Meet Tonight to Name Nominees for Election

Wayne County ASCS community committeemen will meet at the county office tonight (Monday) at 8 p.m. to nominate community committeemen for 1974.

The period for producers to make nominations by petition ended Oct. 29, according to Ray Butts, director of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. He said that no petitions were received and therefore it is the responsibility of the incumbent members to make nominations.

Butts noted there are less communities now for ASC election purposes. The number of community committeemen has been reduced from 13 to six, mainly because of expense. Chairmen and vice chairmen of the 13 old communities are requested to come in to make nominations for the six new communities, nominating six farmers in each of the six election communities.

After nominations are completed, the ASCS office will send election ballots to all known producers. Six nominees will be on each ballot, with blanks for write-in candidates. December 3rd will be the final date to return ballots.

Newly elected community committeemen will then come in to elect a new county committee member, and vote on who will be chairman, vice chairman and alternates to the county committee.

Major programs administered by the Wayne County ASCS include the feed grain set-aside program, price support commodity loans, grain storage and drying equipment loans, wool incentive payment program and conservation programs. Fuel, fertilizer and other shortages are monitored by the ASCS office.

City, County To Discuss Jail Addition

Representatives of the city of Wayne are expected to meet with Wayne County commissioners Tuesday to discuss the possibility of building an addition to the county jail with local funds.

Norris Weible, county clerk, said a meeting has been set for 10:30 a.m. Tuesday during the commissioners' regular meeting.

The county's request for a $40,000 federal grant to help finance the addition was turned down earlier this year by the state crime commission.

Had that grant been obtained, the county would have matched it to build an addition to the southeast corner of the county jail. The addition would have provided office space for the city police and county sheriff. It also would have permitted the county to take advantage of the 24-hour surveillance now provided by local police.

A comprehensive study of county jail facilities in Northeast Nebraska recently recommended that the city of Wayne and the county build such an addition. It would save considerable money when prisoners are housed in the county jail, the study said, because around-the-clock surveillance would already be provided. Now when there are county prisoners, surveillance must be provided by the county.

Hobbyists, Come Show Your Stuff

Hobbyists, here's an invitation from recreation leadership students at Wayne State College.

The classes are planning a hobby show Sunday, Nov. 18, and they invite anybody with a hobby to demonstrate it.

Mike Green of Dakota City, general chairman, and Mary Kramer, Hastings, publicity chairman, said practically any kind of hobby is welcome, especially the unusual types. They mentioned those such as electronic gadgetry, car customizing, home-made computers or junk crafts—that is, items made from scrap metal, wood, plastics or glass.

The commoner hobbies also are invited—collections, model planes or ships, needlework, crafts, woodworking and the like.

The show is scheduled for 1 to 5 p.m. Nov. 18 in Rice Auditorium. Since this is non-commercial, there will be no admission charge.

Hobbyists who wish to enter should write or call Dr. Simpson at Wayne State College.

Class members, in addition to Green and Miss Kramer, include Pat Donohoe, O'Neill; Jim Mergen, Esherville, Ia.; Jovette Ballou and Mike Burchett, Wayne; Layne Herber, Omaha; Jon Biehle and Mark Johnson, Norfolk; Tim Denham, Cumberland, Ia.; Rich Russ and Deb Leland, Fremont; Dave Miller, Savanna, Ill.; Brian Moeller, Scribner; Randy Slaybaugh, Coon Rapids, Ia.; Merlin Oswald, Madison; Mike Schuster, Dubuque, Ia.; Fred Spalo, Schuyler; Sandy Krueger, DeLoit, Ia.; Diane Gehring, Bancroft; Janet Miller, Onawa, Ia.; and Rita-Meyer, Williamsburg, Ia.

Class May Cut &/?★ From Mower Work

Three general interest classes designed for adults of Northeast Nebraska—each class lasting only one evening—are planned at Wayne State College.

The subjects: camera selection, four-cycle lawn mower engine operation and reloading of metallic cartridges, Nov. 7, 14 and 28 respectively.

There is no charge and no advance registration needed for these non-credit mini-courses. Anyone interested is invited to attend any or all of them.

Dr. Howard Schmidt of the Wayne State industrial education faculty said the classes were arranged by students in his class on Principles of Adult Education.

First of the classes is scheduled Wednesday on the subject of camera selection for the dollar-minded individual. The speaker: Robert Hickman, representing a Sioux City camera store. Time and place: 7 p.m. in the Hahn Building, Room 302.

The Nov. 14 class, at 6:30 in the Industrial Education Building, is intended for anybody who ever struggled with a lawn mower engine.

Last of the classes, at 7 p.m. Nov. 28 in Hahn Room 302, will deal with reloading of metallic cartridges. Gene Viers of South Sioux City showing the technique.

Carroll Club Offers $10 Prize For Top Slogan

The Carroll Community Club is sponsoring a "pick a slogan" contest for the town's new sign to be installed this month.

The idea of the contest, said secretary Phil Olason, is for anyone, regardless of age, to write a slogan to describe the town of Carroll. Entries should be sent to LeRoy Nelson of Carroll, the club's vice president, by this Friday.

A $10 prize will be awarded to the winner, to be named at the club's monthly meeting this Friday, Olason said.

Also during the meeting, members will organize the town's Dec. 15 pancake feed.

CC Drive Nears $9,000

A total of $8,654 had been raised in Wayne's Community Chest fund drive by last weekend, a drive official reported.

That figure represents just over 70 per cent of the $12,000 goal. About 20 per cent of the donation cards have yet to be returned.

Drive officials and workers hope to have the drive completed by Wednesday.

Funds from the drive will go to help support the local recreation program, Senior Citizens Center, Girl and Boy Scouts, Red Cross, Salvation Army, United Service Organization, Florence Crittenton Home in Sioux City and cystic fibrosis research.

ROBIN LINDSAY

Robin Lindsay Named Latest Poppy Girl

Little Robin Lindsay, nine-year-old daughter of Mrs. Donna Lindsay of Wayne, has been named Wayne's latest Poppy Girl.

