City Ordered to Reinstate Police Chief

Wayne police chief Vern Fairchild is back on the job, reinstated by civil service commission order Tuesday. He resumed his duties Wednesday morning.

VERN FAIRCHILD

The three-man commission ordered the city to reinstate Fairchild and pay him back wages after finding that "there was insufficient evidence . . . to sustain the discharge."

Mayor Kent Hall, who fired Fairchild for the second time in less than eight months on Dec. 27, said he will "abide by their (the commission's) decision."

Hall had fired Fairchild the first time in April last year following an investigation of local liquor establishments. He said later there were several other reasons for the firing.

Mothers' March Earns $598 for Fund Drive

Sunday's Mothers' March conducted by the Mrs. Jaycees in Wayne resulted in $598.32 being collected for this year's March of Dimes fund drive in Wayne County, reports county chairman Rowan Wittse of Wayne.

The total is slightly over the approximate $650 collected during last year's march, the first conducted in Wayne.

Wittse said the rural drive for March of Dimes funds is under way, but results of the drive will not be known for several weeks because it is being conducted by the Lincoln office. Envelopes being passed from house to house in the rural areas will be sent to Lincoln when they have made their rounds in each precinct, he said.

Yet to be held to raise money for the March of Dimes is the second annual men's cake bake and auction. Last year's event, pitting businessmen as well as farmers and private citizens in an all male baking contest, raised about $1,000 for the fund drive.

Wittse said the event will be held in March after the district basketball tournaments. Last year's auction fell on the same evening a semifinal game was being played at Wayne State College, hurting the turnout for the auction.

Wittse noted that the county's share of the money from Sunday's drive, the rural drive and the cake bake auction will go to help pay for the infant warmer which has been ordered for the new hospital being built near Wayne State College.

The new piece of machinery, which costs about $1,700, has been ordered and will be placed in the existing hospital in Wayne when it arrives, Wittse said. When it is placed in the new hospital it will enable doctors to monitor the newborn child's heart and breathing if necessary.

The warmer simulates the mother's body temperature more closely than is possible with existing equipment, according to Wittse, and helps prevent loss of weight after birth.

Yet to be paid on the machine is $700, Wittse noted. The machine will be paid for out of the county's March of Dimes funds over the next three years, he added.

Although Fairchild is back on the job, the problems brought about by Hall's firing of him twice are likely to hang around for some time.

Vernon Russell Tuesday night told his fellow councilmen that the city should pay Fairchild's attorney fees because of its "moral obligation" to him.

The council saw fit to pay Robert Evers, chief of police for the city for six months, three months salary after relieving him of his duties late in December because of the city's obligation to him, and the council should live up to its obligation to Fairchild, he said.

Fairchild was "illegally fired both times," Russell said, and he was forced to pay about $1,800 to an attorney in order to get his job back.

Evers received the equivalent of three months' salary ($2,475) after he was relieved in December, said Russell, and the city owes Fairchild the same obligation to him.

The council tabled action on that and one other proposal by Russell — that the city pay Fairchild the same monthly salary that Evers was receiving, $825. Fairchild currently receives $740 monthly.

Russell said that when the city hired Evers in June last year for $825 a month it in effect set that as the salary for the chief's job.

Councilmen probably will take up the subject at their next meeting on Feb. 12.

Wayne city councilmen Tuesday night voted 4-3 against signing a contract with Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) for purchasing electrical power for the city.

The vote came after considerable discussion on the advantages and disadvantages of agreeing to a contract with the power company.

Voting against signing the contract, which city officials and power officials have been hammering out for several months, were Frank Prather, Darrel Fuebber, Vernon Russell and Ivan Beeks. In favor of the contract were Keith Mosley, Harvey Brasch and Jim Thomas.

Absent from the meeting was councilman Pat Gross.

The decision comes in the midst of work on construction of a power line which would link the city's power system with a Wayne County Public Power District (WCPPD) line south of town. The connecting line would enable WCPPD to carry electrical power from NPPD over its line to the city.

Before the vote, councilmen were told by city attorney John Addison that it is doubtful if the city will be able to interconnect with WCPPD if no contract has been signed with another power supplier.

The decision not to sign the contract with NPPD apparently leaves the door open for the city to sign it at some future date.

"If this were the only chance to sign the contract, then I'd say grab hold," mayor Kent Hall said during the discussion. He noted, however, that the power company would be obligated to give the city a contract to purchase electricity some time

Members of the Wayne Izaak Walton League will hold their annual wild game feed on Sunday, Feb. 10, at 7 p.m. at the Woman's Club room at the city auditorium.

Special chairs for the feed are Arlen Filch and Merton Hilton.

Special guests for the evening will be Nebraska Game and Parks conservation officers Marion Shafer of Norfolk and Ray Still of West Point. Still recently assumed duties for Wayne County in place of Shafer. They will show a short film during the evening.

Served during the evening will be a variety of wild game contributed by club members, including rabbit, pheasant, deer, duck, squirrel and fish.

Members of the Wayne Retail Association and the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce have voted to recommend the appointment of Lyle Seymour as permanent president of Wayne State College.

Seymour has been serving as interim president since shortly after the retirement of President W. A. Brandenburg early last year. The board of trustees of the state colleges is currently interviewing several prospective persons for the post.

Members of the two groups voted to back Seymour for the post at a meeting earlier this week.

Also at that meeting it was decided to have stores return to their 9 p.m. closing hour on Thursday nights beginning this week. Stores had been closing at 8:30 in recent weeks in an attempt to help conserve energy locally.

The two groups, which have been considering merging, agreed during the meeting to continue as separate groups for the next year.

Cattle Raiser Is Named National Vice Chairman

Well known cattleman Leland Herman of rural Wayne is now serving as vice chairman of the board of directors of the American Polled Hereford Association.

Herman, who raises cattle three miles east and a mile and a half north of Wayne, was named to the office during the association's national show and meeting in Denver this month.

A member of the board of directors for the past year, Herman, 52, is expected to take over as chairman at the organization's 1974 meeting and show in Louisville, Ky., in November. Current board chairman is George Palmer II of West Virginia, who Herman replaced when Palmer stepped up to head the board.

In his post on the board, Herman represents Polled Hereford breeders in Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa. Herman maintains about 150 registered cows on his 430-acre Hervale Farms near Wayne. He has been in the Polled Hereford business since 1941, using the proceeds from showing the grand champion steers at Ak-Sar-Ben in 1940 and 1941 to buy three registered heifers and a Polled Hereford bull.

