Inside Today . . .

"Even though the fongue weighs practically nothing, it's surprising how few people are able to hold it."

That's one of the: "Thoughts for the Day" wifich appear on the editorial page of this issue of The Wayne Herald. Written by Mrs. Hazel Sorensen of rural Wakefield in a simple, folksy manner, the "Thoughts" entice readers to turn to the Bible to find out how writers expressed those same ideas years ago. "Thoughts" for the week ahead will appear on the editorial page Each Thursday.

Also of special interest inside this issue of the newspaper:

—Sports Writer Bob Bartlett's picks to win the football games the five area high schools will be competing in Friday night. Turn to the sports page.

—Pictures of some of the area high school students who ed out for Saturday's rainy Band Day at Wayne State ege. Turn to page six of the first section.

—A story on the Japanese student who is living in Laurel Turn to page eight of the first section.

—Pictures and story on the market hog show held at Laurel Monday. Turn to the farm page.

Fill 'em Out, Send 'em In

Fill out those Speak Out ballots and return them as soon as possible.

That's the word The Wayne Herald is trying to get across to its readers so results in the mini poll can be labulated as soon as possible. The latest in the series of surveys of public opinion asks readers what they think of high schools offering competitive athletics for girls. Readers are welcome to make comments as well as tell us and others whether they think girls athletics is worthwhile.

The ballot for those wishing to take part in the survey was printed on the editorial page of last Thursday's issue of the newspaper. Readers may use a piece of paper as a ballot it they no longer have that issue of the paper handy. Several more Speak Outs are planned by the newspaper as an experiment to see if the mini-polis could be turned into a regular feature.

in the district soils judging contest.
Students will come from as far south as Omaha for the contest, according to Don Kerl, soils conservationist at the Soil Con servation Service office in Warne servation Service office in Wayne. #2.

Between 100 and 150 students are expected to compete in the event, he said.

Students will rate soils by considering such things as texture, thickness of surface soil, location of lime and the like and will give their ideas on how erosion can be halted.

The winning team from the district contest will advance to the state contest. The state winner will compete nationally.

Copies Ordered

Orders for additional reprints of the history of Dixon County can be given to Mrs. Basil Wheeler of Allen, Mrs. Gene Fluent of Newcastle or Earl Hinds of Ponca.

All copies of the first reprint of the history have been sold, according to Hinds, but additional copies should be available within the next few weeks.

'Take Our Picture!

THE LITTLE GIRLS were insistent, as little girls often are. They wanted the photographer to take their picture as tong as he was taking pictures at the West Elementary playground last week. So he did. Then he did better than that, putting the picture on the front page of the newspaper

EXTENSION NOTES

Good Things Come in Pears
Good things come in pears —
a popular fruit to enjoy in early

The pear tree belongs to the The pear tree belongs to the rose family, whose varieties include such favorite fruits as apples, piums, cherries, apricots, raspbetries and strawber ries. Most pear varieties grown in the United States are native to the European pear. The Bartlett pear is the most common to Americans.

Pears, which are picked when they are mature but hard, are one of the few fruits which improve with flavor and texture when ripened off of the tree.

If pears are to be eaten within one or two days, select those which yield to a gentle pressure from the palm of the hand. Pinching the pear will cause brown spots.

Yellow pears can be kept in the refrigerator for several days; however, they lose their flavor if kept too long. Keep underripe fruit in a cool humid place

Besides being eaten raw, pears can be baked like apples, used in salads, canned, or made into pear butter or honey.
Cood things do come in pears.
Enjoy this fruit while it's in season.

On Forming
College Loop
No decision has been made concerning whether several South Dakota and Nebraska colleges will form a new league.
Dr. LeRoy Simpson, Wayne stat athletic director, said that representatives from six schools did show signs of interest during the Monday meeting at Spear (ish, S. D.). But, Simpson pointed out, the colleges — Northern State College (Aberdeen, S. D.). Black Hills State College (Spearfish, S. D.). Kearney State and Eastern Montana at Billings — are not anxious to jump out of an old league into a new one "There are a lot of reservations," he admitted.

