Pork Group To Meet In February

The Northeast Pork Producers will hold two organizational meetings in February. Rodney Bonderson, newly elected president of the group, said the first dinner meeting will be held Feb. 4 at the Paddock Steak House in South Sioux City. The second dinner meeting is set for Feb. 6 at the Wagon Wheel Steak House in Laurel. Both dinner meetings start at 7 p.m.

Bob Craft, president of the Nebraska Pork Producers Association, will report on state activities at the South Sioux City meeting while Terry Schlick, executive secretary of the state association, will report at the Laurel meeting. Bob Fritschen, swine specialist from the Northeast Station near Concord will report at both meetings on recent developments in solving feet and leg problems in swine.

Bonderson said the purpose of both meetings is organizational and informational. All pork producers in Cedar, Dixon, Wayne, Thurston and Dakota Counties are urged to attend. Representatives of allied industries such as bankers, feed company representatives, equipment salesmen and the like are also invited.

Hillier Named President of Fund Group

Sid Hillier was named president of the Wayne Community Chest last week during a meeting of the board of directors.

Named vice president of the group was Marilyn Carhart, who has been serving as interim president in place of Dennis Boehme, who moved from Wayne last fall.

Picked to serve as secretary-treasurer again this year was Vera Hummel.

Board members will meet again Feb. 13 to review the success of last year's fund drive and begin planning for the 1974 drive. Chairman for that drive will be named later.

Discussed at the board meeting was the possibility of having employers deduct contributions to the Community Chest from their pay checks. Also discussed were other methods of improving the fund drive, including setting goals for individual businesses to meet.

Last year's fund drive fell short of its goal by more than two thousand dollars. About $9,400 was collected toward the $12,000 goal.

New on the board this year are Laura Franklin, Joan Potts, Norvin Hansen and Bob Reeg. All will serve three-year terms except Hansen, who will fill out the remaining two years of Boehme's term. Also on the board are Ken Swarts, Jan Liska and George Phelps.

ASCS Office To Administer New Program

The Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office will be responsible for administering the new 1974 Rural-Environmental Conservation Program, reports ASCS director Ray Butts.

The new program, which replaces and modifies the old REAP, has several new aspects of interest to Wayne County residents.

According to Butts, the new cost sharing phase of the program could be extremely beneficial to Wayne County farmers. It provides for a maximum of 75 per cent return to the user for all expenses he incurs while establishing conservation or forestry practices on his land. Also under the 1974 program, an applicant can either elect to

'Investigation Broke the Camel's Back'

Fairchild Hearing to Resume on Tuesday

by NORVIN HANSEN
Wayne's three-man civil service commission which is reviewing the firing of police chief Vern Fairchild will hear more testimony Tuesday afternoon starting at 12:30.

The commission recessed about 6 p.m. Thursday after two afternoons of listening to opposing sides in the case and receiving more than 20 pieces of evidence.

Fairchild, fired late in December by mayor Kent Hall for the second time in less than eight months, requested the hearing after the civil service commission upheld the firing.

On the commission are Dr. Freeman Dacker, Wayne State College instructor, and local businessmen Joe Nuss and Robert Merchant.

They started hearing opposing views Thursday about what Hall called the "straw that broke the camel's back"—the investigation of local liquor establishments which Fairchild conducted last spring and which led to his firing a few days later.

Fairchild testified that Hall told him he was "getting an awful lot of flak" after the investigation and that maybe the investigation "went too far." Fairchild had brought in two lawmen from outside the city and told them to spike beer with liquor in front of bartenders and attempt to purchase drinks without membership cards, which were required at that time in order to drink in local bottle clubs.

Hall told Fairchild after the investigation that he would "take the blame" for the investigation but would not shoulder any blame "for the way it was done." Fairchild told the commission, both Fairchild and Hall testified that Hall had ordered the investigation.

When Hall asked him to resign in April, Fairchild told Hall that the liquor dealers "must carry an awful lot of weight." Fairchild testified. Hall agreed that they did, according to Fairchild.

After Fairchild refused to resign, Hall fired him. That led to a suit in district court in which the district judge ruled that Fairchild had to be reinstated because the city did not have civil service for paid policemen. After he was reinstated in December, Hall fired him the second time 15 days later. The civil service commission, appointed after the judge's ruling, later upheld the firing and now is in the process of trying to find out if Hall had valid reasons for his action. State law requires Hall's decision to be reviewed by the commission.

Hall told the commission Thursday that there were several other reasons for his decision to fire Fairchild.

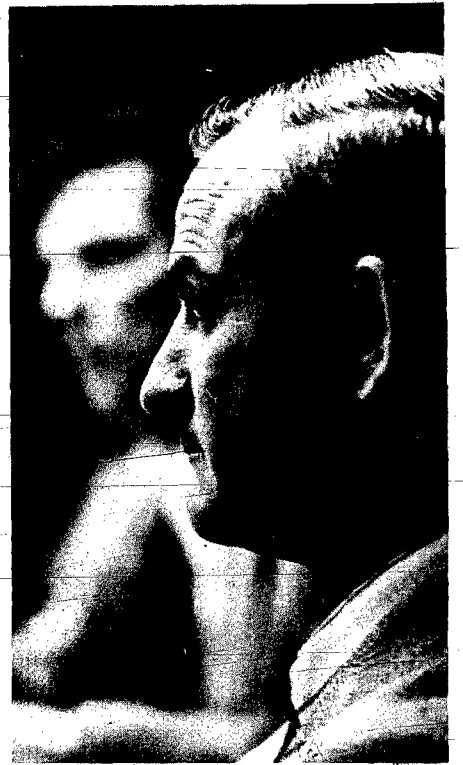

He said Fairchild showed "insubordination" when he refused to take down barricades. Fairchild had ordered put up on West Third Street after a merchant had requested them for a sale.

