Local Chamber Hires Manager; Three New Directors Are Selected

Howard Witt, former director of housing at Wayne State College, is the new manager of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

Witt, 61, was hired for the post Tuesday night by the Chamber board of directors. He fills the position left vacant by the resignation of Floyd Bracken, manager for about three years until resigning recently because of ill health.

A resident of Wayne since 1938, Witt took over as Chamber manager Wednesday morning.

Witt was director of housing at Wayne State for seven and a half years before leaving that post last June. Prior to joining the college staff, he was city clerk here for six years.

He and his wife Miriam have two married children, Bill, a research mathematician with a fire manufacturing firm in Connecticut, and Virginia (Mrs. Willis Horak), a graduate assistant at Iowa University at Iowa City.

His hiring came a day after three new members were named to the Chamber's board of director following voting by mail by members.

Named to the board were Willis Meyer, farmer southeast of Wayne; Roy Hurd, owner of Wortman Auto Co., and Bill Workman, manager of Energy Systems at Wayne State College.

They will replace Marvin Dunklau, Robert McLean Sr. and Dr. J. J. Liska when they go off the board at the end of this year.

Also running for the three board openings were Larry Johnson, Steve Schumacher and Kem Swartz.

The board will meet Nov. 12 to elect officers for the coming year.

Reaching Skyward

A WORKER for the Des Moines firm in charge of erecting the huge fuel storage tank in Wayne welds a seam in the steel structure. Workmen began putting the pieces of the huge tank together on the southwest edge of the city Monday. The tank will be 40 feet in diameter, 30 feet tall when completed. It will hold more than 300,000 gallons of fuel, storage which city officials hope will permit the city's electrical generating plant to run all winter without facing fuel shortages.

1st Meeting Of SLAP Is Set Tonight

Sam Franco of Lincoln, educational coordinator for the Nebraska Highway Safety Program, will talk tonight (Thursday) during the organizational meeting of the Wayne County Selective Localized Accident Prevention (SLAP) Committee.

Franco will discuss methods local groups can use in cutting down traffic mishaps, and have with him a new publication titled "Guidebook for Community Participation in Highway Safety."

The meeting, open to the public, is scheduled for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office in Wayne at 7:30 p.m.

The group will elect officers and discuss possible safety programs which can be used throughout the county in reducing the number of traffic accidents.

On the committee are Felix Dorcey, Dean Pierson, Robert Nissen, Don Langston, Luverna Hilton, Willis Johnson, Robert Evers, Jim Thomas and Ray Butts, all of Wayne, Bob Johnson of Carroll and Dallas Schellenberg of Winside.

Similar SLAP groups are in existence in other counties in the state.

More Money Needed to Get Industry Here

More investors are needed if the goal of $150,000 is to be reached so a new industry can locate in Wayne, according to one of the men working to raise investment capital.

Wayne attorney John Addison said Wednesday that investments are continuing to come in and that the goal may be reached within the next few days.

Persons interested in investing in the industry, a Fremont firm involved in manufacturing fiberglass tubs and shower stalls, may contact Addison or several other persons involved in raising investment capital. Those men are Wayne Marsh, Phil Griese, Arnie Reeg, Larry Turner, Maurice "Red" Carr, Tom McClain, O. K. Brandstetter, Charles Thomas, LeRoy Simpson or Rowan Wiltse.

Addison has said he has a commitment from the Fremont firm to move to Wayne if the $150,000 in investments can be raised in the Wayne area.

3 Graduates Of WH Get Scholarships

Three 1972 graduates of Wayne High School have received University of Nebraska-Lincoln Upperclassmen Regents Scholarships.

The three are Elaine Lundstrom, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Max Lundstrom; Ed Bull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Bull, and Kurt Lesh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lesh, all of Wayne. All three are sophomores at NU.

Each scholarship is awarded on the basis of superior academic grades achieved at NU and covers full tuition for the 1973-74 school year.

Puzzling Problem

WAYNE YOUTHS Todd Heier, front, and Jere Morris try their luck at putting together puzzles on display in Mrs. Evelyn Hamley's fifth grade classroom during Monday night's open house at Wayne Middle School. The youngsters, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Heier and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris, were among about 350 persons who turned out for the annual event. Another picture, page eight of the first section.

ESU 1 Gets Funds for Area Survey

Educational Service Unit One and two other educational service units in Northeast Nebraska have been awarded a federal grant to survey a 22-county area to learn more about disabilities from mental retardation, cerebral palsy and epilepsy.

Harry Mills of Wakefield, ESU One administrator, said the survey will help all schools and the service units meet the new guidelines in special education under legislation passed by the last Unicameral.

Mills said ESU One will receive about $11,000 to conduct its survey, about the same amount as the other two service units will receive.

The survey in ESU One will probably begin next week, according to Mills, with the major portion completed within 60 to 90 days.

Mills said each county will have one person responsible for the survey within county boundaries.

Heading up the survey in Wayne County will be Mrs. Robert Berg of Wayne. Dixon County's survey will be under LaVerne Nelson of Wakefield, Cedar County's under Joan Hoising of Hartington.

Also in ESU One are Knox, Dakota and Thurston Counties. Sharing in the grant from the federal government are ESU Eight and 17, which cover a total of 16 counties.

Omaha Woman Latest to Win Birthday Bucks

An Omaha woman, Mrs. Connie Peppard, is the latest winner in Wayne's weekly Birthday Bucks promotion.

Mrs. Peppard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Fitch of Wayne, won $50 in the weekly giveaway last Thursday night by being the person in one of the participating stores with the birthday closest to the date drawn at random earlier.

The weekly promotion continues tonight (Thursday) when another $300 grand prize will be offered. The grand prize will go to the person in one of the stores whose birthday falls on the exact date drawn. If the grand prize goes unclaimed, the $50 consolation prize will go to the person whose birthday is closest to the winning date.

No purchases are necessary in the weekly giveaway, and all local and area residents are eligible to participate.

The winning date will be announced in stores and business places sponsoring the giveaway at 8:15 this evening.

Tumbling Classes Starting Nov. 5 At Wayne State

Tumbling and gymnastics classes for students in grades kindergarten through seven will be offered again this year beginning the week of Nov. 5.

Wayne State physical education majors Leanne and Terry McMillen along with Claudia and Everett Shepherd will conduct the four sessions at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium. The classes run 10 weeks.

The session will be once a week from 4:5 p.m. they are: Monday, kindergarten and first grade; Tuesday, fourth and fifth grades; Wednesday, second and third grades; Thursday, sixth and seventh grades.

Classes will be limited to 11 students on a first-come, first-serve basis, McMillen pointed out. Cost will be $1 per lesson with a 10-week prepayment amount of $10 for the first 10 weeks.

Expert Speaks To Members of ARC Group

Brian Lensink, executive director of the Eastern Nebraska Office of Mental Retardation at Omaha, was guest speaker at Monday night's monthly meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Association for Retarded Children.

About 30 persons turned out for the meeting, held at West Elementary School in Wayne.

Lensink is known internationally as one of the leading authorities in the area of providing proper programs for mentally retarded, and was recently the recipient of a grant that enabled him to visit the programs for the mentally retarded in Sweden.

Art Club's Original Display Cops First at Homecoming

There's quite a story behind the first-place display created by Wayne State's Art Club for homecoming.

Members of the club, who like to do original things, chose to make personifications in plaster, using eight "volunteer" members as models.

First, they acquired a Model A Ford — Dale Lessman of Wayne, the donor — as the centerpiece of this display, which would illustrate homecoming's Roaring Twenties theme.

With the car parked on the lawn of the Fine Arts Center, the artists placed their models in various positions — four of them in the car and the other four around it. Then they moved to the art department studios to re-create the poses. Now came the tough part.

The models — clad in swim suits, smeared with vaseline and covered with plastic wrappers — struck the proper position, and were covered with plaster-dipped gauze. Not all at once, but in three stages — legs, torso and head.

After the plaster hardened, the artists carefully cut the casts off, then pieced the sections together with wire and more plastered gauze.

Models for the display were

LeRoy Von Glan, Denise Fitzpatrick, DeAne Hilgert and Jerry Klaschen, the car passengers; Bill Walters, hanging onto the spare tire; Naomi Neeman and Berta Merchel, hitch-hikers, and Wandy Hedquist, sitting on a "stadium" seat near the car.

Federal Offices To Be Closed

All federal offices in Wayne and surrounding communities will be closed Monday for the national observance of Veteran's Day.

Offices which will be closed include the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation, Soil Conservation Service and Farmers Home Administration.

