City Buys 55-Acre Industrial Site

Wayne is now in the industrial development business. The city council Tuesday night agreed to purchase some 55 acres of land east of the city from Wayne Industries, a private development group involved in trying to attract industry to the city in recent years.

Purchase price of the land is $32,000, but a $1,125 bill engineering services and a $12,800 bill for landscaping which the city will have to pay for work at the industrial site hikes the actual purchase price to $45,925.

Councilmen voted 6-1 to purchase the land, with the lone dissenting vote coming from

Jim Thomas. Not present at the meeting was Harvey Brasch.

The city will get back about $21,500 of the purchase price within a few weeks if two persons decide to go ahead with plans to build on the industrial site, located just east of Standard Oil Farm and Home Service on the north side of Highway 35, city councilmen noted.

A Dakota City firm which manufactures farm equipment and local businessman Wilmer Marra have expressed interest in building on the site, according to members of Wayne Industries.

Councilmen agreed to the purchase after meeting Monday night with Wayne Industries officers, who emphasized that stockholders will make no money on the transaction.

Major reason for the decision to purchase the land is the possibility of the city obtaining federal grants to help with development of the land into an industrial park, creating such things as paving districts to help attract industry and changing the access to the land from the highway, according to city officials.

"A private group is unable to obtain federal grants or create paving districts, they noted.

Kent Hall said during discussion of the land purchase that no hike in the mill levy will be required to buy or develop the land. Industries moving into the industrial park would be required to pay for such things as utilities and paving, he said.

The council has spent many hours in deliberation on the purchase, and this is not a decision lightly made, Hall said after the vote to buy the land.

Earlier estimates put cost of development of the land into an attractive industrial park at close to $370,000.

Councilmen noted that development of the land doesn't have to progress any faster than industries move onto it. If that is done, they agreed, much of the cost of development would be shouldered by the industries themselves.

Earlier in the evening, councilmen agreed to discuss at their next meeting the sale of beer on Sundays. City ordinances now prohibit taverns from selling beer on Sunday.

Councilmen agreed to consider the subject after Andy Manes, owner of Andy's Pizza House, said it was "discrimination" to have city ordinances which permit bottle clubs to open on Sundays but which prohibit him and others from selling beer.

Councilmen also:

AGREED 4-3 TO LIMIT to seven the number of bottle clubs which can be allowed in the city. It will require at least one more reading, possibly two, before council can vote on adopting the proposed ordinance, however. There are currently six bottle clubs, with a request for a seventh license being processed by the state. Voting to limit the number at seven were Ivan Beeks, Pat Gross, Jim Thomas and Keith Mosley. Voting against the limit were Frank Prather, Darrel Fuelberth and Vernon Russell.

AGREED 7-0 TO HAVE city administrator Fred Brink look into the possibility of hiring

Rural Housewife Wins $50 in Birthday Bucks

A rural Wayne housewife, Mrs. Clarence Brockman, will find her Christmas shopping a bit easier on her purse, thanks to Wayne's weekly Birthday Bucks promotion.

Mrs. Brockman, who lives with her husband on a farm six miles north and one west of Wayne, won $50 in coupons in last week's drawing.

She can use the coupons just like cash in any of the stores or firms participating in the weekly promotion, but she noted much of the prize will probably be spent for groceries. She was in Wittig's Super Valu when the date drawn at random earlier in the day was announced Friday night.

Had her birthday fallen on that exact date, she would have won the grand prize of $300 in Birthday Bucks. Last week's drawing was held on Friday night because stores closed Thursday for Thanksgiving.

Another $300 prize will be up for grabs tonight (Thursday), with the winning date announced in all stores taking part at 8:15 p.m. If there is no shopper present whose birthday falls on that date, the person with the birthday closest to it will receive the $300 consolation prize.

Shoppers need not register for the weekly promotion, but they must be present in a participating store to win. There is no limit on the number of times a person may win, and employees not working on Thursday evenings are eligible for the drawings.

Next week there will be the regular Birthday Bucks drawing on Thursday night and then the drawing for $500 in Christmas Bucks the following day. Shoppers may compare the tickets they have received from stores with those posted at all participating businesses at 1 p.m. in the Christmas Bucks drawing. The $500 in coupons will go to the person holding the ticket matching the first number. If that person doesn't claim the prize by 8 p.m., the coupons will go to the person holding the next closest ticket.

'Energy Conservation Is Working'

Switching off street lights, turning down thermostats and other energy conserving steps being taken in Wayne are saving fuel, city officials report.

And the savings are being realized even though the city's electrical generating plant is burning natural gas now instead of straight diesel fuel, they add.

The savings come when natural gas is being burned because diesel fuel must be mixed with natural gas to run the engines.

How much is the city saving? That's a difficult question to answer since such things as weather, natural growth of plant production and the like have to be taken into consideration.

However, says city administrator Fred Brink, the conservation steps already taken by the city, private citizens, schools, churches, businesses and others could save as much as 14,000 gallons of diesel fuel — about two tanker truck loads — each month when the generating engines are burning straight diesel fuel.

The savings when burning natural gas and diesel fuel on a ratio of about nine to one would amount to about 1,400 gallons of diesel fuel monthly, he said.

What do those gallons of diesel fuel saved mean?

The savings over a month's time when diesel fuel is being burned at the plant would amount to enough fuel to run the plant for about two days, possibly more, during a cold snap.

Or, the savings would be enough to run the generating plant for about 20 days when both natural gas and diesel fuel are being burned.

Norbert Bruggner, power plant superintendent, said plant production for the first 25 days this month was 146,400 kilowatts less than the same period a year ago. Total production during that same period was 1,675,600 kilowatts.

It would take about 10,000 gallons of diesel fuel to generate 146,400 kilowatts of electricity when generating engines are running on straight diesel fuel, Bruggner noted.

Although that reduced production may have been caused partly by milder weather, some of it can be attributed to conservation steps since production at the plant has been growing year after year.

Energy conservation efforts throughout the city began in earnest about the second full week in November. Thus, production may have been down even more had the conservation efforts started the first of the month.

Keith Mosley, manager of Peoples Natural Gas Co. in Wayne, said he was unable to tell if conservation efforts are resulting in smaller amounts of natural gas being consumed throughout the city. The weather has been too mild in recent weeks, he said, and savings could be determined only when a cold spell hits the area.

The city administrator noted during Tuesday night's council meeting that there has been no significant change in traffic accidents since shutting off street lights throughout the city. He said some street lights have been turned back on at dangerous intersections and at such places as near the Wayne Hospital.

The city now has about 35,000 gallons of diesel fuel on hand — enough to get us "home free" during November, says Bruggner.

However, if severe winter weather hits the area during much of December, the city's current supply and the amount the city will be allocated during December may not be enough to run the plant next month if the plant is shut off natural gas for a long period, Bruggner cautions.

Judge Dismisses Charge Against Burt

Charges of malfeasance against Wayne County commissioner Floyd Burt have been dismissed.

District Judge George W. Dittick of Norfolk dismissed the charges Tuesday morning, the second day into Burt's jury trial in Wayne County district court.

County attorney Budd Bornhoff of Wayne said he would not appeal the ruling.

Dittick sustained the defense attorney's motion to dismiss the charges because there are no specific laws which were violated when Burt bought three tires and charged them to Wayne County.