He also showed insubordination when he refused to "alter a ticket" given to a local motorcycle rider only moments after a new state law went into effect. Hall testified, Hall said it would be good public relations to change the ticket since an $18 was "steep" for a "youth who didn't know about the law. Fairchild didn't put a notice in the newspaper concerning the new law after Hall suggested that be done to inform the public, Hall testified.

Hall said he was "flabbergasted" when he learned after the investigation of the liquor establishments that Fairchild had ordered the two investigators to break the law to see if it would be permitted by the bartenders. He said he "couldn't react" until the phone started ringing and people started complaining about the way the investigation was conducted.

He said he received "numerous complaints, not just from the bar owners." He said also that there was a strong feeling among the councilmen that Fairchild should be fired because of the investigation. "Several of them urged me to do so," he testified.

Hall also testified that an "unofficial" meeting of the council was held in December of 1970 at which time problems in the police department were discussed. He and several councilmen felt that there would have to be some changes made in the department, Hall told the commission.

Councilman Daniel Fuelberth testified Thursday that several councilmen at that meeting felt Fairchild might have to be fired if the operation of the police department did not improve. Fuelberth said people were complaining about the department because of such things as poor public relations, lack of cooperation among officers, lack of cooperation with the street department and the like. He said the meeting was the result of those complaints.

Fuelberth also said he remembered the council commending Fairchild in March last year for the work he had been doing in such areas as applying for grants to consolidate the city and county offices and jails.

Testifying Wednesday afternoon were police chiefs Merle Hesser of Beatrice and James Brenneman of Norfolk.

Hesser testified that his officers chase speeders outside the city limits because it's difficult to prosecute without making an arrest at the time. Hall charged in his notice about firing Fairchild that Fairchild did nothing about Hall's suggestion to quit chasing speeders outside the city limits.

Hesser said "you just as well do away with speed laws" if officers are unable to chase speeders.

Brenneman testified that the records Fairchild was keeping were "adequate" for a town this size. Hall had charged Fairchild with keeping inadequate records.

Also testifying Wednesday afternoon was Vern Schulz, local street commissioner. He said he had difficulty working with the police department in getting cars off the streets for snow removal and in other areas.

40 Cases on Docket

Forty cases are listed on the docket for the February term of Wayne County district court which opens on Feb. 6.

Of those 40, only one is a criminal case. It involves a sexual offense which the judge has ruled.

The other cases range from damage suits for as much as $300,000 to divorces to suits protesting the county court's ruling on condemnation proceedings between area landowners and Nebraska Public Power District.

Also on the docket for the February term, which runs through August, is the suit by Vakoc Construction Co. of Wayne against the city.

A recent Nebraska Supreme Court ruling upheld a 1972 district court ruling favoring the city in the dispute over easement rights. The city obtained across the construction company's land in The Knolls. The construction company appealed to the state's high court, arguing the city illegally laid water and sewer pipes on its land in order to extend service to the fairgrounds.

The $315,195 suit for damages by Alvin Carlson of Winslow against Philip Witt and Winside Dehy, Inc. also is on the docket. The suit, stemmed from a car-truck accident in the summer of 1971 about three and a half miles west of Winslow.

Other suits on the docket involving traffic accidents include a $51,859 suit by Allen Shufelt of Wayne against Robert Copple of Ashland, filed following a car-pedestrian accident in September of 1971 in Wayne. Injured in the accident was young Mark Shufelt.

The $46,075.68 suit by Mrs. Lee Gable of Hoskins against Ralph Blomenkamp of Wayne and the $5,191 suit by Lee Gable against Blomenkamp also are on the docket. The suits were filed following a contractor accident on Highway 98 south of Carroll in December of 1970.

Koester Fund Past $4,000

A total of $4,013.97 had been collected by Friday for the Danny Koester fund, according to Bill Snyder of the Security State Bank in Allen.

The fund was started about two weeks ago to help defray costs of a bone marrow operation for the rural Allen lad. Hospital expenses may run as high as $25,000.

Last year it was discovered the 14-year old son of Mrs. and Mrs. Duane Koester is suffering from a rare blood disease that prohibits the growth of white-blood cells needed to fight infection. As a result, the boy was flown to a Seattle hospital for a special operation involving a bone marrow transplant.

A Universal Language

MAN OF a thousand faces, or maybe 10 thousand: that's pantomimist Claude Kipnis who enthralled a Wayne State audience Thursday. Saying not a word to be heard, he conveyed a world of words by actions alone, assisted occasionally by two young mimists and background music. He presented a show that he created a decade ago and called "Men and Dreams." It has remained popular ever since for what it says about people — and the way Kipnis "says" it.

"Programs don't help people. People help people."

That was among comments made by John North, director of the Nebraska Commission on Alcoholism, as he spoke at the sixth annual meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Family and Community Affairs Council in Laurel last Monday.

"If people aren't involved, people won't be helped," he said in his address on "Alcoholism Prevention." North outlined the triple target for preventive measures — the community, the home, and the job. People in all three of these environments must work together or the total preventive programs won't work, he noted.

Keynote speaker for the morning program was Merlin Wright of Wayne, probation officer in a 12-county district in Northeast Nebraska. Addressing about 90 people, including the Emerson-Hubbard senior class, Wright emphasized that every human being wants to be wanted, needs to feel needed and loves to be loved. If people would fulfill these needs for one another, many human problems and heartaches would not develop, he noted.

Neal Boeshart of Laurel, director of the Community Alcoholism Program in a 22 county area in Northeast Nebraska, showed a film titled "Conspiracy of Silence." The film portrays a young family coping with the progressive symptoms and seriousness of the problems of alcoholism.

Boeshart invited adults in the audience to attend the one-week School for Alcohol Studies scheduled for Jan. 27-Feb. 1 in Kearney. Further details and contact information is available from Boeshart at 709 Madison Ave. in Norfolk, Ne. 68701.

Commissioner Seeks 2nd Four-Year Term

Joe Wilson of rural Wakefield will seek another term as commissioner from the first district in Wayne County.