The post office in Wayne will provide ordinary holiday service, according to postmaster Wilbur Giese. That service will include delivery to boxes in the post office and collection of mail in collection boxes throughout the city in the late afternoon. The lobby will be open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., but there will be no rural or city mail delivery.

State, county and city employees will not observe Veteran's Day until Nov. 12.

No Monday Newspaper

Subscribers to The Wayne Herald will not receive this coming Monday issue of the newspaper.

Because post office employees are observing Veteran's Day Monday, that issue of the newspaper will not be printed since it would not be delivered to those receiving it through the mail until Tuesday.

No special holiday observance is planned in Wayne or area communities Monday. However, veterans organizations in Wayne have scheduled a parade for Nov. 11, the date permitted by certain states for observance of the national holiday.

State Senator: You Have to Pay for Good Government

"I'm afraid the people in this state are not going to get any better government unless they are willing to pay for it," said state senator John Murphy of South Sioux City during Monday's Kiwanis meeting in Wayne.

"Too many people are willing to sit back and not get involved in today's governmental policies, and as a result they're getting a bad government in terms of cost," the guest speaker noted.

Murphy labeled Nebraska's form of governmental spending as "penny wise and pound foolish" when it comes to trying to get good senators into the legislature.

"We have dedicated and capable young people in the legislature right now, but they can't afford to live in two places at the same time," he said.

Murphy was referring to several senators who move to Lincoln for the legislative session. "A young senator virtually has to pay for living in both places," he noted.

And when a situation like this arises, he cautioned, you're inviting one of two things—corruption or a very conservative legislature.

Murphy warned that often some big business interest will offer a struggling senator money to help him out and as a result, he owes someone a favor.

"It's a little different story with those older senators who do not have to worry about money problems," he went on. "They have enough money to live in Lincoln and in their home town. But in some cases, though, these senators are past their prime—what we need is new blood and ideas in the legislative body," he said.

Murphy proposed a 12-month legislative body with pay increases to $15,000. "It's impossible for one man to fully comprehend all the complications and legal tieups there are when 600 bills are introduced," he said.

"You need time to study and research the material," he pointed out.

During the senator's first year in the Unicameral, he was on three committees to study various bills introduced. "They (the committees) were interesting and did help you to study the problems, but there just isn't enough time in the 60 to 90 workdays to do a thorough job," he said.

Murphy emphasized the need for more support from local people to help in building a better state government.

"So often it is the case that businessmen are afraid to get involved or back a candidate because they think it will hurt their business. If they don't actively help, like the 40 per cent of those who do not vote, then they do not have anything to complain about when it comes to bad government," he said.

Murphy discussed Governor J. James Exon's budget, noting that if passed in the first round but that the legislature had 10 days before it would be officially okayed.

"We thought that at that time there would be enough opposition building from the outside that the senators would reject the bill before the 10 days were up," he said.

Murphy said senator Terry Carpen. See MURPHY, page 6

EXTENSION NOTES

Consumer Code of Ethics

When that person ahead of you in the store aisle slips an item into his pocket, it's costing you money and he's a shoplifter.

It is estimated that shoplifters rob about $30 per year. Some of the consumers' worst enemies are fellow consumers who increase the cost for everyone. Any losses businesses suffer from careless, thoughtless or dishonest consumers are absorbed into the "cost of doing business" and passed on to all consumers.

Dr. David J. Schwartz of Georgia State University has developed a consumer's code of ethics. It's a good code for all consumers to follow. Here it is:

1. Exhibit the kind of honesty one expects to receive from the business firm.
2. Be kind and courteous to store employees. They are not to blame for high price tags and defective merchandise.
3. Do not make unreasonable demands on a company's services.
4. Don't be a shoplifter. You and all customers pay the price eventually.
5. Don't switch price tags. It's costly and dishonest.
6. Do not be a used goods returner.
7. Pay bills when they are due.
8. Be completely honest when filling out credit and job applications. Many people overcharge and cannot pay.
9. If a clerk makes a mistake in your favor, be as quick to point it out as when the mistake is in the company's favor.
10. Follow the Golden Rule — do unto business the way you want business to do unto you.
11. Read and understand all contracts before signing them.
12. Have respect for the merchandise you handle. Damaged goods makes all items more costly for all consumers.

800 Turn Out for WSC Play

About 800 persons turned out this week for the four performances of "Of Mice and Men," the first production of the year for the Wayne State College Theatre Department.

"Of Mice and Men" takes three days from the lives of a couple of losers, Lennie and George, offers them a brief glimpse at something called hope, and quickly crushes them back into the despair they came from. The emotions turned loose by the John Steinbeck imagination in this 1937 story have been experienced by every man at some time and for still others are a way of life.

Lennie, who is something less than bright, and George, his friend and protector, are a couple of wandering ranch hands making their way toward a new job somewhere in a northern California valley. We are led to believe that Lennie has done "something bad" which forced the pair to leave their former jobs.

The first scene takes place on the banks of the Salinas River where the two are spending the night and discussing their dream for the future—a picture which includes a place of their own and rabbits for Lennie to pet.

It was disconcerting to find so much excitement in this first scene between Lennie and George, who had supposedly dreamed this same fantasy countless times. Both Ed Havlic, who played George, and Martin Torrey, who portrayed Lennie, seemed intent on filling every moment with a word or action, forgetting the poignance of silence.

In the next scene they are at the ranch, settling in the bunk house where they meet the boss, the rest of the ranch hands, the boss's son and his wife.

Joe Manley, as Slim, the main hand, stood out because of his thorough adaptation to his role, and like Carlson, played by Noel Rennerfeldt, and Whit, played by John Stark, did not seem to be stumbling over his own words in his race to get through his lines. Dave Borron, as the boss, was good, and Steve Placek, playing Crooks, the crippled negro, who makes his appearance later was exceptional.

Some scenes with Curley the boss's son, played by Ron Kluck, and Curley's wife, portrayed by Terri O'Donnell, were not quite credible and brought laughs when there should have been none.

As the story progresses, Lennie is goaded on by Curley's wife, becomes excited and frightened and kills her.

The body is discovered by an older ranch hand, Candy, played by John Pigg, who moves the audience to compassion with his realization that his own re-kindled dreams have died with the woman. The scene was one of the best in the play.

The boss, Candy and the boys, decide to hunt the fleeing Lennie. Their purpose is as obvious as the guns they carry. It is Lennie's friend, George, though, who finds him and who is faced with the only possible solution. Knowing he cannot have his friend, who could never comprehend such an action, committed to an institution, he stands behind him, recreating for the final time the dream of a place of their own before he pulls the trigger of the gun which ends those dreams.

The sets, particularly the bunk house and barn, were exceptionally realistic, as were costumes and most of the sound effects. Staging was so natural so as not to be noticeable.

The play was directed by Dr. Helen J. Russell, assisted by Mike Carruthers. Technical supervisors were Mr. and Mrs. Ron Wachholtz.

The show would seem to be one of the more difficult endeavors, dealing as it does almost strictly with emotion, and if the talent displayed in this first production is any indication, it should be a pretty good season.

Election Held

At Homemakers

Meet Thursday

New officers elected at the Thursday meeting of the Sunny Homemakers Club are Mrs. Edward Thies, president; Mrs. Fred Heier, vice president; Mrs. Alvin Reeg, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Gilbert Dangberg, news reporter.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Fred Heier with nine members and three guests, Mrs. Darrell Heier, Mrs. Martha Heier and Mrs. Howard Flier.

The birthday song honored Mrs. Emil Dangberg and Mrs. Albert Gamble.

Members are each asked to bring a 50c card prize to the Nov. 8 meeting which will be in the home of Mrs. Alvin Reeg. Mrs. Henry Reeg will have charge of entertainment.

7 p.m. rites Oct. 6 at the Dixon United Methodist Church. Mrs. Pinkelman, nee Melva R. Knoell, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Knoell of Dixon.

The bridegroom is a route salesman for Gillette Dairy in Hartington. The couple took a wedding trip to the southern states and are making their first home in Hartington.

The Rev. A. Ramos of Dixon officiated at the double ring ceremony and Eunice Diederich of Concord sang "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Mildred Petersen of Hinton, Ia.

Honor attendants for the couple were Vickie Hirschert of Dixon and Randall Pinkelman of Hartington. Karla Stolze of South Sioux City was flower girl and candlelighters were Lori Pinkelman of Hartington and Myla Petersen of Hinton, Ia. Ring bearer was Greg Potter of Ewing.

Earl W. Pinkelman of Plainville and Donald Knoell Jr., of Glenwood, Ia., were ushers.

