

Glenn Miller, Rock On Concert Program

Music lovers hooked on Glenn Miller as well as fans of rock and country and western songs should find Tuesday night's Wayne High stage band concert to their liking.

The concert, fourth annual one for the group, will be held at Ramsey Theater at Wayne State beginning at 7:30 o'clock. It will be the group's last performance of the year.

Director Ron Dalton said there is no particular theme to this year's concert, the second one to be held at Ramsey. "We'll play several different styles of music, most of them with a swing or jazz rhythm. Last year we emphasized the 1950's, but this year we're going WAYNE HIGH'S Ann Owens, left, was named recipient of the band and orchestra awards while Jane Ring was named to receive the vocal music honor Friday night.

Top WH Seniors in Music Are Selected

Ann Owens and Jane Ring were named Friday night as the outstanding Wayne High School seniors in band, orchestra and vocal music.

Ann was chosen to receive the John Phillip Sousa Band Award and the National School Orchestra Award for her exceptional performances in those two areas. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Orvid Owens.

Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ring, was chosen to receive the honor as outstanding senior in vocal music.

The two, honored during the school's annual music banquet, will have their names inscribed on plaques which remain in the school.

Small Gas Engines Focus of 4-H Club

Operation, maintenance and repair of small gas engines will be the focus of a 4-H club which will be formed in Wayne County.

An organizational meeting for boys or girls 10 years of age and over who are interested in joining the club will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. on the second floor of the industrial arts building at Wayne State College.

Teaching the club will be Dr. Howard Schmidt, industrial arts teacher at WS, and Terry Lult, a mechanic in Wayne.

Youths, who need not be 4-Hers to enroll, will learn about small gas engines such as those in lawnmowers and power saws.

Sunday Sale Of Beer Is Council Item

Councilmen in Wayne will vote Tuesday night during their regular meeting on an ordinance which would permit taverns to sell beer on Sunday.

The proposed ordinance is scheduled for the third and final reading, necessary before a vote can be taken on whether to approve it.

Also scheduled for Tuesday night's meeting, which begins at 7:30 in the Woman's Club room at the city auditorium, are several reports by city administrators. Fred Brink, among those reports are ones on street layout and engineering at the city's industrial site east of town, tennis courts, and street and storm sewer engineering.

The meeting will be the next to last one for three — possibly four — councilmen.

Ending their terms this month are Pat Gross in the second ward, Keith Mosley in the third ward and Harvey Brasch in the fourth ward. All three decided not to seek another term in office.

Also ending his term this month but seeking re-election in Tuesday's balloting is Vernon Russell. First ward representative.

Rural Woman Is Injured in 2-Car Mishap

A rural Wayne woman was hospitalized in Wayne Friday afternoon after she received minor cuts and a possible concussion in a two-car accident two miles north and two west of Wayne.

Injured in the mishap was Mrs. Dorothy Grone, 63, who was driving a car which collided with a pickup driven by Rodney Haglund, 22, also of rural Wayne. Haglund received a minor injury and was not hospitalized.

State patrolman Bill Watson of Wayne, who investigated the mishap with the help of the Wayne County sheriff's office, said the accident happened at a blind intersection. Mrs. Grone was west bound, Haglund on a south bound when they collided. Both vehicles were extensively damaged, he said.

Stores to Close May 27th

Most Wayne businesses will be closed Monday, May 27, in observance of Memorial Day, but they also will close during the parade the morning of May 30.

The retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce voted in favor of closing during the national observance of Memorial Day on May 27th instead of closing during the state observance on the 30th. A poll of Chamber members showed that businessmen preferred the Monday closing to the Thursday closing.

The Chamber will urge stores to close during the local parade, scheduled to begin at 10 a. m., and will urge owners and managers to permit employees to visit the cemetery.

Local Student Honor Grad at UN-L

James Sturm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sturm of Wayne, was one of 39 students who received their degrees "with high distinction" from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln during commencement ceremonies Saturday.