Wilson, who is in the last year of his four-year term, filed for the office Friday.

Also up for re-election is Floyd Burt of rural Winslow, commissioner in the third district. He has not filed for another term yet. Ken Eddie of Carroll, second district commissioner, is not up for re-election.

A Republican, Wilson is currently serving as chairman of the county board, the second year in a row he has been named to that job.

Wilson, 65, defeated Democratic candidate John Surber in the 1970 general election for county commissioner. Surber was the incumbent.

County officials who have already filed for the election include assessor Doris Stipp, treasurer Leon Meyer and clerk of district court Joann Ostrander. Not filing to date are sheriff Don Weible, clerk-Norris Weible, superintendent of schools Fred Rickers and attorney Budd Bornhoff. All are Republicans.

County commissioners will continue receiving $6,500 annually during the coming four-year term. The sheriff, clerk, treasurer and assessor will receive $9,000, while the superintendent of schools, clerk of district court and attorney will receive $8,125. Those annual salaries are 25 per cent higher than what the officials are now receiving.

JOE WILSON

Deadline for filing with the county clerk for county office is March 15. The primary election will be held in May, the general election in November.

Dahl Named Group's VP

Ken Dahl, administrator of Dahl Care Centre in Wayne, Thursday was re-elected vice president of the Northeast Nebraska Nursing Home Association.

Dahl was named to that post, Burt Matzke of Norfolk was named president and Connie Ahrens of Stanton was named secretary-treasurer during the group's annual organizational meeting at Norfolk.

Speaking to the approximate 80 administrators and assistant administrators who attended the meeting was Eugene Thompson of Lincoln, executive director of the state nursing home association. He reviewed current legislation affecting nursing homes and discussed the last meeting of the national association.

Address Wrong in Drug Arrest Story

The address where Wayne police arrested 10 persons on drug charges on Jan. 12 was incorrectly reported in the last issue of The Wayne Herald.

The arrests were made at 420 Pearl St., not 402 Pearl.

No charges had been filed in connection with the arrests as of Friday. County attorney Budd Bornhoff said earlier last week no charges will be filed until results of tests being conducted on material seized during the arrests are received from the state.

The 10 persons arrested posted bond ranging from $50 to $100 each after being held overnight in the county jail.

Names of the 10 persons arrested, seven men and three women, have not been released by law authorities.

2 Critical After Mishap

Two persons remained in critical condition Friday in a Sioux City hospital following a near head-on wreck late Wednesday night on Highway 35 northeast of Wakefield.

Being treated for serious injuries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital are LeAnn Hale, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hale of rural Allen, and Dan Mahr, 22, of Sioux City.

Reported in good condition at Wakefield Community Hospital Thursday was Denise Fischer, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fischer of rural Concord.

Not injured in the accident was Alex Hogg, 54, of Lincoln, who was "driving a westbound car which collided with the other two vehicles after the accident. Hogg is a University of Nebraska extension veterinarian.

Dixon County sheriff Debra Chase of Ponca said the headlights on the car being driven by Miss Fischer apparently malfunctioned, causing the crash about 11 p.m. Wednesday. The accident occurred about three and a half miles east of the highway junction two miles north of Wakefield.

Chase said the headlight coverings on the 1967 vehicle apparently closed while Miss Fischer and Miss Hale were driving west. Mahr, a Sioux City policeman, was headed east in a van-type bus.

Miss Hale suffered head lacerations and possible internal injuries. Mahr suffered head lacerations and leg and back injuries. Miss Fischer received leg injuries and head cuts.

Mrs. Walter Hale is the Wakefield area reporter for The Wayne Herald. Helping the Dixon County sheriff's office with the investigation was the State Patrol.

Surprise! Tax forms now easier to use

FIRST OF FIVE ARTICLES

Taxpayers will find that the biggest surprise in the tax returns this year is the fact that they are easier to fill out. Less detailed information is required on both medical expenses and contributions to charity. Doctor, dentist and hospital payments can now be lumped and the total given without itemization. The same is true of cash contributions for which receipts or canceled checks can be produced if the IRS requests them.

In previous years taxpayers were required to supply detailed information to be used by Uncle Sam in assigning revenue-sharing funds to local communities. This has now been boiled down to a space for one's county of residence.

It is no longer necessary to use a separate form to allocate a dollar of one's tax payment (two dollars in the case of joint returns) to an election campaign fund to be drawn on by all political parties in future presidential races. Now it's just a matter of checking a box on Form 1040. A second box can be checked if the taxpayer failed to allocate a dollar to the election fund last year but wishes to do so retroactively.

Last year taxpayers with income from dividends or interest over $200 had to itemize it on a separate Schedule B. Now Schedule B has been eliminated. Total amounts received from dividends and interest are entered on page 1 of Form 1040.

Elimination of Schedule B also makes it possible for persons with interest or dividend income over $200 to use the short form, 1040A, if they wish. Generally, Form 1040A has been simplified, too — along the lines of the changes in the long form.

The improvements in the tax forms mean that now more than ever taxpayers who had no complicated financial transactions during the year should be able to prepare their own tax returns.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

Skaneateles, N. Y., Press and Marcellus Observer

Senate and House members are discussing the granting of long-term credit to Communist countries at an interest rate of 2 per cent — while the prime interest rate in the United States is bumping 9 per cent. The subsidy is interesting since nothing really has changed in the Communist attitudes. Red China has said so, Cuba has said so. Just recently Mikhail Suslov, the top Soviet ideologue, gave the Russian version of détente. "There can be," he said, "no peaceful coexistence between socialism and capitalism." The Communist Party's effort to "mold a new man," he added, "must take place in an uncompromising implacable struggle against bourgeois ideology." The Communist purity of ideology apparently is willing to compromise only to the extent of taking the fruit of capitalism — Western money."

RURAL DELIVERY

A closer look...