His grandfather, Nels Herman, first started working the Nebraska farm in 1881, living first near Wakfield and later moving to near Wayne. He

Scarlet Fever Cases Reported in Area

Two cases of scarlet fever have been diagnosed in the Wayne area this month according to medical authorities.

Both cases involve elementary students at the Winside school. Scarlet fever is a contagious disease which can become serious if left untreated, according to a local physician. Complications such as rheumatic fever or nephritis, a kidney disease, could develop, he said.

Symptoms include chills and a fever, sometimes accompanied by vomiting and almost always a sore throat. After about 24 hours, the patient develops a rough, red rash which, if treated, fades in several days to a week. The rash usually does not

Commissioner Files for Office

Wayne County commissioner Floyd Burt Monday became the fifth county official to file for election.

Burt, of rural Winside, is seeking another four-year term as commissioner from the third district. He is currently finishing the last year of his first term in that office.

Joe Wilson of rural Wakfield has already filed for another term as commissioner from the first district. Ken Eddie of Carroll, second district commissioner, is not up for reelection.

Burt, 64, is currently vice president of the Northeast Nebraska Association of County Officials, a post he took over after serving the association as secretary-treasurer. A Republican, he also is a member of the board of directors of the area council of governments and the board of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District. His first year as a county commissioner he served as chairman of the county board.

Commissioners will receive $6,500 annually during the coming four-year term. However, the other county officials will receive 25 per cent more pay when their new terms start in January. Receiving $9,000 a year will be the sheriff, county clerk, treasurer and assessor; receiving $8,125 will be the district court clerk, county attorney and superintendent of schools.

A Republican, Weible is the latest county official to file for the May primary election. Already announcing intentions to seek office have been treasurer Leon Meyer, assessor Doris Shipp, clerk of district court Joann Ostrander and commissioners Joe Wilson of Wakfield and Floyd Burt of Winside. County attorney Budd Bornhoff and superintendent of schools Fred Rickers had not filed by late Tuesday.

Weible and his wife, Mary, have one child still in school, Joann, a senior at Wayne High. They have two grown children, Charles of Denver and Mrs. Trudy Lundquist of Omaha.

County commissioners earlier this month approved pay increases for all major county

The February meeting of the First Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid of Altona will be at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at the church.

About 70 guests from Dixon, Allen, Laurel, Ponca, Martinsburg and Concord attended a miscellaneous bridal shower at the Martinsburg parish hall Sunday afternoon honoring Ruth Dieckler.

Miss Dieckler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Dieckler of Allen, and Bruce Drake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Drake of Western, will be married Saturday at the Martinsburg Lutheran Church.

Hostesses for the Sunday afternoon fete were Mrs. Martin Blohm, Mrs. Richard Blohm, Mrs. Dortha Hassler, Mrs. Harry Bose, Mrs. Earl Mattes, and Mrs. Earl Gensler.

Pounds For Dollars Trade Will Benefit Heart Fund

During February, which is National Heart Month, Weight Watchers associations in the Nebraska and Greater Iowa area will be conducting a "Lose for Life" campaign to raise funds for the National Heart Association.

The local Weight Watchers group, which organized last May, will be participating in the drive, according to Mrs. Wilmer Marra, the group's lecturer.

Members of Weight Watchers will be encouraged to sign up several sponsors, each of whom will agree to pay to the Heart Association a specified amount of money for each pound lost by the soliciting member.

Losses will be recorded at the group's weekly meetings by Mrs. Willis Johnson of Wayne, chairman of the "Lose for Life" drive in Wayne. When the drive ends Feb. 28, members will contact their pledges and turn the proceeds over to the Wayne County Heart Association chair man Jim Keating.

The first Weight Watchers group was founded in New York 10 years ago by Mrs. Jean Nidetch, and is active now in all 50 states and seven foreign countries.

There are 210 groups which meet weekly in the Nebraska and Greater Iowa area. To give an indication of the potential cash donations possible in this year's Heart Fund drive, class members in those 210 classes lost a total of 750,000 pounds in 1973.

Last week, the local group alone recorded a 56-pound loss. Syd Osten of Omaha, director of Weight Watchers of Nebraska and Greater Iowa, said in a recent plea to members, "Since health, and particularly weight, are so closely connected with heart problems, we feel this project is especially appropriate for all of us."

Course Changes Coming With New Building

Vocational home economics will become a new phase of the Wayne State College home economics program next fall when a new building opens with expanded facilities.

Dr. Niel Edmunds, dean of professional and applied studies, said the State Department of Education has approved the vocational addition to a home economics curriculum Wayne has offered for many years. As a result, WSC graduates in home economics will be qualified to teach vocational home ec in any Nebraska high school.

Dr. Edmunds said the college already offers all the required courses, but has lacked facilities adequate for state approval. These will be available in the Walter Benhack Applied Sciences Hall, under construction. Mrs. Eena Adams, of the home economics faculty, said students in the vocational program will gain a broader background in the five areas of foods, textiles, early childhood development, home management and consumer economics.

STRANGE BUT TRUE - IN THE LINEN INDUSTRY, LINEN SUPPLY ITEMS ARE PRACTICALLY NEVER MADE OF "LINEN." LINEN IS THE TERM APPLIED TO A VARIETY OF TEXTILE ITEMS - i.e. "TABLE LINENS," - "BED LINENS."

EXTENSION NOTES

By Anna Marie Kreifels

Costs of Health Care
The fact that health care costs in America are rising rapidly isn't news. In 1950, the nation was spending $78.35 per person for health care. That included costs for research, construction and personal health care. By 1972, the bill had risen to nearly $400 per person, and projected figures for 1980 are predicting annual health care costs per person to rise to about $750.

What is causing these sharp cost increases? The public is demanding more and better medical care. Higher costs of health products and services are helping to meet these public demands.

The per patient per day cost of hospital care has risen an average of 8 1/2 per cent per year over the last 20 year period. In 1950, a day in the hospital cost about $17. Now it's over $80. In 1950, it took approximately 1.7 full-time hospital personnel to provide a day of care. Now nearly three full-time staff are required per patient day of care. This alone accounts for some health care cost increases.

The changing nature of health and health care products is another reason medical care prices have risen sharply. Major medical advances made during the past 20 years have required costly research. New facilities and treatment techniques which are complex and expensive have been developed.

There has also been a shift toward more in-hospital medical care. The number of hospital admissions has been rising, while the number of visits per patient to physicians remains basically unchanged.

Devils Rip T-H Quint For 11th Win

In a relatively easy ball game, Wayne High collected its 11th win Saturday night, whipping Tekamah-Herman, 88-37.

The varsity crew only saw 10 minutes of action in the first period before coach Bill Sharpe pulled out his starting five and went to his players on the bench. "It was the kind of a game where I like to put my reserves in and give them a chance to play," Sharpe said.

