Open House Invitation Goes Out

Wayne Middle School will hold open house, tonight (Monday) from 7 to 9 p.m.

Purpose of the occasion is to provide an opportunity for parents and teachers to get acquainted, and for parents to gain a better understanding of the setting and environment in which their child studies.

The faculty and administration of the Middle School invites all friends of the school to attend open house whether parents, graduates or simply interested citizens.

Open for inspection will be the various improvements in the school building, such as the renovated library, renovated restrooms, lowered acoustical ceiling in hallways and some classrooms. Also open for inspection will be some of the students work and materials and equipment used in the school.

Farm Loans Available to Many More

Many additional farm families in Wayne and Stanton Counties are now eligible for farm ownership loans from the Farmers Home Administration, FHA county supervisor LaVern Ostendorf of Wayne said this week. Recent legislation permits FHA to become involved in the purchase and development of larger farms due to the increased total indebtedness limitation, he noted.

FHA makes loans in cooperation with other long-term real estate lenders on a simultaneous basis. Private and cooperative lenders are permitted to advance up to $125,000 based on a first lien on the real estate, and FHA can advance up to $100,000 based on a junior lien. The debt limitation in individual cases is based on a market value appraisal of the security, according to Ostendorf.

In effect, the new legislation permits a debt ceiling of $225,000 on real estate which was previously limited to $100,000, he added. Further information may be obtained from the FHA office at 112 West 2nd St. in Wayne.

WAYNE KIWANIANS Don Koeber, left, and Dennis Boehme attempt to keep their club from losing the tug-of-war with the Wayne Lions Club Thursday night, but the pair — along with 11 other club members — soon found out that their desire to win was a wet and cold one. The Lions, led by president Charles Maier, pulled the Kiwanians across the water line to win a $50 bet, with the proceeds going to the Wayne Community Chest Club. But never say the Kiwanians were afraid to fry again. Despite the chill winds, the club challenged the Lions once more. Yep, you guessed it, the Lions won.

75 Turn Out for FD Open House

The open house held by the Wayne volunteer fire department Thursday night to mark National Fire Prevention Week drew about 75 area individuals. The event may become an annual one, according to department members. Fire extinguishers were awarded as door prizes to Mrs. Erwin Fieer and Leona Bahde of Wayne.

Members of the firemen's auxiliary were on hand to provide visitors with coffee and cookies as they looked over the equipment and talked with firemen.

On display were posters entered in the auxiliary's fire prevention poster contest. Mike Schock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Schock of Wayne received the $5 first prize. Tim Pfeiffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Pfeiffer of Wayne, received

County 4-H Beef Sale One of Best Ever

Last week's Wayne County 4-H beef sale was one of the most successful in recent years, with premiums on single animals more than twice as high as last year's sale.

"The sale was terrific," said county agricultural agent Don Spitzle after watching bidders pay out an average premium of $6.04 a hundredweight on individual animals and an average premium of $3 a hundred on pens of five.

Last year's auction resulted in 4-H'ers receiving an average premium of $3 a hundred on individual calves, $2.17 on pens of five. The year before the premiums were $2.31 on individual animals, $1.87 on pens of five.

Spitzle cited two reasons for the high premiums paid out this year — packer bids and condition of the 91 animals up for auction.

"The packer bids were very good this year, and the animals were finished out better because the sale was held later in the year," he noted.

Last year the high packer bids were $34 a hundred on individual animals, $34.75 on pens of five. This year they were $42 on both single animals and pens of five. Last year's sale was held in August, several weeks before animals were ready for market, Spitzle noted.

Showing the top scoring individual animal was Kent Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Roberts of Wakefield. His Hereford steer weighed 1,105 pounds, brought a packer bid of $41.25 a hundred and sold to Roberts Feeds and Seeds of Wayne for $46.50.

Second highest scoring animal was the 1,420-pound crossbred steer shown by Jack Sievers, son of LeRoy Sievers of Wakefield. His animal brought a packer bid of $40 a hundred and sold to First National Bank of Wayne for $43.

Animals were sold according to ranking based on a formula taking into consideration both rate of gain and packer bid.

Bringing the top premium in the sale, however, was the last individual animal sold. Young Megan Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Owens of Carroll, watched bidders hike the price on her animal all the way to $49.50 a hundred, $10.50 a hundred higher than the packer bid. Her Hereford steer, which weighed 885 pounds, sold to Associated Insurance and Investment Co. of Wayne.

Kim Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Baker of Wakefield, sold the highest scoring pen of five, a group of Hereford steers weighing 6,980 pounds. His animals, which brought a packer bid of $40.50 a hundred, sold to Wayne Grain and Feed for $44.50.

Mike Dunklau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Dunklau of Wayne, had the second highest scoring pen of five. His group of crossbred heifers weighed 4,875 pounds, brought a packer bid of $40.75 a hundred and sold to State National Bank of Wayne for $44.50.

Highest premium in the pen of five bidding went to Don Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Nelson of Wayne, who sold a group of Charolais steers weighing 6,365 pounds. State National Bank paid a premium of $4.50 above the packer bid of $39.50 for those animals.

Baker will receive a trophy for showing the top pen of five during the annual 4-H achievement night scheduled for the city auditorium in Wayne Dec. 4.

Donating their time as auctioneers at the sale, held Wednesday night at Wayne Livestock Auction, Inc., were Stan Baier of Wayne, Orville Lage of Pilger, Jim Troutman of Winside and Al Wieseler of Wayne.

Sponsoring the sale was the agricultural committee of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

Complete results of the sale can be found on page six.

60 Youngsters Enrolled In Junior Fire Patrol

About 60 area fifth graders were at the city fire hall last week for the first of eight monthly Junior Fire Patrol classes.

Total enrollment this year is 69, according to Gary Stegner, Stegner, Jim Thomas, Dean Bruggeman and Bob Stanley are Junior Fire Patrol chairmen this year. The meetings will be conducted by teams of fire department members.

Name tags were distributed at the first meeting and home inspection check lists were given out.

Norb Brugger, Lee Swinney and Ted Bahe will conduct the Nov. 12 meeting which will be on different types of fires and how they should be extinguished.

The Dec. 19 meeting, a demonstration on various fire extinguishers, will be directed by Larry Haase, Dick Korn, Ken Roland and LaVerle McDonald. Bill Kugler, Keith Mosley, Ron Fink, Ken Siltzman and Pat Gross will be in charge Jan. 7 when patrol members learn about self protection and what to do if caught in a fire.