"With high distinction" is the highest academic honor conferred upon a graduating student at UN-L.

Sturm, a 1970 graduate of Wayne High School, majored in electrical engineering in the College of Engineering and Technology. He received a bachelor of science degree.

Family at Wakefield Is 'Neighbor'

The Eaton family at Wakefield has been singled out by the Knights of Ak Sar Ben for special recognition for being "primarily responsible for the city's outstanding baseball facility."

Ak Sar Ben selected the family as one of this year's recipients of the Good Neighbor Award, an award given out annually in recognition of unselfish service by groups and individuals without thought of personal gain or reward.

This year the awards will go to 93 individuals and 20 groups across the state.

The Eaton "gain" praise for their voluntary work in maintaining the baseball field and for handling the summer recreation programs.

Receiving recognition are Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Eaton, who operate a greenhouse at Wakefield, their sons Paul, Tom and Rob, and Paul's wife Janell.

Paul, a teacher at West Elementary School in Wayne, has handled the summer program at Wakefield for six years, and his wife was in charge of two girls' teams.

Bicycle School Is June 10-12

The bicycle safety school conducted annually by the Wayne police department will be held June 10-12 this year, so as not to conflict with area Bible school classes.

Youngsters aged six through 12 may attend the training session, according to officer E. L. "Pat" Hailey who conducts the training session each year.

Contest for Mayor's Post Expected to Up Turnout

Voters in Wayne will select a new mayor and four councilmen in Tuesday's primary election.

The voter turnout is expected to be above normal because of the interest generated by the four candidates for mayor and the nine candidates for four council seats.

Seeking the mayor's post are Sam Hepburn, a Wayne High School senior who will graduate less than a week after the election; a retired Wayne State College instructor, Dr. Freeman Decker; middle school teacher-

4,909 Voters Could Mark X's Tuesday

A total of 4,909 voters could go to the polls in Tuesday's primary election in Wayne County, reports county clerk Norris Weible.

That's the number of voters who were registered as of late Friday afternoon, he said.

Of that total, 2,353 live in the city of Wayne and could take part in the voting for mayor and city council seats.

Weible said he expects a "good percentage" of the voters in Wayne to go to the polls Tuesday because of the large amount of interest generated by the four candidates for mayor and the nine candidates for the four city council seats which will have to be filled by the end of this month.

Weible also looks for a fairly good voter turnout in the first and third county commission districts where the Republican incumbents are being challenged by other Republicans for the spot on the ballot in the November general election.

During the primary election two years ago, 2,411 voters cast ballots in the county, Weible said.

A total of 1,257 voters went to the polls in the city of Wayne during that primary.

Republicans outnumber Democrats handsly in the county, 3,102 to 1,574, according to Weible's figures. There are 233 Independents registered. Independents cannot vote in political races in the primary, but they can take part in nonpolitical voting such as the city- and school board races.

Republicans outnumber Democrats in the city of Wayne also, but not by as big a margin as county wide. There were 1,356 Republicans registered in the city Friday, 868 Democrats. The city had 129 Independents.

More than half the Democrats and Independents registered in the county live in Wayne.

businessman Mirron Jenness, and Rich Hall, a student at Wayne State.

The race for the third ward council seat attracted three candidates — Leo Hansen, Bob Merchant and Carol Mosley, wife of the person now holding that seat.

Seeking re-election in the first ward is Vernon Russell, the only one of four candidates ending his term this month who is trying for another stretch in office. Opposing him is Larry Mueir.

Candidate for the seat now held by Pat Gross in the second ward are Carolyn Fitter and Carl Wriedt.

John Vokoc and Bob Wortman are vying for the fourth ward seat now held by Harvey Brasch.

This is the first municipal election in many years to draw so many candidates for the mayor's job, according to city officials.

Because of the number of candidates, their differences in ages and the considerable amount of interest shown in local government in recent months, officials anticipate a fairly heavy turnout of voters.

Wayne County clerk Norris Weible said he looks for a fairly large number of voters to take part in the election in Wayne.