Wayne, now 11-2, beefs up its schedule this weekend with a home match against a strong Pierce team Friday and a rugged away game at Schuyler Saturday.

Godsey Gets KO in JC Smoker

A crowd of about 400 people packed the Wayne city auditorium Saturday night to watch some 20 boxing matches in a smoker sponsored by the Wayne County Jaycees.

Three Wayne youths entered the heavyweight division, with Reg Godsey knocking out his man, Scott Schwartz of Columbus, in 1:30 of the first round. Godsey landed four sharp jabs to floor his opponent and take home the winning trophy in the 175-pound class.

Both Brian Frevert (155) and Ritch Workman (146) lost their bouts on TKOs. Frevert made it to the third round before 1:45 elapsed and his opponent Ron Beran took the match. Workman opened his class with a hard right that floored Steve Groves in a wild melee of swinging fists. But Groves, of Vermillion, snapped back to deck Workman and end the bout in the second round.

Competing for the Wayne team in the exhibition bouts were: Rick Johnson (90), Frank Mrsny (100), Tom Maier (120), Darrin Proett (120), Mike Schock (65), David Schock (70), Rod Kuhnhen (185) and Brian Magnuson (185).

Gal Keglers Open Tourney On Saturday

The local women's city bowling tournament looks to be a record breaker this year with 20 teams entered in the annual event.

The weekend action opens Saturday afternoon with eight of the 20 teams signed up to roll off. Ten doubles also are slated to bowl Saturday, making it women bowling in singles.

According to city bowling association secretary treasurer Vicky Skokan, Sunday is completely full. Twelve teams will start at 1 p.m. at Melodee Lanes, with eight doubles competing in their division. Thirty are expected to enter all events during the two-day meet.

"Last year we had 18 teams in the city tournament," Mrs. Skokan pointed out, "but we are getting more teams to enter the tournament this year."

Because there is more competition this year, it can be "anybody's game," she added, noting the handicap tournament is based on 70 per cent of the difference between a bowler's highest league average and 180.

Prizes will be awarded to one out of every three teams that enter, with trophies going to first-place winners. Early reports show that last year's singles, doubles, and all-events winner June Baier is not entering this year's meet.

During the 1973 meet, Mrs. Baier rolled a 598 in singles, 1,663 in all-events and 1,282 along with her doubles partner, Sally Schroeder.

Back again to try to repeat as team winner is Kavanaugh Feed, which rolled a 2,870 to take the crown.

Devils Get 'Needed' Dual Victory

For Wayne coach Don Koenig and his grapplers, win No. two was a long time coming. It finally arrived Tuesday night when the locals pinned Wakefield, 42-12, at Wakefield. "We needed this win real bad," Koenig said about his club that went into a losing spell after winning the first dual of the season. "We needed something to help pull us out before districts," he noted. The Blue Devils got that extra something right at the start of the match when Wakefield was forced to give up 12 points in the first two matches. Both Terry Borg (98) and Brian Newton (105) were not able to wrestle for Trojan mentor Lyle Trullinger due to the flu.

Wayne built up its lead with three more pins and four decisions, while Wakefield, behind undefeated senior Steve Sorenson (145), pick up a pin and two decisions. "They were very aggressive," Koenig pointed out about the Trojans, noting that Sorenson is definitely state material. Sorenson pinned Kevin Heithold in 1:55 to remain undefeated with a 21-0 mark.

Wayne's first pin came when senior Scott Brummond pinned Carl Dornch in 3:26. Seniors Mike Dunklaur and Charles Brockman added two more pins in the 185 and heavyweight classes. Brockman had the fastest time, nailing cousin Merrill Hale in 49 seconds. Dunklaur finished Dave Gustafson in 3:45. For the Trojans, the loss evens their dual record at 4-0. The team's final match before the Husker Conference tournament Feb. 9 will be a makeup dual with Hooper-Logan View Thursday, Feb. 7.

After the Albion invitational Friday, the Devils will rap up their dual season with an away match at Schuyler Tuesday. Then they head into the Husker Conference meet, slated for Wayne State's Rice Auditorium. The Devils fell eight points short in their dual at Tekamah.

Herman Saturday night, 33-25. Wayne took five of the 12 matches, three of them on pins. Randy Surber, 98, Gordon Cook, 167, and Charlie Brockman, heavyweight, floored their opponents. Surber, winning his fifth straight, pinned Jeff Hancock in 3:53. Cook took Eric Tippery in 2:59 before Brockman easily handled Rex Roper in 1:10.

The Devils gained a four-point decision match when 112-pound Ken Daniels beat Tom Kegler 12:1 for a major decision. The three-pointer came on Barry Ruback's (132) 9:2 decision over Dave Hunter.

"We might have won the match," coach Don Koenig pointed out, "if Mike Dunklaur (185) had recovered from an illness earlier." Dunklaur, who has never been pinned this year, went down to Terry Tilson in 3:41. Before Dunklaur lost the locals would have closed the margin to two before Brockman nailed his opponent.

Team 2 Rips Team 3 for Tie for 3rd

For the second week in a row, Team 2's Randy Rohlfen broke the 20-point mark, this time with a 39-point spree in his team's 74-58 conquest of Team 3. Rohlfen helped his team overcome a 29-22 half time deficit.

Team 2 currently is tied with Team 3 for third place with 23 records. In the wild second game, Team 1 battered its way to a 66-58 win over Team 4 as a total of 43 fouls were called. John Warner hit 24 for the winners as they broke loose from the see-saw battle in the final stanza with a 28-point showing.

As a result Team 1 still leads the A league with a 4-1 mark. Team 5 is second at 3-1 while Team 4 remains in the cellar at 1-4.

Wednesday Teams 3 and 1 will take the court at 7:15 p.m. followed by Teams 4 and 5.

THE NEBRASKA School Activities Association may have found a solution to the perplexing problem of whose No. 1 in high school football.

Last week the group laid out a plan for all classes to help determine a true champion at the end of the regular season.

For those who did not read about its proposal, here it is in a nutshell: There would be four districts in each class (A, B, C and D), with one team from each district qualifying for the playoffs.

The way a team makes the playoffs is judged by a point system. Simply, points will be awarded for wins, ties and losses based on the type of opponent. Against an opponent with a winning season record, a team would get 50 points for a victory, 40 points for a tie, 30 points for losing. Against an opponent with a .500 or worse season record, a team would receive 40 points for a victory, 30 points for a tie and 20 for losing. An additional five points would be offered for each game with an opponent in a larger class, 10 for playing a school two classes larger. Conversely, a team would lose five points for playing one lower classification team, 10 points for one two classes. A bonus for unbeaten teams would be in the form of two points for each victory and one point for a tie. The total of these points would be divided by the number of games for the team's ranking. The top-ranking team in each district advances to the playoff.