Athlete of the Week

LOREN HAMMER, WAKEFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

Defense has always been the name of the game as far as Wakefield head coach John Torczon is concerned "You need an excellent defense if you're going to stop a good offense," he would always point out.

And defense is the category from which this week's Athlete of the Week is chosen.

The senior member of the Trojan squad fits all the characteristics needed to play on the Wakefield "Red Shirt" team. He's big, quick and agile.

Those three terms if one outstanding player that helped to stop Allen last week, 27.7.

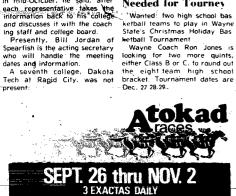

Loren Hammer. a 6.2. 206 pounder, reigns as Wakefield's leading defense prospect for the Trojans this year. Torczon said, playing at the tackle spot.

The two year letterman didn't play on defense last year, the head mentor noted. "But we decided to switch him this year to see how things work out."

What Hammer's showed the coaches wasn't that visible during the game, but after all the coaches viewed Friday's film it became evident.—11-Hackles

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hammer of Wakefield isn't new to Wakefield sports. Besides his two years of playing for coach-Torczon, he also got in some varsity basketball during his sophomore and junior years.

The Wakefield senior won honorable mention last year on the Husker Conference selections, and according to his coach, has a good chance to be named to the 1973 all conference squad.

However, first year Morris coach At Molde commented in pre season that the 1973 Cougars are a different leam—lacking many veterans who graduled or did not return And, he said, they were not familiar with his coaching system

Since then, Morris lost its opener -by a 247 count to Northern State of South Dakota, always a strong grid power. By comparison. Wayne sports a 101 record after its 141 at the Saturday with Missouri Rolla. While the Wildcats are pretty well fixed with letterman starters. Coach Del Stottenberg is depending more than usual on treshmen and sophomores.

All five area high school teams will be back in their leagues this Friday, battling to stay alive in the conference races.

One game, involving two Lewis and Clark Conference schools, is the Winside Allen matchup. The Allen Eagles, coming off a 27-7 setback at the hands of Wakefield, promise to be ready for coach Doug Barclay and his team when they invade Eagle territory.

Holding a 1,1 record, Allen aims to boost its mark with the strong pass combination of quarterback Scott Von Ainden and end Charlie Peters. With those two keeping the air lands hustling, it may be hard for Winside to keep track of the Eagles' running game, especially

OVER IN THE Husker Conference, two

OVER IN THE Husker Conference, two important matches will be taking place. Headliner as far as Wayne High tans are concerned is the Devils at Wisner-Pilger game.

At the beginning of Wayne's season, it was first thought that Pierce and Blair would be the two toughest early games of the season. But things have certainly changed as far as the Gators are concerned.

changed as far as the Galors are concerned.

The Husker Conference had a mild shakeup-Friday when coach Bob Rabe's team field Columbus Lakeview, 20-70.

That should give fair warning to the rest of the loop members that Wisner Pilger is on the loose.

I'm sure coach Al Hansen and his Devil crew won'f take the Galors too lightly, especially after last week's stinging at the hands of the Blair Bears, 12-6.

Despite the Gators' enthusiasm. Wayne should be composed for this one and ready to make a strong stand in the Husker League. The Devits are the pick to win ison If the Trojans are as impressive as they were in the second half of the Allen clash, then Madison fans had better watch out.

With no more said, Wakefield is the pick.

THE LAUREL BEARS round out THE LAUREL BEARS round out the area clubs in action Friday. Coach Bob Olson's feam, still looking for its initial win of the season, won't find the road any easier when the team arrives home for homecoming. Reason: Randolph is coming to town.

The Cardinals possess the exact opposite record of the Bears — 20. And right now they are in strong contention for the Northeast Nebraska Activity Conference title.

I'm alraid that coach Olson is going to have to wait another week before signs of a victory parade in the Laurét community. SO FAR this season my predictions have been less than shining. The record stands at 4-3 with two correct predictions-last week — Blair over Wayne and Plainview beating Laurel — out of three games. Wakefield spoiled the perfect weekend string with a nifty win over Allen.