By Norvin Hansen

YOU EVER HEARD of a place or event called Wayne Nest?

If so, Herbert Hansen of rural Wayne wants to hear from you.

Hansen is trying to find out the story behind a small, eight-sided coin he found in a wall of a house he was tearing down five miles north and three west of Wayne. The metal coin, the same size as a quarter, has what looks like three owls on a branch and the words "Buffet Check" on one side and the words "Wayne Nest" on the other side. It must have been worth 12½ cents in trade somewhere, sometime, but Hansen has no idea where it came from. Give him a call if you think you know.

WAYNE AREA YOUTHS looking for a summer job may be able to find just that along with several interesting side benefits by getting in touch with the Boy Scouts.

One hundred students and adults are needed for the summer camp program of the Mid-America Council. The job gives students a chance to make a little money, be outdoors in a camp environment, have free room and board, and help a lot of kids have the time of their life.

High school students interested should write for a Camp Staff Application at the Mid-America Council Service Center, 519 S. 15th St., Omaha 68102. Positions will be filled by March 1.

CONGRESSMAN Charles Thone maintained an enviable voting record in the House of Representatives during 1973. Thone took part in 99.1 per cent of the recorded actions by the House. He voted 538 times out of a possible 541 on bills and amendments. He was present to vote 182 times out of a possible 185 on quorum calls to see if a majority was present.

He's got every reason to keep that voting record high — he is a sponsor of a proposed Constitutional amendment that would give Congress the power to expel members for non-attendance.

HERE'S SOMETHING to laugh about, some odd claims handled by Aetna Life & Casualty in 1973:

—A New York claims man received a telephone call from a woman who needed information about submitting a life insurance claim. Asked about the insured's date of death, the woman replied, "Well, my husband isn't dead yet, but he isn't expected to live through the night, so I thought I might save some time."

—An Illinois woman was trapped on her future grave site next to the final resting place of her deceased husband when a 1,100-pound tombstone toppled over on her. She insisted the accident was a signal her husband wanted her to join him immediately.

She lost the suit, and the defense attorneys composed a poem to celebrate their victory. One stanza read: "The dancer who lost was sad and disgusted but unlike her lawyer she isn't lit busted."

—A Florida man sent in a claim form along with bills for his wife's pregnancy. In the box asking whether or not the claim was related to an accident in the home, the man wrote, "Yes — in a fit of emotion!"

'Many More Deserve Credit'

Dear Editor:

Thank you for your article concerning KWSC-TV. I must however add some further information. Individuals who spent hundreds of hours in preparation for our debut were not mentioned.

Bill Hagerman, associate professor of broadcasting who is now working toward a doctorate at UNL, deserves more credit for our operation than could be imagined.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bates worked uncountable hours to bring our TV station into focus. Larry Hansen at Wayne Cablevision has worked extremely hard. His reliability and special interest in our station and students has indeed been admirable. Terry Schamberg from Norfolk working part-time has helped us immensely further our program.

The head of the humanities department, Dr. Norman Nordstrand has acquired much equipment. He also certainly realizes our numerous technical problems.

Wayne State College offers students an opportunity to learn in the campus radio and TV stations. They also, of course, operate them. What they don't have is a first-class engineer to maintain and calibrate the highly sophisticated equipment. Thus, our students spend a tremendous amount of time trying to handle electronic equipment they shouldn't be expected to touch. Students should be operating the equipment, not maintaining it.

Our broadcasting students have put their hearts into the program. Facing budget and technical setbacks seemingly daily, they kept the faith and drove forward. We in the broadcasting department are not apt to settle for the phrase, "Those guys in the basement." We will continue to work the odd hours, and the weekends even though many students and some administrators feel an education ends at 10 p.m. and on Friday nights.

One person says he someday expects to find a sign on the Fine Arts Building reading "Off Limits To Students."

I feel my ideas are pertinent at this time. Our FM campus radio stations is now "down" due to technical difficulty. Our broadcasting students are not in the least happy. Without technical help and guidance our TV station will no doubt pay the same price.

Here's a few thoughts that come to mind after looking over Thursday's front page:

—Businessmen would be wise to get behind efforts to help the local National Guard unit build up its membership. If not, the city could lose an "industry" which pumps nearly $100,000 into the community every year. That's how much the administrative supply technician for the unit estimates is spent on such things as salaries, maintenance, utilities and the like. In addition, the community could lose a valuable facility for holding events such as dances, recreational activities, meetings and so on if it is boarded up rather than kept open by the state. Store owners might consider encouraging and helping their employees join the unit, offering discounts on merchandise and services to Guardsmen, and doing other things to help the unit attract the approximate 20 members needed to assure that it will remain open.

—That's fantastic, the amount of fuel and electricity saved at the college from about the middle of November through December. If the figures are right, conservation efforts there saved enough fuel to heat 219 average homes in Wayne for a full month, enough electricity to light and service 201 average homes for the same length of time. Who says a little conservation doesn't pay off? It just goes to show that Americans are very extravagant when it comes to their comforts. We may wish to remain as comfortable, but we're going to have to learn how to do it without burning up our natural resources as if there were no tomorrow. There is a tomorrow, and it could be a cold, dark one.

dents tell him what they think is right and wrong with this country.

According to one of his spokesmen, the legislator heard more about daylight savings time, cattle prices, and the energy shortage than he did about the Watergate serial running daily in D.C. That's probably to be expected, but we're pretty sure that problem is bothering an awful lot of people around this part of the state. It's like a headache which won't go away — you can go about your business, but it sure isn't very pleasant.

—Filings for county offices are starting to roll in the county clerk's office, but up to now there are no opponents for any of the offices. With the recent 25 per cent salary hikes approved for the county officials, we look for some interesting races to develop before the March 15 filing deadline. There have been no filings for the local school board or city government, but they should start coming before too long. Competition there may be a little harder to come by.

