Local Woman Latest to Win Yule Prize

Mrs. Dick Wacker of Wayne will probably end up buying a few extra Christmas presents this year, thanks to the Christmas Bucks promotion underway in local businesses.

Mrs. Wacker became the second winner in the promotion Friday night, taking home $100 in coupons which can be spent just like cash in any of the firms or stores taking part in the event.

She owned the ticket highest on a list of 25 numbers drawn at random and posted Friday afternoon in local businesses. Her number, picked up while shopping at Coast to Coast Stores, was the third from the top.

Three more $100 prizes will be given away this week tonight (Monday), Tuesday and Wednesday before the final $500 prize is awarded on Dec. 21. Persons with tickets received. See PRIZE, page 9.

$2 Gets You Beef Carcass Data

For just $2 a head, calf producers and cattle feeders in Wayne County can now start getting detailed carcass data from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Don Spitzer, county agricultural agent, said the new Carcass Data Service eartags for beef cattle are now available at his office for cattlemen who want to find out exactly what kind of animals they are raising and sending to market.

The "bright orange, shield-shaped eartags cost 50 cents each. When an animal is slaughtered and carcass data is sent back, the cost is $1.50.

"There is a tremendous amount of information we can learn from the carcass data," Spitzer said.

"Sent back after slaughter of lagged animals will be information on conformation grade, maturity, degree of marbling, quality grade, fat thickness, ribeye area, hot carcass weight, yield-grade and kidney, pelvic and heart percent.

"That data should help a cattle producer or feeder improve his herd," Spitzer noted.

As well as being available to county cattlemen, the eartags will be used next March when all 4-H calves are weighed, marking the first time a carcass contest has been conducted in Wayne County for 4-H animals.

Spitzer said about a third of the counties in Nebraska had carcass contests for 4-H animals last year.

The new Carcass Data Service is a nationwide effort by the USDA to make carcass data more available to individuals. For several years, USDA has offered a service called Beef Carcass Evaluation Service to help producers get carcass information on quality and yield grade factors. Several breed associations, university experiment stations, feed manufacturing companies and performance testing organizations used that service regularly, but its benefits to individuals was limited.

The new service, a joint effort by the USDA and the beef industry, works like this: When a tagged animal is slaughtered, a meat inspector removes the tag, attaches it to the carcass and notifies the USDA meat grader assigned to the plant. After the carcass has been chilled, the meat grader evaluates quality and yield-grade factors, and records the information along with the eartag serial number and slaughter date on a special carcass data form. The form is sent to the Agricultural Marketing Service's Carcass Data Center in Washington, D. C., where it is processed and then sent back to Spitzer. He then sends the information to the person who tagged the animal.

Using the service to conduct a carcass contest for 4-H cattle is just one of the changes being made in the county to encourage more participation by 4-H'ers, according to Spitzer.

Spitzer said the pen-of-five plan will be dropped in favor of a pen-of-three plan for beef animals next year.

Spitzer also said he is trying to encourage more participation in the 4-H commercial beef breeding project.

"There has been a great increase in the number of beef cow herds in the county in recent years," he said, "and getting more youths involved in this project will be very beneficial. Youths can work through the project to establish their own herd if they plan on going into the cattle business," he noted, "or they can take the project to earn money for education beyond high school."

UN-L Chancellor: Inflation Has Kept Ahead of Budgets

Probation of Police Chief On Agenda

Wayne city councilmen are scheduled Tuesday night to discuss the six-month probationary period of police chief Robert Evers which ends this month.

Evers took over as chief in July to replace Vern Fairchild, fired in April by Mayor Kent Hall. A court order reinstated Fairchild last week, leaving the city in the unique position of having two chiefs of police.

Also scheduled for Tuesday night's meeting, being held at See PROBATION, page 9.

"We haven't kept pace with inflation even though many people say we've been living in a neyday with a lot of fat on our bones," the chancellor said.

Zumberge was one of several NU staff members who spoke to the approximately 35 members of the council who attended the meeting. The council is composed of about 100 laymen from across the state who serve as a sounding board for the university.

Zumberge said that using 1970-71 as a base year, the all-funds budget for NU has increased about 15.5 per cent and the general funds budget has increased about 13 per cent. "In the same period, the consumer price index climbed 17 per cent," he said.

Enrollment in 1970-71 on the Lincoln campuses was 20,800, and it peaked out last year at 21,500, according to the chancellor. Next year, it should again be at about the 1970-71 level, he added.

Zumberge said the school's budget request for 1974-75, about $59 million, represents a catch-up budget because the forecast for inflation for this coming year is at least the same or greater than in 1973.

The council met at Wayne State College. NU staff members and council members toured the University's research station just east of Concord Friday morning.

Another speaker told the group that factors operating in world agriculture trade in 1973 have focused popular attention on agriculture to a degree not evident in a long time.

Dr. Howard Ottosen, acting dean of the College of Agriculture, said there is evidence we are turning the corner with respect to supply demand relationships for agricultural products.

"On the one hand, there is a static or slightly shrinking supply of land, higher priced inputs and higher priced labor. On the other hand, we anticipate national and world demands for food which will grow and provide a good market for our products," he said.

As a result of this situation, production research is back in-style, he said. The growing demand for agricultural products points up needs for careful, skilled management and for a continued flow of new technologies, varieties and methods — the products of research — through the Cooperative Extension Service, the NU administrator stated.

Turning to the energy crisis, which he said "will not go away," Ottosen cited changes in direction or emphasis on College of Agriculture programs caused by the energy crunch.

Extension and research programs will be oriented toward economizing on energy consumption in farming operations.

Work will continue to reduce energy requirements in irrigation through more efficient water use and more efficient pumping plants.

Research will be stepped up on crop processing techniques, such as drying, to reduce energy consumption.

Crop breeding programs for insect and disease resistance can reduce the energy required.

SWAY Wants Addresses of Servicemen

Friends and relatives of Wayne County men and women who have entered the armed forces since the first of this year are being asked to mail in their addresses to Sway's unique SWAY organization can send them checks during the holiday season.

SWAY is Servicemen We Appreciate You, an organization formed several years ago in order to recognize men and women from Wayne County serving in the armed forces. During the years, the organization has mailed out hundreds of dollars in checks to men and women in the service. The organization is possibly the only one of its kind in the nation.

Addresses should be mailed to Dorel Soden, 118 S. Douglas, Wayne.

Soden said $10 checks will be mailed out to all men and women in the service, who have not already received them.