Allen Girls Split With Ponca Teams

The Atlen High girls volleyball team opened up its season Tuesday night at Allen, winning the B game against Ponca before dropping the A match Coach Lorna Stamp's A squad lost a close first-set, 16-14, after going ahead. Then the Ponca girls ended the game with a convincing 15-2 win.

The B team, after taking a 15-6 first set loss, came back with 17-15 and 15-11 wins to nail the team's initial win of the season. LeAnn Lubberstedt aid ed the victory with 19 points. Allen's next match will be Tuesday at home against Walt.

Reserves Even

A 28-point fourth quarter scorings spree led the Wayne reserves to their first victory in two starts, a 36-6 romping of Laurel Monday.

Quarterback Paul Mallette directed the Devil drive with runningback Rob Mitchell first to hit pay dirt on a 25-yard run in the first stanza.

After Wayne took an 8-0 lead (Mitchell also scored the two-point conversion), the locals stalled until the last quarter.

Meanwhile, Laurel mounted its scoring drive in the third frame, scoring on a 30-yard run to narrow the margin to 8-6 before Wayne's defense-held and the offense started scoring in the final quarter.

Wayne's four TDs began when Ritch Workman dashed in from seven yards out and Larry Creighton jumped on a Laurel fumble in the endzone.

Mallette then connected on two aerial TDs — one to Mitchell scored two of four two-point conversions.

"The team really played good ball in that second half!" coach Ron Carnes pointed out, "especially in the fourth quarter."

Defensively, the JVs were led by Steve Brandt with a total of eight tackles — five unassisted, three assists. Don Nelson had six tackles and Dave Sherry and Creighton picked up tive each.

This Monday the reserves will visif Pierce.

GIRL INVOLVEMENT in sports at Wayne State seems to be on the increase. According to talk at the Second Guessers Club last week, girls volleybalt had a good furnout this year for summer practice sessions. The girls, pointed out Ron Jones, in charge of the gym, started practicing on their own in early July. "We had about 10 or 12 workouts this summer, which is way above last year's figure of three," he said.

One reason for the increase, is the expansion of girls sports throughout the area and the state.

ANOTHER INTERESTING note from last Thursday's meeting -- Wayne State is having a shortage of cheerleaders.

At the end of last year, 12 girls were scheduled to report this year. But as it turned out, some dropped from the squad or did not come back to school.

The decrease really became evident during the last two home football games, when the Wildcats hosted Nebraska Westryan Sept. 8. Wayne had five cheerleaders. The following week that number dwindled to four.

Maybe most of the girls decided to give up cheering and get into some of the action.

SPEAKING OF cheering. Wayne High followers probably noted that during the girls voileyball game against Stanton last week it wasn't a case of the girls cheering the girls. It was the boys who were doing much of the yelling

THE MAN WHO SOLD NEWSPAPERS

When Mark Twain was young man, he was editor and publisher of a growing newspaper in a small Missouri town.

> One day he received a letter from one of his subscribers The subscriber said that he had found a spider in that morning's edition of his paper. He wanted to know if this was an omen of good luck, or of bad luck. Mark Twain, a hustling space salesman as well as an editor, wrote to his customer:

> > "Dear Sir: Finding the spider in your newspaper yesterday morning was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which of the town's merchants is not advertising. He will then go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Now Cleared for Control of Hemp Dogbane.... BANVEL herbicide-2,4-D.

The State of Nebraska has just approved the use of Banyel herbicide +2.4-D amine as a fall application in corn and sorghum for the control of tough, yield-robbing Hemp Dogbane.

The efficiency of this combination results from the ability of Banvel to translocate throughout the weed. Absorbed by roots as well as leaves, Banvel circulates throughout the weed, destroying cell structure as it moves.

This combination used at the recommended rates in a two year fall application program will eradicate Hemp Dogbane. For best results apply before the first killing frost. (Consult the Banvel label for full, detailed directions.)

Right now is the time to apply. Ask for Banvel at your herbicide dealer's, or call Velsicol sales representative Gary House collect at (402) 371-3651, Norfolk, Nebraska.

State's '74 Political Pot Is Already Bubbling

On the Democratic side, most of the attention is centered on the possible field for the lieutenant governor primary — on the assumption that Gov. J. James Exon will be on the ballot again next year in the top spot.

