

Birth and Death of Sun Subject of 'Star Bright'

A biography of the sun which includes a time compressed view of the sun's birth and death is currently being shown at Wayne State College's planetarium.

The show, titled "Star Bright," is the last regularly scheduled public program at the planetarium this season. The planetarium director, Carl Rump, says the show will be presented every Wednesday evening at 7:30 and Sunday afternoon at 3:30 through March 24.

Enhancing the visual portion of the show are some of the most engulging sound effects yet provided on the planetarium's 16 stereo speakers, according to Rump.

The show includes a look at the way our sun compares with other stars in the Milky Way Galaxy, an "on location" study of the 1972 total solar eclipse as experienced north of the Arctic Circle and information on some of the strange and awesome stars which exist in our galaxy.

No other object in the universe is as important to man as the sun, explains Rump. It is the master of the solar system, ruler of its comets, asteroids and planets, and fountain of its energy, he notes.

RR Closing Is Subject Of Hearing

Wayne area residents wishing to comment on the proposal to abandon the railroad between Wayne and Dakota City will have an opportunity to do so during a public hearing in Wayne on March 14.

The hearing, scheduled by the Nebraska Public Service Commission, will be held at the Woman's Club room in the city auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Present for the meeting will be Duane Gay of Columbus, commissioner for this district, and Jack Finnigan of Lincoln, chief legal counsel for the commission.

The proposal to abandon the line is the Chicago and North Western Transportation Co. The company has filed a request for abandonment with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

That proposal has resulted in petition drives and letters opposing the abandonment in Wayne, Wakefield and other communities, along the line. More than 400 area residents signed petitions circulated recently by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

The railroad company cited lack of business and the loss of See CLOSING, page 6

Don't Forget Papers

Residents of Wayne, Winside and Carroll are reminded to leave their old newspapers out side their door or along the curb early Monday morning so they can be picked up during the monthly Boy Scout paper drive.

Members of Wayne's Troop 175 will be conducting the drive. They ask that newspapers be boxed or bundled and placed outside homes by 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Lutt Boys Hope to See Big Leaguers

Three young boys may well decide how the third winner in Wayne's Vagabond Vacation spends that free trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Lutt of rural Wayne said their three boys already are making plans to attend a professional baseball game in Kansas City later this year now that their dad has been named a winner in the promotion.

Duane's name was drawn at random Monday, earning him, his wife and their children a free vacation on the 27 local businesses sponsoring the two-month promotion.

The preliminary winner at B & C Sales & Service, he and 26 other preliminary winners were vying for that free trip, the third of eight which will be given away during the promotion.

It didn't take his three sons long to plan out where they will take that vacation after learning their father was named the winner, he admitted.

If the Lutts decide to go to Kansas City for a big league baseball game, they will receive two nights lodging in any Ramada Inn or Holiday Inn and $67.50 in spending money. They also may decide to go somewhere else in the United States, Canada or Mexico, with the same accommodations and cash available to them.

Like the two previous winners and the five yet to be named, the Lutts have six months in which to decide exactly where they will spend their free vacation.

Preliminary winners for the fourth drawing will be chosen Friday after another week of registering in sponsoring businesses by area shoppers. Those winners will be named in Monday's issue of the newspaper, and the fourth winner will be named in Thursday's newspaper.

City Council Votes to Sign NPPD Contract

Wayne's city council agreed on a 5-1 vote Tuesday night to sign a contract with Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD), for purchasing electricity.

The vote ended a months long discussion by councilmen about the merits of the contract and opened the door for making the actual physical connection with the Wayne County Public Power District (WCPPD) line south of the city so electrical power can be purchased from NPPD.

WCPPD and Northeast Nebraska Public Power District would transport NPPD power from Emerson to south of Wayne.

The contract will run for 10 years, with the city paying $43,200 during that time for the right to enter into a purchasing contract with the large public power company.

Voting against the contract was councilman Vernon Russell, who repeated his argument that signing the contract is the first step toward closing the local municipal generating plant.

"You're going to close down your electrical plant. It's very obvious. The handwriting's on the wall," he said before the vote.

That comment prompted disagreement from councilman Jim Thomas, who has argued for months that the city should sign the contract and make the interconnection with WCPPD because of the chance of a major accident which would shut down the local plant, the unpredictability of the fuel crisis and the possibility of purchasing NPPD power cheaper than it can be generated locally.

Noting that local power plant superintendent Norb Brueger is "wholeheartedly in favor" of the contract, Thomas said the council is not thinking about closing the power plant. "He (Brueger) would be the last one to sell the city down the river," Thomas emphasized.

Brueger and city administrator Fred Brink told the council at a regular meeting earlier this month that the contract should be signed, Brink pointed out then that by "ridiculous use" of the contract the city could purchase NPPD power and pay for the intertie line between the city and WCPPD's line. That line, expected to cost about $185,000, could not be used until the city signs the contract with NPPD.

Abstaining from the vote on the contract was newly appointed councilman Ted Bahe, named earlier in the evening to fill the post left vacant by Frank Prather's resignation Feb. 12. Not present for the meeting was Keith Mosley. Voting in favor of the contract were Darrat Fuell, berth; Ivan Beeks, Harvey Brasch, Pat Gross and Thomas.

Cakes, Sausages Are Ready to Eat

Tonight (Thursday) is the night for sausage and pancake lovers to gather at the Wayne city auditorium for the annual Kiwanis pancake feed.

Beginning at 5 p.m., Kiwanians will be flipping the flapjacks and simmering the sausage for the huge crowd expected to fill the main floor of the auditorium.

If you haven't got your tickets yet ($1 for adults, 75 cents for children) you still can contact any Kiwanis member or purchase them at the door.

Proceeds from the annual event goes to the club's children fund.

'Eggathon' Set For March 19

Several Wayne High School groups will be holding an eggathon on March 19 to help raise funds for the March of Dimes, reports Wayne County drive chairman Rowan Willist of Wayne.

The students will go from house to house in Wayne that evening, asking one family to donate an egg to the March of Dimes and then asking the next family to purchase it.

Taking part in the event will be members of the Future Homemakers of America chapter, German Club and Paramedic Club. Kathy Winkerman is chairman of the eggathon.

Bahe Fills Prather's Post

Ted Bahe, vice president of State National Bank and Trust Co., is the new city councilman from the third ward in Wayne.

Bahe, 34, was named to the post during a special council meeting Tuesday night. The council gave 7-0 approval to mayor Kent Hall's appointment of Bahe to the post formerly held by Frank Prather. Not present for the meeting was councilman Keith Mosley.

Prather resigned from the council Feb. 12 after the city's special attorney advised him he was holding his post illegally because he had moved out of the third ward into the fourth ward.

Bahe will fill the remaining portion of Prather's term, which runs until June of 1976. Special attorney Budd Bornholt of Wayne cited a 1915 law which takes precedence over a city ordinance regarding the period of time Bahe may serve the state law says he will serve out Prather's term. Bornholt told the council.

A native of Wayne and graduate of Wayne Prep, Bahe has been with the local bank since 1957. He was cashier before being named vice president about two years ago.

He and his wife Maralee have three children, Leanne, 11 years old, Bret, nine, and Pamela, seven. They live at 415 W. Fifth.

Koester Fund Near $13,800

The Danny Koester fund seems to be leveling off this week as a total of $13,713.99 had been collected as of Wednesday morning, reports Bill Snyder of Security State Bank in Allen.

Last Saturday the amount reached just over $13,000 in the town's attempt to help the Duane Koester family of rural Allen pay for an estimated $25,000 hospitalization and operation expenses to find a cure for the 14-year-old's rare blood disease.

Koester's condition is reported to be improving. The youngster was released from full-time stay at a Seattle hospital and is now staying with his mother part of the time in a nearby apartment.

Area Farmers Can Beat the 'Crunch' By Attending Meets

Farmers in Dixon and Dakota Counties are invited to attend one of two meetings to help them deal the energy crunch in their 1974 farming operations.

One meeting will be held on Monday, March 11, at the Wakefield Legion Hall starting at 8 p.m.

The second meeting will be at the Ponca Legion Hall on Tuesday, March 12, starting at 1:30 p.m.

George Rehm and Russell Moomaw, extension agronomists at the Northeast Station near Concord, will be speakers. They will discuss such herbicides to use, when herbicides fail and what to do about it; how to beat the high cost and shortage of fertilizer, and variety tests and how farmers can use this information.

Competition Forming in Dixon County

Competition is starting to develop for the Dixon County offices which will be filled in the November general election.

Among the latest to file for supervisor positions in that county have been Democrat Dale Furness of Allen and Republican Leslie Johnson of Allen in the fifth district; incumbent Republican Donald Mackling of Emerson and Democrat George Emmons of Emerson in the seventh district, and Democrat Raymond Wiedenfeld of Hartington in the third district.

Filing earlier were Republican Merle Von Minden from Allen for the fifth district post and Democrat Raymond Nelson from Newcastle for the third district seat.