If his predictions hold true, more than 1,300 voters could cast ballots. The last primary election two years ago resulted in 2,411 voters casting ballots.

Voters in Area Towns To Face Long Ballots

Voters in the nine communities in the Wayne area will face some long lists of candidates when they go to the polls Tuesday.

Voters will name members to their village boards as well as choose who they want to send on to the general election in two races for seats on school boards.

Voters at Allen and Wakefield will cast ballots in school board races because the number of candidates was at least double the number of vacancies. Voters in Laurel and Winside won't cast ballots in school board races because the number of candidates was fewer than twice the vacancies. Those voters will select their board members in the general election in November.

Following are the races and candidates in the surrounding towns:

Area Towns Voting on Fluoridation

Three communities in the Wayne area — Concord, Dixon and Laurel — will vote Tuesday on whether or not to fluoridate their drinking water.

If voters approve adding fluoride to their water, the communities will adjust the fluoride level up to one part per million (PPM) by the first of the year.

If voters oppose adding fluoride, the level will remain at what it is naturally. The level for both Concord and Dixon is 32 PPM while in Laurel's two wells it ranges from 26 to 37 PPM, according to figures published in the Nebraska Municipal Review.

Wayne and all the surrounding communities will have to boost the fluoride level in their drinking water unless voters opposed to it put the issue on the ballot for the November general election or a special election.

Fluoride levels in towns not voting on the issue in Tuesday's primary election:

Wayne	.26 to .50
Allen	.28 to .48
Carroll	.37 to .43
Hoskins	.21 to .34
Wakefield	.32 to .37
Winside	.37 to .55

Need A Ride?

Voters needing rides to the polls Tuesday can call the Chamber of Commerce from the time the polls open at 8 a. m. to the time they close at 8 p. m., according to Chamber manager Howard Witt.

Offering to give free rides to the polls are members of three service groups — Wayne County Jaycees, Lions Club and Kiwanis Club.

Danny's World, Black for A While, Is Starting to Brighten

By BOB BARTLETT

A year ago Danny Koester's world consisted of things most 12-year-old boys enjoy — playing baseball, riding bikes, wrestling with the family dogs, having fun.

But that was before the Duane Koesters found out their son's sickness would grow worse, forcing the Allen youth from his farm home to a Seattle hospital.

Three years ago it was discovered that Danny had paradoxical nocturnal hemoglobinuria — a rare blood disease that causes a breakdown of the red blood cells. Last fall it developed into aplastic anemia, a condition where his body was not producing any blood cells.

After numerous trips to Omaha, the family was told to visit the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota for further help. Doctors there first thought the disease was cancerous, since it closely resembled leukemia, but tests proved otherwise.

As Danny's condition grew worse, the family decided to try an experimental operation at a Seattle hospital.

In January both Danny's parents went with him to the hospital for the bone marrow operation. The operation involved removing the youngster's bone marrow and replacing it with marrow donated by his sister, Mrs. Jon Rastiede of Lincoln.

Several weeks after the operation Danny's condition started to improve. The operation was a success.

During recovery, doctors agreed he could leave the hospital for a short time to live with his mother at a nearby apartment. But the boy's resistance to infection still was low, and he contacted shingles and was forced to return to the hospital.

After several more weeks in bed Danny was well enough to return to his Allen home the first of this month to be reunited with his brothers, Jim, 18, Lindy, 15, and Doug, 12, and sister, Joan, 20, a student at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"When Danny, now 14, left the farm in January," explained Joan, "both family dogs — Jason and Lady — were kind of lost."

"You should have seen those dogs when Danny came home," laughed his mother.

The last time Danny had seen the entire family together was during Easter. But the family's stay was cut short because Danny's brothers had to return to the farm chores waiting for them and Joan had to return to the university.

The kids really had a heavy load trying to keep the farm going. Mrs. Koester pointed out. The youths weren't alone in running the farm, however. Relatives, including both grandparents and Duane's brother Larry, occasionally stopped to help.

