Bornhoff's Name Removed From Primary Ballot

Wayne County attorney Budd Bornhoff, who filed in late January as an Independent candidate for his office, will not be listed on the primary election ballots.

Bornhoff's name won't appear on the ballots because persons seeking any political offices on the county level, have to be affiliated with a political party, according to county clerk Norris Weible.

Weible said Tuesday that he checked Monday with the secretary of state's office in Lincoln after discovering over the week-

Board Okays Carroll School Remodeling

By NORVIN HANSEN

The Wayne-Carroll school board Monday night approved remodeling of the elementary school at Carroll.

The unanimous approval of the work ends several months of deliberation by the board as to whether the school should be remodeled or closed or whether a new facility should be built there.

Board president Irvin Brandt noted during discussion of the remodeling project that the board will continue studying the enrollment at Carroll to make sure keeping the school open is in the best interests of the children attending school there.

"He said the school will be kept open, but 'different conditions' might prompt the board to decide to close it."

The board approved work to be done on the roof, ceilings, windows and floors in the Carroll school.

Superintendent Francis Haun said he is not sure how much it will cost to remodel those portions of the building, which he said are most in need of attention. He noted that school district employees will be able to do a large portion of the work this summer.

He said the roof work may cost between $900 and $1,100 and work on the ceilings in the two rooms will cost about $357 each for materials. Total cost is not expected to exceed $10,000, he said.

Several meetings ago, an architect told the board it could cost as much as $40,000 for a major remodeling project at the school.

Several persons from the Carroll area attended the meeting, noting that they are most concerned about the long bus rides for the young children if the school is closed.

They presented a petition signed by more than 260 persons from the Carroll area urging the board to keep the school open. Many persons were not contacted to ask if they wanted to sign the petition, they said.

Also during the meeting the board learned that Wayne High senior Gina Stulthman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stulthman of rural Wayne, has been named a University of Nebraska Regents scholarship winner. Eleven seniors were named as alternates, an unusually high number, according to superintendent Haun.

The board also: —Heard Haun explain that the state aid to public schools bill passed by the legislature could result in a drop of 18 to 20 mills when it is fully funded in 1976.

—Approved Haun's seeking bids for bleachers for the high school auditorium. The bleachers could cost as much as $30,000, Haun said.

—Voted to hire all the teachers in the school system for the 1974-75 school year. Salary negotiations between the board and teachers are still underway.

—Hired two new teachers, Cynthia Peterson of West Point for special education and Keith Kopperud of Westbrook, Minn., for middle school instrumental music.

—Accepted low bid from Tom's Music House in Norfolk for an Instapiano. Bid was $315, about $35 lower than the other bidder, Mollet Music Co. of Yankton.

School Board Okays Hiring Two Teachers

Two teachers have been hired for the 1974-75 school year in the Wayne-Carroll school system, one of them to fill a teaching job that has been vacant this year.

Hired Monday night by the school board were Keith Kopperud of Westbrook, Minn., as middle school instrumental music teacher and Cynthia Peterson of West Point as special education teacher.

Kopperud, who will graduate in May from Morningside College in Sioux City, will teach instrumental music in grades five through eight and one class of general music. The post he will fill was left vacant at the start of this school year after superintendent Francis Haun received few applications for the job.

Kopperud, 22, graduated from high school in 1970 at Westbrook. He is majoring in music education and minoring in history at Morningside.

Peterson, 21, will be special education teacher in grades five through 12, filling the post which will be left open when Joan Longley leaves this spring after one year in the school system.

Although she now lives at West Point, Miss Peterson graduated in 1970 from Wakefield High School. She and her parents lived there for nine years before moving to West Point, where her father is a USDA inspector at Iowa Beef Processors.

To graduate in May from Kearney State College with a major in elementary education and a special education endorsement, she has been a teacher's aid in several schools which work with trainable children.

The school board was informed Monday night that one of the two elementary teachers at Carroll has resigned effective the end of the present school year.

She is Karla Meisinger, third and fourth grade teacher.

Her resignation brings to five the number of teachers currently in the system who will not be returning next fall.

Besides Miss Longley and Mrs. Meisinger, those not returning are Jean Owens, curriculum modifier; Inez Boeckner, kindergarten, and Anna Behmer, third grade. Mrs. Boeckner and Mrs. Behmer See TEACHERS, page 6

It's Carnival Time Again

EVERYBODY'S INVITED to Friday night's AFS carnival at the Wayne High School auditorium. Working on signs advertising the event, last held in 1971, are Mary Fernau and Patty Barclay. Two of several students who turned out Saturday afternoon to get everything ready. Planned to raise money for the American Field Service, the organization which helps sponsor a foreign exchange student at Wayne High each year, the carnival will feature a variety of booths — dart throw, squirt the candle, fish pond, penny pitch, spook house and the like. The carnival will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Teri Bigelow, a junior at Wayne High, is overall chairman.

Area young people with special talents have one more day to enter the Wayne Lions Club talent contest to be held Tuesday night.

About 15 youths had entered the contest by the middle of this week. Deadline for entries is Friday.

The sponsor of the local contest, open to youths through 18 years of age, also will sponsor the district contest to be held in Wayne on April 28.

Division winners in Tuesday night's contest, slated for 7:30 at the Wayne High School lecture hall, will advance to the district contest, with winners there going on to the state level. Special plaques will be awarded top contestants in the two contests scheduled for Wayne.

The four divisions in the contest are elementary (nine years and under), junior (10-12), intermediate (13-15) and senior (16 through 18).

Listening Intently

LITTLE MARY ANN KAY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kay of Wayne, listens closely to the heartbeat of Mrs. Rodney Reeg at the Wayne County Jaycees' booth at last weekend's annual Farm and Home Show. The three-day show featured a variety of booths — everything from cleaning products to handiwork of members of the local Senior Citizens Center. Winning the three $25 cash prizes given away by the Jaycees, show sponsor, were Wayne residents Mrs. Albert Soules, Dorothy Nelson and Jerry Reeg. Chairman of the show was Rodney Reeg. His assistants were Bob Woehler and Dale Preston.

County Residents Get Glimpse of Zoning

About 40 persons turned out Tuesday night at Winside to learn more about what rural zoning means.

Present for the meeting were Wayne County commissioners Joe Wilson, Floyd Burt and Ken Eddie, who scheduled the meeting to get an idea as to whether the residents of the county want to go ahead with county wide zoning.

Gene Sturm, a planner with the state Office of Planning and Programming, and Steve Martin, director of the Mid-Ekhorh Council of Governments, told the group that rural zoning in Wayne County could cost between $12,000 and $15,000. It would cost more than that but the city of Wayne already has a comprehensive plan and zoning in effect.

Commissioner Floyd Burt said after the meeting that he plans to attend a meeting of the Pierce County planning commission to find out how residents of that county feel about county wide zoning. Pierce County is currently in the process of drawing up a comprehensive plan in preparation for zoning the county. That project is expected to cost about $19,000.

What he finds out during that meeting and what he learns from talking with officials in other counties who have adopted rural zoning will better enable him to make a decision on whether to vote in favor of rural zoning, Burt said.

"I really think zoning is something that can work in the rural areas," Burt said during the meeting. He noted that he is in favor of rural zoning because it is "the coming thing," but he said he probably would not vote in favor of it if the rural residents opposed it.

Burt noted that Wayne County is the only county in the Mid Ekhorh Valley Council of Governments which does not have rural zoning. There are five counties in the council.

He said Hoskins is an example of a community which should be planning its growth through a comprehensive plan and land use zoning. Hoskins is going to keep on growing now that the large steel mill has been built between Hoskins and Norfolk, and the growth will be uncontrolled without planning, he said.

