Allen Enrollment Up 13 Students

Enrollment at Allen public school rose 13 students this year, from 293 to 306, said superintendent Gail Miller. The figures, he said, include grades first through twelfth, but not kindergarten. A breakdown of the enrollment shows:
First — 19, second — 20, third — 20, fourth — 23, fifth — 23, sixth — 21, seventh — 26, eighth — 27, ninth — 28, 10th — 33, 11th — 34, 12th — 32.

Area Farmer Places High in Carcass Event

A Wakefield farmer, Robert Hansen, won ninth and 11th places in the open swine muscle efficiency carcass contest held at the State Fair in Lincoln last week. Hansen's spotted swine had a total ham and loin weight of 68.1 pounds and 66.1 pounds. The winning animal had 70.9 pounds of ham and loin.

Other measurements and weights on the two animals: ninth place — 227 pounds live weight, 164 pounds carcass weight, 31.1 inches length, 1.2 inches backfat, 5.75 square inches of loin eye area; 11th place — 226 pounds live weight, 156 pounds carcass weight, 31.0 inches length, 1.0 inch backfat, 4.95 square inches of loin eye area.

At 164 days of age, the ninth place animal produced 4152 pounds of ham and loin per day of age. His 11th place animal, also at 164 days of age, produced 4030 pounds of ham and loin per day of age. The winning animal, shown by Leroy Meiergerd of West Point produced 4603 pounds of ham and loin per day of age at 154 days.

Concord Girl's Hog Is Top in Carcass Event

A hog shown by Annita Kay Fritsch was named the top winner in the Dixon County carcass contest. The carcass had a 47.09 per cent ham and loin weight. Annita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fritsch of Concord, received a purple ribbon and will receive a trophy presented by the Northeast Porkettes Association.

Something Old, Something New At Band Day

Band Day at Wayne State College, scheduled for this coming Saturday, will feature something old, something new. The traditional will be the parade, starting at 10:30 a.m. down Main Street from the campus, and the football half time show.

The new is a competition for four Summer Music Camp scholarships, awarded by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Jay O'Leary, WSC band director, said the Chamber is providing a first prize to the winning band in each of two classes — Class I for schools with total enrollment of 225 or more and Class II for schools with less than 225.

Each first prize will be two Music Camp scholarships, to be awarded as the band desires, and a plaque. Judging will be based on quality of sound, execution, uniformity and overall general effect in the parade. All bands are eligible to compete except the Wayne bands. Winners will be announced at half time of the 1:30 p.m. Wayne State football game with the University of Missouri-Rolla. Half-time also will feature a See BAND DAY, Page 6

Carroll Cafe To Close Soon

The Carroll Cafe, leased by Darrell Granfield of Carroll, will close, possibly the end of this week. The town's second cafe opened up under Granfield last October. Production in business and increased costs were cited as reasons for the closing.

Jr. Science Group Sets Meetings

The Northeast Nebraska Junior Academy of Science has arranged science meetings for the teachers attending the Nebraska State Education Association District Convention October 25-26 at Wayne State College. The science meetings will begin with a luncheon on Oct. 25 and continue through the afternoon with elementary sections on environmental study and the metric system, junior high sectionals on earth science and environmental study, and senior high sectionals on student research projects including actual student presentations, slides of student projects and a panel to discuss the topic, and senior high sectionals on computer use in science and photographic techniques. Luncheon information and reservations are available from Robert Porter in Wayne.

Administrator On Council's Agenda Tuesday

Wayne city councilmen will be asked to appoint a city administrator during Tuesday night's regular meeting. Mayor Kent Hall will appoint a man to that new post, created earlier this year by a reorganization of the city government following an efficiency study conducted for the city. Also on the agenda for the council meeting, which starts at 7:30 in the Woman's Club Room at the city auditorium, is consideration of the pension plan which a council committee has been working on for more than a year. The pension plan would cover all city employees. Council also will discuss further enforcement of the two-hour parking limit in the downtown business district, installation of sidewalks in a large portion of the city and the radio beacon suggested for the municipal airport.

4-H Youths Entered in Exposition

Sixteen 4-H'ers from Wayne County and three from Dixon County have signed up to take part in the 24th annual Meat Animal Exposition scheduled for Norfolk today (Monday). The event, sponsored by the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce, features a 4-H and FFA market breed show and sale and lots of live fat cattle show and sale. FFA and 4-H members are eligible to enter one call only in the show. Those from Wayne County taking part are Robert Anderson, Kent Wittler, Kurt Wittler, Jordy Brummels, Brad Brummels and Steve Brummels, all of Hoskins; Brad Roberts, Paul Roberts and Dennis Magnuson, all of Carroll; Jack Sievers, Jacquelyn Sievers, Sue Sievers, Leslie Thomsen and John Geewe, all of Wakefield, and Hugh Jager and Kelly Hansen, both of Wayne. Dixon County youths scheduled to take part are Greg Meyer, Ann Muller and Mark Muller, all of Wakefield.