Rescue methods will be emphasized at the Feb. 11 meeting by Dennis Spangler, Ivan Beeks, Mike McCurdy, Harry Leseberg and Rod Jorgensen.

Simple first aid tactics will be taught by Joe Dorcay, Clef Sharer, Harvey Brasch and Jim Thomas at the Mar. 11 meeting and the local fire department will be explained by Cliff Pinkelman, Paul Rogge and Harold Fleer at the April 8 session.

The final, May 13 meeting will be devoted to a graduation program. Certificates will be presented patrol members who will then be treated to a ride on the fire truck and lunch after. See PATROL, page 5

Not Recycling, But It'll Help School Kids

It's not exactly recycling, but friends, parents and other relatives of Wayne-Carroll elementary school students can help turn can labels into audio visual equipment between now and Dec. 8.

"Labels for Education," a program sponsored by Campbell Soup Company, enables schools to redeem can labels for various pieces of school equipment.

Labels which can be redeemed are Campbell's regular, 26-ounce, 50-ounce and chunky. The more labels that are collected, the larger the piece of equipment which can be earned.

Thousands of labels will be needed to make the drive successful, according to elementary principal Richard Metteer, and all school district residents are urged to get involved in the program.

Labels can be taken directly to the school or be given to an elementary student, Metteer said.

Exon's Pick

DR. GORDON SHUPE, Wayne dentist, has been named by Governor J. James Exon to the state board of health. He and the three other persons named to the job Friday will serve three-year terms.

WH Youth Named to All-American Band

Wayne can now lay claim to being the home of an All-American.

She is Ann Owens, a senior at Wayne High School, who has been selected as one of two students from Nebraska to participate in two nationally televised parades during the winter holiday season.

Daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Orvid Owens, she will march in the select 102-member McDonald's All-American High School Band in Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City and in the Tournament of Roses

He said he has nominated somebody for the band, sponsored by McDonald's Restaurants, for the past three years.

Miss Owens was named to the band because of the high caliber of the local band and her outstanding performance during recent years, Dalton said.

Although she specializes in the flute, Miss Owens, 17, will play either the saxophone or clarinet in the parades. She also plays the flute, piano and guitar.

The Wayne High student has been in band since the fifth grade and in orchestra since the fourth. She has attended Nebraska Music Educators Association all-state clinics after auditions and this summer took part in the music camp at Kansas State University at Manhattan. She has received superiors at the district music contests the past two years. This is her fourth year in the school's stage band.

Cash Needed To Attract Firm Here

Local and area residents wishing to invest money to help attract a Fremont industry to Wayne are urged to contact one of several Wayne men within the next few days, according to one of those spearheading a drive to raise the investment capital.

John Addison, local attorney who worked with several others in getting the industry others interested in moving to Wayne, said small investors are needed if the $150,000 goal is to be reached so the firm will move to Wayne.

He said those interested may contact Arnie Reeg, Wayne Marsh, Phil Griese, Larry Turner, Maurice "Red" Carr, Rowan Wiltse, Tom McClain, O. K. Brandstetter, LeRoy Simpson, Charles Thomas or himself.

The Fremont industry which is committed to moving to Wayne if $150,000 is invested in it locally, makes fiberglass shower stalls and bath tubs. If the company moves to Wayne, a large building for storehouse and production will be built on the east edge of Wayne. In time, the firm could employ from 90 to 125 people in three production lines, according to Addison.

Berry Hall's exhibit also featured a Twenties car, made of paper. Neihardt Hall won second and Morey Hall third in dormitory display competition. And in the organization class, Epsilon Pi Tau, industrial education fraternity, placed second, the Greeks third.

'Why are our school taxes so high?'

Dear Editor: WAYNE
An interesting article appeared in the Sunday Omaha World-Herald (Oct. 7) that I felt was worthy of sharing. It was entitled "Iowa's Newest City" which is Carroll, Iowa.

The interesting part of the article is that Carroll has a population of 10,000 and a 79-mill tax levy. The school tax is 23 mills!! The community has two high schools and four elementary schools. How is it possible for them to have a mill levy of about one-third of the Wayne-Carroll school system?

It is true that the population is twice that of Wayne, but that does not always indicate being able to supply services cheaper. Wayne, too, is larger than any of the towns in this immediate area and yet is the only school charging $2.50 a week for lunch tickets.

I think the whole key to Carroll's "success" lies in the paragraph that stated the area was made up of mostly German-Catholics who have been careful with their money. They probably are interested enough in how the money is being spent and do not permit wasting it. CONCERNED TAXPAYER

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The article referred to apparently did not say why the Carroll school system has such a low mill levy. The reasons are interesting.

The community has a public high school and a public elementary school with a total enrollment of about 1,430, according to school superintendent Al Stroh. That is several hundred more than the approximate 1,030 enrolled in the Wayne-Carroll school system.

However, the Iowa community also has two Catholic elementary schools with a total enrollment of about 1,400 and a Catholic high school with an enrollment of about 1,100, Stroh said. St. Mary's Catholic School in Wayne educates 50 students in grades one through six.

Also, there are six small towns within the Iowa school district covering Carroll which support Catholic elementary schools, Stroh added. In addition, Stroh said in a telephone conversation, one small community supports a Catholic high school enrolling some 100 students. Said Stroh: "The Protestants (here) have a pretty good deal. . . If the Catholic schools closed, it would at least double our mill levy, and then we would have to purchase their (the Catholics') school buildings." If that happened, the mill levy for that community's public school system would shoot up close to the Wayne-Carroll levy of about 64 mills, Stroh noted.

Even more interesting is the assessed valuation of the Iowa school district. According to Stroh, it is $43 million — more than three times the approximate $13 million assessed valuation of the Wayne-Carroll school district. If the Wayne-Carroll school district were three times richer than it now is, it stands to reason that its mill levy would be one third as high.

It should be noted that the Carroll public school district is actually spending more money to educate its students than is the Wayne-Carroll school district. Total budget for the Iowa school district is about $1,400,000, according to Stroh. Total budget of the Wayne-Carroll school district is about $150,000.

To answer the letter writer's question, the mill levy for the Iowa school district is much smaller because the public school system there educates only a small number of the total students and because the district is much richer than the Wayne-Carroll school district.

In reply to the comment about the $2.50 charge for weekly school lunch tickets, it should be noted that the Wayne-Carroll school district is probably charging no more than schools of similar size in Northeast Nebraska. And if the charge is higher than some area schools, it is no more than five or 10 cents per meal higher.