Meyer Final Vagabond Winner

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Meyer became the eighth and final winner in the Vagabond Vacation contest this week when Meyer's name was picked from among the 27 preliminary winners drawn by participating Wayne businesses.

The rural Wakefield couple doesn't have any plans right now as to where they will spend their two nights at any Ramada Inn or Holiday Inn in the United States, Canada or Mexico, but they do have up to six months to decide.

Bunny Is Coming

Wayne youngsters are reminded that the furry fellow with long ears will be in town this Sunday. His visit is being made possible by the Chi Omega Sorority, Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity and various local businesses who have made donations for the annual Easter egg hunt.

Children are to bring their own baskets and meet at Bressler Park at 12:30 p.m. In case of rain, the hunt will be held at West Elementary School.

Youngsters will be grouped according to age and sent out in search of about 6,000 candy eggs. Prizes will be awarded in each age group for the best costumes, most eggs and special eggs.

Claudia Eilbeck and Veronica Markey, Chi Omega members, are co-chairmen for the event this year.

Area Lady Nearly Wins $375 'Bucks' Drawing

A rural Wakefield woman came within three days of winning $375 in Birthday Bucks during last Thursday night's drawing.

Had Mrs. Diana Greve been born on Jan. 12, 1946 instead of Jan. 15, she would have won that grand prize. Since she was three days off, she settled for the $25 consolation prize.

Mrs. Greve, who farms with her husband south of Wakefield, was in Swanson Television when the winning date was announced in all participating firms at 8:15 p.m.

Since the grand prize was not claimed last week, it climbs to $400 tonight (Thursday), with the prize going to the person whose birthday matches the date drawn at random earlier. If the grand prize goes unclaimed another week, a consolation prize of $25 in Birthday Bucks will be awarded again.

Area residents need not purchase anything or register for the weekly drawings, but they must be present in one of the sponsoring places of business in order to win.

All employees are now eligible to win in the drawings, even those working on Thursday evenings. However, no business owners or managers may win, whether they belong to the See DRAWING, page 6

EXTENSION NOTES

A Laundry Aid

Most people have tried enzymes and have found them to be a hard-working laundry aid, but like all laundry aids there are things enzymes can do and things they can't do.

An enzyme is an organic chemical which acts as a helper in breaking down spots and stains so water and detergent can do a better job of working out the stain. The enzyme action is intended to assist the effectiveness of other washing products, not to be a substitute for them.

Enzymes are most effective in helping remove protein-based stains. They work well on stains caused by chocolate, baby food, gravies, milk and meat juices. They also help remove grass and blood stains. Enzyme products can be used on certain manmade fibers and colored fabrics where chlorine bleach cannot be used.

Enzymes should not be expected to remove all stains. A chlorine or an oxygen bleach will work better on stains such as lipstick, coffee, tea or mustard.

Enzyme products should not be used with a chlorine bleach because chlorine deactivates the enzymes. Use each product separately because each has a separate job to do. Use proper amounts and follow package directions. Using too much enzyme usually is not harmful to clothes, but it does waste the product. Using too much chlorine bleach is both wasteful and harmful to the fabrics.

Early gliders had to be towed by early cars to get off the ground. They were really up in the air.

Allen's Four-Run Explosion In the Sixth Nails Trojans

Allen High exploded for four runs in the top of the sixth inning and held on for another inning and a half to beat Wakefield, 5-3, Tuesday at Wakefield, in the first baseball game for both clubs.

Eagle shortstop Scott VonMinden opened the gate for the visitors when he ripped a triple into right center before center fielder Darwin Ruback slapped a single to tie the game at 2-2. But Ruback's stay on base was short as the Trojans came up with a double play when third baseman Loren Book slapped a grounder to Wakefield shortstop Doug Soderberg who nailed second and tossed the ball to first.

Don Kluever's single kept the inning alive by stealing second to set up the go-ahead run when Randy Lanser singled for his second RBI.

Relief pitcher Roger Anderson tripled to score Lanser for a 4-2 ball game before Neil Blohm closed Allen's scoring with a double to drive in Anderson.

In the second inning Allen opened the ball game with a 1-0 lead after Kluever made it to home from second on Lanser's first single. Kluever raced to second on a double that almost scored Allen's initial run. Ruback first started out with a single, then tried to take home on Kluever's double, but an alert Wakefield defense stopped him at home plate on a tag by catcher Keith Siebrandt.

Wakefield scored in the fourth frame when Doug Soderberg tripled to right field. Allen's Anderson, covering third at the time, let the ball get past him to be ruled in favor of the base runner advancing one base.

The following frame, when Anderson took over the mound, Wakefield started taking advantage of the senior's high throws to load the bases.

Anderson retired Mike Soderberg and Dan Byers but had trouble with Chuck Wageman and Tim Rouse, walking both. Siebrandt loaded the bags when VonMinden erred, and then Doug Soderberg walked for a 2-1 lead.

Wakefield's only run batted in came in the bottom of the sixth when Jerry Munter doubled to bring home Doug Fischer for the final 5-3 score.

Allen hurler Paul Snyder, who started only one game last year, got the win after going four innings. He allowed one run on two hits. Reliever Anderson allowed two runs on two hits. Wakefield's seasoned pitcher, Bruce Paul, got the loss after going five frames, allowing one run on four hits. Keith Siebrandt, finished the game, giving up four runs on seven hits.

The Trojans take on Bancroft at home today (Thursday). Game time is 4:30 p.m. Allen's next contest is Tuesday in a home match against Wayne, slated to start at 4 p.m.

ALLEN'S DARWIN Ruback rounds third base in his attempt to put the Eagles on the scoreboard, but the center fielder was tagged out by Wakefield catcher Keith Siebrandt.

Winside Whips Stanton, Newcastle in Triangular

For the first time in Winside's track history the school beat a Husker Conference squad in a track meet. And rather convincingly.

The Wildcats topped both Newcastle and Husker league member Stanton in a triangular Monday at Stanton, scoring 65 points to Newcastle's 59 and Stanton's 51.

Underclassmen gave the club its biggest boost by scoring the majority of points.

Junior Gregg Lage led the club with a record-setting pace in the mile, beating his school's old mark by about two seconds. Lage ran the distance in 4:45.4 to better Dale Vanosdall's time of 4:47.5 set in 1970. Lage also won the 800 and ran on the winning mile relay club.

Junior Dwight Lienemann won the 100-yard low hurdles after finishing second in the 60-yard hurdles. Sophomore Dave Mann came in first in the 440 in :56.2 and ran on the mile relay team.

The freshmen quartet of Terry Hawkins, Neil Wagner, Kevin Cleveland and Roger Wells came in second in the two mile relay in another example of coach Carter "Cap" Peterson's underclassmen power.

Seniors Jeff Farran and Steve Brummels were the only two seniors to score. Brummels took first in the two mile and placed third in the mile while Farran placed second in the long and triple jump.

Senior sprint veteran Larry Weible, who did not run last week due to a foot operation, will be out for the season, Peterson said. Weible is scheduled to have a knee operation this Saturday.

Friday afternoon Winside will join three other area track clubs—Wayne, Wakefield and Laurel—at the Plainview invitational. All together there will be 39 Class C schools and 11 Class B teams competing.

WS Matmen In AAU Meet

Four Wayne wrestlers, Mike Reidman, Jim Meyer, Herb Harris, and Vince Emery, participated in this past weekend's Great Plains AAU wrestling championships.

There were two types of wrestling styles performed, freestyle and Greco-Roman. The Wayne participants competed in the freestyle competition only.

