Mrs. Don Stoltenberg, Bellevue, social activities; Dallas Havener, Wayne, nominations; Eleanor Edwards, Wayne, historical report; Mrs. Dale Stoltenberg, address booklets, and Mr. and Mrs. Norval Waller, Holstein, Ia., Mr. and Mrs. Stan Morris and Beatrice Tift, Sioux City, hosts and hostesses.

"The American Indian" Is Theme for Guest Day

"The American Indian" was the theme carried out by the Carroll Women's Society of the United Methodist Church when they held their annual guest day last Wednesday at 2 p.m. Approximately 100 ladies from Wayne, Randolph, Winside and Carroll attended.

The program opened with the prelude, "Tis So Sweet To Trust in Jesus," by Mrs. Charles Whitney at the organ and Mrs. Wayne Hankins at the piano. Mrs. Hankins, president, gave the welcome. Mrs. Whitney was in charge of worship.

Guest speaker, Mrs. Gladys Stout of Wayne, area home extension agent, gave a speech on the American Indian and displayed a collection of articles made and used by the Indians. Tammy Nelson, Monica Godsey, Sandra Bowers, Jeanine Harmer and Meagun Owens were accompanied by Holly Rees on the guitar as they sang "Amen" and "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands."

Five Methodist Youth Fellowship members, Peggy Bowers, Sally and Jill Kenny, Debbie Brown and Julie Stephens sang "He Means Everything To Me" and "The Wonderful Word of God," accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Hankins. Both groups of girls joined in a final number, "I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing." Indian bracelets, made by LaRue Leicy, Eulalia Pearson and Ruby Duncan were given to each girl.

Ruby Lage presented Indian momentos for ladies who dusted cob webs that day, were wearing red, white and blue, or had an Indian head penny in their purse.

The program was followed by lunch in the church basement. Mrs. Mary Davis poured.

The program committee consisted of Jean Swanson, chairman, Ruby Lage, Kathy Hankins and Elsie Whitney. Myrtle Cunningham served as chairman of the dining room and Ellen Winterstein was chairman of the kitchen committee. Hostesses were Ethel Tucker and Ann Roberts.

Next meeting will be Aug. 22 at 2 p.m. Program topic will be "New Organization Program Planning No. 2." Leaders will be Elsie Whitney and Ethel Tucker and hostess is Esther Lage.

Picnic Dinner

A picnic dinner was held in the Ken Eddie home in honor of Mrs. Marian Hocamp of Alhambra, Calif., and Mrs. Winifred Watson of Hawthorne, Nev. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stephens and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Eddie.

Guests were the Elmer Williams, Orchard, the William Broers and Dennis Julchs, Sioux City, the Leo Stephens, the Delmar Eddies, the Jim Tietgens and the Walt Tietgens of Randolph, and Marlene Dahlkoetter, Barry and Rhonda.

Free, Reduced Meal Policy To Be in Effect in Local, Area School Systems

A free and reduced meal policy for school students in Wayne, Carroll, Hoskins, Winside, Wakefield, Allen, Laurel and Dixon school systems will be in effect when classes start this fall, officials report.

Children from families whose income is at or below the guidelines adopted are eligible for free meals or meals at reduced prices.

In addition, families not meeting this criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has such children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, they should contact the school.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color, or national origin, school officials note.

Under the provision of the policy, school officials will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the officials, he may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision.

A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of the principal where it may be reviewed by any interested party.

Following are the income levels for families wishing to apply for free or reduced price school lunches; the first figure is the income limit for applying for free lunches, the second income range is for applying for reduced prices.

Herald's 'Speak Out' is your chance to be heard

Yes, I think the change in uniforms is a good one for Wayne.

No, I don't think the change in uniforms is a good one for Wayne.

Comments:

Go ahead, 'Speak Out' and let us and others know how you feel about change in police uniforms

City policemen in Wayne began switching to their new uniforms a few days ago.

The new uniforms — light blue blazer, dark blue slacks, white shirt and tie, stockman's hat — replace the more traditional ones worn by local police for years.

