

County Assessor: New Tax Exemption Is Big Benefit to Elderly

Mr. and Mrs. Elderly Citizen, how would you like to save $150, $175 or possibly even $200 on your property tax each year?

How? Just by applying for the new homestead exemption which went into effect across the state the first of this year.

The tax exemption saved 185 elderly Wayne County residents living on limited incomes a total of $32,478.67 in property taxes this year—an average of $175 for each household, according to county assessor Doris Stipp.

SOME 117 OF THE elderly people lived in Wayne, she said, and they saved $25,499.62 on their tax bills this year. The average savings for them was $218.

Twenty Winside residents realized savings of $2,456.91, and a dozen Carroll residents saved $986.79. The five from Hoskins who applied and qualified for the exemptions saved $633.41 on their tax bills.

Those savings are just like money in the bank, according to Mrs. Stipp, because, the elderly homeowners would have had to pay those amounts as property taxes had they not applied for the exemptions.

QUALIFYING FOR THE new exemption is not difficult, according to the assessor.

To obtain the exemption a person must be 65 years of age or older and own his home and live in it on Jan. 1 of the year he applies.

A single person 65 or older may not earn over $2,800 a year to qualify. A married couple with one person 65 or older may earn up to $3,550 and still qualify, while a married couple with both 65 or older may earn up to $4,300 and still qualify.

Mrs. Stipp noted that the new homestead exemption is unlike the one which has been in effect since 1970 in that persons must apply for it each year between Jan. 1 and April 1.

THE APPLICATIONS are mailed to the state tax commissioner who determines who qualifies and who doesn't, she notes.

The county loses no tax revenue through the tax exemption, empha-zizes Mrs. Stipp. Under both programs, the state reimburses the county the amount the county homeowners saved by applying for the exemptions, she says.

"Many people aren't aware that these exemptions on their property taxes are available to them," Mrs. Stipp notes. Although the word is getting around about the tax exemption which has been in effect since 1970, there are still many people who could qualify for the one affecting elderly people on limited incomes, she adds.

A TOTAL OF 655 homeowners in Wayne saved $20,160 on their tax bills this year by applying for the tax exemption all homeowners are qualified to regardless of income. That amounted to an average savings of slightly under $30.

In Winside a total of 84 property owners saved $2,083, while 52 Carroll homeowners realized $1,093 in savings. Forty-seven persons in Hoskins saved $943 this year.

Like the exemption for elderly persons, a homeowner must own and live in his home on Jan. 1 of the year he applies for the exemption. Unlike the exemption for elderly persons, however, a homeowner needs to apply for this exemption only once.

SINCE 1970 WHEN the exemption took effect more than 1,400 homeowners have applied and qualified for it, according to Mrs. Stipp. Their savings over the years: $33,185.

Veterans who own their homes can receive additional benefits if they are disabled or if they are over 70 years of age, she notes.

"The exemptions, especially those for elderly residents, are really worth applying for," says Mrs. Stipp. "A savings of $200 on their tax bill is quite a savings for an elderly person or couple."

Homeowners wishing more information about either exemption—the one applying just to elderly people or the one applying to all homeowners—should talk to Mrs. Stipp about how they go about applying.

Survey Inside Asks About Your Interest In Adult Classes at WS

Interested in taking an adult education class or a hobby class at Wayne State College?

If so, you should fill out the form on the editorial page inside this issue of The Wayne Herald and return it as soon as possible.

The survey gives you a chance to tell college officials what kinds of classes you would be interested in enrolling in if they were offered at Wayne State.

Conducting the survey are students in Dr. Howard Schmidt's principles of adult education class. Although the survey is a class project, results will be turned over to college officials to help them determine if there is enough interest in offering classes such as automobile tune-up, ceramics, typing, first aid, sewing, welding and the like.

The newspaper is printing the form as a public service to help class students complete their project. Students plan to conduct a random telephone survey in Wayne in the next few days to give them an even-better indication as to the interest in adult classes at the college.

Persons interested in such classes should fill out the form, clip it from the newspaper and mail it to Carolyn Madava, graduate assistant at the college.

Results of the survey will be published when available.

Scout Executive Accepts New Position at Omaha

Dennis Boehme of Wayne, district executive of the Lewis and Clark Boy Scout District for more than three years, will take over a similar job in Omaha in early December.

Boehme said his new district will be the Golden Eagle Boy Scout District, which will have approximately 1,000 more Scouts in it than the approximate 1,500 Scouts in the Lewis and Clark District.

He also will have an assistant in his new district, which will be located in south Omaha, he said.

President of the local Community Chest fund drive this past year, Boehme was athletic director for the city of Council Bluffs before taking the Lewis and Clark District job three years ago last March. His wife, Nancy, teaches at Laurel.

A new executive has not been named for the Lewis and Clark District, which includes some 34 Boy Scout troops, 35 Cub Scout packs and three Explorer units.

Peanut Sale Slated

The Wayne Kiwanis club will give the annual peanut sale another try Monday — this time going door-to-door.

Keith Mosley, co-chairman of the club project, said the group will be divided up into six committees to canvass the town.

"All the members should meet at the Peoples Natural Gas Co. office at 7 p.m. before going to the assigned areas," he told members during Monday's Kiwanis meeting.

Last Thursday Mosley tried to round up enough members to solicit in the downtown area, but could not get enough to help.

Carroll Man Hurt

A 69-year-old Carroll man, Walter Lage, was treated by a Wayne physician for second degree burns on the face, both hands and wrists at the Wayne Hospital Friday.

Lage was driving at the north end of Main Street in Carroll, heading out of town, when his car burst into flames. Carroll fire department members, who had the fire under control about 30 seconds after their arrival, speculated that a propane bottle in the trunk of the car may have come open.

DONNA CLAUSSEN

Pilger Lady Wins $50 In 'Bucks'

Mark up another winner in Wayne's weekly Birthday Bucks promotion.

The latest to go home a winner is Donna Clausen of Pilger, winner of the $50 consolation prize in last week's drawing.

She was in Safeway at 8:15 p.m. last Thursday night when the winning date was announced, and she ended up being the person with the birthday closest to the winning date, drawn at random earlier in the day.

Friday night — stores will close today (Thursday) for Thanksgiving — the participating stores will offer $300 in Birthday Bucks to the person in one of the stores with a birthday on the exact date drawn at random. Another consolation prize will be awarded in case the grand prize goes unclaimed.

The Birthday Bucks are coupon See 'BUCKS,' page 8

Time Nears For First $500 Prize

Businesses in Wayne are continuing to give away tickets to shoppers for the seven Christmas Bucks drawings to be held in December.

The first drawing in the Chamber of Commerce holiday promotion will be Dec. 7 when a grand prize of $500 in Christmas Bucks will be awarded some lucky shopper.

Drawings for $100 each will be held on Dec. 11, 14, 17, 18 and 19, leading up to the final drawings for another $500 prize on Dec. 21.

The Christmas Bucks given away in the drawings may be spent just like cash in any of the stores taking part in the holiday promotion.

Shoppers should keep the tickets they are receiving with their purchases in local stores so they can compare them with numbers posted in participating businesses each day there is a drawing.

Numbers will be posted at 2 p.m., and shoppers have until 8 p.m. to claim the prize offered that day. The prize goes to the person holding the ticket with the number matching the first one on the list. If that person doesn't claim the prize by 8 p.m., the Christmas Bucks will go to the person holding the ticket with the number closest to the first one listed.

A total of 25 numbers will be drawn at random and posted for each $100 prize given away. Fifty numbers will be drawn for the $500 prizes.

An advertisement elsewhere in this issue of The Wayne Herald explains the rules governing the drawings.

Wayne Lion Seeking District Level Job

Clete Sharer of Wayne has been nominated for the post of Lions Club district governor.

If elected, he would be the first member from the local Lions Club ever to hold that position. The district covers 29 clubs in eastern Nebraska, including the metropolitan Omaha area.

Sharer was nominated during Sunday's district cabinet meeting at Plattsmouth.

Currently deputy district governor, Sharer has served on numerous committees during his 10 years as a member of the local club. He was president of the Wayne club during the 1971-72 year, and he has been a zone chairman.

Election of the man to replace district governor Gene French of Elkhorn will be held during a cabinet meeting in Fremont in February.

Also during Sunday's meeting at Plattsmouth, the Wayne club offered to host the district talent contest. The contest will be held here sometime in April, with winners advancing to the state contest.