Vince Emery suffered a separated elbow in the first 15 seconds of his match to prevent him from going on in the event. Of the other three Wayne entrants, Mike Reidman was the only one to get a place. He finished 4th in the 125-pound division.

Reidman commented, "The other guys got some tough competition by way of the draw."

Wrestlers from all over the Midwest competed in the event, making it hard to get to the top. The freestyle method of wrestling is quite different from the basic collegiate form of wrestling. For a wrestler to be pinned, he must only have his shoulder blades touch the canvas, with no chance to get out of the predicament. The scoring includes one point for a take down, no points for an escape, and one point for a reversal.

Roster Revealed For North Squad

The 12-player roster for the North All-Star basketball team doesn't include any area players, but it does have a fine bevy of guards who may be the backbone of Fremont coach Al Bahe's club for the sixth Nebraska Coaches Association Basketball Game.

Trojans Lacking Seniors for Golf

Wakefield golf coach Lytle Trullinger will be minus seniors on his squad when the team heads into its first meet Monday against Stanton at Wakefield.

On this year's squad are juniors John Polen, Mike Johnson and Dennis Byers; sophomores Kerry Bressler, Bennett Salmon, Alan Johnson and Steve Pospisil, and freshman Ryan Trullinger.

The rest of the schedule: April 11—at Pender; 24—Winer-Pilger at Beemer; 29—at Oakland-Craig tournament; May 2—Oakland-Craig; 9—Husker Conference tournament.

THE NEBRASKA Track and Cross Country Coaches Association, formed last week, has some high-spirited members but it will take a lot of extra work by a lot of high school coaches to make it work.

Purpose of the organization is to promote fan and school interest in both boys and girls track and cross country. According to Carler Peterson, head track coach at Winside High School, the association offers a lot more than just promotion. "Many clinics for coaches are being planned on such topics as the long jump and freestyle relays," he noted.

Just how effective the new organization will be is the big question mark, Peterson said. After the initial meeting last week in Omaha to draw up a constitution, the association is still trying to get up on its feet. "We need more members," said Peterson, head-of-the-developing membership in Northeast Nebraska.

Once the group gets going it hopes to circulate information on new and old high school track records as well as some of the top prospects in girls and boys track.

Included in the plans is circulation of information on dual, triangular as well as invitational track meets. Usually invitations are covered pretty well by the daily newspapers, Peterson pointed out, but many coaches would like more information about duals.

The next meeting will be April 29 at the Holiday Inn in Fremont. Track coaches interested in learning more about the association may contact Peterson at his Wayne address.

AFTER LAST week's Second Guessers' banquet honoring both Wayne State and Wayne High athletes and student managers, those in charge of the pork feed and the sponsors deserve a pat on the back.

A lot of the members helped put the show together, but two of them, Rowan Willse and Dale Gutshall, deserve special recognition. Those who helped sponsor the event include Bud Froehlich, Dr. Wayne Wessel, Cal Comstock, Wayne County Public Power District, Robert Merchant, Wayne Energy Systems, Radio KTCH, State National Bank, First National Bank, Associated Insurance and Investment, State National Farm Management, Broughton Food Service, Jim Keating, Fat Kal, Gutshall and Willse.

AS MOST men and women bowlers know, the season is rapidly coming to a close. For those teams which won their leagues, we want to congratulate them and get their pictures.

The best time to shoot the pictures would be the night of the playoffs, if one is needed to decide a league winner. That way we could get information in the paper as soon as possible without having to wait for a banquet, which is usually held about two to three weeks after the league has ended. League secretaries or members of possible league winners should give us a call, telling us when the league will end so we can set up a time for taking team pictures.

WHILE ON the subject of bowling, this week's roundup story on the St. Mary's Men's Bowling Tournament has some interesting sidelights. Of the 65 teams entered, 18 rolled 3,000 or better. Unusual to say the least, but it also speaks highly of the caliber of competition. Thanks to tournament secretary Harold Murray for keeping us on top of the standings for teams, singles, doubles and all-events during the five-week tournament. Without him the job of keeping you informed would have been impossible.

Tennis Team

This Saturday

Wayne State tennis coach Wes Fritz has a welcome problem in advance of the season opener here Saturday with the University of South Dakota.

He has three or four strong candidates for the No. 1 position. Russ Kirkpatrick of Onawa, and Rick Noyes of Norfolk appear to be the top candidates now. Letterman Dan Rose of Wayne, sometimes No. 1 last year, could challenge. And a returned top player, Vince Emery, a high school state champion at Omaha South, will go for the No. 1 spot when he recovers from an arm injury. He has been away from college two years.

Other contenders for the six singles berths are Doug Poehlman, a letterman from Wayne, George Stuck of Onawa, and Julie Spencer of Rock Island, Ill. Doug Gooder, Omaha, and Dennis Urbanos, Sioux City, are doubles prospects.

The Wayne State schedule: April — 4, University of South Dakota; 11, at Nebraska Wesleyan; 20, at Omaha, at University of South Dakota; 26, Concordia; 29, at Midland; 30, Doane. May — 1, Buena Vista; 3, Morningside; 6, NAIA District at Fremont.

Devils Have Four Starters Off Last Year's 12-1 Team

Four returning starters on Wayne High's baseball team could help coach Mike Mallette make his sixth trip to the state Class B baseball tournament in seven years.

Seniors Bill Schwartz, Gordie Cook, Kim Baker and junior Earle Overin give the Blue Devil club part of the needed infield strength as well as some depth in the outfield.

Schwartz, who played catcher and first base last year, will take those positions again this year. He will be joined in the infield by Overin, playing second when not on the mound, and shortstop Baker. Cook will take a spot in the outfield.

Of the 17 players out this year, eight are lettermen, including the four starters. Junior Mike Meyer will alternate with Schwartz either on first or behind the plate; sophomore Paul Mallette will play second in addition to pitching; senior Kerry Jech, who did not see continuous action last year, steps out to left field; junior Dave Nuss will man third base and may see some duty as shortstop.

The Devils will have one other pitcher, sophomore Dave Hix. Although Mallette will have many new faces on the team, he believes he will have a "real good ball club. If we're tough on the mound, we'll be tough on beat."

Leading the team at the plate will be the club's No. 1 hitter in 1973, Cook, who had an average .400 average. Jech posted a .578 average but did not play every game.

Mallette noted that it will be tough to match last year's 12-1 record, which included a district championship. Teams like Allen, Wayne's winning string was stopped last year when State Class B winner Omaha Gross knocked off the Devils in semifinal action.

For the present, Mallette is not looking beyond his season opening game against Homer today (Thursday) at Wayne. The squad travels to Allen Tuesday. Both games start at 4 p.m.

The rest of the schedule: April 11—at Hooper-Logan View; 16—at Wakefield; 17—Hooper-Logan View; 22—at Bancroft; 25—Allen; 29—Elgin Pope John; May 1—Wakefield; 6—Bancroft; 8—at Homer.

Local Track Team Sweeps Triangular

Junior Gordon Emry captured first in the long jump, triple jump, low hurdles and high hurdles to lead Wayne High's track team to a triangular victory at Hartington-Cedar Catholic and Randolph Monday at Randolph.

Emry leaped 19.4½ in the long jump and 40.7 in the triple jump to nearly equal school records. He raced through the 120-yard high hurdles in :16.3 and the 180-yard lows in :22.5.

The Devils piled up 74 points to Hartington CC's 59 and Randolph's 45.

The 880-yard relay team of Dick Chapman, Mark Brandt, Marty Hansen and Rod Workman, also came close to a school record with a 1:38.7 clocking—only three seconds off the school mark to win that event.