Incumbents not filing by earlier this week include supervisors Jerry Knerl, Ponca Democrat in the first district; Don Thomas, Newcastle Republican in the third district, and E. G. Lundahl, Allen Democrat in the fifth district.

Also filing recently was Irma Foulks, Ponca Republican seeking another term in office as clerk of district court.

Recent non-political filings include incumbents Vern Jones of Allen and David Walchorn of Ponca for "the noxious weed board"; Donald Meyer of Wakefield for the Wakefield school district; and Richard Hoising of Newcastle for the Newcastle school district.

Filing earlier were three incumbents — sheriff Dean Chase, Republican from Allen; clerk Esther Brennan, Democrat from Ponca, and assessor Virgil Putman, Republican from Ponca.

Also ending their terms in Dixon County this year are superintendent of schools, Otis Decker, Hartington; treasurer Jack Conrad, Ponca Republican; attorney Merle Kingsbury, Ponca Republican, and county surveyor Burton Brush, Hartington Republican.

Deadline for filing for village, school board and county offices is March 15, same deadline as those wishing to attend the county political conventions.

2nd Candidate Joins City's Mayor Race

Dr. Freeman Decker, professor of education at Wayne State College, filed for the office of Wayne mayor on Tuesday.

His filing creates the first competitive race to develop in the local election. Filing for that post last week was Sam Hepburn, an 18-year-old Wayne High School senior.

Dr. Decker, 66 years old the day he filed, has been in the field of education a total of 41 years. A native of Arlington, he graduated from college at Wayne in 1930 and then served as principal and coach at Carroll for five years. After three years working with his father-in-law in a photography studio in Wayne, he served for five years as Wayne County superintendent of schools. He then worked for seven years in the state education department in Lincoln as a secondary school supervisor, before being elected state superintendent of schools, a post he held for four years and then another seven after its name was changed to state commissioner of education.

Coordinator of the state colleges for six years, he then came to Wayne State in 1968 as director of publications and professor of education, posts he held until the current school year. He will retire from Wayne State in April at the close of his term.

He and his wife Constance (Karen) Harvey of Wheaton, and Mrs. Roger (Judy) Krhounek of Pierre, S.D. Mrs. Decker, a graduate of the University of Iowa, also taught for several years at Carroll.

Dr. Decker received both his master's degree and doctorate from the University at Nebraska at Lincoln.

Van Kirks Speaks for Bureau Dinner

M. M. Van Kirk, editor of Nebraska Agriculture, will be guest speaker during the Wayne and Stanton County Farm Bureau annual banquet at Wayne on March 9.

The banquet, with tickets selling for $3.50 each, is slated for 7 p.m. at the Birch Room in Wayne State's Student Center.

Van Kirk will talk on "Fitting Nebraska for Agriculture's New Era," with emphasis on the scope of the University of Nebraska's new institute of agriculture and natural resources. See SPEAKER, page 6

Wayne, Wakefield Students to Vie

Tod Blenderman, speech and drama sponsor at Wayne High School, will be taking 10 to 12 students to North Bend this Saturday to participate in the Husker Speech Conference.

About 16 members of the Wakefield High School Drama Club will be participating, according to Dennis Crippen and Thea Rose Meinders, instructors.

Both Wayne and Wakefield schools will have entries in all eight areas of competition: extemporaneous speaking, after dinner speaking, original public address, informative public speaking, prose, poetry, oral reading of drama and duet acting.

Local Woman Files for 2nd Ward Council Post

A member of the Three M's Extension Club, she and her husband have three children, Cindy, eight years old, Jackie, four, and Terry, 10 1/2 months.

Besides the four councilmen ending their terms this spring, mayor Kent Hall also is in the final months of his four year term. He has announced he will not seek a second term. Filing for that office recently were Sam Hepburn, a senior at Wayne High School, and Dr. Freeman Decker, professor of education at Wayne State College.

Deadline for filing for city, county and school board positions which will be filled in the May primary election and the November general election is March 15.

Mrs. Margaret Lundstrom of Wayne, one of three persons who are ending their terms on the Wayne-Carroll school board this year, filed for another term on the board Tuesday.

She became the second person to file for the school board to file for a position on the school district's governing body.

Mrs. Lundstrom, 42, is currently filling out her first term on the board, a two year term which was extended by the state legislature so it will run until the end of this year. Also ending their terms at the close of this year will be Wilbur Giese of Wayne and Morris Sandahl of Carroll, who have not announced whether they will seek another term in office.

The Best In State

WINSIDE'S Doug Lage, left, and Wakefield's Steve Sorenson proved they are the best in the state in what they do. And what they do is wrestle. They picked up gold medals in last week's state tournament at Lincoln by eliminating all comers. For complete results on how Winside, Wakefield and Wayne wrestlers did in that tournament, turn to the sports page inside this issue of The Wayne Herald.

To what extent has the rising cost of government in the past 10 years hit Wayne County families — where it hurts — in the pocketbook?

How big a chunk was extracted from their pay envelopes in that period for federal income and social security taxes?

For those people who have often thought about their tax load and wondered how much of their income gets shunted off each year without their ever seeing it, the Tax Foundation has done some figuring and come up with some answers.

Currently, it finds, for the family with average earnings, the first 13 1/4 hours of a 40-hour work week go to pay federal, state and local taxes.

In other words, a local worker has to put in all day Monday and a good part of Tuesday to meet his tax bills.

Most of that mopey, the portion that the federal government withholds from paychecks for its two biggest taxes — personal income and social security — never reaches him. It is skimmed off before he gets hold of it.

The government's yield from these two See "OUCH," page 6

Former Residents Mark Golden Anniversary

Former Wayne residents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pfeiffer of Norfolk, observed their golden wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon at St. John's Lutheran fellowship hall in Norfolk.

The open house reception was hosted by the couple's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hilkemann of Norfolk, and grandchildren, Leo and Aaron Hilkemann.

Aaron Hilkemann registered the 125 guests who attended from Aurora, Ill.; Hinton, Ia.; Bloomfield, Rosalie, Randolph and other area towns. Gifts were arranged by Leo Hilkemann. The program included several organ selections by the two grandsons.

The cake, baked by Mrs. Fred Hilkemann and Mrs. Orville Carlisle of Norfolk, was cut and served by Mrs. Alvin Daum of Wisner. Mrs. Leslie Youngmeyer of Wayne poured and Cheryl Wagner of Norfolk served punch. Members of St. John's Ladies Aid assisted in the kitchen.

Mr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer were married Feb. 27, 1924, at Trinity Lutheran Church, Altona. Their wedding attendants, Alvin Daum of Wisner and Mrs. William Kruger of Norfolk, were both present for the 50-year celebration.

Pfeiffers lived on a farm south of Wayne until their retirement to Norfolk 21 years ago.

Lage, Sorensen 1st in State; Winside Finishes 3rd

By BOB BARTLETT
Two area high school wrestlers made their return trips to the state wrestling tournament in Lincoln well worth remembering.

Doug Lage of Winside and Steve Sorensen of Wakefield captured gold medals during finals of the two-day meet Saturday.

Sorensen, one of the state's four Class C grapplers to go undefeated this season, picked up his 30th win—with a renewed acquaintance against his district foe, John Gunn of Plainview.

But this time the 138-pounder didn't handle Sorensen the way he did before falling in the district tournament. Instead of Sorensen being forced to battle back from a 5-0 deficit, the Trojan grappler got a quick takedown for two points and went on to win, 4-2.

Lage, who finished the year at 27-6, decided all four of his opponents, the last win a 4-2 handling of Howells' Greg Barla.

Both Sorensen and Lage qualified for the state meet last year but neither one placed. Lage was eliminated in the early rounds while Sorensen was dropped from the meet when he failed to make a match after a mix up on times between officials and Sorensen as to when he should have appeared.

Lage's win helped the Wildcats place third in the state meet—the highest the Winside team has ever placed at Lincoln. Two years ago the team won fourth.

Winside, with all seven grapplers scoring, piled up 42 points, five short of second-place Neligh and 20 away from Class C winner Wymore Southern.

Sophomore Bob Bowers, who also made it to the finals, lost a 2-0 decision at 98 pounds for the team's only second-place win.

Two other Wildcats won third place and one came in fourth. Dwight Lienemann (167) and Dan Bowers (185) came in third while heavyweight Mike Anderson nailed down a fourth.

"It was the leadership of our co-captains, Dan Bowers and Doug Lage, that made our team a winner all season," coach Doug Barclay reflected about his club's showing Saturday.

Of Wayne's three entries, heavyweight Charlie Brockman almost won the distance in the battle for third place, falling in third round consolation action to Bill Turner of Coaled, 10-7.

Another senior, 167-pound Gordon Cook bowed out in the second consolation round to Brian Plank of Sidney in a major decision, 12-0.

Sophomore 105-pounder Ken Daniels lost both the preliminary and first round consolation matches but dropped out of the first day of tournament action.

Wakefield's only other state qualifier, 155-pound Pat Nicholson, followed—the same route as Daniels, losing in both the preliminary and first consolation rounds. However, his preliminary battle forced Wymore Southern's Larry Schmidt to go into overtime to collect his 2-0 win.