With the change, Wayne possibly becomes the only city in the state where police are hardly distinguishable by their dress from businessmen up and down main street.

What do you think of the new uniforms? Is the change a good one for the community? Is it going to improve your relations with the police?

The change to the new outfits was initiated by police chief Bob Evers, who hopes the uniforms will help the police when they deal with the public day in and day out.

Simply mark the "Speak Out" ballot, clip it out of the newspaper and send it back to us.

This is the first in a series of "Speak Out" questions which will be published by the newspaper as a public service to its readers.

We urge our readers to take a few moments to complete the question and mail it back to us so it can be tabulated with the others sent in.

'Most of Evers' ideas are expensive and not in best interests of community'

Dear Editor: I would like to reply to your article and comments about our police department in the August 6th issue.

As you know I have been against the change of uniform from the very start. The only other town using this type of uniform is Lakewood, Colo. This is a town next to Denver that is four years old, has a population of 120,000 people, no industry, a small community college and has had no problems, because it is mostly residential. In talking to the chief of police of Lakewood, he emphasized that he would not recommend this type of uniform for just any other town and not a sudden change all at once as Mr. Evers (Robert, Wayne police chief) is doing. I am writing this out of concern for the safety of the officers and concern for their families.

As for most of Mr. Evers' ideas, they are not only expensive, but in my opinion, many are not in the interest of the taxpayers or the community as a whole.

As I stated when Mr. Evers was hired, I question his qualifications and experience in police work for the position he was hired.

As for Mr. Evers' idea to have a management study of the department, this was done last April at a cost of $6,000. I doubt if he has even read this report, for the department received high recommendations for its record keeping and other activities. If Mr. Evers thinks the city runs management studies for nothing, think again!

I would like to correct your article as to the police department claims for July. These were not claims of July; these were the expenses for July listed by Mr. Evers in his monthly report. Most of these claims will probably be in August.

If it is true, if Mr. Evers' figures are correct, that he spent or ordered $9,810.07 in the month of July. I am concerned about this because over $2,000 of this could have been federally funded. The cost of the new uniforms listed are just a start of what will be spent before they are complete, plus the additional cost of upkeep over the old uniforms.

Just a few comments about the equipment ordered that was so urgent and we had to have to run the department, as was stated by one of the councilmen: Badges and clips, $46.60 (we have always had badges); speaker, $59.50 (we have had this also); domes, beacon light, seal beams, $175.50 (this was changing from an all red light bar on top of station wagon to half red and half white); the old bar was only 60 days old, and in observing most police cars in eastern Nebraska, the red bar is the only one being used; vehicle emblems, $42.00 (all of our cars have these also); new holsters, $58.10 (all the officers have holsters); narcotic kit, tear gas, detection kits, alcohol kits, fingerprint kit, cameras and equipment, flashlight, dictionary, set of state statutes, $447.78 (all these we had or had use of if needed); printing of new forms, $951.00 (this is outrageous and unwarranted spending).

I will agree that some of things ordered are needed and should be purchased sometime in the next year, for all departments need to continually update and replace equipment, but not all at once as has been done and definitely not at the taxpayers' expense when much of it could have been federally funded and received within 60 days!

In my opinion, all things considered, the police department has been running quite efficiently in the past without all of this expensive and "urgently needed" equipment.

Vernon Russell

Editor's Note: City councilman Vernon Russell is referring to comments made in Norvin Hansen's "A closer look" column in the August 6th issue of The Herald. In that column, Hansen talked about Evers' reasons for switching uniforms and about some of the other things Evers has in mind, such as a department management study, on-the-job training and classes for local and area police. Hansen concurred that police department expenditures the past few weeks have been high and that once the decision to switch uniforms is made, it can't be made without considerable cost.)

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786.

THE GRASSROOTS OPINION

From the New Holstein, Wis., Reporter "George Washington set a poor precedent when he threw the dollar across the Potomac. Since then our government has felt impelled to throw billions of them across the oceans. And now with the gold buying market running wild, those dollars are returning to us in worse shape than when we sent them."