Although the family is back together again, it will be at least nine months to a year before Danny will be completely recovered," Mrs. Koester said. Danny will be confined to the farm for a while but he will be able to walk around the Koester's 800-acre spread and visit the farm animals.

Doctors told the Koesters it is safe for Danny to be around most of the farm animals. The only animals they will have to get rid of are the cats, which can carry a certain fungus that might be harmful to Danny.

The Koesters figure the cost of traveling and hospitalization operations may run about $25,000.

When members of the Dixon County Farm Bureau heard about the estimated cost, the organization wasted little time in setting up a fund to help pay those bills.

As of Wednesday, donations from all over Northeast Nebraska were about $15,240, collected during the four months Danny was in the hospital.

"We're, terribly grateful to everyone for the help they have given us," Mrs. Koester said.

THURSDAYS are bad days for weekly newspaper editors. That's the day:

You get two anonymous letters, one complaining that all you ever print in the newspaper is sports and that you don't appreciate the finer things in life, the other complaining that you're down the road a ways covers local baseball and track better than you do.

You remember you forgot to cover that meeting Tuesday night and you're sure the next phone call will be the irate president asking where the hell you were.

Your little daughter falls and cuts her lip and you make three trips to the doctor's office before the stitches decide to stay where they're supposed to.

You lose your keys and end up trying to keep from looking suspicious as you walk back and forth in the alley across from the police department waiting for somebody to open up the back door.

You find a mistake in a story about a guy who is already sure you don't like him and now probably thinks you made the mistake on purpose.

You get a phone call from a mother who says her son was named president of the Bucking Broncos Club at Cubbyville State College in Texas and you should do a feature story on him.

Your dog gets loose and three neighbors call saying they told the police and your name better appear in the court news when you pay the fine or they'll know the reason why.

You have to write a couple editorials and the only exciting thing happening lately was when Old Zeke got drunk in the local bar and got tossed in jail after he punched the bartender in the nose when he made fun of his bet that he could streak all the way home without getting caught.

Yep, Thursdays are bad days for weekly newspaper editors. No wonder the smart ones seem to be conveniently gone much of the day. That's better than ulcers.

PRESIDENT NIXON has fired all his staff and hired Japanese assistants in place of them, goes a story told by one of the men who talked on rural zoning in Wayne Tuesday night.

There are three reasons Nixon decided to replace his assistants with Japanese: They're better with electronics. When they get caught doing something wrong, they are more honest. And when they get caught doing something wrong, they feel extremely embarrassed and commit suicide.

IN ALL my born days I never thought I would read these words in an editorial in the Omaha World Herald: "The President should resign."

If the World Herald has weighed the evidence and found Nixon wanting, there's little hope for him. The editorial writers on the newspaper backed Nixon most of the time in past months, but those tapes with all their unintelligibles and expetives have shown them the way.

But once again I'll have to disagree with the daily. If what more and more people are suspecting turns out to be true, Nixon shouldn't resign. He should be booted out. And treated just like you or me if we got caught doing the same things.

STREAKING has struck once more in Wayne. Seen on a sign: "Please bare with us during our move."

HERE ARE my predictions for Tuesday's elections:

—Vernon Russell over Larry Meier in the city's first ward (you can disagree with Russell, but he'll speak his piece, something many people admire).

—Carolyn Filler over Cecil Wriedt in the second ward (she's impressed a lot of people with her house-to-house calls and promises to represent the people).

—Carol Mosley over Leo Hansen and Bob Merchant in the third ward (she's outspoken and will get a lot of votes because of it).

—John Vakoc over Bob Wortman in the fourth ward (his questionnaires and personal visits as well as past concern with local government impress quite a few people).

—Freeman Decker over Sam Hepburn (barely). Miron Jenness (more so) and Rich Hall (considerably) in the race for mayor (Hepburn's organized campaign, something which a few older guys might learn something from, wasn't enough to overcome Decker's built-in votes).

—Merlin Biermann over Joe Wilson in the first district county commissioner race (Wilson's gruffness angers a lot of people).