Herald Earns 'Blue Ribbon' Rank for 1974

The Wayne Herald has been named a "National Blue Ribbon Newspaper for 1974 by the National Editorial Foundation at Washington, D.C.

In announcing the honor foundation president Paul D. Coffman of Melrose Park, Ill., noted that the Herald was one of only 278 newspapers to achieve this designation in a nationwide program open to all newspapers.

"Twenty-five criteria, measuring the newspaper's service to its community against a national standard, were employed in the judging. Publishers whose newspapers are recognized for their over-all excellence, or who had previously been accorded the Foundation's Blue Ribbon designation, participated in the judging.

The Foundation, established in 1956, is dedicated to the improvement of journalism and journalism education.

Summer and Smoke

IN REVIEW

A simple plot of early 20th century romance, turned into an emotional expose by the keen pen of playwright Tennessee Williams, gives us "Summer and Smoke," presented by the Wayne State College Theatre Department this week. In "Summer and Smoke," personality stereotypes, shaped by Williams into cartoon-like characters, are played against a handful of individuals who face the world without rose-colored glasses, staging the old battle of morals and priorities and truth and the search for it.

THE STORY

1916 — Dr. John Buchanan Jr., returns to his hometown of Glorious Hill, Miss., to begin his search for self. Alma Winemiller, the girl next door, is awed and frightened by this new Dr. Johnny, who does not fit her idealistic picture of what a good man should be, and more frightened still of her feelings for him.

This is the story of Alma's fight to accept herself and emerge from the picture book world she shares with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Winemiller, and a host of smug and unenlightened acquaintances.

Before Alma can resolve the feelings within herself, Johnny proceeds through a scandalous fling with Rosa Gonzales and turns finally for happiness to the young Nellie Ellwell.

Though we cry with Alma in her hurt and rejection, we rejoice too over her inner victory.

THE CAST

Mike Carruthers played Dr. Johnny. Johnny's father, a bit of a sage, was portrayed by Noel Rennerfeldt and Nellie, who wins Dr. Johnny, was played by Becky Miller.

These are the truth seekers in "Summer and Smoke," and we suspect that Archie Kramer, portrayed by Steve Placek, who makes a brief appearance in the final scene, also belongs to this group of individuals set apart from the rest of the idealistic inhabitants of Glorious Hill.

Janet Macklin, who played Alma Winemiller, had probably the most difficult part in the play.

Among the idealists in the story are Rev. Winemiller, a bigot of sorts, played by Douglas Gooder, and Mrs. Winemiller, who has chosen to hide from the issues behind a veil of mental illness. She was played by Katie Batenhorst.

Two very stuffy and quite respectable young men, Roger Doremus and Vernon, were played by Greg Black and Bernard Batenhorst. Rosa Gonzales was portrayed by Maria Ruiz and her father, Papa Gonzales, was played by Maximino Molina. Maureen Persinger was Mrs. Bassett, the socialite, and Mary Harrison was Rosemary, a younger version of Mrs. Bassett. John Stark played Dusty.

THE PERFORMANCE

The presentation uncovered the abilities of several adept character actors who kept the pace up while providing a comedy of human errors by which the audience could laugh at its own inadequacies. The portrayals by Miss Batenhorst and Miss Persinger were especially notable.

The performance of the entire cast was commendable, but particularly that of Carruthers, Miss Macklin and Miss Miller, all of whom could have been easily upstaged had they been less strong in their parts. The final scene between Carruthers and Miss Macklin was most impressive.

The presentation was not flawless, however.

The arrangement of backdrop stars was a little too original. A few lines were lost (by more than one actor) in too-rapid delivery, and the love scenes, except in the final act, were rather awkward.

But the message of the story was clear, and costumes were delightful. An imaginative and attractive set, only slightly abstract, reinforced the theme of the real world versus the mirage of idealism. The actors succeeded in becoming extensions of the audience, and the play, directed by Dr. Helen J. Russell, was definitely entertaining, and on closer look, thought-provoking.

Two Weekend Courtesies Held for Laurel Bride Elect

Two bridal showers were held this past weekend for Nancy Wallin of Laurel.

Miss Wallin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winton Wallin of Laurel and Bryan Reinhardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Reinhardt of Wayne, will be married this Saturday afternoon at Concordia Lutheran Church, Concord.

Sixty guests from Laurel, Wayne, Wakefield, Concord and Dixon attended the Saturday afternoon fete held at Concordia Church. Devotions were given by Mrs. Esther Peterson.

A skit was presented by the hostesses, Mrs. Marilyn Dahlquist, Mrs. Wallace Magnuson and Mrs. Dennis Forsberg of Laurel, Mrs. George Anderson, Mrs. Esther Peterson, Mrs. Arvid Peterson, Mrs. Glenn Magnuson and Mrs. Quinlan Erwin of Concord; Mrs. Harley Bard of Wakefield and Mrs. Keith Erickson and Mrs. Ernest Swanson of Wayne.

A second courtesy, attended by 30 guests from Winside, Wisner, Pilger, Rosalie, Laurel, Concord and Wayne, was held Sunday afternoon at the First Trinity Lutheran School in Altona. Pencil games served for entertainment.

Hostesses were Pearl Youngmeyer, Kay Saul, Gertrude Vahikamp, Debby Madden, Kathy Podany and Mary Woelher.

Decorations at both fetes were in bittersweet and yellow.

Special Turkey Stuffing

A plump, beautifully browned turkey is the highlight of many festive dinners, but often it is the stuffing that distinguishes the holiday bird. Today's Sausage-Apple Stuffing is an old-fashioned corn bread dressing delightfully seasoned with onion and sage. When planning your traditional holiday dinner, be sure to include this exceptionally good stuffing for the turkey.

SAUSAGE-APPLE STUFFING

For one 10 to 12-lb. turkey plus a 1 1/2 qt. casserole

One pan corn bread, crumbled*	1 lb. bulk pork sausage meat
8 slices regular sliced white bread, lightly toasted and cubed	2 cups chopped onion
2 teaspoons salt	1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon pepper	2 cups chopped apple
1 teaspoon sage	1 cup chicken or turkey stock
	2 eggs, beaten
	One 10 to 12-lb. turkey

Combine crumbled corn bread, bread cubes, salt, pepper and sage. Fry sausage until red color disappears crumbling with fork. Drain on absorbent paper. Add to bread mixture. Lightly saute onion in butter. Add to bread mixture with apples. Stir in stock and eggs. (Add more stock for more moist dressing.) Toss to blend well. Stuff into neck and body cavities of turkey. Truss. Roast according to standard roasting directions. Cook extra dressing in ungreased covered 1 1/2 qt. casserole in preheated slow oven (325°F.) about 1 hour.

CORN BREAD

Makes one 9-inch corn bread

1/2 cups enriched corn meal	2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour	1 egg, beaten
2 teaspoons baking powder	1 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt	1/2 cup vegetable oil

Heat oven to very hot (450°F.). Sift together corn meal, flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add egg, milk and oil. Pour into greased 9-inch square baking pan. Bake in preheated oven (450°F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cool.

SPEAKING OF PEOPLE

Extension Workshop Schedule Announced

A tentative schedule of special workshops and short courses for the Northeast Nebraska area in 1974 has been announced by Myrtle I. Anderson, Anna Marie Kreitels and Joycelyn Smith, home extension agents at the University of Nebraska North-east Station, Concord.

All workshops will be announced individually prior to the dates they are to be held.

MENS JACKETS

"Sewing of Men's Jackets" will be the workshop to be held in Wayne Jan. 10, Feb. 7, 14, 21 and 28; in Emerson, Jan. 16, Feb. 5, 12, 19 and 26; and in South Sioux City Mar. 19, April 4, 11, 18 and 25. In each town, the first meeting will be the afternoon meeting, and the following meetings will last all day. One more workshop may be added in this interest area sometime in the fall of 1974.

The workshop will go into techniques for sewing men's and boys' sport jackets. Each participant will be expected to construct a jacket.

Enrollment for this course is limited and a fee will be charged.

KITCHEN PLANNING

A kitchen planning clinic is to be held at the Emerson REA building the afternoons of Jan. 18 and 25 and Feb. 1. The clinic will focus on planning and arrangement of kitchens, planning kitchen storage and basics of lighting, finishes and equipment needs. The content may vary to meet the needs expressed by the audience.

This clinic will be conducted by a state extension specialist.