Dittick said there was no actual loss of county funds from the purchases. Had the case involved actual loss of public funds, such as in an embezzlement by a county official, the case would have been different.

He agreed with the defense attorney that to be convicted of malfeasance (simply, an illegal act), the prosecuting attorney has to be able to point to a specific law making Burt's actions illegal.

County attorney Bornhoff agreed that there is no state statute making the purchases illegal, but he argued that a specific state law does not have to be broken to prove malfeasance by a public official.

Bornhoff charged Burt, of rural Winside, with two counts of malfeasance in July following purchases of three tires at Fredrickson Oil Co. north of Wayne.

Although charged to the county, the tires were purchased for a third party and for Burt himself, according to the charges.

Testimony in Burt's trial brought out that Burt purchased two tires for county employee Marvin Donner in December last year as a Christmas present. Donner, now of Hastings, said during the trial the tires appeared in the county shed at Winside after Burt told him he would try to have the county purchase them for him.

The third tire, purchased at Fredrickson Oil in April, was used for Burt's own personal automobile, according to testimony.

Burt later paid for all three tires, reimbursing the county for the two he purchased for Donner and paying Fredrickson Oil for the third tire, testimony revealed.

Also testifying in the trial was Gene "Swede" Fredrickson, who runs the service station where Burt made the tire purchases. He testified that he sold all three tires to Burt and that he eventually was paid for all three.

Among items submitted as evidence were sales tickets for all three tires, Burt's personal

Fund Drive Tops $9,000

Wayne's 1973 Community Fund drive has passed the 75 per cent mark, according to the drive's secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Jim Hummel.

She reported Tuesday that a total of $9,055 had been collected for the drive, nearly $3,000 short of the $12,000 goal.

About 200 to 250 cards have yet to be turned in by drive captains and workers, she said. Those who cards they have not turned in should do so as soon as possible, she said.

The board of directors will meet Wednesday of next week for a luncheon at Les' Steak House to discuss this year's drive and name an acting president to replace Dennis Boehme, who has accepted a job in Omaha.

The board will meet shortly after the first of the year to name a president for the 1974 drive and to name persons to fill positions being vacated by retiring board members Robert Jordan, Ray Butts and Melvin "Bud" Froehlich.

Funds from the annual drive are distributed to the local recreation program, Senior Citizens Center, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Red Cross, Salvation Army, United Service Organization, Florence Crittenton Home in Sioux City and cystic fibrosis research.

Last year's drive fell short of its $10,000 goal by only a few hundred dollars.

No Paper Drive This Saturday

Members of Boy Scout Troop 175 will not conduct their paper drive this Saturday as had been planned.

The truck will not be here to pick up the papers then, according to Mrs. Don Johnson, chairman for the December drive.

The drive will be held Saturday, Dec. 8, instead, and residents of Carroll, Winside and Wayne who have papers should have them bundled or boxed for collection that morning.

2 High Schools Present Plays This Weekend

Two area high schools will present their plays this Friday and Saturday.

Wayne High's drama club members will present "Tell Me That You Love Me, Julie Moon" at 7:30 p.m. both nights in the lecture hall.

"Julie Moon" is based on an unusual story of three young people who fight serious physical handicaps in their attempts to find places for themselves in the outside world.

Allen High's junior class play, "The Red Spider," will be performed the same nights, but with a new cast each night.

The play is a "whodunit" comedy-mystery with a setting in a health resort for nervous patients in North Carolina mountains. Everything is peaceful until warning letters, telling everyone to leave, start appearing. Showtime is 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Better Mail ASCS Ballots By Deadline

Wayne County farmers who have not mailed their ballots to the ASCS office in Wayne are reminded to do so by Ray Butts, director of the county ASCS office.

In order to be counted the ballots must be postmarked no later than Monday, Dec. 3, he emphasized.

The county ASC committee will count the community committee election ballots at 8 a.m. on Dec. 5 at the ASCS office. Butts said that anyone interested can observe the counting of the votes.

The ballots will be broken by lot, he said.

Newly elected community committeemen will be delegates to the county ASC convention on Dec. 13 at which time delegates will elect a new county committee member to replace Harry Heinemann of Winside. Heinemann's third term has expired, making him ineligible for re-election.

Butts also said delegates will vote on who will be chairman and vice chairman of the county committee and will elect two alternates to the county ASC committee.

Former President of Latin-American State To Lecture at WSC

The president of the Republic of Peru from 1963 to 1968, Dr. Fernando Belaunde-Terry, will lecture at Wayne State College during a visit to the campus next week.

His main lecture, which will be given in English, will cover the field of Latin American U. S. relations. Open to the public at no charge, the hour-long lecture will be given at Ramsey Theater starting at 7 p.m. next Wednesday.

The visit of Dr. Belaunde-Terry has been arranged through Dr. Rafael Sosa, associate professor of languages at Wayne State, and has been made possible through contributions of the student associations of Wayne State and Kearney State Colleges.

An authority on international affairs and urban planning, Dr. Belaunde-Terry is noted for his popular election to the presidency of Peru. His constitutional regime was characterized by long-range development plans in a democratic climate of reform, within the law and freedom of expression, according to Dr. Sosa.

Educated in France, the United States and Peru, Belaunde-Terry's career ranged from regional planner and promoter of public housing to author, professor, lecturer and builder. For years he was dean of the faculty of architecture in Lima, Peru, and has recently been visiting professor at Harvard (1968-70), American (1971), Columbia (1972) and John Hopkins (1973).

Among many international distinctions he has received are The Distinguished Alumnus Award from the University of Texas, the honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Hamilton College, the "Man of the Year" award from the International

Diplomat Speaking at WS Tonight

A speech on foreign affairs, highlighting U. S. Russian-Scandinavian relations, is on the agenda of the Swedish-Finnish Desk for the State Department in Washington after nearly 20 years in the foreign service. He was first secretary and political officer for the U. S. embassy in Helsinki when Val Peterson was ambassador to Finland. Peterson, now on the WSC faculty, arranged Owens' visit.

Friday morning at 9:10, Owens and Peterson will head a seminar-type discussion in the college television studios, Room 10 of the Fine Arts Center. This also is open to the public, as well as students and faculty.

Allen O'Donnell of the political science faculty will be moderator of discussion on U.S.-European relations.

Dr. Charles Hepburn, head of the social sciences department, said that "with energy problems, the coup in Greece, where Owens once served as consul, and with the faltering detente with Russia, this talk may enlighten us all on U. S. foreign policy."

'Thanks, George Voss'

THE QUICK ACTION of George Voss (center) of the Winside rescue unit was credited with saving the life of Brent Miller of Hoskins (second from right) last summer when he was involved in a tractor accident. As a result Voss received the Ak-Sar-Ber's Good Neighbor Award Monday night during a dinner sponsored by the Winside Community Club. According to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller, Brent's parents (on the ends), Voss was responsible for saving the boy's life after promptly answering the (rescue) call. Since he (Voss) had attended many courses on first aid, he knew what to do. Presenting the award was Alvin Cramer of Wayne (second from the left), district ambassador of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ber.

WH Students Gear Up for Cotton Bowl Fund Drive

Wheels are starting to turn for the drive which aims at collecting $12,000 to send the Wayne High School marching band to the 1974 Cotton Bowl Parade at Dallas on Jan. 7.

