

Nine Lettermen Bolster Winside Team

Winside's first-year head football coach, Doug Barclay, didn't bring his crystal ball to practice with him. He didn't have to—his nine lettermen brighten the picture.

Barclay will have an experienced front wall and a backfield to match when the Wildcats open their season against Neligh on Friday.

"Our first string should be salty," the coach commented. "The only problem—and it's a major one, at that—is our replacements."

Winside has strong starting units both offensively and defensively, but backups, in case of injuries, will be the hardest thing to find.

The veteran backfield will be made up of Lewis and Clark 440-yard speedster Larry Weible, now in his fourth year at the half-back spot. Weible also will offer ample speed at one of the wingback spots for the passing game.

Joining him will be a junior

DOUG BARCLAY

LARRY WEIBLE

Dwight Lienemann at the other half back slot. Another senior, Jeff Farran, will complete the running field as fullback. Two other players bound to see some backfield action are junior Gregg Lage and Brad Brummels, a sophomore.

The helmets spot belongs to seasoned vet Doug Lage right now. "He's been with us for four years," coach Barclay said nothing that he would guide the club in good fashion.

But the senior isn't without competition. Sophomore Tyler Frevert looks to be promising, Barclay said.

Up front will be a hefty line, bolstered by wrestling standout Mike Anderson. The 6.4, 220-pound junior tackle can blow gaps in the opponent's defense and provide good blocking, Barclay said.

Another 200-pounder, sophomore Dennis Newman, will take up the other tackle spot. He carries 230 pounds on a 5.9 frame. "Newman has the size we need," Barclay pointed out. "All he's lacking is the experience."

The rest of the line will include 195 lb. vet Dan Bowers, a senior letterman standing 5-8; senior Bob Hartman, 5-8, 150 who also lettered last year; juniors Brian Wade, 5-2, 190, John Mangels, 6-0, 185, and sophomore Bob Hoffman, 6-0, 165.

The end positions will include two seniors and a junior. Steve Brummels and Doug Bruggeman, both seniors, come in a 6-1, 160 and 6-0, 185. The third member, Terry Luhr, will play at 5-11, 135.

"Our line will be the biggest it has ever been," noted Barclay, who wishes he could take that same mold used to form his first string and apply it to his second string.

Generally, the same offensive line will bolster the defense (known as the "Junk yard Dogs"), with the backfield positions still in question.

Barclay has six seniors on his squad of 30 players. Sophomores are most numerous, 10, while the juniors and freshmen each have seven.

With Barclay taking over the head coaching job from Doug Barry, Carter "Cap" Peterson is assigned the assistant's job of backfield coach. New teachers Mike Jones and Kortin Lutt also help out.

Lutt, formerly of Wayne, is the assistant coach for the ends. Jones is volunteering to help.

A member of the West Lewis and Clark Conference, Winside rests for a week after Friday's opener against Neligh.

Teams 13, 31 Capture Season Title

The golfing team of Jim Marsh, Max Lundstrom, Clark Wenke and Roy Hurd plus the team of Duane Blomenkamp, Dick Brownell, Terry Karel and Dean Bruggeman won their divisions last week, completing season action in the Wednesday night men's golfing league at the Wayne Country Club.

In the Pro ranks, Team 13 (Marsh) captured the No. 1 spot a half-game ahead of Team 4 white Team 31 (Blomenkamp) finished a half-game ahead of Team 33.

Both clubs qualified for the playoffs, scheduled to begin last night. Other teams included in the playoffs are Teams 4, 8 and 1 in the Pro division and Teams 33, 29 and 23 in the Con league.

All eight teams will continue playoff action during the remaining two weeks to determine the league playoff champion.

During the season, four players topped their individual classes in the number of points scored: Class A, Lyle Garvin with 12½ points; Class B, Dave Schutte with 12; Class C, Dale Gotshall with 12; Class D, Ray Kelton with 14.

Area Teams Favored This Week

By BOB BARTLETT

Four of the area's five high school football teams break into action Friday, marking the opening of the 1973 season.

Highlight of the evening for Wayne High fans will be the grudge rematch for Pierce at Wayne State's Memorial Stadium. Starting time is 7:30 p.m.

But not to be overlooked are these other contests: Winnebago at Allen, Neligh at Winside and Laurel at Crofton. Wakefield is idle until the following Friday night.