For her wedding the bride chose a princess-style floor-length gown of white polyester trimmed in lace and a shoulder length veil. She carried golden bronze pompons. Miss Hirschert wore a floor-length frock, also in princess style, of rust crepe trimmed in white lace. The bride's mother wore a formal length dress in tan and brown.

In charge of registering guests and arranging gifts were Mrs. Delbert Potter of Ewing, Sandra Hirschert of Dixon, Donna Knoell of Omaha and Mrs. Donald Knoell of Plattsmouth. Mr. and

Recital Planned Velma Price Friday Speaker Church To Honor

The public is invited to attend an organ recital at Christ Lutheran Church in Norfolk next Thursday by Mrs. Douglas Hankins of Stanton.

Mrs. Hankins, who has studied with the late Mrs. Charles F. Haque and Martin Barlow of Denver, Colo., has taken private instructions from Antony Garlick, associate professor of music at Wayne State College, since 1971.

The performance, to begin at 8 p.m., will include such pieces as "Liturgical Improvisation" by George Oldroyd, and "Praeludium et Fuga in E Minor" by Bach.

Guest speaker at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Wayne Federated Woman's Club was Mrs. Velma Price, editor of the Newman Grove newspaper, whose topic was "Freedom of the Press."

President Mrs. Mathilde Harms reported on the Nov. 10 District III convention which she, Mrs. Lucille Larson and Goldie Leonard had attended as delegates. Mrs. Vernon Predohl of Wayne was elected District president at that meeting.

A musical program was provided by the Kitchen Klatterette band, accompanied by Mrs. Alfred Morris. Mrs. Harms read "The Ten Commandments of Human Relations."

Mrs. Merton Hilton will speak to the group at their Oct. 26 meeting. Her subject will be "A Day in Court."

Friendly Neighbors Meet Friday Evening

Friendly Neighbor Club members met Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Harvey Echtenkamp to play cards. Prizes went to Mrs. Gilbert Kraalman, Irene Geewe, Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Harder, Ted Fuoss and Amos Echtenkamp.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Echtenkamp. Lydia Weiershauer will host the Nov. 2 meeting.

Open House Planned

Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobsen of Wisner will mark their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, Oct. 28, with an open house reception at St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Wisner. All friends and relatives are invited to attend the 2 to 4 p.m. event. No other invitations will be issued.

Hosting the event will be the couple's children, Russell Jacobsen of Lodi, Calif.; Mrs. Herb Bender of Ferguson, Mo.; Mrs. Eldon Lorenzen of Lyons and Robert and Eugene Jacobsen and Mrs. Harvey Reimers, all of Wisner.

R EATING BETWEEN MEALS CAN HELP PREVENT OBESITY

What a headline! Some of you will probably doubt this statement. But experiments have shown that more weight was gained in eating a given amount of food in 3 meals a day than if this same amount of food was nibbled at, all day long. Thus it was concluded that people should eat more meals at shorter intervals. This doesn't mean you can eat cake and ice cream all day. A sensible choice of foods is still needed.

By Bob Bartlett

IT MAY BE a little early to talk about basketball, but the Wayne County Jaycees don't think so.

The Jaycees are planning a girls basketball game at the city auditorium on Nov. 8. Now don't get the idea that this is just going to be another girls basketball game. On the contrary.

This game will feature a group of semi-professional girls versus what JC President Dale Preston calls "The Wayne All-Stars."

"We are not sure who will play on the Wayne team," Preston added, "but we hope that we can get members from the city council, high school faculty, both the college and high school teams and JCs." Preston feels the All-Stars should have quite a few players ready for the match-up with the Minnesota team. They're not going to be an easy team to beat by any means, he pointed out.

The girls have a name that is a little misleading — the Arkansas Gems. In the following weeks, Preston hopes to have more information about the girls team and who will be representing the city of Wayne in the clash.

WHILE ON THE subject of winter sports, Wayne State's new head wrestling coach, Marlin Haayer, got a chance to give his sport a plug during last week's Second Guessers' meeting.

Haayer handed out the wrestling slates for his Cats. But one striking difference in the schedule is the lack of many home games.

Instead of increasing from last year's five home meets, the Cats only have four. "This year was the University of Nebraska-Omaha's turn to come here," said athletic director LeRoy Simpson, "but they decided to drop us, leaving us with four home meets."

Simpson explained that another reason for the limited home matches was the uncertainty of having a wrestling coach. "I wasn't sure we would have a head wrestling coach so I held off in signing up more home meets."

Next year, there should be more meets here, he went on, with several triangulars scheduled.

LAST MONDAY'S editorial on Wayne High's purchasing new bleachers for the high school gym about summed up my feelings.

Yes, it would be nice to have home basketball and wrestling matches at the high school. But as everyone knows, it would cost tax money. According to some reports, the bleachers would cost anywhere from $70,000 to $300,000.

In the future it wouldn't be a bad idea to have bleachers in the gym. Both coaches and players agree a home court is conducive to better team playing.

Some may say that Wayne State's floor could be considered a home court for the Blue Devils, but you have to take in consideration that Wayne High only plays home games there and does not practice at Rice Auditorium. As a result, playing at the auditorium can produce about the same feeling as playing an away game.

WSC Puts NCC Title on Line

If it was hard to predict the Wayne State-St. Cloud State football outcome last week, the next Wayne skirmish gives shudders to any prophet.

Wayne will host Kearney State at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Memorial Stadium — the final home game this year.

Consider what happened last Saturday. Wayne's unbeaten Wildcats played that way with a power-packed 41-14 decision over St. Cloud. Meanwhile, in another homecoming game down at Peru, the host Bobcats humiliated Kearney, 28-0.

Statistically, the victors posted similar figures. Wayne limited St. Cloud to 34 yards rushing, and Peru allowed Kearney 44. St. Cloud passed for 176 yards.

Statistically, the victors posted similar figures. Wayne limited St. Cloud to 34 yards rushing, and Peru allowed Kearney 44. St. Cloud passed for 176 yards.

Kearney for 168. In rushing the winners were devastating — Wayne with a season-best 222 yards while Peru romped 333. However, Wayne also had its best passing day on 181 yards for a total offense of 403 — highest in three years. Peru totaled 391.

So how do you figure Wayne against Kearney, a team that most observers thought in pre-season would dominate Nebraska collegiate football?

The Wildcats have momentum going, with steadily improving offense to match a formidable defense. On the other hand, Kearney's Antelopes understandably will be out to save their pride — not to mention trying to save at least a share of the Nebraska College Conference title.

Kearney now is 1-1 in NCC and 4-2 overall while Wayne owns a single conference victory (over Chadron) in a 5-0-1 campaign. After Kearney, the Wildcats will go to Peru Oct. 27.

Wins in both of those would give Wayne its third conference crown in four years. The Wildcats played like champs in mastering St. Cloud. The offensive line plowed wide roads for runners, principally tailback Brian Moeller, who totaled 128 yards on 23 hauls. He now has a 338-yard season and is closing the gap on total offense leader Dave Miller, whose passing accounts for 325 of his 356 yards.

for 11 yards and to split end Maurie Mintken for 48. Fullback Kirk Park got his score of the season with a one-yard plunge soon after defensive back Shawn Keenan intercepted a St. Cloud pass.

Finally, late in the fourth quarter when Wayne led by 27-14, Coach Del Stofenber sent in frosh quarterback Brad Hahn and a sub crew. It wasn't long until Hahn passed 24 yards to Randy Slaybaugh in the end zone. Capping the day's work, senior Rich Mangiameli kicked his fifth point in six tries — his 16th on 19 for the year.

St. Cloud gained both its touchdowns on passes to Harry Wellege, for 18 yards in the second quarter and for 15 in the third. Judd Fremming kicked the points.

West Point CC Squeaks Past Wayne Reserves

A fumble on their own 10-yard line cost the Wayne High reserves their first loss of the season Monday night when the host West Point Central Catholic club scored a last quarter touchdown to nip the locals, 21-20.

The reserves, after staying perfect through four games, had an impressive start with Rob Mitchell taking the opening kickoff 80 yards for a 6-0 lead. The two-point PAT failed.

The Blue Devils struck again in the following quarter when quarterback Paul Mallette hit Dave Hix for a nine-yard TD play. Steve Brummels took a pass into the endzone for a 14-0 game.

After being down, 14-6 at the half, West Point's quarterback dropped back to pass only to find his receivers covered. He then scooted 55 yards for a tie ball game after three quarters.

The locals managed to get the lead back on a one-yard quarterback sneak in the fourth stanza, but the two-point try missed.