The Republicans are looking for ixon challengers and there has been a of of "feeling out" activity, but no andidates have moved into the open is avowed contenders. Exon of as avowed contenders.

The talk in GOP circles at this early date (the primary isn't until May)-concerns-Dr.-Vance-Rogers,-president of Nebraska Wesleyan University in Lincoln: National Committeeman Richard L. Herman, an Omaha trucking executive: State Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, the veteran legislative budget chairman; former State Chairman Milan Bish of Grand Island; rancher Dwight Dam of Val-

THERE HASN'T BEEN nearly as much talk about lieutenant governor on the Republican side — not with the top slot still vacant. Most GOP observers say the second rung probably would be filled with someone who fits into a geographic contrast with the gubernatorial leader.

For instance, a westerner like Fred Lockwood of Scottsbluff might balance off a Dick Herman from Omaha. State Sen. Gerald Stromer of Kearney, Anne Batchelder of Omaha and Monte Taylor of Omaha are other names mentioned during speculation on the Republican side.

There's a long list on the Democratic court, most of whom have seen Exon's hefty popularity margins in statewide polis and recognize a possibility of riding into the Statehouse on the coatfalls of his re-election. This view is enhanced by the hard-to-assess impact of Watergate on Democratic Republican battles in 1974 and the potential of an Exon challenge in 1978 of GOP Sen. Roman L. Hruska. If Æxon were to disseat Hruska (or beat another Republican if Hruska doesn't seek another term), the lieutenant governor would have two years ost in the chief executive's office. Another attraction: The lieutenant governor's salary jumps from $7,500 to $25,000 with the beginning of the next term. All of these factors have resulted in term.

All of these factors have resulted in a jam of possible candidates, ranging from the wife of former Gov. Frank B. Morrison to state senators who have recently jumpled the GOP ship to become newly-minted Democrats.

MAXINE MORRISON has said she would consider the lieutenant governor's race, while her husband, now Douglas County public defender, says he has some interest in running foir, attorney general. Both say they wouldn't be on the ballot logether. State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scotts-bluff says he would prefer that Frank Morrison be the lieutenant governor candidate, claiming Nebraskans wouldn't vote for a woman for the post.

Two,state legislators — Frank Lewis of Bellevue and Gary Anderson of Axtell — are known to be casting eyes at the lieutenant governor race, al though Anderson-(a former Kearney County treasurer and an Olympic gold medal rifleman) also is considering state treasurer.

Stan Matzke Jr., son of a widely-known and popular politician, is con-sidered a possibility as well. Matzke, beaten in a 1970 shot at secretary of state, has served Exon as director of economic development and now di-rects the Department of Administra-tive Services.

rects the Department of Administrative Services.

The statehouse also has produced another potential Democratic candidate — State Roads Director Thomas D. Doyle. Doyle, an Omahan, served Republican Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann

Brown Success Gerdes
The Executive Board of the Legislative Council has chosen Clerk Vincent Brown to sycceed the late George Gerdes as executive director of the Legislature's administrative arm.
The 38-year-old, rapid-talking Brown became clerk after the 1969 session when Hugo Srb stepped down after four decades in the post.

The position of executive director was created to put one man in charge of the legislative bureaucracy and Gerdes, a former senator from Alliance, was named to fill if. He died this summer.

OBSERVATIONS .

Tax levy treat

Wayne County taxpayers shouldn't have too much to complain about this time around, although taxpayers usually find something to complain about regardless of what's happening to their taxes.

Even though the mill levies in four of the six communities in the county have been raised, laxpayers in five of those towns will find themselves paying less in taxes because their total mill levies have wayne, Wakefield, Hoskins and Sholes upped their bills to their taxpayers to help support municipal operations. Winside managed to keep its mill levy at the same level, and Carroll succeeded in cutting its levy by nearly four mills.

cutting its levy by nearly four mills.