Senior Jim Brasch nearly erased a school mark in the 440 when he finished second with a :54.9, three seconds off the record.

WS Gridders to Face Alumni

Spring football practice at Wayne State College will end Saturday, with a 2 p.m. game matching the varsity against an alumni team of recent graduates.

Coach Del Stoltenberg has drilled his squad since March 18, with most of the 1973 regulars back except five who are playing baseball. Those five happen to be key players: wingback Dean Ott; last year's most valuable player on offense: quarterback Rick Benedetto and Tim Denham, defensive backs Brent Moeller and Nick Danze.

Stoltenberg said the varsity will use pretty much the same offense and defense that took Wayne to a 6-2 season last fall. But there will be a few new wrinkles to keep the alumni alert. The coach said a year ago the varsity beat the grads 7-6.

This year's game will eliminate kickoffs and returns of punts to reduce the risk of injury, Stoltenberg said.

Softball Team Still Undefeated

Wayne State's women's softball team beat Midland at Fremont Tuesday, 4-1, upping its record to 5-0.

Wayne heads into Saturday's doubleheader with University of Nebraska Lincoln and Sunday's twin bill against UNO.

Midland out hit Wayne in Tuesday's contest, six to four, 2-1 and 11-0.

but seven Midland errors came at inopportune times. Wayne committed two errors.

The women's team pushed their record to 3-0 last week by dumping Concordia State College Thursday, 11-0, then taking a Saturday doubleheader from state champion Kearney State.

Wayne State Rips Creighton, Northwestern for 7-3 Record

Wayne State's baseball team pulled a giant killing job Tuesday, beating Creighton University twice at Omaha, and the Wildcats did it with authority, 7-6 on a fine comeback in the first game, 9-5 in the second game, leading all the way.

This was a talented Creighton team that whipped Kansas State twice Monday, also has beaten Arkansas, and has games ahead with several Big 8 teams.

Coach Larry Schultz sprang praise wholesale. Especially he lauded the Wildcats for their first game rally. Down by 5-0 after two innings, they put together two innings of three runs each, and that was enough to win, plus steel nerved pitching by reliever John Zwygart of Bancroft, who took over in the second inning and went the rest of the game.

Third inning singles by Rick Benedetto and Tim Denham produced three runs. Then in the fifth frame, another Benedetto single, Denham hit by the pitcher, a walk to Greg Kamp, and a key double by Ray Miller added the winning four runs.

The second game was a different story—Wayne jumping off to three runs in the first inning. Dean Ott led with a single. Benedetto was hit by a pitcher, and Miller laced a home run.

Came the third inning, and Ott singled again, Benedetto sacrificed and Denham hit a home run, giving the Cats a 5-2 lead.

A three-run fourth inning came off a triple by Jim Kopecky, a single by Jim Wetzel and another home run, this one by Nick Danze (his first since he was a high school sophomore, he said).

And finally, in the seventh, another round-tripper, by Don Haskenham.

Schultz started on the mound for Wayne and got the win, though relieved in the fifth by Jim Mergen.

Said coach Schultz, "We played for the big innings—and got them." He juggled the squad frequently and used all but two players, both pitchers, before the twin bill ended. Wayne's record moved to 7-3. Creighton dropped to 12-7.

Schultz complimented the outfield for a tight defense. Creighton did not manage a single extra base because of Wildcat fielding finesse, he noted.

Wayne was scheduled for a Wednesday doubleheader with Buena Vista at Storm Lake, Ia., provided a rain prediction did not materialize. Friday afternoon will host Yankton College in two games. Both Friday games will be broadcasted on the college's radio station, KWSC, 91.9 FM.

The Cats ran their record to 5-3 Saturday afternoon taking a twin bill at home against Northwestern College of Orange City. Wayne gave Northwestern a 10-6 loss in its season opener, then followed with a 24-2 marathon in the second game.

The Red Raiders out-hit Wayne, 10-9, in the opener, but the hosts took advantage of walks and bunched their hits in the first three innings. Wayne starter Mark Prafter of Sioux City gave up two runs in Northwestern's first, sixth and seventh innings.

Tim Denham went 3-3 with a homer, double and single to pep the Wayne attack. For Northwestern, Daryl Copp homered in the sixth.

The second game could have ended after the fifth inning, Wayne ahead 13-2, but both coaches wanted to play out seven innings for experience. As it turned out, all but two pitchers of Wayne's 26 players got into the action. The Wildcat sixth, lasting about 45 minutes, added 11 runs while coach Larry Schultz shuffled players.

Freshman Scott Sagert of Wahoo worked the first four innings and was going strong when Bob DeVaul took over the mound for experience. Greg Kamp of Omaha moved over from first base to pitch an inning, then yielded to Leo Yrskoski of Omaha in the seventh.

The sixth-inning onslaught included homers by Jerry Friedrich of Coleridge and Jim Kopecky of Omaha.

Line scores:
First game—Wayne 7, Creighton 6
Bob DeVaul, John Zwygart (2) and Ray Nelson.

LET'S BUY OUR OWN RAILROAD

I. Wayne's railroad is in jeopardy.

- Present traffic is insufficient to justify continued operations by the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad (C. and N.W.).
- Chicago and Northwestern has petitioned the ICC for permission to abandon operations west of Dakota City.
- When the current ICC Moratorium on Abandonments is lifted, the C. and N.W. will cease operations.
- This action will adversely affect Wayne's economy, because certain types of freight tend to shift to rail transport. Abandonment would also damage prospects of encouraging future industrial investments in Wayne.

II. Wayne can keep its railroad by:

- Demonstrating a sufficient traffic increase to justify continuance of the present C. and N.W. line. This is unlikely: OR
- Incorporating its own short-line railroad. This would be a private enterprise designed for profit, not a municipal enterprise. Telephone conversations with officials of the C. and N.W. and with officials of the short-line Great Plains Railroad in Edward, Nebraska, concerning operating and equipment costs, licensing, etc., indicate that this course might be economically feasible. Short-line railroads have few of the operating expenses of mainline roads and can frequently be operated by part-time help.

Wayne needs to EXAMINE AND DEVELOP THIS PLAN NOW. Should the railroad be closed, we would then be in a position to make an offer to the C. and N.W. for purchase of the track at salvage cost.

Other communities have met such challenges this way and profited by it. I believe the people of Wayne have the intelligence and initiative to do the same, and better!

III. Please write me if you have questions. There are many details that cannot be put into an ad.

NPPD Pays $30,000 to 3 Counties

The Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) made in-lieu-of-tax and five per cent revenue tax payments totaling $30,173.82 in Wayne, Dixon and Cedar Counties for the year 1973, company officials report.

The money is part of $1,045,470 distributed throughout the state by the public power company. Payments were made to county treasurers in 70 counties and to the city of Lincoln.

Payments to the three counties were $1,520.78 in Wayne County, $12,464.70 in Dixon County and $16,188.64 in Cedar County.

Acting in accordance with laws passed in previous years by the state legislature, payments are made in counties where NPPD has property and where cities are served at retail by NPPD.

The money is then distributed by the county treasurers to the county, cities and villages and school districts according to a prescribed formula.

Cities and villages served at retail or under lease agreement by NPPD receive the majority of the payments. In addition to an in-lieu-of-tax benefit, retail or lease towns also receive five per cent of the gross revenue, which is distributed in the "consummation" on a mill levy basis.

accident happened three miles south and two and a half miles east of Allen, he said.

Lundin, Chase and another youth, Loren Book of Martinsburg, were riding their motor cycles after leaving the Lundin farm home about 5 p.m.