She will serve as symbol of Poppy Day next week when youngsters and adults sell poppies in both the downtown area and residential areas.

A fourth grader at West Elementary School, she was chosen for the honor by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary last week.

Youngsters who wish to help sell poppies next Saturday are to meet at the Vet's Club at 9 a.m. Poppies will be sold from 9:30 to 11:30, with a dinner for youngsters scheduled at the Vet's Club at noon.

The next day, Veteran's Day, a parade will be held in Wayne.

Parents Invited To Meeting on Scholarships

Parents of Wayne High School seniors planning to attend college after graduation may be interested in attending a meeting scheduled at the school the evening of Nov. 20.

Ken Carlson, high school guidance counselor, will meet with parents to explain the procedures and application forms necessary for scholarships and financial aid based on financial need.

Carlson said it is very important that parents begin working on the college scholarship confidential statement, a financial statement required by both Wayne State College and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln for financial aid. The form is available at the high school guidance office, he said.

Carlson notes that many other colleges in the Midwest also require that statement to be completed before a student may be considered for scholarships and financial aid.

7 Girls Vying for Pork Queen Title

Seven pretty girls will be competing for the title of Miss Northeast Nebraska Pork Queen next weekend in Coleridge.

The new queen will be crowned during the annual banquet of the Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers Association at Coleridge on Sunday evening, Nov. 11.

Among the candidates is a Dixon girl, Janell Hassler, daughter of Mrs. Dorothea Hassler.

She will compete with Marlene Jensen of Jackson, Dolia Birkley of Hubbard, Mary Beth Sebade of Emerson, Lori Bremel of Randolph, Jeanne Milander of Hartington and Robyn Smith of Hartington.

Crowning the new queen will be Judy Gustafson of Wakefield, queen for the past year and contestant in last week's state queen contest at Fremont.

Candidates will be judged at 3 p.m. the day of the banquet at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Coleridge. Girls will be judged on such things as beauty, personality, neatness, speech presentation and poise. A tea will be held for the candidates following judging, and all the afternoon activities are open to the public.

The banquet is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the community building at Coleridge, with tickets available for $3 each from members of the board of directors or at the door.

Joan Burney, weekly newspaper columnist from Hartington, will be guest speaker during the evening.

This year's seven contestants is nearly twice the number of contestants the first two years of the contest. The first year, 1971, Pat Dangberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dangberg of Wayne and a student at Winslow won the crown.

Businessmen Now Inviting Dinner Guests

Wayne businessmen are now inviting farmers to the annual Farmers Appreciation Night scheduled for Nov. 17 at the Student Center at Wayne State College.

Businessmen may invite as many farmers as they wish, and the Chamber of Commerce will send out tickets to the individual farmers before the banquet.

Guest speaker for the event will be Bill Wood, broadcaster with Radio KFOR in Lincoln. Wood will talk about as well as play recordings of old radio shows.

Wood has been with the Lincoln radio station for the past 10 years. Previously he was with television and radio stations at North Platte and with Radio KFAB in Omaha. He has been a broadcaster the past 30 years.

Farmers will attend the banquet as guests of businessmen who invite them in an effort aimed at showing rural families that they are appreciated by local businessmen. The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the banquet again this year.

College Expands Program

Expansion of an international education program which Wayne State College started in 1969 was announced this week.

Under a new name, the Nebraska European Institute, the program will offer six-week sessions next summer in Spain, France, Germany and Denmark.

Dr. Aristides Sosa, who teaches Spanish at Kearney State, will direct the academic programs. The four institutes in 1974 are scheduled July 1 - Aug. 8, at Valencia, Spain; Baden-Baden, Germany; Tours, France, and Herning, Denmark. The cost, estimated between $745 and $765, will include travel, tuition for six hours credit, lodging and meals — everything except personal spending.

Dr. Sosa said the Spanish, German and French institutes are not exclusively language programs. There will be courses in English dealing with the culture of the country visited. The Danish Institute, all in English, deals mainly with government and U.S. relations with Scandinavian countries.

An Unusual Look

STRONG, COLORFUL CONTRASTS are created in this line resolution picture printed on an orange background. The picture is of the substation at the rear of the municipal power plant taken through the chain link fence. The substation distributes power throughout the city. Currently under construction is another substation, one which will permit power plant employees to "step down" the high voltage power coming in from Nebraska Public Power District and distribute it through the city's lower voltage lines.

So You're Pretty Good, Huh?

How good a driver are you? Do you know the speed limit in a residential district of a city or town? How many points can you lose before you lose your operator's license? What's the best way to drive through a curve?

Those are some of the questions which you'll be asked in each Monday issue of The Wayne Herald over the next several weeks. They are part of "The Driving Safety Quiz" newspapers across the state are being urged to run in an attempt to cut down on the number of traffic accidents in Nebraska. As a public service, this newspaper has agreed to use the quizzes, the first of which appears inside this issue.

Final Touches

A WORKMAN smooths off a weld on the city's new 300,000-gallon fuel tank after repairing several leaks following construction of the tank last week. City officials hope to start putting fuel in it as soon as several loads come into the city, hopefully this week or shortly after. Fuel will be used to run the electrical generating plant. City officials decided to purchase the tank earlier this year in an attempt to build up a storage, which will keep the city from facing a fuel crisis this winter. Last winter fuel for the municipal power plant ran seriously low several times, once to the point, where there was not enough fuel to finish out the day, according to a city official.

Biggest Test Of Calves at NE Station Underway

Calf growing experiments are underway at Northeast Station east of Concord, with more cattle on test than ever before, says beef specialist Walt Tolman.

Two basic growing feeds, in the production of which Northeast Nebraska excels, are under test, he noted. One test is with alfalfa haylage and a limited grain ration; the other is with corn silage supplemented with protein, minerals and vitamins.

The haylage test is quite similar to one conducted last winter, Tolman said. Last year's test showed that "quite dry" haylage, in the 60 per cent dry matter range, produced more rapid gains with less feed dry matter than wetter haylage. A preservative added to wilted haylage did not make it equal in rate of gain to drier haylage and it only improved feed conversion slightly. In last year's test, shelled corn was fed at the rate of four pounds per head daily with the haylage.