The Wayne-Carroll school system could charge less for its hot lunches, but if it did so the taxpayer would have to pay more in taxes to help provide those lunches, according to Wayne-Carroll school superintendent Francis Haun. Higher taxes is exactly what the letter writer seems to be opposed to.)

OBSERVATIONS

You bet they run smooth

Ever had a real urge to get out and attend a city council meeting? You have, haven't you? Been wanting to sit in on one and offer some suggestions and comments about what's happening in city government in Wayne, you say?

If you have, forget it. You won't learn much and you won't be able to do much about what's going on in the city by attending those council meetings.

If you want to keep up on how the people you put into office are running the city, you're going to have to attend the "pre-council session" held before each meeting. That's when quite a bit of work is done, subjects discussed, opinions voiced. There are times when you can learn more at those "pre-council sessions" than you can at the regular meetings.

But if you really want to find out what's going on in the city, you'll have to make a point of attending all the little "skull sessions" the councilmen and mayor hold almost weekly. The bad thing is, you can't find out when those "skull sessions" are being held or what's being discussed. It would be nice if you could, of course, because those are the guys you put into office to represent you. It would be nice to find out if that's what they're doing.

Those "skull sessions" must really be something, we gather. We don't know that for sure, because the newspaper has been invited to only one or two during the past year. The other 30 or 40 or 50 must have covered subjects the newspaper — and therefore the public — wouldn't be interested in since we weren't invited to them.

But if you ever do attend one of those council meetings, we're sure you'll be impressed with how smoothly it is run. What with the television cameras moving silently in the background, you might even think for a second or two that the meeting was rehearsed.

We only rarely break it

The rather lengthy editor's note at the end of the letter to the editor elsewhere on this page needs a word or two of explanation.

One of the rules we follow is not to stick our comments on the end of a letter sent to us for publication. Our readers have every right to their opinions, and it is unfair for us to criticize those ideas in notes at the end of their letters. If we did that, we would always have the last word on a subject.

Occasionally we will break that rule to help explain something the letter writer is saying. This is done to help the letter writer as well as our readers. The writer, for instance, may be discussing a subject our readers have forgotten or missed altogether. The editor's notes in those cases are simple and to the point. The views of the authors of those letters are not commented on by the newspaper. In rare instances, however, we think our rule has to be broken so our readers are not left with inaccuracies. This, we feel, is one of those instances.

If it is much too easy to criticize a governmental subdivision such as a school district for excessive spending by comparing it to another school district which is, at first glance, offering similar services at much less cost to its taxpayers. A closer look often reveals, as in this case, that there are many reasons why that other school district is getting by with a lower mill levy than our own is.

We hope we have not made an enemy of the author of the letter. If we did, however, it is less important to us than making sure our readers are not left with a tantalizing question but no explanation.

But can we afford them?

There are many people who will agree with the athletic director at Wayne State College when he says it's time the Wayne-Carroll school board seriously thinks about buying bleachers for the school auditorium.

He has a good point when he says that bleachers should be installed at the auditorium so it can be turned into a place where school sports can be played before large crowds. It would permit the school to hold wrestling matches, and basketball games on its own floor rather than being forced into using the cramped city auditorium or the Wayne State auditorium.

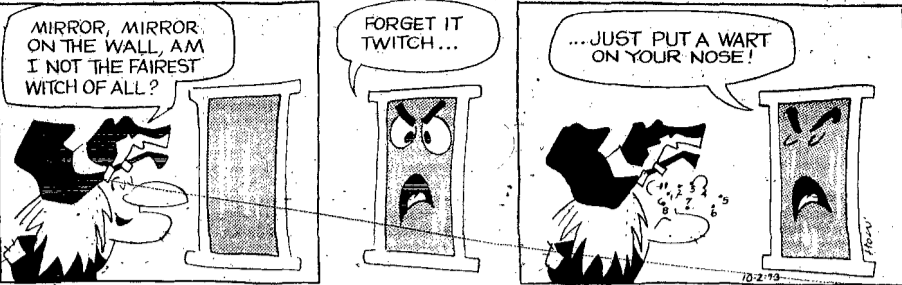

We agree with those thoughts, but we also agree with the school board member who notes that there are many things the school needs much more than bleachers.

We think the school board members should investigate purchasing the bleachers. But we think they should also make every effort to continue sharing athletic facilities at the college, especially now when inflation and the rising cost of living is making all taxpayers take second looks at any large expenditures of funds.

Certainly, it would be nice if the school auditorium were equipped with bleachers so basketball games and wrestling matches could be held there. We have to keep in mind, however, that we can't always afford all the nice things we would like to have.

RECEIVED A NICE letter to the editor from Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hansen of rural Wayne urging businessmen to turn out and support last week's Wayne County 4-H beef sale.

It's too bad the letter came too late to get into an issue of the newspaper before the sale took place, for the farm couple made some good points about why businessmen in the county should back that annual sale.

For instance, "These are area 4-H members who have invested their time, talents and money in an effort to learn more about the business of agriculture. The success or failure they meet in these learning situations may have a strong impact on their decision to select or not select farming as a vocation. And whether you realize it or not, each and every one of you is dependent to some extent on the health of the agricultural industry in this area."

That's exactly the point we tried to stress in our editorials and agricultural agent Don Spitzke tried to stress in his letter to businessmen.

The sale turned out to be one of the most successful ones in recent years, according to Spitzke. Premiums earned by youths averaged somewhere around $6 a hundredweight, about twice as much as in the sale a year ago. Businessmen who turned out for the sale and purchased animals deserve a public thank you.

Youngsters who sold their calves might remember something else the Hansens said in their letter: "When a businessman helps in the purchase of your calf, don't forget to drop him a word of appreciation."

OVERSET: Francis Haun, boss of the Wayne-Carroll school system, will take over as the head of the Nebraska Association of School Administrators now that Scott Norton, University of Nebraska-Lincoln professor, has moved out of the state. Haun will preside and give a welcome during a joint meeting of his association and the state association for school board members in Lincoln Nov. 8-9. He also will preside over the two-day convention for administrators. Haun's in his ninth year as local school superintendent.

Layne Mann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mann of rural Wayne, was one of the NU Agronomy Club members who was on the university's team competing in the regional intercollegiate soil judging contest at North Platte Friday and Saturday. Contestants from North Dakota, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota and Nebraska took part in the event.