Mitchell led rushers with a total of 101 yards. For the defense, Gary Hansen had 18 drops while Kevin Jech and Steve Brandt tied at 14 apiece.

Wayne, Wakefield Back Winning

Two area Husker Conference girls volleyball teams are starting to pick up winning momentum as they head into the final week of season play.

Wayne and Wakefield each took varsity matches Tuesday night in impressive victories. The locals finished off Hartington Cedar Catholic in three sets, 15-1, 4-15 and 16-14 to make their record 3-4.

"We really looked good," said coach Mavis Davon. "We're starting to play as a team."

The same holds true for coach Ernie Kovar's Wakefield club, which Monday night polished off Lyons, 15-7, 13-15 and 15-5, before knocking off Stanton

Tuesday night, 15-11 and 15-4. That gave the club a 7-3 mark with two games remaining after Wednesday's match with Winside.

"Our club is starting to take control of the games," Kovar pointed out. "We've been getting some pretty good setups and a lot of good performances from the team as a whole."

Wakefield will take on Oakland Monday at home before traveling to Hartington Cedar Catholic Tuesday to round out season play. Wayne's last stop will be at Wisner Pilger Tuesday before both area teams head into Husker Conference action starting Oct. 29.

In reserve and freshmen action, Wayne's C team lost its first match of the year in three sets. The freshmen won the first set 15-3 but stumbled in the last two, 13-15 and 11-15, for a 6-1 mark.

The reserves, also were victimized. Hartington CC's girls won two straight, 2-15 and 6-15, to give the locals a 4-3 mark.

The Wakefield reserves boosted their mark to 5-3 with wins over Lyons and Stanton. Lori Magnuson led the club with 16 total serve points in the 15-8 and 16-14 conquest over Stanton. She had 12 serve points alone in that second set.

Wakefield's reserves also handed Lyons a two-set loss, 15-10 and 15-12. The freshmen beat Stanton in their only contest of the two nights, 9-15, 15-12 and 15-10.

WSC Volleyball

Wayne State's girls volleyball team will host Platte College Friday at 6 p.m. before facing Kearney, Northeastern Technical Community College of Norfolk and College of St. Mary's of Omaha during a quadrangular Saturday at 1 p.m. in Rice Auditorium.

In other area action, Laurel of the Northeast Nebraska Activity Conference, kept on the winning track with two 15-10 wins over Bloomfield. The varsity crew now has a 4-1 mark. Coach Susan Beach pointed out that Carol Stark, Barb Hirschman and Julie Wallin played well.

The reserves, however, lost their fifth straight, 5-15 and 2-15 for an 0-5 record.

Laurel continues its varsity action for several weeks before entering the NENAC meet at Pierce Nov. 5-6.

Allen played Newcastle at home but no results were available.

Winside Bombs Emerson, 38-0

Winside's reserve football team put on one of its best performances of the season Tuesday night, demolishing Emerson Hubbard, 38-0.

It was the third win against one defeat for coach Carter "Cap" Peterson's club, which held a 24-0 halftime lead.

Quarterback Tyler Frevert led the team with a 44-yard TD run as well as throwing one touchdown strike to Bob Bowers.

Other six-pointers came on runs by Paul Barge and Lynn Langenberg while Brad Langenberg intercepted one Emerson pass for another touchdown.

Brian Dunklau accounted for three of Winside's four two-point PAT attempts; Monte Pfeiffer got the other.

Winside's offense mustered a total of 265 yards while the defense held the visitors to 28. Monday Winside visits Wausa.

In junior high action, Emerson-Hubbard won that match, 42-0, to give the area club its second loss in as many outings.

Emerson Reserves Beat Wakefield

Wakefield High reserves' first football game of the season turned out to be their first loss in about three years Monday night as host Emerson-Hubbard nipped the Trojans, 6-3.

"Our game was just like the Nebraska-Missouri contest," said coach Joe Coble. "We won the battle of statistics and fumbles."

Several times the Trojans were close to scoring, but fumbles and penalties stopped the area club short.

It wasn't until the middle of the second half that Wakefield, put three points on the board via Al Jensen's field goal from the 22-yard line. Emerson-Hubbard crossed the goal line early in the third period on a play covering 65 yards. The PAT failed.

Wakefield's next scheduled game is Oct. 29 in a home match against Lyons.

MARTY HANSEN

ROD HOOPS

Athlete Of The Week

On most teams you can find one outstanding runner who can break the 100-yard mark in a single football game.

But Wayne High football coach Al Hansen has two such workhorses that consistently go over the 100-yard rushing mark.

Juniors Rod Hoops and Marty Hansen share this week's Athlete of the Week award after rushing for a total of 248 of the team's 280 yards Friday night against Madison.

Hoops led with 137 yards in 21 carries; Hansen was close behind with 111 yards in 15 rushes.

"Both players are an integral part of our team," coach Hansen pointed out, noting that Hoops has shown improvement throughout the season. That statement in itself is a complement worth mentioning. But what Hansen didn't point out is that this is the first year the 184-pound running back has played offense full-time. Last year Hoops played defensive lineman.

Son of Mrs. Gladys Hoops of Wayne, he scored one of Wayne's five TDs in a 34-8 whipping of Madison.

Hansen, who is more familiar with the offensive game, may have found his calling when the coach, who happens to be his father, put him at the running back slot.

Last year and part of this season the 160-pound player ran the Wayne offense. This year senior Bill Schwartz took over quarterbacking duties, leaving Hansen to run back kickoffs and add needed pass receivers to Wayne's aerial game.

Division Contenders

A couple of changes in the league races took place last weekend in the Lewis and Clark and Northeast Nebraska Activities Conferences.

Randolph, of the NE league, jumped up from its third-place spot last week to tie with Plainview, for first in the nine-team conference.

The Cardinals moved ahead of Neligh, last week's leader, after defeating the Warriors, 15-6. Randolph now is 4-0 in the conference and undefeated in six starts.

The Pirates, who toppled Stanton 27-18, also are 4-0 in conference play while holding a 5-0 overall mark. This Friday the teams may decide who is No. one when they collide at Randolph.

In the Lewis and Clark league, Allen lost its first-place spot in the Lewis division to an up-and-coming Newcastle club, 19-7.

The Red Raiders are 1-0-1 in the league with its only tie going to Ponca. Allen, meanwhile, is 3-1 for second in its half.

The Eagles still have a chance to take its side if two victories take place: Walthill upends Newcastle this Friday at Newcastle and Allen beats the Blue Jays in the team's last match Nov. 2 at Walthill.

CARS COLLIDE

A car driven by Barbara Early of O'Neill struck the rear end of another vehicle operated by David Miller of Savana, Ill., while stopped for traffic near 13th and Lincoln about 9 p.m. Thursday.

About the same time Thursday another two-car accident occurred close to Sixth and Main. Sandra Ekberg of rural Wayne hit the rear end of a car driven by David Johnson of Battle Creek, Ia.

WINDOWS BROKEN

Two car windows were reportedly damaged by BB shot about 5 p.m. Friday. The cars are owned by Peggy Nance, 502 W. Fifth, and Mrs. George Bartels, 921 Walnut.

About 8:45 a.m. Saturday two cars collided in a driveway entrance close to Sixth and Main. William Schwartz of 710 Nebraska said the sun blinded him when he entered the driveway and he hit a car driven by Warren Tiedke of 712 Windom.

In that same area at 8:30 p.m. Saturday a car driven by Sharon Franzen of rural Wayne hit the rear end of a car operated by Bradley Carlson of rural Wakefield while he was stopped in a traffic lane.

Laurel Students Get Days Off

There will be no school at Laurel today (Thursday) or on Oct. 25 or 26.

Open house has been scheduled for 7 p.m. next Wednesday, Oct. 24.

Teachers will be attending a meeting at South Sioux City today, and Oct. 25-26 will be the annual Nebraska State Education Association convention in Wayne.

National School Studios will be at the Laurel school Tuesday to take individual student pictures.

It is unlawful in Nebraska to shoot at a game bird from a vehicle either from a road or on private property. The only exception is that a handicapped person may hunt from a vehicle on private property under a special permit.

Funeral Home Buys Carroll Church

Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church in Carroll has been sold to Hiscox-Schumacher funeral home in Randolph.

According to Steve Schumacher of the local funeral home the Wayne and Randolph firms intend to merge and remodel the building into a funeral chapel.

The new firm will be named Hiscox-Schumacher-Johnson funeral chapel of Carroll.

In the spring of this year, Carroll parishioners learned that their church would have to close down due to lack of financial support.