As it stands now four of the five area schools — Laurel, Winside, Allen and Wakefield — would be affected in the NSAA's plan if the lawmaking body passes. The proposal will come up for a vote April 10th.

SNOWMOBILE ENTHUSIASTS looking for some racing action better mark your calendar for the Pierce Jaycees' annual snowmobile races on Feb. 17. A total of 14 first and second place trophies will be awarded in the seven events. There will be three classes: amateur, modified and powder puff. Engine sizes will determine number of events in each class.

ON FEB. 12th Winside will host an eight-team freshmen-sophomore basketball tournament. Included in the lineup are three area clubs, Wakefield, Allen and, of course, Winside. Others on the roster include Snyder, Hartington, Decatur, Ponca and Newcastle.

Trojans Chant 'Pick Us To Lose' After Posting 6th Straight Victory

By BOB BARTLETT Wakefield's locker room has hardly had a quiet moment since six basketball games ago when the Trojans started their winning streak.

Since then the Trojans have started a new chant: "Keep picking us to lose."

Last weekend I thought the area club would run into a couple of buzz saws — Madison and Laurel. Well, I was close in the first game, but close doesn't count. Wakefield won, 52-51. And as for Laurel, the score pretty much tells the story — Wakefield 52, Laurel 45.

Now the Trojans, 9-3, run up against West Point Friday night and take on Allen at the Eagles' gym Saturday. What's my prediction? Looking at West Point, the edge goes to the Cadets. (Sorry, Joe, but you're playing on your home floor.) West Point isn't an exceptionally tall club, but one thing it does have is speed. That's not to say the Trojans can't handle the situation. They did against Laurel, but that was on Wakefield's court.

Guards Doug Soderberg and Doug Fischer already have proven their ball-handling ability against the full-court press. Add 6-6 Gary Adink in the middle or wing position if Scot Keagle gets the call at center, and the Trojans are set. But for West Point? That will be decided Friday night.

Closer to home, Wayne returns to Rice Auditorium to take on Pierce, a 53-37 winner, over Randolph Friday night. Saturday night the Devils travel to Schuyler, a team altogether different from the Blue Jays.

The Warriors' 72-52 win over Columbus Lakeview speaks for itself. The Vikings are one of two teams that can claim a victory over the Blue Devils — something which coach Bill Sharpe hopes to correct if his team meets the Vikings in the West Husker tournament next week. After that Saturday night contest, Wayne will go against Stanton Monday in the first round of the West Husker basketball tournament at Wisner. Pilger before Wakefield meets Emerson-Hubbard. Winners of Monday and Tuesday first round games tangle Thursday night in semi-final action before the winners go after the West Husker crown Friday.

Laurel stays at home this weekend in Northeast Nebraska Activity Conference action, matching its power against O'Neill Friday before meeting Tilden-Elkhorn Valley Saturday.

Elsewhere Friday, both Lewis and Clark conference teams, Allen and Winside, stay in their respective divisions, with the Wildcats hosting Coleridge and the Eagles aiming for an upset win against Ponca, also at home.

Last weekend turned out to be a nightmare as far as trying to pick the winners in prep action.

Out of nine games, four were wrong, dropping the near 80 per cent prediction record to about 74 per cent. Wakefield's two wins didn't help improve my winning mark. Neither did Winside's win over Wynot nor Allen's conquest of Homer. Before the weekend games, the record was 23-7. Now it's 31-11.

Friday, O'Neill at Laurel, Ponca at Allen, Wakefield at West Point, Pierce at Wayne, Coleridge at Winside.

Saturday, Tilden-Elkhorn Valley at Laurel, Wakefield at Allen, Wayne at Schuyler.

West Husker Tournament at Wisner — Wayne vs. Stanton, Wakefield vs. Emerson-Hubbard.

Last week we listed individual records for varsity members of the three area high school wrestling teams. And so far quite a few grapplers look impressive — impressive enough to perhaps win berth in the state meet in February. Winside again, looks to be the best choice as far as numbers are concerned. According to the Omaha World-Herald, the Cats have five grapplers ranked among the top four in their weight classes. They are Bob Bowers, 98 pounds, Keith Suel, 105, Gregg Lage, 132, Dwight Lienemann, 167, and Mike Anderson, heavyweight.

Although coach Doug Barclay said he is happy to have five prospective state contenders, he still thinks he has other possible qualifiers, such as Monte Pfeiffer at 112 pounds, Brad Brummels at 119, Gregg Lage at 138 and Dan Bowers at 185. Wakefield coach Lyle Trullinger points out that his 145-pound grappler, Steve Sorenson, is ranked in his weight and certainly will be a contender when district action rolls around. Also looking good are Trojans Roger Gustafson, 138, Ken Dolph, 112, and Pat Nicholson, 155.

Both Class C clubs will get a chance to see how many each can qualify when they tangle at Winside. As in the past, the top two in each weight class win the right to compete in state.

Wayne may have four men battling for a position in state finals by the time districts are over. Senior heavyweight Charlie Brockman already is noted as a strong man in his division, according to the World-Herald's Class B ratings. Seniors Mike Dunklaur, 185, Gordon Cook, 167, Barry Ruback, 132, and Randy Surber 98, could earn tickets to Lincoln also since they appear to be coach Don Koenig's top grapplers heading into district play at Albion.

WS Athletes Back in Action

After a slack week of athletics, Wayne State teams have a busy weekend ahead.

Women's basketball is on the bill tonight (Thursday) for a recently scheduled game at Clarkston High School, 8 o'clock. The Wayne varsity will play the J. F. Kennedy College junior varsity.

If that seems like a mismatch favoring Wayne, it has to be considered that Kennedy varsity coeds won a national championship last year, and they have regularly beaten almost everybody for several years. It might be logical to figure the Kennedy junior varsity will be a tough foe for Wayne's defending Nebraska champions, who have a 5-2 record.

Wayne women have a home game Saturday at 2 o'clock, against South Dakota State University in Rice Gym.

Last Saturday at Maryville, Mo., they suffered a 55-41 loss to Northwest Missouri State. That was the lowest Wayne score this year. Then on Sunday the Wayne girls scored to their highest point total in a 61-35 routing of Concordia on the home court.

Men's basketball has two games — Friday night at 7:30 against Briar Cliff in the Sioux City Auditorium, then Saturday night at home against Southwest Minnesota. The Cats beat Briar Cliff in November, lost to South-west in December.