The meetings are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the high school commons.

Available will be the insurance forms, medical releases and the like which must be signed before students will be permitted to take part in the trip, first time a local band has ever

Goal of the fund drive is to raise $12,000, the amount needed to cover travel, lodging and expenses for the 90 to 95 band members and 10 to 12 sponsors who will make the trip.

Ron Dalton, band director who worked to get a bid to this year's Cotton Bowl, said he is "optimistic we can raise that much money."

The students are real enthusiastic and we've got a lot of ideas on how we can raise the money without having to ask for donations," he said.

Some of those ideas: taking on odd jobs such as raking leaves and baby-sitting, holding a bake sale and soup supper, selling students as "staves" to anybody who wants to buy them. See FUND DRIVE, page 5

Sharpe: Wayne Is Lacking Height, But Competition Is Strong for Front-Court Slots

Wayne High's head basketball coach, Bill Sharpe, has a big problem on his hands this year — finding a strong three-man front court for the Blue Devils. The problem isn't created by the lack of personnel, however. It exists because of the strong competition for the two forward spots and center position. Sharpe, in his second year at the helm, notes that the guard spots don't present the same kind of problem. Seniors Tom Bigelow and Scott Ehlers will be back on the squad along with junior starting vet Marty Hansen. They'll be working for the guard slots.

Out of Sharpe's seven returning lettermen, junior Bob Keating will be the tallest at 6-4. "Bob hasn't put on too much weight since last year," Sharpe noted about the 172-pound player. As it appears now, Keating may get the center duties, but the spot is still open, Sharpe said.

Senior letterman Kerry Jech will be vying for the center slot as well as competing with veterans junior Earle Overin and senior Bill Schwartz for one of the forward spots.

The uncertainty of each position will keep the coach and his staff guessing until the first week of the regular season when the Blue Devils take on Blair at the city auditorium Dec. 7.

"Our main objective right now is to work on a lot of conditioning," Sharpe pointed out.

And this year his club has more time to do that. Last year

Jr. High Practice Starts Next Week

Wayne's two junior high basketball teams will begin team practice next week, according to Hank Overin, city recreation director.

The eighth grade team will practice on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 4 p.m. in the city auditorium. The seventh graders will work out at the National Guard Armory on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 p.m.

Both clubs began practice last week, he said, but will be dividing up into first and second string. "All those boys who do not make the traveling squad will have their own recreation time on Wednesdays," Overin pointed out.

The two teams go into action Dec. 10 at 5 p.m. in an away game at Macy.

The rest of the schedule:
DEC. 10 — at Hartington CC, 6:30 p.m.; 20 — at Randolph, 5 p.m. (eighth grade only); JAN. 7 — at Norfolk Catholic, 6:30 p.m.; 17 — at Norfolk, 4 p.m. (eighth grade only); 21 — at Wisner (no time set); 22 — tentative with West Point CC, 31 — Norfolk Catholic, 6:30 p.m.; FEB. 4 — Norfolk, 6 p.m. (eighth grade only); 14 — Macy, 6:30 p.m.; 25 — Laurel, 6 p.m. Overin said he has two open dates, Jan. 14 and 15, and is looking for teams to play.

Sun Schedule

This schedule applies to any point in Nebraska due north or due south of Wayne. For each nine miles west, add one minute. For each nine miles east, subtract one minute.

Date	Sunrise	Sunset
Nov. 29	7:34	4:48
Nov. 30	7:35	4:48
Dec. 1	7:36	4:47
Dec. 2	7:37	4:47
Dec. 3	7:38	4:47
Dec. 4	7:39	4:47
Dec. 5	7:40	4:47

The head coach was able to get only nine practices in before the season opened, but already his club has surpassed that mark. How effectively the team will make use of its time remains to be seen.

"We have done a little work on defense and dribbling, but as yet haven't started working on our basic offensive patterns," said Sharpe.

Sharpe expects his club will go with a 1-3-1 offense, the same as last year's when the locals finished with a 13-8 record. "I'm sure we will be going with a double-post during part of the season," he said.

Loop Meets Today

The Lewis and Clark Conference will hold its winter meeting this afternoon (Thursday) at Laurel High School.

The 4-p.m. meeting will center on such topics as rules changes in sports and vocal music clinics.

The lack of size may hamper the Devils' effectiveness this year, however.

Assistant coach Ron Carnes is helping Sharpe prepare the club for its 15-game season that includes two tournaments.

After the opener with Blair, the club will host South Sioux City on the 14th and Columbus Lakeview the following night at Columbus.

The remainder of the Blue Devils schedule (home games at Wayne State College unless listed otherwise):

- Dec. 18 — Laurel, 27-29
- Wayne State Holiday Tournament, Jan. 11 — Madison; 12 — Wisner; Pilger at city auditorium; 18 — at Stanton; 19 — Bloomfield at city auditorium; 25 — at Neligh; 26 — at Tekamah-Herman; Feb. 1 — Pierce; 2 — at Schuyler; 4-8 — West Husker tournament at Wisner; Pilger; 15 — at Creighton; 23 — Randolph; 26 — at Hartington Cedar Catholic.

Koenig Optimistic About Season

More experienced wrestlers back at Wayne High this year may give coach Don Koenig one of his best records in four seasons.

The head coach, who has been at the Wayne High position for seven years, believes this year's team has a good chance to win the Husker Conference crown.

But, Koenig realizes that last year's first and second-place teams are rated as top contenders. Oakland-Craig, which won the title last year, is expected to find a lot of competition from Tekamah-Herman, runner-up a year ago.

Despite the two-team dominance of the league, Koenig is starting the season with plenty of optimism.

There are about 12 to 14 seniors on this year's squad, six of them returning starters.

Combine that lineup with two juniors and a sophomore and the first string begins to take solid shape.

"I won't know who will get starting assignments until perhaps next week," he said. The wrestle-offs were slated to start yesterday (Wednesday) and continue through Monday, and Tuesday before the Blue Devils open their campaign Dec. 8 at the Blair invitational.

Among some of the senior vets returning are Dave Owens at 119, Chuck Brockman at heavy weight; Ben Nelson at 185; Barry Ruback at 126, Dan Marr at 126 and Kevin Heitholdt at 145.

Neither Marr nor Heitholdt were regular starters on last year's 5-3 dual record team. The coach pointed out, but they may play important roles on this year's team if they make their weight class, according to Koenig.

The list of other veteran personnel is just as impressive. Seniors Tom Frahm, Mike Dunklau and Steve Meyer may see more varsity duty this year.

During the 1972-73 season, the 155-pound Frahm did not see as much action because of one strong team leader, Brad Pflueger.

"We're going to miss Brad along with Jim Meiman," the coach said. But there will be enough experienced wrestlers to help out.

Dunklau could be a strong prospect in the 185-to-heavy weight classes. Right now the senior vet weighs in at 205. As for Meyer, his job will be working in the 136-pound division. "Last year Steve wrestled varsity about one-third of the season," the coach said.

Other grapplers that wrestled last year and may see action this season are Scott Brummond (112), Alan Ekberg (126), Les Thomson (132) and Roger Meyer (138).