In a review of season records Wayne's Charlie Brockman led the trio of local state qualifiers with a 23-3 record. Cook was second at 16-9, Daniels next at 15-15.

Dwight Lienemann carried the best overall record for Winside with a 29-3 mark. Bob Bowers and Gregg Lage were tied at 28-4, followed by Doug Lage, 26-7, Dan Bowers, 23-7, Brad Brummels 22-10, and Mike Anderson, 20-9.

Wakefield's Pat Nicholson finished the season with a 16-7 record.

WINSIDE'S Dan Bowers is at a disadvantage during his third-place battle with Lou Gettelfer of Crawford, but he got a reversal and went on to take the match, 5-2.

Bears Face Ponca Tonight In Districts

Some might say the climax to the Class C district basketball tournament at Wayne State was Tuesday night when Ponca edged Allen 56-54. Then some might say tonight's (Thursday) Matmen Open Action.

Wayne's city recreation wrestling team will open its season Saturday night in a dual against Wakefield at the city auditorium beginning at 7 p.m.

Emerson Wins Concord Meet
Emerson edged out host Concord, 28-24, in the final minute to win the championship round of the fifth and sixth grade basketball tournament at Concord Thursday night.

Wayne garnered third place with a 26-11 win over Hoskins, after the locals fell to Emerson, 37-29, on Monday night last week. Concord got a bye when Hoskins had to forfeit due to illness that first night.

Wayne will host a seventh and eighth grade meet March 11 and 12 that will include the same four schools.

matchup between Ponca and Laurel will be the highlight of district play.

Who knows? Right now Allen and Ponca fans will agree their first-round contest was the hardest fought. Each team collected 23 field goals, but the Indians converted two more free shots — 10 of 22 compared to eight of 13 for Allen.

It wasn't a game of accuracy by any means. The Eagles only hit 33 per cent with Ponca slightly ahead.

Eagle floor leader Roger Anderson, playing his best game of the year, became the team's leading scorer with 17 for the night. The 5-10 senior, though, didn't start hitting until the latter part of the game when the Eagles desperately needed points.

In the third quarter Ponca had the Allen quieted down by seven in what looked like a runaway. But Anderson made four quick points and Scott McAfee and Scott VonMinden also scored to get the Eagles within one before Anderson's 50th point. Kelly Knerr, hit from 20 feet at the sound of the buzzer for a 43-40 edge.

With about 10 seconds left in the game, Ponca still held a one-point lead, but Allen had the ball. Knerr, who finished the game with 25, had missed a free throw and Allen's VonMinden grabbed the rebound. Neil Blohm took a shot from the far corner after a long pass from VonMinden, but the ball bounced off the hoop and into the hands of a Ponca player.

Allen, finishing the year with a 7-12 mark, had scoring help from Blohm with 13 and VonMinden with 12.

The first game Tuesday night wasn't half as exciting. Laurel bombed Bloomfield, 84-52.

The Bears led by 16-15 after the first period, then opened up their running game and a stout man-to-man full court press to turn the tide in their favor.

Laurel nearly doubled Bloomfield's output, hitting 35 of 76 attempts for 46 per cent while the Bears converted 16 of 39 fielders for 41 per cent.

Senior Mark McCoy and junior Sterling Stoipe led the club in rebounds as the Bears collected over 40 in the top half victory.

Tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock, Laurel squares off against Ponca in the semi-final play after Coleridge meets Wausa. Winners meet Friday at 8 p.m. for the district championship and a trip to the regional meet.

Monday night Coleridge blasted Wynot, 67-44, and Wausa clobbered Hartington High, 73-58.

Coeds Repeat As Meet Champs

Champions again, that's the position of Wayne State's women's basketball team following a come-from-behind victory over Midland College Sunday night.

The Wildcats rallied from a four-point deficit to gain a 55-50 decision in the last three minutes of the Nebraska state women's championship game at Fremont.

It was the second straight Wayne-over-Midland finale, following Midland titles in the previous two years.

Now the Wayne coeds are getting prepared for a crack at the Region 6 championship at Brookings, S. D. March 7-9. A year ago they battled to the finals against Kansas State University, but lost by a scant four points, so missed a trip to the national tournament.

Coach G. I. Willoughby's Wildcats defeated UN Omaha, 58-41, in the state meet's opening round Saturday, then Sunday afternoon, they whipped Kearney State, 73-58—in their highest scoring of the year. That set up the championship confrontation with Midland.

Martha Schrick led Wayne scoring with 11 against UNO, 27 against Kearney and tied with Donna VonGlan with 14 against Midland.

As in two earlier battles with Midland, this was close all the way. Wayne leading by 26-25 at the half and 42-41 at third quarter.

Three Wayne players rated selection on the all-tournament team—Schrick, VonGlan and Cheryl Finke.

In the regional meet, Wayne is paired against the Iowa champion in its first round. Also competing are champions of North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Kansas and Missouri.

8th Graders Upset Laurel

Wayne's eighth grade basketball team put together possibly its best team effort to upset Laurel, 42-40, Monday night at the city auditorium.

Led by Marco Garlick with 13 points and John Keating and Kevin Murray with 12 each, the locals overcame a six point first half deficit to nip the Bears.

Murray helped to cinch the victory near the end when he hit two crucial baskets under the rim as the locals gained their seventh win against six losses.

"We tried a 2-1 press the first half," said coach Hank Overlin, "but that didn't seem to stop them. So we went to a 2-1 full court press which did bother Laurel."

Tonight (Thursday) the eighth grade team plays Hartington Holy Trinity in the first night of the eight team Hartington tournament.

Wayne—Jeff Backstrom 3, John Bodenstedt 2, Laurel—Dahlquist 14, Lindgren 10, Martin 9, Gade 3, Cunningham 3.

Devils Suffer Back-to-Back Losses

Hartington Cedar Catholic handed the Wayne-Blue Devils their second consecutive loss Tuesday night, 59-56.

Hartington's height proved to be too much for the shorter Devils as the Trojans 1-3-1 zone wouldn't allow Wayne to penetrate the middle.

As a result, guards Tod Bigelow and Marty Hansen had to shoot from the outside to tally 30 of the team's points. Center Bob Keating, however, garnered 11 points, but he had to battle 6-8 Kevin Becker and 6-5 Gene Scholl to do so.

"We didn't play a bad game," Wayne coach Bill Sharpe pointed out. "In fact, if we would have played this way against Randolph last Saturday we would have won."

Wayne had the lead for a short time early in Tuesday night's game, but the lead switched hands in the second half.

"Our problem is that we should have stopped one of their big men," Sharpe said, "instead of trying to stop both of them. That's just impossible." Becker hit 24 points in the contest, Scholl 19.

Wayne held the lead in rebounding, 30-28, with Keating collecting nine caroms. Junior Jack Froehlich adding his height to help Block the middle.

Wayne, now 15-6, heads into Class B district action at Norfolk Monday night at 7 against Wisner-Pilger.

The reserves finished their season with a 12-3 record, beating Hartington CC's B-team, 58-40. Balanced scoring played a major role in the club's win as no one hit-in double figures.

The Devils' attempt to pull out their 16th win against Randolph fell one point short, 67-66, Saturday night when a 10-footer by a Wayne player rolled in and out of the rim with 10 seconds remaining.

Randolph's man-to-man defense of the taller Wayne team apparently caused the locals problems. Wayne's guards, usual scoring leaders, sank a total of 10 points for the night.

"Tod (Bigelow) got into foul trouble early in the game," coach Bill Sharpe noted after one of his guards left the match with eight points and three fouls in the first half.

Center Bob Keating took charge, pumping in 21 points on inside plays when the Cardinals failed to stop the big man. Keating also led board work with 14 caroms.

But Wayne's change in game plans caused the Devils to slow down in their scoring pace. A combination of a fast break and mid-court pass has enabled the home team to win ball games, but Saturday night the Devils used only a fast break and did not press on defense.

"Randolph has some fast players," Sharpe reflected, "I thought that if we tried to press them they would run away with the ball. But I guess I was playing a little too conservative."

Although Wayne shooters hit their average (about 45 per cent) they only put up 51 shots, about 14 fewer than usual.

The reserves posted Randolph 74-47 with torrid shooting from the field. Five players hit 50 per cent or above, with Jack Froehlich connecting on five of nine fielders for 56 per cent. Hitting 50 per cent were Rick Mitchell, Gordon Emry, Mike Meyer and Rob Mitchell.

Meyer led the crew with 15 points as well as placing second in rebounds with 10. Leading that department was Emry with 12 as the Wayne reserves grabbed a total of 48 rebounds for the night. "The players had one of their finest nights," commented coach Ron Carnes.

Local Tankers Place Six in Meet

Six members of the Wayne swimming team placed in the Midwest AAU swim meet in Omaha Saturday.

Chris Madaus had an 11th-place showing in the eight-and-under, 25-yard backstroke, has same showing Bud Meyer had in the 13-and-over 100-yard butterfly.