From the Jefferson, Ohio, Gazette "Years ago our Economics Professor told his class that 'Expenses always rise to meet income.' Were he to speak today, he might modify the statement to say that 'expenses always rise to exceed income, whether it be in the household, the schools' or other governmental branches.'"

And now nobody wants the dollar

From the Industrial News Review The president of Ford Motor Co. comments that on a trip to Europe no one wanted dollars and asked for their currency — German marks, perhaps. He comments: "I stopped in shame. Right after the war you could buy marks by the bushel basket. Now what the hell happened in 25 years? Here's the damned dollar. George Washington still on it, and nobody wants it. They won't even take it as a tip. That's what the hell happened."

People want a nation's currency because they can buy products they need and can afford to pay for from the country whose currency they hold. In the U. S., federal and state tax laws, environmental regulations and restrictions, labor policies and the general negative attitude toward profit-making, productive enterprise in the United States continue to limit the ability of American business to increase efficiency and produce goods that the people of other nations want at a price they can afford to pay.

The American people invited the most productive economic system ever conceived — free enterprise operating in a competitive marketplace. It is time we got back to doing what we do best. If you don't think that is true, reflect for a moment — George Washington's picture is still on the dollar, but no one wants it.

New budget wrinkle awaiting legislators at their next session

LINCOLN — The Legislature is going to try a new wrinkle next year when it considers the budget for the state.

The Executive Board of the Legislative Council, the lawmakers' administrative arm, decided recently that the fiscal staff should have its budget recommendations ready to go before the 1974 session starts New Year's Day.

The recommendations will, for the first time, be made available to each senator. PREVIOUSLY, only the members of the Budget Committee received the analysis of budget requests. Board Chairman Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said the new plan is to let all the senators start the budgetting process at the same point the committee does.

The committee, then, will sit down and look over the agency budget requests, the staff's analysis of those requests and the governor's recommendations.

Then, just as before, the committee will take its decisions on budget matters to the floor where the full Legislature will eventually adopt appropriations for the 1974-75 fiscal year.

CARPENTER SAID he doesn't think another Legislature will do what the 1973 session did — adopt the governor's recommendations without a penny's worth of change.

Therefore, the Scottsbluff veteran said, the senators should each have just as much information as it's possible to provide.

He didn't say so, but the advance availability of staff recommendations will give senators — and lobbyists — with special areas of interest an opportunity to make a case to the Budget Committee before its report to the floor.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

New Devices Aid Auto Service Each year, cars are being designed to give owners and servicemen more information about their operating condition and need for service.

Meters that measure speed and fuel supply, and lights that warn of trouble with oil pressure, generator, coolant temperature and brake system have been in use for some time.

But not all warnings will come from the usual dashboard mounted indicators. Components are being built with self-contained warning devices which indicate when wear has reached a pre-determined limit.

One manufacturer, for example, is producing disc brakes that emit a loud squeal when the brake pad wears beyond safe limits.

In addition to the wear bars on today's tires that become visible when the tread has worn down to the limit of safety, one manufacturer has incorporated strips of white rubber with the bars so excessive wear shows up even more prominently.

Other components are being designed to make easier the mechanic's task of determining excessive wear. One car manufacturer is installing on 1973 model car ball joints that have a small shoulder protruding from the ball joint face. As the ball joint wears, the shoulder recedes. When it becomes flush or below the face of the ball joint, it is time for replacement.

A parts supplier has developed a device that talks to the car owner, a voice synthesizer that operates as a service monitoring system. When the monitor detects a part that requires service, the voice device is activated and tells the car owner what is needed.

OBSERVATIONS

We're asking you

So nobody ever asks you what you think?

You go through each day seeing people making decisions, events taking place, things being said, but you don't have a way to make your feelings and thoughts known to others.

Well, we're changing that. We're offering you a way to make your feelings known to everybody around. And we're starting it this issue with "Speak Out."

This week's "Speak Out" concerns the recent switch in uniforms by local police. Others in the mini-poll series will be concerned with actions taken by local and area governmental groups such as county commissioners and school boards, controversial subjects and other things which we think the public has a right to voice an opinion about.