Animals entered in the exposition, scheduled for the Norfolk Livestock Market, will be placed in four separate classes: Short horn, Hereford, Angus and crossbreds. A showmanship contest will be held during the exposition, with youths competing in junior division and senior division. Top two showmen will receive trophies, and purple ribbons will be awarded the remaining finalists. There will be no carcass contest in either the 4-H or FFA show or the lot of five show this year.

WSC Starts Year With New Look

Wayne State begins the 1973-74 academic year with several changes in administrative assignments. Mrs. Ruby Pedersen will serve as interim associate dean of students, succeeding Mrs. Vivienne Brady, who resigned. Mrs. Pedersen will continue teaching English part time. Frank Teach, who was in charge of student financial aids last year, now is director of housing and director of student activities, including intramural athletics. Fred Madaus will take over the student financial aids office in addition to the counseling duties he had last year. Reorganization of the college's academic structure, which took effect in July, creates two schools in place of the previous four. They are the School of Arts and Sciences, with Dr. Irvin Brandt as dean, and the School of Applied and Professional Studies. See NEW LOOK, Page 6

First Year at Allen

'Plan Early for Best '74 Idle Acre Yield'

Farmers can take important steps now to plan for top production in 1974 from what are now diverted or idle acres, says an area farm specialist. Farmers should make every effort to get soil samples from these fields this fall, advises George Rehm, agronomist at the Northeast Station near Concord. Samples should be taken if the diverted or idle acres are to be either cropped or pastured next year. Weeds and grasses can remove substantial amounts of plant nutrients in one year's time, and for top production, these nutrients must be replaced with commercial fertilizers, he says. The agronomist also points out that there is already talk of a fertilizer shortage for the 1974 growing season. If soil samples are taken early, fertilizer can be ordered early, avoiding a last minute gush next spring and the possibility that fertilizer will not be available to those who wait to order. Farmers who sample the diverted or idle acres now can plan ahead, Rehm says. With fertilizer suppliers (especially nitrogen) expected to be tight, it's important that the right amount of fertilizer be applied — not too little or too much, according to Rehm. Accurate nitrogen recommendations can be made when soil has been collected from two depths. For a good nitrogen test, soil should be collected from zero to eight inches and then from eight to 24 inches at the same spot. These samples should be kept separate, and if this sampling procedure is followed, excessive applications of

Local School To Host Meet On Friday

School administrators, secretaries and others involved in filling out reports to the state are invited to a meeting at Wayne High School Friday morning. The meeting, being sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Education, will begin at 9 a.m. in the lecture hall. Discussion during the meeting will center on reports for certification and accreditation and vocational education as well as the law affecting education of handicapped children. The Wayne meeting is one of seven scheduled around the state. Others will be held at Lincoln, Hastings, North Platte, Alliance and Ainsworth. The meeting is open to public and non-public school administrators, office clerks, secretaries, bookkeepers, principals and county superintendents.

Member of the Fairer Sex Will Step 'Out of the Frying Pan' and . . .

Sandra Breikreutz, society editor for The Wayne Herald the past four and a half years, begins offering our readers a woman's view of the world beginning with this introduction. Her column will appear on the society page each Monday issue of the Herald.

By SANDRA BREIKREUTZ
"Out of the Frying Pan" is a new column, created, hopefully, for your pleasure, my release, and perhaps to publicly nag the opposite sex a little. I'm a woman who likes to cook, but who doesn't like to HAVE to cook; who loves her children, but who doesn't always like them, and who wants to get the heck out of the "woman's place." Thus the title. Of course, remembering the rest of the old proverb, I realize the next step may well be "... and into the fire." But none-the-less, for better or worse, ad infimum, etc., etc., here I am — committed! "By way of an introduction, I'm a middle aged, over-emotional, ever-exploited and ready-to-remind-you-of-it member of the fairer sex. I have a student-husband, three beautiful daughters, a mortgaged house and an inferiority complex. I do a fair job of changing a flat (unless there's a man looking over my shoulder), but cannot raise a garden, get a sun tan or keep the phone bill under $10. I have an aversion to washing dishes, talking on the phone, bigots and purple anything. I adore people and books, toys, old houses, attics, rings, pie for breakfast, scrabble and you. And that about says it. Through the weeks, as long as you accept me and send the paper sales higher, we will pursue such topics as art, birthdays, cybernetics (as soon as I figure out what they are), dogmatism, existentialism and so on from A right through to ZZZ, which as we all know stands for the 40 winks I'm going to cash in on right now. At last the family's quiet. . . and now the house and I can both take a deep breath.

A town's winning spirit beats the 'greener grass' syndrome

THE GRASS is always greener on the other side of the fence. All too often when professional industrial developers get together for workshops, seminars and conventions, they are heard to complain that this kind of thinking has been making their jobs harder.

"We've got good people on our Industrial Development Committee, but about all they ever want to talk about is how well Elmtown, 40 miles down the road, is doing. For some reason, I just can't get them to thinking about what we can do and to forget about Elmtown. Elmtown has problems, too, but I can't get my people to realize this," says one professional.

"I've got the same problem but with a slightly different twist," says another. "My people are really enthused about bringing in new industry but just can't realize the importance of taking care of what we already have. I'm afraid that if I can't get my people to start thinking of the industries we already have, we might lose some of them, and that's going to make the job even harder."