The letter "S" was formed from the Egyptian hieroglyphic "se" meaning a "goose," whose shape was outlined in it.

Teams Take on Roll of Spoiler

By BOB BARTLETT

Two area high school football teams will be taking on the role of spoiler Friday as they battle league-contending teams in the Husker and Northeast Nebraska Activities Conferences.

Wakefield, now out of the running for the top spot in the West Husker, will try to knock off Stanton at the Trojans' field.

Last week coach John Torczon's club, dropped its third game, making its conference record 1-3 (2-3 overall).

Stanton, 2-0-1 in the West half, is only one game behind the Wayne Blue Devils in the league race. The Mustangs suffered their first loss Friday at the hands of NENAC opponent Plainview, 27-18.

The loss did not hurt the team in the Husker standings but may give Torczon's club a little incentive to knock off the Mustangs. However, I look for Stanton to get back in winning form by taking this one.

Wayne ventures to Columbus Lakeview to continue its drive to stay alive in the West Husker race.

Lakeview, tied with Stanton for second place, can move up in the standings by beating the Blue Devils. But I look for Al Hansen's running Devil crew to trip Lakeview and remain on top in the loop.

So far my record stands at 15-7, with four of the five teams picked winning their matches Friday. Although that's not quite 70 per cent, there's a good chance for it to improve this week.

Horned Owl Off Limits

Most Nebraska outdoorsmen are aware that all hawks and eagles are protected by state and federal law, but some may not realize that this also applies to the great horned owl.

Early this year, federal regulations granted this bird protection, and a bill was enacted in the Unicameral to the same effect.

The great horned owl has been tagged a villain and given the reputation of a poultry thief. While individual birds may grab a chicken now and then, the species, as a whole, provides a great service in keeping rodent populations down, says the Game and Parks Commission.

Regulations allow the owls to be shot or trapped, but only with a special permit issued by the Commission and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in response to depredation.

It is unlawful in Nebraska to hunt on private land without permission of the owner or his agent. Only exception is land in the cropland adjustment program and posted with signs allowing public access.

State's Banks Top Farm Lenders

Nebraska banks were providing farmers with more credit and other financial services than any other lenders at the beginning of this year, according to Harold Hein, president of State National Bank in Wayne, who represents the Nebraska Bankers Association as Wayne County representative.

Based on the 32nd annual farm lending summary of the Agricultural Bankers Division of the American Bankers Association (ABA), Hein reported that at the beginning of the year, Nebraska banks were helping farmers with $1.11 billion in loans, 15 per cent more than a year previous. This total included $1.68 billion in production loans and $42 million in farm mortgages. At the same time, $262 million in farm loans was held by life insurance companies, $279 million by Federal Land Banks, $267 million by Production Credit Associations and $17 million in nonreal estate loans, plus $8 billion in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration.

About 79 per cent of the production credit extended by lending institutions to Nebraska farmers came from banks, Hein said.

Hein said, "bankers in Nebraska are conscious of the large capital investments required in agriculture today and are making a concerted effort through improved lending programs to meet these changing credit demands of the state's farmers."

Hein stressed the importance of farmers and bankers working closely together to improve farm financial arrangements. He reported that almost nine out of 10 insured banks throughout the country had agricultural loans outstanding, with 98 per cent of the banks in Nebraska extending credit to farm people.

ter made a verbal agreement with the governor to round up enough votes to pass the budget in return for the governor's endorsing Hiram Scott College near Scottsbluff as part of the university system.

"But Exon pulled the rug from under Carpenter when the budget was okayed and Exon refused to allow the college to become a part of the university," Murphy smiled.

Murphy concluded his talks with a discussion period after Kiwanis president Harland Pankratz announced that board member Gene Bigelow was elected as the new president-elect, replacing Dale Gutshall.

As a result, two new board members will have to be elected at next Monday's meeting—one to take over for Bigelow and the other to replace Irv Brandt, who has asked for a leave of absence.

Kiwanians also were reminded that they will march in the Veteran's Day parade Nov. 11.

New Money Orders Are Available at PO

A new type of money order is now available at the Wayne post office, reports postmaster Wilbur Giese.

The new money orders, which became available Saturday, can be made out in denominations up to $300, three times as high as the previous money orders went to, Giese noted.

The fee remains the same, however, costing 40 cents for any figure from $50 to $300. Money orders up to $10 cost 25 cents, while money orders from $10 to $50 cost 35 cents.

Giese said the new money orders are made out similar to the way credit cards are used in service stations and stores. A copy of the complete money order rather than a stub is returned to the person after one has been filled out, he said.

Special thanks to our children and their families for hosting the open house. Thanks to all who helped in making it such a memorable occasion. Mr and Mrs. Arthur C Mann. o18

WE WISH TO THANK each and everyone who remembered Ernrd while he was in the Veterans' Hospital at Omaha. The many cards and letters and visits from relatives and friends and also Rev. Peterson's visit were very much appreciated. It helps so much when one is in a hospital. Mr and Mrs. Ernrd Allvin. o18

I WISH TO THANK Dr. Matson and the nurses at the Wayne Hospital for their wonderful care, and all my friends who visited and sent cards while I was there. Elmer Holst. o18

SINCERE THANKS to our relatives and friends for the cards, memorials, beautiful floral tributes and food in the loss of our beloved father, grandpa and great grandpa. We extend grateful thanks to Pastor Johnson for the many visits and comforting message, and to the ladies who served lunch at the church. A special thanks to Dr. Coe and the hospital staff, Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Johnson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson and family. o18

Two Guests Attend Ladies Aid Meet

Thirteen members of St. Paul's Ladies Aid met Thursday with Mrs. Wilbur Utecht and Mrs. Bill Hansen, hostesses. Guests were Mrs. Irene Walter and Mrs. Max Anderson.

Pastor Binger led devotions and conducted the study, "Guidance in Grief." Mrs. Arvid Samuelson gave a report on the Lutheran Family and Social Services Auxiliary meeting held in Fremont Sept. 20. Mrs. Edward Krusemark reported on the LWML zone rally Oct. 10 at St. Paul's, Concord. Pastor Binger led the Christian Growth lesson, "The Flood."

The birthday hymn was sung for Mrs. Merlin Greve, Mrs. Melvin Wilson, Mrs. Emil Tarnow and Mrs. Wilbur Utecht. The anniversaries of Mrs. Tarnow and Mrs. Edward Krusemark were also observed.

Next meeting is Nov. 8 with Mrs. Ed Krusemark and Mrs. Eugene Helgren, hostesses.

Open House Activities

Scheduled at Laurel

Open house for the Laurel Concord schools will be held at Laurel Wednesday evening of next week in conjunction with American Education Week.

According to high school principal Steve Saum, a general meeting is scheduled at the Laurel High School gym for 7 p.m. to familiarize parents with changes in the school system this year. Teachers will be introduced at this time and parents will have an opportunity to tour the schools and visit classrooms later. Members of the student council will serve as guides for the open house from 7 to 9 p.m.

He is Bruce Ring, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ring.

He has received a $960 University of Nebraska alumni association scholarship and a $200 Dewolf Scholarship. Both are based on academic achievement.

A 1970 graduate of Wayne High School, Ring is in his first of three years at the NU College of Medicine at Omaha. He has completed three years at NU's Lincoln campus.

He was one of 15 UNL students to receive Dewolf Scholarships and one of four or five students at the medicine school in Omaha to receive alumni association scholarships.

Local Man Attending Conference in Utah

Dr. Aaron Butler of Wayne is attending a conference of deans of colleges and universities of the mountains and plains area at Logan, Utah, this week.

High on the agenda is an analysis of enrollment trends in higher education this fall, with special attention to junior colleges and schools of business administration.

While the group represents state colleges universities, the plight of the private school also will receive attention.

Dr. Butler is an educational and management consultant in Kansas City while maintaining residence in Wayne where his family resides.

OBITUARIES

George Derry
Former Wayne resident, George (Duke) Derry, died Friday in a plane accident near Los Angeles, Calif. Mr. Derry was a resident of Long Beach, Calif.

Deo Isom
Funeral services for Deo Isom, 82, of Concord, are set for 2 p.m. today (Thursday) at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, east of Concord. The Rev. H. K. Niermann will officiate.
He died Tuesday at the Pender Community Hospital. He was born June 6, 1891 on a farm five miles east of Concord and had farmed in the Dixon and Concord area until retiring and moving into Concord.
Survivors include his widow, Eliza; one daughter, Mrs. Noel (Beatrice) Isom of Dixon; two sisters, Mrs. Rue (Lena) Moore of Ash Flat, Ark. and Mrs. Irma Woodward of Concord, and four grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.
Preceding him in death were one son, Donald, and two brothers, Denny and Ralph.