The "Speak Out" series makes no claim to being a scientific sampling of public opinion. How much weight is given results of each poll is up to each individual who takes part or reads about the results.

But it does make a claim to being an effort to offer readers of the newspaper a chance to voice their opinions in a time when individual feelings and thoughts seem lost in the hurry and scurry of everyday living.

Whether the series is successful and developed into a regular feature of the newspaper depends, of course, upon you and those around you. We urge you to mark your personal ballot at the top of this page, clip it out and send it back to us. If there are more persons in your family who wish to vote on this first "Speak Out" subject, just have them mark down their feelings on a sheet of paper and return it along with your ballot.

From now on, the old refrain about "nobody ever asked me" won't hold water.

Computer Study Set The Exon administration has formed a task force made up of representatives from agencies which use computers.

The task force is directed to develop a long-range computer plan for state government.

SUCH A PLAN was a key plank in recommendations to Nebraska by consultants hired through the Council of State Governments. The consultants said the state shouldn't do anything with its present equipment in the central data processing facility until it has put together an analysis of its long-range needs.

New Administrative Services Director Stanley Matzke advised the Legislative Council Executive Board of this development and asked if the senators had any counsel to offer.

The senators, who had expressed a lively interest in the computer problems over several months, decided they should withdraw and let the governor take full responsibility.

So they said

"No industry is totally pollutant free, and the public must begin to accept the fact that if we are to have electricity we must learn to live with at least a minimal change in our environment so long, of course, as it does not impair human life and natural surroundings." — Mr. Robert Price, assistant to the president, National Coal Association.

"...doing business efficiently is a social contribution in its own right, for life is better when quality goods and services are available to consumers at a fair price. Jobs are created through the production of these goods and services, economic health provides the only base from which we can truly hope to rebuild our cities, protect and enhance our environment and uplift the disadvantaged." — Mr. R. O. Anderson, chairman and chief executive officer of the Atlantic Richfield Company.

Garden Tips

Can you afford to throw away 19c, $1.39 or any amount of money. If your garden produces an excessive amount of vegetables during late summer and early fall, do you let the abundance waste away?

It's true these items are inexpensive while they are in season, but what will the cost of these items be next winter?

With proper canning, freezing or storage, most Nebraska grown vegetables can provide excellent food this winter. In fact, Nebraskans are fortunate to be able to grow quality vegetables which, if cared for properly, may be of better quality than vegetables shipped in next winter.

High quality vegetables should be selected for processing or storage. The quality which comes out of the package, can or storage area will be no better than what you pick. Check with your county extension home economist for special information on canning and freezing vegetables.

For storage, select mature (no over ripe) vegetables, free from insects, disease and other damage. Some vegetables such as cabbage, carrots, beets and celery keep best at 35-36 degrees. Tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, squash, beans and melons store better at 45-50.

Irish potatoes store well at this temperature also. Sweet potatoes should never be stored at less than 55 degrees. Potatoes, pumpkins and squash can be stored for months. For additional information on storing vegetables, write Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402 (price 5c) and ask for Home and Garden Bulletin No. 119.

Deadline for Evaluations Is Nearing

Deadline for submitting All Nebraska community questionnaire information is Sept. 5, according to Marie Annot, director of the community affairs division of the Department of Economic Development.

"We hope all communities are working hard on their evaluation and plan to meet the deadline," noted Mrs. Annot.

The All Nebraska Community Program is the section of the Nebraska Community Improvement Program in which communities do not compete against one another, but each community competes with itself to meet criteria established by various governmental agencies.

Major benefit of submitting questionnaires, even though the community does not think they have obtained the criteria for award, is the evaluation feedback from state agency personnel, she said. The evaluation, including suggestions and comments will be forwarded to the community for its information.

What Is A Teacher?

WHAT IS A TEACHER? A teacher is many things... She's knowledge with a smile on her face... Democracy with a book in her hand... Wisdom with a flick of white chalk-dust on her left eyelid.

She comes in all sizes and temperament... Short, tall, skinny, plump... Laughing, serious, happy and sad.

She's the future of the nation in a sack dress... Love with a college education.