—Floyd Burt over Lawrence Backstrom and Ed Watkins in the third district race (his difficulties with that malfeasance charge didn't hurt him that much).

—Margaret Lundstrom, Dale Stollenberg, Wilbur Giese, JoAnn Stollenberg, Rafael Sosa and Morris Sandahl over Steve Hall, Vicky Skokan and Dallas Havener in the Wayne-Carroll school board race (too many people to talk about in one sentence).

It'll be interesting to see how right — or wrong — I am. T.P.S. — Those selections aren't necessarily the way I would vote.)

'Here's how I feel about teachers' salary schedule'

Dear Editor: I read with interest your report on the school board meeting (Thursday, May 9th issue). I would like to have the opportunity to put in writing how I really feel and what I think I said at the meeting.

There are few school districts in the state that have a higher than 4x4 percentage increase for experience and education that do not have either a corresponding low base or a lower maximum salary. This is necessary to prevent a great spread between the starting salary and the top salary. I do feel our board has been negligent in allowing as large a spread as we have on our salary scale. Last year it started at $6,800 and went to nearly $13,000.

If you will check with the other board members you will find I have been very pushy for raising the base and rolling back the 4x5.5 percentage increases which we now have to approximately 4x4. My reasoning is that $6,800 was not a living wage for a man and a family. Not a very good one at any rate. I am also not convinced that more education (beyond a point) really makes a teacher better. We have a very fine teaching staff, but I seriously doubt that all the teachers at the top are really twice as good as all the teachers near the bottom of our scale.

I repeat: I think a spread of 100 per cent is too much. A spread of 50 per cent would be more realistic in my opinion. I would like to also make the comment: A good teacher is priceless. The facts also prove our teachers are well paid. The state records show we have one of the highest average teacher salaries in the state. This has not been accomplished without some sacrifice by the taxpayers. Our school district is one of the poorest financially in the state. We ranked 245 out of 296 districts for evaluation per pupil last year. This resulted in our having one of the highest mill levies in the state.

I have stated these things just to give people something to think about. I do not believe we should have any sudden earthshaking changes. But I do think we have to evaluate all aspects of a situation regularly and if we see where a change can improve our system, we should move in that direction. A good school system takes a lot of cooperation, starting with the parents right up through the system to the superintendent and the board of education. We have a good system. We have an outstanding superintendent. It's the public's responsibility to elect a responsible, sensible, balanced board.

'Candidate's suggestion is abhorrent'

Dear Editor: One should react with horror at the proposal made in writing by one of the majority candidates in Wayne that, in order to help with the enforcement of certain laws, the adolescents of Wayne ought to spy on one another and then function as tattletales.

This is the kind of arrangement one associates with Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union.

One's horror should be intensified, moreover, by the fact that the laws in question are surplinary, in the sense that they deal with "victimless crimes," and therefore have the most fragile sort of legal base.

Heaven preserve us from a community in which everyone between the ages of 15 and 21 years is a semi-official narc. — T.H. Stevenson

'Up to people to decide on flouridation'

Dear Editor: I am writing in regard to the mandatory flouridation of our water supply by Jan. 1, 1975, according to LB 854 passed in the last session of the Nebraska Legislature.

Flouridation has been researched and documented by a Professional Advisory Board of the Greater New York Committee Opposed to Flouridation, Inc. Some of the facts brought up by this committee are:

1. The adding of fluoride to your drinking water is for the alleged purpose of partly reducing decay in the teeth of children up to age 10.
2. There is not enough known about the effects of fluoride. We, the general population, are guinea pigs until all the facts are learned.
3. If parents wish their children to have fluoride they can give them tablets or drops at one-fifth the cost of water flouridation and without forcing it upon others who do not need or want it.
4. People who have arthritis, kidney disease, diabetes or allergies, and large drinkers of hot water and malnourished children run a greater risk of being afflicted with fluoride poisoning by drinking fluoridated water.
5. Many countries in Europe have rejected flouridation.
6. When all facts are known and people are given a free choice, they generally reject flouridation.