Dave Hamm and Randy Pinkelman came in 12th in the 200-yard breast stroke for 13 and over and Hamm in the 100-yard breaststroke for 13 and over.

Kevin Jack finished 13th in the 200-yard breast stroke for 13 and over.

The only girl finisher, Julie Ellis, came in 18th in the 10-and-under 50-yard backstroke.

"Our times are getting better," coach Gary Egler pointed out. "The kids showed me a lot of guts swimming against competition—they swam against during their last meet."

The locals will continue competition Sunday afternoon when they head to Bellevue for a 16-team open meet at Bellevue. The following weekend, they will enter the Millard open.

The Ratson swim meet is slated for March 15-16-17, but Egler isn't sure if Wayne will enter. It all depends on how the team does in the other two meets, he said.

WS Wrestlers To Districts

Wayne State wrestlers will go to Chadron Friday for the NAIA District 11 tournament, a qualifying meet for the NAIA nationals for the following weekend at River Falls, Wis.

According to national rules, only first and second-place winners in the district meet are eligible to compete in the national tourney.

The four state colleges are expected to enter the meet at Chadron, plus perhaps a few entries from the private colleges. The meet originally was scheduled for Saturday, but coaches agreed to a Friday date so they would not have problems getting fuel on the home trips.

Councilman Gets Halfway To Hiking Chief's Salary

Councilman Vernon Russell Tuesday night made it about halfway toward getting the police chief's salary raised from $740 to $825 a month.

He succeeded on a 4-3 vote during the council's regular meeting in getting $825 inserted in the proposed ordinance which the council will have to pass before the chief's salary can be increased.

But he failed on a 5-2 vote to get that ordinance before the council so the members could vote on passing it. The ordinance will have to be read during at least one more council meeting, possibly two, before councilmen can vote on it.

Siding with Russell in hiking the chief's pay to the same level as former chief Robert Evers was receiving were Jim Thomas, Darrell Fuelberth and Ted Bahr. Against the increase were Ivan Beck, Harvey Brasch and Pat Gross. Brasch and Gross voted against bypassing three readings and putting the proposed ordinance up for a vote immediately.

Russell has argued during other council meetings that it is discriminatory to pay chief Vern Fairchild $740 a month after the council hired Evers at $825 a month last year while Fairchild was fighting in court his firing by mayor Kent Hall.

Evers at that salary in effect got $825 a month as his salary for that position, he said again Tuesday night.

In a related action, the council voted 7-0 (councilman Keith Mosley not present) to not pay at the present time the $1,282.58 due from a Lincoln attorney for representing the city in its Civil Service dispute over the second firing of Fairchild by Hall.

Russell said the council had never been asked to approve hiring the Lincoln attorney and therefore the bill should not be paid. "We had a city attorney at the time," said Russell, "and he wasn't asked" to represent the city in the hearing proceedings which Fairchild requested and which later led to his second reinstatement as chief.

Mayor Hall told the council he and city administrator Fred Brink thought it was in the city's best interest that the city needed additional help during the hearing, prompting them to ask the Lincoln attorney to represent the city.

Mayor Evers' attorney, Budd Bornhoff told the council during discussion of the bill that he does not think the mayor or administrator can employ additional legal help without getting approval from the council for expenditure of funds.

The council agreed to hold its claim until Brink checks to see if the city's insurance will pay for it or until it can be decided whether Hall can now ask the council to approve hiring the Lincoln attorney.

Also during the meeting, the council:

- Agreed to wait for a legal opinion on whether the city can contribute to the Chamber of Commerce. Decision came following presentation of a $1,800 bill from the Chamber for the city's council for a year. The figure is $400 higher than the previous year's bill—according to city clerk Dan Sherry.
- Voted 5-2 to re-hire the city's planning consultant. His fee will be $1,000 for attending 10 planning commission meetings during the next 12 months. Thomas and Russell, noting they would prefer checking into the possibility of hiring a new consultant to get a fresh viewpoint, voted against the hiring.
- Agreed 7-0 to recommend to the Nebraska Liquor Commission that the request for a bottle club license by John and Marie Mohr be approved. They need the license to operate the upstairs business of the Black Knight Lounge, presently being operated under one license.
- Learned that the state commission has denied the application for a similar license by Dick's Tavern. Council earlier recommended that license be approved.
- Learned from the city attorney that the $3 mill levy for industrial development is legal. Taxes raised from the levy go to Wayne Industries, Inc.
- Voted 4-1 (Beeks objecting) to bring the city building inspector under the control of the city administration. Currently, holding that post is Dick Carlson.
- Agreed formally to pursue the Brink thought that a park with a lake on the southwest edge of the city. Deah Pierson has agreed to sell the city just over 16 acres of land for $20,000.

Wayne City Engineer Edward Van Der Horst, who is responsible for constructing the lake if the council goes ahead with the idea, according to the city administrator. Decision to pursue the idea follows a decision last meeting approving the proposal which would have created a park on the northeast edge of the city.

Decided to wait for a recommendation from the city planning commission on what to do with the city's building on Nebraska Street. Council had considered selling the former Department of Roads building, purchased for $7,000 from the state.

- Voted 7-0 to increase the city attorney's salary to $8,100 a year. Bornhoff has agreed to do all the city's legal work for that figure. The previous city attorney, John Addison, received $3,900 a year, but he was paid for some extra legal work he was required to do.
- Agreed to re-write the proposed ordinance which would permit the city to create loading zones in the city. The request by the Senior Citizens Center for a loading zone on Main Street was tabled until after a decision on that ordinance.

- Agreed 4-1 (Fuelberth objecting) to create as an experiment parallel parking on the north side of First, Second and Third Streets for a block on each side of Main in place of diagonal parking. The idea originated with the newly created Selective Localized Accident Prevention (SLAP) committee members, who think it may reduce the large number of minor accidents occurring on those streets. The experiment is expected to last from six months to a year.
- Agreed to have the city administrator work with interested parties in drawing up new regulations for restricted parking in the downtown business district.
- Learned of a $1,400 bill from Consolidated Engineers and Architects of Wayne for work the firm did on drawing up plans for remodeling the hospital into a city hall. Several councilmen said they would question the bill when it formally comes before them since they could not remember authorizing spending that much money.

Dr. Rafael Sosa, Wayne State College, will be guest speaker at the Laurel Woman's Club meeting to be held Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. at the city auditorium. Special guests will be Laurel Lions Club members and their wives.

Dr. Sosa will open the program with an informal discussion on the political and economic situation in Cuba. He will relate the Sosa's escape from Cuba under the Castro regime.

Club officers will be elected during the business meeting and reports will be heard on the Fine Arts Festival Delegates to the NFWC convention will also be elected.

Luncheon hostesses are Barb Hansen, Florence Fredrickson, Norma Embeier and Marcia Haisch.

All meetings are open to the public.

Backing the team

WAYNE HIGH'S wrestling cheerleaders gave coach Don Koenig's team plenty of support through the season, boosting three Blue Devils to the state Class B tournament last Friday and Saturday in Lincoln. Cheering on this year's squad were, front from left, Linda Costello and Nancy Backstrom; back, Jane Ring and Mary Proett.

24 Attend CD Meet at Laurel

Twenty-four persons attended the Civil Defense organizational meeting held at Laurel Saturday evening.

The "Tri-County C. B. Volunteers" elected Merlin Jensen as president, Edwin Gadaskan as vice president; Mrs. Donna Buss as secretary treasurer, and Mrs. Erna Gadekan as public relations director.

Robert Bahke and Larry Pospolil of Norfolk spoke to the group on Civil Defense. Present for the meeting were: mayor, Merlin Swanson, sheriff, John Rube and police chief Gerald Mallat.

Next meeting of the group will be March 9 at 8 p.m. at the Laurel fire hall. Interested parties are invited to attend.

"Ouch"

taxes rose more than 80 per cent per family since 1963, due principally to the fact that incomes went up sharply and elsewhere were to tax.

All told, the average family in the local area had a gross income, prior to tax withholding, of some $78,500 in the past 10 years; the figures show.

Out of this total, an estimated $10,600 went for federal income and social security taxes alone.

But the public pays a lot more in federal taxes than is taken out via withholding. The Tax Foundation notes, indirectly, it pays a whole raft of excise taxes, covering everything from cigarettes to process butter and from gasoline to telephone service.

The figures indicate that for every $100 a worker pays in federal income and social security taxes, the government collects an additional $74 in "hidden" taxes.

For the Wayne County population, the amount paid in the past 10 years in hidden taxes, on that basis, adds up to about $7,840 per family.

Dixon to Host BB Tournney

Dixon will host a four-team seventh and eighth grade basketball tournament Monday night, starting at 7 p.m. in the Dixon gym.

Allen and Hoskins open first round play followed by host Dixon taking on Wayne at 8:30. Playoffs will be March 7, with the winners receiving a trophy.

Also both nights there will be a cheerleading contest, winners receiving a trophy the night of the playoffs.

She and her husband Max, vice president for administration at Wayne State College, have two daughters, Elaine, a junior at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and Marjie, a senior at Wayne High.