Inga Thompson
The Rev. Doniver Peterson officiated at funeral rites Tuesday at 2 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wayne, for Inga Thompson of Wayne. She died Sunday at the Wayne Hospital at the age of 88 years.
Pallbearers were Raymond Larsen, Leland Thompson, Harvey Beck, Clarence Beck, Paul Baier and Hobart Hunter. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.
Inga Thompson, daughter of Hans and Karen Frydenlung Madsen, was born in Denmark Jan. 4, 1885. She came to the United States in 1892. She attended Wayne Normal College and taught in Wayne County schools for several years.
On May 26, 1909 she was united in marriage to Erick Thompson of Wakefield. The couple lived southeast of Wayne, until 1947 when they moved into Wayne.
She was preceded in death by her husband, three brothers and four sisters. Survivors include one son, Dale of Wayne, and two sisters, Doris Madsen of Wayne and Carrie Thompson of Sturgis, S. D.

Housecleaning Time at the Courthouse

THE DUST FLEW last week in the attic of the Wayne County courthouse as two men from Lincoln helped county officials destroy old records no longer needed in order to make room for those that continue to pile up year after year. One of the men, William Ptacek, analyst for the state records management division, piles old records into the arms of treasurer Leon Meyer in one of the dimly lighted vaults in the top of the courthouse.

Ptacek, who described himself as the "destroyer" and State Historical Society employee David Johnson as the "saver," said some of the records found dated as far back as 1873. Only records no longer needed were destroyed — tossed out of the tiny attic windows into a truck far below for the trip to the landfill. Others were taken to Lincoln for microfilming before being returned to the county.

The problem exists, so let's fix it before someone gets killed

Persons who drive on the county road two miles north of Wayne and three east are urged to use extreme caution. The road is so badly eaten away on the north side — and so poorly marked with a warning — that it could easily cause a serious accident.

According to Wayne County clerk Norris Weible, the maintenance of the road, which separates Wayne and Dixon Counties, is the responsibility of Chicago & North Western Railroad since the stretch of road which has caved away is in the railroad's right of way.

That may or may not be true, but we think officials of both counties should make every effort to eliminate the problem — to the point of doing it themselves if that is necessary.

Right now the road is no more than 15 or 16 feet wide where the north portion has caved away. Somebody has dumped an old car body into the hole, either in an attempt to slow erosion or get rid of the unsightly junker. The car is almost completely hidden from view from the road.

There is an iron stake on the side of the road — but it is so close to the hole and several feet off in marking the danger point that it is next to useless. At night it must be almost impossible to see.

Something needs to be done about the problem. And it needs to be done today. Not tomorrow.

OBSERVATIONS

Guests editorials

'Waste not a watt!'

As winter approaches and we enter into another heating season, we are all very concerned about ENERGY — energy supplies, energy availabilities, energy costs, and most important, energy management. Only through wise and prudent energy management will we be able to do anything to control or reduce our ever-growing energy demands.

As depicted on our cover, it behooves each of us to "measure" our energy use efficiency. So doing will help us properly manage the energy we use. Electric energy is the basic energy of our society, the lifeblood of modern living, industry and business, farming and living, all depend on it — day in and day out.

It greatly disturbs us, however, when we observe how wasteful we have become in our uses of electric energy.

Such waste is senseless — especially waste of our natural resources, which are meant to be used wisely by man, and certainly not wastefully. We are told we waste as much as 15 per cent of the electric energy we pay for. We waste it through worn-out or improper wiring, poorly maintained equipment, careless housekeeping habits, improper selection and placement of appliances, and often, through just plain carelessness or thoughtlessness.

One area where all of us can conserve a lot of natural resource energy is in the heating of our home and livestock poultry housing structures. Adequate insulation, coupled with properly weatherstripped storm windows and storm doors and wisely selected control units will reduce energy needed for heating by sizable amounts. This is true regardless of the energy source for the heating equipment being used.

We maintain that a continued increase in the availability of electric energy is the key to both economic growth and a better quality of life for all concerned. We, therefore, encourage use of all the energy needed to do farm chores and to provide pleasant and healthful living for your family. But use it prudently — it is precious, so waste not a watt!

From Electricity on the Farm.

Energy is short . . . but talk isn't

Capital News

LINCOLN — There have been shortages of everything connected with the energy crisis — except talk. The state held a task force meeting recently at which government and industry officials discussed the shortages facing Nebraska with the fall grain-drying and winter heating seasons ahead.

Early this week, representatives from 15 states gathered for a similar session under the sponsorship of the Midwest Governors' Conference.

The situation seems to boil down to this:

—Propane supplies are going to be especially tight and the federal allocation program won't prevent a shortage, just help make sure that what's available is spread equitably.

—Consistently drippy skies during early October have complicated an already difficult situation by forcing delays in harvest and requiring additional drying of a wet crop. The longer harvesting is put off the more it will overlap with the home heating season, putting a two-way tug on propane.

—The brighter side includes reports that there are additional propane storage facilities available this year, easing problems which developed last year when there wasn't enough room to store propane even when it was available from the wellhead.

—Power generating plants apparently have adequate backup supplies to get them through the winter; assuming there isn't a lengthy spell of abnormally cold weather. Most plants have contracts which allow gas companies to interrupt natural gas service when demands are high, forcing power districts to use oil.

—There haven't been any reports yet of hospitals or schools in desperate fuel straits, but that could change, experts say, if the winter is colder than usual. Reports from Washington indicate federal officials believe school would be an expendable in the case of a fuel crisis, with hospitals and some industrial operations holding higher priority.

—Diesel fuel is scarce, but latest reports indicate that there should be enough to drive cornpickers and combines through the fields this fall.

—Truckers, however, are having plenty of problems.

—Gasoline for cars continues to be in short supply, but there hasn't been a hue and cry for rationing.

Agnew Shocks Nebraskans

The words "surprise" and "shock" were common last week as Nebraska politicians reacted to Spiro Agnew's resignation as vice president.

U.S. Gov. Frank Marshall, a Republican, said the announcement struck him "like a kick in the stomach."

"This is a complete surprise," GOP State Chairman Bill Barrett of Lexington said.

"I was greatly surprised," former Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said from Washington where he serves as federal highway administrator, a job he got partially through patronage by his old friend Agnew.

Other comments — including those from Democratic Gov. J. J. Exon — were along the same lines.

Exon was among those who wondered about the effect of Agnew's resignation on Americans' feelings about their political system.

Tiemann, Exon's predecessor as Nebraska's chief executive, said he hoped the public realizes that difficulties being experienced by some politicians doesn't mean that the system has gone sour. GOP Chairman Barrett said the nation must "grow in trust internally."

UNO Is 'Big Gainer'

Omaha legislators have relieved their city of the responsibility of financing a local university and outstates have found they haven't suffered as much budget damage as they expected.

The Lincoln campus of the University of Nebraska, however, hasn't received as much financial support as it might have.

Those are among the conclusions reached recently by Prof. Carroll McKibbin, a UNL political scientist, in a study of politics and its effect on higher education in Nebraska.

McKibbin zeroed in on the 1968 merger of the former Municipal University of Omaha into the NU system.

The professor, writing in a national publication, said Lincoln senators agreed to support the merger because they foresaw political power through cooperation from Omahans. That, McKibbin said, hasn't come about.

What has happened, he wrote in the Bulletin of the American Association of University Professors, is major improvements in the physical plant, improvement in faculty salaries and reduction in teaching loads at Omaha, without corresponding improvements at Lincoln.

McKibbin says the decreasing budgets for the state colleges were the result of declining enrollments, not pressure on the legislators from Omaha.

Thank you for buying my calf'

Dear Editor:
I would like to say thank you for The Wayne Herald for buying my calf at the annual 4-H sale.

CARROLL

GREG OWENS

Thanks for help in Chest drive'

We wish to thank all of the captains and workers who gave their time and effort to make this year's Community Chest fund drive a success.

A special thank you goes to Don Wightman and Cal Comstock for their fine job in serving as co-chairmen of the 1973 fund drive. Also, we want to express our appreciation to Wayne State College for letting us use the Birch Room. Broughton Foods for furnishing the workers' breakfast and Clete Sharer for painting a new sign which shows the progress of the campaign.

Last, but not least, we would like to sincerely thank everyone who donated to this very worthy cause.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS, WAYNE COMMUNITY CHEST

From Nebraska Municipal Review.