Form Printed Inside Project Aim: Find, List Area's Resource Material

If a project currently underway in Wayne is successful, a file will soon exist listing everything from interesting tours available in the area to hobbyists who can talk about or demonstrate their skills.

To be called the Community Resource File, it would be a valuable source of information for individuals, clubs, service organizations, students and even businesses, according to Charles Current, librarian at Wayne State College who is helping with the project.

Also working on the project are Wayne librarian Mrs. Harriet Kerl and Howard Witt, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce.

They hope to compile information on local and area hobbyists, speakers, tours, field trips, interesting businesses and the like over the next several weeks.

When the information is gathered, files will be kept at the Chamber office, local library and college library. Then, when somebody wants to know if there is somebody who can give a demonstration on ceramics or talk on Spain, all they have to do is use the Community Resource File.

"It should really be an advantage to a lot of people in Wayne and the surrounding area," said Current. Nothing like it exists now, he said, and many times people come to deadends when they try to find speakers, film strips or information on field trips or tours.

The file will include names of speakers who can talk or give demonstrations on a variety of information, names of business firms which provide tours and a list of material such as slide strips and films which are available for use.

Also included in the file will be information about when speakers are available or when tours can be taken, when material can be loaned out, cost for speakers or material, who should be contacted and the like.

Current said the biggest problem right now is finding names of speakers, lists of field trips and other information which can be included in the resource file.

Printed on the editorial page inside this issue of The Wayne Herald is a form for persons to fill out to help get the file started. Current said he hopes readers will fill out the form, clip it from the newspaper and mail it to the Chamber office as soon as they can.

Current emphasized that people are not committing themselves to giving talks or conducting tours by filling out the form. People using the resource file will be told if there are any restrictions such as the times or days when certain speakers or material is available, he said.

Local Band's Fund Drive Needs Boost

Wayne High's marching band needs a big boost from the public this week if the $12,000 goal is going to be reached so band students can take part in the Cotton Bowl Parade at Dallas on New Year's Day.

That's the word from band director Ron Dalton, who noted that band members passed the halfway point in their drive last week.

In the killy Saturday morning was just over $7,000, according to Dalton.

But the band will have to have $11,000 on hand by about next Friday or the $12,000 goal might not be reached, he said.

Dalton said last week's snow is a good opportunity for Wayne residents to call him up and hire band students to scoop walks and driveways to help them reach their $12,000 goal. "If anybody has any odd jobs around their home or business, we would sure like to help get them done," he said.

The band will march in the nationally televised parade beginning at 9:30 a.m. on Jan. 1, then take in the televised football game between the Nebraska Cornhuskers and the Texas Longhorns in the afternoon.

But that's just part of the activities planned for the students once they reach Dallas late in the afternoon Dec. 29.

The band will be the featured music group at a professional ice hockey game in Dallas that evening, playing before the game and during intermissions.

The next day band members will have a chance to attend church before giving a concert at the state fair park in Dallas.

On Jan. 31 the members will tour Lion-Country Safari, a wild animal preserve, as well as take in a wax museum, historical center and the site of the John F. Kennedy assassination. That evening they will attend the New Year's Eve party for all band students taking part in the Cotton Bowl Parade. Wayne High's band will be the only band from Nebraska in that event.

When it hasn't been too cold, band members have been marching outside to sharpen up their routine for the parade. When instruments start freezing up, they head for the auditorium at the high school.

Dalton said that the $300 contributed to the band from the men's hair styling clinic at Ellis Barber Shop in Wayne recently was the largest amount donated by a local business so far during the drive. Other businesses have donated money to the band, many of them through promotions in the businesses, he said.

Scheduled for this week are four events which should give a big boost to the fund drive. The events:

Winside Gets New Ambulance

Winside's new rescue unit will not go into use until sometime next year, according to Charles Jackson, president of the town's volunteer fire department.

Last week the town received its new van to replace a station wagon the department obtained from the state forestry service. But it will take a couple of months before all the new equipment is installed on the 1974 van, Jackson said.

The vehicle was purchased jointly by the town and rural fire districts for under $3,400.

The van will be equipped with three stretchers, oxygen equipment and all first aid items necessary for emergencies.

Area residents may call the Winside Fire Department, 286 4436, in the case of an emergency.

Beginning Jan. 19 the town's only rural route, which serves 130 customers, will be divided between Wakefield and Laurel carriers as a part of the U. S. Postal Service's cutdown in operations.

"We decided to consolidate Dixon's route," said Howard Toay, sectional mail center manager at Norfolk, "because of a vacancy opened up by the retirement of the town's only

Turn in Those Surveys Soon

Wayne Herald readers who have not returned their "Community Attitude Survey" have until Friday to do so.

The survey, asking readers to name the five areas the public and local officials should place the most emphasis on, was printed on the editorial page in last Thursday's issue of The Wayne Herald.

Results of the Survey will be released within a week or so after all surveys have been returned.

Dixon to Lose Rural Mail Route

In 1941 the town of Dixon first learned about mail route consolidation when its rural route was combined with Concord's.

Now, 32 years later, another form of consolidation is getting ready to take place. This time, however, it will completely eliminate the Dixon post office from running its rural route.

Beginning Jan. 19 the town's only rural route, which serves 130 customers, will be divided between Wakefield and Laurel carriers as a part of the U. S. Postal Service's cutdown in operations.

"We decided to consolidate Dixon's route," said Howard Toay, sectional mail center manager at Norfolk, "because of a vacancy opened up by the retirement of the town's only

Last June Anthony McGowen retired after 31 years of service, leaving the position to be filled by his substitute, LeRoy Creamer.

Creamer, however, can't take over the job on a permanent basis because he is not a "career person," Toay said. Consequently, Creamer will be out of a job.

There is a chance, Toay noted, that Creamer could stay on as a substitute if the other rural carriers who take over the Dixon route ask him to do so. But Creamer still could not become a full-time employee.

Toay explained that a review panel of area postmasters felt the area could best be served by dividing the 95-mile route between the area towns, saving

If there had been a rural carrier within a 100-mile radius who wanted the job prior to the panel's decision, he could have filled the position and the route would have been continued, Toay pointed out. But there wasn't anybody in the area so the route will be divided.