NATURALLY, this is a hypothetical conversation, but it has been heard time and again in one form or another. The "grass is greener" syndrome boils down to refusing to look at one's own town, finding out what's good, what's bad, and then taking the steps necessary to make the good better and to eliminate the bad.

In the Nebraska Department of Economic Development's recent publication "Building the Foundations of Industrial Development" we say that Step No. 1 in the industrial development process is the exploration of the I.D. process. But we could have just as easily stated that Step No. 1 is elimination of the "grass is greener" syndrome.

THIS IS a problem not easily solved. Ask any successful athletic coach. At least once in his career he's had a team with tremendous potential which didn't believe in itself and has gone down in defeat to a team with only half the ability. And at least once in his career he's had a team that's performed way above its ability.

It's called the winning spirit. It's the only cure for the "grass-is greener" syndrome, and once an athletic team — or a community — catches it, it can't be stopped because it's infectious. Nebraska is loaded with communities that caught a case of the winning spirit, and there's nothing that can stop them because they overcome every handicap.

IN INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT a good place to start to build that winning spirit is by looking at what you have in your community that is successful. Find out why it is successful and why that particular industry stays in your community. Chances are you'll find these same things will also attract new industry. And chances are, if you're interested enough in your existing industries to see what makes them work and to learn how you can help them keep working, you're going to find your existing industry helping you to attract new industry.

Does your town have the "grass is greener" syndrome, or does it have the winning spirit?

Jim Joyce, an industrial consultant, offers these suggestions to towns seeking to attract industry. His comments were printed in the August issue of Prospects, monthly publication of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development. It might be well for residents of Wayne and surrounding communities to consider what he has to say.

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

A closer look...

By Norvin Hansen

Jociell Bull does one heckuva job running the Senior Citizens Center in Wayne.

Few nights can you walk past the center without seeing her inside, straightening up things for the next day, working on her books or crunched up over a typewriter.

She puts in a lot of hours just on that typewriter, pounding out pages of copy for her monthly newsletter, "The Senior Snooper." That newsletter tells about everything that's been going on or that is scheduled for the next few weeks. And Jociell even finds space in it for a good share of humor. A perfect example is the following poem, contributed by center member Myrtle Weber and guaranteed to bring smiles to anybody closing in on middle age:

BACK TO SCHOOL MEMORIES

When I was a maiden, fair
Mama made our under wear.
With five lots and Pa's poor pay,
How could she buy lingerie?
Monograms and fancy stitches
Were not on our flour-sack britches.
Panty waists that stood the test,
With Gold Medal of the chest.

Little pants the best of all,
With a scene I still recall.
Harvesters were gleaming wheat,
Right across the little seat.
Tougher than a grizzly bear,
Was our flour sack underwear.
Plain or fancy, three feet wide,
Stronger than hippo's hide.

Through the years each Jill & Jack,
Wore this sturdy garb of sack,
Waste not, want not, we soon learned,
Penny saved, a penny earned.
Bedspreads, curtains, tea towels, too.

Tablecloths to name a few
But the best beyond compare
Was our flour sack under wear

MIGHT AS WELL make a real hit with the older residents around the county by printing a picture brought in by Louis Lull of Wayne.

in Wayne during the Labor Day weekend. Similar rains fell throughout the area.

Farmers around here should consider themselves lucky they aren't as dry as some farmers up in Cedar and Knox Counties. They got some rain over the holiday weekend too, but their crops were just about beyond the point of being saved. Several farmers up north were spending a good share of their holiday weekend cutting corn for silage.

That's a tremendous letdown after it looked like bumper crops all over this part of the state toward the middle of the summer.

A COUNCILMAN has a right to his opinion... even though it's wrong.

Take Wayne's Pat Gross, for example. He's of the opinion the newspaper was wrong in sampling public thought with its Speak Out on the police uniform change. Consequently, the council shouldn't put "too much emphasis on" the survey, which revealed Herald readers who participated were highly opposed to the switch — 96 to 8 opposed, to be exact.

That survey was unfair since everybody knows that people who are against something are going to be much more vocal than those who favor it, according to his thinking. If just wasn't kosher. Better had the newspaper taken a survey to tap opinion on the value of rain in March. Not being controversial, it would have given a true indication of what people think.

The reply of the woman up the street says it much better than I can. It went something like this: "It'll be a cold day in hell when the people of Wayne have to ask Pat Gross before they can give their opinion on something!"

COLLEGE IS back in swing. I had almost forgot that until I walked out of the office late Tuesday night... and heard the juke boxes playing, air hockey pucks being smashed back and forth and laughs bubbling along. It's a good sound, although a lot of people think it gets a little loud at times. It means things are picking up.

That old courthouse was built in 1874 and used for county offices until 1881 when the county seat was moved to Wayne following a bitter fight (Madison County residents might take note).

That fight must have been a bitter one, considering some who opposed it took it all the way to the state Supreme Court and a judge had to order the county officials to move their offices from LaPorte to Wayne.

