

Public Is Ho-Hum on County-Wide Zoning

Wayne County commissioners don't have any better idea now than they did before Tuesday night's public meeting as to whether they should go ahead with county-wide zoning.

Only 28 people turned out for that meeting; about a dozen fewer than had attended a similar meeting in Winside a month ago.

But those who did attend found out where two of the commissioners stand on the subject.

Floyd Burt, third district commissioner, called land use planning and zoning the "coming thing" and said the county should go ahead with it to avoid problems which have plagued other counties in the state which have experienced population growth and development in recent years.

However, second district commissioner Ken Eddie of Carroll opposed rural zoning unless it could be limited to the Hoskins area, which has experienced considerable development in recent years because of its proximity to Norfolk.

"I think we should not get in a hurry... let's see what troubles the other counties (with rural zoning) have," Eddie noted.

First district commissioner Joe Wilson declined to express his feelings about rural zoning during the meeting, but he said later that he wants to find out what the public thinks before making a decision.

Burt said after the meeting that it has been difficult trying to find out whether residents of the county want rural zoning. Few people turn out for public meetings like this one, he noted, and only a few of them have taken stands either for or against it.

Local Coin Buff Is State Officer

A Wayne coin collector, Stan Johnson, has been named first vice president in the Nebraska Numismatic Association.

Johnson was named to the post Sunday during the final day of the association's two day meeting in Omaha. Named president of the organization was Allen Schrock of Omaha.

During contests held along with the meeting, Johnson's ancient coin collection was named third best in that competition.

Burt said he may bring the subject up for a vote at the commissioners' meeting later this month.

Present for Tuesday's meeting at the courthouse in Wayne were Gene Sturm, a planner with the state Office of Planning and Programming, and Steve Martin, director of the Mid-Elkhorn Council of Governments.

They explained what rural zoning is all about, noting that it is a way all persons in a county can be protected from unwise use of land.

"With land use planning, you're able to protect the interests of all the people," Martin said, "and you're going to avoid the problems which have plagued other counties in the state which have experienced population growth and development in recent years."

Fire Chief: Take Part In 'EDITH'

Wayne residents are being urged by volunteer fire chief Cliff Pinkelman to take part in Saturday's "Operation EDITH" — an annual event aimed at educating citizens on how to get out of their homes when fire strikes.

Pinkelman said Wednesday that all families should go through an exit drill, especially those with young children.

"People have a much better idea of how to react to fire if they go through an exit drill, and young children really benefit from the drill," Pinkelman noted.

"Young children are often the unnecessary victims of fires, and many deaths and injuries to children could be avoided if parents would talk to them about how they should react in a fire and show them how to get out of their homes safely," he added.

"Kids really learn fast, and they remember for a long time if the parents will take time to talk to them about fires," he noted.

Operation EDITH — Exit Drills in the Home

Exit drills in the home are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Saturday, fire recognition day in the state. Co-sponsoring the event are the state volunteer firemen association and the state fire marshal.

Pinkelman said the fire siren will not be sounded in Wayne this year as it was last year.

School Board Okays $375 Hike in Base

By NORVIN HANSEN
The Wayne Carroll school board Monday night approved a salary schedule for teachers for the 1974-75 school term which gives teachers a $375 hike in their base pay.

The schedule, approved unanimously, will result in teachers, receiving a base salary of $7,175 instead of the current $6,800.

The 5.5 per cent increase in the base pay plus the salary hikes brought about by teachers advancing on the experience and training steps will cost the school district approximately $55,000 more in salaries next year, according to information supplied the board by superintendent Francis Haun.

Based on the school district's 1972 valuation and the existing state aid formula, salary increases will demand another 4.5 mills in taxes, according to the information.

In addition, the accumulation of sick leave for full-time teachers will be increased from 50 to 70 days at the rate of 10 days per school year under the new salary schedule.

The salary schedule contains no changes in the percentages of salary increases for additional training or experience. Teachers receive raises amounting to four per cent of their salary base for each year of experience and five and a half per cent for each nine hours of graduate credit.

The approval of the salary schedule didn't come without criticism, however.

Board member Wilbur Giese said the board was acting "irresponsibly" in not keeping the salary lower or in not lowering the maximum amount a teacher can earn through experience and accumulation of hours beyond the four-year degree level.

He said the school system is one of the few in the state which has more than four per cent hike for each step on the professional training ladder built into the salary schedule.

Board president Irvin Brandt disagreed, noting that the increase in the base pay was not "out of order." He said the "board's philosophy may change in coming years" and result in changes in the salary schedule.

Giese agreed that the base salary should be increased, but he noted that the salary schedule needs "some compressing" to limit how large a salary a teacher can earn through accumulation of college credit hours and years of teaching experience.

Under the new salary schedule, a teacher just out of college with an undergraduate degree would earn $7,175 the first year. However, a teacher with a four-year degree and five years of experience would receive $8,610, the highest amount he could receive without gaining additional college credits.

A teacher with a master's degree plus 27 hours of college credits — the last of eight professional training steps built into the schedule — would receive $9,937 his first year in the Wayne Carroll school system under the salary schedule. However, that teacher would receive $13,668, the maximum, if he had 13 years of experience.

Under the salary schedule for the current school year, that teacher with just a four-year degree would receive $6,800 his first year and $8,160 his sixth year. The better trained teacher, master's degree plus 27 hours, would receive $9,418 his first year and $12,954 his 14th year.

3 Bleacher Bids for WHS Near $30,000

Bids ranging from $27,690 to $31,528 for high school auditorium bleachers will be studied by the Wayne-Carroll school board before a decision is made on whether to purchase the bleachers.

Board members also are expected to visit schools in the area with bleachers of different design before they make any decision.

They opened three bids during Monday night's meeting, the middle one totaling $30,156.

Purchase of a power unit to unfold and fold the bleachers would cost from $925 to $1,670, according to information submitted with the bids.

Board members are expected to decide at their meeting early in June whether to accept one of the bids.

Installing bleachers in the high school auditorium, one of the major problems facing the school board in recent months, would permit holding sports events such as wrestling matches and basketball games there rather than at the city auditorium or Wayne State's Rice Auditorium.

Superintendent Francis Haun has told the board during recent meetings that it is becoming more and more difficult to schedule basketball games at Rice Auditorium because of conflicts with college activities.

Haun said Monday night that money in the sinking fund could be used to purchase bleachers. The sinking fund, established several years ago to build up cash to make school improvements, currently contains about $80,000, according to Haun.

Lambs Offered To 4-H Youths

Wayne County 4-Hers interested in raising a lamb as a club project may purchase lambs from Don Spitze, county agricultural agent.

Spitze said a truckload of lambs has been ordered and should be delivered to Wayne by late this month. He said any 4-Hers who want to raise one of the lambs may buy them at cost.

The lambs will be just the right size and age to feed out and get ready for the county fair in August, Spitze noted.