But take a look at what the total mill levy for residents in those communities will be next year. Wayne's will drop 5.54 mills from 105.95 to 100.41. Hoskins' will drop 3.15 from 68.72 to 65.57, and Winside's will drop slightly more, a total of 4.26 mills-from 87.04 to 82.78. The total levy for persons living in Sholes will increase slightly, up 1.84 mills from 53.76 to 55.60. Carroll residents will be treated to a large drop, 10.19 mills from 105.67 to 47.02 to 45.64.

Residents across the county should find pleasure in the news that the levy necessary to finance county government will drop 2.03 mills from 12.57 to 10.54.
We're not sure how the school boards,

We're not sure how the school boards, commissioners and lown councils managed it, but they deserve a thank you. It's not easy to continue to provide a service to people — which is exactly what they are doing — at less cost than the previous year. Not when inflation is making the cost of everything else rise almost daily.

Send in those ballots

Opinion in the newspaper's second Speak Out, which asks feelings about girls athletics in high school, is weighted strongly to one side.

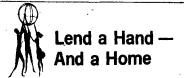

We won't tell which view is being expressed most often, however, but we will urge readers to fill out their ballots and return them as soon as possible so as many people as possible can let their thoughts be known on the subject.

Persons who failed to clip out the ballot on last Thursday's editorial page are reminded that they can vote in the minipoll simply by expressing their feelings on a slip of paper. High school students from Allen, Laurel, Wakefield, Winside and Wayne are welcome to fill out the ballots and return them so the survey gets the benefits of their feelings.

The results of the latest survey probably won't result in any great policy decisions fo offer on not to offer athletics for girls by area school boards. However, the results should give those board members something of an idea how the people in their school districts feel about sirks sports.

people in their school districts feel about girls sports.
Once again we should mention that the latest Speak Out makes no claims at being a scientific sampling of public opinion. We'll leave that difficult task to the professional poll takers.
But we will note that Speak Out is a chance for our readers to express an opinion on a topic that is much talked about over coffee at the cafe or while waiting a turn at the beauty shop.

"It is generally assumed that the price of gasoline will go up as the supply goes down partly because of the law of supply and demand but also because the independents selling surplus fuel at discount prices are going out of business, government faxes tend to rise and perhaps partly as a rationing device. Whatever, the fellow at the service station will get the complaints. Yet most people have been around service stations long enough to know their profits on fuel sales are slim compared to their time and work. The buck if there is one should be passed further back, not forgetting those state and federal taxes either."

A drop in the bucket doesn't create waves

Arch Booth, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, takes a look at "economy moves" by federal officials.

moves" by federal officials.

Secretary Caspar W Weinberger made headlines recently by announ cing some reductions in the public affairs operations of the vast Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Great. I have nothing but praise for the Secretary's motives. However, it's essential to keep your eye on the ball when warching the latest "economy shuftle" in the federal bureaucracy. For example, the Secretary calculates that the elimination of 184 staff jobs, 70 consultants and 275 publications will save about $20 million a year. That's 0.02 per cent of the total HEW budget of $93.8 billion for fiscal 1974. And even that comparatively tiny sum is not being returned to the laxpayer. It's merely being redistributed within HEW.

The reduction of 184 full-time staff jobs, by the way, amounts to a 0.18 per cent cut in the Department's work force of 101,800. I don't count the "consultants" because a consultant can be turned on and off nearly as easily as a light switch.

Some sacrifice!

Some sacrifice!

LET'S BE REALISTICs Expecting the bureaucracy to prune itself is like asking the occupants of a life raft to throw their food and water overboard. Effective control of the budget can come only from that body charged by the Constitution "to lay and collect laxes. . to pay the debts and . . to borrow money on the credit of the United States" that's Congress.

For foo many years now. Congress has applied itself with the greatest diligence to the last of those three responsibilities. As a result, we Americans have gotten a cram course in economics.

We have learned that when the dederal government borrows heavily, the money supply usually increases federal government borrows heavily, the money supply usually increases rapidly. We have learned that when the money supply increases taster than the production of goods and services, prices go up. And finally, we have learned that when the government pursues inflationary policies and then tries to pass laws against higher prices we run out of things — before the money of the prices we run out of things. prices, we run out of things — chicken, pork, fruits, vegetables, ber, gasoline, even bailing wire.