Dried whole shelled corn compared favorably with the same corn rolled before feeding.

In the silage experiment, an efficient non-protein nitrogen supplement is still being sought, according to Tolman. Last year a mixture of dehydrated alfalfa and urea looked promising, and an ammonium-molasses-mineral product looked even better when it was supplemented with limestone. These materials are being studied more completely and a water-ammonia mixture is also being tested. Each of them is less expensive than the common soybean meal-based supplements, Tolman pointed out.

Tolman said that the experimental cattle this year are fall calves shipped directly from the ranches where they were grown. These heavy, little stressed calves have had almost no disease problems and have taken to feed quickly, he added.

TV Newsmen To Lecture at Wayne State

Paul Duke, NBC congressional correspondent, will lecture at Wayne State College Wednesday on the college's special program series.

The 8 p.m. talk in the Fine Arts Center is open to the public — reserved tickets available in advance at the college business office and at the door if any seats remain. Wayne State students and staff, though admitted free, also must have reserved tickets.

Duke is NBC's top commentator on Congress and appears frequently on other network shows dealing with Capitol Hill business.

This is a requiem for Bill Heiden and for others like him

Highways are concrete and steel, stone and asphalt. But they are something else too, they are the people who plan, design, build and maintain them.

When you see your highway crews working to make things safer and easier and better for you, slow down, drive carefully, pay attention to "men working" signs, the flagmen and flashing caution lights, so that highway men may go home each night to their families.

ONE OF THESE highway people was killed recently just north of York. An article appeared in the local newspaper.

Funeral services for William K. Heiden, 21, York resident who lost his life in a highway accident, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the First United Presbyterian Church in York.

injuries suffered Thursday in a road mishap on U.S. 81 about 4 1/2 miles north of York.

"The State Patrol said Mr. Heiden was working near the highway at a bridge site, where workers were mowing grass, when he was struck by a truck which had been in collision with two other vehicles.

SOME SAY you start to live at 21. Heiden died at that age, and a lot of highway people died a little bit with him.

Heiden's job title for the State of Nebraska Department of Roads was highway maintenance man.

He was one of those people who you get to meet if the good Lord likes you and wants to do something special for you to make your life a bit more pleasant.

If you drive on I-80 from Omaha to Sidney, or if you use any of the highways or bridges in Nebraska without nerve-wracking delays, it's because Bill Heiden and many like him were out there day and night getting a tough job done.

Many people who work on highways have 'big rough hands and weather-beaten faces. Even if they move to desk jobs, the years of hard work in the out of doors are stamped on their faces for the rest of their lives. These men took the time to go home and put on their best dark suits and shirts and ties to attend a funeral where they didn't know what to say to a beautiful young lady who is now a widow.

BUT ON THE GRIM faces of the people who had worked, sweated and lived with the pressures of a very hard job, was the look that showed they knew that a "good guy" was gone forever.

These men are now wearing their work clothes again. Their dark suits are back in the closets. And autumn leaves are drifting down on a fresh grave at a local cemetery.

This is, in effect, a requiem not only for William K. Heiden, but also for every highway man who is out in the snow, rain, mud or traffic doing the job the only way he knows how... doing his best.

This is why we ask that you exercise extreme caution when you approach a highway crew at work, serving you, the traveling public. Their very lives depend upon it.

OBSERVATIONS

Caution is urged

We are probably not alone in hoping the Wayne city council takes a long, hard look at that land sale offer by a local industrial development group before making a decision to accept or reject it.

Our major reason for urging that the offer be given considerable thought is cost. Although no exact figures have been tossed out, the council is aware that it could take somewhere around $300,000 to develop the land into an industrial park.

That is a lot of money... regardless of whether it comes in federal grants, low interest loans or right out of local taxpayers' pockets.

As far as we can see, the offer boils down to a gamble. The city would be banking on being able to develop the land enough so it would appeal to an industry or industries. There is little doubt that if the city did develop the land greatly enough, it would be much more appealing to industrial prospects than it has been over the past 10 or 15 years when it amounted to little more than a corn field.

If the council is confident the city's investment would be repaid in the future, purchasing the land could be, as one councilman suggested, one of the best investments the city ever made.

If the council is not confident this would happen, the best interests of all the citizens of Wayne would not be served by purchasing the land.

Out in the open

We appreciate the time several city employees took to meet and draw up emergency steps which will be taken in case fuel tanks for the municipal power plant in Wayne ever run dry.

It's good to get those steps out in the open, permitting the public plenty of opportunity to think about them and accept them. We agree with the mayor in hoping it never becomes necessary to put them into effect, but we better have them set forth as specifically as possible just in case the fuel crunch ever hits home.

The councilmen are thinking about those steps and may suggest some changes or additions at their next meeting.

That is fine, but as soon as city officials pretty much agree on the steps which would be required, the councilmen should formally adopt them. They then would become city policy, something which local residents could probably more easily accept if ever put into effect.

We tried to give the steps good display in Thursday's issue of the newspaper. In case you missed them, we'll list them again:

- Request everybody in the city to voluntarily cut back on their use of electricity in their homes and businesses.
Shut off street lights on one side of the street.
Shut off street lights on both sides of the street.
Cut off half the city for one hour, then supply it with power for an hour while cutting off the other half.
Run only the smallest generating motor at the power plant, which would provide just one quarter of the city with electricity every hour.

For bankers... and others

There is a growing trend among agribusiness industries to relocate their plants in rural settings. In many cases processors are moving closer to their sources of supply for raw agricultural commodities.

Those are not our comments. They are taken from the speech Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz made before the 53rd annual convention of The Consumer Bankers Association in California last week.

But they do echo some things mentioned here last Thursday when we paraphrased what a person involved with a Dakota City packing plant said on a television news show. In effect, he said we should pay more attention to capitalizing on what we do well—raising feed grains and producing livestock—and not worry so much about trying to improve agricultural production, process livestock locally rather than ship our animals to big cities, invite and build up agriculture-related businesses and industries, make money more available to farmers and feeders so they can improve their businesses, and the like.