Serve, but don't donate

"We want to retain local control." "Government at the local level is the most efficient." "When our tax money goes to Washington and then back to us, some of it always remains in Washington." "We just don't have any say so in government decisions when they are made about the local level — too much politics involved!"

Statements such as these are common in testimony before committees and in private conversations. Such thoughts express the philosophy of many people, and there certainly is good reason for the concern of the local taxpayer.

But there is a price for the local control in that someone has to run that local government, and in our small cities and villages there seems to be fewer and fewer people who will contribute their time and efforts to serve on the council or board. Many times one term is enough. The person who sat on the sidelines and made comments about what those dummies on the council or village board were doing suddenly gets a new vantage point when he or she sits on that council or board and is forced to make decisions. Then he or she begins to understand that there are more things involved than was evident before. Some make the decision to run again and try to continue the program and others say, "Let George take his turn."

Nebraska law provides that the salaries of elected officials can be changed when the officials change office at election time. Therefore, it is now time to think about any salary changes which will be implemented next May and June. I am not suggesting that increased salaries are an answer to the problem of people running for local offices. It may be one inducement but if that is the only reason for running, the candidate may well not be the one to elect. It takes a dedication higher than salary to motivate a good elected official.

On the other hand, it just doesn't make sense that elected officials donate their time. When elected officials put in time for little or no compensation, they are just making a donation to the taxpayers. To be sure, they themselves are taxpayers, and they are getting some benefit of the tax savings by not paying an adequate compensation to the elected officials. But the fact is that all of the taxpayers are getting an advantage, including those absentee owners. Those are the ones who are getting a real bargain at the expense of those dedicated citizens who will serve.

There is no need for a bargain. Elected officials should receive a fair compensation for the time that they put in their office. Of course, it should not be out of reason but it certainly should be reasonable compensation. And I realize that all costs are increasing and that everything is going to be higher, but the elected officials salary is not the place to take up the slack. If they are willing to make the effort, they deserve reasonable compensation.

WAY BACK WHEN

30 YEARS AGO

October 14, 1943: Seven-tenths of an inch of rain fell here during Tuesday afternoon and evening, and it was welcomed as a relief to drying ground. Christmas trees and festoons have been ordered by Wayne Chamber of Commerce for holiday decorations here. The entire six-man crew of a four-motor bomber from the Fairmont base near Geneva, lost their lives Sunday morning when the heavy plane developed engine trouble and dived into a cornfield on the Fred Westenhuis farm, occupied by Herman Brudwig, southwest of Wayne. Jens Christensen, Wayne, lost the toes from his left foot when the member was caught between a hay rack and a post on the Iler Hansen farm, Winside. Two extra freight trains are being run through Wayne each day to move oil, grain and stock to terminals. Smoke that accumulated from a leaky chimney on an adjoining building caused the fire department to hurry to the rear part of the Council Oak store Sunday afternoon. Letting out imprisoned smoke was all that was necessary.

25 YEARS AGO

October 14, 1948: Eugene Webster Huse, nearly 78, lifetime Nebraska publisher and editor, died Wednesday morning. Mr. Huse, as editor of The Wayne Herald, was closely identified with the growth and development of Wayne and Wayne County. Walt Miller has been named chairman of the Wayne County selective service board and Robert I. Jones, secretary. Dean W. V. Lambert of the Nebraska College of Agriculture, handed Norman Willers, Wayne, the ribbon denoting the grand championship of the Ak-Sar-Ben show. The 985-pound Hereford steer brought a total of $1,655.75 for Willers. Seventeen city officials and employees were given $20 monthly increases in salary by the city council at the meeting Tuesday evening. Danny Fischer, Wakefield, broke his collarbone in a fall from a tractor. An extensive remodeling program for the Gay Theater building was started this week.

20 YEARS AGO

October 15, 1953: Wayne's city council Tuesday night purchased a new police patrol car for the city police. Hal Anderson, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Anderson, Stanton, suffered a broken left leg last week when a concrete bird bath fell on him while with his grandfather, Frank Heine, Wayne. A prize-Palomino pony, a 4-H calf and two cuttings of hay were destroyed early last Wednesday morning when fire broke out in a barn at the Mrs. Mary Collins farm near here. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Clark operate the farm. Leo Duncan, Wayne, suffered chest injuries and bruises Saturday night when a car in which he was riding overturned one mile north of Wisner on Highway 51. Lawrence Ring, farmer east of Wayne, suffered a broken leg last week when the power drive he was using to unload corn broke, and a piece of machinery struck him.

15 YEARS AGO

October 23, 1958: Dr. Roderick B. Peck, former Wayne resident and son of Mrs. Luella Peck, has been named administrative assistant to the president at Long Beach, Calif. State College. Wayne

"Your first obligation is to your conscience." Arnold Glasgow
All of us at one time or another have wished that we might be more like someone else; but the pattern of life might not measure up to our own standards of right and wrong. There is no better advice than that which Hamlet gives us: "To thine own self be true," for there is no peace of mind in living a life which is not in tune with our own conscience.

The other side of this philosophical coin is that, when we do heed our conscience and allow it to guide our actions, we need never fear that critics can shatter our peace of mind. If our inner-conscience approves of our acts; we will be at peace with ourselves. What else matters?

City Auditorium For the Winter
Carroll's city auditorium will be closed for the winter beginning Nov. 1, according to town officials.

Howard McClain, owner of McClain's Oil Co. in Carroll, who supplies the heating oil, said he can not supply the auditorium with enough fuel this year if it is a cold winter. As a result, he said, "I'm going to conserve the fuel in case we do have a hard winter."

The auditorium probably will be close until sometime in March or early spring.

Teacher Recognized for Program

A Wayne County rural school teacher has received a certificate of commendation from the Nebraska Civil Defense Agency for the CD education program conducted in her school.

She is Irene Koch of Winside, teacher at district 75 four miles north of Carroll. Mrs. Koch, who lives with her husband Otto on a farm seven miles west and a half mile south of Wayne, is in her third year as teacher in the rural school district.

She received the award for an education program which included units on tornadoes, fires, winter storms, home safety, traffic safety, farm safety and the like. County school superintendent Fred Rickers presented the award to her during Friday afternoon's meeting of rural teachers at the courthouse in Wayne.

FERTILIZER SHORTAGE
Shortages continue to plague the American consumer, and this includes fertilizer which is so vital to our crop production. It is now predicted that there will be a 10 per cent shortage of nitrogen this coming crop year. It would help the shortage if part of the nitrogen could be applied yet this fall.

If the following conditions are met, fall application of nitrogen is possible:

1. Soil temperature at the four-inch depth has dropped below 50 degrees. Nebraska soil temperatures are usually low enough after mid-October. Conversion of fertilizer ammonia to nitrate is very slow at 40 degrees and stops at 32 degrees.
2. The soil is deep and fine textured. Silt loams, silt, clay loams and silty clay are some fine textured soils.
3. No water is expected to stand in the field between the time of fall application and spring planting. Nitrogen losses by denitrification and leaching occur when standing water remains on the surface for three or more days.
4. You want to plant as early as possible. Spring-preplant application can delay planting by competing with time, labor and suitable moisture conditions for planting.
5. The nitrogen can be knifed in or incorporated into the soil. Runoff from rain or snow melt can carry soluble nitrogen from surface application.
6. The field is highly productive and at least 150 pounds of nitrogen are normally needed. On lower production fields, lower rates of fall-applied nitrogen will be less efficient than preplant or side dressed nitrogen. Noticeable yield differences in fall, preplant and sidedress are obtained at 80 pound rates, but differences are of no concern at 150 pounds of nitrogen.

undoubtedly caused inefficient use of our fertilizer. But with the prospective shortage and higher price of fertilizer, we are going to have to rely more on fertilizer tests.

Soil tests from the soil-testing service at the University of Nebraska costs between $2 and $6 depending on what testing is wanted, and results are usually returned in about two weeks. Fall testing of fertilizer is best because labs get overloaded in the spring. Soil sample boxes are available from the extension office or the ASCS office.

Fall fertilize your pastures and alfalfa, but be sure and soil test first so you can put on the proper amount.

Wayne Native Taking Part in K-State Event

John Claus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Claus of rural Wayne, is one of the students in veterinary medicine at Kansas State University at Manhattan who will participate in the student-planned activities during K-State's veterinary medicine open house Saturday.

The public will have an opportunity to inspect new facilities and watch K-State veterinary students demonstrate the latest equipment and techniques in the medical care of different kinds of animals.