Schenck said, Lundin and Book were traveling ahead of the Chase motorcycle, turning around after they no longer saw him behind them. Traveling side-by-side, the two motorcycles met Chase at the crest of the hill, and Lundin and Chase both swerved in the same direction to avoid a collision. They struck each other and ended up in a ditch, the patrolman said.

The young girl died about nine hours later in a Sioux City hospital after being carried to a nearby farmhouse where a rescue unit was called. She was taken to the Wakefield Hospital before being transferred to Sioux City.

Schenck said none of the youths was wearing a helmet.

Peter Lundin received a broken wrist in the accident. Mary Jo Lundin suffered cuts and bruises. Rick Chase was apparently not injured in the accident.

Amy, daughter of Eugene and Janet Morterud Lundin, was born at Wakefield Aug. 26, 1969.

You're Never Too Old To Hear Better

Chicago, Ill. - A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

This is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so write for yours now. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 5118, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria St., Chicago, Ill., 60646.

He and one other person were competing for the national post at the convention. A total of 50 candidates for the job had been selected initially before 48 candidates were eliminated.

Koenig attended last year's national convention and has taken part in several district and state conventions.

Koenig, who received both his undergraduate and graduate degrees from Wayne State, has been with the Wayne-Carroll school system for eight years. He taught one year at Wakefield before moving to Wayne.

He and his wife Judy, a first grade teacher at West Elementary School, have two children, seven-year-old Kevin and three-year-old Karlyn.

end that Bornhoff's filing might not be legal.

He said a deputy of secretary of state Allen Beerman told him "you have to file by party for that office."

Weible said Bornhoff could be listed as a candidate for the county attorney's job on the November general election but lot by petition. Petition drives also could result in listing other candidates for that job on the November ballot.

Bornhoff, of Wayne, said he thinks the requirement that you have to file for the primary with a political affiliation is unconstitutional. He had no other comment to make about his name being taken off the ballot.

The removal of Bornhoff's name as a candidate for county attorney will mean voters will not be able to cast ballots for that post in the primary.

Large Turnout Is Expected at Feeders' Feed

Early ticket sales indicate another large crowd for Saturday night's Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders' Association Banquet, according to banquet chairman, Clifford Baker of Wakefield.

The banquet will be held at the Wayne State College Student Union. A social hour beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the Wayne fire hall will precede the 8 p.m. dinner.

J.D. Anderson, president of Guarantee Mutual Life Co. of Omaha, will be guest speaker. Among numerous honors received, Anderson was crowned the 76th King of Ak-Sar-Ben in 1970.

Presentation of the Stockman Award will again highlight the program. Don Spitzke, Wayne County agricultural agent, was last year's award winner.

Serving as toastmaster will be Gary Chapman of Producers Livestock Commission Co. in Sioux City. Mrs. Gene Dounnik of Emerson will provide dinner music.

Tickets may be purchased from the Wayne banks or from any association director. Directors for 1974 are Bob Boals, Dave Denker, John Servine and Art Zeisler of Dakota County; Dean Dahlgren, Tom Gustafson, Cliff Rassmussen and Bill Weinstein of Dixon County; Leon Bruns, Harold Hermebracht, John Kruse, and Fred Tremayne of Thurston County, and Clifford Baker, Byron Janke, Bill McGoulian and Norman Wickman of Wayne County.

Drawing—

Chamber of Commerce or not. Those changes in the weekly drawings were made last week by the sponsor, Wayne Retail Association.

It has been incorrectly reported in previous stories that the consolation prize will go back up to $50 once there is a grand prize winner. The consolation prize will remain at $25, with the top prize climbing $25 each week there is not a winner. There is no ceiling on how high that grand prize may go.

Zoning—

and development in the county, Burt said, but the growth should be controlled. "The development" (of Hoskins, for instance) would still be there, but it would be done correctly (if comprehensive planning is adopted)," he noted.

Several persons criticized rural zoning during the meeting, noting that the few controls adopted initially will grow into many controls over how property owners may use their land.

Others spoke in favor of it, saying that the ways land may be used should be defined so conflicts don't arise in the future when such things as housing developments or large feedlots are built.

CC Schedules Quarterly Meet

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce will hold its quarterly general membership meeting Monday night.

Speaker for the event, scheduled for 7:30 at the Woman's Club room in the city auditorium, will be Don Searcy, director of the Nebraska American Revolution Bicentennial Commission. He will explain what some other communities are doing to help prepare for the nation's bicentennial.

Directors of the Chamber will present plans for the year and review activity during recent months, said Chamber manager Howard Witt. He said all Chamber members are urged to attend the meeting.

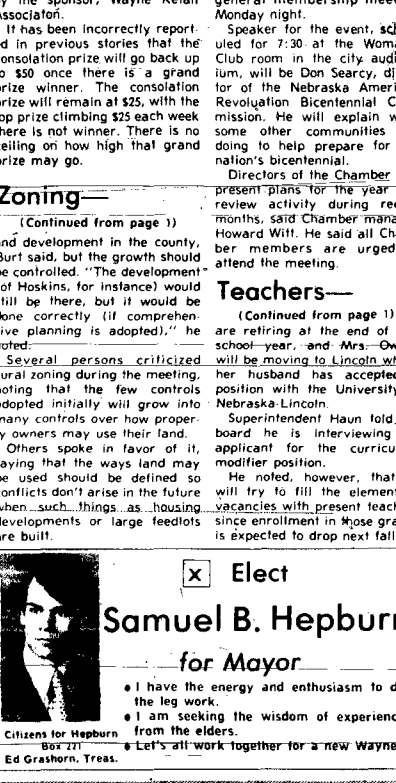

Teachers—

are retiring at the end of this school year, and Mrs. Owens will be moving to Lincoln where her husband has accepted a position with the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Superintendent Haun told the board he is interviewing an applicant for the curriculum modifier position.

He noted, however, that he will try to fill the elementary vacancies with present teachers since enrollment in those grades is expected to drop next fall.

Volunteer Firemen

Fight Three Fires
Wayne volunteer firemen fought three trash and grass fires in as many days, two of them starting within minutes of each other Tuesday.

Firemen extinguished blazes on the east end of the airport and behind two businesses a mile and a half north of town, Discount Furniture and Red Carr. Implement, early Tuesday afternoon. Firemen were still at the airport fire when the call for the other fire came in, said fire chief Cliff Pinkelman.
Sunday afternoon the firemen helped extinguish a fire at the Larry Echtenkamp farm three and a half miles north and a mile east of Wayne.
A pile of trash on the farm was being burned and the fire threatened to get into a grove of trees. The other two fires apparently started from trash fires, Pinkelman said.

WH Science Students Score High

BRENDA GAUNT stands in front of the display of the science project which won her a second place medal in the science and engineering fair last weekend.

Two Wayne High School students scored high last weekend at the Greater Nebraska Science and Engineering Fair in Nebraska City.

Senior Brenda Gaunt and junior Ron Boyce received second place medals for their presentations of laboratory research work done during the past school year as part of their advanced biology studies.

Brenda's research, titled "Genetic Transformation of Penicillin-Sensitive E. coli," involved the extraction of genes from one bacterial strain and their transfer to another strain. Ron built a spark-discharge apparatus which he successfully employed to produce organic compounds called amino acids from a mixture of simple inorganic gases. His research was titled "Production of Amino Acids Under Possible Primitive Earth Conditions."

Wayne High biology instructor, Verne Mills, described the projects as "some of the finest student research in biochemistry and microbiology I've ever seen."

The science and engineering fair is held each spring and has been described as the state tournament in science. This year, there were more than 300 participants representing schools from both rural and metropolitan areas in eastern Nebraska.