Members of the Senior Citizens Center in Wayne may get to see themselves on TV later this fall. Nebraska Educational Television Network's "The Grand Generation" is scheduled to premiere on Nov. 1 at 6:30 p.m. Repeat broadcasts of the new weekly series, funded by a grant from the Nebraska Commission on Aging, will be offered Tuesday mornings at 7 a.m. You'll remember that an ETC crew was in Wayne this summer filming activities at the center for possible use on the series. Being sought now is an older person with "a warm, outgoing personality" to host the show. Any takers locally?

The uncle of the Rev. Paul Begley, pastor of the St. Mary's Catholic parish

In Wayne, has been honored in Omaha. Creighton University's business administration college has announced establishment of a $300,000 Dr. John P. Begley Chair of Accounting. A university chair is a faculty professorship financed by contributions to a restricted endowment. Income from the funds for the Begley Chair will be used to provide for the salary of an accounting professor or guest lecturers in accounting. The endowment also frees budgeted funds to help other areas in the college. Dr. Begley, 79, will retire at the end of this year after 50 years at Creighton.

HODGEPODGE: Next issue we'll use the first of several cartoons we've purchased from cartoonist George Hartman. Hope you enjoy them. . . Contrary to what we said in a story on the front page in Thursday's issue of the newspaper, Dr. Lyle Seymour was not a candidate for the presidency of Wayne State when he took over as acting president after Dr. W. A. Brandenburg resigned earlier this year. A typographical error resulted in our saying he was a candidate for the post. Another error called him the "action" president. There are some who might agree with that description, however. . . Dr. LeRoy Simpson may think it's time the local school board bought bleachers for the school auditorium, but I'm inclined to think school board member Mrs. Dorothy-Ley touched on a good point when she replied that there are many other things we need a whole lot more.

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

PLANS ARE UNDERWAY at Emerson to hold adult education courses for area residents.

Working together on the classes will be the Emerson-Hubbard school district and the Northeast Nebraska Technical Community College at Norfolk.

Among courses suggested are livestock nutrition, household repairs, women's auto mechanics, small engine repair, upholstery and cake decorating.

On an advisory committee studying possible courses are Mrs. Bill Clements, Mrs. Ervin Sebade, Mrs. William Longe, Dick Pflanz, Clinton Carr, Jack Rohrberg and the Rev. Ron Nelson.

TWENTY-FOUR of 39 eligible fifth graders at Pierce have attended the organizational meeting of the Pierce junior fire patrol last week. Meetings of the junior patrol will be held once a week for the next two months.

MORE THAN 400 questionnaires were distributed last week by the Wisner Chamber of Commerce in an attempt to determine interest in industrial development and give city officials an insight into the likes and dislikes of residents.

The survey also provides residents an opportunity to voice opinions on what they think needs improvement. After the surveys are picked up this week they will be sent to Lincoln where they will be reviewed and analyzed. Results of the survey will be released to the public later.

THE ANNUAL Swedish Smorgasbord is scheduled for the community auditorium at Wausa on Thursday, Oct. 30. Featured at the event will be real Swedish dishes prepared from O I D Country recipes which have been handed down through generations.

The dishes, prepared by Wausa residents, will include such authentic foods as ostkaka and lingon berries, meat ball, homemade breads, cheeses and drinks.

In charge of this year's smorgasbord are Mr. and Mrs. Yellin Johnson.

A TOTAL OF 184 counties, cities and townships in Nebraska's Third Congressional District will fail to receive general revenue sharing checks totaling $234,000 this quarter, according to Congressman Dave Martin.

Martin said the Treasury Department notified him that the local governments would not receive their first quarterly checks for the fourth entitlement period under the general revenue sharing because of failure to file required reports with the Office of Revenue Sharing by Sept. 25.

The Treasury Department said that all governmental units receiving revenue sharing funds are required to publish and file reports on funds they receive. Reporting requirements must be met in order to continue qualification for further revenue sharing funds, according to department officials.

Governments listed as delinquent are in Antelope, Boone, Boyd, Holt, Nance, Polk, Red Willow, Scotts Bluff, Sheridan, Sherman, Thomas, Valley, Webster, Clay, Custer, Dawson, Franklin, Frontier, Furnas, Gosper, Grant, Hall, Hamilton, Harlan, Merrick and Wheeler Counties.

The "do more for the poor" politicians don't seem to have thought about what they will "do more" with after they get everybody's taxes up over 100 per cent of income. Actually, the "do more" disease is, double-barreled. Politicians who catch it have a compulsion to (a) do more for the poor, and (b) do more for themselves. So they spend like a man with an inexhaustible golden-egg-laying goose that can't find a stopper. But the taxpayer's goose may tighten up when the "do more" gang starts demanding more than he produces.

Out of Old Nebraska

Flax Straw for Kearney Paper Mill, 1899
Persuading manufacturing and processing plants to locate in Nebraska has always been a primary objective of both business leaders and public officials. Some towns were unusually active during the expansion decades of pre-1900 Nebraska in promoting industry to supplement income from the state's basic agricultural or mineral products were to be used. Many plants were created in a burst of optimism not entirely justified. Yet many did succeed, later to decline or suspend operations due to the changing times. The process still goes on, as Nebraskans search for the best way to use their products.

In 1899 a special edition of the Kearney Enterprise reported glowingly of the progress being made in creating there "the manufacturing center of the West." Newspaper articles in the files of the Nebraska State Historical Society indicate that enthusiasm also ran high as other cities promoted industrial projects.

Among the enterprises under construction at Kearney were a cotton mill, brick yard, "cracker company," woolen mill, canning factory, and a paper mill. The last mentioned plant recalls another paper-making operation founded in West Point in 1876. The Kearney plant, however, instead of relying on wood pulp for raw material, hoped to interest farmers in growing enough flax to supply the mill with straw for pulp. Heretofore, the Enterprise pointed out, farmers' straw had been "wasted or used for fuel." Other excerpts from the feature article (with accompanying drawing of the building) tell of the plans of its promoters:

"Central and Western Nebraska produce as fine flax as is found in the country, and this has been shipped to the east and returned in papers and linens. Both the raw product and market being close at hand, the members of this company found here a most favorable field. . . They have erected a large mill on the line between Kearney and West Kearney south of the Union Pacific Railroad. The building is 185 feet by 43 feet, of brick, and is fireproof. The towers which occupy the front of the building are three stories in height. This is the first paper mill in the country built entirely by the new Tompkins process. "Sheds that will cover 600 tons of straw are about to be erected and here the straw will be cut and by means of carrier conveyed to the digesters, each of which is twelve tons capacity. From these the macerated material. . . goes to the 60-inch machine. . . The company manufactures the finer wrapping papers, bogus manila paper, print paper, and paper bag stock. While only straw and flax are used at present, rags will soon be in demand and a beater is provided for this class of work." Rags were to be used in making finer papers such as bond for letterheads.