Flouride is a poison and if added to our water supply would certainly require an experienced and knowledgeable operator plus the equipment necessary to get it into the water supply and the cost would be more if you have a complex water system. Fluoride has a tendency to rust and corrode the pipes.

Legislative Bill 854 is important because fluoride will go into effect by Jan. 1, 1975 unless the people in each town vote it down. This issue of whether or not to flouridate the water supply can be put on the ballot of the general election. If a special election is held for this it will require extra cost to the taxpayers. If the city officials do not put flouridation up for a vote of the people, the only way it can be put on the ballot is by petition.

If no election is held, LB 854 will automatically go into effect. Many towns in Nebraska have already voted on flouridation. Fremont and Newman Grove are among those voting it down. Laurel and Plainview voters will have this issue on their May 14 Primary Election ballot.

I feel the city officials have the duty of presenting flouridation to the voters and letting the voters make the decision on whether or not to flouridate. If city officials do not care enough to get it on the ballot, I am sure there are enough concerned citizens to get up a petition to get flouridation on the ballot of the general election in November. — Mrs. Gerald Otle

OBSERVATIONS

These spoke out

We gave all 27 candidates who have opposition in Tuesday's election a chance to comment on issues which they think the voters should be aware of before they cast their ballots in races for the Wayne County board of commissioners, Wayne-Carroll board of education and city-mayor posts in Wayne.

Nineteen of those candidates took time out of their daily schedules, many of them busy enough without additional tasks, to write down some of their thoughts as election nears and the voters start making their choices. We take our hats off to those candidates, because we firmly believe our system of government isn't worth a hoot if the people who hold or seek public office can't or won't communicate with the public. It took a large amount of space to print those replies in the newspaper, forcing us to leave out or hold for later issues stories and pictures which normally would have been used had those comments not been carried.

Some thoughts after

A few random thoughts after mulling over some of the things which went on during Monday night's Wayne-Carroll school board meeting:

Board members seem caught between the devil and the deep blue sea: They have to annually raise the base pay for teachers if they want to keep the good teachers they have and attract others, but those salary hikes mean the taxpayers have to dig a little deeper each year. Still, something seems wrong in hiking that base pay each year (5.5 per cent this year) while you already have built into the salary schedule a four per cent hike over the base for each additional year a teacher stays in the school system. What that means is that teachers who stick around next year will get something close to a 10 per cent raise. That may not necessarily be anything to brag about in this period of seemingly rampant inflation, but I know a lot of people who would be overjoyed if they got it.

The board is moving in the right direction in having the superintendent study possible recreational uses of the school land south and west of the elementary building in Wayne. Although the school can continue getting by without a football field, the board should be giving due consideration to building a track in that area. Athletes in track at Wayne High are being shortchanged, something which shouldn't happen. There are other ways that land could be put to use, and although it is going to require spending money to accomplish it, the board should be moving in that direction.

Following are the individuals who spoke to the voters through this public service effort by the newspaper:

That was a nice thought, the board's decision to send a letter of thanks you to Milford Barner, groundskeeper for several years before giving up the job last year. There are few towns at public places which consistently looked as spotless and well cared for as the one at Wayne High.

CEDAR COUNTY does not qualify for state and federal funds to implement a county wide law enforcement system because county sheriff John Riibe failed to file required reports.

State law permits the county to provide law enforcement services to each community through the sheriff's office, but to be eligible for funding, the sheriff's office has to submit crime reports monthly to the state. The sheriff's office has not filed any of those reports so far this year, making the county ineligible for grants.

Bicycle Fads & Fashions — 1890's The resurgence of the bicycle has made it a factor in transportation and not primarily a toy for the young as it was for decades. An element in the trend has been, of course, that the bicycle is sometimes a status symbol and the need to ride more imagined than real. However, the seriousness of the energy crisis may make American cycling what it is in Europe — a necessity.