Those who opposed the move may have considered the 1884 fire which destroyed the courthouse in Wayne as just retribution. The fire occurred on a peculiar date — the evening of July Fourth.

Wonder what ever happened to the LaPorte courthouse cupola and granite marker? The marker was erected on the site of the village, first town in the county, and "dedicated to the memory of the pioneers who tamed the wilderness." It contained the dates 1849 and 1937 — the time of the first settlement and time of erection of the monument. The boulder was taken from the Andrew H. Johnson pit five miles northeast of Wayne.

WAYNE AREA FARMERS finally got something of a relief from the dry weather that plagued much of Northeast Nebraska in August.

A total of just over an inch of rain fell

OBSERVATIONS

Our apologizes

We owe Wayne mayor Kent Hall an apology.

Twice in the past couple weeks — once in a news story, once in a personal column — we said that earlier this year he broke a tie vote to continue the contract the city has with its engineering firm.

He did break a tie vote after councilman Jim Thomas brought up the subject of terminating the contract. However, it was to break a tie on whether to table Thomas' motion to terminate that contract. It wasn't to break a deadlock on whether to end that contract.

There is quite a difference. What he did do was put on the shelf any further discussion of ending the contract with the engineering firm. What he didn't do was cast his vote with those who thought it time to terminate the contract.

We apologize for the two erroneous references to what the mayor actually did when that tie vote developed earlier this year. The mistakes were completely unintentional.

Newsprint shortage is striking home

Like other small weeklies and semi-weeklies across the nation, the Wayne Herald has been feeling the effects of the newsprint shortage.

Although we don't anticipate being forced into taking any drastic measures, we have taken some steps to cut down on our paper consumption. Among those steps have been reducing the number of newspapers we send to other newspapers around the state, whittling down the number of complimentary copies we distribute and setting some material in a smaller size than our regular news stories.

If we are able to continue obtaining about the same amount of newsprint as we have the past few months, no further conservation measures will have to be taken. We think this will be the case, for we have been told we will receive as much newsprint as we used last year.

If this turns out not to be the case, however, some other measures may have to be taken to conserve our newsprint supply so we can continue offering our readers newspapers twice a week. They might include such things as seeking even more material in a smaller type, reducing the number and size of pictures, eliminating some columns, editing news stories and features even more than is normally done, and the like. Hopefully, we won't have to take these steps, but we thought our readers at least deserve to know what might be in store if the newsprint shortage becomes worse than it is.

And even if more drastic steps are necessary, they would be only temporary, something which would be halted as soon as more newsprint became available. We hope our readers will keep this in mind if the steps become necessary, for they would be just as hard for us to swallow as they would be for you.

TWITCH How Hands

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

Steering Your Car To Safety

The average driver uses only about 25 to 30 per cent of the maneuvering capability built into today's cars which would permit him to dodge around many accident situations. That is the finding of Calspan (formerly Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory), nationally-recognized auto safety research institute.

Calspan based its findings on results of a testing program in which voluntary drivers of all ages faced a variety of driving "emergencies." They had to react with quick decisions to a situation in which human dummies suddenly "stepped" in front of their cars or the direction they must take at Y intersections was flashed to them at the last moment. Results showed most drivers tended to jam on brakes rather than choose alternatives such as the evasive maneuver of steering around the obstacle or steering into the turn.

Tests were purposely designed so there would not be sufficient time by jamming on the brakes to stop before hitting the obstacle, and the excessive braking caused loss of control which resulted in the driver striking the object.

Calspan found that most drivers were not accustomed to making sharp maneuvers at either fast or slow speeds. Some were afraid their cars would turn over, which Calspan researchers say isn't true. After practicing evasive maneuvering, drivers found it not such a frightening experience after all and soon became quite competent.

Calspan discovered that at modest speed, the average driver will only turn his car at a lateral acceleration in which he experiences up to about 3/10 of a G. At high speed, the average driver will maneuver his car no more than about 2/10 of a G. At one G force, you would feel a side or centrifugal force pull equal to your own weight. The maneuvering capability of the modern automobile is between 7/10 to 8/10 of a G, says Calspan, so in effect the average driver is simply not using his car to best advantage in accident situations. This, of course, assumes the driver wears a seat belt to hold him in position behind the wheel against the sudden G force.

Calspan hopes that avoidance maneuverability will one day soon become an integral part of driver education classes as another way to help cut down accidents, injury and death.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

From the Ontario, Ore., Argus Observer

"There are parental strings attached to those credit cards Montgomery Ward is now issuing to 10-year-olds, but are we really ready for the cashless society at the grade school level? Handling money has educational value, especially since the New Math began crowding simple arithmetic out of the classroom. What Junior might not learn at school he soon learns by having to figure how many pieces of bubble-gum he can get for a quarter, or how much is left from a dollar — if anything — after buying a hamburger. When he starts getting his allowance by credit card, and a computer starts keeping his accounts, what hope is left?"

Wayne High Turns Back Pierce To Win Grudge Match, 6-0, Friday

BY BOB BARTLETT

Wayne High's contest with Pierce Friday night must have reminded some people of the 1972 Husker Conference "Mud Bowl" between the Blue Devils and Scribner.