Wayne swimmers are hosts to a pair of duals. Friday night at 7 o'clock against Chadron State, Saturday afternoon at 2 against Kearney State. The Wildcats have beaten Kearney twice this year, in a tournament and a dual. Their dual mark is 6-0.

Wrestlers will be in Seward Saturday night for a dual with Concordia.

WSC Student Second Winner In 8-Ball Meet

Greg Bendlin was the second winner in the qualification rounds of the Midwest Eight Ball Tournament Tuesday night when he defeated Mike Looft in the championship round of the 16-man meet at Dick's Tavern.

The Wayne State student, a native of Sutherland, Ia., will compete with seven other tournament qualifiers in playoff action scheduled some time in April. The winner will then compete in the annual event held in Omaha April 21.

In addition, persons living outside Wayne may obtain help from assessors visiting other communities in the county next week and Feb. 13-14. The city had reached an agreement with the landowner to purchase the approximate 12.4 acres of land for $38,000. The agreement means the city will have to pay that amount unless the owner agrees to accept the lower figure. The city is seeking federal and state money to help with purchasing the land, and one of the stipulations in the agreement is that the city has to pay the appraised price unless the owner agrees to accept a lower price. A motion by councilman Ivan Beeks to "forget all about" the proposed park was tabled on a 6-2 vote. Voting to go ahead with that suggestion were Vernon Russell and Beeks. Councilmen also: —Approved permitting rights turns on red lights in the downtown business district. —Agreed to pay city employees time and a half for "unscheduled" overtime, overtime that has not been planned for in advance by department heads. —Accepted on a 6-1 vote (Prather objecting) to accept a $31,470 bid from Utility Construction Co. of Honey Creek, Ia., for construction of a water line to the city's industrial site east of town. The low bid of $29,645 submitted by Risor and Barney of Wisner was rejected because the company did not stipulate a completion date on the project. The Iowa firm said it would begin on the project by Feb. 15 and complete it by April 1. —Voted 7-0 to spend approximately $3,500 for construction of the switching equipment which is necessary before the interconnecting line can be hooked up to WCPD's power line south of the city. That part of the job had not been provided for in the initial bid letting. —Postponed adoption of the proposed one-year and six-year street improvement program, required by the state if the city is to continue receiving governmental funds for street work. Action is expected on the program after councilmen tour the city by bus to view proposed projects. —Agreed to have councilman Fuebner head up a committee for studying the possibility of downtown improvement. Council rejected the idea of spending money for an architect to draw up sketches showing what might be accomplished through improvement work in the business district.

He belongs to Salem Lutheran Church at Wakefield.

Fever (Continued from page 1) Itch and the sore throat is not ordinarily extreme. Children are most susceptible, since adults have usually been exposed to the disease at some time and have developed an immunity, one doctor noted. Parents who suspect that their children may have scarlet fever should contact their physician. The disease is treatable with antibiotics and rest. The child is usually out of school no more than a week. The incubation period is 48 hours. Individuals in contact with scarlet fever within those first 48 hours can contact a physician who may prescribe a single dose of an antibiotic, as a preventive measure.

Business Report (Continued from page 1) 1,057 people in jobs covered by social security. Not included in this total are self-employed persons, domestic workers, members of the armed forces, government employees and farm workers. The figures show that the payroll for the local work force was at a high level, reflecting rising wage and salary scales. The total for the year came to $4,176,000. By way of comparison, the total three years previously, when a similar survey was made, was $3,332,000. It was a rise of 25.3 per cent, as against a 22.2 per cent rise in the United States and 22.6 per cent in the West North Central States.

Speaker (Continued from page 1) become active and work together. New Chamber president Wayne Wessel told the group that the community does need a new industry, but it also needs a balanced economy which boasts a stable college, healthy agriculture picture, strong retail businesses and an active municipal government which isn't content to do just enough to get by without criticism. Wessel, a local dentist, noted that he has seen more cooperation in the community in the past year than during recent years. That cooperation, if it continues, will enable local residents to solve such problems as declining enrollment at the college, unstable agriculture picture and lack of ability to attract new industry. Also speaking during the evening was Fred Brink, city administrator hired by the city council last year. Brink noted that a community has to have a dynamic governing body or it will end up being a stagnant place where nothing is accomplished. He said that a dynamic council will often be criticized because many people are not able to see the end result the council has in sight. He emphasized that a city government is just like any other business in that it has a product to sell. Its product is service, he said, and it is incumbent on the mayor, council, city administrator and all city employees to provide the best service for the fewest tax dollars. Providing music before the dinner was the Wayne High stage band under the direction of Ron Dalton. Dalton said that was just one way for the music students to say thanks to the community for helping them make the trip to the Cotton Bowl. Unable to speak during the meeting because of sickness was Richard Wozniak, a community planning consultant from Fremont.

Vax Trumpet and Words Give Young Bands Lively Education

"I love doing this kind of thing, listening and trying to help young musicians. Almost as much as playing up there myself."

So said Mike Vax, a bright young man whose talent, but not his age, could reveal that he's been playing a trumpet for nearly 23 years.

Vax served Saturday as critic for the Wayne State fourth Annual Stage Band Clinic. The clinic, serving as a learning session for 10 area high school stage bands, proved to do just that with Vax's presence. Each school band had the chance to perform before Vax and receive helpful instruction afterwards.

A stage band clinician for nearly six years, Mike has done clinics and concerts in 17 states just in the past 10 months. During that time he has appeared as clinician and soloist at the Reno-International, Oklahoma and the American College Jazz Festivals. He formerly played with the Stan Kenton Orchestra and currently has organized his own jazz band.

Vax performed with the Wayne State Stage Band, astounding the audience with his spectacular technique and high range on the trumpet. After the performance he commented on questions asked him from the audience after it settled down from a standing ovation.

Vax said practice, consistency and positive thinking are the keys to becoming a good musician. He also instructed the school band leaders on several exercises that should be used to improve students' quality on wind instruments.

Most of the audience there that afternoon listened closely to Vax's remarks and seemed entirely pleased with the clinic, sponsored by the WSC music department and Tom's Music House of Norfolk.

One instructor commented that Vax definitely taught many students a great deal of today's music and inspired them to strive to be better. "Another teacher later exclaimed that 'the whole clinic proved to be a huge success.'"

A reflection by Vax seemed to sum the whole clinic up when he stated, "I believe that music in today's schools is taking great leaps forward and has progressed immensely during the last few years. It definitely has a place in today's education."