—Local and area residents can hear a few pointers on how a community should go about planning for community growth by attending the Wayne Chamber of Commerce annual dinner on Jan. 28. Speaker for the night will be a planning consultant from Fremont. He should have some interesting observations to make, particularly about Wayne since he is the city's consultant. Likely, he will get some questions tossed at him by those attending the affair.

Five of the cases involve dissolution of marriage proceedings.

Judge George Dittirk of Norfolk is expected to set trial dates and pre-trial conferences for cases on the docket.

Other items on the docket: $31,000 suit on contract by Richardson Ranch Co. Inc., North Platte, against Stanley Soden, Winside, stemmed from sale of cattle.

$33,647 suit on warranty by Winside Dehy, Inc. against Neptune Systems, Inc., stemmed from fire in grain bin.

apply for a single one-year program of conservation improvement or select a three to 10-year continuing program.

The extended period of time now allowed will be most beneficial to those wishing rather extensive conservation improvements on their land but preferring to spread them out over a period of years, Butts said.

All applications must be made directly to the ASCS county office. Complete information and details on the specific programs will be available in the very near future, said Butts.

Butts also said he does have the basic information on the program that has been authorized by the Secretary of Agriculture for cost sharing. Fourteen separate practices have been announced, plus two which deal with county projects affecting conservation peculiar to a particular county. This year's program places added emphasis on forestry practices, which could offer additional interest to some of our Wayne County applicants, the county director noted.

ly's Place, testified Thursday afternoon that he seldom got help from the police while Fairchild was chief in efforts to solve such problems as spiking beer and minors drinking. He said his relationship with Fairchild and the police department was fine but that he couldn't get help from the police.

Hall testified that he ordered Fairchild to conduct the investigation of liquor establishments last spring because of numerous complaints about illegal activities in Scotty's Place. He said he wanted it done at that time so the results of the investigation would be known before the council met in April to renew local liquor licenses. He said he didn't want Scotty's Place to have a license if violations were being allowed there. He agreed with Fairchild that it would be unfair to investigate just one bar so he ordered the investigation to be done at other places also.

Testifying Thursday afternoon also was Loren Kamish of a policeman. He said he saw a policeman pull his revolver on a group of youths near the sewage lagoon after finding them hunting there in the winter several years ago. He said it surprised him so much that it prompted him to ask the officer if he really did pull his gun out of the

Tiedtke Sinks Free Throw For OT Win

A foul shot by Craig Tiedtke gave Team 1 a 47-46 overtime win over Team 2 during B-league basketball Wednesday night.

Tied at 44-44 at the end of regulation play, both clubs scored two buckets each before Dan Johnson of Team 2 and Tiedtke were sent to the foul lines. Both made two shots, but Tiedtke drew another foul for the go-ahead point.

Despite the win, Team 1 in second place with a 4.3 mark, right behind Team 4 at 5.2.

The first-place club, also playing a close game, came from a four-point deficit with less than

Laurel Woman Hit by Vehicle In Sioux City

A Laurel woman, Mrs. Robert Munter, 79, was reported in fair condition in a Sioux City hospital Thursday night after being hit by a vehicle about noon on a downtown Sioux City street.

She and her husband were struck by a station wagon driven by David Hughes, 25, of Sterling, Ill., when they were crossing the intersection of Fifth and Pierce Streets. Munter, 79, was treated and released at St. Luke's Medical Center where his wife was hospitalized.

The driver of the vehicle reportedly received a ticket for failure to yield to pedestrians in a crosswalk.

Wildcat Grapplers Victimize Kearney

There were smiles aplenty for Wayne State wrestlers Thursday night. They won their first meet of the year, 20-18 over Kearney State in Rice Gym, and that was just the psychological lift the Wildcats needed before their Saturday triple dual at Frankton.

Kearney gave up 12 points immediately on forfeits at 118 and 126, with Wildcats Brooks Widner and Jim Meyer the benefactors.

"One of my better matches" declared Meyer, a hometown Wayne product who just might have been kidding. Fact is, he's the winningest Wildcat at 7-1-1.

So far this season, only Meyer and heavyweight Ron Coles have won consistently. Coles made his record 6-2 when he topped off the Kearney meet with a 6:54 pin on Bob Feurer.

Between the Kearney forfeits and the Coles win, it was nip and tuck.

The Antelopes—like Wayne, a young team—pulled up to an 18-18 tie with three matches to go. The only Wayne victor in the middle five scraps was freshman Randy Humpal, 142, who pinned Mark Jones in 2:29.

After the tie count, Wayne's George Biszack, trimmed down to 177, went to work for a decision. Fred Spale added his decision at 190, and Wayne led, 24-18. Then Coles, after finding himself on the bottom of a quick takedown, and not accustomed to that indignity, swarmed over Feurer, to gain a third-period fall.

The win balanced Wayne's dual mark at 1-1.

RESULTS:

188—Brooks Widner (WS) won by forfeit.

126—Jim Meyer (WS) won by forfeit.

134—Chris Wilkinson (KS) decisioned Erv Robbins, 10-1.

142—Randy Humpal (WS) pinned Mark Jones in 4:48.

150—Tom Jensen (KS) decisioned Bill Garratt, 8-3.

167—Rocky Oakland (KS) pinned Stan Anderson in 3:47.

177—George Biszack (WS) decisioned Dudley Nelson, 5-2.

190—Fred Spale (WS) decisioned Ken VerMaas, 9-3.

Hwt—Ron Coles (WS) pinned Bob Feurer in 6:54.

Coleridge Romps Past Wildcats

As was expected, a strong Coleridge team notched an easy win over Winside Friday night as the Bulldog's came close to reaching the century mark, 99-45.

Led by Kevin Krei's 28 points, the hosts broke out to a 34-10 first quarter edge. Although the scoring pace eased off somewhat in the last three frames, Coleridge continued to bear down on the 100-point mark.

Sophomore Tyler Frevert paced the 0-7 Wildcats with a 15-point performance in what Luff termed a good game by the underclassmen. Also hitting the double numbers column was senior center Jeff Farran who pumped in 13.