Last year the Blue Devils handed Pierce its only loss of the season, a 33-6 thrashing.

But the outcome may be different this year. Coach Gerald Gdowski has 29 lettermen back this year and a good shot at the Northeast Nebraska Activity Conference title.

This game, as Wayne mentor Al Hansen looks at it, will be one of two rough ones before the Devils start Husker Conference play. Next week the locals take on Blair before facing Wisner-Pilger.

The Jays should offer the host school plenty of competition, and, unlike last year, this one won't be a runaway. With the home crowd advantage — and an eye on recapturing the Husker leadership — I'll have to go with the Devils.

Another Lewis and Clark team plus a member of the NENAC Conference will be battling Friday also. Allen, of the Lewis division, hosts conference newcomer Winnebago while Laurel travels to Crofton.

The Bears, under coach Bob Olson, should prove to be better than first year coach Bob Tereshinski's Crofton team.

During the 1972 campaign, Crofton mustered a 2-7 mark while Olson's crew came out with a 4-5 record. Again, you have to throw the record books away when starting a new year, but the Bears get the nod over the Warriors.

Allen, in a good position to take the East division of the L-C loop, tangles with Winnebago, a respected addition to the league.

Although it appears the Indians are inexperienced, the club does have one outstanding runner coach Charles Haag's Eagles will have to look out for. Rumor is that the backfield player is big and fast.

Allen, with three conference players bolstering its machine, should be impressive on the ground as well as in the air. With that note, Allen looks to be the favorite in its home opener. Neligh at Winside is a tough one to predict.

The Warriors look to be on the rise after last year's so-so year. But so is Winside. New head man Doug Barclay hopes to improve over last season's 5-4 mark with top units both offensively and defensively.

One thing you have to look at is Winside's overall strength and size. Linemen come in averaging about 180-190 pounds. A strong backfield and good receivers make the Wildcats the choice.

Hours Changed for State Hunters

Nebraska hunters will be on a different schedule this fall, with new shooting hours for upland game birds, wild turkey, and waterfowl.

Legal shooting on all these species begin 15 minutes before sunrise and ends at sunset. Cottontail, squirrel, snipe, and rail become legal game at the traditional one-half hour before sunrise this year, however, because these seasons were set earlier in the summer.

For future seasons, Game and Parks Commission biologists hope to seek regulations that will open all hunting except for deer and antelope at 15 minutes before sunrise and end it at sunset.

Opening shooting 15 minutes before sunrise will allow a hunter to be in the field at dawn when game is on the move, yet provide more light for identification of game than he had when shooting opened one-half hour before sunrise. This extra light is especially important to duck hunters, who could fill a day's limit by shooting the wrong duck, and to pheasant hunters, who can shoot only roosters. The amount of light available for visibility is considerably greater at 15 minutes before sunrise than at 30 minutes before sunrise.

Olson: Laurel's Line Will Be Big

BY JIM MILLER

Big, hard hitting and fast. Could you beat a front line combination like that?

Laurel High coach Bob Olson speculates that the line will be Laurel's strong point. "They're strong offensively and defensively," he explains.

Dan Coughlin, a 190-pound senior, is a major contributor to Laurel's line strength. Dan is a returning all-conference guard.

Coach Olson expects quarterback Greg Anderson to maintain a good balance of passing and rushing. Greg is a 175-pound senior who stands at 6-1. He has been B Team quarterback for two years and shows good potential as first string quarterback, Olson says.

The coach cited Sterling Stolpe as the most improved player since last year. Sports fans who follow the team closely might want to keep tabs on this 180-pound junior.

Laurel is in good shape for starting players with 15 returning lettermen. The bench is slim in numbers but substitutions probably won't be any problem, according to the coaching staff.

Laurel's returning lettermen are: Dan Coughlin, (G) Kirk McCoy (G), LaMont Sohier, (HB), Kevin Cunningham (E), Steve McCorkindale (E), Kevin Gade, (WB), Greg Anderson (QB), Bob Lillard (T), Warren Hansen (T), Scott Thompson

Allen Board Okays Bid On Pump House

The Allen town board awarded R and B Construction of Martinsburg the contract to construct a pump house at the new site of the town's well west of Allen, said board member Ken Linafetter.

During Monday night's meeting, the group gave the go-ahead to build the structure at a cost of about $1,900.