DOUBLE KNITS

Visuals and discussion of techniques for sewing with double knit fabrics will be featured at a Jan. 22 meeting in Emerson, a Jan. 23 meeting in Hoskins and a Jan. 24 meeting in Hartington. Each meeting will run from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., with afternoons devoted to questions and answers. Participants may stay for the entire day or come for just part of the sessions.

CONSUMER CLINIC

On March 14, morning, afternoon and evening consumer clinics, with emphasis on credits, advertising, fraudulent practices, labeling, insurance, income tax and stretching shopping dollars, will be conducted by a state extension specialist. A registration fee will be charged for this clinic. The location has not yet been decided.

FABRICS

A "Listen to Your Fabric," workshop is scheduled for March 21, from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. at the Northeast Station. The workshop will include discussion of generic fibers, characteristics, use and care. Participants will learn what to look for when selecting fabrics to sew or fabrics in ready-to-wear. Construction tips will be included. There will be a registration fee.

COLOR

Color dimensions, seeing color relationships, combining colors and application of color to everyday living will be emphasized at the "Color in Theory and Practice" workshop set for May 14 and 21, from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. at South Sioux City.

REFINISHING

On June 4 and 10, all day furniture refinishing sessions will be held at Wallhill. The sessions will include discussion of general techniques in furniture refinishing, stripping old finishes and applying new finishes. Each participant should plan to have small piece of furniture to work on during the session.

Ann Owens 2nd Chair For Parade

Wayne High student Ann Owens has been elected second chair alto saxophone for the McDonald's All American High School Marching Band which will perform in the big Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade today (Thursday).

She will reportedly march in the middle of the band when it performs in the nationally televised parade.

Daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Owens, she left Sunday for New York to participate in the parade. She also will perform in the Tournament of Roses Parade on New Year's Day in Pasadena, Calif. That parade also will be televised.

Luncheon Served To 50 at UMW

Mary Circle members served the noon luncheon to members of the United Methodist Women who met Nov. 14. Fifty members and a guest, Mrs. John Floy of Clear Lake, Ia., were present.

Mrs. Richard Keidel reported on the plans for the Christmas Fair to be held Dec. 1 at the church. Mrs. Al Shuffell presented a corsage for missions to Mrs. Arnold Emry, chairman of the cookbook committee. Corsages for missions were also presented to the 14 women who have served as officers during the past year, and Mrs. Lester Hansen, outgoing vice president, received a membership pin.

The program, concerning the purpose of the United Methodist Women's organization, was presented by Mrs. Virgil Luhr, with assistance from Mrs. Walter Tolman, Mrs. Tom Rose, Mrs. Merlin Preston, Mrs. Celia Asmusen and Mrs. Larry Thompson. Each member received a paper butterfly to wear as a symbol of the breakthrough of the UMW mission work. World Service Bank offerings were turned in.

Next meeting will be at 2 p. m. Dec. 12 for a Christmas party.

Goldenrod Date Set

Goldenrod Club members will meet at 1 p. m. Dec. 8 for a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Floyd Andrews.

Firemen's Auxiliary Plans Family Supper

In place of the regularly scheduled Tuesday meeting, Wayne Firemen's Auxiliary members will hold a Thanksgiving supper Sunday evening at the fire hall meeting room.

All auxiliary members and their husbands are invited to attend the 6:30 p. m. meal.

Baby Baptized

Baptismal services for Bradley Michael Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hansen of Wakefield, were held Sunday morning at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Wayne.

The Rev. S. K. deFreese officiated. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Biede of Hastings and Michael Hansen.

Dinner guests in the Hansen home that day included the Biedes, Mark and Michele, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Splitzger, Mr. and Mrs. Louie Hansen and Michael, Mrs. Marcella Whitehurst and Mrs. Bob Wittgow and Wendy of Stanton Pastor and Mrs. deFreese joined the group for afternoon lunch.

Thomas Victor and Bride Wed in Iowa Saturday

Grace United Methodist Church in Sioux City, Ia., was the scene of the wedding Saturday evening uniting in marriage Joan A. Lechner and Thomas C. Victor of Central City. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lechner of Sioux City and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Victor of Wayne.

registered the 150 guests who were ushered into the church by John Sandahl of Laurel and Dan Roberts of Sumner. Candles were lighted by Jill Lechner and Fred Beck of Sioux City. Marla Ralston sang "Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Don Nelson. The Rev. Charles Wallace officiated at the double ring ceremony. All are of Sioux City. Serving her sister as maid of honor was Jane Lechner of Sioux City. Bridesmaids were Becky Mehl of Grand Island and Anna Victor of Wayne. Best man was Doug Nelson of Wayne and groomsmen were Dan Roberts of Sumner and the bridegroom's brother, Mike Victor of Wayne.

The bride chose a toe-length gown of white sate peau and Venice lace, styled with high, ruffled neckline, full bishop sleeves and A-line skirt. Matching lace daisies edged her floor-length mantilla and she carried blue and white carnations and roses.

The bride's attendants wore floor-length frocks of sapphire blue velvet and organza, fashioned with high waists, lantern sleeves, full skirts and embroidered trim. They carried nosegays of blue and white carnations.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Lechner chose a beige floor-length gown with gold accessories. Mrs. Victor wore a turquoise blue floor-length frock with black accessories.

Pat Nemitz of Monroe, Ia., arranged gifts for the reception held at the church fellowship hall following the ceremony. Mrs. Dorothy Mehl of Hornick, Ia., and Allie Mehl of Sioux City, cut and served the cake. Lila Martins of Ashton, Ia., poured and Emily Cocker of Chicago, Ill., served punch.

The bride, a 1969 graduate of East High School in Sioux City, is a 1973 graduate of Wayne State College and is employed by the Central City elementary school. The bridegroom, a 1969 Wayne High School graduate, is employed by International Harvester.

The couple will be at home in Central City after Thanksgiving.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS VICTOR

Lutheran Aid Elects New Officers

New officers elected at the Nov. 14 meeting of the Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid are Mrs. Marvin Victor, president; Mrs. Melvin Utech, first vice president; Mrs. Frederick Temme, second vice president; Mrs. Wallace Victor, secretary, and Mrs. Herman Vahlkamp, treasurer.

Forty-one members attended the meeting, hosted by Mrs. Herman Vahlkamp, Mrs. Marvin Victor and Mrs. Wallace Victor. Mrs. Harold Stoltenberg was a guest.

The program, on the advent wreath and the coming of Christ, was presented by the Christian group leader. Assisting were Mrs. Edmond Heithold, Mrs. Amos Echtenkamp, Mrs. Melvin Utech, Mrs. K. F. Wentzel, Mrs. Arnold Maurer, Mrs. Harvey Grosse and Mrs. John Upton.

Next meeting will be at 2 p. m., Dec. 12 at the church.

Returning Veterans Anchor Wakefield Basketball Squad

Wakefield High basketball coach Joe Coble laid it on the line about this year's basketball squad: "We're going to have a good club."

But in the same breath he noted that the teams the Trojans will be playing this year also will be good.

With the exception of one or two teams, all the clubs have vastly improved, he pointed out about his 1973-74 campaign.

But Coble isn't backing down from this year's schedule. He'll have his own strong club to battle the other contenders.

Leading the way will be three returning starters — Doug Soderberg, Doug Fischer and Sam Utecht.

The three-year senior lettermen will be among nine returning veterans bolstering Coble's 12-man varsity crew.

Eight seniors will lead the way for the Trojans in their 15-game season. The height will come from Gary Addink, a 6-6 player who might see action in the middle. "I'm not sure yet where the players will be positioned," Coble said. "We'll have talent all around."

After the lengthy Addink comes a group of 6-1 and 6-0 vets. Utecht and Loren Hammer take care of the 6-1 players, with Keith Siebrandt, Soderberg, Larry Siebrandt and Chuck Lindstrom, the only junior veteran returning, at 6-0.

With the talent Coble will have on hand this year, he intends to go with a nine-man starting lineup instead of playing the top five. "We'll not only have power on the floor but also plenty of bench strength," he said.

Four sophomores will add to that depth, with two juniors competing for an assignment.

Scot Keagle, 6-4, is tallest of the underclassmen. Following him will be two 5-10 players, Mark Kober and Scott Mills.

Mike Soderberg rounds out the four sophs at 5-6.

For the juniors, Les Echten-kamp stands 6-1, Doug Schwarzen, 5-7.

Coble said he won't be afraid to pull off a varsity member and play a sophomore to give him experience — "all of the players are good," he said.

Coble, in his third year at Wakefield, believes his squad can better last year's 13.8 performance. In fact, he said, the goal for the team this year is to better that record by three victories.