The rest of Wayne's schedule includes (home matches at the city auditorium):

- Dec. 10 — Randolph; 13 — Blair; 20 — South Sioux City; 22 — at Wahbo invitational; Jan. 10 — Wisner; Pilger; 14 — at Neligh; 18 — Albion; 26 — at Tekamah-Herman; 29 — at Wakarusa; Feb. 2 — at Albion invitational; 5 — at Schuyler; 9 — Husker Conference tournament at Stanton.

Basketball Slate

Although city recreation basketball got underway last Saturday, recreation director Hank Overin reminds those participating of the times and places.

With the exception of girls basketball, all practices will be at the city auditorium. Overin explained that most of the girls' games will be at the auditorium, but some will have to be switched to the National Guard Armory.

The Saturday schedule includes:

- 9:10 a.m. — third grade boys.
- 10:11 a.m. — fourth grade boys.
- 11 a.m.-noon — fifth grade boys.
- 12:30-1:30 p.m. — sixth grade boys.
- 1:30-2:30 p.m. — fifth and sixth grade girls.
- 2:30-3:30 p.m. — seventh and eighth grade girls.
- 3:30-4:30 p.m. — high school girls.

Wakefield's Utecht Makes Second Team

Wakefield-High's offensive guard, Sam Utecht, was unintentionally omitted from the honorable mention list of the West Husker all-conference football selections.

According to coach John Torczon, three players tied for the two guard spots. So rather than vote again, the coaches awarded honorable mention to Fred Steffen of Hartington Cedar Catholic, Don Fuchser of Emerson-Hubbard and Utecht during the division's meeting Nov. 12.

That the U.S.S.R. has now surpassed the U.S. in number of missile delivery vehicles, an advantage that is expected to widen over the next five years, as the Soviets increase their forces to the levels permitted by the Interim Agreement, and as we continue to phase out some of our older B-52's?

3 Area Football Players Make Paper's Honor Roll

Two Wayne High football players, selected to this year's West Husker all-conference team, earned more accolades by being named to the Omaha World-Herald's Class B all-state honor roll, announced Sunday.

Senior Mike Dunklau and junior Marty Hansen earned berths as lineman and back respectively. The reason — both players were team leaders in their own categories during the 1973 season.

Dunklau, a 6-3, 205 defensive lineman, led tacklers with 124 tackles for the year. Hansen was the Blue Devils' leading rusher, passer and pass receiver.

Wayne players weren't the only area students to be mentioned. Laurel's Kirk McCoy gained an honor roll listing as one of the best Class C linemen. He averaged 14.5 tackles a game during the season.

Like his two area colleagues, McCoy was named to his conference's all-star team, winning a lineman's position in the Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference.

In addition to the three area selections, 18 other players from the Husker, NENAC and Lewis and Clark Conferences were selected, including a Columbus Lakeview player, Jim Pillen, who made the first team in Class B. Pillen, the Vikings' top senior running back, was one of two Husker Conference players to win a spot on the all-state selections. The other spot went to Ray Wagner of West Point High in Class C.

PROVIDING old man weather cooper- Wayne's baseball diamond could have a new look this year.

Hank Overin, city recreation director, is planning to sod part of the infield in the next few days if the weather will stay warm enough to dry the field.

Overin intends to put grass between the fences and first and third base lines now and possibly sod the rest of the infield at a later date.

Main reason for not sodding the entire infield is that there are four different base lengths used during summer, he explained. The girls' softball have 50-foot distances between the bags, the Pee Wees 40 feet, Ponies 75 feet, and the Midgets, legion and town team the regular 90 feet.

"Perhaps when the other two diamonds in left and right field are in better shape I can sod the infield," he added.

About three weeks ago the city crews dragged the field in preparation for the sod. Overin, after Dick Carlson cuts the sod for free, and members of the Wayne Baseball Association and others will have to lay the sod. Tentative date for the job is Sunday, starting at 1:30 p.m. "If we get the players in the Midget, Legion and town team ball plus others in the lower leagues, we could have the job done by 4 p.m.," Overin pointed out. Volunteers are welcome.

SPEAKING OF baseball, former Wayne High pitching standout Mike Ginn may get a starting pitching assignment on University of Nebraska-Lincoln baseball team.

According to the right-hander, one of the starting hurlers signed with the St. Louis club, leaving a vacancy. Ginn feels confident he will throw some this year. "I'm not sure if I'll get to start right away, but I'm pretty sure I'll get to throw," he said.

Last year, during his freshmen year,

Ginn played mostly outfield during his short stay on the NU team. But this year the situation is much more favorable to Ginn's staying on the team due to some changes in the players' attitudes.

"I believe that we're going to be a league-contending team this year," Ginn remarked about the Big Eight's cellar team. "We've got a lot of talent returning with a season or two under their belts," he added.

He also noted that coach Tony Sharpe seems more congenial to players — a marked difference from the Tony Sharpe of a year ago.

WINSIDE WRESTLING coach Doug Barclay continues with his parade of firsts this year by adding another dimension to his program. Besides having girl student managers, the head coach will have "mat maids" touring with his crew during home and away matches. The idea is similar to NU's mat queens where one girl is placed at each corner of the mat.

"All the girls will be at our home matches," he said, "but only two will travel to our away games."

IN LAST WEEK'S column I mentioned something about area high school coaches talking with their district representatives about changes in a particular sport.

Well, some head mentors are already taking advantage of that opportunity. For instance, in last week's Prep Panorama by Lincoln Journal sports writer Randy York, coaches are credited with suggesting such things as:

FOOTBALL — All Class C schools be required to play 11-man competition. Reason — Class C school fielding eight man teams have an unfair advantage because of greater enrollment. Comment — This really doesn't apply to the five area schools we cover, but it is an interesting point to bring up.

BASKETBALL — Officials that work the state tournament be paired with the partner they work with throughout the season. Reason — Officials would be more consistent and confident with each other.

GIRLS' TRACK — Add the mile relay, mile run and 75 yard dash to the state meet. Reason — It would give girls' distance runners a fairer shake and make the sprint easier than the 50-yard dash to pick.

WRESTLING — All weight classes in each class (A, B, C, D) have 16 qualifiers for the state tournament, with the tournament expanding to three days. Reason — To provide full brackets for the state tournament, with every match counting toward the team championship.

BASEBALL — Alternate site of the state baseball tournament between Omaha and Lincoln yearly. Reason — It would eliminate an advantage Omaha teams supposedly possess.

VOLLEYBALL — Locate the state tournament in more a central site rather than Scottsbluff. Reason — More teams and people would attend because at that time of year roads can be dangerous.

GOLF — The state Class A golf tournament be a 36 hole, two-day tournament instead of 18 hole, one-day. Reason — Eighteen holes is not a fair test to determine a state champion. Comment — Is the same true for Class B and C golfers?

Wildcats Sputter to 1-2 Season Mark

Wayne State Wildcats sputtered enough to win three-fourths of a basketball game, but a 10-minute scoring vacuum doomed the Cats to a 70-56 loss to Northern State Monday night at Aberdeen, S. D.

Wayne took a 38-37 lead into halftime, moved to 47-45 then failed to score for 10 minutes. Only center Neal Walde managed much scoring — five fielders — in the final minutes. He finished with 21, his collegiate record and the highest by a Wildcat in three games. Charlie Henderson, with 14, was the only other Wildcat in double figures. Northern got 22 from Bill Christensen, plus 15, 10 and 10 from other leaders.