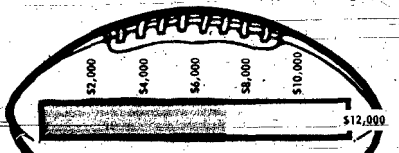

Toay said the consolidation is part of a nationwide move to help bring some rural carriers' working hours up to a 40-hour week. Creamer, according to Toay's records, works an average of 36 hours a week, which is above the 26-hour minimum cutoff but Creamer is only a substitute and therefore his number of working hours does not apply in this instance.

I REALLY THINK councilman Pat Gross was serious, at least momentarily, when he said he wouldn't be in favor of giving the Wayne High marching band any tax money but would favor giving them federal revenue sharing funds to help the band members reach their $12,000 goal to finance their trip to the Cotton Bowl.

That has to be an exercise in linguistic gymnastics.

Have to admit I'm not sure exactly where that federal revenue sharing money comes from, but I'm pretty sure it's not manna from heaven.

Oh well, to turn a phrase, a gift is a gift is a gift...even though the giver is the givee.

LOCAL AND AREA RESIDENTS have just one more chance to learn some possible explanations of the Star of Bethlehem.

The chance is Wednesday's final production of "The Christmas Sky" at Wayne State's Dale Planetarium. Visitors will be taken back 2,000 years to the time of the birth of Christ in order to witness the possible events that we today call the Christmas Star.

Possible explanations which will be covered during the production, slated for 7:30 p.m., include the appearance of a nova, comet or conjunction of planets. The final decision about the exact nature of the event, however, is left to the audience, along with the idea that the Star may never be explained by science. Organizations are welcome to attend the show, but early reservations are suggested.

JIM STEVENSON, son of Dr. and Mrs. T.H. Stevenson of Wayne and a 1971 graduate of Wayne High School, has gained a "C" rating from the U.S. Chess Federation.

The federation, which includes some 40,000 rated players across the nation, lists players from "A" through "E", according to their skill. Players have to belong to affiliated clubs. (Stevenson is a member of the club at the University of Chicago, where he's a junior studying physics) and have to play in official tournaments to be rated.

Stevenson will be listed in the 1974 yearbook printed by the federation.

WHO SAID the postal service gives such lousy service?

Just a few days ago, a letter mailed from the village clerk's office at Carroll arrived a day before it was mailed. At least it did if we can believe the postmark. The letter was dated the 9th. It arrived the 8th.

TIDBITS: If you haven't mailed in your "Community Attitude Survey," you better get it into us so your thoughts can be compiled with those of others sending it in. AND I DON'T THINK city administrator Fred Brink was being facetious when he said he's trying to find out what a world renowned authority on administration thinks a city ought to do when it finds itself with two chiefs of police.

He told the council Tuesday night that's exactly what he's trying to do now that he, in mayor Kent Hall's words, is in the "touchy" position of trying to be boss over two police chiefs.

Brink has read several of the authority's books, which he says are required reading for anybody interested in city administration, but Brink can't ever remember that the guy outlined what should be done in such a situation. It might be interesting to find out what the authority says...and it might prompt him to include an extra chapter in his next book.

According to Brink, Wayne is the only city in Nebraska and probably in the nation with two chiefs. It's not an enviable position to be in. Besides being touchy, it's expensive. One guy is drawing down $825 a month, the other $740 a month. And they're doing a job originally meant for one person.

SELDOM MENTION what television stations are doing, but what Channel 9 in Sioux City is going to tackle Tuesday night is worth a little space.

The TV station will preempt three hours of prime time for special production of "Profile 9" titled "Fuel for the Future."

The production, which begins at 7 p.m., will include discussion by a panel composed of Frank Griffith, president of Iowa Public Service Co., and Dr. Dale Hull, chairman of the extension service at Iowa State University. Also on the panel will be representatives of the petroleum industry, the Sioux City health department and Iowa Gov. Robert Ray's energy office. The panel will accept telephoned questions from viewers in-

THE WRITER of an unsigned letter asks how Frank Prather can continue to serve on the city council now that he has moved out of his ward into another ward.

Would have tossed the letter in the wastebasket except that it reminded me of something I've been meaning to check on.

According to city attorney John Addison, Prather can continue representing the district he formerly lived in until the next election. Addison says he can find no state statute which says Prather has to give up his office just because he moved out of his ward.

So much for that, except to remind letter writers that they have to sign their names to their contributions if they hope to see them in the paper. Names may be left off the letters when published, however.

Notes of Note around Northeast Nebraska

TWO South Sioux City men were recently sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $150 each for trespassing.

The men, Charles Gotschall and Gerald Leedom, were arrested at the Mart Blohm farm west of Martinsburg. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a third man, operator of the motor vehicle involved in the incident.

THE 1973-74 school budget adopted by the Neligh school board is going to be "extremely tight" because of the continuing rise in the general price level, says superintendent Leslie Weaver.

Weaver told the board recently that the cost of some school supplies have gone up 100 per cent and that gasoline prices have risen 33 per cent.

"At the present time it looks as though the district will over expend the budget on transportation by $3,000 this term," Weaver said, "and we will have to make up the difference from other parts of the budget."

In the budget, $9,500 was set aside for transportation, but by the end of the present term the expenditure in that department will be more than $12,000, according to Weaver.

A TOTAL OF $1,117 was raised in Cuming County during Honey Sunday, reports county chairman Mrs. Don Maack of West Point.

Total raised in individual towns: Wis nee: $292; Beemer: $104; Bancroft: $122; West Point, $599.

Money raised in the annual sales goes to help retarded persons across Nebraska.

OTHER OFFICERS elected recently were Cecil Rhodes, vice president and Irvin Schlickbernd, second vice president. Albin Svoboda was named to another term as secretary-treasurer.

NEU CHEESE CO. of Hartington will begin its "NEUletter" beginning this month.

To be sent out to employees and milk producers, the newsletter will include regular interviews with employees and milk producers. This month's interviews will be with milk producer Maxlin Malchow and milk procurement manager Jerry Hoffart.

Writing the interviews and editing the newsletter will be Joan Burney of Hartington, a weekly newspaper columnist. She will write a column for the newsletter titled "Udder Nonsense."

CUMING COUNTY supervisors recently approved new salaries for county officers ranging from 13.6 per cent to 53.8 per cent.

The biggest increase approved was for the county attorney, who will have his salary increased from $6,500 to $10,000 starting Jan. 1, 1975.

Three other officers will also get $10,000 a year beginning in 1975. They are the treasurer, presently paid $8,800; assessor, presently paid $8,700; and the clerk, presently paid $8,500.