Parents of the two local winners are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Boyce of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. William Gaunt of rural Wayne.

WINNING Ron Boyce a second place medal at last weekend's science and engineering fair was his research study on producing organic compounds from a mixture of inorganic gases.

Marvel backs winners, Exon with losers on state aid to schools issue

LINCOLN — State school aid likely will be a major issue during a gubernatorial campaign involving J.J. Exon and Richard D. Marvel.

The Democratic governor vetoed the Legislature's mainline school aid bill again this year, as he has regularly in the past. In 1971, 1972 and 1973, the Legislature failed to gather enough votes to override him — although the senators lined up all but one of the 30 needed in two of those years.

Exon sent in a veto again this year, but this year the Legislature — with Republican Marvel voting "aye" — passed the law in spite of the governor's objections.

That puts the two chief candidates on opposite sides of what many legislative observers consider to be an issue of landmark proportions.

The bill adopted by the Legislature makes it a state responsibility to provide about half of the funds needed to operate public elementary and secondary schools. The other half still will be generated through property taxes at the local level, where about 85 per cent of the dollars have been coming from for the past few years.

Until the state got into the aid business, schools were operated entirely (except for federal grants and minor miscellaneous revenues) from local property taxes.

In order for the state to pick up its new share, sales and income taxes will have to be increased. The sales tax rate probably will climb by one percentage point — to 3 1/2 per cent. The income tax rate may have to go up by anywhere from three to five percentage points — moving from 11 per cent to 14 to 16 per cent.

The first effect on the sales and income tax package will come in the 1975 calendar year, so revenues will begin building in the state treasury for the payouts which start with the 1975-76 fiscal year.

Under the terms of LB 722, half of the new aid program becomes effective in the 1975-76 fiscal year and it becomes fully implemented the following year.

It's still not certain just how much state money will be necessary to finance full implementation because it's difficult to estimate what school operating costs will be two years down the road.

It is confidently predicted, however, that there will be higher costs because of inflation. A bill passed earlier, LB 984, writes into the lawbooks spending limitations on local school boards.

Those limits were written to specifications of Governor Exon and they are keyed to the "consumers" and "wholesale price indexes, plus a 2 per cent factor each year.

Some observers say that could mean annual increases of up to 12 or 13 per cent in school budgets despite the spending limitation.

One of the frequently mentioned objections to LB 722 — and one Exon emphasized in his veto message — was the failure of passing tax relief along to renters who aren't guaranteed property tax reductions and who must pay the higher sales and income tax rates.

Senator Jerome Warner of Waverly, the sponsor of LB 772, said there isn't an effective way to make sure renters get relief, unless the state wants to get into the rent control business.

Exon suggested last year that the State Constitution be amended to allow the state to send refunds to renters, based on what their landlords "saved" with lower property taxes. That idea died.

Warner contends that competition is so fierce that landlords would be forced to lower rents when property taxes dip. That is true especially in the Omaha apartment market where, some say, there are more vacancies than customers.

Exon and Marvel have been squaring off on the question of the 1975 income tax in previous weeks. Exon was saying that the 11 per cent rate currently in effect should be raised right now, retroactive to Jan. 1, in fact, to 13 per cent and that rate maintained through 1975.

Marvel, on the other hand, has said the 11 per cent rate will suffice through this year and should be enough next year as well.

But the success of the Warner state aid bill, with its requirement of greater infusion of money into the state treasury, makes much of that argument out of date.

That leaves the state aid question itself as a campaign issue and Exon, who has left no doubt with four consecutive vetoes of his stand, probably will be reminding voters that Marvel was on the other side.

It's difficult to say now which side has the political points. Generally — although this is certainly isn't 100 per cent true — Omahans have objected to the school aid program and outlasters have supported it.

As part of the International move towards greater uniformity and clarity in road signs, the Federal Highway Administration has approved as a National Standard for All Highways, a system of internationally accepted traffic signs.

Examples of the new markings, which will appear gradually during the decade of the 70's, are shown below.

To bus or not deserves much consideration

Dear Editor:

I'd like to reply to "One Who Speaks for Many." (Letters to the Editor, March 28)

There is a great deal to be considered when you suggest our school be put "into mothballs for the present." It is true that Wayne may be able to absorb our 33 students now, but there are 40 youngsters below school age in the immediate Carroll area at the present time — and in the near future Wayne many not have sufficient space for all it's students.

Then of course, there would have to be a new school in Wayne, or at least an addition to the present facility. You speak of taxpayer's cost — this would certainly raise costs even higher.

To bus our children to Wayne will certainly require another new bus and a driver — and drivers are extremely difficult to find to say nothing of the cost of another bus. The taxpayers, and we at Carroll are paying District No. 17 taxes too, need to look on all sides of this situation.

To make the necessary repairs on our school is not going to present residents of the district with a heavier tax load because according to Superintendent Francis Hahn, there is presently $88,000 set aside for repairs and upkeep. If these repairs were made over a few years time as they were with the Wayne Middle School, it shouldn't affect any of us taxwise.

Wayne has a beautiful elementary library, which our students use, but if bussing students there one day a week bothers you, I'm certain other arrangements could be made — perhaps a few books each week for each student on the order that rural teachers and students use. Having taught in a few rural districts, I know how much students appreciate these books. As for P.E., Carroll students would not need to be bussed to Wayne as we have a more than ample auditorium. True, we don't have all the equipment Wayne has, but most youngsters in grades kindergarten through fourth grade enjoy simple things, games, etc., that don't require an extensive amount of gym equipment. So, you see, this bussing isn't really a necessity at all.

I'm sure every parent who has a child who requires special education services, whether in Carroll or Wayne, is thankful for the fine teachers and facilities at Wayne. This should have little bearing on the board's decision on the situation here at Carroll.

It's true, we do have two cooks and a custodian at Carroll, but our custodian, I can assure you, does a lot more than just keep two rooms clean. The two ladies that cook at Carroll are two of the finest in this area. If our school is put in "mothballs," are these three people who've served the district so well to be put into mothballs too?

If you are a parent, you can understand why we at Carroll do not relish the idea of bussing our little ones to Wayne. It's too far for the smallest to ride and still be able, alert and ready for school. We're not bellyachers or chronic complainers — all we ask is that we be allowed to keep our little ones in our own school.

If you have doubts about Carroll taxes in regard to this issue, please check a school district map. You'll find Carroll has more land by far in the district than rural Wayne. We are paying our way.

As to the comment about the "pill" — most of us are taking vitamins!!

OBSERVATIONS

A Sound decision

Monday night the Wayne Carroll school board voted to go ahead with remodeling the school at Carroll, placing emphasis on the roof, windows, ceilings and floors this summer.

We think the decision was the most sensible one to make after considering all the options.

The board could have voted to close that facility at the end of this school year, but that would have sent up a howl of indignation by area residents who would then be forced to send their young children on long bus trips to the elementary school in Wayne. As one of the board members said Monday night, parents have rights also, and the board should pay heed to them. Understandably, parents do not want their young children riding on busses any farther than necessary.

The board could have voted to build a new school at Carroll, but that would have cost much, much more than what the remodeling of the present facility would cost. Making that decision likely would have resulted in complaints from residents who live outside the Carroll area and possibly from some residents who live there as well. They would have been legitimate complaints, for the school population forecasts do not warrant any great expenditure of funds.

As it is, the decision to remodel parts of the building this summer and during following months is about the only sensible decision the board could make. It was made with the understanding that the board will continue to keep an eye on the enrollment at Carroll. If the enrollment continues to fall as it has in recent years, the board may at some future time decide it is no longer economically possible or educationally desirable to keep the school open. If the enrollment continues at the present level or increases, more money may be spent to make the school even more attractive and useful.