The loss dumped Wayne to a 1-2 record, following an 81-70 win over Briar Cliff here Saturday.

On that occasion, the Cats looked devastating on defense as they harassed the Chargers all the way to a 27-point lead midway through the second half. Briar Cliff shooting finished at a meager 31 per cent — the result of aggressive Wayne defense and board work. The Cats out-rebounded, 60 to 35.

Offense looked crisp, too, with Wayne building a 16-4 lead in less than five minutes, 43-24 at halftime. Only in late minutes did Briar Cliff close the point gap while Wayne subs took the floor, and Charger Steve Brandon poured in fielders. He finished with 38 points, more than half his team's total.

Wayne's junior varsity also whipped Briar Cliff in a ding-dong battle which ended at 70-65 after several changes of lead in late minutes.

Wayne plays Southwestern Minnesota State Saturday night at Marshall.

Dixon County 4-H'ers Honored

Nineteen Dixon County 4-H members and 23 4-H leaders were honored at the county's annual 4-H recognition night at Allen High School Saturday night.

Receiving special recognition was Mrs. Anna Janssen of Pender, who recently retired as Dixon County extension office assistant after about 15 years on the job. She received a gift and cash donation from the county 4-H clubs.

Four H members recognized during the evening event, which was attended by about 70 persons, were:

- Rosanne Bock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. FAY Bock, Allen, let's create, Anna Borg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Borg, Dixon, knitting, plant science, public speaking, and revue, clothing, speech contest, team, Caddis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vert Dean
- Nancy Stohler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Stohler, Concord, outstanding service award, achievement, 4 Square Girl, bicycle, "I Dare You" award, Lori Von Minden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Von Minden, Allen, photography, public speaking, speech contest; Jack Warner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Warner, Allen, horse, woodworking, yard beautification, Denise White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane White, Dixon; dress revue, Jim Wriedt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Der wood Wriedt, Wakefield, sheep

Next week students will start selling tickets to a showing of "Let the Good Times Roll," a nostalgic movie which will be shown at the Gay Theater in Wayne Dec. 16-19. Jack March, owner of the movie house, has agreed to let the band students have half the profits from the ticket sales to boost their fund drive.

One of the most unusual ideas the students have come up with is to have "human juke boxes" playing on the main street of Wayne from 6 to 9 o'clock tonight (Thursday). The "human juke boxes" are exactly that — four students will be inside large cardboard boxes ready to play musical selections for a small charge. The students will have instruments inside the boxes and lists of selections they will play on the outside. Just make your selection, and the students will play your song.

Dalton urged anybody who has odd jobs for students to telephone him at either the school or his home.

He noted that although students are not soliciting donations, any contributions local and area residents and businesses wish to make will be appreciated. Donations may be sent to either the First National Bank or State National Bank in Wayne in care of the Wayne High Marching Band Cotton Bowl Fund.

The Cotton Bowl band group would leave Wayne either Dec. 28 or 29 in three chartered busses. Students and sponsors would be able to make numerous sightseeing trips at Dallas before participating in the parade the morning of Jan. 1. The group would stop over in Dallas after the evening football game between Nebraska and Texas, then leave the next morning and arrive back in Wayne probably the following day.

That though the U.S. expects to maintain its lead of strategic offensive warheads over the U.S.S.R. during the next five years the Soviet Union has the potential to overtake us because of the considerably greater payload capacity of their missiles? And that, if during the next few years the Soviets move vigorously into Multiple Independent Reentry Vehicles, MIRV's, our lead in warheads could be greatly narrowed?

Council

another planning consultant to replace the Fremont firm which has been the city's consultant in recent years.

LEARNED THAT the city has received about six offers from persons wanting to sell the city diesel fuel. The offers began coming in after the nationally televised news story Thanksgiving evening on Wayne's difficulties in obtaining fuel. The offers are for selling fuel at twice, sometimes even more, the price the city is currently paying for fuel.

SENT TO committee bids from Wojtman Auto Co., Ed Wolcke Auto Service, Wacker's and Coryell Auto Co. as a new pickup for the street department. The bids will be considered by the council following a recommendation from the committee.

APPROVED 20 mayor Hall's appointments of Gay Thorbeck and Ruth Eloffson to the board responsible for spending $4,000 the city donated to help promote Wayne State College. Already on the nine-member board are Arnie Reeg, Jim Marsh, Frank Prather, Wayne Wessel, Jim Hummel, Norman Nordstrand and William Hagerman.

Red-Cross in Dixon County Reorganized

A reorganizational meeting for the Dixon County Red Cross was held at Allen last week with Dale Cox, national Red Cross representative from Omaha, present to assist with reorganization.

The Dixon County Red Cross had been inactive the past several years.

Wanted: Workers to help put sod on Wayne baseball diamond. No experience necessary. For more information contact Hank Overin.

That's the call the city director is putting out for this Sunday if the weather is favorable. According to Overin, if the infield is dry this weekend, he and whoever volunteers will put new sod in portions of the ball diamond.

"We need to cover about a 90 by 20 yard area along the first and third base lines between the fence and lines," Overin pointed out.

If enough men show up at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Overin says the job should be done by 4 p.m. if not earlier. "We would like to have a lot of people show up so we can get the job done," he said.

The city will supply the sod, which local contractor Dick Carlson will cut. All that is needed — enough strong backs to carry the sod and place it in the right spot.

The charge of a "passance" was possibly the first ever against a Wayne County official. Conviction of the charge carries a fine up to $200 and possible removal from public office.

Business notes.

Wayne businessman Wayne Marsh invites local and area residents to the grand opening of his new store at O'Neill today (Thursday) through Saturday. The store, O'Neill Book and Office Store, is similar to Wayne Book Store, dealing in books, office supplies, stationery and the like. Managing the new store is Mrs. Earl Beeks, who formerly worked in Marsh's store in Wayne.

Tiedtke Adding Warehouse Space

Russell Tiedtke, owner of Kugler Electric Co. in Wayne, is ready to expand his business after less than a year's operation. The reason, he explained, is that the present building at 106 Main is not large enough to house a workshop and store appliances. The new building, formerly Deb's Lounge, will serve as an annex, he said. The present warehouse, located south of the railroad tracks, is too far away from the main business office, he pointed out, so he decided to open up a new warehouse. The addition will be called K & T Plumbing and Heating.

Crafts Decorating Lobby at College

An art display featuring the craft works of 18 Wayne State students currently is decorating the fine Arts Center lobby. Such techniques as tie dying, batik, stichery, weaving, and glass assemblage are shown. Colorful and unique, they make interesting decorations for home or office, and many are for sale, says Carlos Frey, who teaches craft classes. The show will remain through this week.

GETTING READY for their recital Sunday afternoon at Wayne State College are soprano Connie Webber and accompanist James Day.

Music Recital Planned Sunday at Wayne State

Soprano Connie Webber and accompanist James Day, both of the Wayne State College music faculty, will present a recital at 3 p.m. Sunday in Ramsey Theater of the Fine Arts Center. Mrs. Webber's program includes music for the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries, sung in Italian, German, French and English. She has chosen a group of Vivaldi songs, Schubertlieder, an aria by Massenet and a medley of Christmas songs. Mrs. Webber earned her bachelor of music degree from Oberlin Conservatory and her master's from Kent State University. She spent a year studying at the Mozarteum Academy of Music and Fine Arts in Salzburg, Austria, where she returned for a visit this summer. Among noted voice teachers with whom she has studied

Interested in Rocketry? Contact Agent

Information about adventures in model rocketry now is available to 4-H members, according to Dixon County extension agent Roy Stohler.