The clerk of district court and county superintendent will receive $8,000 rather than their present salaries of $6,500. The county surveyor will go from 5,500 to $7,000, the county sheriff will go from $6,500 to $9,000 and the county supervisors will go from $3,300 to $4,200.

'Thanks for your help on survey'

Wayne State

Dear Editor,
On behalf of Dr. Howard Schmidt and his class, Principles of Adult Education, I would like to thank you and your staff for your interest in adult education and your excellent newspaper coverage on adult education.

Through our combined efforts, the Wayne citizens are made aware of the expanding opportunities in adult education. Hopefully, next year at this time Wayne will have an adult program in full swing. As shown by the surveys, Wayne citizens are interested! It will take interested people to bring out the real needs of adults interested in expanding programs in adult education.

As more people become aware of what adult education really is, its goals and objectives, Wayne cannot possibly be without an active adult education program!

Mrs. Paula R. Schulte

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Schulte refers to the adult education survey the newspaper carried on the editorial page recently. Working on conducting the survey as a project in Dr. Schmidt's class were Mrs. Schulte, Carolyn Madaus and Gary Salmon. The survey revealed that 24 people in the Wayne area are interested in attending adult education classes at Wayne State. Those indicating they would be interested in hobby classes said such courses as those in sewing, ceramics, engine repair and knitting would be most popular. Fifty-seven out of 82 persons contacted in a random telephone survey said they would be interested in attending adult education classes at the college. They indicated that courses in sewing, bridge and ceramics would be most popular.)

Instead, it lies in individual initiative and desire to produce. Every effort must be made to stimulate a desire for quality and excellence. Rewards should be for those who perform, rather than for those who shirk. Money should be invested in the free enterprise system, rather than in the sink of government inefficiency and carelessness where it is all too easily spending down the drain. If the voters demanded an end to wasteful government spending, loud and clear, there might still be a chance of bringing about a reversal of the tide of welfareism which threatens to engulf this country. ### NEW SAFETY SYSTEM

If you are thinking about purchasing a 1974 model car, you may have mixed emotions about the new seat belt interlock system that requires the driver and front seat passenger to fasten lap and shoulder belts before the car can be started.

Although non-belt users may find this new routine exasperating at first, the system will save lives. According to the National Safety Council, about half of all people killed in auto accidents would be alive today had they been wearing both lap and shoulder belts.

The interlock system will especially help young drivers to practice good safety habits right from the beginning, and parents can feel more at ease about the youngsters' safety when they borrow the family car.

The interlock system was ordered by the government after it was discovered that many motorists were by-passing the 1973 car model warning light and buzzer system that was activated when the car was put into gear without fastening the seat belts. Simply by sitting on the buckled belts, one could keep the light and buzzer from going on.

The new system can't be so easily by-passed. A definite sequence of events is required before the car can be started. The motorists must first be seated, then buckle the belts, and, finally, turn the key.

Comfort also has been considered in the new design. A three-point mounting system lets the motorist secure both belts by fastening one buckle. The shoulder harness employs an inertia reel that lets the occupant reach down as far as the glove compartment with almost no resistance. In the event of a crash, however, the system locks up to hold the occupant securely in place.

Like any electrical device, the system can malfunction and the car won't start. Car manufacturers have provided an override button or relay under the hood. This button must be pushed each time the system is by-passed until repairs can be made.

Attempting to permanently tape the button down to "beat the system" will only cause the relay to burn out after a period of time, making starting impossible.

The objective is maximum protection with minimum inconvenience.

OBSERVATIONS

Give the band a chance to do that odd job

If you have some snow to be scooped around your home or business, give members of the Wayne High marching band a chance to get rid of it for you.

The same thing goes for any other odd job you may have been putting off in recent weeks.

The band members will be happy to do it for you, because it will help them reach their goal of $12,000 to finance their way to the Cotton Bowl Parade in Dallas on New Year's Day. The trip is a worthwhile one, providing students a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to take part in a major college football event. The students would learn a lot during their stay in Dallas and their tours to such places as the site of the assassination of President

John F. Kennedy.

At the same time, the trip will be a plug for the community of Wayne and Northeast Nebraska. The band will participate in the nationally televised parade, play during a professional ice hockey game and serve as ambassadors for the area during their stay in Dallas.

So, if you have some odd job just waiting to get done, give the Wayne High band a chance to get it out of the way for you. And while you're thinking about it, you could purchase a ticket to one of the band's coming raffles or take in the dance at the National Guard Armory Friday night. The group needs all the help it can get if it is going to raise that $12,000.

'Isn't A Dime A Dime?'

The other day, while trying to explain to better half how I could manage to be overdrawn at the bank again, we got to discussing the finer points of money and how the value of same fluctuates.

"It can't," says I. "A dime's a dime."

"Not so," says he, rattling off a bunch of stuff about devaluation, the common market, currency standard and economics.

Not yet beaten, I turned to my trusty Random House and found that money is a "medium of exchange." So far, so good.

Put into terms that even a general math dropout can comprehend, this would seem to indicate that coins were created to facilitate exchanges between the fellow who wants to trade a 25 pound bag of flour for a barrel of rye, or whatever. Thus 25 pounds of flour could be represented by X coins. Right?

Now I can see, with the variables of supply and demand in action, how the value of the bag of flour can change. But the value of the coin?

"You are forgetting," said husband a little less patiently, "that the coin, being produced from a precious metal has a value of its own. And you must also take into account that the trade situation becomes more complex when other countries, with differing exchange systems, are involved."

"Huh?"

Knowing full well I was out of my element, I gave up the debate, but the conversation stayed with me all week, and I've come to the conclusion that Uncle Sam (when all else fails, blame it on the government) was nuts in the first place to make coins out of a valuable material. And by the way, who decided it was a valuable material? But that is beside the point.

The thing that really bothers me is wondering where it is going to stop.

First we issue a token coin which serves as a medium of exchange for goods. Then we issue silver and gold certificates to serve as a medium of exchange for the medium of exchange. Next we write checks to serve as a medium of exchange for the medium of exchange for the medium of exchange.

And somewhere in there we print Federal Reserve notes, which as far as I can figure out are a substitute (like oleo) for a medium of exchange, and worth, in actuality, exactly nothing. I don't even want to think about the recently minted sandwich coins which are replacing the original silver ones.

All I really wanted, come to think of it, was to get my checkbook to balance.