The score didn't resemble that title match—just the cold, continuous showers.

Despite the weather and coach Jerry Gdowski's Blue Jays, the Devil opened up their '73 campaign with a slippery 6-0 shutout.

That lonely touchdown came at the start of the second quarter when Wayne's workhorse, senior Gordie Cook, popped through the Blue Jay line on a trap play, scrambling 18 yards to paydirt.

Cook, who traveled 30 yards on the ground, wasn't the club's leading yard marker, though. Quarterback Marty Hansen, starting his second year at the helm, rambled 47 yards and intercepted one pass, while half-back Rod Hoops mustered 40 total yards.

Hansen's catch on the 35-yard line brought the team to the five-yard line where the club fumbled away its chance to boost the score.

"It's kind of hard to tell how good our club is," noted assistant coach Ron Carnes, "with this kind of weather." The same holds true, he went on, for the Pierce club.

"We kind of underrated the Blue Jays," Carnes pointed out. Their line was stronger than what we first thought, and he said, the backs were quick.

Wayne's defense, led by Mike Dunklau and Tom Frahm with nine unassisted and two assists each, bolstered the defensive unit in stopping the Blue Jays for a total of 26 rushing yards.

In the air the visitors didn't fair too well either. Quarterback Dennis Hahn had three completions in 21 attempts for 47 yards.

Hansen, who went 1-4 for five yards in the air, kept his ground crew rolling with trap and end-around plays for 133 yards. Wayne collected a total of 138 yards compared to 73 for Pierce.

Carnes pointed out that center Kim Baker played good ball considering the weather. "Kim had some good snaps, both to the quarterback and on punting situations."

Wayne did have several chances to take over the game with Hahn's poor pass completion mark. Several times the Devil defenders could have grabbed an aerial and returned it for good yardage. But as Carnes pointed out, "We'll have to work on that aspect of our defense too."

Wayne will be on the road Friday when the Devils visit a state powerhouse—Blair. There the locals will have to be ready for a top-notch game, regardless of the weather.

Deer Season Opens Saturday

Saturday will be a day long awaited by some 4,200 Nebraska archers, for on that day deer become legal game for bowmen throughout the state.

The archery deer hunt will remain open through Dec. 31, with only a brief nine-day closure during the Nov. 10-18 firearm season.

Regulations for the archery-deer season are similar to past years. Only legal weapons are longbows drawing at least 40 pounds at 28 inches. Arrows must have a sharp hunting head with at least 2 1/2-inch radius and a total cutting edge of at least three inches. Shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset.

Archery permit numbers are not limited, but each hunter can legally obtain no more than one archery permit.

Allen Unleashes Bomb on Indians

A solid Allen High offense and defense devastated first-year Lewis and Clark member Winnebago Friday night, 33-0.

There's no other way to describe Allen's awesome attack except to show the figures—a total of 430 yards.

The Eagles, via the arm of senior all-conference quarterback Scott Von Minden, singled the air lanes, going 8-12 and collecting 227 yards. His favorite receiver, Charlie Peters, takes credit for that aerial feat, grabbing five passes for 166 yards. Allen unfolded its scoring attack with 13 points in the first half on a one-yard quarterback sneak by Von Minden, capping a 45-yard drive, before halfback Rick Chase zipped across the goal line with one minute left in the half to put the score at 12-0.

Kicker Loren Book, who missed his first point after touchdown attempt, made his second PAT try to make the halftime score, 13-0.

But the second half show-

HEAVY SHOWERS prompted Wayne High quarterback Marty Hansen to call a timeout to talk things over with coach Al Hansen and clean his glasses.

Allen's half of the score reflects the offensive power, but the defense also takes credit. Allen's No. unit hauled the Braves to 13 total yards—all on the ground. Big running back Larry Jackson (240) took the ball eight times but a keyed-up Allen line stopped his for only 10 yards.

Another Winnebago slot man, Garrett Walker, led his team with 16 yards in seven carries.

Eagle Randy Lanser finished the night with eight tackles while Peters and Doug Smith were credited with five each.

Turning back to the offense, Hill rambled 46 yards in 13 carries while Chase had 138 yards in 21 rushes.

Allen almost added another six points to the score when Hill took a 21-yard pass to the one-yard line only to have the clock run out.

This Friday the Eagles will take their 1-0 season mark against a highly rated but untested Wakefield club at the Trojans' field. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Reserves Host Norfolk Sophs

The Wayne High reserve football team is slated to open its eight game season today (Monday) when the club hosts Norfolk sophomores at 4 p.m.

Conference Elects Officers

Don Vanderheiden and Dejno Fuelberth of Osmond High School will be president and secretary-treasurer of the Lewis and Clark Conference beginning next year.

The pair, elected during Thursday's conference meeting in Laurel, will succeed this year's officers, Junior Farabee and Byron Whitehorse, both of Walthill, during the 1974-75 school term.

During the annual meeting, the members voted to have each school pay $25 this year to help pay for expenses brought on by the addition of girls sports and Winnebago to the loop.

The same admission price for this year—$1 for adults, 50 cents for students.