College's Self-Study Underway

Wayne State College already is well advanced on a self study of goals which the Legislature's Appropriations Committee wants all Nebraska state colleges to undertake.

A Goals Parliament, organized in January, now has nine committees working.

Charles Stelling, chairman of the WSC committee which was delegated to devise a self study plan, said Tuesday that chairmen of the Parliament's nine committees have chosen colleagues and charted activities to study every phase of the college. They will report their findings to the over all committee by March 28. Some of the committees will send questionnaires to a cross section of area residents.

Stelling listed these committees and members:

- Dormitory committee—Dr. Donald Merriman, chairman, Fred Madaus, Ruby Pedersen, Roberta Welte, Geneva Beckner, Ida Monson, Betty Monroe, Claudia Shepherd.
- Recruitment committee—Jim Hummel and Larry Rabbas, co-chairmen, G. J. Wiloughby, Robert Lemcke, Fred Madaus, Kim Kramer, Lauren Rasmusen.

He will point out how the new program can benefit individual farmers and ranchers as well as the state's entire economy.

Toastmaster during the evening banquet will be Holis Francis, a Winside native who is now assistant manager of WJAG Radio Station at Norfolk.

Besides serving as editor of the Nebraska Farm Bureau's semi-monthly publication, Van Kirk writes a weekly newspaper column titled "The Midland View" and prepares two radio programs each week for stations in Lexington, Scottsbluff and Columbus.

Before joining the staff of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation early in 1969, Van Kirk was editor for two years of the Business Farmer at Scottsbluff, a specialized weekly farm publication. He earlier managed and was part-owner of The Chadron Record and was editor of the Scottsbluff Daily Star. He grew up on a farm near Elgin and graduated from Hastings College.

more than $62,000 during 1971 and 1972 as reasons for the decision to seek approval to close the line. The company said it lost $27,000 in 1971 and $38,500 in 1972 by operating the line.

Traffic over the line has been very low, the line is in a deteriorated condition and upgrading the line would cost a large amount of money, according to the company.

Stations which would be affected by abandoning the line include Wakefield, Emerson, Hubbard, Spur and Beerman.

Persons wishing to comment on the proposal, have until March 30 to file letters and petitions with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423.

YDs Honored

The Young Democrats of Wayne State College were named the best club of the year during the Young Democrats state convention at Lincoln over the weekend.

Named the best new Young Democrat was Terry Sullivan, a Wayne State sophomore from Bellevue.

Area residents wishing to view the show individually or in groups may do so anytime before the close of the show on March 24. The planetarium, located on the ground floor of the Carhart Science Building, will be open to groups and organizations through the third term on special request; the director noted. Those wishing to attend any of the scheduled showings are advised to arrive early since seating is not possible once a show has started, he said.

OBITUARIES

Maria Lutt

A longtime resident of the Wayne area, Maria Lutt, died Saturday at her home. She was 81 years old.

Funeral rites were conducted at St. Paul's Lutheran Church-Wayne, at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Officiating was the Rev. Donovan Peterson.

Pallbearers were Gerald Moseman, Steven Moseman, William Mau, Thomas Mau, Gerald Baier and Ronald Wriedt. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

The daughter of Nels and Dorathia Nelson, she was born in Wayne County April 30, 1892.

On Sept. 18, 1913 she married William Fredrick Lutt at Wayne. The couple farmed southeast of Wayne until 1930 when they moved to a farm northwest of Wayne. In 1960 they moved into Wayne.

She is preceded in death by her husband, three brothers and three sisters. Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Virgil (Ruby) Moseman of Emerson and Mrs. Kenneth (Faye) Dunklau and Mrs. Howard (Dorothy) Mau, both of Wayne; ten grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren, and one sister, Stena Hammer of Wayne.

Spanish Students to Live, Study at Big Mac

A total living and learning experience in Spanish will be available to Nebraska college students this summer at the Cedar Point Camp on Lake McCaughy near Ogallala.

Cards of Thanks

I WISH TO THANK my friends for the flowers, visits, gifts and cards sent during my stay at the hospital. They were deeply appreciated. A special thank you to Rev. Golberg for his visits and prayers. Jean A. Boyd. 128

I SINCERELY WISH to thank our friends and relatives for their prayers, cards, flowers, gifts and phone calls during my stay in the hospital and since my return home. Thanks to those who brought in food and to our family who helped in so many other ways. Thanks also to the Rescue Units who took me to the hospital. May God bless each one. Ralph Emry. 128

THANK YOU from the family of Warren Allen for all who remembered their loved one while he was a resident at the Dahl Care Centre in Wayne, during his illness at the Wakefield Hospital, and for the many kindnesses at the time of his death. 128

OUR HEARTFELT THANKS to all our relatives, friends and neighbors for their words of sympathy, and beautiful cards, flowers and memorials at the time of the loss of our beloved mother and grandmother. Special thanks to Rev. Paul Reimers, The Ladies Aid of Trinity Lutheran Church of Winside for serving lunch, and to Dr. Robert Benlack and the Wayne Hospital staff. The family of Alvina Frahm. 128

WE WOULD LIKE TO EXPRESS our appreciation and thanks to the Wayne firemen and our neighbors for answering our call on Friday morning. Thanks again fellas, you do a great job. Darlene and Gordon Helgren and Charles. 128

ELLYN FALLESEN.

Fallesen: Senior Citizens Needed to Help Retarded

Wayne senior citizens don't have to feel left out when it comes to helping the mentally retarded even if they don't have the training it takes to work with these children.

Just talking with the youngsters helps a lot, according to Elynn Fallesen, in charge of the Region Four Children's Development Center at Wayne State's Pile Hall.

"Some people have a lot of misconceptions of mental retardation, Miss Fallesen pointed out. People seem to underestimate abilities and capabilities of the mentally retarded," she said.

The aim of the regional center is to integrate the youngsters into the community to help them in learning. One way to do this is to have members of the local Senior Citizens Center spend time with the children, such as on a weekend touring parts of town or just talking with the youngsters, she said.

"It seems like so many times these children are not going on field trips to the library, grocery store or such places where they never go with their parents. These are the places where children can learn," she added.

Last week Mrs. Fallesen issued a challenge to the senior citizens during a talk at the Senior Citizens Center to take an active part in helping the mentally retarded. "It may take some time to show an active part in answering the challenge," she said. "But I think there are some interested in helping."

Miss Fallesen of Neligh, received her bachelor's degree in social work from Morrisville College in December.

Founder of CORE to Talk At Wayne State

James Farmer, founder and former national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, will speak at Wayne State College Tuesday, the second speaker in a Minority Lecture Series.

Besides visits to several classes, Farmer will speak at a 3:15 p.m. student convocation in Ramsey Theatre of the Fine Arts Center and at a 7:30 p.m. forum in the Student Center. The public is invited to join students and faculty at either program.

Farmer has long been active in the black civil rights movement. After leaving the national directorship of CORE, he headed the Center for Community Action Education, served as assistant secretary of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (1969-71), and currently is president of the new inner-city "think-tank," the Center for the Study of Goals and Strategies.

The Texas-born Farmer earned a B.S. degree from Wiley College and a bachelor of divinity degree from Howard University School of Religion, both in Texas. He served professorships at Lincoln, New York and Wisconsin State Universities.

Wayne State was host last Friday to the first of five Minority lecture visitors, black poet Gwendolyn Brooks. After the James Farmer appearance, the next minority lecture will be Kath-Tinella Harris, an Indian activist scheduled to visit Wayne March 14.

Injured Girl At Ceremony

A Wayne girl injured seriously in an automobile accident near David City Feb. 1 made it back on her feet in time to join her nursing classmates for capping exercises Monday morning at the Northeast Nebraska Technical Community College at Norfolk.

Jill Froehlich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin "Bud" Froehlich, suffered two collapsed lungs and a dislocated hip in the accident, and was in intensive care at a Lincoln hospital until early last week. She returned home with her parents last Thursday and is staying with relatives in Norfolk while attending classes there.

Jill will be on crutches for a couple of months, according to her father, and will see her local doctor Friday for X-rays. She will return to Lincoln in two months for a checkup.

LETTERS

EDITORIAL PAGE

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786.

'Are councilmen forgetting parts of the NPPD contract?'

Dear Editor: Recently you had an article in favor of a Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) hookup. In reaction to that article, I have sent the following letter to our councilmen, pointing out some facts that I think have been overlooked. I thank The Wayne Herald for the opportunity to voice my opinion.

Dear Councilmen: I would like to know why this council is so ready to sell our power plant out. I believe a contract with NPPD would be a deficit and not an asset. As I understand the contract, with its rider clause, once we purchase power we will be charged for that amount of power, whether we use the power or not. Also, that nothing stops NPPD from doubling or tripling its rates, say a year from now. So the day could come that we could produce power at our plant much cheaper than buying it from NPPD. But with the contract as is, we would still have to buy the same amount of power from NPPD.