Mrs. Jack Manske of Wayne examines a few of the several hundred pieces. Professor Carlos Frey said he thought his students produced more ceramic works than ever this term. The display was to remain through Sunday afternoon — with many of the works for sale.

 The vast majority of local people would be quite capable of doing work of this kind because they have had adequate training. They live in an area where the level of education has been on the rise in recent years.
 The median amount of schooling being attained locally, according to the latest Department of Commerce statistics, is 12.2 years, as compared with the 1960 median of 10.8 years.
 There still remain, however, a sizeable number of local residents who have reached adult age without having acquired sufficient proficiency in reading, writing and arithmetic to hold down the advertised job.
 There are eight, the government figures show, who have had no schooling at all or who have gone for less than one year.
 Some 97 have reached adulthood with a background of only one to four years of schooling and another 236 with five to seven years.
 Those who cannot read or write at all are called totally illiterate. Others, for whom books, newspapers, welfare forms, license applications and the like are unathomable mysteries, are designated "functionally illiterate."
 The Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in a recent statement, declared that there are 19 million adult Americans who are totally or functionally illiterate and another 7 million elementary and secondary students who have severe reading problems.
 A national effort is being made, under a Right to Read program aided by Federal funds, toward correcting the situation.
 In Wayne County, an estimated 341 men and women, equal to 6.9 per cent of the adult population, fall into the functionally illiterate category.

Barn, 120 Pigs Lost In Fire Wednesday

A fire destroyed a barn and killed about 120 pigs on a farm nine miles north of Wayne near Highway 15 Wednesday night.
 General Peterson, who shares ownership of the farm with his father Arvid, said the fire apparently started in the hay loft where about 400 bales of straw were stored. "We're not sure if the fire was started by faulty electrical wiring or combustion," he said.
 Robert Anderson, who works and lives on the farm with his family, reported the blaze about 8 p.m. The fire quickly spread throughout the building where 30 sows and 120 pigs were confined. The sows escaped, but the 50-pound to 80-pound pigs were killed.
 Also lost in the blaze was a nearly full 500-gallon liquid propane tank, along with the conditioning system installed in the barn about two years ago.
 Total estimate of damages was unknown, but Peterson figured the costs to be about $11,000.
 Firemen from Concord, Dixon, Laurel and Wayne battled the blaze for about two to three hours.

Lone Bucket Sinks Eagles in Seven Overtimes

By BOB BARTLETT

What can you say about two high school basketball teams that battle it out in SEVEN overtimes? Is there such a thing as a losing team?

Looking at the scorebook, the answer is obviously yes.

Winnnebago nipped the Allen Eagles Friday night by a lone bucket, 67-65, with two seconds left in the seventh overtime of the night.

Junior Jay Branchaud dumped the last shot after teammate Ed Ross tried and missed a footer in the closing seconds.

The ball fell off the rim and into Branchaud's hands for the winning goal—it was fitting that the junior made the point, as he was the team leader throughout the night with 24 points.

Allen's Neil Blohm put the club into the second overtime, 57, before both teams went wild in the second extra period.

After three OTs, the score was 61-63 after five and knotted at 65 all going into the final overtime. Neither team scored in the fourth overtime.

Blohm, who had the team's high of 24, accounted for all of the overtime points with the exception of the fifth overtime when senior Roger Anderson scored to tie the game at a 63-63 game.

The smaller Winnnebago team kept the Eagles at bay until four minutes were left in the first quarter and senior guard Tim Huff hit a basket from the side for a 14-14 game. Branchaud countered with a set shot before Allen's other guard, Roger Anderson, came back with his first of two baskets to knot the battle at 16-16.

But Branchaud hit another bucket to put his team in front 18-16 at the end of the first period.

It was a game that could have gone anyway anytime. The Eagles were seven points up with about two minutes left in the first half before the Tribe shaved the margin to three, 37-34, at the half.

Again Branchaud was the big factor, along with Taylor Bass, who had 14 points for the night. Both men weaved through Allen's zone defense for inside shots to put the Indians into striking range.

Moore's team, however, began to tighten up the middle with the game's tallest player, 6-2 Scott VonMinden, getting in the way to stop the inside moves in the second half.

ALLEN'S LEADING scorer Neil Blohm zips around Winnnebago's top point man Jay Branchaud for a quick two points in the early stages of the Friday night home match for the Eagles.

SCOTT VONMINDEN grabs a free ball and tries to setup Allen's running game with Jim Koester, foreground, ready to advance.

Both VonMinden and Allen's high scorer, Neil Blohm, who also had 24 points for the night, kept the Braves from going to the inside shots. As a result, fourth-year Winnnebago head man Ed Rastovske called on 5-9 playmaker Brad Ross to hit from the outside. Ross' outside shooting did have one effect on Allen's game. Four of his 19 points came at crucial times. One basket led to the first overtime period when Ross hit from 25 feet out to knot the game at 55-55.

But Allen had its proud moments. Top Blohm time after time hit the necessary shots in the drawn-out affair to keep his team in the game. And the same goes for VonMinden and Jim Koester, who scored 19 and 10 points respectively.

The seven overtimes started to evolve in the third and fourth frames when both clubs started the back-and-forth battle that saw neither team mount more than a four-point spread.

Both clubs slowed down their fast pace after the first two quarters, with Allen taking a 47-45 lead into the fourth frame on VonMinden's basket from the side.

As Moore put it, "We've experienced close games before and we are used to it. We'll come back for our next games."

Turnovers weren't the biggest factor during the four quarters of action. Allen had 12, Winnnebago 11. In rebounding, the margin again was close, Allen getting 27, Winnnebago 29.

The biggest difference was at the line. Allen only had five free

WSC Coeds Nip Midland

"The girls really worked together," said coach G. I. Willoughby, and that's how Wayne State basketball coeds defeated Midland College by 48-46 Friday night in Rice Gym.

Wayne nursed a 28-27 lead into halftime and outpointed Midland by one again in the second half to gain a third win against no losses.

Accuracy at the free throw made the difference, with Wayne hitting 16 of 21 while Midland converted 6 of 17. The visitors outscored Wayne from the field, 20 to 16 and out-rebounded Wayne, 35 to 28.

Midland's Eileen Topped the scoring at 16. Wayne leaders were Martha Senrick with 12, Cindy Davis 11, and Bobbi Brockhage 10.

Coach Willoughby counted it a welcome win since Midland ranks as Wayne's most difficult foe, year after year.

shots the entire game. "We didn't get a chance in the second half or in any of the overtime periods to go to the line," Moore noted.