Some other things Butz had to say in his speech are equally interesting and deserve consideration by residents of this part of Nebraska. Some of them:
"... In the light of recent developments, it is clear that consumer banking is on the threshold of new opportunities to serve rural America. Farmers and other rural residents need enlarged credit and other financial resources which local banks can provide.

"We expect agriculture will continue to be the backbone of most rural communities... The goods and services farmers buy keep our national economy rolling....

"In fact, the things farmers buy, just for production purposes alone, create jobs for two million people. Another eight to 10 million people have jobs storing, transporting, processing and merchandising agricultural products....

"It is abundantly clear that when agriculture prospers the entire economy prospers....
"Many farmers, rural homeowners, and small businessmen in rural communities see a need for new financing to meet their current needs both for production and for personal living.

"They, like the rest of us, have been looking at the money market and hoping to see a downturn in mortgage, installment loan, and business loan rates....
"However, with the strong, booming economy prevailing at this time, the demand for borrowings will probably continue to rise....

Some interesting thoughts. Thoughts that apply to many more of us than just the bankers.

Keep it moving

Hurry, hurry, hurry. Everybody's in a hurry. In a hurry to get here. Then in a hurry to get back.

Now the state is trying to hurry traffic through the city of Wayne. Keep it moving. Don't make it stop too long or people'll get impatient. Hustle it along. Hustle it up.

The state wants to do that by creating left-turn lanes at the corners of Second and Third on Main Street. They're about as necessary as a rake during a good old-fashioned Nebraska blizzard....

The state apparently doesn't care that the left-turn lanes would create more problems than they would solve. Drivers would have to negotiate their way through those intersections with a precision we've seen few drivers display.

The state thinks the street is plenty wide to accommodate those extra lanes without even bothering to remove the parking stalls at the corners. If that's what happens, we'll bet there'll be a lot more fender scraping entries in the police log.

The state apparently doesn't know that not too many years ago the city did away with diagonal parking on Main Street in an attempt to make the driving lanes wider and safer. Must think that wide streets are nice but you've got to move that traffic through faster even if it means giving up those wide streets.

We know what the city should do with that proposal. It should be dumped in the closest wastebasket... in a hurry.

A closer look...

PLENTY OF GROUND WORK is taking place on the east edge of the city.

Wayne Industries is leveling some of its land on the north side of Highway 35 in anticipation of landing one of the industrial prospects members have on the string. And on the south side of the highway, work is still progressing on what will apparently become the new home of Logan Valley Implement. If that is where the John Deere people move, they'll have space they probably only dreamed of while being cooped up just off main street during past years.

If things go right—there's also another industry being lured to Wayne from Fremont—that part of the city could suddenly burst into an industrial park.

something a lot of people have been talking about for a long time.

NORFOLK'S mayor has proclaimed Nov. 15 as MIA "Run for Freedom Day."

The day will be marked by a freedom run down main street at 2 p.m. and a show at the city auditorium, efforts being planned to call attention to the fact that over 1,200 American men still are missing in action in the Viet Nam war.

Helping organize the freedom run is Mrs. Ed Scheurich, mother of one of the men still listed as missing in action.

A Wayne woman, Mrs. Paula Stark, also has a son who has been listed as missing in action. He is Sgt. Major Willie E. Stark.

Ed Bull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Bull of rural Wayne, has received a $400 George E. and Mary K. Haskell Scholarship. A total of 31 University of Nebraska-Lincoln students received the scholarships, which were for either $200 or $400... So They Said

"Since I have been here (in Congress), everything I have seen the government do (concerning energy) had tended to reduce the production of energy. I would like to see us shift gears... Until now, our country has been fiddling while it has been running out of fuel to burn. The demands have not been met. Much of the blame for the energy crisis rests with government." — Senator Henry Bellmon, Oklahoma.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

WHAT MAKES 'EM SPARK
If you drive a car powered by an eight cylinder engine, for every mile you drive, a jolt of about 20,000 volts of electric current shoots through your car's spark plug wires and spark plugs 10,000 times every mile, creating a spark that jumps across a gap in the spark plugs and igniting fuel inside cylinders of the engine.
This electricity originates from the car's battery, but in order to boost the relatively docile 12 volts produced by the battery into the considerably higher voltage required, it is routed through a transformer or can-shaped ignition coil.
The coil consists of a core around which is wrapped two sets of wire windings. In conventional ignition systems, current from the battery flows through the first set of windings, creating a magnetic field.
The current also flows through a switch — called points — which is located inside the distributor. The points are opened and closed by a cam that rotates inside the distributor.
When the points open and the current stops flowing, the magnetic field collapses, creating a current in the second set of wire windings inside the coil, a phenomenon called induction.
The amount of current created in the second set of wire windings reaches about 20,000 volts. This is accomplished by adding several times more turns of wire in the second set of windings than in the first set. This high energy pulse travels to the distributor where it is sent in measured doses to the spark plugs at the precise moment to ignite the fuel mixture in the cylinders.
The ignition system in the average V-8 engine delivers 100 million sparks of 20,000 volts each in an average year's driving. This requires special materials and care used in manufacturing these components to ensure their durability.

Dear Editor:
We wish to thank you for all of the assistance we received from The Wayne Herald during the teachers convention at Wayne State College. We sincerely appreciated everything that you contributed toward making the convention a success.
We cannot speak for the Nebraska State Education Association board of directors, but as far as the board of directors for District III are concerned, the only site for such a convention should be Wayne. We are still not certain as to what the status of conventions will be, but should we be given the opportunity next year we hope that we can again hold it in Wayne.

Meyers Now Home in Norfolk

Mr. and Mrs. LaVern D. Meyer, who were married in 7 p.m. rites Oct. 26 at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Wayne, are making their first home in Norfolk.

Honor attendants for the couple were Beth Dunklau and Lyle Meyer, both of Norfolk. The Rev. S. K. deFreese officiated. Organist was Mary Ream of Wayne.