The decision was not an easy one to make. The board had to weigh the educational needs of the students attending the Carroll school along with the ability of the taxpayers to finance a new school or remodeling of the present facility. We think the board weighed those things, placing emphasis on the students themselves, and came up with about the only sensible decision possible.

Are we that optimistic?

Some optimistic people down around Superior and Seward have almost reached their goal of raising $200,000 to operate their own railroad line.

By early this week the organizers and supporters of Nebraska's first locally owned short-line railroad had sold $165,000 in stock toward a $200,000 goal which they hope to meet by April 15. The stock sales are in addition to a previous sale of $100,000 which enabled the organizers to secure a Small Business Administration loan.

If they reach their goal, they will operate the former Chicago Northwestern line between the two communities, serving Seward, Goehner, Beaver Crossing, Exeter, Geneva, Martland, Shickley, Davenport, Oak, Nora, Cadams and Superior.

They say they will save farmers a minimum of $1-million a year in grain transportation costs because it will be cheaper for them to use the railroad line than to ship by truck. Estimates are that the line will carry at least 10 million bushels a year since the line will be serving 15 elevators, seven of which have no other rail service.

The effort to buy and operate the railroad, which was abandoned by Chicago Northwestern in 1972, has been praised by the head of a 17-county development organization as "an example of the creative local initiative that makes this area economically vibrant." Richard Cederberg of Beatrice, president of Vision 17, Inc. said the effort is "the kind of bootstrap action, where local people are not afraid to invest in a facility for the future, that sets our section of the country apart from so many others where people are letting their problems overwhelm them."

The efforts of those involved in the Great Plains Railway Co. should start some people in Northeast Nebraska thinking about whether it's possible to purchase and run the line between Wayne and Dakota City. That line will be abandoned if the Interstate Commerce Commission gives its approval. And there's little doubt but that approval will be forthcoming.

Out of Old

Armistice Day at York, Nebraska—1918

Probably at no time before or since, has the nation rejoiced as it did on November 11, 1918, at the close of "the war to end all wars." In some Nebraska towns, two celebrations occurred: This resulted when reports of negotiations between the United States and Germany became known and were misinterpreted as victory for the Allies (Great Britain, France, the U. S., and many other countries).

Word of the "false armistice" reached York, Nebraska, on November 7, 1918, and the town was jubilant. But the editor of The York Daily News-Times (November 8, 1918), according to the newspaper files at the Nebraska State Historical Society, was irate:

"There was a great celebration in York yesterday afternoon. A report that the armistice had been signed... was published in a Lincoln sheet and a copy of the paper was carried about town and set the joy to effervescing. The whistles blew, the horns honked, the cannon crackers cracked and there was a general hurrah.

"The Associated Press failed to confirm the report, in fact it issued a statement by Secretary Lansing that the report was a bad mistake. However, the people would not believe that it was not true and celebrated in fine style.

"A meeting of women joined in singing the doxology and offered an invocation thanking the Deity for bringing peace once again to the war weary people.

"The News-Times... knew the true condition of affairs, but many people would not be convinced. Some blew in good money telephoning to Omaha and other points... The premature explosion could have been avoided by seeking the correct news at the place where it is received... It is remarkable how the public will fall for something that could be confirmed by asking a reliable newspaper what the situation really is."

When hostilities actually did halt, the cannon crackers again cracked at York and the siren at the light plant blew until the sun rose. The celebration began early on November 11 at 2:20 a.m., the hour the armistice was signed in Europe. It lasted well into the next night. An appeared editor recorded the happenings:

"People called the News-Times telephone repeatedly and a good many people appeared... at the News-Times office... Mayor Smith came down town and gave orders that no one be allowed to sleep any more when such good news was available... The martial bands and trumpeters were out in force going up and down the street announcing the news that the greatest war of history was at an end... There was a great parade with a motor truck leading the way... The Troubadour band of colored minstrels came out with their band and made the early morning most interesting with their patriotic selections."

Mayor Smith announced that there would be "a hot time in this old town tonight." Without explanation the newspaper reported "the people are so glad no effort is made to curtail their celebration" and noted that a "Mrs. ... who had two sons 'over there,' fired the first gun.

In years following, November 11 (called Armistice Day) became a holiday. Celebrations were held in schools, parades were organized, and orators dwelled on patriotic topics. Because Armistice Day recalled only World War I, the name was changed in 1954 by Congress to Veterans' Day to honor men who fought in subsequent wars.

Jubilant following a war's cessation may temporarily blot from memory the casualties suffered, but Veterans' Day (November 11) serves to remind us not only of those who served their country but of those who gave their lives. In wars of this century, the cost in battle deaths of Nebraskans alone has been high: World War I, 751; World War II, 3,839; Korea, 225; Vietnam, 422. The national toll is, of course, far greater: World War I, 53,402; World War II, 291,557; Korea, 36,700; Vietnam, 45,941.

So they said . . .

"A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying, in other words, that he is wiser today than he was yesterday."

—Alexander Pope.

Thought for Today
By Rowan Wiltse
"Find a need and fill it."
Franklin

No matter what our station in life, each one of us has something to offer which will enable us to enrich the life of another. It may not necessarily be a gift of material value. Very often a thoughtful deed or a few words of kindness will fill a great need for friendship and sympathetic understanding.

These are small, seemingly inconsequential things, it is true, but in filling the needs of others, we cannot help but feel a greater sense of enrichment in our own lives.

Our state and national affiliations enable us to arrange for services anywhere in the country. Our experienced counselors can acquaint you with social security and veteran's benefits.

Shortages
We seem to be running short of everything this year, the latest being 2, 4-D. Reports are that this chemical will be short 30-40 per cent compared to last year.

Some alternatives to 2, 4-D are either Aatraz or Blades for broadleaf weed control in corn. A similar reduction in 2, 4-D requirements is possible in grain soybean by using Aatraz. Supplies of 2, 4-D can be extended by using it in combination with 2, 4, 5-T for pasture spraying.

Another way to conserve 2, 4-D is to use it only under good growing conditions. Application rates for 2, 4-D when weeds are actively growing are 1/3 to 1/2 less than required under poor growing conditions. Daytime temperatures should be at least 50 degrees or more.

More on Shortages
It is estimated that Wayne County may have available only 50 per cent of our fertilizer needs for 1974. If this is true we are in for some problems.

Here are seven suggestions that will help you live with the fertilizer shortage:

1. Adjust fertilizer application to accurately fit crop needs by using a good soil sampling program with accurate soil test interpretation.
2. Shift from broadcast applications of preplant nutrient mixtures to banded fertilizer beside, at or near the point of seed placement.
3. Apply fertilizer on crops with the most critical need and allow reduced application on those crops with the least critical need.
4. Shift crops from corn to sorghum to wheat to alfalfa to soybeans. This shifts crops from the highest and most critical need of fertilizer nutrients to crops with lower nutrient needs.
5. Where nitrogen is only available at 80 or 90 per cent of the desired application rate, apply the nitrogen equally on all acres rather than applying the desired amount on 80 or 90 per cent of the acres.
6. Make more use of animal wastes and crop residue management as potential or partial replacement of some nutrients.
7. Give more attention to acquiring adequate and even stands to make more efficient use of nutrients and water.

New Home Taking Shape

STEEL BEAMS started going up on the west edge of Wayne last week, forming the outline of the new home for Corvett Auto Co. Workers began erecting the beams and started laying concrete block for the new building, estimated to cost $150,000 by the time it's ready to open this fall. Located on the south side of Highway 35, the large building will provide between 16,000 and 17,000 square feet of space, according to owner Roy Corvett. It will include a showroom, 30 by 70 feet with an additional canopy area in front. Also included in the building will be extensive room for servicing vehicles.