For Winnnebago the story was different. The team converted 11 of 14 attempts, including a crucial 1-1 situation that sent the game into another overtime.

Last year the Indians were riddled with injuries and lacked veterans, ending up 7-13 for the year. However, things are changing this year, and already Winnnebago is 3-0. "This could be our pivotal year," coach Rastovske noted. "We only have two seniors, but there are enough underclassmen to help us out."

The Indians could have used some of that help in the reserve match as Allen knocked off the visitors, 34-27.

The home team held the lead throughout the game, running into trouble only during the third period. Don Kluever was the team's leading scorer with 10.

Koenig's Grapplers Almost Upset Blair

Wayne High wrestling coach Don Koenig has nothing to be ashamed of after last Thursday's 30-27 loss to Blair.

"We spotted them six points right after the match started, and we only lost by three," Koenig said, noting that last week Blair won its 15-man invitational in walk away fashion.

The Devil grapplers displayed a lot of quickness and determination during the meet, the coach said. "To put it moderately, we really surprised them," he said.

Wayne's 98-pound Randy Surber started the dual meet with a pin in 2:36 to give Wayne a 6-0 lead. That margin, however, quickly disappeared when Koenig's crew had to forfeit the 105-class since it had no wrestler at that weight.

But Wayne came back with two straight pins, by 112-pound Ken Daniels and 119-pound Scott Brummond, for an 18-6 margin.

"Scott has really shown a lot of improvement this year," Koenig said. "Last year he was on the B squad, but since he's made varsity he's had two straight pins — Randolph and Koenig."

Koenig noted that two new members to the varsity squad also did a good job: Despite their losses, Alan Ekberg at 126 pounds and Mike Dunklau at 185 showed a lot of promise. "In future meets, both should be stronger," he added.

Team leaders Gordon Cook, 167, and heavyweight Chuck Brockman won their matches, with Brockman earning a pin in 5:02 and Cook taking a 4-2 decision.

Newcomer Doug Helthold, who replaced cousin Kevin Helthold at 145, lost his match in a 7-3 decision, but Koenig pointed out that Doug did a fine job in his first try at varsity competition.

Wayne, now 1-1 in dual meets, takes on South Sioux City

Kansas State University wrestlers gave Wayne State a severe lesson Friday night at Manhattan. The Kansans scored 42-7 over Wayne (no other details available at press time).

Bigelow's 20-Footer Boosts Blue Devils to 73-72 Win

A 20-foot shot in the last six seconds of the game boosted Wayne High past South Sioux City at the city auditorium Friday night.

The shot, by Blue Devil Tod Bigelow, ripped through the nets to give the home team a 73-72 come-from-behind win over the taller Cardinals.

It was Bigelow all the way for coach Bill Sharpe's team as the club nailed its second straight win of the season.

The club mastered the SSC team through sheer determination, with Bigelow leading his mates with 24 points on all field goals. "We couldn't get inside much," Sharpe noted. "They were so much bigger than we are."

Wayne used its speed to advantage after a lagging first period of play, but it took the Devils a while to do that after Wayne mustered 12 points to South Sioux's 16.

Assisted by the hot hand of senior Joe Curl, the Cardinals moved out to a 13-point margin early in the second quarter before Sharpe decided his man-to-man press wasn't working. "It seemed that every time we would press them, South Sioux would score more points," he said.

Both coaches agreed after the game that when Wayne dropped the press the Cardinals began to stand around and not try for the shots.

Wayne, however, wasn't content to stand around. In addition to Bigelow's points, another guard, Marly Hansen, also had margin to 50-42 with 17 points in the third frame to Wayne's nine.

Wayne turned things around in the fourth frame, hitting 22 points — mostly on charity losses — to SSC's seven.

Wayne reserve record now is 1-1.

Hartington CC's Shooting Skims Bears

When you're playing a team that is taller than your club, you've got to hit the shots. Laurel coach Joel Parks learned that the hard way Friday night when the Bears shot most of the shots just wasn't good enough.

A fall and quick Hartington Cedar Catholic club delivered the Bears their first loss in two starts Friday, 67-56.

"The score wasn't as bad as it looked," Parks reflected after the game. Several times during the contest, Laurel came from behind to tie the Trojans' and even went ahead several times.

Hartington CC carved out a 10 point lead in the first frame to all but obliterate Parks' team. The Bears rallied from a 26-18 deficit after the first frame to tie the visitors at 30-30. "We put in one basket to take the lead, but that soon disappeared when Hartington boosted the score to 37-32 at the half," Parks said.

The big reason Hartington look an eight point command in the first frame was its shooting. The Trojans hit 10 of 10 shots from the field, Cedar Catholic hit 59 per cent for the night, converting 28 of 47 shots, while Laurel made 21 of 52 attempts for 41 per cent. "Against a big team like that you've got to shoot well," Parks added, "or you don't win at all."

Laurel came back in the third frame and tied the game once again at 44 all before taking a four point edge, 48-44. From that point the lead stayed close until two minutes left in the game when Hartington Cedar "got a couple of cheapies and stretched the lead out to 11," Parks said.

"I'm not trying to put down Hartington. They're a good, quick team with plenty of height especially Gene Scholl," Parks admitted. Scholl, who stands about 6-4, had 27 points for the game. Laurel had the visitors generally stopped from getting the inside shots, but the team's second leading scorer, Tom Wintz, made most of his 14 points from outside the circle. Although Hartington CC out-rebounded the Bears, 29-23, the score any points tonight," Parks said, "but he did show a lot of hustle out there on the boards." In reserve action, the B team won its second game against no defeats, downing the visitors by 56-43. Scott Huettig led the JVs with 15 points, keeping the Cubs in control most of the game.

Wynot Beats Winside, 52-47

Winside High's cage club was playing fast and loose the first half of its home-match with Wynot Friday night, but the six-shooters went blank in the remainder of the game and Winside lost, 52-47.

The Cats, paced by Bob Hoffman with 16 and Larry Weible with 13, jumped out to a 7-0 first period lead and increased it to 27-25 after intermission. "We were hitting close to 50 per cent that first half," coach Korlin Luft said, "but we just grew cold in the last half."

Evidence of just how cold the Cats were was their 20 per cent shooting. Wynot, on the other hand, shot an even 50 per cent for the night, with its big man, 6-10 Terry Becker, smoking the nets for 20.