Spitze urged youths to contact him by Monday if they wish to purchase the lambs.

meeting, the board approved a salary schedule for non-certified employees—janitors, cooks, bus drivers and secretaries—which will result in hourly wage hikes of 15 cents each.

The schedule will keep the employees slightly ahead of the minimum wage requirements which will go into effect the first of next year, according to Haun.

The board also hired Mrs. Laurie Helgren of Wayne for the half-time elementary teaching position currently held by Mrs. Marilyn Pierson.

Mrs. Helgren, a 1970 graduate of Wayne High School, received her bachelor's degree from Wayne State this spring, graduating summa cum laude and sixth in her class of 218. The former-Laurie Walters, daughter

Like New Again

L'APORTE CEMETERY isn't what it used to be, thanks to about 70 Wayne Middle School seventh graders. Saturday morning and afternoon the students divided into three shifts to give the 100-year-old area almost a complete face lift by cutting and raking the tall grass and chopping down small bushes and trees. Dan Johnson, seventh grade history instructor, decided to have his students undertake the project after they finished studying about Nebraska history. This is a good way to help the students remember the early settlers, Johnson said, noting, he hopes to make the project an annual event. During the day-long effort, students uncovered some hidden cemetery stones. Cleaning up around one grave marker is Peggy Pinkelman while Dave Hamm takes a break to refill the gas tank.

Farm Family, NPPD Settle Out of Court

A rural Wayne couple and Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) settled out of court after a jury trial started Monday in Wayne County district court to determine whether the couple was entitled to more money from NPPD for an easement to build a power line.

The settlement was reached Tuesday afternoon after the jury was selected and initial trial procedures got underway in the suit brought by Dale and Nadine Thompson.

The Thompsons, who own land southeast of Wayne, were appealing the $2,850 condemnation settlement allowed them after NPPD filed condemnation procedures in county court for the right to build a 230,000-volt power line over the Thompson property.

The amount of the settlement was not announced in open court, but reliable sources said See SETTLES, page 9

Candidates for Mayor Talk on Drug Abuse, Owning RR Line

Wayne Kiwanians will have a variety of ideas to combat the city's drug abuse problem, elections to elect a new city mayor.

Monday afternoon the four candidates for mayor — Miron Jenness, Freeman Decker, Richard Hall and Sam Hepburn spoke to Kiwanians on what they thought were some of the key issues in the election.

Jenness, who noted that his platform deals with working with youths, said, "There is drug abuse in Wayne."

Jenness told the group that he learned from talking with local youths that drug abuse is at a low point now, but it could increase when a new "crop of youngsters" come up from junior high to high school.

Jenness said he wanted to rid the city of the problem of drug abuse, but that will take money. Jenness also pointed out that the public needs to be better informed about law enforcement in Wayne. "The police (department) has received a lot of flak about arrests," he noted, since some persons do not go to court or others who are fined are not fined the same amount as those in similar cases. What is needed is to have better public relations between the police department and Wayne citizens, according to Jenness.

Sam Hepburn, who agreed that drugs are a problem in Wayne, said he would like to see a youth corps established to help curb drug abuse.

Hepburn also touched on the current status of the Chicago-North Western Transportation Co.'s plan to abandon its railroad line between Wayne and Dakota City.

He said past cases have shown that when a town loses its railroad the town's economy suffers. The solution, he proposed, would be to set up a privately operated line. He said the residents of the Superior-Seward area have established their own line and are working it profitably.

Hepburn, in talking about setting up a jitney bus service, said the two-bus system could serve both Wayne proper and the surrounding area. His concept would involve a local bus for in-town shoppers and a second bus to serve those who want to travel to Norfolk and Sioux City. He estimated the cost for one bus at $4,500.

Richard Hall, the third candidate to speak, emphasized the need for better public relations, foresight and more investigation into obtaining federal and state money for city projects by the new mayor.

Hall said the job of mayor should deal more with public relations, selling Wayne to big business and industry. Finally, he reiterated the need See CANDIDATES, page 9

Koerber Named State Optometrist of Year

Wayne optometrist William Koerber Tuesday night received the coveted Optometrist of the Year Award, during the Nebraska Optometric Association's annual convention in Norfolk.

Dr. Koerber, who has been involved in civic and professional activities over the years, was named to receive the award for his "outstanding performance" in his profession, state association, community, church and fraternal and service groups, according to Bob Garvey of Hastings, executive director of the state association.

Garvey said the award is made annually to the optometrist in the state who meets the high qualifications established for the award and who typifies the caliber of person others in the profession should try to emulate.

During his terms as secretary, he founded the Nebraska Optometric Association Journal and served as its editor for five years. He also has held several other posts with the state association.

EPA Orders Allen To Sample Lagoon

Allen's town board has been instructed by the Environmental Protection Agency to start taking samples of the town's sewage lagoon.
Purpose of the samplings is to determine the amount of sewage flow in order to meet EPA standards, said board member Ken Linafelter.

The process will involve sending samples to the state health department, he added.
Board members learned during Monday night's meeting that the town will receive about $10,000 from the federal government. The amount, part of a reimbursement procedure for towns that shared construction costs on a sewer or lagoon system with the federal government and state agencies, probably will be used to retire some of the sewer bonds, Linafelter said.

When Allen built its lagoon west of town, the federal government paid half the cost and the state and town split the remainder. Under a new federal law, the federal government pays 75 per cent, with the state and town paying the rest.

In other board action concerning the lagoon, members continued making plans to have part of the 12 acre lagoon site excavated for residents to dump free limbs. Linafelter said no date for work has been set.
The board voted to hire Craig Monson of Laurel as city attorney for the 1974-75 fiscal year. His retainer fee for a year is $250.

Allen School Board Accepts Resignation
Allen's school board accepted the resignation of Kathy Ehrisman Monday night during the regular monthly meeting.
Miss Ehrisman, who teaches art and special education, has taught at Allen for three years. No replacement has been named.
During the meeting the board okayed installation of new aluminum and steel doors at both the main and rear entrances of the high school. R. B. Construction of Martinsburg will do the work.

Winside Cops 2nd at L-C Meet

Winside High's track club scored 104 points Tuesday to finish second in the annual Lewis and Clark Conference meet.

The Wildcats, powered by three first-place finishes, came up five points short of taking the title from perennial L-C track leader Coleridge during the 11-team competition at Randolph. Both schools were in something of a race by themselves. Third place finisher Wausa scored 77 points. Ponca finished fourth with 64 points, followed by Osmond with 54. Walthill with 45.7 Newcastle with 34.5, Wynot with 18. Hartington with 14. Allen with 4 and Winnebago with 3.2.

Winside's three firsts came in the 880-yard run, shot put and discus. Junior Mike Anderson captured the discus with a toss of 129.7, but he wasn't the lone Winside finisher in the top six. Doug Bruggeman took third with a toss of 122 and Bob Hoffman finished sixth with a heave of 113.7.