Size, Kind Are Important In Picking Lawn Trees

By DON SPITZE
Wayne County Extension Agent

A tree of the right variety, planted in the right place and well cared for is a real asset to any home lawn.

But the wrong tree, in the wrong place and not properly cared for can be worse than no tree at all.

Here are some pointers on selection, establishment and placement of yard trees.

Consider the size the tree will attain at maturity. Large trees need a large yard and a two-story house for best effects. Be sure that the mature trees won't overhang the house or interfere with utility lines. Also consider growth rate of the tree.

In purchasing a tree, the diameter measurement of the trunk stem is a better indicator of quality and value than height measurement. It's best to purchase trees from local nurseries.

At time of planting, cut back some of the top, especially if roots of your tree have been extensively damaged. Cut one-half inch of the ends of the root to expose live root tissue. Stake tree, if necessary, to keep it erect and prevent any movement of the root system while the tree is becoming re-established.

Trees should be kept well watered. Water thoroughly at planting time and at 10 day intervals during the first growing season.

Selection of the right tree is important. Following is a list and description of some of the better shade trees for this area:

Linden (American or Redmond) — Heart-shaped leaves that produce dense shade. Grows four to 12 inches per year and will reach a height of 60 feet in a pyramidal shape. Does best on rich soils and will endure some shade. This tree is one of the better all purpose shade trees for this area.

Red Oak — Will grow to be 60 feet tall, has excellent fall leaf color but is very slow growing.

Green Ash (Marshalls Seedless) — A shapely tree with dense wood that may grow to a height of 50 feet. This tree has an average growth rate but does make a good all purpose shade tree.

Honeylocust (Shademaster) — Relatively thin foliage which casts a lighter shade than most trees. Very drought-resistant and fast-growing.

Hackberry — Can be used to good advantage where room is limited. A good all around tree although it's slower growing than some.

Ginkgo — Attractive fan shaped leaves unlike any other. Be sure and plant grafted male trees to avoid foul smelling fruit. A medium fast growing tree that is very disease and insect resistant.

Chinese Pogoda — A slow growing tree that attains a height of about 25 feet. Has attractive form and produces a creamy white pea shaped flower, very trouble free.

Goldenrain Tree — This 30-foot tall tree is one of our best small lawn trees. Prefers to grow in full sun and withstands drought and hot winds. Trunk is seldom straight and is medium to slow growing. Yellow attractive flowers in summer. Seed produced in a lantern shaped capsule which remains on the tree for approximately two months.

Redbud — Grows to a height of 20 feet and has rosy purple flowers produced before the leaves. Prefers a protected location. Its main value is as an ornamental and not as a shade tree.

American elm, Chinese elm and sycamore are not recommended because of disease and poor growing habits. Don't select a tree that isn't winter hardy for this area. A lot of time and effort can be wasted on exotic trees that look lovely in a nursery catalog.

'Rush at Tax Deadline Causes Many Mistakes'

Many American taxpayers, in the last minute rush to file their income tax before the April 15 deadline, repeat the same mistakes year after year, depriving themselves of valuable tax savings, says a Wayne tax service firm.

H & R Block, the nation's largest tax service, has found that many individuals are not familiar with tax forms and all the allowable deductions.

The most common mistakes, according to Jewell Canner, manager of H & R Block in Wayne, are:

—Claiming "standard deductions" when itemizing would save tax dollars. Example: A taxpayer in the 25 per cent bracket loses 25 cents for every dollar he fails to itemize above the maximum standard $2,000 deduction.

—Failure to claim a casualty loss such as fire, theft, wind or auto accident. Example: A home and contents destroyed by fire is usually covered by insurance, but if the loss of trees and shrubs — which are not covered — reduces the property value by more than $100, the taxpayer has a casualty loss.

—Failure to list all contributions, including gifts of furniture or clothing. Example: Many taxpayers forget to include Sunday school donations by their children.

—Failure, especially by the elderly, to claim all tax benefits on retirement income or home sales.

—Failure to claim deductions relating to medical expenses, Mileage to a doctor's office, the hospital or to buy prescription drugs may be deductible at 6 cents per mile as well as the cost of drugs, doctors and hospitals.

—Use of the wrong tax table or tax rates. Tables deal with adjusted gross income, not taxable income. You must be sure to select the table that corresponds with your total exemptions, not the number of people living in your home.

—Failure to claim sick pay or child-care deductions.

—Over-reporting or improper reporting of income. Many people have fully or partially non-taxable income. Not only do taxpayers report too much income as a result of poor record-keeping, they sometimes fail to recognize the different qualifications for taxation. For instance, when a taxpayer has income from government bonds which he must report on his federal return, he very often forgets to make the proper adjustment on his state return to exclude this income so that it is not taxed by the state.

Wayne, Wakefield Among Winners in WS Business Day

Two high school students from Wayne and another from Wakefield were among top winners at the annual Business Competition Day held last month at Wayne State College.
 Kaye Dohm of Wakefield received the first place pin in the bookkeeping division of the contest. Jean Ring of Wayne earned the first place shorthand pin and Julie Stephens of Wayne earned second place in shorthand.

Other winners were Rebecca Hansen, Coleridge, and Steve Rohwer of Creighton, second and third respectively in bookkeeping; Joani Russman, Bancroft, third, in shorthand; Lorie Rogers, Lyons, Barbara Kuhl and Patti Cornell, both of South Sioux City, first, second and third in typewriting.
 Overall school trophies went to South Sioux City, first; Lyons second, and Coleridge, third.
 The competition, sponsored annually by Pi Omega Pi honorary business society, has previously included only bookkeeping competition. The all-day event attracted about 120 students from 21 high schools in Northeast Nebraska.

Decker: Merger of WS-NU May Solve Financial Woes

Wayne State's "hand-to-mouth feeding" may soon come to an end if Nebraska's legislature passes a proposal to merge the four state colleges with the University of Nebraska, a Wayne State professor said.

Each year the college administration has to worry about how much it will get in its annual budget, said Dr. Freeman Decker, of Monday's Kiwanis luncheon. But with the merger, Wayne State may no longer have that problem, he noted.

Some have the fear the colleges (Wayne State, Kearney State, Chadron State, Peru State) will be second rate (if they merge with the university), but I don't believe it," Decker said. "If anything, the gains will far offset the losses we might have."

Decker, an education professor at Wayne State, pointed out that hopefully the Northeast Experiment Station near Concord, which is under the jurisdiction of the university, and Wayne State might cooperate to offer agricultural programs if the merger is okayed. And with the new hospital being built, Decker, said the college could expand its health science courses, and perhaps have practical nurses training courses. After last week's visit to the unicameral, Decker said he felt confident the merger plan would win legislative approval if enough area people support it. Thirty votes are needed to pass the proposal before it goes on the November ballot, he said. Decker said chances are increasing the area could get enough support in the legislature since four of the 49 state senators are from this area and favor the merger. Combine them with the 20 state senators who would probably back the merger, he said, and an affirmative vote seems likely, providing other votes can be rounded up.

Decker questioned the argument that the merger is a hasty move. Talk of a merger has been going on for 15 years, he said.

Senator Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who introduced the merger proposal, pointed out that now is the last chance for the schools (to get help through a merger); Decker said.

Following the meeting, board members voted to pay expenses for club delegates and their wives attending the Kiwanis International convention in Denver June 28-29.

Members were notified that the club's Circle K chapter on campus became inactive this year. Plans are to start up the program next fall.