In other action, the board heard a group of citizens from the northeast corner of Allen complain about conditions of land owned by Darrel Rohde. No action was taken, but a petition to have the land cleared may be started, Linafetter said.

Finally, the board approved the re-painting of some buildings in the park.

Fifteen Leaguers of the Trinity Lutheran Church of Winside were guests in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Reimers of Wayne Wednesday evening for a spaghetti supper. Following devotions at the CCM Chapel, the group elected officers for the coming year. Officers are as follows: Doug Lage, president; LeNeil Zoffka, vice president; Sally Thies, secretary and Monte Pfeiffer, treasurer. Cake and homemade ice cream were served for lunch.

Meet for Cards
Winside Senior Citizens met Tuesday afternoon at the city auditorium. Fourteen were present to play ten-point pitch. High prizes were won by Mrs. Meta Nieman and Fred Witter. Low went to Edgar Marotz and Mrs. Adolph Rohlf. Door prizes were received by Ed Waterhouse and Mrs. Edgar Marotz. A cheer card was sent to Ben Fenske. Mrs. Otto Herrmann was coffee chairman. It was announced that the potluck dinner will be held Monday, Sept. 3 instead of on the regular date, Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Cooperative Dinner Held
A cooperative dinner was held Sunday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church to honor the 84th birthday of Mrs. Anna Voecks and to honor the Reuben Voecks and Glen Rolands of Puyallup, Wash. About 40 relatives attended from Puyallup, Fremont, Lyons, Norfolk, Pilger, Stanton, Pierce, Hoskins, Wayne and Winside. The afternoon was spent socially. Mrs. Voecks was born Aug. 25, 1889 on a farm southwest of Winside. She has three children, Reuben of Puyallup, Mrs. Richard (Rosella) Miller of Hoskins and Mrs. Fred (Dorothy) Lehman of Norfolk.

Randall Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Miller of Winside is home for a few days after spending the summer working at Bethpage Mission at Axtell. He will return to Midland College Sept. 1. Weekend guests in the Dale Miller home to visit Randall and Galen Miller were the Henry Harold of Lincoln, the Marilyn Kruse family of Randolph and Mrs. Elsie Miller of Wayne. Mrs. Charlotte Wylie spent Sunday and Monday in the Loren Beckler home at Columbus. The Reuben Voecks and Glen Rolands left Monday for their homes in Puyallup, Wash., after visiting in the Richard

Painting Towers Offers Challenges

'I Love This Kind of Work Because A Man Is Really Free'

John Bailey doesn't claim to be another Leonardo da Vinci when it comes to painting. Nor does he really want to be.

The Michigan man just likes to paint. But his type of painting may leave a lot of people hanging. Literally. Bailey does his work from about 250 feet up in the sky — on top of antennas.

"I love this kind of work," Bailey reflected, "because a man is really free." Bailey, who was painting the Wayne Public Power District tower southeast of town, works for himself in his one-man business that takes him anywhere the work is — from Rhode Island to California.

So far, however, the married father of five tries to keep his working territory in the Midwest.

Bailey finds a challenge in his work simply because of the height. "I'll admit that it does become a little shakey up there, especially when even a mild breeze starts to blow," he said.

Once Bailey has contracted a job to paint and fix a tower, he begins right away to check the guide wires to see if they are tight enough. Usually this process will consume two days if the wires are not adjusted. Then Bailey brings out his equipment and gets ready to make the ascent.

Included in his equipment is a strong safety belt plus one large bucket filled with paint and a glove. He uses the glove to paint the structure because it's faster than a paint brush. "Plus it is not as expensive as buying quite a few brushes," he smiled.

Bailey said he wouldn't give up this kind of work because "I'm always reaching new heights." Where he goes next depends on his eyes. The majority of his jobs result from his spotting different towers in need of repair. From there it's a matter of contacting the owner and signing a contract.

When he's far from home, Bailey usually makes use of a tent as his second home. 3. During one of his ascents on the Wayne Public Power District tower south of Wayne, the Michigan man takes a quick look down at the ground below. 4. It's very important, he stresses, that guide wires be securely fastened before going up. 5. All this man needs is a large bucket of paint and a glove and he's ready to work. 6. In the center, Bailey always has plenty of other equipment on hand in case the tower needs additional repairs, such as light fixtures and the like.