In her everyday work week, she's expected to be: Diplomat, philosopher, politician, fight referee, pediatrician, policewoman, practical nurse — and quiz program conductor.

SHE HAS LITTLE CHILDREN in her eyes... And all her dreams are young dreams.

She's a psychiatrist without a couch... Politician without a promise... Baby-sitter without the right to raid the icebox.

She makes money than a dishwasher... Or a ditchdigger... or a garbage collector.

She makes less money than a woman wrestler... Burlesque strip-tease dancer... Or the woman blackjack dealer in Nevada.

Her days are filled with school bells... Young chatter... Chalk dust... Waving hands... Questions... and worried parents.

A TEACHER IS EQUALLY ADEPT AT: Blowing small noses, teaching fractions, putting on galshoes, finding lost mittens in dark clock-rooms — and making parents feel good at parent-teacher meetings.

She spends four years in college, studying hard, in order to learn how to: Make orange paper pumpkins at Halloween, umpire baseball games at recess time, tell young boys to throw bubblegum in the wastebasket.

IN ADDITION TO knowing all there is to know about reading, writing and arithmetic, not to mention science, biology, history and music, a teacher has to be an authority on —

Baseball... Grasshoppers... Little girls... Snakes... Young love... Little boys... and how to live three months of the year without a paycheck.

While grateful parents spend their evenings watching television, attending cocktail parties, complaining about the high cost of the school system, teachers spend their evenings correcting examination papers... Smiling at people at parent-teacher meetings... and wishing they had become stenographers.

Teachers can be found after school — Taking aspirin, picking up spitballs, washing blackboards, rehearsing plays, sewing angel costumes for Christmas pageants — and just sitting at a desk waiting for strength to get home.

TEACHERS ARE EXPECTED TO: Go to church... Keep out of debt... Have creative minds (but not disagree with the board of education)... stay away from cigarettes, beer and bingo games... and give willingly to the United Fund.

A teacher dispenses magic... Sells futures... Dreams are her stock in trade...

From her small classroom will come the doctors of tomorrow, the men who will go to the moon, the great artists and novelists of the year 2000... The industrial tycoons and all the leaders America will need to survive in a puzzled world...

She's the future of the world with a ruler in her hand... Progress with a pencil back of her ear.

Underpaid, unappreciated at times, harried and overworked, she gains her pay in secret satisfaction...

Secretly, she will admit, "I have the greatest job of all..."

And she has...

Because she holds the history of the world in the palm of her little hand...

She's a teacher.

LEE SWINNEY of Swinney Construction Co. in Wayne unhooks chains holding a huge fuel storage tank buried at Energy Systems on Wayne State College campus this week. Plant manager Bill Workman said the 30,000-gallon tank, purchased from the college, will boost storage capacity to 40,000 gallons. That amount would enable the plant, which heats and air conditions college buildings, to run about six days in severe winter weather before running out of fuel, he said. The tank measures 42 feet long, 11 feet in diameter

Steam Threshing Show One of 'Biggest, Best'

The biggest and the best. That's the way sponsors are describing last weekend's 10th annual Eastern Nebraska Steam Threshing Show. "It's the biggest crowd we've had in years," said Marvin Fuoss of Winslow. "We had more equipment, too, and the longer the show seems to go, the bigger the crowds get." Saturday's show attracted several hundred spectators, but Sunday's topped 2,000, according to reports. Total attendance: somewhere over 3,000. This year's parade was the biggest ever held also, with 32 different entries taking part. All together, there were about 100 different pieces of equipment on display — from huge Minneapolis steam engines to miniature steamers built on a scale of about one inch to one foot. Exhibitors came from Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota. Ray Magnuson of Rural Allen, Louis

Rohan, his two sons of Newcastle, Fuoss and the Allen Community Club helped put on this year's show. Also helping out were members of the Allen American Legion, who sold souvenir buttons at the admission gate. And a lot of volunteers helped, too. "I can't begin to list all my neighbors who helped get ready for the show," said Fuoss. Neighbors of Magnuson also helped out again this year, stacking bundles for the threshing activities and doing other work to get ready for the event. Fuoss said about 30 individuals combined efforts to get things ready. Although Fuoss described the show as "just perfect," there was one disrupting note. A Belwood exhibitor, Ed Osantowski, died in the Wakefield Community Hospital Saturday after suffering an apparent stroke about noon at the show. The Allen rescue unit took Osantowski to the hospital shortly after he arrived at the show to set up his equipment.