Was the cost of producing power at the Wayne plant just figured for the month of December or for over the whole year of 1973? I understand it was figured just for December. Why? Was that the only month it was higher than NPPD power? At the recent Chamber of Commerce banquet, it was stated that a dollar spent in Wayne passes through seven hands before leaving the community. Wayne's power plant employs five to 10 persons with families, and (the plant) has purchased the paving, sewer and water bonds in previous years. How many employees or maintenance crews will NPPD maintain in Wayne? I would like to know what this council plans to do about the cooling system at the power plant? The radiators are not like a car radiator; you can not just add antifreeze, because the water is specially treated. I believe there are three choices this council can take.

One is to run an engine to keep the cooling system from freezing, thus producing power and not needing NPPD power. Another is to drain the cooling system at night and refill it in the morning, a process taking longer than 10 hours. A third is to build a special building over the radiators, a building costing the taxpayers of Wayne a mint.

Why didn't the city administrator make public the second engineer's report on Wayne's power plant and NPPD power? Was it because the majority of the report agreed with the first engineer's report which did not support a contract or hook-up with NPPD?

I'm sending a copy of an article that was in the Norfolk Daily News that further supports my argument against signing the present contract with NPPD.

Concerned Citizen for Wayne's Power Plant
Editor's Note: Included with this letter was a copy of an Associated Press story carried in last Thursday's issue of the Norfolk daily newspaper. The story concerned State Senator Richard Lewis' bill which would give the Nebraska Public Power Review Board control over wholesale electricity. Lot of plans in works to save state colleges

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN — There have been lots of plans to rescue the four state colleges from a cycle of enrollment declines and budget cuts.

Governor J. James Exon has a plan anchored to the idea that the schools could keep operating if their classrooms were filled, even if the students weren't paying tuition. He proposed that about 1,200 students be allowed to go to the schools at Kearney, Wayne, Peru and Chadron without paying tuition so desks could be occupied and faculty kept on the job.

The Legislature's Budget Committee has a plan, too. It is keyed to a self-analysis by the college officials, who would be put on notice to take a hard look at what they were offering and why they were losing students and come back in a year with some answers.

And Senator Dave Stahmer of Omaha has a plan. He suggested that the colleges could attract more students and keep them there by arriving by making the senior-year tuition free.

Instead of just adding 1,200 students on a no-tuition basis, as the governor proposed, Stahmer said the students who got the break should be those who had paid tuition the first three years at the schools.

He said his plan would solve not only the decline in total enrollment, but would attack another problem the colleges have been having — dropouts.

Stahmer said enrollment patterns in the colleges show many students leave after the first or second year. If they could look forward to a tuition-free fourth year, they might be more inclined to stay, he said.

The final decision on what will be done this year for the colleges will be up to the full Legislature, but the betting will have to be on the committee's proposal.

Last year, the Legislature accepted without change the governor's budget proposals. But that isn't going to happen this year and may never happen again.

Smoke Bill Passes
Concert-goers and bus riders must be careful about lighting up a cigarette or a stogie.

The Legislature last week passed a bill which subjects smokers to a fine of up to $100 if they aren't careful where they do their smoking.
The bill was sponsored by Senator Steve Wray of Lincoln. It states smoking shall be banned in elevators, patient areas of hospitals, indoor theaters, libraries, art museums, concert halls or buses if they are open to the public, unless there are designated smoking areas.

The preamble of the bill, LB600, puts the Legislature on record as declaring that "smoking of tobacco in any form is dangerous to the health and welfare of each person."

Terry Jumps In
J. J. Exon said flatly he expects Richard Whelan of Hastings to be the Democrats' choice May 14.

The Democratic governor said that last Wednesday after a fourth candidate joined the battle for the party's lieutenant-governor candidate. He said it even though that fourth candidate is Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Carpenter made his announcement in a Statehouse news conference after rumors that he would challenge the Exon choice — and fellow lawmakers J. W. Burbach of Crofton and Frank Lewis of Bellevue.

All three have made formal announcements following Exon's declaration that the Hastings attorney, Whelan, is the candidate he's most like to share a ballot with in November.

On the Republican side, another legislator, Richard D. Marvel, is the lone candidate for governor, and the wife of an ex-senator is the only GOP candidate for lieutenant governor. She is Mrs. Anne Batchelder of Omaha.

Thoughts for the day

THURSDAY
One of our problems is that we don't have enough contact with God's word.

Colossians 3:16: Let the word of Christ richly dwell within you.

FRIDAY
The devil fears nothing but Christ.

Matthew 4:10-11: Then Jesus said to him, Begone Satan. Then the devil left him.

SATURDAY
You get to the top of a mountain only as a result of climbing.

Psalms 25:4: Make me know Thy ways, O Lord.

SUNDAY
So many people look for a pot of gold at the end of a rainbow, but the gold is only at the foot of the cross.

Job 22:25: Then the Almighty will be your gold.

MONDAY
The act of encouragement is like a blood transfusion. To the receiver it can mean new strength, but the donor benefits, too. You can't give without receiving.

Luke 6:38: Give and it will be given to you. For whatever measure you deal out to others, it will be dealt to you in return.

TUESDAY
Night might silently the stars take their place in the sky.

Psalms 147:4: He counts the number of the stars; He gives names to all of them.

WEDNESDAY
Do you love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of.

Revelations 1:3: Blessed is he who reads and those who hear the words of the prophecy, and held the things which are written in it for the time is near.

WAY BACK WHEN

30 YEARS AGO
February 24, 1944: Smoke caused by an overheated furnace fan called the fire department to the Charles Messer, Schmidt home Sunday noon. No damage was done. The new Seymour apartment for occupancy about March 1. Fog Monday night was followed by rain and snow that brought valuable moisture to northeast Nebraska. Dorothy Ann, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rethwisch, bruised and cut her left hand Tuesday morning when the car she was driving to Carroll to school turned over on slippery roads. A barn valued at $2,000 and its contents valued at $1,000 were lost at the Rudy Vlasak farm, Carroll, Friday afternoon. Herbert Nieman suffered a badly sprained back Friday evening when the car driven by Herbert overturned at Carroll.

25 YEARS AGO
February 24, 1949: Henry Ley has been named to the committee for the Nebraska Jefferson Jackson Day dinner, annual event of the state Democratic party. A delegation of seven Wayne attorneys attended the annual meeting of the Ninth Judicial District Bar association in Norfolk Tuesday. Those attending from here were H. E. Siman, Kenneth Olds, Burr Davis, Budd Bornhoff, Charles McDermott, Judge William Crossland and Russell Bartels. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Merchant, Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Art Auker, Winside, returned Tuesday from a four of the southern states. The city council Tuesday night granted a license to J. H. Morrison for the sale of beer and liquor.

20 YEARS AGO
February 25, 1954: Marlan Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Carlson, son of Mr. Wayne at Husker Boys' State at Lincoln. The City Council put the swimming pool question on the April ballot. An eight-inch snowstorm hit the region blocking roads and downing phone toll circuits. James Burr Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burr R. Davis, Wayne, was designated by Senator Dwight Griswold for appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. Lloyd Jensen, Wayne, escaped injury Thursday when his car rolled over 3 1/2 miles north of Wayne. Wayne's Future Farmers of America Chapter celebrated its eighth birthday.

15 YEARS AGO
February 26, 1959: Bob Jordan, Carroll, was elected president of the Wayne County 4-H council executive committee at a meeting Monday night at the Wayne courthouse. Hoskins school district patrons voted Friday night to close the district high school and revert to a Class I district. Board President Vernon Chamber reported this week. New pastor at Concordia Lutheran Church, Concord, is Rev. S. E. Peterson, who will deliver his first sermon Sunday morning. Glenn Walker was elected to a one-year term as director at a meeting of Wayne's Isaac Walton Chapter Thursday night at the city hall. Winnebago's Indians upset second-seeded Wayne Prep 52-41 in the first round of the district Class C basketball tournament Monday night at WSTC's new Rice fieldhouse.

10 YEARS AGO
February 27, 1964: Ann Brandenburg, University of Nebraska coed from Wayne, will participate in the 1964 Coed Follies, an all-female variety show Feb. 28 at Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brandenburg. Lauren Boeckenhauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boeckenhauer, Wayne, has been selected to attend the 34th annual National 4-H Conference in Washington, D. C. Work on the Safety belts, when you think about it, it's a nice way to say I love you.

OBSERVATIONS

Interest picking up

Interest in filing for city office in Wayne seems to be picking up as the deadline draws closer.

We are especially happy to see the two latest filings, one by a woman seeking a seat on the city council and one by an experienced school administrator and teacher seeking the job of mayor.

The council has for too long been dominated by men, and it is good to see that at least one woman is going to try to offer a little different view by serving on it. If Mrs. Carolyn Freese succeeds, it will be the first time in many years that a woman has served on the council.

Dr. Freeman Decker, latest person to file for the mayor's job, has a long background in school teaching and administration, some of which could serve him well as mayor. Since he will be retiring from his post at Wayne State College at the end of this school term, he would have considerable time to devote to his job if he ends up the winner.

This is not an endorsement of those two candidates, but simply commentary on some of the things that come to mind when thinking about their filing for office.