Thirty hands were to be employed, and electric motors were to be used to make their work more productive. Capital stock of the company was $50,000. Officers were G. M. Johnson, president and treasurer; John Peterson, vice president; George T. Gray, secretary; and R. M. Johnson, superintendent.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

NEW SOURCE FOR GASOLINE

In a few years you may be filling up the family car with lead-free 100-plus octane gasoline that's been refined from coal.

Today's gasoline is refined from crude oil, but the supply of this precious resource is threatened by a rapidly expanding demand for oil-produced energy, blocking of oil exploration and facility development and approaching depletion of this country's — and the world's — oil reserves. Estimates of current U. S. oil resources are about 11 years. Some estimates are even lower.

The petroleum industry, concerned about the power crisis and seeking additional ways to meet fuel demands, is directing millions of dollars of its research into programs looking toward coal.

Why coal? Almost half of the world's remaining coal is in the U. S. — as much as 1,600 years supply, depending on usage rate, and it is available in almost every geographical location. U. S. coal is also closer to the surface than in any other major country, making it less expensive to mine.

The process of converting coal to gasoline is still in the developmental stage, but a pilot plant operating in Princeton, N. J., is now capable of converting 36 tons of coal per day into 48 barrels of high grade synthetic crude oil (from which gasoline is refined) and other products like natural gas.

Large scale commercial operations could possibly begin as early as 1979 and, by the turn of the century, contribute a quarter or more of the nation's gasoline, according to petroleum industry sources. The conversion process involves heating the coal to high temperatures and driving off the oil and natural gas. The oil is condensed and treated with hydrogen to form a crude oil with low sulphur content which can be used directly as a fuel oil or fed to a refinery to generate gasoline and other oil products.

Devils Roll to Homecoming Win Over Madison, 34-8

By BOB BARTLETT

Wayne High football coach Al Hansen had a formula for his team's predicted four touchdown homecoming victory over Madison Friday night — establish a good ground game and then proceed to improve in passing.

Blue Devil halfbacks Rod Hoops, Randy Workman and Marty Hansen gave the club the needed ground movement to score a 20-0 halftime lead. Then Workman and Rob Mitchell put together a second-half scoring show to win the Devils home match, 34-8.

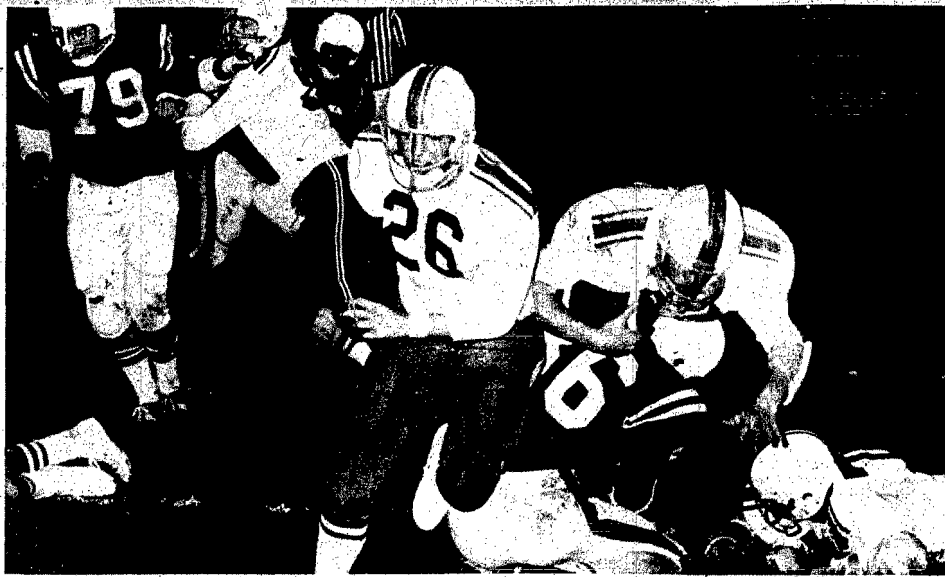

At first glance it looked like the Devils would romp over the smaller Dragon team, scoring a six-pointer with 9:17 left in the first quarter.

Hoops dashed in from 22 yards out to cap a sustained Wayne drive from about their own 40-yard line. "Hoops really had a good night tonight (Friday)," Hansen pointed out. The 184-pound junior finished the evening with 137 yards in 21 carries to lead the team in rushing.

With about the same amount of time left in the second period, Wayne's second leading runner, Marty Hansen, scored from 19 yards out with Terry Hasebrook converting his first of two PAT tries. His first attempt was wide.

Hansen, a junior switched from the signal calling duties to a running slot, piled up 111 yards in 15 tries. Both he and Hoops had 24 of the team's 280 total rushing yardage.

With 26 seconds left in the half

WAYNE HIGH halfback Gordie Cook (26) attempts to lead a team rusher around end but an unidentified Madison defender stops the Devils ground attack in the first quarter. Wayne easily handled the Dragons for the team's homecoming victory, 34-8, at Wayne State Memorial Stadium Friday night.

Workman ran in from two yards out for a 20-0 lead.

Hansen wasn't completely satisfied with his offense, though. The second half of his formula — passing — fell short in the first half as quarterback Bill Schwartz completed only four of 12 attempts for 74 yards. He also had one pass intercepted. "I knew we had to go to the Madison's quarterback and backfield.

As Hansen noted, the Madison game proved that Wayne's defense is good. All-Conference defensive man Mike Dunklau, sprung back from last week's two unassisted tackles to seven while collecting two assists.

Next in line defensively was senior Terry Hasebrook with six unassisted tackles and one assist — coming in the last frame. One high point in Hasebrook's game was an interception in the end zone to stop Madison's second scoring drive.

"Terry looked good tonight," Hansen pointed out. "He only played in the fourth quarter, but really showed determination."

Another key defender in the Wayne lineup was Larry Creighton. Three times he single-handedly dropped Dragon quarterback Duane Freudenburg for big losses. One of those key drops came in the final four seconds of the first half when he nailed Freudenburg on an attempted pass play on Wayne's 10-yard line.