This year 4-H leaders and county agents are offering information to help get a 4-H project in model rocketry started, he said.

Model rocketry involves building a rocket, launching it and studying the basic theories of rocket flights.

Four H's can get as elaborate as they want, Stohler explained, even to the point of making a multi-stage rocket or mounting a camera on their rocket to take pictures from high in the sky.

Stohler stressed the rockets are made of safety-approved materials. "They are capable of up to 300 miles per hour and altitudes of 2,000 feet," he said.

Youths Injured in Accident

A rural Wayne youth was taken to satisfactory condition at Wayne Hospital Tuesday following a one-car accident on the 200 block of West Seventh Street early Monday morning.

Eighteen-year-old Jim Granquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Granquist, suffered a concussion when the car he was driving jumped a curb and slammed into a tree about 1 a.m. Monday, according to the Wayne police department.

Two other youths riding in the vehicle were treated and released. Danny Pinkelman, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pinkelman, left the hospital Tuesday. Both he and Dale Fernau, also 17, suffered facial lacerations.

Fernau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Fernau of Wayne, was released Monday.

About one hour later police were summoned to Third and Main where one car struck the back end of another vehicle.

Cathy Winkelman, 16, S. Maple, stopped for a signal light when a car driven by Mark Rakowsky of Madison hit her car.

Dennis Boehme, 315 E. Fifth and Dean Lykke, 815 Valley Dr., were involved in another rear-end accident about 8 a.m. Monday on the 400 block of East Seventh.

According to reports, Boehme's car stopped for a pedestrian and was struck by Lykke.

Last Saturday a parked car owned by Mary Jane Kern of Auburn was hit on the 500 block of West Third. Police said a car driven by Delmar Carlson, 412 Walnut, was backing from a driveway at the time of the mishap.

Education May Help Solve Growing Alcoholism Problem

Prohibition isn't the answer to stopping the increasing alcoholism problem in the nation, but education may help.

It will take education at the high school and college levels to alleviate the problem of alcoholism, said Jim Evans, assistant professor of sociology at Wayne State College.

Speaking to Wayne Kiwanians Monday, Evans said alcoholism is even a greater problem than drug abuse. There are over nine million alcoholics in the United States today, according to statistics from The National Institute of Mental Health. "Multiply that number by four and you get the number of people it affects," Evans emphasized, noting that family members and relatives are the ones mostly affected.

One out of 18 people, about six per cent of the nation's population, who drink alcohol become addicted, he said.

In a further breakdown, Evans listed these percentages:

—33 per cent of all arrests are due to alcoholism;

—95 per cent of short-term prisoners are in jail because of some action resulting from drinking;

—40 per cent of problems relating to alcohol end up before a large-city family court;

—40 per cent of all delinquent youths come from homes that had one or more alcoholic parents;

—52 per cent of alcoholics were raised in homes with one or both parents alcoholics.

And, he added, more than 30,000 lives are wasted on today's highways because of drunken drivers.

The key to solving the dilemma of alcohol abuse is education, Evans said.

Many people today believe it is essential to drink but this is not so, Evans said as he listed five points in his education program.

It's not a case of success or failure. If a person does or does not drink, the problem, he related, is that today's society is too success/failure oriented.

Once a person has failed, the future syndrome can become a part of a person's life, possibly leading to heavy drinking to solve the problem.

Second, if you are going to drink, you need not drink excessively, he said.

Some believe that the more masculine you are, but this is another fallacy," he pointed out.

In the case of girls, he went on, more and more are drinking. In the past the ratio for every girl who drank was one out of five. Now the figure has jumped to one out of every two.

A third point he emphasized in his education program is that uncontrollable drinking can be come an illness.

Fourth, responsible drinking depends on specific physical as well as psychological and sociological factors.

Fifth, the best way to tell the story of the hazards of drinking is through health courses such as the one presently being taught at the college. Including information about alcoholism in biology classes is another way of relating the effects of drinking, he said.

Wayne Youth Selected for Production Work

Fifteen St. Olaf College students were selected to work with the Minneapolis Children's Theater Company in a production during the company's recent 10-day residency on the campus.

The production embodied the improvisational approach to theater, starting with a poem, "Memory Petals," and evolving into an hour-long play, done in Japanese Kabuki-style. Direction was by John Donahue, director of the Minneapolis Children's Theater Company.

St. Olaf students chosen included Ron Seymour, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lyle Seymour of Wayne.

The children's theater company residency at St. Olaf was supported by a grant-in-aid awarded by the Minnesota State Arts Council with funds appropriated by the Minnesota legislature.

KEEPING UP
Agriculture is moving at a fast pace, and one way to keep up is to attend meetings concerning subjects of interest to you.

Pender fire hall is the place and Dec. 5 the date for the 10th annual 1973 Nebraska Beef Seminar. Subjects include nutrition and relation to disease, reducing cost of gain with high moisture (corn, protein supplementation) and Aureo S-700, confinement, feeding, internal parasites in beef cattle and programmed feedlot health.

Program personnel include University of Nebraska Lincoln extension beef specialists, research veterinarians and specialists from the packing industry and animal health companies.

There should be something for anyone interested in the beef industry.

SWINE HOUSING
Many questions are being asked on swine housing and equipment, so a district swine housing conference is being scheduled for David City on Jan. 9.

The conference will cover a wide range of topics, including ventilation systems, insulation, heating, waste handling and management, and construction. In addition to discussions by NU ag engineering personnel, producers will have an opportunity to see facilities offered by the building industry.

DAIRY DAYS
Dairymen also have need for the latest information, so an area dairy day will be held at West Point on Jan. 8.

Program participants include the following NU specialists: Phil Cole on "Management Makes the Difference"; Franklin Eldridge on "Your Dairy Herd - 1978"; Alex Hogg on "Scours in Young Dairy Calves"; Don Kubik, Northeast Station dairy specialist, on "The Real Cost of Producing Milk"; Larry Larson on the "High Cost of Low Conception"; and Foster Owen on "Beating the High Cost of Ration Protein."

COUNTY MEETINGS
All of these meetings are being held on an area basis, but there are several meetings specially planned for Wayne County farmers.

In January there will be a specialized irrigation meeting covering irrigation management practices as well as the economics of irrigation. Meetings in January at Winside and Wayne will cover topics of general interest to any one producing crops.

February and March will be the time that a series of three meetings will be held on the use of futures in a farming program. These meetings will give farmers attending a chance to use their skill in hedging livestock or crops by buying futures (we won't be using real money). This should be a lot of fun as well as educational.

"students" when the Agronomy Club has their second annual Dad's Day Saturday.

Designed to allow fathers to become more familiar with aspects of the Ag College, develop a better understanding of college studies and give the students an opportunity to see more research labs, the event is open to all agronomy majors and their fathers, and all agronomy instructors.

Dad's Day will begin with registration and a welcome by Dr. D. G. Harway, chairman of the agronomy department. Various tours and alumni studies will be offered in the afternoon. The evening will be highlighted by a banquet at which Dr. James Kendrick, professor of ag economics, will speak on marketing. Wives and mothers of the agronomy students have been invited to the banquet.