For her wedding the bride selected a floor-length gown of white crepe with lace bodice overlay and full lace sleeves which were fitted from elbow to wrist. Her elbow length veil was caught to a cluster of orange pompons which matched the bouquet she carried.

The gown worn by the maid of honor was styled similarly to the bride's and fashioned of green crepe. She carried a candle surrounded by orange and yellow daisies.

A reception for 40 guests was held at the church social room following the ceremony. Assisting were Debra Schwanke, Vicki Maciejowski, Carolyn Ellermeier, Deb Jeffrey and Kim Mrsny, all of Wayne, and Pam Victor, Lois Renne and Mrs. Lyle Meyer, all of Norfolk.

The bride, the former Lisa Ann Dunklau, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dunklau of Wayne and is a student at Wayne High School. The bridegroom, a graduate of Norfolk High School, attended Northeast Nebraska Technical Community College and is employed by Luhr Roofing Company. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Meyer of Norfolk.

Wanted: Laughter

Got the blues or simply want to spend a few non-productive minutes in search of a laugh? Try the want ads!

Of course they are good for oodles of other things, such as selling unwanted items, finding employment, looking for a secretary, etc., but the by-product of this section is a good sized daily paper can be pure, unadulterated entertainment such as you find only when you confront human nature.

Begin with the personals or lost and founds. Their number is not tremendous but the offerings are usually real gems, and you can't help but feel you know the people who write such things as "Smokey, I love you. Stick Person" or "Health Spa membership for sale; couldn't take it."

You will always wonder about the circumstances which prodded someone to write "Happy Birthday, John, please send your condolences." And what was the man doing between 127th and Morrison when he lost a "brown mane hairpiece"? Wonder if he was the same fellow who last week offered a reward for a pair of men's black shoes. Must have really been some chase.

Some advertisers I have no sympathy for. A guy who names his cat Snagglepuss deserves to lose him, and anyone who can misplace a green Chevrolet shouldn't be allowed to drive one.

Not all the ticklers are as obvious as these, however, and sometimes you have to delve into the for sale columns to get a good laugh.

Here the typos alone will provide you with enough material for the next three cocktail parties. In just one Sunday paper the following mysterious articles were offered for sale: 9 inch radio arm saw, 10-cubic foot freezer, chest tight; 20 gauge Winchester over and under; crystal chandelier and maternity clothes; 3 piece bedroom set; Bun Hogan irons and Wilson woods. St. Bernard with a good pedigree, and 65 new and unclaimed ugs.

You can't help but wonder about the guy who has 3 bunk beds for sale, how much two long-haired Peruvian guinea pigs will cost or what one would do with a 36" brill for $75.

And there is still more. What kind of a business is the guy running who advertises simply for "experienced woman"? Will a "Danish carpenter qualified to remodel your home" do a better job than a German carpenter? And does sympathy get the "man with large family who needs hauling" any more business than if he had left out the personal details of his life?

And as a clincher there is the ad written by a guy who must have missed his calling: "Trash, Brush, Haul Cheap Without a Peep and I Don't Creep."

Olson's 'Block the Kick' Strategy Earns Laurel 12-8 Win Over Wausa

Sports

By BOB BARTLETT
Laurel head coach Bob Olson had the game pegged right—rush Wausa's punter and hope for a recovered kick in good territory.

"From watching Wausa play last week, I knew their center was a little slow in snapping the ball. So I thought if we would put a rush on the kicker we would force a mistake," Olson pointed out.

That strategy paid big dividends Friday night when senior Sterling Stolpe picked up the ball on a partially blocked Viking kick in the third frame and raced 40 yards for a 12-8 victory.

For the Bears it was the perfect capping of a struggling season. "We should be Olson pointed out before the area club's last match of the season. "We played some awfully good games only to lose them in the final minutes."

But this time the close game went in favor of the Laurel Bears, who finish the season 3-5-1.

Stolpe's run with 21 seconds left in the third quarter charge up the Bears' defense to hold off Wausa's attempts to get back in the game. At one point, the Vikings were down to Laurel's 33-yard line after driving from their 10 before a hard-hitting Laurel line forced a fumble. Junior Mark Anderson recovered the ball to put the Bears in the driving seat.

The Vikings struck first during the cold night at Laurel's field. The visitor's leading rusher, Doug Holmquist, a pint-sized senior with a pair of churning legs, punched across the goal from nine yards out with 9:14

Cat Cager Team Debuts Against Platte Wednesday

Wayne State basketball fans can get a preview of the 1973-74 Wildcats Wednesday when the club scrimmages Platte College of Columbus.

The 7 p.m. meet at Rice Auditorium will feature what coach Ron Jones calls a seasoned squad.

Veterans Jim Merchel and Tom Erwin probably will try out for the guard positions along with junior college transfer Charlie Henderson and sophomore Jim Wetzel. Britt Cameron also will be vying for a guard slot.

In the forward position, seniors Ron Jones, Bob Wentz and Rod Erwin will be competing as well as junior Chuck Collins. Collins also will be an asset in the post position. Jones said, in addition to juniors Neil Walde and Stan Lewis.

LAUREL'S LaMont Sohler piles up yardage Friday night on another end sweep that helped lead the Bears to a 12-8 win over Wausa. Sohler, who collected 126 yards for the night, finished his senior year with a 66-yard touchdown run in the third quarter that ignited the Bears to their third win against five losses and a tie.

left in the half to cap a 40-yard Wausa drive.

Quarterback Tim Nelson then threw to Kim Johnson for the two-point conversion and an 8-0 lead.

Johnson not only was instrumental in getting that two points. He also made one of two interceptions to set up his team's only touchdown.

But with the second half came a new Laurel team. According to Olson, there were a few minor changes, a major adjustment and a good job of yelling by the coach.

"This is the first game I really yelled at the kids," the head man admitted. "I know we are a good team but we weren't playing up to our ability."

Olson then made a defensive switch in his team from a newly imposed 5-4 defense to the team's old stand-by—six linemen and two defensive backs.