Wayne Coeds Off to World Series

Durable Mary Gerken pitched final game: UNO again the foe. Altogether, Gerken pitched 33 of 35 innings and struck out 20. She also batted 375, tying with Deb Thurness of Davenport, Ia. Two other Wildcats compiled better batting rates — Carol North of Omaha tops at .428 (on 6/16). Cheryl Finke of Colum

Wayne coach G. I. Willoughby said she understood the team plays at the highest level of women's amateur softball in the Atlantic Coast League. Its schedule extends through some 70 games.

Wayne defeated Peru State 10-0 in the state tourney's Friday opener, then followed with 10-4 and 8-4 decisions over Midland and UNO Saturday.

Sunday afternoon Wayne and UNO clashed again. Going into the fifth inning, the Omaha girls with a 4-3 lead, sent Gerken to the bench for her first reel. "Turnress took over and gave up one run in the sixth and seven more in the seventh for a 12-3 UNO win.

The showdown started 15 minutes later — Gerke back on the mound. She scattered five Omaha hits while Wayne bats rapped 13 hits to trounce UNO 11-1.

The state title sends Wayne into the 18-team women's College World Series at Omaha May 16-19. Earlier this year, Wayne coeds also won the state basketball title.

Winside's Field Day Is Friday Afternoon

Winside students in grades one through six will be competing for first, second and third place ribbons Friday when about 130 children converge on Winside High School's track for the second annual elementary field day.

Physical education instructors Mrs. Kathy O'Conner and Mrs. Sharon Scott will direct the afternoon activities, along with the help of some of the high school girls.

Students will be competing in the high jump, long jump, softball throw and sprints.

Persons trapping minnows in Nebraska waters must raise the traps and remove the bait fish at least once every 24 hours.

of Tyler, Frevort, Paul Barge, Lage and Mann took third with a time of 3:46.2.

We would have won the meet if we had some jumpers," Peterson said. "We don't have anyone in the high, triple or long jumps, or pole vault, which costs us valuable points," he added.

Both Peterson and assistant coach Doug Barclay said they were happy with the team's showing, noting that the runners and field men displayed some of their best performances.

Next week Winside will head to the Class C district tournament at Wisner Pilger. The top two finishers in each event qualify for the state meet the following week.

Allen senior Todd Koester scored the only team points when he took fourth in the pole vault.

In an exhibition run the 440 freshmen relay team finished second. The team of Roger Wells, Kevin Cleveland, Terry Hawkins and Neil Wagner ran the lap in 52.8. Wausa won the event in 51.7.

Doug Soderberg's triple and a pair of doubles by Tim Rouse and Keith Siebrandt sparked the Trojans to their fifth win in eight starts. Wakefield collected a total of 13 hits.

Both Soderberg and Rouse rapped their hits in the explosive second to put the visitors out in front. B. J. Homer had taken a 3-0 lead in the first.

The Knights came back with two runs in the bottom of the second "big pull" within three before Trojan coach Joe Coble called on Mike Barge to relieve starting hurler Bruce Paul.

Barge held the home team to two more runs but did not give up any hits. He struck out 14 and walked four for his first win of the season against no losses.

Wakefield will battle Allen in the first round of Class B district action at 1 p.m. Monday at Wayne. The winner of that game will play the winner of the Wayne Homer game Friday at 3 p.m.

Allen selects cheerleaders. Two juniors and three sophomores were selected as Allen High School's cheerleaders for the 1974-75 school year.

They are Deb Lundgren and Les Carpenter, both juniors, and Kathy Rahn, Kari Erwin and JoAnne Roberts, sophomores. Colleen Blohm, a junior, was named alternate. Carpenter is the head cheerleader.

To qualify for a Nebraska Master Angler Award, northern pike taken in Nebraska must weigh at least 10 pounds.

WS Netters Finish 2nd. Doane College, as expected, won the Nebraska NAIA District tennis tournament Monday at Fremont, but Wayne State edged what coach Wes Fritz called a "gigantic upset," finishing second — ahead of three other teams that beat Wayne in regular season.

Doane scored the maximum 36 points, winning every event, while Wayne tallied 14. Concordia, Kearney State and Midland tied for third with eight. Dana followed with five, Hastings with four.

All three of Wayne's entries in singles won first rounds. Luck of the draw put Wayne's No. 1 player, Vince Emery of Omaha, against Doane's Alex Pakozdi in the second round. Pakozdi blanked Emery, 6-0. Coach

Fritz described the Doane ace as "super" — a strong contender for the NAIA national championship. Emery claimed third place with a 6-2, 3-6, 7-6 win over Eric Schultz, Concordia. Pakozdi defeated Kent Lund, Midland, 6-0, 6-1, for the championship.

In No. 2 singles Russ Kirk, Patrick of Onawa, Ia., finished second on a 6-2, 6-0 loss to Ed Hubbs, Doane.

In No. 3 singles Rick Noyes of Norfolk gave Wayne another second when he lost the final to Bill Rayburn, Doane, 6-2, 6-1.

Wayne's doubles team of Dan Rose and Doug Poehلمان, both of Wayne, lost the first-round to Mike Hogan and Greg Jahnke, Hastings, 6-2, 6-1.

In dual meets Wayne posted one win against eight losses.

Trojans Rap Homer, 14-7

Wakefield disposed of Homer in quick fashion Monday afternoon, slammimg eight runs in the top of the second inning, then adding six more in the following three frames for a 14-7 win.

Both Soderberg and Rouse rapped their hits in the explosive second to put the visitors out in front. B. J. Homer had taken a 3-0 lead in the first.

The Knights came back with two runs in the bottom of the second "big pull" within three before Trojan coach Joe Coble called on Mike Barge to relieve starting hurler Bruce Paul.

Barge held the home team to two more runs but did not give up any hits. He struck out 14 and walked four for his first win of the season against no losses.

Wakefield will battle Allen in the first round of Class B district action at 1 p.m. Monday at Wayne. The winner of that game will play the winner of the Wayne Homer game Friday at 3 p.m.

Athlete Of The Week

JONI LANGENBERG, WINSIDE HIGH SCHOOL

Joni Langenberg is not a girl who stands up and takes a bow after setting track records at Winside High School. Once she erases a record, her next objective is to break another mark.

That's why the senior 80-yard hurdler is this week's Athlete of the Week.

Last week she broke her own mark of 13.6 in the hurdles with a 13.4 time during the Hartington triangular, came in second in the long jump and ran on the winning 440 relay team.

Last year was the first time the Winside miss tried running in the hurdles. She did so successfully, setting a school record. Coach Jim Winch didn't have anyone to enter the event last year, so Joni volunteered — and won.

To both Winch and the rest of Winside's coaching staff, Joni's eagerness to participate in sports and her dedication are some of the reasons she was named girl athlete of the year at Winside.