What's Going on

- Photo identification, clockwise from above left: —If you looked close, you could see names like "Rumely" and "Oliver" which were household words years ago when farming was much different than today.
- A huge steam engine leads the way in the parade during the show.
- Bill Mayberry of Niobrara stands at the controls of an engine during threshing activities.
- Wakefield's Leo Peters watches steam show activities from aboard a model steamer belonging to Ellis Johnson of Wakefield.
- Full-scale steam engines of all sizes and shapes roll by a miniature engine during the parade.
- Spectators browse through tables of antiques during the two-day affair.
- Art Robinson of Sioux Falls repairs his scale model steamer after it broke down during demonstrations.
- Bearded Hans Johnson of Hartington leads his horses as they help power a threshing machine.

Rose Problems
Mrs. Roy Coryell of Wayne asked me to look at some of her rose bushes that were not producing flowers.
Most hybrid roses are grafted onto a rootstock of a wild rose variety. In many cases the hybrid rose dies and only the root of the wild rose lives on. This wild rose root shoots up stalks which often produce little or no flowers (if flowers are produced they will be small and of poor quality).
The only solution to Mrs. Coryell's problem: replant with new rose bushes.

Lawn Re-Seeding
Another problem that Mrs. Coryell shares with many people is what to do with lawns that have weedy spots but are not bad enough to replant the entire lawn.
The best solution is to tear up these weedy patches now, then seed and fertilize the last of this month or first two weeks in September using a mulch. Sprinkle with water each morning and afternoon for three weeks. Next spring you should use a herbicide to kill any weeds that might be remaining.

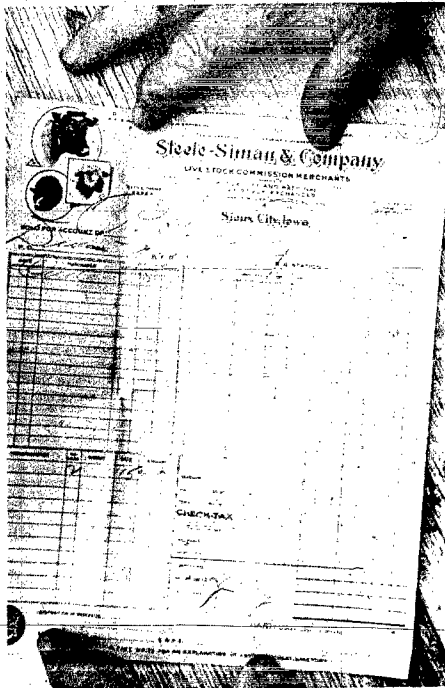

Mulch on Lawns
One of the secrets of starting a new lawn is the use of mulch. Mulching a newly-seeded lawn will keep it moist, reduce soil erosion and help the lawn get a head start over weeds.
Straw is the most commonly used mulch and should be spread over the newly seeded area at the rate of one bale per 1,000 square feet. The straw should be free of weed seeds. Oats straw is preferred.
After straw is in place, it should be established by rolling and watering. About 50 to 65 per cent of the straw mulch should be carefully removed with a rake or fork when the grass is one to one and one-half inches high.

Trees
If your shade tree looks a little wilted after a hot day, chances are watering will do more good than anything else.
In one day a large tree will transpire about 100 gallons of water if the water is available for the tree roots to take up.
During periods when the rain received is light or when sprinkling of your lawn is necessary to keep it green, only a very small amount of this moisture ever gets deep enough to do a tree much good.