"That switch really made a lot of difference," he said. Before the game, Olson pointed out that Wausa's offense was basically similar to Laurel's I-formation. The key to winning there, he pointed out, is to stop the running plays.

Wausa, however, found its 6-2 defense not able to adjust to Laurel's ground game, and senior LaMont Sohler led the game with 126 yards in 15 carries.

Most of that yardage came on determination. Several times during the game Sohler was hit by one or two Vikings but kept dodging and moving for extra yardage. At one point he had about eight Wausa defenders on his back before being hauled down.

Sohler put his club in the game with 5:33 left in the third frame on a nifty 66-yard run. The veteran broke loose to the outside where he picked up help from his line and dashed down the right side before crossing the grain and rambling in for the six points.

Quarterback Gregg Anderson, time next week after football is over with," Jones pointed out. The 6-5, 235-pound Chicago native definitely will be a strong contender for the center spot.

Last year Lewis played some junior varsity action but could not finish the season due to a knee injury, something that's cleared up now, the coach said.

Two other football players planning to come out for the team are Jeff Pilbean and Reggie Swanson. Last year Pilbean played on the Wildcat squad.

Other players who will probably see action are Dana Baker, Dave Pfaltzgraph and Dave Marron.

On Nov. 13, Jones will take his crew to Lyons for an intrasquad match during a basketball clinic at 7:30 p.m. for area coaches and basketball players.

On Nov. 20 the Cats will open their season at Northwestern College at Orange City.

under heavy pressure, lofted the ball into the end zone where two Laurel receivers collided, and the score remained at 8-6 until Stolpe put his club ahead to stay.

Both clubs were about even in the rushing department. The Bears had 154 yards—thanks mainly to Sohler's 126—while Wausa gathered 153. Holmquist led his team with 80 yards.

Passing, however, proved to be in favor of Wausa. The Viking's Nelson completed 4-14 for 37 yards. Anderson went 2-5 for 13 yards and had two intercepted.

Defensively, three Bear players were about tied in tackles. Warren Hanson, Robin Gade and Sohler had between 12 and 14 takedowns each.

Wausa's middle guard Randy

Anderson earned praise from Olson for his defensive ability.

Wakefield's Soderberg Scores 3 Touchdowns in 26-0 Romp Over Emerson

Wakefield High's 26-0 romping over Emerson-Hubbard can only be described as total domination.

Trojan coach John Torczon's crew literally blew the Pirates off their own playing field both offensively and defensively.

Wakefield's defensive unit halted the home squad for a total of 35 yards, stopping Emerson's ground game for a minus 27 yards while giving up only 37 in the air.

The Trojans picked off three Pirate aerials and recovered two fumbles in aiding the team to its first winning record since 1966.

Wakefield, 5-3-1 going into Friday's final match of the season, got its offense moving in the second quarter with quarterback Doug Soderberg lighting the Trojans scoring fire.

The senior signal caller threw one TD strike, then scored three other touchdowns for the 26-0 blitzing.

Soderberg unleashed the 27-yard hit to Pat Nicholson in the second frame to put his club ahead, 6-0. Then Soderberg broke loose on jaunts of one, three and 14 yards in collecting a total of 96 rushing yards.

The first three TDs made the score 20-0 at the half before the visitors accounted for the last six-pointer in the final quarter.

"Soderberg did a fantastic job," Torczon pointed out. "He completed seven of 10 passes for 102 yards while leading our rushers."

The closest man to Soderberg was Randy Kahl with 36 yards, followed by Steve Sorenson's 31 and Tom Hattig's 29.

RANDY BARGHOLZ

sided, Chuck Lindstrom, Sam Utch, Randy Bargholz, Loren Hammer and Steve Sorenson were the keys in Wakefield's defense, he said.

Bargholz recovered two Emerson fumbles, Lindstrom one. Doug Fischer picked off an Emerson aerial along with Nicholson and Tim Rouse.

Wakefield rounds out its season Friday when it ventures to Lyons of the East Husker Conference. Despite the outcome of that game, the Trojans will end up with a winning record.

Winside Edges Osmond, 14-7

A blocked punt and a 27-yard return by sophomore Bob Hoffman sparked the Winside Wildcats to their fourth win Friday night, dumping Osmond, 14-7.

With 11:19 left in the first half, Hoffman put his club on the board and Mike Anderson's kick gave the Wildcats a 7-0 lead.

A short time later Winside rallied for another six-pointer, this time on a three-yard spring by junior Dwight Lienemann. Anderson's kick again was good, giving Winside a 14-0 advantage.

The Cats had little trouble controlling the Tigers on the ground, allowing only 58 yards while piling up 157 of their 159 total.

According to coach Doug Barclay the cats were able to move the ball on the ground against Osmond but could not move the ball in the air. Winside completed only two of six attempts and had three intercepted.

Osmond, threw 29 times completing 14 and having six intercepted. "They made a lot of desperation attempts that last quarter," Barclay noted, "in order to get back into the game."

After the second half Osmond had 86 yards in the air, mainly due to a change in offensive formation to the shotgun. "It took us a while to get use to the ball being snapped back that far, but our pass defense did stop a lot of their attempts," Barclay noted.

It wasn't until the last frame, with about 3:40 left, that the Tigers scored. Quarterback Rob in Reed hit John Timmer on a 15-yard pass for a 14-7 score. The home team almost evened the game late in the fourth period, but the Cat defense, led by Mike Anderson, Hoffman and Jeff Farran with eight tackles each, stopped the Tigers at the 15.

Senior fullback Farran also led the offense with 78 yards in 16 runs for a 4.9 average. "I really was pleased with Jeff's performance tonight," Barclay said. "I only wish I could red shirt him for another year."

Lienemann was next in line with 42 yards.

Doug Lage had two interceptions for the night in addition to his seven tackles. Brian Wade and Dennis Newman had seven drops each.

This Friday the Wildcats will wrap up their season—and hopefully a second-place spot in the Clark division of the Lewis and Clark Conference—when they travel to Wynot. Winside's record stands at 4-3-1.