In addition to her being named female athlete of the year, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Langenberg of Hoskins also was the first girl to have her name inscribed on the school's Big Seven plaque which honors athletes who earned seven letters in sports.

Devils Blank Bancroft, 10-0

Wayne High breezed past Bancroft Monday for the second time this season to get its ninth win of the year against one loss. The Devils blanked the visitors, 10-0, with smooth hitting that kept the Bulldogs at bay most of the afternoon.

Wayne started out with a 2-0 margin in the first frame when center fielder Gordie Cook and first baseman Bill Schwartz crossed the plate on a pair of RBIs by catcher Mike Meyer and shortstop Kim Baker. Meyer hit a grounder to Bancroft's shortstop who fired the ball to first, opening the way for Cook to race home. After he walked, Schwartz scored on Baker's single.

Wayne's hitting told the remainder of the story. The Devils smashed 11 more hits — three each in the third and fourth innings — to expand the lead to 5-0 after three and 8-0 going into the fifth.

Meyer connected for a double to drive in Schwartz for his second RBI of the game in the third. Joining him that inning were Cook and Kerry Jech, each with a single.

Cook, whose batting average continues to improve, smashed a triple in the top of the fourth to score pitcher Earle Overin after he singled. Cook's average now stands at .407 after going three for four at the plate. Other hits in that frame were singles by second baseman Paul Mallette and Schwartz.

Although the Devils did not score in the fifth, both Cook and Overin singled off Bancroft's hurler.

In the sixth inning Wayne ended the game with a pair of runs. Baker, who remains on top of the RBI charts with 16 after a sacrifice and a sacrifice added twin runs to his credit, came home on a Bancroft error before Mike Manes singled and scored on Monte Lowe's one bagger.

Overin posted his fifth win against one loss after giving up five hits in the six inning contest. He struck out seven, walked three.

Wayne High Blisters Stanton

The Blue Devils more than doubled Stanton's 46 points to whip the home club, 96-46.

Wayne's cindermen scored first in all but the 100 yard dash and took two firsts in the field events. Junior Gordon Emry captured three firsts — both hurdles events and the triple jump. Wayne's relay teams copied three firsts, winning the two mile, mile and 880.

Sophomore Tom Maier shattered his own two mile record of 11:12.7 set last Friday by more than 33 seconds as he raced his way to an 11:09.3 clocking.

Another improving runner, sophomore Ken Daniels, ran a 5:08.3 mile — about 20 seconds better than when starting the season, said coach Al Hansen.

Tuesday's meet at Stanton was scheduled as a triangular Washington Cedar Catholic was not able to compete.

Saturday all three teams plus Wisner Pilger, Columbus Lakeview, Emerson Hubbard, Madison and Wakefield will compete in the annual West Husker track meet at Wisner.

Hansen figures the top teams in the meet will be Lakeview, Wisner Pilger, Madison and Wayne.

League Winners

Carr Implement of Wayne was crowned the City League champion after the five man team won the second half of league buzzer competition last week.

Carr's, which won the first half, defeated Emung's Concrete for the second half championship to sweep the men's league.

Virgil Buss led the winners with a 650 three game series, followed by Val Kienast with a 631. Jim Potts with a 577, Ernie Swift with a 557 and Red Carr with a 535.

Carr's rolled a 2,960 three game series, topping Emung's 2,021. The last game, 1,072, saw the team put together four 200 games — Buss with 246, Kienast with 244, Potts with 221 and Swift with 202. Carr had a 159.

Brudigan Opens Season With A Feature Victory

Twenty year track veteran Gene Brudigan of Hoskins bolted out in front of an A feature modified pack Sunday night to take home the $175 first place prize while setting a new track record in the 25 lap feature in the opening night of racing at Norfolk's Riviera Raceway.

Brudigan, driving his 302 Chevy engine, broke loose from his starting position in the 12 car event and nearly lapped the pack before the checked flag fell to end the heat.

Earlier, Brudigan took third in the first modified heat.

Another 20 year veteran, Gerald "Hoop" Bruggeman, captured first in the third modified heat. After the win, he ran into problems with his engine and wing, used to add extra pressure to the rear wheels for better traction. Boog removed the wing and worked on his engine but finished third in the C feature and sixth in the A.

His son Larry in his first time behind the wheel took third in the B feature. According to the 18 year old, the first time experience was fun. "Give me about two or three more races and I'll be running better," he said.

Another Hoskins driver, Harold Brudigan, won the B feature while Loren Reuter of Allen finished sixth in that event. He also was fifth in the C feature.

In the late model division, Wakefield's Dennis Crippen took second in the late model heat and A feature.

ASCS Offers 3-Point Plan To Find Fuel

Wayne County farmers who have been unable to find fuel for agricultural production through regular channels may contact the office of the ASCS.

The executive director of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) said.

"The first back-up solves problems quickly and simply. When a farmer comes to the office and reports that this distributor can't supply fuel, ASCS will attempt to locate a fuel source," he noted.

"We will use the second back-up only when we cannot locate fuel locally." Butts continued. In this case, ASCS will contact either the state office of petroleum allocation or the FEO in Lincoln, depending upon which office will be able to solve the problem. That office will then aid in obtaining necessary fuel for agricultural production.

"The third back-up phase provides quick communications with the state ASCS office," said Butts. In certain serious situations the county office will call the state office, which will contact Washington, D. C., if necessary. The FEO has assured priority handling of farm fuel problems, according to Butts.

Land use planning can avoid these problems, because rules and regulations are established, limiting some uses of land while permitting those uses elsewhere.

Sturm noted that a comprehensive plan outlining how the people in the county want the land used must be developed and approved before zoning regulations can be set.

After the plan is approved, the county planning commission can go ahead with drawing up zoning regulations, he noted.

The planning commission, appointed by the commissioners gets underway, should be representative of all the county, with members from both the communities and the rural areas, according to Sturm.

The two officials noted that it could cost close to $200,000 to complete the comprehensive plan and adopt zoning regulations in Wayne County.

The federal government might pay two thirds of that cost, they noted, but if federal funds were not available, the Mid-Elkhorn Council of Governments would finance half of it. The county would pay the remaining cost.

Once county-wide zoning became a reality in Wayne County, the commissioners would have to appoint somebody to make sure regulations were being followed, according to Sturm.

That person could be a part-time employee, he noted.

Although the reception to the idea of rural zoning was lukewarm during the meeting, several people did comment favorably on the idea.

Agricultural agent Don Spitz, who was instrumental in getting the commissioners thinking about the subject several months ago, said that "many counties don't get into zoning until they have a real problem, and thus we can get into it early and avoid problems."

Wayne resident Leo Hansen noted that the industry coming into Wayne could cause problems such as trailers, parks springing up in rural areas. "It could happen very easily," he noted.

County attorney Budd Barnhart said that "zoning in general is a good thing."

Others at the meeting expressed fears that zoning would be just another burden on the small farmer and that it would mean spending more local tax dollars to make it work.