Worth A Purple Ribbon

A "HARVEST OF WOOL" was completed at the 1973 Nebraska State Fair as Steve Gramlich of Carroll sheared his lamb for his 4-H demonstration. The presentation earned him a purple ribbon as it had at the Wayne County Fair. Steve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gramlich, has been in 4-H for seven years. The 16-year-old explained how to shear a sheep and the materials needed, and said he may give the demonstration at next year's fair. The demonstration was one of several given at the fair using live animals.

Annual Outlook Meeting May Aid Feeders Unsure About Future of Prices

Cattle feeders thinking about what cattle and feed prices are going to do have to come up with an answer, and they will be risking a lot of work and money on their answer being right. Help in good planning as to price trend will be offered at the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders annual outlook meeting on Monday when some of the best informed men in the business share their judgment with area livestock men. Brief talks will be made by Paul Engler, vice president of Iowa Beef Processors; Keith Lytle, vice president of Omaha National Bank; Bill Holland, prominent Cuming County feeder, and Cal Grobe, public relations director of the Sioux City Stockyards. A question and answer period and general discussion will follow. Sport will be added to the serious thinking when awards will be made for the best estimate of the Aug. 6 cattle and hog prices given by feeders at last year's outlook meeting. New estimates of next fall's prices will be posted by the feeders for next year's contest. The meeting will be held at the Paddock Steakhouse in South Sioux City following a social hour at 7 p.m. and supper at 8 p.m. All interested stockmen and allied businessmen are invited.

THINK! — Before you loose something up.

Improvements Should Be Reported

Farmers and some other Wayne County residents are reminded that they are to report any major improvements or alterations to the county assessor before construction begins. Assessor Doris Stipp said improvements in excess of $1,000 have to be reported to her office when building permits are not required under zoning regulations or when she does not receive a copy of the permit. Persons making improvements to their real estate in excess of $1,000 may obtain an Improvement Information Statement from her office. The statement requires listing of property owner, project contractor, property to be improved, description and intended use of the improvement, approximate cost and estimated period of construction.

BUYING A BOAR
The recent high pork prices make it doubly important that you select a boar that will improve your herd and not just be a "gilt fresher." One of the best ways to do this is by buying performance tested boars. Backfat is 50 per cent heritable. This means that for each 10 inch less backfat the boar has as compared to your gilts, there will be .025 inch less backfat in his offspring. Growth rate is 35 per cent heritable. In boar selection, each .10 pound per day increase over your gilts will mean .017 pound per day increase in daily gain of the offspring. Likewise, feed efficiency is 35 per cent heritable. Therefore, when selecting a boar remember that each .10 pound decrease in feed required per pound of gain over your gilts will mean .017 pound less feed required per pound of gain in the offspring.

DRINKING WATER
I had a telephone call the other evening from a farmer who found a dead snake in his water well. He was wondering what to do to make his drinking water safe again. I suggested using a treatment of three pints of laundry bleach, which are sold under such trade names as Purex and Clorox, to each 100 gallons of water in the well. Let stand at least two hours or longer and pump out. Then it should be safe to drink. After a week or so it would be best if a sample of this water were sent to the State Board of Agriculture for testing. Sometimes a second treatment is needed.

Dead rodents are often found in water wells, and the reason is not having a proper seal or a cap on the well. In the problem I mentioned earlier, a tile had worked loose on an otherwise sealed well. So it would be wise to periodically check your well to see if it is rodent proof. Another problem I have encountered is waste water from feed lots draining into a well during very wet weather. Be sure and check for this, for it can be a serious problem unless precautions are taken.

Soybean Row Spacing Highlights Field Day

Soybean row spacing studies will be one highlight of the annual Northeast Station crops production field day at Concord next Thursday, Sept. 13. Tours begin at 10 a.m. and will run continuously throughout the afternoon.

Soybean studies which center around soybean row spacing will be discussed. One experiment has soybeans planted in 40, 30, 20 and 15-inch rows. Yield potential of narrow row soybeans and optimum plant populations will be emphasized at this stop. The second experiment deals with soybean weed control in rows too narrow to cultivate. A wide selection of presently available registered and experimental herbicides may now make it possible to control weeds in soybeans without cultivation, according to the Station's agronomist, Russell Moomaw. Farmers will have opportunity to evaluate these treatments, and the importance of soybean variety selection will be stressed. Sixteen varieties of different maturities and plant types will be on display.