"You have to be a senior-dominated club to win in the West Husker league," he emphasized. And that's what it will be for the Trojans.

After two years of working with juniors and sophomores, Coble feels his club will have one of its best chances to be in the running for the Husker title.

The Wakefield mentor isn't under-estimating the power of the West half, though. "It's going to be extremely strong with teams like Wayne, Hartington Cedar Catholic, Wisner-Pilger and Columbus Lakeview to contend with."

But Coble notes that his team's mixture of height, quickness, shooting and running will prove the team will be more versatile than in past years.

Wakefield opens its season Dec. 7 at home against Winside of the Lewis and Clark Conference. Other games on the schedule:

Dec. 14 — Wisner-Pilger: 15 — at Coleridge: 21 — Lyons: 27-28 — at Emerson-Hubbard: 4 — Jan. 8 — at Stanton: 11 — Oakland-Craig: 18 — at Tekamah-Herman: 19 — Pender: 25 — Madison: 26 — Laurel: Feb. 1 — at West Point: 2 — at Allen: 4-8 — West Husker Journey at Wisner-Pilger: 15 — Homer: 16 — at Emerson-Hubbard: 22 — Ponca.

New Mat Coach 'Optimistic' Taking Over Wayne Tradition

A new coach and a flock of new wrestlers are toughening up — with enthusiasm — to defend Wayne State's national reputation.

Marion Haayer, taking over as head coach, declares with no reservations: "I'm really optimistic." Although his athletic experience at Mankato State College centered mainly on football, he approaches wrestling duties with excitement.

And with good reason, considering Wayne's tradition, coupled with a corps of returning veterans, plus newcomers with potential talent.

Among six lettermen, three were regulars last year: Jim Meyer, a 126-pounder who often grappled at 134 and 142; Herb Harris at 150, and Steve Gregory at 167 or 177. In addition, there is letterman Ron Coles, who missed part of the 1973 campaign after placing third in the NAIA national heavyweight division in 1972.

The other lettermen are Brooks Widner at 118 and Fred Spale, 190.

Optimism has to be tempered to some extent by this fact: No less than six regulars from last year's national sixth place team are gone, among them three NAIA placers. They are three-time national champ Ken Monroe; Tom Luth, a fifth placer; Tom Cortez, sixth in the nationals; Larry Kersten, Kent Irwin and Denny Reid.

Luth and Cortez did not return to Wayne, and the other four completed eligibility.

Promising prospects among newcomers include 126-pounder Erv Robbins, who won state collegiate championships in Indiana and Maryland; freshmen Dave Jaeger, 118, and Randy Humpal, 142, who won Nebraska high school titles competing at Winside and Butte; returning Steve Ellis, who will make the 118 weight a tussle, and Vince Emery, back to the 150-pound wars after two years' absence.

Coach Haayer also sees good potential in others on a squad of 24. He finds all the lower weights well fortified with several strong contenders. At the upper weights there is less competition.

Haayer earned a bachelor's degree from Mankato State College in Minnesota in 1968 and is close to completion of a master's there. As an athlete he lettered in football four years and was a starting lineman three years. He graduated from high school at Buffalo Center, Ia.

Home fans will have a long wait before seeing the Wildcats in action — on Jan. 17 in a dual with Kearney State, the first of only four home meets.

First action will take the Cats to the Yankton Invitational Dec. 1, then to Morningside Dec. 5, and to Kansas State University Dec. 14 in pre-Christmas combat.

Each year nearly 34,000 hunters harvest over 200,000 fox squirrels in Nebraska. Still, biologists say, more could be taken without affecting the future supply.

Center To Open After BB Games

The Wayne Middle Center will be open to high school students on an experimental basis this year after home basketball games.

Monday night the city recreation board voted in favor of the move to offer students a place to go after the games. City recreation director Hank Overin said the center will be open after the Blair game from 10 to 11:30 p.m. "If the response is good, the center will stay open until mid night," he said.

Overin added the board also is looking into the possibility of having the center open one night a week for high school students only, depending on the response.

During the meeting at the Wayne fire hall, Overin reported that the new foosball machine at the Middle Center is getting good play. "Next year I hope to buy an air hockey machine," he said.

The members decided to change the date for the center's open house to March 21 instead of this year, due to repairs

In reporting on this year's recreation football, Overin noted that 100 youngsters played tackle football while 25 to 30 signed up for tackle above the waist football.

By Bob Bartlett

WE USUALLY don't publish letters unless they are signed, but this time I'm going to make two exceptions because of the letters' contents.

The first one deals with the Winside-Coleridge football game played Oct. 26 at Winside. The letter, written by an anonymous Coleridge fan, states that my story of the game was slanted and put down the whole Bulldog team because of a missed call by a referee.

Before I go on, let me explain the situation. Winside had the ball on about Coleridge's 30-yard line when quarterback Doug Lage went back to pass. After releasing the ball, receiver Larry Weible was knocked down, allowing Coleridge to intercept the ball and race about 85 yards for a touchdown.

Now back to the letter. Perhaps I did place too much emphasis on the missed call, and I offer apologies to players and referees for the lingering lead on the apparent pass interference.

However, both the official involved and Coleridge's head coach admitted to Winside's Doug Barclay that the penalty should have been called against the Bulldogs. But, as they say, that's history. One thing that should have been emphasized more in the story was Coleridge's offense, which was able to take advantage of two Winside fumbles and turn them into two six-pointers. That is a sign of a good offensive club.

ANOTHER LETTER deals closer to home. Specifically, the Wayne High football team.

It argued that the coaches play other coaches' sons on the first units — sort of "you pat my back and I'll pat yours" situation.

Sure, some of the coaches play other coaches' sons on the first string. And for a good reason — they have talent. Enough said.

ANY AREA coaches have any ideas on how to improve their particular sport? If so, now is the time to contact an area representative on the Nebraska Coaches Association advisory committee to voice your idea.

According to the NCA's August publication, any area coach in district three can contact one of 13 coaches to offer solutions to certain problems in a sport or new ideas to improve the sport.

The 12-county district includes Antelope, Boone, Cedar, Cumma, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, Thurston and Wayne Counties.

On that committee are three area representatives, including two from Wayne High and one from Wakefield High.

Lyle Trullinger of Wakefield is the wrestling representative, and Harold Maciejewski and Mike Mallette of Wayne are the cross country and baseball spokesmen. One other member is Joe Coble, Wakefield's basketball coach, who is the district vice president.

State Wrestling Material Big Part of Wakefield's 1973-74 Grappling Squad

State high school wrestling material is always helpful to any wrestling coach, and although Wakefield High will be missing two state champs this year, coach Lyle Trullinger feels he still has state material on his hands.

Senior Steve Sorensen will give the state title a try in the 138-pound class this year, while junior Kenny Dolph will try for the 118-pound-class, giving sixth year coach at Wakefield plenty of power at the middle weights.

"That area will be our strongest point," he said, adding that Sorensen's dual record last year was about 22-3 while Dolph had an 18-9-1 mark.

Other veterans on this year's squad will be senior Roger Gustafson (138), junior Pat Nicholson (145) and sophomores Terry Borg (98), Steve Greve (155) and Merrill Hale (heavyweight).

"We're going to miss last year's state champs Kirk Gardner (155) and Dave Rouse (118)," Trullinger admitted, "but I think we'll still be strong at those weights."

This year the Trojan grapplers number about 17, same as last year's turnout. But Trullinger hopes his club can better the 1973 mark of two wins and eight losses in dual competition.

Helping out on the team are a lot of newcomers, including four juniors and five freshmen. John Polen, junior transfer from Arizona, will be battling with Tom Henschke, also a junior, for the 118-catchery. Juniors Ray Jensen and Steve Luhr will be going at 167 and 132 respectively.

The freshmen lineup includes Jim Allvin (138), Brian Newman (105), Carl Domsch (112), Dave Gustafson (167) and Ryan Trullinger (119).

Helping Trullinger this year will be Wayne State graduate assistant Denny Paul, also of Wakefield.

The Trojans, who ranked fourth in the Husker Conference last year and third in districts, opens their dual season Dec. 7 in a home match against Winside.

The rest of the schedule includes:

Dec. 8 — Wakefield tourney; 11 — at Wisner-Pilger; 15 — at North Bend tourney; 17 — at Hooper-Logan View; 18 — at Pender; Jan. 9 — Stanton; 12 — at Winside tourney; 14 — at Hartington High; 22 — West Point; 26 — at Oakland-Craig tourney; 29 — Wayne.