THAT BRINGS US back to "Go." If deficit spending causes inflation and wage price controls don't stop it, then maybe we'd better try to eliminate deficit spending.

Congress can do that, if It wants to badly enough. There are some excellent bills pending on the Hill to reform the way. Congress manages our national budget. If the congressmen get enough heat from their constituents, these bills may pass before adjournment — which could come as early as October. If the bills do not pass, they may well be forgotten. So the time is NOW.

WHAT BILLS? In the Senate, the key bill is S.1541, now awaiting action by the Government Operations Committee.

This bill establishes a procedure for imposing an overall spending ceiling, as well as sub-ceilings for major programs. If requires pilot testing of major new programs, to see if they will work, before their enactment into law. It requires five-year projections of budgefary outlays, so Congress can anticipate future costs of current programs.

And it establishes new Congressional budget committees to consider each year, in one package, estimated revenues, spending needs, and economic conditions, so Congress can set intelligent spending ceilings and priorities.

priorities.

The key bill in the House — H.R.7130

although it lacks the pilot-testing and five-year-projection features, which should be added.

THESE BILLS are good. I would like to see a few more features still, such as "zero-base budgeting," which would require a thorough review of major programs every three years, rather than automatic, rubber-stamp re-enactment. And annual appropriations for all federal expenditures, including those made from trust funds.

But on the whole, the existing bills would go a long way toward doing the job. They would be a good start. We need them. You might drop your congressman a line to that effect, if you agree.

FILTERS VITAL TO ENGINES

Today's engines have a much greater life expectancy than those produced 20 years ago. Improved materials and construction

Improved materials and construction have played a large part in this achievement, but filters have also been an important comtribution. Actually, they are a form of insurance, offering inexpensive portection against possible major damage to expensive auto components. To work effectively, however, citiers have to be cleaned or changed at recommended intrevals.

filters have to be cleaned or change or recommended intrevals.

While some cars are equipped with many different types of filters, the oil, air, fuel and transmission filters are the most vital.

Your engine consumes about a railroad tank-car quantity of air for every gallon of fuel it burns. If the dirt and grif in the air were allowed to pass into the engine. It would act as an abrasive, gradually air were allowed to pass into the engine, it would act as an abrasive, gradually wearing away engine parts. The air filter catches these particles, but when it becomes clogged with dust and dirt, the filter can cause reduced gasoline mileage. The air filter also serves as protection aganist fire in the event of backfire through the carburetor.

Oil filters have evolved from the by-pass type which filtered only about five to 10 per cent of the oil flowing to the bearings to the full-flow filter of today through which all the oil to bearings is filtered.
Fuel filters trap dirt and sediment before fuel enters the carburetor where it can clon passages and cause malfunc.

before fuel enters the carburetor where it can clog passages and cause maifunctions. But once clogged itself, the fuel fiver will cause gasoline starvation, resulting in lack of power and causing the engine to sputter and miss, particularly noticeable when climbing a hill. One of the most neglected auto filters is in the transmission. The life of a transmission can possibly be duplied

One of the most neglected auto filters is in the transmission. The life of a transmission—can—possibly be doubled simply by changing the fluid and filter at recommended intervals. Used-up additives, formation of varnish and contamination—from normal wear of moving parts all play a part in rending fluid and filters incapable of performing their job. Car—makers suggest a time mileage schedule for changing filters, but keep in mind that, suggested intervals are minimums that apply to normal driving conditions.

Gardening Ends

The approach of fall signals the end of another gardening season, and now is a good time to look back on your gardening year and make notes in your garden calendar, says the University of Nebraska Lincoln-extension service. Record varieties that you may wish to order again, practices that were successful and crops you may need more or less of next year. You will find this information useful as you plan next year's garden.

Those fall vegetables are still growing and will be ready for harvest before frost. Other vegetables will be maturing now. You can store many vegetables directly without canning or preserving them.

serving them.

Onions, sweet potatoes, potatoes, squash, pumpkins and various root crops can be stored for months. With the exception of the root crops, all vegetables; should be "cured" before storage by placing the vegetables in a warm room (80 degrees Fiormore) for about two weeks.