In addition to allowing cheerleaders to attend games free, all school board members in the conference will be able to attend without cost.

Dates set for conference activities:

Nov. 5 - vocal music contest at Wausa; Feb. 4 - instrumental music contest at Hartington; 18 - speech contest at Homer; 19 - basketball playoffs at Wakefield; March 8 - one act plays at Ponca; April 29 - girls track meet, tentatively set for Randolph; May 7 - Boys track meet, tentatively set for Randolph.

Allen Prepared to Improve 5-11 Mark, Take League

Allen volleyball coach Lorna Stamp has at least two things in mind for her girls squad.

One is to improve on last year's 5-11 mark. The other is to take their division of the Lewis and Clark Conference.

Three returning veterans, all seniors, may be the added incentive for the Allen girls to be loop contenders. The three are Kay Schroeder, Diane Fahrholz and Kim Jackson.

Two new welcomed additions to the 18-girl squad will give the team a little more height. Sisters Karl and Lori Erwin are "both real good spikers," the coach pointed out. "They both have good speed and are all-around good athletes," she added.

The Erwin girls stand about 5'8" with Karl, the oldest, a sophomore and Lori a freshman. Although the list of starters is tentative, the coach noted that Kay Schroeder, Melodee Davenport, Lesa Carpenter, Diane Fahrholz and Kim Jackson would be probable players in the first game.

The breakdown in the number of players include: five freshmen, seven sophomores, two juniors and four seniors.

LORNA STAMP

Allen's season doesn't open up until Sept. 18 when the team faces Ponca in a loop match at home. The other games slated:

Sept. 25 - Walthill; Oct. 1-2 - at Newcastle Tournament; 9 - at Wausa; 16 - Newcastle; 23 - at Homer; 30 - at South Sioux City; Nov. 7 - at Ponca.

Sports

Questions Remain for Wayne Gals' Opener Against Stanton Tuesday

Mavis Dalton's first year as Wayne High's volleyball coach resembles her early playing years at Southern State college in South Dakota—both schools were just starting their volleyball programs.

"It's really hard to tell at this point who are our good players," Mrs. Dalton said. "Right now all I can really say is that there are 44 girls out and I'm hoping our five seniors will provide the leadership."

Mary Ginn, Deb Bodenstedt and Susan Dorcey, all seniors, appear to have the first nod on the starting lineup, the coach said. "The lineup is tentative, but these girls have shown some good points."

Three other contenders for the six-girl roster include sophomores Linda Costello, Mary Kovensky and Susan Jacobmeier and freshman Stephanie Dorcey.

Ginn and Bodenstedt are among the tallest, coming in a 5-7 and 5-6 respectively. "We don't have a lot of tall girls, but they are eager," Mrs. Dalton noted.

Another plus she pointed out is that her girls do have the ability to jump, which can be a stronger factor than height.

Since this is the first year for the school in volleyball, the team has nothing to compare itself to. "What the girls and the fans are going to have to realize is this is our first year for girls athletics of any sort," she cautioned. "So the girls will have to give it their all to make up for their lack of experience."

In addition, she noted, the fans' support will be needed if the girls are to progress.

With the addition of Wayne to the Husker Conference, both the East and West divisions will have an equal number of teams. In Wayne's division are Wakefield, Madison, Columbus Lakeview, Stanton, Emerson, Hubbard, Wisner, Pilger and Hartington Cedar Catholic.

In the East Husker are Oakland, Craig, Scribner, Tekamah, Herman, Pender, Lyons, North Bend, Logan View and West Point.

Nineteen freshmen will come to school. All three squads will see of the team (13 sophomores, seven juniors and five seniors) make up the A and B teams.

Wayne starts out with a conference match against Stanton Tuesday night at home at 7 o'clock. All three squads will see action in the Wayne High gym.

The rest of the schedule: Sept. 13 - at Winside; 18 - at Randolph; 25 - Norfolk; Oct. 2 - at Norfolk; 9 - Allen; 16 - Hartington Cedar Catholic; 23 - at Wisner; 29 through Nov. 2 - West Husker tournament; 5-9 - Husker playoffs; 12-16 - district tournament; 19-20 - district playoffs; Nov. 30-Dec. 1 - state tournament.

Physical Keeps Sturm Off NU Frosh Team

A former Wayne High football player, Doug Sturm, did not qualify for the University of Nebraska freshman football team.

According to his mother, Mrs. Jim Sturm, Doug failed to pass the physical examination. Doug was one of three area players trying out for the frosh team.

Both Kirk Gardner of Wakefield and Larry Shupe of Wayne were listed on the freshman roster.

Winside Has 'Good Show' Despite 13-6 Loss

The Winside Wildcats opened their football season with the games first touchdown Friday night, but the visiting Neligh club turned the game around with a TD in the first quarter and another in the final stanza to take home a 13-6 victory.

First-year head coach Doug Barclay, not discouraged at his Wildcats' performance, noted that his club appeared to be looking good during most of the game but five costly turnovers eliminated the team's hope of starting out the year in the win column.

"We started the scoring drive in the first quarter," Barclay noted, capping a 45-yard drive with a one-yard plunge by quarterback Doug Lage.