However, their scoring efforts couldn't match those of Krei and Rick Hansen, who had 25. The two collected 21 of Coleridge's 41 field goals.

Missing from Winside's lineup was senior forward Larry Weible, out with a sore ankle. According to Luff, Weible wasn't expected to see action in Saturday night's home contest with Was.

"We missed Larry's defensive work," Luff pointed out. "We may not have won the game with him, but chances are the score wouldn't have been as high."

Winside tried to stall the game with about three minutes left when Coleridge took out two of its reserve players and put in two starters in an apparent attempt to reach the 100-point mark.

The Wildcat reserves nailed their second win against four defeats with a 47-34 win. Frevert again was the hot man with 14 points, followed by Brad Brockman with 10.

Friday Winside travels to Wynot before taking on Hartington Saturday night at home.

The Ed Sullivan show may be gone but it will never be forgotten: Its demise after 23 years, the long-run record, inevitably leaves a void that may never be filled.

Sullivan, himself, was very much responsible for every aspect of his show. He passed on every act that appeared. Each show was given a final dress rehearsal at one o'clock each Sunday, before a live audience. Sullivan watched the audience carefully, with a practiced eye. He felt that if the live audience was not impressed, the TV audience wouldn't be either. In some cases, an act which had rehearsed all week was cut out of the show just an hour or two before air time.

'File Early To Get Fast
 Tax Service'

Want a faster refund this year? The Internal Revenue Service said that all taxpayers who file their tax returns in January should get their refunds in four to five weeks.

After January it may take six to eight weeks, the IRS noted.

Richard Vinal, IRS district director for Nebraska, said January filers gain about a two-week advantage over those who file later because the 10 IRS service centers can process returns and approve refunds much faster early in the filing season when workloads are not heavy.

"Taxpayers who file early avoid making the thoughtless errors that often occur in their rush to meet the April 15 deadline," said Vinal. "Those who wait until the last few weeks to file often fail to read the instructions carefully, neglect to sign the return or forget to attach all schedules and W-2 forms. These mistakes can delay a refund for as long as four additional weeks."

To avoid the rush and beat the January filing deadline for an early refund of the money due them, Vinal urged taxpayers to start getting their tax records together now.

Twirler Competing In National Contest

Carla Miller, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller of rural Winside will compete in the National Baton Twirling Association majorette championship contest to be held in St. Paul, Minn., this weekend.

Miss Miller became eligible for the nationals by placing third in the state championships which were held in Omaha last July. The top five twirlers in each state are eligible to compete. Jody Shurtlett of Fairbury is the Nebraska senior champion.

The two-day event, to be held in conjunction with the annual winter carnival at St. Paul, will get underway with a preliminary contest Saturday. A breakfast of champions is scheduled for Sunday morning and the finals, which will feature a parade of states, are set for Sunday evening.

Carla is a sophomore at Winside High School and a featured twirler with the Winside High School band. Her baton instructor, Mrs. LeRoy Damm of Winside will accompany her to St. Paul.

Carla's sister, Mrs. Larry (Phyllis) Cleveland of Norfolk was the first area twirler to compete in the national contest two years ago.

Allen, Winside
 To Get Gas
 For Buses

Both Winside and Allen High Schools appear to be in good shape for the rest of the month as far as having enough gas for their school buses.

Allen superintendent Gail Miller received notice from Felco in Allen that a transport of gasoline arrived Friday, insuring the school it will have enough gas to meet its demand for January.

According to Winside superintendent, Don Leighton, the picture looks as bright for his school. The town's three suppliers confirmed they could give the school the needed gas to run its buses for the rest of the month.

In an earlier story, both superintendents said they were not sure of their situation. Two weeks ago Miller said gasoline shortage was critical, bringing up the possibility that the school might have to reduce the number of buses being operated.

AH Students to Discuss Drugs From New Angle

Allen High School is trying a new approach to educating their students about the effects of drug usage by not giving the students facts.

Aim of the program is not to give the students facts, explained school nurse Mrs. Gwen McGee, but to let students make decisions based on their system of values.

Head of the project, she pointed out that the seminar is geared to help students form their own opinion about drugs as well as better understand opinions of their peers.

The program, involving junior high and high school students, starts today (Monday) at 12:30 when the students, assembled in the gym for three one-hour sessions.

In the first session the students will divide into groups of 10—different students from different grades—to learn more about each other. The purpose is to make it easier for them (students) to talk later in the program when they meet again," Mrs. McGee said.

After the talks, the students will view two films about how students form their values in relation to such influences as school, church and friends. Then the groups will meet in the final hour to get ideas of their peers and to discuss what could be done about the drug situation.

Students will try to determine why people use drugs and how people can gain acceptance without use of drugs.

Teachers will be in the group to guide the discussions, Mrs. McGee pointed out. Also present will be the superintendent and assistant superintendent. "We're not trying to make this a fact seminar," she stressed. "We want the students to make their own decisions about drugs."

'It's the Greatest'

Every candidate should have a platform. And although I'm not running for anything at the moment, I have selected a cause in the event I ever want to.

I'm for junk mail!

Now lots of people get really upset by unsolicited advertisements, invitations, free samples, not-so-free samples, etc., which from time to time slip through third class and into the average homeowner's P. O. box.

I'm not one of those people.

Thanks to junk mail I can honestly say that hardly a day goes by when I don't receive some mail. Even on my birthday, when everyone else forgot, junk mail came through with six letters.

The day the real estate tax notice arrived from the county treasurer's office, I was cheered by an accompanying offer from a New Jersey man who wanted to make me a millionaire within five years.

For years a Literary Guild has been assuring me that I'm capable of writing a best seller. And despite the fact that I never order, I regularly get catalogues from Creative Giving and Gifts International who know that I appreciate the finer things in life.