Early in the season, you may be able to use a garage or other outbuilding; later you may need to bring vegetables indoors and provide additional heat with a small electric heater.

over any bruises or blemishes.

After the curing period, vege tables can be stored in any cool, dry location through the winter Remember the sweet potatoes are susceptible to chilling injury at temperatures below 50 de grees F.

Winside Elevator Change's Hands

Winside Grain & Feed has changed ownership.

Mrs. Lewis Jenkins said the business has been sold to Winside Grain & Feed, Inc. Effective date of the sale was Monday last week, she said.

Mrs. Jenkins and her husband purchased the business in september of 1954. They operated it together until her nusband's death last year, and she has operated it alone since hen.

Ananaging the business now will be Darrell Grantield of profil, former elevator operator at Carroll. Working with mill be Willis Reichert.

The firm has storage space for beans and is equipped to note oats, sorghum and corn.

Soybeans are becoming an accreasingly valuable crop for vayne County, but one of the roblems in raising beans is that yerage yields haven't greatly perceased in recent years.

problems in raising beans is that average yields haven't greatly increased in recent years.

Researchers at the Northeast Station near Concord have found that soybeans in 14-inch rows will produce as much as nine bushels an acre more than 40-inch rows. But weeds are always a problem in soybeans, and you can't cultivate beans in 14-inch rows.

14 inch rows.
Russ Moomaw, area agronomist at the Station, has found that a new herbicide from Germany will do an excellent job of weed control as a post emergence on soybeans. Expected to be available in limited amounts next year, the herbicide will be expensive but should more than pay its way at the present price of soybeans.

Occasionally, larger pigs are found dead after no clinical signs of illness.

Control of the disease depends on two things — management and treatment. Swine dysentery its spread by swine eating waste material from infected animals. Any management procedures that reduce the intake of infected wastes will help to reduce the disease.

Here are some suggested con-

2. Keep pens clean by scraping or washing.
3. Use raised feeders and waterers with lids.
To decrease the severity of the disease, reduce the energy level of the ration and raise the fiber content by substituting oals forcers.

content by substituting oats for-corn.

The best method of control is by removal of all swine, clean-ing and disinfecting all facilities, and teaving the premises idle for 60 days or more. Repopu-lation is best accomplished dur-ing the summer months.

Reintroduce animals that are not carriers. SPF herds are a very—reliable source of new animals.

A number of medications are available for treatment of swine dysentery, but the disease or-ganisms are becoming resistant Store Grain Safely Until the Price Is Right; Then Put Your Machinery in the Low-Cost, All-Steel Butler Farmsted® Building!

Why invest separately—and expensively—in both grain storage and machinery housing? The new low-cost Butler Farmsted building makes it so easy and economical to combine the two. Use an all steel Farmsted to store your grain until the market price is right, or until you're ready to feed it out. Then, move your valuable machinery and equip-ment into postfree, weatherlight, fireproof storage. For example, a 48' x 72' x 14' Farmsted will hold a lot of machinery, or you can store more than 22,000 bushels of grain. Other building sizes available nental Assistance Program and the provisions of the Great Plains Program are included in the new farm bill for 1974-1977 crop years. The previous "REAP" Program was cancelled by USDA last Christmas on the grounds that it was an "Income Supplement" Program that was not needed in times of high farm income.

The loss of the REAP Program came at a time when the farm program put back into production another 55 million acres of crop land that had been set aside and with higher erosion hazards. To further compound the problem, the Soil Conservation Service had to reduce personnel and thus technical assistance reduced at time when vitally needed.

Most of the information available on the new program is tenative but at this time it appears that the new "REAP" Program will focus on permanent-type practices with long-term environmental benefits.

If this program does materialize, long-term contracts of up to 10 years for financial and technical assistance would be required to be based on conservation plans approved by the Natural Resources Districts in which they are situated. Presumably, the program would be administered by ASCS in a manner similar to the Great Plains

HELP NOW FROM LOWER ELKHORN NRD

Until the Federal REAP Program is formally reinstated, funded and in operation, assistance is available through the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District. Since April 27, the Land and Water Development Assistance Program has been in operation to help pay the costs of installation of permanent conservation practices in the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District.