With 3:37 in the first stanza, the Cats tried a two-point conversion attempt but Lage was dropped in the backfield. "We wanted to go for two because the rains made it pretty hard for us to kick it," the coach explained. Neligh then began to trun the game in its favor with a 70-yard match after receiving Winside's kick. Quarterback Dan Gadken, who rushed for an average of 5.3 yards, needed the Warriors' first score and converted the extra point to go out in front, 7-6.

Gadken sparked the visitors to their second TD late in the last frame when the Cats fumbled the ball deep in their territory.

Gadken, after taking the ball on Winside's 27-yard line, raced the entire distance on the next play for a 13-6 score. But this time the PAT failed.

Pro Teams Eliminated From Playoffs

A mild earthquake took place in the Pro division of the Wayne Country Club men's golf playoffs Wednesday.

All four teams of the Con loop eliminated the Pro teams, to send Teams 23, 33, 29 and 31 into head-to-head competition during the second week of playoff action.

Team 23 dumped Team 13 — the front runner in the Pro division — while Team 33 beat Team 8, Team 29 eliminated Team 4 and Team 31 — the top team in the Con division — hit Team 1.

That sets up a match between Team 23 (Ray Murray, Lee Tietgen, Dick Ditman and Niel Edmunds) and Team 33 (Ron Dalton, Kip Bressler, Delmar Carlson and Pat Gross). Team 29 (Lyle Garvin, Dick Berry, Harold Ingalls and Dick Wacker) will battle Team 31 (Duane Blomkamp, Dick Brownell, Terry Karel and Dean Brugeman).

On Sept. 19 the top two teams will play for the club championship.

Weekly Athlete Awards Start This Week

Area football and volleyball coaches are reminded that this week begins the newspaper's Athlete of the Week awards.

All coaches are asked to contact The Wayne Herald if he or she thinks there is a player on a team worth receiving the weekly honor.

Deadline for submitting the athlete's name and information is Monday afternoon.

Both Larry Weible and Dwight Lienemann got praise from Barclay for their running ability, gaining about a 3.5 and 4.5 running yard average respectively.

Defensively, Mike Anderson was noted for his job on the line while Weible, as cornerback, and Jeff Farran, end, collected five unassisted tackles.

Friday night the Cats will get a chance to rest before meeting

A WINSIDE player upends a Neligh runner in first quarter action when the Warriors were out in front, 7-6. Viewing the action are Winside's Mike Anderson (52) and Neligh's Mari Riewer (26).

Wakefield Opens Area Volleyball Season Tonight

Wakefield High will be the first area team to open the volleyball season when the Trojanets visit West Point tonight (Monday).

New head coach Ernie Kovar, returning to the Wakefield staff after two years of military service, looks to have a strong crew this year in Wakefield's bid for the West Husker Conference title.

Kovar, who replaces Tim Pehrson, now coaching all boys sports at Nemaha Valley, has five senior girls who lettered returning to the squad.

Three-year letter winners LeAnn Hale and Cindy Keagle bolster the Trojanettes, while one-year letter players Judy Gustafson, Kris Kraemer and Donna Grose provide additional experience.

All five, plus senior Kitty Fischer make up the upperclass of the Wakefield team. Eight juniors and four sophomores also will be vying for a spot.

Freshmen again this year came out in large numbers; but as yet the head coach hasn't decided if any will be on the A group.

After tonight's contest, Wakefield will be on the road Tuesday night at Emerson Hubbard. Game time for both nights is 7 p.m.

The rest of the Wakefield schedule:

Sept. 17 - Bancroft; 18 - at Wisner-Pilger; 25 - at South Sioux; Oct. 2 - at Osmond tournament; 9 - South Sioux; 15 - Lyons; 16 - Stanton; 17 - at Hartington Cedar Catholic; 29 - Husker Conference tournament; Nov. 12-16 - district tournament; 19-20 - district playoffs; 30 - state tournament.

Crofton Turns Laurel Control Game Into Win

A two-point safety in the early going of the third quarter led the Crofton club to score two touchdowns and virtually wipe out the Laurel Bears Friday night, 14-6.

Coach Bob Olson's Bears mastered a 6-0 first-half advantage, but lost the momentum in the third quarter when the bad hike from center went over kicker Sterling Stolpe's head and ended up in the end zone.

"Their whole team seemed to be fired up, and before the quarter was over they scored two touchdowns," Olson pointed out.

Laurel did have a chance, though, to tie the game. With about 1:40 left to play, the Bears took the ball down to the five-yard line before a fumble ended the team's hopes of scratching out a tie.

Receiver Scott Thompson took a 17-yard pass from quarterback Greg Anderson with about three minutes left in the half to put Laurel in the lead, 6-0. The point after failed.

But less than two minutes into the third period, Crofton struck with a safety and proceeded to put the game out of reach.

Olson pointed out that Stolpe was the team's leading ground gainer, collecting 75 total yards. The head coach noted that Laurel controlled much of the action through four quarters—and proof is evident in the fact that the Bears amassed a total of 168 yards, 42 in the air and 126 on the ground, while Crofton had 72 total yards, all on the ground.