K-State offered its first course in veterinary science more than 100 years ago. The studies and treatments were mainly concerned with the health of Kansas livestock, particularly horses. Today, the KSU program ranges from pet medicine to space medicine. Cardiology, dermatology, ophthalmology and pathology are just a few of the specialized courses available to students.

SHOULD YOU TEST?
Soil testing, for some reason or other, is not being used as much as it was a few years ago.

Top 4-H Exhibitors

THESE TWO Wayne County 4-H'ers showed the top scoring animals in the annual 4-H beef sale in Wayne last week. Kim Baker of Wakefield, left, had the top pen of five, a group of Hereford steers weighing 6,980 pounds and selling for $44.50 a hundred to Wayne Grain and Feed. Packer bid was $40.50. Kent Roberts, also of Wakefield, showed the top scoring individual animal, a Hereford steer weighing 1,105 pounds. Bringing a packer bid of $41.25 a hundred, it sold to Roberts Feeds and Seeds of Wayne for $46.50. Premiums paid on individual animals averaged $6.04 a hundred. On pens of five the premiums averaged $3 a hundred.

350 in County Enjoying 'Mulligan Stew' Weekly

Deer Creek Valley
The Deer Creek Valley 4-H Club held a hayride Oct. 7 with 12 members and seven guests attending. Members returned to the Merrill Baier home for a wiener roast! They received project manuals and record books.

Next meeting will be Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. in the Alden Dunklau home.

Eileen Finn, news reporter

Loyal Lassies
The Loyal Lassies 4-H Club held their organizational meeting in the Waldron Bull home Sept. 24 with eight members attending. Rebecca Ostendorf and Robin Shute were welcomed as new members.

Newly elected officers are Laura Haase, president; Beth Ostendorf, vice president; Judy Temme, secretary; Sandy Bull, treasurer; Vicki Ostendorf, historian; and Cindy Bull, news reporter. Leaders are Mrs. Lester Hansen and Mrs. Waldron Bull.

The next meeting will be a Halloween party in the Victor Haase home.

Cindy Bull, news reporter

Busy Bees
Fifteen members of the Busy Bees 4-H Club met Sept. 17 with Mrs. Val Damm for their achievement meeting with mothers as guests. Forms were filled out for special 4-H awards. The club held a family picnic Aug. 17 at Bressler Park in Wayne with 14 members and their families attending. Fun awards were presented to members and their parents.

The next meeting will be in January with Kim Blecke.

Wayne County Hombres
Members of the Wayne County Hombres 4-H Club participated in the annual 4-H livestock show at the Ak-Sar-Ben coliseum Sept. 27 in the 4-H horse show competition.

Receiving ribbons in the pole bending division were Robin Fleer, purple; Bill Langenberg, blue, and Mark and David Fleer, blue. Mark Fleer received a purple and Robin and David Fleer received blue ribbons in the barrel racing division.

More than 350 Wayne County youths are enjoying "Mulligan Stew" regularly now.

The youngsters, nine to 12 years old, aren't really eating stew. Rather, they are watching a weekly 4-H television program which began Saturday and runs for five more Saturdays.

The six shows, on Channel 4 in Sioux City, center around a five piece rock band that sets out to spread the word about good nutrition "Mission Impossible," "Sesame Street" and "Laugh In" flavor are combined to emphasize the value of a balanced diet. In solving nutritional problems, the band visits with food scientists, astronauts and the "man on the street."

The educational program is being offered by the cooperative extension service of the University of Nebraska and is being channeled through any Wayne County schools wishing to cooperate. Many teachers of fourth, fifth and sixth grades are enrolling entire classes, according to the county extension office. The series provides opportunities for follow-up demonstrations, class discussion and other group activities.

Youths who sign up for the television series will get a comic book manual which contains 48 colored pages of interesting things to do. As an additional inducement to watch "Mulligan Stew," the Wayne County extension service is offering a party for all youngsters who complete the series.

Allen Board Awards Bid To Hollenstein

The Allen school board recently awarded Robert Hollenstein of Allen the Harmony Hill school building after the members accepted his $350 bid for the structure.

According to superintendent Gail Miller, Hollenstein had the highest sealed bid for the building, located about six miles northeast of Allen. Earlier this year the board agreed to accept students from the district after it was decided to close the school.

During the regular monthly meeting, the board moved to raise from eight to 10 cents a mile the payment for those who use their vehicles in behalf of the school.

Also, the members are considering buying a $10,000 gasoline tank. Miller said he is still looking into the matter.

The board is studying the possibility of sending the high school band to Rapid City for a four-state band fair sometime in the spring, Miller added.

Spitze: Bean Saved Is Penny Earned

A bean saved is a penny earned, and at the current price of soybeans, that is not an exaggeration.

Every four beans per square foot left unharvested means one bushel lost, says Wayne County agricultural agent Don Spitze.

Spitze says it is estimated that Nebraska farmers leave over 10 per cent of their soybeans in the field. That means Wayne County farmers this year may leave from $350,000 to $450,000 worth of beans unharvested, he noted.

Spitze last year checked a number of harvested Thurston County soybean fields and found soybean losses from less than a bushel to almost four bushels per acre.

Spitze, who talked with all the farmers whose fields were checked, believes most of the field losses could have been reduced to under a bushel by following these suggestions:

1. Regulate combine speed according to conditions. An operator tends to raise the cutter bar higher as he travels faster. Even if attachments are used to regulate height, don't follow the sieves by ignoring speed. A loss of two to four bushels per acre could be the penalty for speeding.

2. Start harvest when beans carry 13 to 14 per cent moisture. As soybeans drop to 10 per cent or less moisture, shatter losses about double. Take advantage of dew and moist air conditions when possible.

3. Shatter losses can be reduced by matching reel speed with ground speed. Relative speed of the backward movement of the reel bar and forward movement of the combine is what must be matched. The bean stalk should be laid on the platform without flailing it. The owner's manual should be helpful to make correct settings.

4. The reel height should be adjusted so the reel bar meets the soybean stalk at about one-third height from the ground when directly over the sickle bar. When soybeans are lodged, the reel can be moved ahead and down. This tends to lift the beans up the sickle.

5. Check and adjust the platform lateral leveling. Remember to allow for bin weight when making this adjustment. A full bin can cause one side of the cutter bar to be two to three inches higher than the other side. Reasonably frequent unloading may be warranted if bin weight drastically affects the pitch of the machine.

Weeds also cause losses. Spitz adds. Weeds compete with the soybeans to reduce yields and also present several harvesting problems. Slower ground speed and trashy beans are two of the penalties for poor weed control.

It's too late to do much about weed control this year, says Spitze, but plans should be made for next year to find a combination of herbicides and cultivation that will do the job.

If you feed cattle to make money...
Stop!
...we've got something to discuss with you.

What's your guess? ... Will feed prices go up or down? ... A feed booking that locks in a firm price is fine if feed prices go up — but bad for you if prices go down — and if you don't book, who knows what your prices will be later in the season? It's a risky business!

We'd like to help you — and we can with a new program called the Kent Price Insurance Booking Contract. It's a combination purchase agreement and insurance policy with a low premium cost. It will protect you if prices rise — and still give you the benefit of lower prices if ingredient markets drop.

If you'd like to take some of the risk out of feeding cattle; if you'd like to feed a top quality feed with a money-back guarantee; if your present supplier wasn't able to make good on his bookings last year; see us. Ask us about the Kent Price Insurance Booking Contract. You'll be glad you did!

Everyone of us knows of land badly in need of conservation treatment, treatment that includes anything from native grass seedings to multi-purpose dams. With another construction season here, it's time to begin these common-sense management practices on your land and the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District is ready to do its part. The Land and Water Development Assistance Program of the Lower Elkhorn NRD will provide about 75 per cent of the cost of the land treatment necessary to keep your herbicides, your pesticides, your fertilizers, and your land out of your water!

Laurel Honors

Active Boosters
 Four active Laurel boosters were honored during last week's Laurel Chamber of Commerce meeting.
 Fred Brockmoller, Alfred Mitelstadt, Earl Bass and Faye P. Stewart, who are retired from business, were presented plaques of appreciation by chamber president Roger Heitman.
 About 80 attended the dinner and business meeting. Elmer Munter, Dwayne Freeman, Gary Smith and the Rev. Doug Potter were elected to take over for retiring directors Joyce Lillard, Walt Brachvogel, Harold White and Dick Manz. Installation will take place at the January meeting.
 Mayor Merl Swanson spoke during the evening on community improvement projects underway, and Laurel Tuesday Club members presented a fun fashion parade program.
 Branched Oak State Recreation Area near Malcolm encompasses 5,761 acres, including an 1,800 acre lake.