Wayne State Volleyballers Tie for Fifth

Women's volleyball at Wayne State came to the season finale Saturday when the team gained a fifth-place tie in the Nebraska college tournament, with 16 teams playing at Crete.

Wayne coeds encountered the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in first-round play and wound up the loser. If it was any consolation, UNL went on to win the tournament, and Wayne also could claim a split with UNL in early season games.

In consolation action, Wayne defeated the College of St. Mary, Omaha, and Doane before bowing to Concordia.

Kearney State finished in second place, followed by Chadron State and Concordia, ahead of deadlocked Wayne and Peru. Coach Bernice Fulton considered it a good finish since her team had not been seeded in the tournament. She commented that volleyball might better be called powerball nowadays. The emphasis has turned to hard-slammings drives which are difficult to stop, let alone return, she said. As a result, she expects to change emphasis in future coaching.

The Wayne volleyballers gained satisfaction last Wednesday when they defeated J. F. Kennedy College, 15-7, and 15-10. In the season's first game, Wayne had bowed to the powerful Kennedy girls. The Wayne reserve team made it a double victory over Kennedy Wednesday, 15-5, 15-10, 15-5, to keep their record entirely on the victory side.

MIKE DUNKLAU

Dunklau Named To Station's All-Area Team

Wayne High senior Mike Dunklau was named to the 12th annual KCAU Channel Nine All-Area Football Team, according to station officials.

Both Dunklau and coach Al Hansen are slated to appear on a 30-minute show Thanksgiving night at 9 p.m. as a part of the all-area team program.

Dunklau, who led defensive linemen with 124 tackles this year, was named to the West Husker's all-conference football team both offensively and defensively.

The 205-pound senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Dunklau, is one of two all-conference repeaters for coach Hansen's Blue Devils, who finished with a 5-3-1 season record.

Dr. Herse Day Slated For Sunday at Laurel

In November of 1923, a young dentistry graduate out of Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., arrived in Laurel to set up a practice left over the previous 30 years by five trial-and-error practitioners.

Unlike his predecessors, however, Dr. Richard L. Herse remained dedicated to his profession and community. For half a century, in fact.

On Sunday the community of Laurel will honor Dr. Herse during a special program at the high school auditorium. Tickets for the 1 p.m. banquet program, with city manager L. J. Matliff as master of ceremonies, are available for $2.50 each and may be purchased from Chamber of Commerce president Roger Heitman.

Dr. Herse was born at West Point, and when he was still young, his family moved to Albion where he grew up and went to school.

He married Myra Smith of Madison in 1926. He and his wife, who died in 1968, had three children, Richard, of Omaha; Mrs. Robert (Eleanor) Rogers, of Springfield, Va.; and Mrs. Charles (Nancy) Noren, of Lincoln.

Honey Sunday A Success

AFTER ALMOST five hours of door-to-door selling, the Wayne County Jaycees, Mrs. Jaycees and members of the Wayne Youth Association for Retarded Children Citizens, Honey Sunday turned out to be a success. About $530 worth of honey was sold, with proceeds to go to help retarded people, according to JC president Dale Preston. Despite Sunday's chilly weather, the group made their plans, left top, with Preston and Honey Sunday chairman John Rebensdorf going over the city map. On the top right, Lana Reeg, foreground and Norma Preston gum the labels on the jars before selling them. Below left, Marilyn Wieseler attaches her Honey Sunday campaign sticker to her coat before starting out. Student Leaders Say State Colleges Deserve More

"Do or die" was the general consensus expressed at the State College Student Coalition meeting Friday and Saturday at Wayne State.

A mood of desperation prevailed in discussion between student representatives from the state colleges.

Main topics were steps of action toward legalization of alcohol on campus and concern on continued financial and faculty cutbacks by the state.

"We're at the bottom with no place to go but up" said Alan Cramer, member of the Board of Trustees from Wayne. Speaking to the group at the Friday night session, Cramer explained the problem of being saddled with a budget set in Lincoln, Cramer said that during the time of increasing enrollment, the budgets never kept pace with increases. Because of this and the recent cutbacks, the state colleges are in trouble now.

"State colleges got whitewashed last year by the game the Legislature and the governor were playing," said Cramer.

State colleges are hurt by faculty cuts made because of fewer student credit hours being carried, as individual students reported.

"Peru has instructors teaching 18 to 23 hours out of love for the institution," Cramer said.

In reply to what the students, could do to help prevent cuts, Cramer said, "Recruit."

R. J. Ley, vice-president of student affairs at Creighton University, discussed his college's policy of alcohol on campus with the group Saturday morning.

Students are allowed alcohol in dorm rooms and in other areas with permission of the dean. Ley stressed the pulling power of letters to senators and the importance for unity in any endeavor.

He told of a bill currently being drawn up by Senators Cavanaugh and Fowler with dual clauses for alcohol and selling establishments on campus, which would apply to all colleges.

Ley suggested student gatherings in front of the state capitol at the time of the bill's reading, and preparation by thinking of suggestions to possible objections in advance.

State lobbyist Ed White from Lincoln was third speaker, offering suggestions to the possibility of state colleges and the University of Nebraska hiring a lobbyist.

White strongly recommended building a broad base of plans, and moving quietly in initial stages of seeking support.

"The time is right to really work hard" said White. Students present discussed serious plans following suggestions given them.

Besides the alcohol issue there were concerned thoughts of the dying emphasis on state colleges.

The group started making plans to arrange a group meeting with the governor after Thanksgiving.

Student and parental support on the alcohol bill is being gathered. Letters are being sent to encourage people to write their Senators. It was agreed a problem existed in that the public is unaware of state college cuts and financing problems.

Editorial, television, and state-wide papers will be used to publicize the drive.

Serious facts of the diminishing emphasis on state colleges by the State Legislature discouraging those present.

"It's time we show the legislature we've got zip," said one Kearney representative.

Action is imperative, another student said, but a stumbling block preventing progress would be lack of interest from other students. At the meeting were three Peru, five Kearney, and

Energy Sources Course Offered

The Department of Sciences at Wayne State College will offer for the first time the highly important and topical course entitled: Energy Sources of the Future.

Other than a general concern for an interest in the energy crisis, there are no prerequisites for this course, which is applicable to general electives.

Dean Metz, the instructor, said the course will have its first two UNL students, Wayne, host school, had four representatives present at various times, and one present for the entire session.

Summing up the positions of the state colleges Cramer said, "There's no place to go but up."

The lift will be a long heavy one needing the support of everyone to care about the future of their college.

The next SCSC meeting is planned at Peru for Dec. 7 and 8.

meeting Tuesday evening, January 8, at 1830 (6:30 p.m.) in Room 06 of the Carhart Science Hall. Format of the course will be that of a workshop.

Each member of the class will be able to work in specialized areas of his own interest. The direct participation and unique contributions from each class member will enhance the value of the class to all who enroll.

Metz said.

There is no simple solution to the energy crisis. Environment, technology, investment capital, foreign policy, trade balance, regulatory policies, energy costs — all these are but a few of the complex factors that must be considered and carefully weighed before the problem can be solved, Metz commented.

To help the class understand the intricate relationships among the many factors listed above, the Energy Sources course will utilize a special instrument called an Energy-Environment Simulator which was recently developed expressly for this purpose.

The class will also have access to some 200 slides and considerable data compiled by Metz during his summer work at Oak Ridge, Tenn. Metz has been concerned with the area of energy sources for some years.

Fuel Shortage Forcing Post Office to Advance Deadlines for Mailing

Wayne area residents are being urged to mail early this holiday season, especially now that the federal government has taken steps to fight the fuel shortage.

Wayne postmaster Wilbur Giese said the federal government has ordered all mail vehicles to drive no more than 50 miles per hour in order to conserve gasoline. That means the mailing deadlines on Christmas mail will have to be about a week earlier than expected, he said.

Hold Those Papers for Dec. 1 Drive

If you have newspapers piled up in your garage or basement, keep them there a few more days so Boy Scouts can pick them up during their paper drive.

The November drive will not be held because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

However, there will be a paper drive on Dec. 1, according to drive chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson. Residents in Wayne, Carroll and Winside are asked to have their newspapers bundled and set on their porch or curb by 8:30 a.m. that day.

Youth Hospitalized Following Accident

Larry Becker, 18, of St. Helena remained hospitalized at Yankton Tuesday following a one-car accident at the edge of Laurel Sunday evening.