We hope that by the time the March 15 filing deadline rolls around there will be many more persons who will have thrown their hats into the local races. The more persons who enter those races, the better chance local residents have of selecting competent people to run the city government.

But for the local residents to have that choice when they go to the ballot box, those hats are going to have to continue flying. If you know of somebody who you think would make a good public official, why not talk to him about it. He just might decide that he has something to offer the city.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

You normally wouldn't consider playing with dynamite, but that's exactly what you're doing if you take a container of gasoline in your car.

Gasoline, like any liquid, actually will not burn, but the vapors that it gives off are extremely flammable, to the point of being explosive. The explosive energy of gasoline is frightfully high — one quart of vaporized gasoline is said to have the potential explosive energy of about three and one-half sticks of dynamite.

Many containers used for the storage of gasoline do not adequately hold the dangerous vapors, allowing them to escape inside the car trunk where they create an explosive condition that can be — and has been — triggered by the slightest spark.

Heat inside the car's trunk can cause vapor pressure inside the gasoline container to build up to 13 pounds per square inch, too high for thin-walled screw-top cans. Gasoline may also "sponge through" many plastic containers — including some which are sold for gasoline.

Turning on the lights, applying the brake or using the directional signals can provide a tiny spark at the base of the tail light bulb in your car's trunk that might cause an explosion.

Gasoline vapors can easily penetrate into the passenger compartment where they can be set off by a lit cigarette or a spark created by using any number of electrical switches — including the horn.

The possibility of a rear-end collision presents an additional hazard if gasoline is carried in your car's trunk. The impact can produce sparks from sources such as shorted wires and even static electricity.

and crop production in the years when irrigation water is on the short side. They admit this themselves and point to such top production years as 1960, 1963 and 1966 to prove their point.

When water storage is abundant, there is a tendency to over-irrigate and waste water, with attendant loss of soil and plant nutrients.

There will be added impetus on the use of re-use pits for both pump and surface irrigation systems. Extensive experiment station work in the best use of irrigation water has developed techniques which show that farmers with scheduled irrigation and better management can save as much as 25 per cent and more of their pumping costs without sacrificing yields.

Look for better use of fertilizers. When fertilizers were relatively low priced, farmers were inclined to over-fertilize. They will put renewed emphasis on soil testing with resultant savings in fertilizer costs. They will make better use of their barnyard manure and get that three to five pounds of nitrogen per ton of manure back on their fields more efficiently.

With feed costs for protein and protein substitutes high priced, look for farmers to go back to raising more alfalfa. Many already have, with added benefits in improved health, nitrogen gains and other advantages of alfalfa back in the crop rotation picture. Some of Nebraska's best farmers have continued to practice good crop rotations during the "chemical farming" years and more will be joining them as a matter of necessity.

There will be more emphasis on holding the rainfall on the land where it falls, with accompanying savings in topsoil, fertilizer and valuable soil moisture supplies. More farmers will be saving both soil and water by further adaptation of minimum tillage practices. There will be more reliance on the disc and the lister than on the plow, and they will suit these practices to their own individual farming and crop requirements.

Farmers and ranchers have already shown they can make good use of the research in improved pasture and range management to produce more pounds of beef per acre. They will make better use of their crop residues to expand their cow-calf herds. They will save more calves and get more pigs per litter through new techniques and better management.

With machinery high priced and scarce, they will repair and improve to get better use of what they have, just as they did during World War II. And they will reduce their costs of inflation in the process.

They will do it all and more, just as long as they have a chance for a reasonable profit for their labors and ingenuity. But slap government controls on their commodity prices and ruin their markets with export controls, and there will be domestic and world food shortages, because controls do nothing to increase supplies or to decrease demand. There is opportunity for a new era in agriculture and saving the "family farm" simply by letting the farmer do his "thing" as he knows better than anyone else in the world how to do it.

FUTURES MEETING

We had a very interesting futures meeting at the National Guard Armory last week, with about 35 people in attendance. From questions asked at the meeting, there seems to be a lack of understanding of what the futures market plays in our agriculture marketing system. I can't say I blame any one for this misunderstanding because I certainly don't understand it all either.

Many people do not understand the difference between hedging and speculating in the futures market. They are not the same, but are distinctly different.

At the risk of oversimplification, speculating is buying and selling futures of a commodity which the trader does not own. Hedging is buying and selling futures of a commodity which he does own. As was brought out in the meeting, the average farmer has no business speculating, but hedging may be a very good management tool as part of his marketing program.

Why Use Futures?

Replacement of Area Bridges is Planned

Bridges in Wayne and Dixon Counties have received a priority rating of three, meaning they will be replaced within the next three or four years, reports the State Board of Public Roads Classifications and Standards. The bridges are the ones two miles north and two and three-quarter miles east of Wayne in Wayne County and the one and a half mile north and three-quarter west of Wakefield in Dixon County.

The Wayne County bridge is expected to cost $87,000 to replace while the one in Dixon County will cost approximately $69,000. Half the funds for the construction projects, will be financed with county funds, the other half with funds from the State-Aid Bridge Fund, a fund created by legislative action last year to provide assistance to counties for the replacement of critically deficient bridges.

The two bridges are among 30 bridges in 31 counties listed for replacement according to priority, the state board said. The bridges were determined to be the most critical ones from 105 applications submitted to the Department of Roads.

Pop's Partners

Pop's Partners 4-H Club held their organizational meeting Feb. 20 at 8 p.m. in the Francis Muller home. Thirteen members answered roll by naming their project for the year. One guest and seven parents were also present.

An invitation was read from the Pals and Partners 4-H Club to attend a skating party March 17.

Officers for the year are Douglas Fischer, president; Susan Holm, vice president; Patty Domsch, secretary; Verdel Ekberg, treasurer; and Debbie Domsch, news reporter.

Leaders are Mrs. Verle Holm and Mrs. Lawrence Ekberg, sewing and cooking; Harold Fischer, dairy cattle; Francis Muller, beef cattle and swine; and William Domsch, horses.

Members decided to meet the third Tuesday of each month. Next meeting will be March 19 at 8 p.m. in the A. D. Brown home.

Value of Soybeans Continues Climbing

Soybean production in Nebraska has quadrupled in the last 10 years, according to Ralph Jackson, executive vice president of the American Soybean Association (ASA).

"But during the same period of time, the value of the crop has grown from $23 million ten years ago to $196 million in 1973," said Jackson at the annual meeting of the state soybean association in Lincoln.

It might be possible to maintain this growth rate, but continued growth is an uphill battle in any industry, he said. Rape seed meal, coltonseed meal, fish meal and other natural proteins are making a strong push to grab part of the soybean meal market, he noted.

"Your market development program is working," he noted. It is giving soybean farmers a profitable cash crop that helps balanced production schedules.

New Premiums May Up Entries in State Fair Contest

Two new premiums will make the 1974 Nebraska State Fair Muscle Efficiency (M.E.) Contest more attractive to pork producers, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension swine specialist Bill Ahlswede has announced.

Pork producers must indicate their intention to enter the contest by March 15, using an enrollment card available from county extension offices. Pigs must be farrowed on or after March 18 to be eligible, Ahlswede said.

The contest, sponsored by the Nebraska State Fair and the Nebraska Pork Producers Association, is open to all Nebraska pork producers.

"This is a carcass contest which combines growth and carcass merit by placing pigs on pounds of ham and loin per day of age," Ahlswede explained. To qualify, pigs must be enrolled and fatoaded at birth by extension or Pork Producer personnel.

Two new premiums will be added to the winnings available in this year's contest. In addition to the State Fair premium of at least $200 and a plaque from the Nebraska Pork Producers, premiums will be provided by the Nebraska Hampshire Breeders and the Nebraska Duroc Breeders.

The Hampshire Breeders are adding $100 in prize money, and the Duroc breeders will give $25 to any Duroc or half-Duroc pig placing in the top 10. The Duroc Breeders also will provide $10 to each exhibitor who brings a Duroc M.E. pig and $5 to those bringing a half Duroc M.E. pig to the State Fair, provided that the sire or dam is a purebred Duroc owned or purchased from a member of the Nebraska Association.

The NU livestock specialist outlined other entry procedures: a maximum of 10 pigs may be fatoaded per owner, two of which may be entered in the contest ("owner" is defined as one corporation, family, etc. where animals are run as one herd); pigs cannot be from more than two litters; entry fee is one dollar per pig fatoaded with a minimum of five dollars; each participant must make an entry to the State Fair before the deadline in August.

Additional regulations include: pigs eligible for the contest must be reported within 24 hours after birth; all pigs must be earmarked at or by the time of fatooing; only male pigs castrated by four weeks of age are eligible; pigs may be of any breed or cross, but purebred breeders will be allowed to show only purebred animals. Hog carcasses must meet certain minimum requirements to be eligible for final awards. Additional information can be obtained from Ahlswede or from Bob Frittschen, swine specialist at the Northeast Station near Concord.

Exon Selects Former Resident

A former Wayne resident, Mrs. Elaine Schmadeke of Dakota City, has been appointed by Governor J. James Exon to the Nebraska Drug Commission.