Hansen praised the team's goalline stance when it stopped Madison from scoring in the first quarter.

The Dragons were on the five-yard line, but the Devil defense pushed the club back to the 12 before Kerry Jech laid a beautiful block on a Dragon receiver to end the visitor's threat on a fourth down situation.

Wayne started back into the scoring column in the final stanza with a pair of touchdowns by Mitchell and Workman.

Workman took the first one in from the two-yard line with 10:22 left in the game before Mitchell ended the flurry with another two-yard romp. Hasebrook, missing only one extra point for the night, converted five of six PATs.

With about 3:30 left, Madison scored a touchdown on a pass to Bob Jansen before Mark Brand made the two-point play for the team's only score.

Brand, as Hansen noted, played a good game. He was responsible for Wayne's only interception of the night.

This Friday the Devils will take their 3-0-1 conference mark (4-1-1 overall) to Columbus Lakeview.

Freshmen Face Norfolk Today

Wayne High's freshman football team will take on Norfolk Catholic today (Monday) after wet grounds forced cancellation of last Thursday's game.

According to coach Duane Blomkamp, that will be the only game of the week for the freshmen since Wisner-Pilger canceled the game set for Thursday.

First Laurel Win Due to Drives

Laurel celebrated its first long-overdue victory this season with a win over Bloomfield, 20-14, Friday night.

The Laurel Bears had to come from behind 12-14, with nine minutes left in the game. They drove the ball down the field, culminating in a Laurel score and giving the Bears their winning point.

Senior quarterback Gregg Anderson of Laurel opened up the scoring action on a one-yard run with three minutes left in the first quarter.

Early in the second quarter, Steve Peters of Bloomfield came up with a two-yard scoring run, setting Bloomfield up for a temporary lead. Kevin Eggin ran a two-point conversion, putting the Bears ahead 6-8.

Bloomfield set themselves up for their early second quarter score by blocking a Laurel punt deep in Bear territory. The ball rolled to the eight-yard line and came to rest.

But Kevin Gade, not about to be outdone, caught a 16-yard pass to recapture the lead for Laurel with 1:10 left on the clock in the first half.

The two teams were still holding each other down defensively in the third and fourth periods until Bloomfield intercepted a Laurel pass on Laurel's 40-yard line. They barreled through and finally scored on a two-yard run by Dorrance Ahlertson.

Things looked pretty dim in the fourth quarter for the Bears until they sustained a drive deep into Bloomfield territory. Then with 5:30 left in the game, Anderson took the ball over the goal line for a Laurel TD. With winning determination Gregg carried the ball again for two on the attempt for extra points.

Dave Fehring shined on Bloomfield's defensive unit, but the defense was unable to hold the Laurel carriers from scoring except for the third quarter.

Two Laurel carriers were largely responsible for the win over Bloomfield. Lamont Sohler carried the ball 23 times for a total of 91 yards. Sterling Stolpe, who seems to be consistently improving his game, moved the ball 79 yards in 11 carries.

Defensively for Laurel, Steve Sohler led the way to holding Bloomfield from scoring in the first and third quarters.

Laurel looked good on the field with over twice the total yards gained by Bloomfield — Laurel had 251 yards to Bloomfield's 123.

Winside's Weible Scores 3 TDs in 21-14 Win

Winside's one-man offense and an outstanding defense put the team to Ponca Friday night, 21-14.

The name Larry Weible only had to be repeated once — he was responsible for all three Wildcat touchdowns that lifted the Lewis and Clark team to a 3-1 overall record.

Before the speedy running-back took the show, though, Winside's defense took credit for two key interceptions that set up Winside's halftime margin of 13-6.

Quarterback Doug Lage, playing in the defensive backfield, snagged an Indian fumble in the second quarter on Ponca's 33-yard line and raced to the 13. On the next play Weible swept the end to tie the game at 6-6 and Mike Anderson booted the extra point.

Steve Brummels, another member of the "Junk-Yard Dog" defense stole another Ponca pass in the same period on the Ponca 41-yard line, running to the 19. Six plays later Weible brushed across the goal line. This time the PAT failed, giving the Cats a 13-6 lead.

It did look like a one-man show, Winside head coach Doug Barclay admitted. "Larry collected more rushing yards (150) than Ponca's entire offensive total (144)," he pointed out.

The Indians gave the home team several scares in the game, however. During the first play from scrimmage in the first stanza, runningback Bob Curry zipped 77 yards for a 6-0 lead. The PAT was no good.

The second scare came in the third quarter when Ponca recovered a Wildcat fumble on Winside's 10-yard line. Cat quarterback Doug Lage tried a triple reverse with the third-handoff falling to the ground.

Three plays later Craig Jones took the ball in for a 13-12 deficit. But the Braves soon wiped out that score with a two-point conversion by Jones for a go-ahead margin, 14-13.

Winside then put together its running game — with the help of Weible's 50 yard run in the fourth — to score the game's last TD with 7:03 left in the contest.

With the ball on the 20-yard line Weible's run moved it to Ponca's 28 before the senior scored his final tally of the night, including a two-point conversion.

"Weible averaged about 7.3 yards a carry," Barclay said, noting that his offense did make a lot of mistakes.

"We had that one fumble on the 10-yard line which Ponca took advantage of and a blocked punt in the third period," he went on.

The defense, though, stopped

the Indians from scoring on the blocked punt. Ponca recovered the ball on the nine-yard line but the bolstered Wildcat crew would not let the visitors in. They stopped Ponca on the three-yard line.

"All I can say is that our defense played an outstanding game," Barclay said. Bob Hoffman led defenders with 10 tackles while Bob Harman had seven.

The Cats secondary also got praise for halting Ponca's passing game to 21 yards. The Indians attempted seven passes with only three completions. Their ground game mounted to 123 yards.

Last week when Winside beat Wausa, the Cats aerial game was strong. Friday night, however, Lage failed to complete two attempts.

"We had our backs to the wall most of the night," Barclay said, "so we weren't about to try passing. Besides, after Larry scored the final TD we knew that we didn't have to go to the air."

Winside's game was literally a ground-oriented feat. The team had 193 yards total. Besides Weible's 150 yards the only player close was Greg Lage with 20.

Winside still remains outside of conference play this week when they take on a winless Norfolk Catholic club at Norfolk.

Reserves Blast Wisner, 49-6

Three quarters of relentless, hard hitting playing and fast scoring led the Wayne reserve football team to a 49-6 thrashing of Wisner-Pilger last Monday.