Sturm cited several examples of how problems can arise when county-wide zoning doesn't exist. A drive-in restaurant may be built next to a rural home, causing the value of the home to drop several thousand dollars, he said, or a housing development may spring up next to a feedlot, resulting in suits against the feeder.

Land use planning can avoid these problems, because rules and regulations are established, limiting some uses of land while permitting those uses elsewhere.

Sturm noted that a comprehensive plan outlining how the people in the county want the land used must be developed and approved before zoning regulations can be set.

After the plan is approved, the county planning commission can go ahead with drawing up zoning regulations, he noted.

The planning commission, appointed by the commissioners gets underway, should be representative of all the county, with members from both the communities and the rural areas, according to Sturm.

"My insurance lapsed"

Your insurance must be renewed promptly and the premium paid on time, otherwise you are without insurance protection. A loss at such a time is sheer tragedy. By combining your property insurance in one package policy (Homeowners, Tenants, Farmowners or Commercial) with one renewal date, there is less danger of lapsed insurance.

State has new corrections director

CAPITOL NEWS

LINCOLN — Nebraska has a new corrections director, Joseph Vitek, warden of the New Hampshire prison.

His appointment was announced by Governor J. J. Exon, whose first choice for the post had to step down because it was discovered he didn't fit the qualifications established by statute.

That was former Beatrice police chief Merl Hesser, whose background as a law enforcement officer wasn't acceptable in a position where a corrections experience was specified.

Vitek has the qualifications the statutes envision, but that doesn't mean his appointment will go unchallenged by Exon's legislative critics.

Senator Ernest Chambers of Omaha, member of the Legislature's judiciary committee, immediately distributed a four-page memo to his fellow lawmakers, urging them to give "serious thought" before confirming Vitek's appointment.

"I strongly favor the appointment of Nebraska warden Charles Wolff as director of corrections, and oppose the interim appointment of New Hampshire warden Joseph Vitek," Chambers wrote.

The Omaha senator asked his colleagues to "reflect on the disruptive effects of other hasty gubernatorial appointments," citing institutions directed by Jack Anderson and Hesser as examples. There was a lengthy battle during the 1973 Legislative session over the confirmation of Anderson.

We ought not to be stampeded into a box where we must docilely agree to passing over Warden Wolff merely because the governor has again played his favorite trick of delaying significant acts in the Legislature is out of session," Chambers said.

Chambers acknowledged he hasn't always been a Wolff fan.

"Remember, I am the one who so strenuously opposed Warden Wolff's appointment as warden. His conduct of affairs has made me change my mind. When a mistake has been made, it should be admitted," the senator said.

Chambers said Wolff has participated in the penal reform developments in recent years and implied that the warden had been bypassed by Exon because the governor isn't so eager to make changes in the corrections system.

"Governor Exon's attitude toward corrections — retribution and revenge, not rehabilitation — is well known," Chambers said. "His vetoes of correction measures demonstrate his unwillingness to see anything done. His aborted attempt to disregard the law in appointing a policeman as director of corrections underlines his general negative feelings."

Another senator had some strong words about the governor's attitude toward penal reform.

Chairman Roland A. Luedtke of the judiciary committee included Exon's Republican challenger, budget chairman Richard Marvel, in his criticism.

"Unfortunately, correctional reform is not a popular political issue at any time and I can't certainly understand why both gubernatorial candidates Exon and Marvel have conveniently avoided voting for spending any money for capital construction for penal reform this election year," Luedtke said.

The Lincoln senator was upset by the Exon veto of appropriations for blueprint planning of a new reformatory.

Luedtke has asked the state fire marshal and health director to make inspections of what the senator calls the "rotting reformatory" the state is operating now.

Vitek, meanwhile, had to hurry back to New Hampshire to face an escape by seven prisoners. He was quoted as saying he was personally to blame for the escape because he hadn't been able to convince the New Hampshire legislature of the need for building new prison facilities.

The 41-year-old native of Chicago was director of treatment and clinical services at the New Hampshire prison before he became warden in 1972. Before that he had been warden of the Pontiac branch of the Illinois state penitentiary and prior to that he was assistant superintendent of education at the Stateville branch.

He is a graduate of Northern Illinois University.

The Nebraska post opened with the resignation late last year of Victor Walker. Exon chose Hesser first, and when that appointment was declared unacceptable he put Don Best in charge of the department on an acting basis. Best had been superintendent of the Geneva Youth Development Center (for girls).

Wolff became warden when Maurice Sigler resigned several years ago to become chairman of the federal parole board.

Drive, Dump and Depart

Unhappy with the service you've been getting from your garbage collector? Been thinking about tackling that little task yourself?

If so, go right ahead, and if the dump east of Wayne happens to be closed when you get out there, just take advantage of Wayne County's Free Dump and Landfill a mile east and a mile and a half north of Wayne.

The public facility is located just north of where Dog Creek crosses the county road. It's real handy to use. Since it's right next to the road, all you have to do is step out of your car and give your garbage a toss. Although there is plenty of garbage already in the ditch, it will hold much, much more, before it's filled.

You should be careful, however, because the road is caving away next to the dump and you could easily end up right among those dumpings if you get careless while driving along. That is actually an advantage when it comes to dumping your garbage, for you can pull up next to that spot in the road and give your garbage a toss right out of the window if you feel a bit lazy.

OBSERVATIONS

Today, it's tailored to fit

Some casual thoughts, tailored and edited to fit between the headline above and the story below:

—$30,000 is a lot of money to spend on bleachers for the high school auditorium, or for any other purpose as far as that goes. But members of the Wayne-Carroll school board, who are now considering bids opened during their meeting Monday night, are probably going to have to spend that money to make the school's athletic facilities complete. Those facilities may never be complete — it would take at least a football field, track and baseball diamond to accomplish that — but bleachers would be a big step in that direction. The school has the money to pay for those bleachers, so we might as well make the purchase before inflation boost the price up around $40,000.

—It's going to be interesting to see how the city council in Wayne votes Tuesday night on that ordinance which would permit selling beer on Sunday. Taking part in that vote will be three — possibly four — councilmen who won't be around when the new council takes over in June. Ending their terms at the close of this month are Keith Mosley, Harvey Brasch and Pat Gross, all of whom decided not to run for another term. Possibly ending his term is Vernon Russell, opposed in the election which will be held the same day the council meets. A betting man might put money behind the ordinance, failing, considering some of those going off the council might just leave such a ticklish problem up to somebody else to decide.

—I certainly hope voters are enjoying reading those comments by candidates the newspaper has been running. Some of them did very well, touching on specific topics which should give you a little better idea about where they stand on some issues. Others chose to be vague, noncommittal. Personally, I want to know what somebody thinks on current topics before I cast my vote for or against him.