About 100-125 persons are expected to attend the event, which the club hopes to make into an annual event.

Members of the Agronomy Club from the Wayne area are Layne Mandy of Wayne and James Hansen of Winside.

Employment in September 1973 increased by 700,000 to a seasonally adjusted level of 85.1 million, the Labor Department reports.

More Power on the Way

ALLEN HIGH SCHOOL got what appeared to be a big boost in power last week when the Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) sent its nuclear energy exhibit van to the school. According to Jim Douglass, of NPPD's Columbus office, the 35-foot mobile exhibit tells the history and future of nuclear power at NPPD's nuclear plant now under construction on the Nebraska bank of the Missouri River near Brownville. Part of the history seems to fascinate Ross Lund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Lund of Allen. The fifth grader was one of the Allen students to walk through the van and observe the scaled version of the nuclear plant.

Vernon Behmers, Mrs. Irene Fletcher and Mrs. Evelyn Krause were dinner guests Sunday in the Charles Rohrberg home, Osmond. The Marlin Schultze family, Osmond, were afternoon guests.

The Myron Walkers and Roger were Thursday overnight and Friday guests in the Robert Hamm home, Bellevue.

The Ed Bergin family, Holy-wood, Kan., spent from Wednes-day until Sunday in the homes of Mrs. Ruth Langenberg, Don Langenbergs and Henry Lan-genbergs.

Veterans' Benefits

Questions, Answers

Q — What are some of the advantages of a Veterans Administration GI home loan?
A — VA guarantees 60 per cent up to a maximum of $12,500 of such loans, little or no down payment required, appraisal to determine the home's reasonable value, and a long repayment period are some of the advantages.

Q — Since some national cemeteries have been closed because of lack of space, will the Veterans Administration pay an additional allowance for veterans buried in private cemeteries?
A — Yes. A recent law (PL 93-43) permits VA to provide a $150 plot allowance in addition to the maximum $250 burial benefit, when a veteran is buried outside a national cemetery.

We're the biggest egg processing plant in Nebraska, and we're mighty proud of that. In fact, we're the biggest egg plant in the whole country under one roof.

Our 275 employees process about 1.8 million eggs each and every working day. And they take home about $1.5 million in wages every year, making us the biggest employer in Dixon County. Our sales from shells, frozen eggs and dried eggs will total about $20 million this year.

So come on over and see what goes on in our plant. It'll give us a chance to become a little better acquainted with some of the nice people in the area.

it's a pretty savvy way to toss

Exon's group thinks 50 mph speed limit on highways too slow

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN — The members of Governor J. James Exon's Highway Safety Advisory Committee don't agree with those federal officials who recommend a 50 miles per hour ceiling on highway travel.
The 15-member committee decided there should be a reduction in the state's speed limits to help fuel consumption during the energy crisis. But none of the committee members suggested a limit slower than 60 miles per hour and most seemed to think 65 would be acceptable on the interstate highway.

THE GOVERNOR HAD ASKED the committee to study the situation and give him a recommendation on what speed limits he ought to suggest to the 1974 Legislature.

Only the lawmakers can change the speed limits, which now range from 75 on the interstate to 50 on graveled county roads, with a 65 mph ceiling on all other highways.

The committee chairman is Motor Vehicles Director John L. Sullivan, who said he didn't ask the committee to agree on a specific recommendation for the governor after a three-hour hearing last week because there still wasn't enough "hard data."

WITNESSES REPRESENTING the oil and gas industry, agriculture, the trucking industry, insurance and state government appeared before the committee.

All of the witnesses said it would be difficult to get public compliance with a speed limit below 60 miles per hour.

Schools May Be Chilly

A survey conducted by the Nebraska State School Boards Association shows that about one-third of the state's school districts expect to have a shortage of heating fuel this winter.

The survey also shows that one out of seven of the other districts aren't sure they will have sufficient supplies to get through the winter.

OF THE DISTRICTS anticipating a shortage, some already have decided to shut down in really cold weather and add the missed days in the spring or on Saturdays when the weather warms up.

Two districts reported that they are thinking about operating school only four days a week, but adding an hour and a half to each day's length.

The state association of school boards says it thinks it is "premature and unwise" for anyone to suggest that schools close down for unusually cold weather unless there is a "reasonable priority system which includes all education and a priority system for other needs of society."

Tax Rates Drop

Governor Exon called it "fiscally irresponsible," but the State Board of Equalization cut the state income tax rate anyway.

With the votes of Secretary of State Allen J. Beermann, Auditor Ray A. C. Johnson and Treasurer Wayne R. Swanson, the 1974 income tax levy was reduced by two percentage points — from 13 per cent to 11.

That means Nebraska will pay the state an amount equal to 11 per cent of what they owe the federal government on 1974 income.

EXON AND HIS tax commissioner, William E. Peters, are the other two members of the board — and the only Democrats. They had tried to get the current rates of 2.5 per cent on sales and 13 on income readopted.

Exon and Peters said the $18 million in surplus the 2.5-13 rate package would generate was a reasonable hedge, considering how uncertain the economy is these days.

Auditor Johnson tried to get Exon to agree to put the $18 million aside as a reserve for obligations the state knows it will have to meet in the near future, but the governor wasn't willing to make the change and so Johnson joined Beermann and Swanson in voting to lower the rate.

THE THREE REPUBLICANS said there isn't any reason to raise more money than necessary to meet current spending authorizations if the surplus isn't to be earmarked.

On hand to back them up were two state senators who made an unprecedented appearance before the board.

One was Richard D. Marvel, the Legislature's budget chairman, who said he was present to remind the governor of a promise April 16 that the 1974 taxes could be reduced if the lawmakers would adopt an unamended Exon budget. The senators did and now Marvel was telling Exon — whom Marvel could face in a 1974 ballot box showdown — to make good on his end of the deal.

The governor said the deal was off because the Legislature had cut the 1973 income tax rate (from 15 to 13 per cent, retroactive to Jan. 1). But Marvel said that didn't change the fact that Exon's own figures show $18 million extra would be raised if the 13 per cent levy is continued another year.

OBSERVATIONS

Yes, they do turn slowly

Boy, do the wheels of justice ever turn slowly in this judicial district.

The district judge and opposing lawyers spent about an hour and a half Monday morning discussing, we assume, various legal aspects of the state vs. county commissioner Floyd Burt case.

Meanwhile, more than 30 people sat around twiddling their thumbs waiting for the jury trial to begin. Many of those people, probably a majority of them, had jobs they left in order to report for jury trial that morning. By law, their employers had to pay them for the time they missed in order to report for jury duty.

Finally, shortly before noon, the judge dismissed all those prospective jurors and told them to report back for jury duty at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. That meant a whole morning wasted for those people. There's no other way to put it.

We don't pretend to know all the intricate and arcane aspects of the judicial system. We do know, however, that when a person is called for jury duty, he has a right to expect exactly that. It is enough of a burden for many people to serve on a jury in the first place. The courts should not make it more a burden by unnecessarily taking up the time of those prospective jurors.

Discussion of such legal aspects of a case which concern only the judge and opposing attorneys, as we must assume took place Monday morning, should be taken care of before prospective jurors are ever told to report to the courtroom.