Quarterback Paul Mallette guided his club with two touchdown throws in the first period. One was a 20-yarder to Gordon Emry, the other a 50-yard strike to Larry Creighton. Both PATs were good.

Creighton started out the second stanza with a one-yard TD run followed by Dave Nuss' eight-yard blast. Other TDs came on Dick Chapman's 23-yard run, a one-yard romp by Rob Mitchell and a 40-yard return by Pat Dorsey after intercepting a Wisner pass.

Chapman led rushers with 77 yards. Defensively, Mike Manes and Gary Hansen had 11 tackles each.

Today (Monday) Wayne travels to West Point Central Catholic.

Wakefield, Winside Girls To Square Off

Winside head volleyball coach Don Leighton is hoping his girls can pull out of a three-game losing slump Wednesday when the Wildkittens go against Wakefield.

"The girls have been looking good in their last two matches," he pointed out, "but haven't displayed the consistency needed to win."

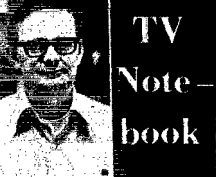

Last Thursday Leighton's A team fell to Hartington High after winning the first set, 16-14. In that match, Leighton said, the girls played one of their best games. Unfortunately, Hartington did the same in the remaining two sets, he added.

Hartington won the second set, 10-15, before pouring it on for a 15-4 win to drop the Wildkittens record to 5-6.

The B squad also had problems and is still searching for its initial win in seven starts. Hartington grabbed two straight set wins, 15-10 and 15-3, to douce the reserve's chances of winning.

The freshmen, or C team, won the only match for the visitors, beating Hartington, 15-3 and 15-10.

Cynthia Krueger and Lori Lienemann had 12 and 14 serve points respectively to lead the club to a 4-3 record.

TV Note-Book

Nothing made the avid sports fan more unhappy than the fact that the home games of his favorite team were blacked out on local TV, even when the event was a sell-out and there were no seats to be bought. It didn't help when he realized that the game, which he had no chance to see, was being played in a stadium his tax-dollars had built.

Local blackouts of sporting events are on the way out. Legislation has now been passed to forbid them during any sold-out game. Anyway, it seems to us that the delivery of an audience of 2 or 3 million TV viewers ought to bring in enough revenue from local advertisers to more than compensate the club owner for loss of gate receipts.

If your TV set is blacked out on all channels you should call our expert repair technicians. They'll put your set back in like-new condition. Usually repairs can be made right in your home. Call now.

If you feed cattle to make money... Stop! ...we've got something to discuss with you.

What's your guess? Will feed prices go up or down? A feed booking that locks in a firm price is fine if feed prices go up — but bad for you if prices go down — and if you don't book, who knows what your prices will be later in the season? It's a risky business!

We'd like to help you — and we can with a new program called the Kent Price Insurance Booking Contract. It's a combination purchase agreement and insurance policy with a low premium cost. It will protect you if prices rise — and still give you the benefit of lower prices if ingredient markets drop.

If you'd like to take some of the risk out of feeding cattle, if you'd like to feed a top quality feed with a money-back guarantee, if your present supplier wasn't able to make good on his bookings last year, see us. Ask us about the Kent Price Insurance Booking Contract. You'll be glad you did!

Injury-Ridden Allen Loses No. 1 Standing in Clark Division of L-C Conference

An injury-plagued Allen High football team lost its bid to stay on top of Lewis and Clark's east division Friday night as Newcastle upended the area favorites, 19-7.

Allen, which had an unblemished conference mark of 3-0, relinquished its right to stay in the No. 1 spot to the Red Raiders, now 1-0-1 and boss of the Clark division.

The visitors gave Allen both barrels of its running attack in the second quarter when Scott Miller and speedy Craig Nelson put their club on the board, 12-0. Miller capped a 61-yard drive in six plays with a one-yard dive for a 6-0 lead. The PAT failed. In Newcastle's next set of downs, Nelson broke around end on a 44-yard scamper for another six-pointer. Again the point after failed.

That second Newcastle score occurred when the Eagles got off to a bad punt that only went 14 yards, putting the ball on their 44-yard line. Nelson, who ranks second in the state in the 100-yard dash, then flashed in for the score.

"He is quick and fast," Allen's coaching staff pointed out. Nelson had 89 yards in 13 carries, including the last TD on a one-yard bull play in the fourth period.

Allen didn't get into the game until the last stanza when quarterback Scott Von Minden, still hurting from a leg injury suffered in the Winside clash, crossed the goal line from five yards out for a 12-6 score.

Fate worked in reverse on Allen's score. Instead of the Eagle's fumbling, the Raiders returned an earlier favor by dropping the ball on the 40-yard line. Nine plays later the score was 12-7 with the Loren Book's PAT good.

"We thought we might have them at this point," the coaches noted, "but Newcastle's last scoring drive took the air out of Allen's sails."

The Raiders had the ball on their 45-yard line. But 10 plays later — and only 13 seconds showing on the clock — the score suddenly was 19-7.

The Eagles had a chance to bring the game closer in the first half when the home club moved from its 20 to Newcastle's seven. With 22 seconds left in the half Von Minden tried a quarterback sneak only to have the ball jarred loose and Newcastle recovered the ball.

"That plus the last touchdown really hurt us," the coaches said.

Allen gave up 12 first downs to the visitors — six more than against a good Wakefield team which beat Allen, 22-7.

Also evident was the Eagles' passing attack — only 29 yards.

Key receivers Chuck Peters and Jim Koester, were on the disabled list, huffing the club's chances to strike in the air.

Last week against Ponca, Peters suffered a pulled leg muscle which still hasn't healed. Koester, is recovering from two shoulder separations — one during the Winside game and the other occurring during practice.

Offensive tackle Scott McAfee, who suffered a sprained ankle earlier, exited the game in the fourth with the same injury. Guard Dave Rifea was still missing from the lineup with pneumonia.

Paul Snyder led rushers with 58 yards in seven carries while Von Minden had 47 in 10 rushes.

Allen, in second place in the Clark division, must rely on Walthill to beat the Raiders before the Eagles can have another shot at the division title. If so, Allen has to beat Walthill in its last game of the season to take the division.

This Friday, though, Allen steps out of its division to face Coleridge of the Lewis side.