Project Success: Helps Others to Achieve

Project Success is just what the name implies. It aims to help students achieve the best. For a child attending the Wayne-Carroll school system, the program is a chance to help solve a learning disability problem before he experiences failure in school.

According to Richard Metteer, principal and director of Project Success at West Elementary School, parents may not be aware of a language disability, but through Project Success, the problem can be detected and maybe corrected.

The program, he told Wayne Kiwanians Monday, begins in kindergarten when the children are given an exam to help teachers determine if a child has a problem that might inhibit his learning. Metteer pointed out that if the child fails it doesn't necessarily mean he is retarded. There are other programs for those types of problems, he said.

Last year Project Success was one of 30 such programs across the nation that was selected to be showcased at a special seminar in Washington, D. C. It was so impressive, in fact, that it placed among the top seven federally funded school programs in the nation.

With the help of federal funds, Wayne was able to set up the program. "We use the funds to train our teachers to help SLD children," Metteer pointed out, "so that when the funds are stopped our teachers will have the training to pass down to others."

Kiwanians are reminded that Sunday evening at 6:30 the club will celebrate its 51st anniversary with a banquet dinner at Wayne State's student center. As a result there will be no meeting Monday.

Directors attending the clinic in Ramsey Theatre of the Fine Arts Center will hear the college band, directed by Dr. Jay O'Leary, perform from 9 to noon. The college choir, directed by Dr. Cornell Runestad, will read through about 40 pieces from 1 to 4 p.m. A number of new band and choral works are included.

"We think this is a valuable service to directors of our area," Dr. Runestad said, "since they are now preparing music for winter and spring programs and for contest."

Advance registration indicates an encouraging number of directors planning to attend, Dr. Runestad said.

Materials for use at these sessions has been provided by music publishers through arrangements with Tom's Music House of Norfolk, which also sponsors the clinic with the WSC music department.

10 Schools Get Checks For $170,781

Ten school districts with high school students from Wayne County have received payments totaling $170,781.20 from the county superintendent of schools as their payments for educating non-resident students.

Superintendent Fred Rickers said he mailed out the payments last week and this week. Other checks will be mailed out at the end of the second semester of school for the schools' second half of their payments, he said.

Schools with high school students living outside their district boundaries are reimbursed by the county for educating those students. The reimbursement is based on the non-resident fees established by the school boards.

Following are the amounts of the checks mailed out by Rickers:

Allen, $850; Laurel, $7,875; Norfolk, $8,973.04; Pender, $7,000; Pierce, $1,284; Randolph, $13,275; Wakefield, $10,3

'Thanks for help'

Dear Editor:
We want to thank the members of the Wayne Community Chest, Inc. for their help in fighting cystic fibrosis. Everyone associated with the Nebraska chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation appreciates their sincere effort in fund raising.

The research which can be carried on from such funds as the members of the Wayne Community Chest have raised is priceless. Research which can help to find a cure for cystic fibrosis and other lung-damaging diseases in children much more quickly.

Again thank you.
Nebraska Chapter, NCFRF
Mark J. Dorcay,
Executive Director

(Editor's Note: Mark, a graduate of Wayne High School and Wayne State College, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Dorcay of Wayne. He has been executive director of the state chapter of the national foundation for about the past two years. Funds collected during last fall's Community Chest drive in Wayne were given to the national foundation to help it carry on its research work. Funds from the drive also were distributed to various other groups and organizations.)

'Thanks for column'

Dear Editor:
Writing to the editor of a paper isn't something which I do every day. In fact, this is something which I have never done before.

However, when we find ourselves enjoying something or deriving benefit from it and do not commend the person responsible for it we are remiss. Thus it is with your editorial which you have so aptly named "A Closer Look." Each of the topics you discuss in this column are interesting and usually are topics on which we lack information. You give us your opinions in such a delightful manner that they are very pleasant and enjoyable reading.

I could comment favorably on several of your recent columns but will refrain from doing so with the exception of one. Your column on the January 7th issue was very well written and with just the right proportion of wit, satire and information.

We are fortunate, in this small community, to have an editor with as much ability as you possess.

Mrs. Glenn Walker
(Editor's Note: The January 7th column was a humorous look at the two chiefs of police situation in Wayne. It was written as if the main contestants were boxers and ring buffs.)

PULLING THE SKIDS

Dangerous skids caused by panic braking may be a thing of the past as new systems developed by special equipment manufacturers become more widely available on cars.

Fastest stopping occurs when the brakes do not "lock" the wheels but slow them almost to that point. This is easier said than done because the amount of force needed to lock the wheels varies with such factors as car speed, road surface, tire inflation and tread condition. Many experienced drivers pump the brake pedal rapidly when stopping on slick surfaces to prevent locking the wheels.

Jamming on the brakes hard enough to lock the wheels will cause skids and increases stopping distances by as much as 15 per cent on dry roads and up to 40 per cent on wet surfaces. If the front wheels lock first, or all four wheels lock simultaneously, the car tends to slide straight ahead but will not respond to movements of the steering wheel. The driver need only release the brakes to regain control.

Skids resulting from the rear wheels locking first are more difficult to control, because the rear of the car tends to swing around. If corrective action — releasing the brakes and steering into the skid — is not quickly taken, the car may spin completely around.

One anti-skid system available as optional equipment on some cars incorporates an automatic brake-pumping feature. Speed sensors monitor the rate that individual wheels slow down when the brakes are applied. When a wheel approaches a lock-up condition, valves in the system momentarily reduce the amount of braking pressure to that wheel even though the driver's foot is pressed hard on the pedal. As the wheel starts to pick up speed, the system permits full pressure to be reapplied to the wheel. This cycle is repeated several times per second until the car comes to a stop.

Another device, a proportioning valve which is standard on cars equipped with disc brakes on the front wheels and drum brakes on the rear, does not prevent wheel lockup, but reduces the possibility of the rear wheels locking first and causing directional instability. The valve provides more braking force to the front than to the rear wheels. This compensates for a temporary weight transfer to the front of the car that occurs during hard braking. Under normal conditions, the weight shift would cause the rear wheels to lock first.

Report from Washington:

'Backdoor pay raise for Congress is sneaky'

By CONG. CHARLES THONE

Another terrible blow will be dealt to the faith that Americans have had in their government if members of Congress are given a pay raise now by a backdoor method.

There couldn't be a worse time for inflationary Congressional pay hikes, and by a sneaky method, but that is just what's in the works.

It has been announced that when President Nixon submits his budget on February 2nd, he will recommend that members of Congress be given a $3,000 increase in pay this year and in each of the next two years. Under present law, his recommendations will go into effect unless Congress acts to stop them within 30 days.