"We put two men on Becker to slow him down in the fourth, which did seem to work," Luft pointed out. In addition the Cats had a man-to-man defense on Wynot's other hot shooter, Dennis Burbach, who scored 17 points. But the one man Winside forgot, all about was Terry Gowery.

The Blue Devils had only two points prior to the last stanza, but he collected another 10 to end up with 12 for the night. "Those points are what really hurt us," Luft said.

The first-year head man said he wasn't displeased with the way his team played. "The boys are improving a little more each game."

Winside reserves, using a press, plastered Wynot's B team, 39-22, on the leadership of Kerry Lühr's 10 points. The reserves now hold a 11 record.

'A' League Resumes Cage Action Tonight

City recreation A league basketball will resume action tonight (Monday) at the auditorium with Teams 1 and 3 taking the court at 7:15 p.m. Teams 3 and 4 are the co-leaders with one victory each after last week's layoff due to junior high basketball at the auditorium Monday.

Team 4 will take on Team 5 beginning at 8:30. Team 5 is the only club that hasn't seen action so far. Team 2 is idle. Teams 3 and 4 are 1-0 while Teams 1 and 2 are 0-1.

Turnovers, Slow Offense Stop Trojans Friday Night

Wakefield head basketball coach Joe Coble isn't ready to throw the towel in yet. Not after his team nearly upset one of the biggest high school basketball teams in the area Friday night. The Trojans lost a nip-and-tuck battle to Winsler-Pilger by a narrow 54-51 score.

For Coble and his crew it was some game. "Our offense really didn't click that well tonight, but the kids did show a lot of defensive hustle," Coble pointed-out.

One Trojan player that got special praise from the head mentor was 6-6 Barry Addink. And rightfully so. The senior post man stopped the Galors' big man, 6-7 Steve Horback, limiting Horback to only eight points and nine rebounds while pouring in 19 points himself during the losing cause.

Addink's strong efforts didn't exactly slow down Winsler's game, however. The visitors ran up a 14-1 lead and an 18-5 first period advantage.

"We were terribly cold from the field," Coble noted. But Wakefield regained control in the second quarter to lead at one point by two. It was at that point the Trojan offense began to splutter. "We turned the ball over four times, and we still didn't score," Coble said. Winsler moved ahead 28-21 at the half before the Trojans closed the gap and took over once again after three periods, 40-38.

Wakefield had control problems again in the fourth period, resulting in a total of 21 turnovers. "You just don't win ball games doing that," Coble lamented.

Coble noted that it is too early in the season to make any radical changes. "We're going to learn if we're a sound ball club early this season with games against Coleridge (last

Allen Jr. High, Jackson Split

Allen and Jackson junior high teams split a pair of games last week. Allen won the B match, 30-20, but lost the A game, 27-25.

Coach Keith Simkins, who divided this year's seventh and eighth grade teams in the A and B squads, said Rich Stewart and Bart Gotch led the B squad with eight points each.

In the second game, Jackson came from behind in the last quarter to nip Allen by a bucket.

Darwin Kluever had eight points to pace the Eagles but Jackson had three players above five points to push their team ahead.

Tonight (Monday) Allen will travel to Homer.

Saturday and Lyons.

Sophomore guard Mike Soderberg got credit for helping Wakefield's offense get started after the sluggish periods. According to Coble, Soderberg only played off and on during three quarters, but he was instrumental in setting up the offense after Doug Fischer got in foul trouble.

The reserve team pulled out a 47-45 victory over Winsler's B team after trailing most of the game. Sophomore Soderberg led the pack with seven points to keep his team's perfect record intact at 2-0.

Trojans Still Searching For First Dual Victory

Wakefield High's wrestling team will have two chances this week to improve its 0-2 dual record.

The matches will find the Trojans visiting Hooper Logan View today (Monday) before heading to Pender Tuesday. Wakefield was slated to wrestle at the North Bend tournament Saturday.

Last Tuesday night the area club lost its second match to a strong Winsler-Pilger club, 55-3.

Senior veteran Steve Sorenson was the only grappler on coach Lyle Trullinger's team to win a match, taking a 1-0 decision over ISS-pinned Cal Weichman. Winsler-Pilger also flexed its muscles in the reserve match, downing Wakefield, 18-6. Pat Nicholson got the lone win for the Trojans by pinning 145-pound Joe Jonas in 1:28.

Thought for Today
By Rowan Wiltse

"Lost time is never found again." Aughey

It is unreasonable, of course, to think that a little time isn't going to be squandered... if, if you prefer... here and there. Much time is spent with scant tangible return if we are to consider the future and our personal approaches to relaxation and unwinding as "lost" time.

However, when there are important tasks and objectives to be met within a framework of time, and that time is not gainfully spent in meeting these commitments, then time has been lost which can never be found again.

Is it time you investigated the advantages of pre-need planning? If so, let us explain how you can specify every detail and obtain financial aspects in advance of need. Call now for an appointment. No obligation, of course.

Elected to fill the post to be left vacant when Heinemann goes off the committee the end of this year was Norris Hansen of rural Winside. He will serve a three-year term.

Hansen was named to the job and the new committee officers were chosen during the annual convention of the recently elected community committee Thursday afternoon at the ASCS office in Wayne.

Selected as alternates to the committee during the convention was Robert Jones of Carroll and Walter Valkamp of Winside.

Heinemann was ineligible to serve more than three consecutive three-year terms on the committee.

Tax Statements for County Land Owners Going Out Early

Real estate owners in Wayne County will be getting their 1973 tax statements several months early, reports county Treasurer Leon Meyer.

"We're ditching our wagon to a STAR, aiming high for Nebraska through Nebraska agriculture and human resources," said Dr. John Adams in describing Operation STAR (Strength Through Agricultural Resources).

Adams, STAR coordinating committee chairman and director of the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service at UNL, outlined the history of STAR to the council.

With coordinating and subject matter committees formed with NU staff members, Operation STAR has now been launched. The first phase will be to draft the "base data" inventory of agricultural and human resources, with projections based on sound economic techniques to 1980. This inventory, which Adams predicted to be completed in the next 12 months, will serve as the discussion material for the second phase.

The committees will be expanded by the addition of lay leaders in the second phase. The third phase will be largely an educational program if the first two phases have been sound and well documented, explained Adams. "It will acquaint thousands of Nebraskans with where Ottoson said NU and cooperating USDA scientists "have made impressive progress in research programs on feedlot management." However, he said "we now need to look at the transport and utilization of these wastes in an era of more costly energy and fertilizer."