The Assistance Program of the Lower practices in the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District.

The Assistance Program of the Lower Elkhorn NRD pays approximately 75 per cent of the cost of installing conservation and pollution control systems, where as the proposed "REAP" Program is scheduled to cost-share at the 50-75 per cent rates depending of the practices and their value to the public.

The practices assisted with include multi-purpose dams, diversions, terraces, grassed waterways, tile drains for terraces, livestock waste control facilities, native grass seeding, road structures, and park and recreational development.

The "REAP" Program most likely will follow to some extent the same practices that have been funded by the Land and Water Development Assistance Program of the Lower Elkhorn NRD.

The conservation season is now approaching necessitions are painted.

of the Lower Eikhorn NRD.

The conservation season is now ap-proaching once again as crops are being harvested either as small grains or silage or in the future corn and sorghum grain. Planning ahead at this time can free land for construction of the various conserva-tion practices.

Final action on the program will have to await action by Congress on the Agricultural Appropriations Bills now in conference. Both houses of Congress have called for reinstatement of the program with an advance authorization to be made of $160 million dollars for 1974 plus an additional 15 million from the Environmental Protection Agency.

Area, State Conservation Picture Award Winners Announced

Two State and six Area Conserva-tion Picture Award Winners have been announced by the Lower Elkhorn NRD. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Meister of West Point and Mr. and Mrs. William Fenske of Winside were named as State Winners in the Conservation Picture Award Contest conservation Picture Award

The Meister Family operates 340 acres six miles west and three miles south of West Point. Conservation treatment includes terraces, windbreaks, field border plantings, and minimum tillage. Livestock enterprises include beef breeding, beef feeding and a rapidly expanding hog farrowing and feeding operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenske operate 320 acres six miles southwest of Winside. In addition to a fully developed terrace system, and farm ponds developed for erosion control and livestock water, the Fenske's developed one of the first minimum tillage systems and put the unit to work in the 1950's.

Area Conservation Picture Award Winners are: Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Goetsch (operators), Miss Nelfa Lageschulte, Mrs. Verdell Heady (owners), Pierce, Nebraska; Bruce and Jim Petersen (operators), Arnold Petersen (owner). Craig, Nebraska; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reppert (operators), Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reppert (owners), Pender, Nebraska; Mr. Stanley Sachman, Creston, Nebraska; Mr. Stanley Bachman, Creston, Nebraska; and Mr.

and Mrs. Virgil Klug, Meadow Grove, Nebraska.

The State Winners will be honored at the State Conference of Resources Districts in Kearney, September 10, Area Winners will receive recognition at the Annual Awards Banquet of the Lower Elkhorn NRD in December.

Ag Specialist: Beef Prices Won't Rise

Won't Rise

"It doesn't look like the increased cattle prices we expected after the freeze are going to materialize," says Dr. Al Wellman, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension ag economist.

After talking with people around-the stalk and looking at updated market reports, Wellman forecasts for this fall weak feeder and slaughter cattle prices, good hog prices, and at harvest time. $2 corn. $20 silage and milo at $3.25.

"Looking at the information available, it appears there will be more feeder cattle available this fall than last year at this time." He comments.

As the primary input into slaughter cattle, production, feeder cattle prices generally follow the same price trends as slaughter cattle, the NU ag economist explains. "Indications are that there are slaughter cattle out there that are ready, but have been held and now will be coming to market.

"So feeder cattle prices will probably weaken this fall. Cattle prices will pick back up as we end 1973 and go into 1974. By March of '74, prices may be back up to $50 again, so feeder cattle prices will probably pick up again this spring."

For hog producers, Wellman makes the following prediction: "We don't seem to have the hog expansion that the hog-corn ratio would indicate we should have, so hog prices should be good — in the $40 range for the rest of 1973 and into 1974.

ratio would indicate we should have, so hog prices should be good — in the $40 range for the rest of 1973 and into 1974.

"Prices in 1974 may still be in the $40 range in the middle of the year since the supply is not picking up like we expected.

"Given prices of feed, protein, etc.. profif may be reduced, but will still be good compared to past years," he concluded.