Lewis, Clark Loop To Name Top 12

The Lewis and Clark Conference will name its all-conference volleyball team Tuesday night following the conference title match between Wausa and Newcastle, at 8 o'clock.

According to Winside High superintendent Don Leighton, who is in charge of the playoffs at Winside, this will be the first time the conference has selected an all-conference volleyball team.

"Last Saturday both divisions of the Lewis and Clark league met to make their selections," he said. Winside hosted the Clark division teams while the Lewis division met at Newcastle.

Each member on the 12-girl all-conference team also will receive madallions.

Winside, Laurel Volleyball Clubs Drop Final Sets

Winside High's varsity volleyball team will be taking a 7-8 record into district play Nov. 12 after the A team dropped a tough match to Osmond last week.

The Wildkittens were upended in two straight sets Thursday night 8-15 and 4-15. But, notes coach Don Leighton, that first match was a lot tougher than the score reflects.

"Our girls played good ball in setups, but we had trouble returning the serves toward the end of the match," Leighton pointed out. The second set, he said, was strictly Osmond's game.

The reserves were the only one of the three clubs to win a match, nailing Osmond 15-13 and 15-12 for a 4-9 record. Thursday's win was the third in a row for the reserve squad.

The C team evened its mark at 5-5, losing 15-15 and 16-18. Laurel High coach Susan Beach had the same problems—closing the season on a losing note.

All three clubs fell to Pierce Wednesday night. The varsity lost in three sets, 3-15, 15-10 and 7-15, for a 5-5 overall record and 5-4 in the Northeast Nebraska Activity Conference. Barb Hirschman led the team with 12 serve points followed by Julie Wallin's eight.

The B team remained winless in nine starts, losing 3-15 and 1-15. The freshmen ended their season with 4-15 and 6-15 defeats. No record is available for the C team.

Today (Monday) the varsity club will compete in the NENAC tournament at Pierce.

Trojan quarterback Tom Schieffer hit end Tom Wintz for a 7-0 lead before the home team struck again in the second period on a 35-yard aerial for a 14-0 margin.

"Our team was just lagging," pointed out coach Al Hansen. "I don't know what was wrong, but the kids just didn't have the incentive to win this game."

The locals didn't get into the match until the second half when quarterback Marty Hansen raced 37 yards on a quarterback keeper for a 14-6 score. Wayne, going for two points, missed on a pass play.

The 14-6 margin remained that way through the third period before both teams started up their scoring machines. Hartington, however, drew first blood to all but eliminate the Devils' chances of winning.

About midway through the fourth period the Trojans hit a field goal for a 17-6 margin.

Wayne, under the direction of senior Bill Schwartz, came back with a 35-yard pass play to Hansen for a 17-12 game with 2:21 left, but again the try for two fell short.

"We held Hartington on the next series of plays," Hansen pointed out, "in hopes that we could score again." But fate and a good Hartington CC team stopped Wayne's drive after five plays.

The locals had an early chance to close the gap in the third period. Wayne, on about their 10-yard line, tried a pass play only to have the ball dropped in the end zone.

Despite the team's winning 5-3-1 record, coach Hansen said that this year's record is the worst in seven years.

Kerry Jech was the leading defender with 14 tackles, followed by Mike Dunklau with 12, Ritch Mitchell and Charlie Brockman with eight each and Larry Creighton with seven.

Offensively, Hansen led rushers with 114 yards, Rod Hoops had 47.

Costly Errors Halt Allen; Vikings Captalize, 30-12

Allen High's two fumbles and five pass interceptions stopped the Eagles on Walthill's home field Friday night as the Vikings capitalized for a 30-12 win.

The Vikings wasted little time in taking advantage of two Allen miscues making the score 14-0 in the first quarter. Walthill recovered one Allen fumble and two plays later drove the ball in from the nine-yard line for a 7-0 score.

The Vikings gained another seven points on a 65-yard pass interception return to ease out in front in the Lewis and Clark Conference battle for second place in the Lewis division.

Allen rallied in the second quarter, a four-yard run by Steve Shortt with only about 10 seconds counted off. The Eagles then scored again with a 35-yard pass from quarterback Scott Von Minden to end Charlie Peters for a 14-12 halftime deficit.

Late in the third quarter, Walthill scored on a nine-yard run after moving the ball 65 yards in eight plays. With the two-point conversion, they all

Farmers Urged To Put Money In Conservation

With farm income expected to be above normal for 1973, farmers should consider using a part of that income for farm improvement, says William Yost, district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service office at Wakefield.

Soil and water conservation can be constructed on the land as a conservation expense and can be deducted from a farmer's tax bill, he says.

The elimination of the set-aside acres—of part-years, more land will be brought into cultivation, thereby increasing potential soil and water erosion, he notes. This will be particularly true on land without terraces and contour farming.

Modern terraces can be designed for large machinery and can be built parallel, thus eliminating point rows. Buried tile outlets can also be used to eliminate the need for grass waterways.

Soil Conservation Service offices will provide information to landowners about conservation, which is ideally done in the fall, Yost adds.

Use of Grants Is Topic for County Officials

Four Wayne County officials are expected to attend a meeting Thursday in Norfolk to discuss how to use federal grants made available for work-shops for county officials.

Invited to the meeting are assessor, Doris Stipp, treasurer, Leon Meyer, clerk Norris Weibie and commissioner Floyd Burt.

Also invited is Doyle Hanson, supervisor in Dixon County, and Cedar County clerk Ed Stevens and treasurer Roger Schwartz. Officials from Pierce, Burr, Rock, Cuming, Dodge, Keya Paha, Knox, Madison, Platte and Dakota Counties have been invited also.

Present for the morning meeting, sponsored by the Nebraska Association of County Officials, will be the association's executive director, Arnold Runke, and Hollis Gustafson, tax consultant.

TV Notebook

Before television was launched commercially, radio amateurs in 1928-32 were able to obtain instructions and build a "radio-visor" . . . a device for receiving moving pictures broadcast on radio waves. All that was needed was a radio and three extra parts: A neon lamp, a scanning disk with 48 holes in a spiral pattern, and a motor to rotate the disk.