"Quite a few people are fed up with environmental horror stories and would prefer to hear something about the progress that is being made toward correcting pollution problems. Our nation has ticked tough problems in the past by releasing a broadside of initiative, research and development—things that have been rich attributes of the American character...we should show more faith in this character."

"Nothing the government runs or controls seems to pay. Why not let the federal government take over all crime? It would get so regulation-riddled and complicated that some of the criminals, out of desperation, might have to resort to honest work."

Nevis, Minn., Hubbard County Independent

"We don't know why... Considering the multiple government benefits programs we have in this country — but we are surprised to note surprise in a lot of people when we mention that (1) for every dollar deducted from their paychecks for Social Security, his employer is required by law to match it with one of his own, and that (2) unemployment compensation comes from state and federal funds built up by employers, alone, that the worker pays nothing into it."

'Should we support colleges if students don't attend?'

Dear Editor,

Recently a group of students at the four Nebraska state colleges asserted publicly that what these colleges need in order to survive is more money. To solve this problem they urged employing a lobbyist who would bring pressure on the state legislators to furnish the money out of tax funds.

In making this assertion and in offering this solution these students have revealed, more than anything else, that they have allowed themselves to be used as cat's paws by the administrators of these colleges.

Less than two months ago the members of the Nebraska State College Board issued a series of proposals that show just what they would do if they had more money. They would raise the college presidents' salaries by from 10 to 15 per cent, and they would give other administrators "merit" (1) salary increases. Meanwhile they would dismiss some faculty members. How these measures would help the colleges survive was not explained and, in fact, is inexplicable.

Moreover, in issuing these proposals the board members revealed that they, too, had allowed themselves to be used as the college administrators' cat's paws.

"It cannot be stated too emphatically that at all academic institutions the administrative function is no more than an excrescence upon the pedagogical function. The administrative function is just a mistletoe, and at the Nebraska state colleges it has truly been made into Sir James Frazer's "Golden Bough."

To shift metaphor, the faculty members and the students are the head, body and limbs of any academic institution. An academic institution with neither faculty members nor students but just administrators is not a head without a body — although the typical administrator would like one to think so; it is nothing at all — except perhaps a fat purse.

Anyone who believes that Nebraska state-college administrators are in desperate monetary need should look on the north wall of the most obvious store in downtown Wayne for this purpose, where the writer has posted a copy of the

Better get ready for the worst... it's just round the corner

Better read this one with one eye — it's bad news. Fact is, our energy shortage is much worse than most people yet realize. I'll try to explain why, and suggest a few things you can do to prepare for what's coming.

But the most important preparation of all is psychological. Life is not going to be "normal" for any of us this winter, or for the next few years. Accepting that and doing a little advance planning will minimize the effects of the shocks when they come.

1. Why is the shortage so serious — we get only six per cent of our petroleum needs from the Arabs? You'll remember that we already had shortages of heating oil last winter and gasoline last summer, even when Mid-Eastern oil was still available. These shortages were caused — as I have said before — by a combination of bad government policies, which decreased the incentives to search for new sources of natural gas and petroleum; mistakes in forecasts of demand by the petroleum industry; the effects on fuel usage of new environmental regulations, and our tremendous national appetite for energy of all kinds.

2. Those earlier shortages were big enough to be noticeable, but no more than a peripheral nuisance. Even under the best of conditions, they would have continued for another year or two. And keeping them down to the "nuisance" level counted on our being able to import refined petroleum products from Europe and elsewhere.

Then the Arabs cut down their production. That had three effects: First, it cut off most of our direct supplies from the Middle East. That's the six per cent. Second, it caused shortages in the rest of the world, which means we will not be able to buy the surplus from Europe that we had been counting on. Third, it put Europe and Japan in direct competition with us for the remaining sources of petroleum from such places as Iran, Indonesia, Venezuela and Canada.

So, while we only import six per cent of our oil from the Arab lands, we have been importing 19 per cent from all overseas sources combined — and none of these sources can be counted on anymore. A shortage of as much as 19 per cent is a very serious shortage.

3. Does this mean that we can lick the problem by using our cars 19 per cent less?

No, it's not that simple, unfortunately. There are some activities that cannot be cut back at all, without disastrous consequences. Right now, for example, there are spot shortages of the diesel fuel used for drilling oil wells, mining and transporting coal, and growing, processing and transporting food. Obviously, we cannot allow any of these activities to suffer, no matter what else does.

4. There are other "priority" users too, such as bus lines, electric power generation, emergency vehicles and heavy industry. Many people will automatically favor "consumer" uses ahead of "industrial" uses. But think a moment. Heavy industry is where it all starts. If there is no steel, for example, there can be no automobiles, bicycles, washing machines, buildings, oil rigs, etc. Think, too, about the things that are made from copper, aluminum, glass, concrete, wood and so on.

Now think about people being out of work in all of the industries that make these products, and all of the industries that sell or use or service these products. Frightening, isn't it? And you're just beginning to get an idea of the size of the problem.

What it inevitably comes to is that the average citizen is going to have to bear the brunt of the cutbacks — not to the degree of freezing in the winter, but certainly to the extent of a sharply curtailed lifestyle.

Comforts we have come to take for granted will become rare, and our valued mobility will just about disappear. This last fact will hit the vacation and leisure-time industries especially hard.

5. DO WHATEVER YOU CAN NOW to reduce your energy consumption — not only because it's the patriotic thing to do at the moment, but because we will soon have no choice. Use electric and gas appliances only when absolutely necessary. Cut down on automobile trips. Set the thermostat lower. And above all, improve the insulation of your house as much as you can.

There is talk in Washington of gasoline rationing. I don't think rationing is the best way to cut down consumption, but we must cut down somehow. There are only two alternatives to direct rationing: Increase the price through direct price boosts or through high fuel taxes. Neither is pleasant to contemplate, but that's the way things are right now. As I said, better prepare for the worst. It's coming.

From Kaup's TV and Appliance!

Zenith Portable 4-Dimensional Sound

"The Spectator" With 4-Sonic Speaker Matrix.

Here's a compact portable stereo that lets you "take" the new invention of 4-channel sound with you, or enjoy it at home. This system delivers a startling "sound surround" effect from the new matrix discs now on the market. Four speaker units play attached or separated. Two front speakers each can be separated up to 10 feet from main cabinet; two rear speakers can each be separated up to 25 feet from main cabinet. Complete with Micro-Touch 26-tone arm.

"The Avalon" Stereo Radio

The music radio is here! It's an exciting new invention. Like three-piece stereo, the radio has three pieces: stereo, radio, and clock. The AVALON features stereo amplifier that drives through two compact full-range speaker units. Each speaker is equipped with 10 feet of cord which allows them to be placed just about anywhere in the room for best stereo separation. The unit has push buttons and a volume knob.

100 YEAR LIFE EXPECTANCY NOT UNLIKELY

Experts on longevity predict a "youth pill" may be available within our lifetime. This could result in an average lifespan of 100 years.

Besides taking a "youth pill" various other factors can effect the rate of aging. These are said to include balanced nutrition, proper exercise and relaxation. The pattern of modern society which fosters overeating or depending on quick valueless snacks; lack of exercise, due to mechanical advancement; emotional strains and stresses contribute to how fast our bodies get old. If you want the machine which your body actually is, to function efficiently give some thought to these facts and you may have discovered your own "youth pill".