I have introduced a bill to amend the Federal Salary Act of 1967 so that no Congressional pay raise could go into effect unless both houses of Congress took recorded votes approving the raise. There have been no committee hearings on this bill. I also introduced a bill to provide a means of getting a resolution to disapprove a Congressional pay increase out of committee when that committee is sitting on it. There have been no hearings on this bill either. The majority party in Congress just doesn't want an open discussion on this.

Without a bill out of committee, it is almost impossible to get action on the floor of the House of Representatives to stop this pay hike. I certainly intend to do everything in my power to shame my colleagues into going on record on this ridiculous pay hike proposal.

Raising pay of members of the Senate and House from $42,500 to $45,500 a year will violate the guidelines of the U. S. Cost of Living Council. The council guidelines require that a large company obtain governmental permission before giving workers increases of more than five per cent per year. The proposed Congressional pay raise amounts to more than seven per cent.

What irony. It is inflationary to give a worker making $3.75 an hour a raise to any level higher than $3.94. Yet the same government advocates giving a seven per cent increase to its $42,500 per year members of Congress.

The pay raise for members of Congress will also automatically bring increases to thousands of the top bureaucrats in Washington, some of whom already are drawing $60,000 a year from the taxpayers.

As bad as the inflationary aspects of this proposed pay raise are, the sneaky, backdoor part is worse, in my opinion. I think members of Congress should be willing to stand up and be counted. If they think they deserve a pay raise, they should have the courage to tell the voters.

This proposed salary hike will be stopped only if people all over America write their Senators and Representatives demanding that action be taken to prevent it. If Americans don't demand a vote, none will be taken. Members of Congress will get an increase in salary by virtue of having taken no action to stop it.

OBSERVATIONS

Allen's a 'big' town

You have to hand it to the residents in and around Allen. They are really behind a fund drive to help a rural Allen youth suffering from a serious blood disease which is requiring extensive hospitalization and treatment.

By last week their fund drive had topped $6,000, about a fourth of the estimated amount it will cost the family during the youth's stay and treatment at a Seattle hospital.

For a community of some 300 residents in a county that's anything but heavily populated, that's quite an achievement. It becomes even more impressive when you remember that a concerted effort by a nost of workers in Wayne resulted in less than $10,000 being raised in last fall's Community Chest fund drive.

We expect the fund drive, tackled by the Allen people to top $10,000 before too long, especially if individuals, groups and organizations continue spurring it like they have been doing the past few weeks.

If it does, it will just go to show that the size of a town doesn't really mean too much when something important comes along. What really matters is the size of the people who live in and around the town. And that Dixon County community has some pretty big people. That's the kind of bigness anybody could be proud of.

Gov. Exon: Budget Recommendation Requires Putting Aside Partisanship

EDITORIAL PAGE

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786.

LINCOLN

— It may require a tax increase. Governor J. James Exon coded last week when he unveiled his budget recommendation, but it wouldn't put the rates any higher than they were when he last ran for office.

"For the fourth consecutive year, I am recommending to the Legislature a balanced budget, which meets the legitimate and growing needs of Nebraska, based once again upon holding the line on the equivalent of sales and income tax rates that were in effect way back in 1970. That, in itself, is a record in holding down state taxation rate increases," Exon said.

It was his answer to the question of how a "politician" would explain an election year budget that won't be balanced unless the Legislature agrees to tack two more percentage points onto the state income tax rate.

At least one senator doesn't think the Legislature will restore the income tax rate to 13 per cent. He is Senator Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who was one of those who urged the State Board of Equalization to cut the levy to 11 per cent.

Carpenter's predictions don't always come true, but legislative observers recall that it was the Scottsbluff veteran who spurred home the 1973 move to have Exon's budget adopted without change.

Carpenter this year has counseled his colleagues to consider the state's financial needs and make whatever appropriations they think are necessary and let the State Board of Equalization worry next fall about setting tax rates to raise the money.

The governor had it inside-out, Carpenter said, when he called for a tax increase "now" to finance a budget for a fiscal year which doesn't begin until July 1.

Carpenter wasn't the only one who recalled that November meeting of the equalization board in which Exon and his tax commissioner (William Peters) were outvoted by the three Republican members, State Auditor Ray A. C. Johnson, Secretary of State Allen J. Beermann and State Treasurer Wayne R. Swanson.

The governor remembered it, too. Speaking of his budget recommendations, Exon told the lawmakers:

"To be sure, this recommendation means that you will have to muster the political courage, yes, even during an election year, to reverse the ill-advised and fiscally irresponsible action of the majority of the State Board of Equalization last November 15, over my strenuous and detailed objections and warning at the time."

A little later in his text, the governor adds:

"This is surely a time to put aside any hints of partisanship. The question is not who gets the credit or blame. This is a time for doing what is right for Nebraska, and to keep our state fiscally sound while meeting our legitimate obligations."

"History will certainly show whether you acted with courage or fell back and joined a very few of your colleagues, the secretary of state, the state auditor and the state treasurer in their less than courageous attitudes to state needs."

It was passed like that that some of the senators referred to when they described the Exon budget and state of state affairs as political oratory.

Senator Richard D. Marvel of Hastings, the legislative budget chairman and presently the leading GOP challenger to Exon's re-election plans, had joined Carpenter in urging a rate reduction last fall.

He said last week it was a sound move, and added he objected to "that gentleman who came in here yesterday and treated us like school children and asked us to raise taxes."

Another aspirant for Exon's office, independent Ernest Chambers of Omaha who plans a petition campaign, said the governor's tone in the address showed what he thought of the Legislature.

Chambers' interpretation of the Exon attitude toward the senators:

"A zero, worthy of nothing but absolute and utter contempt."

Increase Is Urged

The figures in the Exon budget add up to $618.8 million for the 1974-75 fiscal year. Of that, the governor is calling for the state's taxpayers to provide $278 million. The rest is cash and federal revenue.

During the current year (which lasts until June 30), the taxpayer-nourished general fund is supplying $254.5 million out of estimated expenditures totaling $585.4 million.

So it would take $23.6 million more than now is being provided out of state taxpayers' pocketbooks to operate on the Exon budget.

If the tax rates are restored to 13 per cent, retroactive to January 1 (and the sales tax continues at 2.5 per cent), the Exon administration figures about $14.5 million would remain unspent in the till at the end of the fiscal year. Most of that is a built-in balance required to protect against miscalculation of the revenue yield.