Another speaker told the group Thursday night that although Nebraska is fifth in agriculture sales now, there is no state ranking above Nebraska which has more unrealized potential.

Coming up for the third and final reading, Tuesday night is a proposed ordinance which would limit the number of bottle clubs in the city to seven. Councilmen may vote on the ordinance after the final reading.

Also on the council agenda: discussion of donating money to the Wayne High marching band to help band members reach a $12,000 goal so they can participate in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, discussion of permitting beer taverns to remain open on Sundays and consideration of a proposal for providing water to the city's industrial site east of the city.

Tuesday night's meeting begins at 7:30 in the Woman's Club room at the city auditorium.

2nd Break-In At Hoskins Is Reported

The second break in at a bar in Hoskins within a little over a week is under investigation by the Wayne County sheriff's office.

Broken into early Thursday morning was the L & A Bar, owned by Lee Anderson.

Taken in the break in was about $80 in goods, according to the sheriff's office. Missing was about $5 in change, liquor and possibly beer and cigarettes. Entrance was gained by breaking a plate glass window in the front entrance.

The week before somebody broke into Danny's Bar. Missing from that bar were cigarettes, beer and some change. A lock on the front door was broken to gain entrance.

working 26 hours or less a week, the Postal Service can divide up his route in order to try to fill the service, time by other rural mail carriers," he said.

Prior to McGowen's retirement, the office was dropped from a third class rating to fourth class because the office wasn't collecting enough postal receipts (number of stamps sold, box rentals and the like). As a result, the town's part-time postal clerk, Mrs. Irma Anderson, was forced to retire after 22 years of service.

With Dixon losing some of its employees and a rural mail route, does that mean the office soon will close?

According to Toay the post office will remain open unless its present postmaster, Lowell Saunders, retires or quits.

Weather Keeps Exon Away From College

Gov. J. J. Exon's scheduled visit to Wayne State College Friday ran afoul of bad weather and risky driving conditions. The governor was still planning to fly at mid-morning, but finally had to send word he could not keep the date this time.

President Lyle Seymour told a capacity crowd of students and faculty in Ramsey Theater that he hopes to reschedule the governor's visit.

Since a large crowd was present, Dr. Seymour and Student Senate President Jim Rickells took the occasion to answer questions about school policies.

Cats Anxious for Home Play After 2-6 Record

Disappointed with the score, but proud of his team — that's the way coach Ron Jones summed up Wayne State's basketball loss to the University of Nebraska-Omaha Wednesday.

"We aren't proud of the 2-6 record," Jones told the Second Guessers Club Thursday. "but most of those losses were to top quality teams, and I told the team they played well in losing."

He added: "All of that's behind now, and we can't make excuses going into the rest of the schedule. We still can have a fine season."

The beginning of the rest of the year had Wayne matched against South Dakota Spring-Field Saturday night at 7:30, and Jones said his cagers looked forward to playing in friendly, Rice Gym.

They have played no less than seven of eight games away, and that's a hard way to begin a season. One more game remains before the Christmas break — that one on the road, at Doane College, Thursday night.

At Omaha, the Wildcats showed stout comeback stuff and hold-on power. Center Neal Walde drew three fouls in less than six minutes, and spent the rest of the first half on the bench. Without his scoring and rebounding, the Cats slipped to a 36-30 intermission deficit.

Walde went back into second-half action, whereupon the pace changed. Wayne battled for a 46-all tie in less than seven minutes, mounted to a 56-50 lead five minutes later.

Then it was the Maverick turn to rally. The rest of the half turned into a see-saw tussle which came down to the question of who would get the last shot.

Eighteen seconds from the end, Omaha's Randy Worth scored his lone field goal and put the Mavericks ahead, 66-65. Wayne took time out, plotted strategy, maneuvered for a good shot, got it — but missed.

Charlie Henderson scored all scoring with 23 points for Wayne. Walde tallied 20, though missing 14 minutes. For Omaha, Dennis Fisher hit 20, Calvin Forrest 19, Larry Seger 11.

LATEST TO WIN in Wayne's Christmas Bucks promotion is Mrs. Dick Wacker. Presenting her with the $100 in coupons is Mel Eitson of Coast-to-Coast.

—Wayne's young boxing team fared well at Pierce a week ago Friday with all three boys doing a fine job, according to coach Gary Wiebelhaus.

Rick Johnson, Tom Maier and Doug Proett each received trophies, bringing the total number of awards won by the team to 14. The team's next bout is Dec. 29 at Wisner.

Wiebelhaus said he still is looking for young men 16 years or older who want to box.

—The Wayne County Jaycees are considering holding another boxing smoker sometime next year. JC president Dale Preston said the club probably will set a date for the annual event in the next few weeks.

—Also on the agenda for JC sponsored activities is the Wayne athletic program. Last year the group sponsored Sunday sessions at Wayne High School where members worked out on the weights, played basketball and participated in other sports. Preston hopes to have more information on whether or not the group will continue the program sometime after Jan. 1.

County 4-H Families to Host Japanese Youths

Eleven 4-H families in Wayne County will host 10 youths and an adult sponsor from Japan during a three-week period next summer.

The youths will be among 100 Japanese young people who will be living with 4-H families across the state from July 26 to Aug. 16 next year. Most of the youths will come from cities or large towns.

Also selected to take part in the program are Jefferson, Saline, Howard, Polk, Platte, Dundy, Morrill, Deuel and Thomas Counties.

Letters inviting county 4-H families to serve as hosts to the Japanese youths have been sent out, and hosts will be named in the near future, according to county agricultural agent Don Spitz.

Purpose of the Nebraska-Japan Exchange Program is to have the youths live with American families to help them learn the English language, Spitz said. All the youths, who range in age from 12 to 19 years, have studied English in Japan.

The youths will attend a three-day orientation meeting at the state 4-H camp at Halsey before they go to live with their host families. This is the second year of the program, sponsored by the University of Nebraska Extension Service. Last year, 4-H families in Pierce and Thurston were among those serving as host families.

Under the program, 4-H youths from Nebraska will spend three weeks living with Japanese families next summer. Complete cost of the trip to and from Japan is $775, according to Spitz, and there are still openings for young people wishing to apply.

A representative of the state extension service will hold an orientation meeting for Wayne County host families sometime in March. A tape recording containing key words in the Japanese language already is available at the county agent's office.

Spitz said such things as a tour and a party probably will be held for the youths during their stay in Wayne County.