Becker was driving east when his car apparently went out of control, went off the road, flew over a five-foot fence and landed upright on top of a feed bunk in an unused feed yard, according to the investigating officer.

Becker reportedly suffered minor cuts and bruises in the accident, according to state patrolman Bill Watson of Wayne.

No one was in the car with Becker at the time of the accident, Watson said.

ETV Program Offers Variety To Elderly

News, entertainment and special information of interest to older Nebraskans is the focus of a new weekly series, "The Grand Generation," now being seen weekly on the Nebraska Educational Television Network.

The program is shown each Thursday evening at 6:30 p.m. and is repeated each Friday at 7 a.m.

Governor J. James Exon, state senator Richard Marvel and Ronald Jensen, director of the Nebraska Commission on Aging, appeared on the premiere program of the series.

Also on that premiere program were members of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center, filmed earlier in the year in various activities. Mrs. Eldon Bull, center director, says she keeps the center open each Thursday evening so any elderly people in the city or area may view the program at the center.

SS Asks for Help in Telling About Benefits

The Social Security Administration is asking for help in getting information to people who may be eligible for the supplemental security income payments that start in January for people with little or no income who are 65 or over, blind or disabled.

That request was made by Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

He asked that people and organizations active with low-income people "help us pass the word along about supplemental security income."

People getting state public assistance payments because they're 65 or over, blind or disabled generally will be eligible for the federal payments and don't have to apply, Branch said.

"But we are still concerned that there might be people who will not hear or know about the program," he said.

"If you know of someone 65 or older who is in need, blind or disabled who needs financial help and they aren't getting public assistance now, please tell them about the new program," he said.

Supplemental security income will establish a nationally uniform income floor for people in need who are 65 or older, blind or disabled. The amount of the payments they get will depend on how much other income they might have.

Eligible people with no other income will have a basic cash income of at least $130 a month for one person and $195 for a couple, according to Branch. People in institutions or with other income may get reduced supplemental security income checks, he said.

HUNDREDS OF GIFT seekers and browsers turned out for the annual Wayne Hospital fall bazaar Saturday at the city auditorium. According to treasurer Mrs. Clifford Wait, this year's project topped last year's, with an estimated $1,800 collected during the day-long affair. For many people the bazaar was an opportunity to pick up some Christmas presents before the heavy shopping starts. For some, like Rodney Dahl, bottom left photo, there were plenty of treats to buy. All he had to do was check to see if he had enough change to purchase the sweets. Looking on is Doug Doescher. At bottom right, Wayne High foreign exchange student Monika Plehn found out that the bazaar provided plenty of tasty food samples. Above, women check over one of the tables covered with a variety of objects offered for sale.

FRUIT WITH A BOUNCE

'Tis the season for cranberries, and they are on the plentiful food list this month. The price is slightly higher, so it becomes important for budget-wise homemakers to select the fruit more carefully.

A large number of varieties of fresh cranberries are marketed in large volume from September through January. They differ considerably in size and color but are not identified by variety names in your food stores. They are shipped in from Oregon and Washington as well as from the East Coast.

"Will The Firemen Ever Come!"

Don't find yourself with a $20,000 fire and $10,000 insurance. With "full value" fire insurance, your policy from the Dean Pierson Insurance Agency will pay, not the "depreciated" value, but the full replacement cost of building. Be safe—have your insurance raised to full value, now.

Pierson Insurance Agency

111 West 3rd Phone 375-2696

While differing in color and shape, all varieties share a common characteristic—the ability to bounce if they are ripe. This test comes after harvesting when cranberries are put through a machine which blows the chaff away. Mechanical separators give each berry seven chances to bounce over four-inch barriers. Those that don't bounce are discarded before packaging.

The consumer should look for plump, firm berries with a lustrous color for best quality. Duller varieties should have at least some red color.

Occasional soft, spongy or leaky berries should be sorted out before cooking as they may produce an off-flavor.

Cranberries bring color and zesty flavor to the holiday table in a number of ways. Cranberries are delicious when used in relishes, holiday breads, cocktails and desserts.

Let them find a place in your holiday menu. Here's one to try:

Cranberry Apple Relish

2 C. fresh cranberries
1 apple, cored and quartered
¼ lemon, with peel
1 C. sugar
Stem and wash cranberries. Grind cranberries, apples, and lemon. Add sugar and mix well. Chill. Makes 1 pint.

VA Q & A

Q. I was just discharged from service where I worked in a medical laboratory. How do I go about getting a similar job with the Veterans Administration?

A. Contact the personnel office of the nearest VA hospital for information on employment opportunities at the agency's hospitals and clinics. You may qualify for a Veterans Readjustment Act appointment, which would eliminate much of the paper work usually connected with Civil Service appointments.

Q. I am thinking of going to school under the GI Bill. Will the Veterans Administration pay me educational assistance to attend any school, or pursue any course?

A. Not quite. In order to receive VA assistance, the course or program must not be barred by law, and must lead to a recognized educational, professional or vocational objective.

WSC Music Prof Scores Again

Antony Garlick, Wayne State's professor of organ and a prolific composer, has done it again — had an assortment of music works published.

In recent years he has composed hundreds of works, dozens of them appearing in print.

This time the Seesaw Music Corporation of New York has accepted five Garlick compositions for publication. Their variety is typical: "Bridal March and Fantare for Trumpet and Organ," "Fantasy for Clarinet for Organ," "A Song Cycle for Tenor and Piano," "Fifteen two-part inventions for harpichord," and "Two Pieces for Three Players (trumpet, trombone and piano)."

Although Garlick counts the pipe organ as his favorite instrument for both playing and composing, he writes for practically every instrument and voice, in all sorts of combinations.

Garlick makes a point of composing something nearly every day — to keep in practice. Actually, he composes automatically, as members of the United Presbyterian Church know. At the pipe organ he regularly improvises interludes, and listeners have to refer to the program to know whether any particular selection is the work of some master composer or of their own organist.

Picking Bee Held for Farmer Near Wakefield

Friends and neighbors of a Wakefield farmer, Willis Kahl, gathered recently for a picking bee, picking 100 acres of corn with nine pickers.

Helping were Martin Hingst, Dennis Hingst, James Brown, Tim Krusemark, Albert Anderson, Joe Mattes, Bill Mattes, Bill Stallbaum, Delbert Jensen, Clarence Luhr, Verle Holm, Dennis Fredrickson, Eugene Nettleton, Robert Ostergar, Ephraim Johnson, Maurice Gustafson, Alvin Paulson, Arville Paulson, Derwood Wriedt, Robert Hollman, Ben Lienemann, Cecil Fredrickson, Elwin Fredrickson, Alvin Leuth, Harry Dellin, Veimer Anderson, Kermit Wriedt and Randy Kahl.

Women who brought in food for the dinner and lunches and assisted with serving included Mrs. Eugene Nettleton, Mrs. John Paulson, Mrs. Elwin Fredrickson, Mrs. Albert Anderson, Mrs. Willis Krusemark and Mrs. Cecil Fredrickson.

Simple, But Fun

ANTONY GARLICK

US Diplomat To Lecture

A State Department officer with nearly 20 years of diplomatic service at home and abroad, including a stint with former Ambassador to Finland Val Peterson, now of the WSC faculty, will lecture at Wayne State Thursday, Nov. 29.

He is John P. Owens, now officer of the Swedish-Finnish Desk in Washington. His appearance here was arranged by Peterson, functioning in his role as distinguished professor of political science.

Owens will speak at 7:30 p.m. in the Birch Room Nov. 29, and the following day, Friday, will meet with students and faculty in a rap session.

Depending on world condition at the time Owens talks Thursday night, we will either give an overview of America's foreign policy problems or discuss Scandinavia and its relations to the USSR and the United States.

The public is invited to attend, and Owens will welcome questions.

He served as first secretary and political officer in Helsinki while Peterson was ambassador to Finland.

Peterson said, "He is a top flight officer and scholar. His performance in Helsinki was outstanding. While there, he was a favorite American lecturer in the universities and secondary schools, and with the public."

Owens has served in Italy, Venezuela and Greece, besides several periods in State Department offices in Washington. He speaks Finnish, Greek and French.

Peterson said Owens is one of several government officials who will come to Wayne State in coming months.

'Let Us Give Thanks'

George Washington, in issuing the first presidential Thanksgiving Proclamation, said, "It is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His Will, to be grateful for His benefits, and to humbly implore His protection."