CECIL WRIEDT, Candidate for City Council From Second Ward

Candidate's Comment:

Wriedt: Several Issues Are Important in City

The city issues that I think are important are these:

1. Spending of the tax dollar needs to be more closely scrutinized. Property taxes are becoming too great a burden on the home owner.
2. I do not approve of supplying city water and sewer to homes and businesses outside the city limits. This is a great tax loss to the city when a home or business can have city utilities and not pay city taxes.
3. Every effort should be made to get the lowest possible electric rates for Wayne residents. I would like to see our rates low enough so that electric heat could be used and be competitive with other fuels.
4. All streets should have a sidewalk on at least one side for pedestrian safety.
5. I would favor a full-time city engineer qualified to also assume several existing paid positions.
6. I feel that the best working relationship possible needs to exist between Wayne State College and the city.

JOHN VAKOC, Candidate for City Council From Fourth Ward

Candidate's Comment:

'City Council Should Represent the Voters'

One of the main issues with which I am concerned is the basic concept of the city council. Is it to be a group of popularly elected officials to whose "enlightened" leadership the people entrust their fates? Or is it to be a group of representatives whose function it is to bridge the communicational gap between the majority and city governmental machinery?

For my sake and that of those who seek fit to vote for me, it had better be the latter. While I possess a construction background which affords me some expertise in certain areas, I still feel that the position demands representation more than individual judgment.

It is my opinion that a city councilman's responsibility is to his ward and so it has been to the people of the fourth ward that I have directed my campaigning. I have done this by way of a questionnaire which I have distributed. The following are excerpts.

Parks — I personally think that with the addition of Henry Victor Memorial Park, Wayne will have sufficient parks. If any further need exists it is in the southwest part of Wayne.

Use of present city hospital building after it is vacated — I am in favor of gradual conversion to city offices and related space, including possible modest museum, club room space, etc. It should be functional, not fancy... Much of the space should be usable with no renovation.

Restriction of various liquor licenses — I am in favor of less restriction. The present system does not seem fair and equitable to all. Perhaps additional licenses should be available to qualified persons by drawing or bid so the city would not be in the position of having to discriminate against anyone. I would favor strict enforcement with stiff penalties for violators.

Sidewalks — I feel that this issue has been generally handled well in the past. Sidewalks should be added throughout the city in an orderly, equitable and consistent manner. I do take issue with the city for not enforcing sidewalk construction on property improved since the adoption of the ordinance.

Payment of sewer, water, paving, etc. projects — I feel that on new projects the cost should be borne by the participants in the district, with the only city participation being in the costs of those benefits to the general public such as intersections, fire hydrants, etc. On most renovations of existing facilities the city should bear the major expense. On all projects, property owners should be notified in advance of the possible extent of their responsibility and given opportunity to petition themselves out.

Downtown parking — I'm not convinced downtown parking is lacking. If it is, I feel that furnishing additional space should be a private effort by those businesses feeling the need. Too many businesses are already furnishing their own parking lots with no assistance from the city.

Airport development — Except for maintenance, I cannot see need for further expenditures in the next four years. Since we have no airline service there is little public benefit here and we seem to be maintaining the facility for a very small fraction of the community.

Industry attraction — I don't like subsidies and give-aways. How can we, in clear conscience, subsidize some businesses and not others? Who will determine what constitutes a qualifying industry? Perhaps we're selling ourselves short by not relying more on attractions such as our potential work force and the size and nature of our community.

My questionnaire dealt with several other topics such as city department staffing, garbage collection, warning sirens, etc. Anyone desiring a copy may have one simply by contacting me.

In conclusion, it should be clearly understood that my opinion is based upon knowledge I now possess and I would be foolish not to admit there may exist facts that could cause my opinions to change. The results of my questionnaire will be a prime factor in my decision making as a councilman should I be elected.

Area Residents To Receive Financial Shot in Arm

Residents of Wayne County will be getting a financial uplift during the next month or two by virtue of checks coming to them from Washington.

Most of this cash represents tax refunds due to people in the local area who paid a "target" amount in withholding taxes during the past year through payroll deductions than they needed to.

On the receiving end, also, will be all persons who are getting social security benefits each month. Their current checks are running seven per cent higher than they were in March. In July they will go up an additional four per cent.

All of which means there will be more spending money available to consumers in the area. Whether they will use it at once or save it away depends upon their individual attitudes toward present economic conditions.

With respect to the forthcoming tax refunds, they will go to some 3,000 persons in Wayne County and will total about $1,103,000, based upon figures from the Treasurer Department as to the size and the number of returns it expects to issue.

The total amount to be refunded, nationally, is a record $22 billion. It will go to some 60 million taxpayers who overpaid in 1973. That is, far more than last year.

The checks will average $361. It is estimated, as against $345 previously.

Together with the $2.4 billion additional that will be going to social security beneficiaries, it will mean that about $2.4 billion will be pumped into the economy shortly from these two sources.

Assuming that Wayne County gets its proportionate share of it, there will soon be approximately $1,224,000 more available to local people.

Just what they will do with it is anyone's guess at this time. The economists themselves are far apart in their forecasts on consumer reaction in this period of spiraling living costs.

Let's Build Wayne's Future

Samuel B. Hepburn Says:

Many young men and women leave Wayne each year because they see no future here. This is a tragedy. I believe Wayne's future is in our hands now. If we think positively about our goals:

- Developing our economy. (Starting with a thorough investigation of the current and future state of our railroad).
- Increasing citizen interest in government.
- Closer cooperation between town and college.

And if you are willing to work for these goals, we can keep the young talent we have been losing annually.

"The future destiny of the child is always the work of the mother."

It has been said that the character of a person is determined by what takes place prior to his fifth birthday. Behavior patterns and reaction to circumstances of various kinds have been established by that time.

During those first formative years the influence of the mother is paramount. With few exceptions, mothers work with tireless self-sacrifice to instill in their infants the habits of character which will enable us to develop into worthwhile adults.

Let's all honor Mother... or her memory... on Mother's Day. Let her know we understand and appreciate all she has done.

4-H SPEECH CONTEST
April 19th we had a 4-H speech contest at Wayne State College. Thirty-three 4-H'ers gave speeches, 29 of them in the junior division. This was especially pleasing to me since it's much easier to start giving speeches when you are young. Carl Grone and Mike Bethwick won the senior division and represented Wayne County in the district contest at Norfolk Saturday.

Gramlich are chairmen of the bus tour and have already started to make plans, one of which is to charter a bus to take livestock 4-H members, interested leaders and parents on a trip to the USDA livestock research center near Clay Center. The boys have already checked bus charter costs and are making plans to be sure the trip is educational as well as a lot of fun.

Small Gas Engines Project
A new 4-H project club is being started in Wayne. The project concerns small gas engines such as you find on lawn mowers and small motor bikes. It will involve learning what makes an engine run, maintenance, troubleshooting, tuneups and even how to take an engine apart and put it back together so it will run.