Middle linebacker Robin Gade may be the team's only casualty. It's too soon to know, the coach said, but Gade may have a hair-line fracture of his wrist. Otherwise the club looks in pretty good shape for next Friday's encounter at Plainview.

Four Lettermen Bolster Winside Volleyball Crew

Four senior lettermen bolster Winside High's girls volleyball team in what could be one of the school's best years under coach Don Leighton.

DON LEIGHTON

"We have the best attitude I've seen in my three years of coaching at Winside," Leighton pointed out, noting that Sally Landanger, Joann Kleensang, Joan Weible and Debbie Bergstadt are part of the reasons why the team is so confident.

These girls are real leaders, he went on. "They can be the bulwark of the whole squad."

Although Sally wasn't in the top six girl starting lineup last year, Leighton speculates that she can be one of the top spikers in the area and northeast Nebraska.

Thirty-three girls are competing for positions on the six man A squad, but there will be B and C teams also.

Cigarette smokers who quit reduce their risk of heart attack, the Nebraska Heart Association says. Population studies show that heart attack risk is doubled in cigarette smokers. When smokers give up cigarettes, their risk goes down to nearly the level of people who never smoked.

Of those 33, only six are seniors. Thirteen are freshmen, eight sophomores and six are juniors.

Potts, a strong opponent in are bowling tournaments, shot five straight strikes before a solid 10-pin stopped him from attaining an even higher score during city league action.

Last year, Leighton's 12.5 club finished second in its division of the Lewis and Clark league — right behind Coleridge. During the conference playoffs, Winside took its only division loss, 4-1 against Coleridge.

In the Community League, Harold Murray took high honors with a 220 and a 559 showing.

"Coleridge won't have a lot of starters returning this year," he said, "but they should be tough." Osmond, another member of the division, could also prove to be strong, Leighton added.

Over in the Ladies' League, Pat Morris had a 223. She bowls for Kavanagh and Trucking. Geri Marks in the Monday Nite Ladies loop had a 212-543 for her league's high.

A 1972 graduate of Washburn High School in Topeka, Kan., she is presently assigned to Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Tex.

Nurses Needed To Help Start Pilot Program

Registered nurses are needed by the Norfolk Lutheran Hospital for part-time work to help start up a visiting nurse program in the Wayne area.

According to Wayne VISTA worker Barbara Bizilia, coordinator, any registered nurse may apply by contacting her in Wayne or dropping off the applicant's name and telephone number at The Wayne Herald.

"We need qualified nurses to start up a pilot program to help elderly and disabled people in the Wayne area," she said. The project is similar to one in Norfolk. Miss Bizilia pointed out.

Nurses are expected to work 20 hours a week and will be paid on a fee-for-services basis, she explained. In addition, the nurse will be reimbursed for mileage. Nurses will cover an area about 10 to 15 miles around Wayne.

The basic idea behind the program is to have nurses call on outpatients and those who cannot make it to a hospital for routine care, she explained.

Fire Hits Tractor

A fire at the Erwin Elrich farm four miles north and three fourths west of Hoskins destroyed a tractor Tuesday.

Hoskins Board To Vote on Street Work

The Hoskins town board will vote on a proposed new street improvement program Wednesday night during a special hearing.

The proposed improvement includes construction of a stretch of main street from the grade school to the junction of a county road and main street. Members have agreed to have Consolidated Engineers—Architects of Wayne draw up specifications and plans for the paving district.

Construction probably will not take place until next year, according to the board.

CROP Walk Kick-Off Meet Slated Today

The Rev. Bob Nebel of Laurel, chairman of the annual CROP walk is urging everyone to turn out for the kick-off meeting to be held at 4 p.m. today (Monday) at the Coleridge Congregational Church.

Last year 195 hikers raised $3,100 for the project which aids disaster victims, refugees and others in need of assistance. The hike this year will be Sunday, Oct. 14, starting at Coleridge. Nebel hopes for 300 participants.

School Board To Consider Science Goals

Members of the Wayne Carroll school board will review goals developed for the middle school and high school science department during their regular meeting tonight (Monday) at the high school.

The goals, drawn up by department chairman Verne Mills, include having the chairman help select textbooks and prepare the department budget.

Other items on the board agenda include reports by superintendent Francis Haun on new legislation affecting schools, the min-course curriculum, enrollment, bus routes and school district valuation.

The meeting, which begins at 8 p.m., is open to the public.

Tables Program

The Winside town board, during its monthly meeting Tuesday night, tabled further action on the town's street improvement program until the board's next meeting Oct. 1, according to the village clerk.

THE MAN WHO SOLD NEWSPAPERS

When Mark Twain was a young man, he was editor and publisher of a growing newspaper in a small Missouri town.

One day he received a letter from one of his subscribers. The subscriber said that he had found a spider in that morning's edition of his paper. He wanted to know if this was an omen of good luck, or of bad luck. Mark Twain, a hustling space salesman as well as an editor, wrote to his customer:

"Dear Sir: Finding the spider in your newspaper yesterday morning was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which of the town's merchants is not advertising. He will then go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."