Mrs. Schmadeke, named to a four-year term on the commission, was a 1972 candidate for the state legislature. She has been Dakota County chairman of highway safety and has served on a state legislative study committee on highway safety.

Management of Reduced Tillage Corn Production Systems

Extension Agronomists, Northeast Station, Concord

With the 1974 crop year approaching, many farmers are making plans for the management of their cropland acres. The costs of several of the inputs are much different this year than they were last year; namely, fuel, fertilizer and the cost and availability of machinery are of prime consideration this crop year.

Probably the reduction of costs of production is the single most important part of management this year. "Reduced Tillage Methods" are one of the changes in production methods that can cut costs in fuel, time and machinery.

These are some of the recommendations from George Rehm and Russ Moomaw, Extension Agronomists from the Northeast Station, at Concord.

Results of a recent survey indicate that most Nebraska farmers now use some form of minimum tillage. The survey indicated that only 21 per cent of Nebraska's 1974 corn acreage will be plowed. Plowing is more predominant as a soil preparation method in northeast Nebraska than in other geographic areas of Nebraska, however.

- Minimum tillage is used in many forms including:
1. Single pass operations such as the till-plant.
 2. Slot-planting or no-till.
 3. Disking and surface planting.

The plow, a high consumer of energy requiring some 19 horsepower-hours per acre, is eliminated with minimum tillage. With less fuel available in the current energy crisis, there is a critical need for doing more work with each gallon of fuel.

Lowell Johnson, Wakefield, has been using a reduced tillage system for several years. This picture shows the use of a minimum till planter. The only operation on this field prior to planting was the shredding of the previous year's corn stalk residue.

This picture shows the residue remaining after corn planting with a minimum-till planter used on the Merlin-Heinemann farm. This residue protects the soil from wind and erosion.

WEED CONTROL WITH MINIMUM TILLAGE

Weed control is essential in any corn tillage system. Nebraska research at the Northeast Station has demonstrated that weed control can be achieved in minimum tillage corn systems while conserving 1) time, 2) labor, 3) energy, 4) soil moisture and 5) soil. Here are some tips on how to do it in three reduced tillage systems.

1. Till-Plant
 1. Properly adjust the planter. Apply a banded herbicide at planting time.
 2. Use a heavy duty cultivator. If weed growth is light, use only one cultivation. That would be a lay-by, ridging operation to form the ridge for next year's planting.
 3. With late planted corn, grain sorghum, or soybeans, you may need to apply a herbicide before planting to kill existing weeds. Paraquat or 2,4-D can be used for corn and grain sorghum, but use only Paraquat to burn off grass and broadleaf weeds before soybean planting.
2. Slot-Plant or No-Till
 1. Weed control is more dependent on herbicides because only a 3 to 4 inch band of soil is mechanically disturbed with slot planting.

2. Use a preplant herbicide like 2, 4-D or Paraquat to destroy weeds present at planting.
3. Cultivate once or twice as needed to control weeds
3. Disk and Surface Plant
 1. Expect more weed problems when the soil is prepared for planting by disking rather than plowing.
 2. Increase the herbicide rate 1/2 to 1 times that used on plowed ground.
 3. Preplant soil incorporated herbicides appear to work well where more plant-residue is left on the soil surface by disking.

FERTILIZER MANAGEMENT AND MINIMUM TILLAGE

Fertilizer management for minimum tillage corn is really not much different from fertilizer management for corn planted by the conventional system. However, the results from tests at the Northeast Experiment Station show that there are some points that need to be stressed.

- These are listed below.
1. Time of Nitrogen Application
When corn was planted, on a non-sandy soil, the use of preplant nitrogen produced higher yields when compared with the same rate of nitrogen used as a sidedress treatment. This was true for corn planted with minimum or reduced tillage. The sidedress nitrogen produced higher yields when the corn was planted with the conventional system.
 2. Use of a Starter Fertilizer
The use of a starter fertilizer is usually important for all corn production in northeast Nebraska. This practice is even more important for corn planted with minimum tillage practices. The starter fertilizer should be placed below the seed or to the side of and below the seed.

There is some interest in mixing the starter fertilizer with a herbicide and spraying this in a band on the soil surface. This practice provides good herbicide placement, but the corn receives very little benefit from the fertilizer on the soil surface. Herbicides can be mixed with nitrogen solutions and either broadcast or applied in a band. This is an especially good practice on sandy soils. However, herbicides should not be mixed with liquid fertilizer that contains phosphorus.

ADDITIONAL MANAGEMENT TIPS
Planting depth will vary with the type of soil, moisture content and date of planting. At the Northeast Experiment Station, the corn is generally planted from 1 1/2 to 2 in. deep. For early planting, the corn should be planted at about 1 1/2 in.

By Rowan Wiltsie

"One thorn of experience is worth a whole wilderness of warning."
 Lowell

Life has no shortage of warnings each day. Bring a new supply, in newspapers, on radio and TV, even on cigarette packages. Warnings come from friends, the news, and the government, from pupil and public address system.

Perhaps their very profusion is the reason these warnings, though usually valid, are seldom heeded. People, being human, seem determined to ignore them, mostly by experience, however painful.

We are available to discuss with you any aspect of funeral services, including prices. The cost of a funeral is determined entirely by the desires of the family.

'Federal Government, Gas Crisis Slowing Road Improvements'

The saying that Nebraska is the "land where the East peters out" is popular among drivers because Nebraska is known as one of the nation's leaders in poor roads and highways, a state official told Wayne Kiwanians Monday.

There are several factors hindering completion of Nebraska's one-and-six-year road program that calls for improvement of the state's paved and non-paved roads, said Jim Pearson of Norfolk, highway liaison officer for the state Department of Roads.

One of those factors is getting enough federal revenue to help build roads, he said. The federal government has stopped payment of $69 million due this year for road improvement this year, Pearson is not sure of the reason, although he suspects it has to do with forcing the state to lower its speed limit to 55 miles per hour during the energy crisis.

The state is taking the case to court to force release of the funds; but until Nebraska gets the money some road improvements are going to be held up, he said.

Freezing of those funds will affect several road projects in the Wayne area, said Pearson, a native of Concord. Among them is the 9.3 mile stretch of gravel road between Carroll and Highway 20 that was due to be worked on this summer. It will have to be delayed since bid letting, originally scheduled for March, is not expected until July or August. Work on Highway 15, 3 miles north of Wayne may get underway in 1974 if funds are available, and Highway 35 from Hoskins to Norfolk may be finished by 1978.

But the federal government isn't responsible for all the blame in the current slowdown of road improvements, Pearson pointed out. Other major factors include inflation and the energy crisis.

With the increase in gasoline costs, fewer drivers are taking to the road. That is resulting in less gas being bought and a decrease in gas tax funds. Every driver who buys gas is taxed 8 1/2 cents to help pay for roads and highways, and if the total amount of gasoline sold goes down, so does the amount collected in taxes, Pearson said.

Travelers in Northeast Nebraska may get a break in road improvements if a current study proves the need for an interstate highway from Waterlown, S. D., to Abilene, Kan. According to Pearson, the proposed highway would parallel Highway 81 — the closest it would reach Wayne.

"We hope to know if it is feasible to build the highway by Jan. 1, 1975 when an independent company gives us the results," he said. The study started in 1973.

Pearson gave the Kiwanians an insight into the workings of the state highway system when he presented a film titled "Getting There," a film which explores the needs and uses of Nebraska's highways.

Allen Churches Plan World Day of Prayer

On Friday Allen churches will celebrate World Day of Prayer with the theme, "Makes Us Builders of Peace."

Mrs. Clifford Lindgren will deliver the message. She will be assisted by ladies of the First Lutheran Church in presenting the afternoon program.

A special offering will be taken for intercontinental mission. Primary focus this year will be a contribution to an international fund for rehabilitation and reconciliation to which women in other countries contribute.

A social hour will follow in the church parlors.

Since Dec. 22, all mattresses and mattress pads produced are required to be cigarette-fire resistant. This test is used since ignited cigarettes are the major cause of mattress fires.

Labeling regulations for mattress pads stipulate that any pad treated with a chemical fire retardant or containing any fire retardant treated components must be labeled "T". All treated pads must include precautionary instructions for washing and care.

There will still be mattresses and mattress pads on the market that were made before this legislature standard went into effect. Thus, reading the labels is a necessity if the consumer wants this fire retardant protection. The fire retardant mattress pad would be a safety measure for the consumer's present mattress which might still be in good condition.

In Irish folklore, a beneficent being who wards off diseases was referred to as Evil.

BE HONEST WITH YOUR HEALTH

Too often, people will try to convince themselves that very evident symptoms of an illness do not really exist or will disappear if they will just forget about them. This type of attitude can only lead to more serious problems in the long run. A disease in its earliest stages is usually much easier to treat and cure.

Never be afraid to find out about something that is bothering you. Most often your doctor will be able to diagnose your problem quickly. Then, not only will you be feeling better physically but you will have great mental relief as well.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly—without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.