Terry Lull and Howard Schmidt are instructors. Terry is a mechanic at Red Car. Howard is an instructor at Wayne State College. The first meeting will be May 17 at Wayne State College. Watch The Wayne Herald for further details.

Rockets
Another new project that will be started soon in Wayne is a 4-H rocket club. Members will build their own rockets and learn how to launch them. Lionel Moore, instructor at Wayne State College will lead this club. Again, watch the Herald for an announcement about when and where the first rocket club meeting will be held.

A New Name
The Wayne County Junior Leaders have a new name. They are now calling themselves the Teen Supremes. The Teen Supremes have a very active program planned, including a bus tour, car rodeo, livestock judging workshop, crop judging workshop, party for new members, party for Japanese exchange students, food stand at fair, money-making projects and teaching teams. These are enough projects to keep them busy for a long time.

Over 1,600 delegates are expected to attend the 52nd National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 25-29, 1973. The 4-H winners from across the country and Puerto Rico, will be accompanied by some 250 4-H leaders and greeted by over 300 representatives of 4-H donor organizations and some 200 members of the press. Total Congress attendance is expected to top 2,400 persons.

JOE WILSON,
Candidate for
First District
County
Commissioner

Candidate's
Comment:

Wilson: Commissioner's Job Is A Full-Time One

As a candidate for the second term for county commissioner, I believe that it is a full-time job. To be fair to the public, the commissioner should devote his full time for the benefit of the taxpayers of the county and get the upmost out of every tax dollar spent. That will help hold taxes at a minimum.

It is well known that it costs a lot of money to run county government, build better roads and bridges. You can get a lot out of a dollar if you are interested in your work and devote time and good judgment to your job.

A big factor today is hiring of machine operators. They are not to be found, it seems, as no one is interested in that line of labor. That makes it difficult to get a lot of road construction done each year.

I feel that another important job is snow removal, something which can be hazardous at times. But it is important to clear the roads of snow for the safety of our school children and mail carriers and in case of sickness. Today a large percentage of our school children travel by school bus. That is the reason I feel that it is a full-time job.

Garden Tips

What can be done with Easter lilies?
Measure Easter lilies from the ground up about four or five inches and strip the bottom leaves off to that point. Take the plant outside and remove the flower head after it has faded so it won't come to seed. Knock the plant out of the pot, dig a hole so leaves that are left will be at the top of the ground and plant in a sunny spot. It will be hardy outside.

Lettuce was once classified as a sterile plant and believed so by the conductors to sterility in those who ate it. On those poor bunnies - nobody told them!

EXTENSION NOTES

By Joycelyn Smith

Asparagus, Lily-of-the-Meal
Along with the flowers of spring comes an edible member of the lily family - asparagus. This green vegetable can be a special bloom to any mealtime situation, plain or fancy.

Asparagus goes well with meat, fowl, fish or egg dishes, giving a festive touch when served with melted butter, hollandaise or au gratin. It is pure gourmet when served as an accompaniment to chicken a la king, on toast or eggs benedict!

If you have never served fresh asparagus, do yourself and your family a favor and try it. Tender asparagus has brittle, easily punctured, straight green stalks, and tips that are well formed and tightly closed. Spreading tips mean over maturity. Very thin, wilted, or crooked stalks may be tough or stringy.

The asparagus stalk should be a rich, green color. The lower part of the stalk may sometimes be purple, due to cold weather in growing areas. It does not affect the quality, but it is less tender than the green upper part.

Station Tests Featured In 'Weekly'

Walt Tolman and the high moisture feeding experiments he is conducting at the Northeast Station was the feature subject in this week's Farm Weekly published by the St. Louis City Journal.

Tolman, district beef specialist at the research facility just east of Concord, said in the story that there "hasn't been a lot of research done around the country on this subject (feeding high moisture corn), and this is why we're doing it. I feel we need more information."

Tolman is presently feeding more than 300 steers a mixture of high moisture shelled corn, some corn silage and a mineral antibiotic and vitamin supplement.

According to Tolman, experiments at the Northeast Station and other research facilities show that it requires less protein to finish cattle, especially late in the finishing period, than is often fed.

The high price of corn and protein is making many feeders look at other feed in an attempt to cut back on feeding costs. High moisture corn saves feeders as much as two per cent or more on their feed costs and

Alfalfa Crops More Popular With Shortage

The fertilizer shortage is raising the popularity of alfalfa, report two University of Nebraska extension agronomists.

The shortage is encouraging more alfalfa seeding, and the price of alfalfa hay has advanced over previous years, they add.

NU agronomists Louis Daigger and Wally Moine agree that from now to May 15 is an excellent time to plant alfalfa. Two cuttings are possible with the first year when seeded without a nurse crop.

Any weeds present will need to be controlled, they add. This can be done prior to planting with a disc or other tillage tool. Plowing is not necessary in many of the fields. Chemicals to control weeds until the alfalfa covers the ground will need to be applied and incorporated before seeding. Balan or Eplam are effective herbicides.

If there is a serious erosion hazard, they note, it may be necessary to seed some oats with the alfalfa. One-half bushel is the usual seeding rate suggested.

Notes Daigger, "The only fertilizer needed for alfalfa in most areas is phosphorus. Where alfalfa is grown on sandy soils low in organic matter (irrigated and dryland), applications of sulfur frequently are needed."

The agronomists note that high yields of alfalfa require lots of water. Alfalfa uses from five to seven inches of water per ton, depending on the efficiency of the irrigation. A yield of five tons takes about 30 inches of water. At the first of the season, the alfalfa crop will use from .16 to .20 inch of water a day. During the hot growing season, this requirement may go as high as .30 of an inch per day. Water holding capacities of the finer textured soils will need irrigations more often and lighter applications.

Commissioner

Candidate's
Comment:

'We Can Save Money'

I am for better county government, as $3.5 million to $4 million are a lot of tax dollars that are spent yearly.

Letting bids on all major items would save a great deal. I am sure. Sharing equipment in all three districts would be a large item, as machinery is very costly and should not stand idle. Renting some little used machines or contracting that work done would be another way to save tax money.

We need better roads for school bus and milk routes, as both are very important. The more traffic, the more need for maintaining to keep them in good shape.

Okays Seniors For Graduation

The Wayne-Carroll school board Monday night approved a list of 100 seniors for graduation this spring. The class, which may include two other students by commencement time, will receive degrees at 8 p.m. on May 20 at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium. Speaker for the evening will be Val Peterson, distinguished professor of political science at Wayne State.