This message is extremely imperative for America today. David expressed his thanks to God in a very concrete way: "What shall I render to the Lord for all His benefits toward me? I will take the cup of salvation and call upon the name of the Lord. . . I will offer to thee the sacrifice of thanksgiving and will call upon the name of the Lord." (Psalms 116:12, 13, 17).

The custom of celebrating Thanksgiving actually started in our land with the Pilgrims in 1621. But this was not the beginning of Thanksgiving celebrations, for 3,400 years ago the people of Israel gathered in the fall to thank God for the harvest.

This Thanksgiving, let us thank God for worldwide brotherhood as well as for our material and spiritual blessings. If the human race is to survive and the Kingdom of God is to cover the earth, we must recognize the universal brotherhood of man and our interdependence. All mankind is a part of the human family, with common interests, desires and needs.

As we consider this, we would do well to turn our attention to the East. With all our scientific advancements and modern technology, we still are not self sufficient. We split the atom, conquered outer space, and are the only nation to put a man on the moon. We boast of having more automobiles, televisions, air conditioners, machinery and other modern conveniences than any nation in the world. Yet our comfortable survival as well as our eternal security depends in part on the "little peoples" of the earth.

It was from the little Arab countries that Noah found the pitch to waterproof the ark. (Genesis 6:14). It was on the banks of the Nile that Moses' mother found the same thing to waterproof the basket in which Moses was placed. (Exodus 2:3). Of late these Arab people have, by denying the world this product, thrown hundreds of millions of people into despair. It is difficult to realize that a few million people in an undeveloped region can threaten with chaos the highly mechanized nations of the earth.

As we thank God for our brotherhood, let us be mindful of the greatest gift to mankind, Jesus Christ. "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believed in Him, should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16). By accepting Him we can each one become . . . heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ. . . (Romans 8:17). Through faith and by repentance we can become members of that great Christian brotherhood that God intended for all mankind. "That whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." (John 3:15).

Today, as we gather around our Thanksgiving tables, let us thank God for the common brotherhood of man and our interdependence upon one another. Let us thank Him for a wonderful community in which to live, for Northeast Nebraska, for friendly people, for our schools, churches, government, for Jesus Christ, our personal Lord and Saviour, and all material and spiritual blessings through Him.

Getting Ready for Summer

WINSIDE TOWN officials hope to have the village's new shelter house completed by next summer in time for picnic fun. According to mayor Vernon Hill, the project started last week with the pouring of the foundation and erection of the structure. Included in the construction will be wooden shingles on the side of the building. Funds for both the building and new playground equipment to be ordered will come out of the town's federal revenue sharing funds.

Nitrogen Shortage Possible in '74

A 10 per cent nitrogen shortage has been projected for the 1974 spring season, said Richard Wiese, University of Nebraska Lincoln extension agronomist.

"One of the many reasons we haven't built up any nitrogen inventory," he explained, "is because farmers have been using more nitrogen on wheat in order to produce greater yields and on grazing lands to produce more cattle feed."

He noted the high prices of wheat and beef have encouraged farmers to strive for higher production than usual.

In the past year, Wiese said, domestic consumption of nitrogen has been increasing about five per cent while domestic production has been increasing only three per cent.

Another cause for the shortage, he said, is that production of increased fertilizer supplies has been hampered by the need for more sources of energy. In the case of Nebraska's nitrogen production, natural gas is the necessary energy ingredient for fertilizer manufacture.

This shortage is also due, he continued, to price controls, to the general overall transportation system and distribution problems, to the increased acreage production which brings in added acres needing fertilizer, and to export controls.

He said, "Instead of building up an inventory for next year's crops, the fertilizer has been used for fall-oriented crops such as wheat."

There is an expectation of a three to five per cent nationwide phosphorous shortage as well, but this will probably not affect Nebraska, Wiese said. Since Nebraska has fairly fertile soil, Nebraskans should not feel the phosphorous shortage "if we are more careful."

Six new phosphorous plants are going to go into operation by 1976, he said, and the nation may have a surplus by then, depending on how great the export demands are.

No increase is expected in the demand for potash.

He continued, "Right now it looks like we have only about half as much anhydrous ammonia in storage as we did last year, and there are no signs of a potential buildup to get supplies up to where they were last year."

"Let's hope our season is dry, and other states have wet seasons," he said, "so they can't use their fertilizer and will then ship it to us." In the 1973 spring season Nebraska was facing a nitrogen shortage "but we were extremely lucky. The states to the east of us were bogged down in water while we were able to get into our fields," he said.

Because the other states weren't able to spread their fertilizer it was shipped to Nebraska, averting a shortage.

Wiese said, "Nitrogen gives us the highest return from any nutrient we might want to apply. There is really not a substitute for nitrogen. Our farmers can go ahead and haul manure; they can go back to growing a legume crop of sweet clover and alfalfa, and go back to rotating fields; but we are locked in onto a continuous corn-cash grain system, and all that man really has is maybe a source of manure from some place."

Wiese emphasized that the "farmer must be overall more precise in his farming. He's going to have to plant corn on time so he gets maximum yield out of any fertilizer he applies. He's going to have to maybe be a little more guarded with his plant population and not try to get too many plants out there. You want to get the fertilizer that'll carry the given number of plants."

The farmer must consider planting on time, irrigating more efficiently, and controlling plant population.

Soil tests could be useful to the farmer in determining exactly which fields need phosphorous or nitrogen, and which fields need no fertilizer, he continued.

Wiese suggested that if a farmer does get caught with a short nitrogen amount he should apply what he does have over all of his acres instead of over just part of his acres.

Based on the overall picture of a nitrogen shortage," he said, "we are recommending fall fertilization wherever possible this year, although we do not usually recommend it. Only fine textured soils should be fertilized in the fall, he said, and sandy soils should not be fertilized so early.

6 of 10 County Families Earning $5,000 or More

How well are Wayne County families making out financially? What proportion of them are now to be found in the upper income brackets?

The latest figures show that rising wages and salaries in the area have benefited most families, moving them up to higher positions on the income ladder. Conversely, the proportion at the lower level has become smaller.

The extent to which these changes have affected local residents is brought out in a copyrighted report released by Sales Management. It indicates, for every section of the county, the percentage of families that fall within each income bracket.

The breakdown was made for the purpose of obtaining a better understanding of a community's purchasing power than was possible through its "average income" figure alone.

It shows whether that average represents earnings that are well distributed among the bulk of the population, or whether it is unbalanced, with a few families

COMPOST PILES

Disposing of leaves by burning or having the trash man haul them away doesn't make much sense if you have a garden and use compost.

One way to make a compost pile is to place alternate layers of organic matter and soil in a pile four to five feet wide and no more than five feet high. The soil layer should be two to three inches thick and the organic layer six inches thick.

Add to the soil one half pound of complete fertilizer, such as 5-10-5 and one fourth pound of superphosphates.

Moisten each layer as it is placed in the pile. After one to one and one-half months, turn the pile by cutting down from one end in thin slices and pile it in a new place.

Repeat the process a month later, and by next spring the compost can be worked into the garden soil to improve the soil

PROTECT ROSES WITH MULCH

Most winter injury to roses comes from the alternate freezing and thawing of the soil during warm spells in late winter. This problem can be minimized by proper application of a good winter mulch around the plants preventing the soil from freezing too deeply and acting as an insulator to keep it that way.

At least 12 inches of mulch is needed to protect tender roses from the rigors of winter in Nebraska. The best mulches are kinds that do not tend to pack too tightly. Sawdust, or fine garden soils make excellent mulches.

If leaves are used for mulching, place them in a cylinder made of hardware cloth or chicken wire mesh to hold them together. Make the cylinder 16 to 18 inches in diameter for individual plants. If the roses are planted in a bed, extend the enclosure eight to 10 inches beyond the outer limits of the plant plot. A plastic covering is advisable if leaves are used.

Wait until the soil has partially frozen before applying the mulch. Too early application of the mulch may result in as much damage to the plants as no mulch at all. Apply this mulch after the roses have been exposed to temperatures of about 25 degrees for several days and have dropped their

4-H Livestock Shows to Be Realistic

A new change in 4-H livestock policy will make 4-H shows "more realistic, educational and more in line with the industry," says Dave Williams, University of Nebraska Lincoln extension 4-H livestock specialist.

All market beef to be shown at State Fair and AK San Ben must be weighed and identified during the month of March. The starting weight will then be put on the identification form and filed with the county agent, Williams explains.

Starting weights and gains will be given to judges when they make their official placing.