Grain sorghum is having a good year in relationship to corn because of limited rainfall situation. Another stop will feature a discussion of dryland corn versus sorghum. Three years' data and observation from the Northeast Station will be featured. Many other experiments at the Northeast Station will be open to viewing, including corn and grain sorghum variety displays and corn weed control experiments. Lunch will be available on the grounds.

'Octopus and Squid Soup Unsettling, But Trip to Spain Worth It'

By DIANE STANLEY

Our trip began early on the morning of June 27 when we left Wayne State College by bus for Omaha. There we were joined by more of the participants in the Nebraska-Spain program and shortly were on our way to New York, with a short stop in Chicago to pick up the rest of our group.

Numbering 44, we arrived at John F. Kennedy Airport in New York at 3 p.m. and learned that our plane which was to leave at 6 was having mechanical difficulties and wouldn't leave until 4 a.m. June 28.

Hot and tired, we all waited as calmly as possible while Dr. Rafael Sosa, our sponsor, worked frantically to arrange an earlier flight.

We finally secured reservations and boarded the 9 p.m. Iberia flight direct to Spain.

At 11:30 a.m. June 28 we arrived in Madrid after a brief stop in the coastal city of Malaga. We spent the rest of the day resting from the exhausting trip and adjusting to a few of the Spanish customs we would be living with for the next five and one half weeks.

One of the customs we found hard to adjust to was the times at which meals were served. A breakfast of hard rolls and "cafe con leche" (coffee with milk) or chocolate is served at 8 a.m., lunch at 2 p.m. and dinner at 9 or 10 in the evening. Believe me, there were several hungry Americans by lunch and dinner time.

We found the Spanish food quite appealing, but a few times we were "treated" to such delicacies as octopus or squid soup (at times like those we would have given a lot for a good American hamburger).

During our brief stay in Madrid we visited such places as the majestic Royal Palace, which contains over 2,800 rooms furnished as they were for the royal families which inhabited them, and the Museum of El Prado, which houses over 3,000 famous paintings. We also took a tour outside Madrid to the Palace of San Lorenzo de the Escorial, a breathtaking palace which holds the remains of all the kings of Spain since Charles II.

We visited the Holy Cross of the Valley, of the Fallen, a beautiful monument built by General Franco in honor of those who gave their lives during the Spanish Civil War. We toured the city of Toledo and were awed by the grand Cathedral, home of a three-foot Communion chalice made from pure gold and silver and decorated with rubies, diamonds and sapphires. We also visited a sword factory and a factory where the famous gold works of Toledo are made.

On July 1 we left Madrid for Valencia. The beautiful mountains, winding rivers and towering pine trees of Spain reminded us of Colorado. The main crops we saw were olives and grapes and a few fields of sunflowers sprinkled throughout the countryside. Near Valencia we saw many orange groves as well as olives and grapes.

The next morning our academic program began in Valencia. Classes offered included ones in Spanish civilization, grammar and conversation, and introduction to Spanish. Most of the students chose two classes.

During our three-week stay in Valencia we visited such places as Sagunto, a town which was invaded by Hannibal. Other excursions outside Valencia were to Peniscola, sight of a beautiful castle which looks onto the Mediterranean Sea, and to La Lladra, a porcelain factory.

The grand fair of Valencia took place during our stay there, beginning July 15 and continuing until July 25. Each night the fair offered fireworks, ballets and concerts. Many of our group attended bullfights. Some of us loved them, others hated them, but no one left them with a feeling of indifference.

Shopping in the little stores in Valencia or in the huge department store of El Corte Ingles offered many afternoons of enjoyment, and the beach was only about two miles from our dormitory so we always had plenty to keep us busy.

We left Valencia July 25 for our post-tour, visiting the cities of Alicante, Granada (where we had pictures taken with Henry Fonda, who also was a guest at our hotel), Malaga, Torremolinos, Sevilla, Cordoba, Segovia and Avilla. On August 1 we arrived back in Madrid, leaving there on August 3 for Paris, Brussels and then New York.

We checked through customs and boarded a plane to Chicago, spending the night at a hotel near O'Hare International Airport before departing for Omaha. There we boarded the WSC bus for home, and on August 4 the 1973 Nebraska-Spain Institute, one of the most interesting, enjoyable and educational experiences in my life, came to an end.