To operate, you tuned the radio station for the best audio signal, then switched off the loud speaker and turned on the neon light. There was of course, no sound during the picture, which consisted of tiny one-inch figures on a shadowy screen.

If your TV gives you an imperfect picture on a "shadowy screen", you should call our service department. We repair all makes and models of TV. All solid state and color sets a specialty.

Mmmm. . . Hot Chili

WHEN IT CAME to eating hot chili, two members of the Wayne High football team were ready and willing to take up the offer by the Mrs. Jaycees two weeks ago. Team members Randy (foreground) and Ritch Workman (background) joined Robin Kudrna in trying to cool off the tasty dinner. According to Mrs. De Rebendorf, in charge of the feed, about 40 people attended the one-night affair.

WH Frosh Go Undeclared

Wayne High's freshman football team went undefeated this year, scoring its sixth and final win against Hartington Cedar Catholic Thursday night.

Mike Wieseler guided the team with two touchdowns and both two-point conversions for a 16-4 whipping of the Trojans.

Hartington scored in the first frame on a 35-yard scamper, but that's all the scoring the Wayne defense allowed.

The offense, under guidance of quarterback Ralph Atkins, put touchdowns on the board in the second and fourth quarter.

Wieseler, who led rushers with 80 yards, broke loose for a 10-yard drive to knot the game at 6-6, then ran the ball in for an 8-6 halftime lead.

On the next scoring drive, Mike dashed in from five yards out, capping a 75-yard march during a driving rain.

Coach Duane Blomkamp pointed out that his team played good ball in the last period despite losing two fumbles and getting called on a holding penalty inside Hartington Cedar's five-yard line.

"Our defense played a good game," he said, noting that Dennis Murray led tacklers with seven drops.

In other stats, Arron Nissen and Marc Lawrence collected 60 and 69 yards respectively out of the team's 220 yards in rushing.

Clubs, Groups in County Can Get Program Tips From Extension Office

Members of home extension clubs, business and professional women's groups, newcomers' clubs or any other community organization can find interesting program ideas in the 1974 home extension lessons available as a part of the Wayne County extension program.

The leader training lessons available this year in Wayne County are Small Appliances — Mini-Servants, Selection of Wall Coverings, Why the Frenzy, Many Faces of Vegetables and Environmental Awareness.

Representatives of interested clubs and organizations may attend training sessions on each of the lesson topics that will help prepare them to present the information to their club members. Bulletins and leaders' guides are provided at the training meeting to help make training easier in the club situation.

Those interested in attending a training session on one or more of the lesson topics should contact the Wayne County extension office. The training is given by local county and area extension home agents.

Home economics extension specialists at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln prepare the member materials on topics of current interest, and subjects chosen for the lessons reflect suggestions made by homemakers and extension staff.

State Okays Funding for Hoskins Sewage Plant

The state has granted Hoskins approximately $7,200 or 12.5 per cent of the total cost of building a new sewage treatment plant, according to the village clerk.

During the monthly village board meeting Tuesday night, members learned the state okayed its share of funding, later to be matched by the town, for the proposed $51,000 plant.

The next step in making the new plant a reality, said Dennis Hirschbrunner of Bruce Gilmore and Associates, an engineering firm from Columbus, is to draw up plans and submit them to state and federal environmental agencies for approval.

If the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the Nebraska Department of Environmental Control okay the plans, bids can be let, he said.

Hirschbrunner emphasized it might take two more weeks before the company finishes the plans and another two weeks to a month before the agencies hand down their decisions.

"If we do get the okay, then we can let bids about the last part of the year or the beginning of next year," he said.

Hirschbrunner cautioned that the figured price of $57,000 may increase due to increases in materials and labor. If this happens, he went on, the firm will have to resubmit a new price with justified reason for the increase. Earlier this year the federal government approved a grant for 75 per cent of the total cost, or about $42,000.

Local Residents Earn Awards From MOD
Two Wayne residents received awards during the state March of Dimes banquet in Omaha earlier this month.

Ted Bahe received an award for outstanding work while being chairman of the first Wayne County March of Dimes "cake" bake held last February in Wayne.

Mrs. Vicki Pick, whose award was accepted by Mrs. Bill Woehler, received an award for outstanding work as overall chairman of the Mother's March for the March of Dimes, the first time in several years that mothers have united to raise donations.

Musical Duo Performs At Laurel High School

Mike Harvey and Dan Kugler, a musical duo from Denver, Colo., presented "This Land Is Your Land" at the Laurel High School Wednesday afternoon.

A "fun side" of American music, from the earliest traditional folk music to the most contemporary, was depicted through songs, plays and acts.

Mike Harvey has been a student in theatre and music at New Mexico Highlands University and at the New Mexico School for the Performing Arts. He has played leading roles in musicals and straight plays. Last year he toured Korea, Japan, Taiwan, Okinawa, the Philippines, Guam and Hawaii, acting and singing in "Little Me." The reception will be from 5 to 7:30 at the Villa Inn, with tickets available for $20 per person or $25 per couple.

Five counties are participating in the reception, Wayne, Stanton, Madison, Pierce and Knox. Ticket chairman for Wayne County is J. Alan Cramer of Wayne.

WHS Students Take SAT Test

About 25 Wayne High School students took an examination Saturday for competition for University of Nebraska Board of Regents scholarships next fall.

The test taken was the Scholastic Aptitude Test, a required test for admission to both Wayne State College and NU as well as other Midwest colleges, according to guidance counselor Ken Carlson.

Both WSC and NU will accept students who have completed the American College Test, he notes. However, for university financial aid and scholarship applicants, the SAT has to be completed, he adds.

The SAT is given five times during the school year, Carlson notes. The next time the test will be given will be Dec. 1. The ACT test may next be taken on Dec. 8.

THOMAS DENESIA

A committee of faculty and students made the 37 selections on the basis of the nominees' contributions to the university. Academic qualifications were also considered.