Williams notes "In the past we've used type, conformation, firmness, muscling and so forth to place the animals in the show ring. The one thing that's been missing is the animal's response to a feeding program or its growthiness."

The use of starting weights is not entirely new to Nebraska, he points out. "Several counties were already weighing their animals at the beginning of the year and using this information in their programs."

The change on a statewide basis was a recommendation of the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Association 4-H livestock committee, and has been approved by state 4-H leaders.

The new policy changes also include a limit of 10 on the number of market beef animals that may be tagged for state and interstate shows, according to Williams. This is not the limit on the number tagged for state and interstate shows.

The number of hogs or lambs that may be identified for state or interstate shows is 20 per 4-H member.

Plans Are Underway for State Feeder Pig Expo

Plans have been announced for a Nebraska Feeder Pig Exposition at Columbus Feb. 13-14 which will include a trade show and discussion of four subject matter areas of current interest in feeder pig production.

Pork producers and others interested in expanding feeder pig production in Nebraska will be able to view the latest exhibits in swine equipment and housing in the exhibition hall of the Platte County Agricultural Park. Concurrently with the trade show, programs featuring producers, industry personnel and University of Nebraska-Lincoln specialists will be held in half day segments as follows:

Feb. 13, swine fertility and reproduction in morning, the feeder pig business in afternoon.

Feb. 14, facilities for feeder pig production in morning, keeping pigs alive, healthy and growing in afternoon.

Neal Pohlman, Stanton feeder producers, said the exposition would provide a good opportunity for the exchange of ideas among producers. He described it as a first step in recognizing mutual problems of feeder pig producers, singling out one of these problems as the health threat posed by the importation, of 300,000 feeder pigs into Nebraska each year.

Organizations or firms interested in more details regarding an exhibit at the exposition should contact Craighton Knau, public relations department, Behlen Manufacturing Co., Columbus, or Terry Schrick, secretary, Nebraska Pork Producers Association. The association's Feeder Pig Committee, which Pohlman chairs, is sponsoring the exposition in cooperation with the Pork Industry Task Force of the Nebraska Livestock Development Committee and UN-LIN.

with very large incomes compensating for a larger number with small incomes.

In Wayne County, it appears, both the general level of earnings and the distribution are relatively good.

Locally, some 60 per cent of the households had net cash incomes of $5,000 or more in the past year after payment of their personal taxes.

The proportion was greater than was reported for many areas of the country.

Since the survey took into account only cash income, it understates somewhat the situation among farm families, since no allowances are made for lower living costs on the farm.

The Wayne County breakdown gives the position on the income ladder of each group of local families. It lists 24.9 per cent of them on the $5,000-$8,000 rung, 11.4 per cent at the $8,000-$10,000 level and 24.3 per cent with earnings of $10,000 or over. The remainder have a net of less than $5,000 after taxes.

Although incomes have been going up, so has the cost of living. Families need the additional money and more to keep abreast of their mounting expenses.

Farm Youths May Qualify For Loans

Parents and students in the Wayne area should know about the Nebraska Agricultural Development Student Loan Program, which offers financial aid in the form of a loan to students pursuing higher education.

Ken Carlson, guidance counselor at Wayne High School. Students should be from a farm or ranch background and preferably be studying an agriculturally related area in college or trade school, Carlson said.

The loan is available through the Nebraska Department of Agriculture, and further information may be obtained from Carlson. Application forms may be obtained by writing: Student Loan Program, Department of Agriculture, Box 4844, Lincoln, Nebr. 68509.

Loans awarded to students attending college or trade school next fall are based upon financial need of the student and his parents. Interest rate is four per cent, with the repayment period beginning nine months following graduation or termination of higher education training.

SS Representative At Center Next Week

Gail Robart, representative of the social security office at Norfolk, will be at the Senior Citizens Center in Wayne on Tuesday from 9 to 11 a.m.
He will be able to help answer any questions elderly persons may have about social security benefits.
Robart noted that people 65 or over may get federal supplemental security incomes. People under 65 and disabled or blind who have little or no regular cash income and who do not own much property or other things that can be turned into cash, such as bonds, jewelry or other valuables, may also qualify for supplemental income, he noted.

Roosevelt declared war on Japan, the Lone Ranger and Tomo rode out of the hills and Johnny made his famous call for Phillip Morris during Saturday night's Farmer Appreciation Night in Wayne.
Radio broadcaster Bill Wood of Lincoln played recordings of some of those old radio shows as a highlight of the second annual dinner put on by the local Chamber of Commerce.
Close to 400 farmers and businessmen turned out for the dinner, held at Wayne State College's Student Center.
Those who took in the dinner got a chance to hear once again how it was during radio's Golden Age. They listened to short recordings of:
—Fred Allen trying to get a word in edgewise with Senator Claghorn.
—The noisy introduction of "Gang Busters," complete with the sounds of machine guns blasting away.
—The Luchy Strike auctioneer rattling away to open "The Hit Parade."
—TV's William Conrad as Matt Dillon of "Gunsmoke" fame.
—Amos and Andy doing another of their famous jokes.

—Fred Allen making fun of Jack Benny ("Jack Benny was born ignorant, and he's been losing ground ever since.") —George Burns and Gracie Allen carrying on one of their hilarious conversations.
—Wood, who has been in radio broadcasting for 30 years, collects recordings of old radio shows as a hobby.
He played excerpts during the dinner of such programs as "The Mysterious Traveller," "I Love A Mystery," "The Shadow," "The All-American Boy," "Ma Perkins," "One Man's Family," "Grand Central Station," "Fibber Magee and Mollie" and "Captain Midnight."
One of the most successful radio shows during radio's Golden Age was one put together by some amateur broadcasters in Detroit, Wood said. They used classical music to help introduce the show — "The Lone Ranger."
Another show which was popular across the nation was "Amos and Andy," and a study showed that telephone use dropped 50 per cent every night that program went out over the radio, he noted. It was so successful that radio commentator Lowell Thomas once said that his epitaph might say that he was the commentator on just before the "Amos and Andy" show, according to Wood.

Craighton Knau, another radio broadcaster, was master of ceremonies for the dinner. He told the group that the businessman and farmer is the "greatest team in the world."
Dr. J. J. Liska, who has served as Chamber president the past year, said the businessmen in Wayne are very appreciative of the farmer. "We know you're awfully important to our community, and this is just our way to say thank you," he said.
Given away to farmers during the dinner were a 100-foot steel measuring tape, crescent wrench, hammer and floral centerpiece.
The Rev. S. K. deFrees of the Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne gave the invocation and benediction.
Working on this year's dinner were Leland Foote, John Krause, Fred Gildersleeve, Keith Jech, Dick Sorensen, Gene Cornett, George Thorbeck, Orville Sherry, Don Koerber, Maurice "Red" Carr and Gary Pick.

GETTING THEIR plates filled during Saturday night's Farmer Appreciation Dinner are two of the numerous area farmers who turned out for the Chamber of Commerce affair. Guest speaker for the night was Bill Wood, Lincoln radio broadcaster who talked about and played recordings of old radio shows such as "Gang Busters," "The Lone Ranger" and "Just Plain Bill."

Local, Area Leaders Invited to Conference

Business notes...

Community leaders from Wayne and 30 other Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa towns are expected at the first "Regionalism Rural Development Conference for Community Leaders" Nov. 27 at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City.
Featured speaker for the event will be William Erwin, Under Secretary of Agriculture. Erwin is chief administrator of the Rural Development Act, which provides federal aid and assistance for the growth and development of the country's smaller communities.
Also on the program is James Heland, vice president of the First National Bank of Minneapolis and first chairman of the Metropolitan Regional Council. Several communities in the area will share the story of their success on such subjects as industrial development, downtown renovation, city beautification and bond issue passage.

Purpose of the meeting is to bring together community leaders from throughout the area to initiate cooperative action for regional development.
Correction
The Carroll Community Club voted two weeks ago to organize a committee to have Santa Claus at the annual Wayne-Carroll band boosters program Dec. 10 instead of organizing the entire program as reported in last Thursday's issue.
The program will be held in Carroll, but the band boosters will sponsor the event.

Robert Jordan, cashier of the State National Bank & Trust Co. in Wayne returned last week from the American Bankers Association's (ABA) 22nd national agricultural and rural affairs conference at Minneapolis.
The conference focused on the challenges and opportunities in financing agriculture and agriculture-related businesses.
Jordan participated in conference sessions exploring techniques of farm lending, agricultural environmental issues, estate planning for farm families and management of rural development.