Stands of trees in a forest are better able to adjust to periods of low rainfall. They are much less exposed, soil is better protected from drying out and sites are capable of storing a great amount of moisture during periods of abundant rainfall.
Trees planted along paved streets are particularly in need of extra watering because there is little possibility of a large part of the root system ever getting much water.
A good method of watering a lawn tree is to cut the water flow in the hose to a weak stream, let it run on the surface of the ground in dry zone area until soil is thoroughly soaked. This may take an hour, or so when watering a large tree.
A deep watering probe can also be used and may be made by fitting a garden hose coupling to the end of a one-fourth inch, four feet long piece of pipe. In using this device, turn the water on full force to drill a hole in the soil rapidly.

Close the damper on your chimney when not in use. Otherwise, you could be losing valuable heat.

Market Hog Show Set For Laurel Sept. 17

The seventh annual Northeast Nebraska Market Hog Show will be held Monday, Sept. 17, at the Laurel Livestock Auction.
LeRoy Wolfe of Coleridge, president of the association which includes pork producers in Cedar, Wayne, Dixon, Thurston and Dakota Counties, announced there are two important changes in the show for this year.
For the first time there will be a purebred division. Seedstock producers will be able to compete on their own level; however, purebred class will not compete against the crossbred class in either live or carcass competition.
The second change involves pre-entry. Producers will not be asked to pre-enter as they have in the past, and the only registration will be when producers deliver the pigs on show day. All swine will be entered between 7:30 and 10 a.m. on show day.
All producers of purebred and crossbred swine in the five county area are eligible to compete. The show is co-sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers Association, Laurel Livestock Auction Co., Hormel and Company and the University of Nebraska Extension Service. Regulation sheets may be picked up at county extension offices in the five-county area or at the Northeast Station near Concord.

Times Have Changed

PORK PRODUCERS in the Wayne area are celebrating the $59 plus they are getting on today's market. But back about 40 years ago, the picture wasn't so bright. According to a livestock receipt dated Aug. 1, 1932, a former Dixon resident received $15.01 for two hogs that weighed a total of 480 pounds. Dick Hanson, owner of Hanson's Elevator in Dixon, and Lawrence Fox, spotted the piece of paper last week when the pair were cleaning out an old desk. It seems hard to believe that farmers in those days got only $3.50 per hundred weight for hogs.

4-H Beef Exhibitors at State Fair to Get Taste Of Real Cattle Industry

Four 4-Hers selling beef cattle at the 1973 Nebraska State Fair will get a taste of what the livestock industry is really like when they sell their animals directly to the packer on the basis of carcass weight and merit.
The new method of selling cattle "in the beef" was agreed upon by packing plant representatives and members of the University of Nebraska animal science and extension staffs. This system, which does away completely with the former individual and group auctions, was created in response to requests by county agents, parents and exhibitors for a more realistic method of selling market cattle.
Cattle will be priced by USDA quality grade, carcass weight and yield grade. A base price bid will be established for yield grade three in the following divisions for steers and heifers: USDA choice and prime light-weight, USDA choice and prime heavyweight, USDA good light-weight, USDA good heavy-weight and USDA standard all weights.
The base price will be adjusted as follows for increases or decreases in carcass yield grade one: add $4 per hundred weight, yield grade two: add $2, yield grade three: no adjustment, yield grade four: subtract $2; yield grade live, subtract $4. USDA standard carcasses will receive base price bid regard less of weight or yield grade.
Jim Gosey, NU extension beef specialist, points out that the average yield grade at the 1972 State Fair was 2.4. If this year's cattle follow suit, the average price paid to 4-Hers will be above the base price bid because cattle will be of above average yield grade.
Commenting further on the new pricing system, Gosey said, "This approach has great educational value in pointing out real value differences between various yield grades of beef carcasses. It's a realistic system where 4-Hers sell exactly what they've got."
Following this principle, exhibitors will stand all carcass condemnation losses. Bruises will be discounted 50 cents per side bruised per hundredweight of carcass. Dark cutters will be discounted $3 and "stags" will be discounted $2 below base price.
The base price bid in each division will be established by soliciting bids by telephone from interested packers on Friday, Aug. 31. The high bid in each division will establish the base price which will then be phoned to each participating packer on Tuesday morning, Sept. 4. Each participating packer will have the opportunity to take an equal number of randomly allotted, cattle at the base price established by the high bid.