Aside from the obvious moral support that junk mail offers, it's also nice because it's not immediate. It can be saved for reading in the john, waiting out the 10 minutes it takes your nail polish to dry or killing time until the babysitter arrives. It makes good book marks, fine packing material around Christmas time, and excellent stock for third graders' snowflakes.

Junk mail is nice, too, for giving to the kids to keep them from confiscating something of a more personal nature from the waste basket.

And if all that doesn't impress you, consider recently published statistics which indicate that junk mail provides work for one out of every three postal employees.

Hurrah for junk mail!

Tournament Queen

WINSIDE HIGH'S Joni Langenberg, center, was crowned Winside's Invitational Wrestling queen Jan. 12. She along with Desiree Day of Neligh, left, and Kim Schnaible of Hartington, presented trophies during the afternoon and evening matches. This marks the first year Winside has crowned a queen to reign over its annual tournament.

Blue Devils Overcome Sticky Stanton, 61-52

A sticky Stanton club held Wayne to a 33-29 first half lead Friday night before the Blue Devils broke out in the last frame to nail the team's eighth win, 61-52.

Led by junior guard Marly Hansen with 18 points, Wayne managed to overcome the pesky Mustang team in the last frame when Hansen connected for 10 points on shots from about 20 feet out. "That may have been a little too far to shoot," pointed out coach Bill Sharpe, "but he did make the shots."

Stanton tied the game at 43-all in the third frame when the Devils went cold and managed only 10 points the whole quarter. But Wayne went ahead in the final stanza for an 8-2 record going into Saturday's contest with Bloomfield at the local city auditorium.

One of the reasons the Devils took charge in the fourth quarter was the team's defense on Stanton's hot-shooting forward, Rex Hawkins. The senior pumped in 18 points the first half, but Wayne limited him to only three points the second half.

"We were using a 1-3-1 zone defense which enabled us to collapse on Hawkins and stop him from scoring," Sharpe pointed out, adding that it was the only thing his team could do to slow down the Mustangs' scoring surge.

Siebrandt Leads Trojans To Victory Over Tigers

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Monday, January 21, 1974

A 17-point spree by senior forward Keith Siebrandt paced the Wakefield Trojans to their fifth win Friday night, a 55-44 sweep of host Takamah-Herman.

Coach Joe Coble's crew, with a 5-3 mark heading into Saturday's meeting with Pender, popped in two 15-point quarters for a 30-24 halftime lead.

"Siebrandt's 17, along with Gary Addink's 10, set fire to the Trojans' run-and-gun game. Our boys played a good game both offensively and defensively," Coble pointed out.

Takamah's Mark Chamberlain and Barry Major hit a total of 30 points for the home team but could not break loose in the second half.

Wakefield jumped out to an eight-point lead before Takamah caught up and took a two-point margin over the area club, 10-8 in the first quarter. But that was

Albion Spoils Devils Last Home Debut

Wayne High's last home match was spoiled by a strong Class B-Albion club when the visitors took all but four matches for a 34-20 conquest.

The locals won the 98, 185 and heavyweight classes and gained a draw in the 105-pound division to collect their points while Albion showed power in the middle weights.

Six Cardinals, ranked among the state's top four Class B grapplers in their weights, took decisions at the 119, 126, 132, 138, 145 and 167 pounds.

After Wayne's Randy Surber won the 98-pound division, Ken Daniels drew with Luther Larson in the next weight for an 8-7 Wayne lead.

Then Albion came on with seven straight wins but 185-pound Dave Crosby gave up his match to Mike Dunklau by default. The referee stopped the match in the second period when Crosby suffered an arm injury.

Wayne heavyweight Charles Brockman ranked fourth in state Class-B wrestling, won an easy

Cats Pin Hartington

Winside's wrestling team boosted its season dual mark to 4-1 Thursday night with a 43-21 win over visiting Hartington.

Coach Doug Barclay's team had five wins to go along with Hartington forfeits in three weight classes to outpace the visitors.

New additions to the varsity lineup helped to take the pressure off Winside's A team, according to Barclay. Although Lynn Langenberg (126), Keith Barge (145) and Dave Mann (132) lost their matches, the coach quickly pointed out that each wrestler is learning. Winside's 98-pound addition, Kevin Cleveland, was the only newcomer to win his weight class, gaining a 5-22 pin over Darrell Thoenes.

Entry Deadline Is Jan. 27 for Women Keglers

Members of the local women's city bowling association have until Jan. 27 to register for the annual women's city tournament, according to Vicky Skokan, secretary-treasurer.

The Feb. 23 tourney will start at 1 p.m. for teams on both days, with doubles and singles entries to roll at 3:15 p.m.

Handicap will be based on 70 per cent of the difference between a bowler's highest league average and 180 as of Dec. 31. "This is a real good chance for the person with low average to win the tournament," Mrs. Skokan pointed out.

Women keglers may pick up their entry forms at Melodee Lanes and return them to Mrs. Skokan.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED ABANDONMENT PURSUANT TO 49 CFR