The Yardstick:
	Allen	Newcastle
First downs	11	12
Yards passing	29	113
Yards rushing	142	188
Total yards gained	171	201
Passes	2-16	5-8
Punts	7-32	3-33
Fumbles lost	2	4
Yards penalized	30	25

CHUCK PETERS and DeAnn Troth were crowned Allen High's homecoming king and queen Friday afternoon at the school's gym. First-place runnersup were Kay Schroeder and Randy Lanser while Scott McAfee and Karen Schultz were second. The couple were introduced during the halftime of the Newcastle-Allen football game.

Lakeview's Pillen Blasts Trojans, 22-12

Wakefield lost to Columbus Lakeview, 22-12, due to a failure to contain Jim Pillen. Despite a temporarily successful containment, Pillen simply couldn't be watched constantly by the Wakefield team.

After both teams were held scoreless in the first quarter, Wakefield made the first score in the second on a two-yard run by Steve Sorensen. The point after failed.

The lead was only momentary, though, as Lakeview came back on its next possession to score a touchdown. Pillen ran in from the three-yard line for the six-pointer after an interference call against the Trojans put the ball on the 16-yard line.

The kick by Terry Lufjens was good, putting the visitors ahead. Lakeview scored again in the third quarter when Wendel Korke blocked a punt in the Wakefield endzone. Then Lakeview put victory out of sight with a 46-yard run by Pillen, making the score 19-6.

Wakefield managed another six points in the fourth with a nine-yard pass from Doug Soderberg to Larry Siebrandt. But Lakeview put the score away with a 30-yard field goal for a 22-12 win.

Wakefield now has a 2-3 record. Lakeview has a record of 3-1-1, suffering their only loss from Schuyler, 18-14. The Vikings are undefeated in the Husker Conference.

Trojan defensive player Doug Fischer was head and shoulders above anyone else, with a total of 19 tackles. The all-conference player is consistently one of Wakefield's leading players, the coaches pointed out.

The game can be summed up in one word: Pillen. He carried the ball 26 times for a total of 163 yards, four yards short of half of Lakeview's 330 total yards.

Ott's Sixth Ranking in Punting 'Not His Fault'

Wayne State's Dean Ott ranked sixth in last week's NAIA punting charts for Nebraska small colleges. But Ott's ranking isn't his fault.

"We know that Dean can kick the ball a lot farther than his 34.4-yard average," Stoltenberg admitted during Thursday's Second Guessers, "but we tell Dean to kick the ball out of bounds, aiming for inside the opponent's 10-yard line."

But when it comes to scoring, Ott doesn't take a back seat to anyone. As of last week, the Hooper native was No. One with 36 points. The 172-pound sophomore running back is one reason the Cats' offense is ranked fourth among the state's nine college football teams.

Wayne averaged 239.4 yards a game. Kearney is first with a 318.4 average, Hastings second at 267.6 and Concordia third at 252.3.

Another Wayne State player joined Ott is his No. 1 rating. Freshman receiver Maurie Mintken remained on top of his department, grabbing 12 passes for a total of 271 yards. That is about 20 yards a catch.

Besides his catching, Mintken ranked ninth in scoring with 12 points.

Three other Wildcat players listed on the information stats were Brian Moeller, Brent Moeller and Dave Miller.

Miller has a 52 per cent pass completion mark, connecting on 24 of 46 attempts with three interceptions. That mark is good enough for second in individual passing, right behind Scott Maline of Kearney who is throwing at a 61 per cent clip.

Brent Moeller was sixth in punt returns with an 8.6-yard average. The Scribner High graduate returned the ball 10 times for 86 yards.

Brian Moeller, also of Scribner, has a 2.8-yard rushing average. He's carried the ball 75 times for 210 yards or an average of 42 yards a contest.

Homecoming —

The pre-coronation program featured music by Tim Sharer and Beth Berg of Wayne, Cindy Haase of Denison, Ia., Denise Edelmeier of Omaha, Fred Ward of Omaha and Dennis Simon of Lake View, Ia. Deb Kruse of Verdigris delivered an interpretive reading, Mary Harrison of Fremont was mistress of ceremonies.

Thursday night, Berry Hall won the freshman skit contest, and Morey Hall took second.

Friday night featured a pep rally, with talks by Coach Del Stoltenberg and co-captains George Biszack and Rich Mangini.

Then the Greeks took over the Willow Bowl for their annual Olympics. Kappa Delta Gamma won the sorority championship, so crowned its favorite member, Jeanine Mohr, as Helen of Troy. Beta Sigma Psi, the fraternity winner, dubbed its favorite, Quentin Hansen, as Alexander.

Husker Meet Next Stop For X-Country

Both Wayne and Wakefield High's cross country teams are setting their sights on Wednesday's Husker Conference meet at Hooper-Logan View after the area teams finished behind Coleridge in a triangular at Wakefield.

The Trojans, behind second-place Doug Prochaska, finished second in the race with 26 points. Coleridge came out on top with 17 points. Wayne was third with 38.

Rod Meier of Coleridge had the winning time of 14:03 over the two and half mile course. Bruce Paul came in fourth for Wakefield followed by Steve Lühr at ninth and Dave Hitz at 11th.

Wayne had veteran Mark Powers finish fifth while Ken Daniels came in eighth. Tom Maier and Vince Jenness were 12th and 13th respectively.

Open House —

Honorable mention went to Tammy Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evert Hamilton of Wayne; Frances Prather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prather, and Randy Fleer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fleer of Wayne.

One hundred and five youngsters entered the contest, which was open to fourth through sixth graders from local and rural schools.

Goal: Safety First

GUN SAFETY is a topic that interested a group of Wayne area youngsters enough to join this year's hunter safety course at the National Guard Armory in Wayne. Bill Wilson is directing the three meetings — two on Mondays and one Thursdays. A total of 35 enrolled are in the course, he said. Tim Maier, left, and Robert Fleer examine one of the guns on display during the first meeting recently. The purpose of the course, Wilson said, is to give youngsters a better idea about gun safety as well as knowledge of a gun's use.

OUR HOME-TOWN ECONOMY GROWS STRONGER WITH EACH HOME-TOWN PURCHASE OR BUSINESS DEAL

You may not think much about it when you see a truck transport unloading at a home-town store, but you actually share in the profits of every business transaction in your community. You see, the growth and prosperity of any community is measured by the sum of the large and small business transactions within it. And since about one-third of the money spent within the community goes to help pay for schools, churches, protection, conveniences, and other elements of community life, home-town economy gets stronger with every purchase within it. It is good business to buy at home, where it counts over and over again!