FREEMAN DECKER, Candidate for Mayor of Wayne

Candidate's Comment:

Decker: Industry and Cooperation Important

There are a few things that I would like to see happen in Wayne. First, there is a great need to continue the existing efforts of city officials and the Chamber of Commerce to attract new industry to Wayne. The future growth of the city may well depend on this. The completion of the new industrial buildings now underway will prove to be a magnet for other prospects. Wayne has great potential for growth if we only continue to work for this new industry. Close cooperation between the city, the college, the county and the school district is a must. I would look forward to the time when our city police department could work cooperatively with the sheriff's office out of one facility with a resulting saving to both agencies. Indications are that natural gas service to generate our own electricity will be terminated within the next four years. With the price of fuel oil sky rocketing, it is time for the city to start making this decision. "Where is that point where it becomes cheaper to purchase our electricity from some other source rather than generate it ourselves?" With an annual budget of over two and a half million dollars it is absolutely necessary that each item be carefully evaluated and this question asked, "Is this proposed expenditure absolutely necessary?" Finally, Wayne needs to again take pride in its personal appearance. This can be done only by asking each business and each citizen to conduct his or her own clean-up drive of their own property. Wayne can be beautiful and attractive.

CAROL MOSLEY, Candidate for City Council From Third Ward

Candidate's Comment:

Mosley: High Quality Of Life Is Important

At this particular time when so many serious problems, such as the energy crisis and inflation, confront us and give new dimensions to our problems it is important that those individuals running for the council be willing to give their very best in order to resolve the issues that come before the council. I believe it is imperative that those elected be open-minded, honest, clear thinking individuals who are responsive to the desires of the people and who are willing to accept the responsibility for and the consequences of the decisions they make. I feel strongly about this, and I have a deep and concerned interest in, and desire to serve, this community. It is difficult to say which issues will be decided by the present council and what new ones will arise for the incoming council. However, there are several areas I would like to comment on. An adequate supply of electrical power for every business, industry and home is essential. In view of the limited availability of natural gas for power generation, the increased cost and limited supply of fuel oil and the many questions involved with the purchase of power from NPPD, I would suggest that this is an area where consultation with experts is essential. It is too critical a subject to base a decision on a layman's limited knowledge. In regard to the progress made in persuading new industry to locate in Wayne, I commend those responsible. I think every effort should be made to insure that this is only the beginning for industry here. The mayor and council can play an important and effective role in providing an atmosphere conducive to continued industrial expansion. Everyone in the community stands to benefit either directly or indirectly. Whether it be a direct return on an investment, a broadened tax base, increased job opportunities or payrolls spent in local businesses, it is to Wayne's advantage. By providing a conducive atmosphere I do not mean the city should in any way subsidize industry. As an example, providing excessively low utility rates as some individuals are advocating is not only a form of favoritism but money out of the taxpayer's pocket. A relatively unknown issue before the council is fluoridation of the city water supply. The state legislature has passed legislation requiring cities to fluoridate their water. We have readily accepted inoculations against disease; let's provide the same preventative help in regard to dental health. Fluoride does not replace regular dental care any more than inoculations replace regular medical checkups, but it does help. Most of all it helps those children who do not get regular dental care. Statistics show a 50 to 60 per cent reduction in cavities occurs in areas where youngsters receive fluoride. An added bonus is that fluoride prevents loss of calcium from the bones of the elderly thus reducing the number of broken bones. Another plus for fluoridation is that other than the initial cost it runs about six cents per person per year. A controversial issue in Wayne is to have or not have sidewalks. I think we owe our citizens who walk as much consideration as those who drive. Despite some objections, it is interesting to note that sidewalks were given high priority in the survey taken by The Wayne Herald. I am aware that problems exist in older areas of the city, but I feel that with a maximum effort by all involved the problems can be resolved. In my opinion, the key factor in deciding any issue that may come before the council is: does it provide, maintain and insure a high quality of life for all the citizens of Wayne?

FINAL BULLETIN

An Open Letter To The Citizens of Wayne

During the past several weeks I have attempted, through my ads and in my house to interest you, to bring to you bits of information that I thought would interest you as they relate to the problems of the City of Wayne and my qualifications as a candidate for the position of Mayor of Wayne.

I have pointed out to you that the operation of the city is big business, bigger than most people realize. I have tried also, to tell you that no city can remain static, it needs to grow and in order to grow it needs to make every effort to hold on to its present businesses and industry and to attract more families and more industry. I have pointed out to you that the operation of the city is big business, bigger than most people realize. I have tried also, to tell you that no city can remain static, it needs to grow and in order to grow it needs to make every effort to hold on to its present businesses and industry and to attract more families and more industry. I have pointed out to you that the operation of the city is big business, bigger than most people realize. I have tried also, to tell you that no city can remain static, it needs to grow and in order to grow it needs to make every effort to hold on to its present businesses and industry and to attract more families and more industry.

New industry is coming to Wayne and more will be coming if we only have confidence in the opportunities that are ours. Our Mayor and our City Council along with the Chamber of Commerce and our progressive minded citizens can spear-head this effort.

We have some problems, but none of them are insurmountable if we take advantage of the opportunities that are ours. We need more parking for visitors to our city, with some effort this can be achieved. Our city light plant which has served us well for many years is facing a fuel crisis. The time may come when the lack of natural gas and the spiraling cost of fuel oil may make it desirable and cheaper to purchase our electricity through our present tie-in with another source. This is only a matter of economics and common sense.

We need to remember that the presence of the college and its 2000 plus students add tremendously to the economy of Wayne. We cannot take this institution for granted but must make every effort to make it welcome.

I whole-heartedly believe in economy in government and feel that we need to remember that when money is voted for any project, it is "your" money and not someone else's.

It has been my very best to carry on a clean campaign. I believe that it has been in good taste. If elected your Mayor, I promise to devote almost full time to this very important position. I feel that I have the maturity, good judgment and administrative experience necessary to head up a growing Wayne.

If you feel that my qualifications fit the need for this position, I will truly appreciate your support at the election on Tuesday, May 14.

Candidate's
Comment:

'We Should Be Proud'

Generally speaking, I think we have one of the finest cities in Northeast Nebraska, one we should all be proud of. I feel all of our departments are adequately staffed, but not being used in the most efficient capacity. We are all quick to criticize our departments but are slow to commend them on jobs well done.

Wayne citizens are aware of the fine recreational program available to all ages and I hope to see its continued success through our backing and support.

There exists some eyesores in Wayne that could be eliminated through some community involvement. Hard work and effort should take the place of spending the taxpayers' money for another project.

No one likes to spend money for studies unless they can see a real benefit, but in more cases than not I feel they would have pointed out factors to consider in addition to a more economical route.

Sincere effort and thought should be given to attract new industry to Wayne. Without progress we will be just another small town struggling to survive.

gas-stingy... economical... with a little Cougar in it.

Shown - Comet with Custom Option

For '74, we've let a little Cougar loose in our economical Mercury Comet with the special Custom Option. You'll see it in this Comet's soft, reclining bucket seats and rich, woodgrained vinyl paneling. In the thick shaggy carpeting and handsomely padded door panels. You'll feel it in the way this Comet rides on steel-belted radials. Still, with all this luxury, it's an economical Mercury Comet. With a little Cougar in it.