 Notice is hereby given that the Interstate Commerce Commission is being requested to issue a certificate of public convenience and necessity permitting abandonment of the line of railroad of the Chicago and North Western Transportation Company extending from railroad Milepost 7.3 near Dakota City, Dakota County, Nebraska in a southeasterly direction to the railroad Milepost 28.9 near Emerson, Dakota County, Nebraska, and from railroad Milepost 60.9 near Emerson to railroad Milepost 19.0 near Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, a total distance of 46.6 miles, all in Dakota, Dixon and Wayne Counties, Nebraska. This line includes the stations of Beermann, Spurr, Hubbard, Emerson, Wakefield and Wayne, Nebraska.
 The interest of employees will be protected by the "Burlington Conditions," as described in 257 I.C.C. 700.
 The reasons for the proposed abandonment are that traffic over the above described line is extremely low, averaging only 16.06 cars per week for the 12 month period ending December 31, 1972, inclusive. A total of 642 cars were handled on the abandonment track in calendar 1971, and 646 cars were handled in calendar 1972 in the years 1971 and 1972; additional 1051 327,000 and $35,800, respectively, from the operation of this line. The line is in a deteriorated condition and requires a substantial expenditure for upgrading in the future. Continuation of maintenance and operation of the line in the future would constitute an undue burden on interstate commerce and would deprive applicant and shipper on its lines at other places of the use of salvageable material of the line. Estimated total net salvage value of the line is $240,300.
 The name and address of applicant's representative to whom inquiries may be made is Christopher A. Mills, Commerce Attorney-Chicago and North Western Transportation Company, 400 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois 60606.
 The Interstate Commerce Commission will rule on this application without hearings unless protests are received which contain information indicating a need for such hearings. In the opinion of the applicant, the proposed abandonment does not constitute a major federal action having a significant effect upon the quality of the human environment. In accordance with the Commission's regulations (49 CFR 1100.25) in Ex. Parte No. 55 (Sub. No. 4), implementation of National Environmental Policy Act, 1969, 30 ICC 431 (1972), any protests may include a statement indicating the presence or absence of any effect of the requested commission action of the quality of the human environment. If any such effect is alleged to be present, the statement shall include information relating to the relevant factors set forth in Ex. Parte No. 55 (Sub. No. 4), supra, Part (b) (1)-(5), 340 ICC 431, 461.
 Any protests referring to this application (Case No. 362), shall be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C. 20423, not later than February 28, 1974.

RVs Energy Savers, Too

Can anything that's fun be an energy saver, too? Probably a number of things, but one in particular is recreational vehicle living and camping.

One vehicle on a camping trip consumes less energy than two or more at home. A six-gallon water heater in an RV takes less energy to heat than a 60-gallon home-water heater. It takes a lot less energy to heat an RV when camping out than a home. And, fewer electric appliances are used than at home.

What about the recreational vehicle, because of its size? Doesn't it use lots of fuel? With the anti-pollution equipment on recent model cars, there is actually little difference in fuel use between a 74 sedan and a medium-size motor home or car towing an average-size trailer.

The RV industry tells us that all the time we are camping in our RV we are saving close to 80 per cent of the energy we normally expend at home. That saving could be tremendous, when it is considered that one out of every 10 Americans camps or otherwise enjoys leisure living in an RV. And there is an estimated 53 million Americans who camp each year.

As most of us know, camping per se is just about the lowest cost family vacation or outing that exists.

So, it would appear that if we want to save energy and slow down the economy at the same time we should encourage everyone to go RV camping.

For all you RV buffs, most major brands, all type units and the 1974 models of recreational vehicles go on parade Jan. 16 through 20 at the Midwest Recreational Vehicle and Camping Show in Omaha's Civic Auditorium.

Nights On The Ice

As uncomfortable as it may seem, night fishing in winter is often more productive than daytime ice fishing. For some unexplained reason the night hours are most productive for most species. Other "good times" are shortly after daybreak, around noon and at dusk.

Crappie fishing is often exceptionally good late at night, particularly for those fishermen using lanterns. A possible explanation is that the light of the lantern attracts the crappie.

And when you're out there on that ice, day or night, look for the most promising spots — around rocky ledges, in deep holes, over bars and at the end of points for panfish. If you're after a winter favorite, the northern pike, he usually lurks in weed beds in the shallow bays and coves of lakes.

Ice Fishing Where-To-Go

Another rundown of recommended ice-fishing waters:

- Round Lake, southeast of Merriman, for walleyes on minnows.
- Pelican Lake on Valentine Refuge for northern pike to four pounds and also bluegill. East end best early in the season. Work west as the season progresses and fish just beyond the reeds, jigging. Use liver chunks, ice flies, jigs with wax worms or pork rinds, beef steak and spoons.
- Sutherland Reservoir, southwest of Sutherland, for perch one-half to 1 1/2 pounds. Best areas include Catfish bay, southwest corner and southeast bays from freeze-up until mid to late January. Minnows, worms and perch eyes best.
- University Lake, northwest of Scottsbluff, for northern pike to 14 pounds. Still fishing with minnows.
- Grove Lake, north of Royal, for rainbow trout, crappie and bass. Worms, grubs and minnows for bait.
- East Twin Lake, northwest of Pleasant Dale, for bluegill on wax worms and tear drops.

MISHMASH...Of all the minnows found in Nebraska waters, only two were not native to the state — the carp and goldfish, originally found in Europe and Asia. Archeologists have found that deer were of great importance to the inhabitants of this area as early as 300 A.D. But it isn't known how long they have been in Nebraska. During the 1800's, trappers, explorers and settlers entering the Nebraska Territory found both white-tailed deer and mule deer, the same two species here today.

The DeSoto National Wildlife Refuge has been open to ice fishing since Jan. 5. Archeology at Fort Atkinson has turned up some interesting artifacts, including two Spanish coins, one dated 1767 and the other 1780. Fort Atkinson was in business from 1820 to 1827. Time flies. Next month waterfowl begin winging their way back north.

As our garbage mounts, so conceivably could our supply of crude oil. The National Wildlife Federation reports that high-pressure steam can convert organic wastes and paper into product resembling crude oil. One ton of garbage makes one barrel of crude oil. Scrap, too, is valuable. Aluminum cans are worth $200 a ton as salvage.

PLACES-A-GO-GO...Statewide for...pheasant...only...through Sunday...quail, cottontail and squirrel...Statewide for hook-and-line fishing, archery, nongame fish, handspinning and snaggling (Missouri River only)...Statewide for trapping mink, muskrat and beaver...Omaha for the Midwest Recreational Vehicle and Camping Show, Omaha Civic Auditorium, Jan. 16 through 20...

4H has truly moved to the city. It is reported that several 4H groups have been organized in Chicago's 100-story John Hancock Center luxury apartment complex and the third tallest building in the world.