NEW UNIFORM MEAT IDENTITY PROGRAM AT SAFEWAY

You'll notice changes in some of the names on meat labels in our cases. We have adopted a new program under which meat retailers will use uniform names for the different cuts of meat they sell. In addition to helping you identify cuts, the plan also aids in selecting proper cooking methods. If, for example, the label shows a cut to be a steak or roast from Beef Loin or Beef Rib, dry heat cooking methods such as broiling and frying are recommended. For most other beef, moist cooking methods such as braising or cooking in liquid are recommended. Some tender cuts of beef not marked Loin or Rib may be cooked with dry heat but it is best to check your cookbook on these.

Thought for Today

By Rowan Willis

"Prosperity is a great teacher; adversity is a greater. Possession pampers the mind; privation trains and strengthens it."

Hazlitt

We hear much of the great education and moral strengthening to be gained from adversity and privation. We wouldn't presume to argue this point but we sometimes wonder if it is so utterly debasing to be spoiled just a bit by the bounteous prosperity within the reach of most citizens of our great country.

If adversity is to be one's lot, perhaps there is some measure of consolation in knowing that if nothing else we are being toughened and conditioned to face any frightening eventuality... prosperity, for example.

For many years, we have provided appropriate services for people of all faiths in the communities we serve. No one has been turned away from a Willse Mortuary because of lack of funds.

Volunteers Discuss Roles At Meeting

A panel of four volunteer aides, headed by Mrs. K.M. Olds, co-chairman of the Community Council volunteer recruitment committee, discussed their roles in Project Success at the Monday evening council meeting.

The aides are volunteers from the community who give from one to 10 hours of their time per week to assist teachers in providing individualized attention for students in Project Success. Project Success is a program begun three years ago with federal funding to provide specialized teaching for SLD students— for pupils with specific language disabilities which can keep even the student with a high IQ from achieving success.

On the Tuesday night panel were Mrs. Vern Jacobmeier and Mrs. Flora Bergl, who are in their second year as aides, and Mrs. Jesse Barr and Mrs. Keith Mosley.

About 50 Community Council members were at the meeting, conducted by council chairman Dorothy Ley at the Wayne Middle School library.

Lavae Maciejewski and Marian Rennick, team teachers in the eighth grade, reported on the newly adopted program of using newspapers to help teach language art skills to eighth graders. This is the first year the Project Success program has been available for eighth graders.

Concluding the program was a discussion by former target teachers Etta Fisher, Carol Edmunds, Beryl Atkins and Orvella Bloomkamp on "SLD Skills— What Are They Worth?" Joining in the talk was Mrs. Shirley Harner who received her training at an SLD workshop.

The instructors discussed how the SLD training, which enabled them to understand and work more successfully with Project Success children, is a continuing benefit as they work with the average or even accelerated groups of students who are not enrolled in Project Success.

The meeting adjourned following the meeting of sub-committees. Next council meeting will be April 29.

DOMESTIC WATER WELLS
Water wells can become a health hazard if they become contaminated. Contamination of farm water well supplies can result from location too close to barnyards and other sources of pollution.

Water tests can be sent into the state health department lab through the extension office. These tests will determine if the water might cause a health problem. Contamination from the surface is relatively easy to find and stop, while that from underground is more difficult.

Upon removal of the source of contamination and fixing of the well, disinfection by pumping should follow to remove the contaminated water. Chlorinating the well with any of the household bleaches containing chlorine can be used in the process.

The chlorine solution is mixed in a pail and poured into the well, wetting the sides. The water should be recirculated by pumping it out and then back into the well. After about three hours, the water should be pumped out. Take another test to determine the quality of the water.

Protecting the Well Water

Here are three safety precautions that will protect a well from surface pollution:

1. Provide water tight protection against surface water entering directly into the top of the well.

2. Protect well from surface water entering below ground level.

3. Protect well from surface water entering the space between the well casing and the soil around it.

Space between the well casing and the sides of the well hole can be filled with watertight cement grout or clay to a minimum depth of 10 feet below the ground surface. The well casing should be surrounded at ground level with a four inch thick concrete slab, sloping outward at least two feet in all directions.

The casing should extend at least one foot above the grade level and should be covered with an approved well seal, cap or pump mounting which completely covers the well opening. If the top is now in a pit, the pit should be filled and the casing extended a foot above ground.

It is best for any well used for domestic water to be located, upgraded and a minimum of 100 feet from any possible source of contamination. If the soil is sandy, this distance should be 150-200 feet.

The bulletin "Private Water Systems" available from the extension office supplies additional information on elimination of contamination in water wells.

'Something for Everyone at Expo'

If you raise or plan to raise feeder pigs, or if you buy or plan to buy feeder pigs to finish out for slaughter, there's something for you at the coming Nebraska Feeder Pig Exposition at Columbus.

The Feb. 13-14 program is split into four half-day sessions on reproduction and fertility, the feeder pig business, facility needs for feeder pig production and keeping pigs alive, healthy and growing. Speakers include animal specialists, researchers and producers.

The Feb. 13 session includes a leadoff discussion by Dr. Alex Hogg, NU Extension veterinarian, on healthy sows and litters. Getting the job done in breeding sows will be outlined by Paul Neil, Cozad hog producer. Dr. Frank Baker, NU animal science department chairman, will keynote the afternoon session, followed by talks on capital considerations, the profit motive and acquiring pigs from feeder pig co-ops.

The Feb. 14 program will include a session on saving heat and pigs. The windup session that afternoon will feature Curtis Papenhausen of Coleridge on management in life-cycle confinement for swine, a well pig clinic conducted by an Aurelia, Ia., veterinarian and a discussion on feeder pig production and health problems by a pig co-op representative.

Sessions each day begin at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., with exhibits open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

PERF-A-LOT

... A Totally New

Concept in Feedlot

Flooring That

Eliminates the Problems

Caused by Stress and

Increases Livestock

THE CONCEPT OF PERF-A-LOT!

Perf-A-Lot® has been designed and patented after perforated steel matting that was proven highly successful by the military to provide a durable surface that would support heavy equipment over soft ground, and was fast and easy to install, even under adverse conditions.

Perf-A-Lot® is a perforated steel barrier to the soil, designed to eliminate mud and dust, that flexes with animal weight—reducing hoof and leg problems, and generally, relieves animal stress by providing a dryer lot condition than either dirt or concrete.

Over the past five years the patented Perf-A-Lot® concept has been researched and proven highly successful in extreme weather conditions varying from 10 to 50 inches of annual rainfall, heavy snowfall, as well as with many types of lot management. Close confinement permitted with the use of Perf-A-Lot® provides reduced feed costs and in many instances faster daily weight gains. Perf-A-Lot® is ideal for conditioning calves just off the range. Weight gains in the first 30 days have been excellent.