The first real Nebraska bicycle fad appeared in the 1890's after the high-wheeled, direct-drive, "boneshaker" model had given way to the practical chain-and-spoke "safety" model with identically sized wheels. Nebraska State Historical Society newspaper files are evidence that manufacturers, dealers, and journalists used the newspaper columns to advertise this simple machine and to report on its sport and social aspects. By 1900 there were thirty million "wheels" in the nation.

Women's page writers, citing cycling's benefits, encouraged ladies to ride for their health in new and "liberated" outfits featuring the "diamond frame" style, a flowing culotte-like costume.

On the society page a headline writer of the Nebraska State Journal (Lincoln) of June 27, 1897, made these exaggerated claims for the wheel: "In Debt to the Bicycle. It comes just in time to save us from national decay. Is the salvation of women. Our greatest safeguard against degeneration — why coming generations will bless the wheel." The article itself began: "Women were going into decline. Their nervous energy was wearing out. . . . (Cycling) is giving women a self-diversion, teaching them self-control and self-reliance, and making them fit physically to be the mothers of a race of giants." As the "dress reform" article continued: "No amount of preaching . . . has the influence of the bicycle. She gives up corsets and heavy clothing; she dresses for work instead of play; she begins to see that clothes may be governed by intelligence, and as a result, she is healthy."

Another article, bylined by Mary Fenton, discussed the "divided skirt" and "relative merits of the drop-frame (girls') and diamond-frame (boys') bicycles. She recommended the boys' style and less restrictive clothing. Even so, her description of a cycling outfit appears cumbersome when compared to the modern girl's jeans or shorts. The underclothing is light and simple as possible, consisting of bloomers or tights with a lawn lining next to the skin, lisle-thread undervests and a gauze corset. . . . Tights are rather superseding bloomers as an undergarment for bicyclists. They are cooler and less bulky, and less apt to catch in the machine in mounting and they are invariably used in riding a diamond-frame machine. They can be gotten in lisle thread, wool, or cotton, in black, white, or gray.

"The suit itself should consist of skirt, jacket and shirt-waist or sailor blouse, and material should be summer storm serge, water-proof, cheviot, or tweed."

Skirts, whether divided or not, Miss Fenton said, would be shorter, "cut fully eight inches above the ground and as a consequence the new boots are high, reaching quite to the knees."

But cycling was a great deal more than an amusement for women longing to be "liberated." Wheelman's clubs sprang up, too, in all parts of America. These sportsmen were the first real lobbyists for all-weather roads. During the latter '90's a Nebraska Wheelman's Club flourished, and inter-city racing meets operating "under league rules" were held in Lincoln, Hastings, and Lexington, and elsewhere. When roads were dry, there was considerable cycling between cities.

"considering how little attention is paid to road-making," the journal observed. It listed routes to Omaha and suggested pleasure-ride trips southeast to Bennet, Panama, Hickman and return, and northwest to Valparaiso and return.

The bicycle was the precursor of the motorcycle, which appeared after 1900, but the obviously superior four-wheeled automobile soon became dominant in American transportation. The auto, today almost a necessity, is not longer viewed as an unmixed blessing. For the first time since the invention of the gasoline motor, we may be forced in peace time to conserve fuel and make greater use of simpler methods of travel such as the bicycle.

Legislative Bill 854 is important because fluoride will go into effect by Jan. 1, 1975 unless the people in each town vote it down. This issue of whether or not to flouridate the water supply can be put on the ballot of the general election. If a special election is held for this it will require extra cost to the taxpayers. If the city officials do not put flouridation up for a vote of the people, the only way it can be put on the ballot is by petition.

If no election is held, LB 854 will automatically go into effect. Many towns in Nebraska have already voted on flouridation. Fremont and Newman Grove are among those voting it down. Laurel and Plainview voters will have this issue on their May 14 Primary Election ballot.

I feel the city officials have the duty of presenting flouridation to the voters and letting the voters make the decision on whether or not to flouridate. If city officials do not care enough to get it on the ballot, I am sure there are enough concerned citizens to get up a petition to get flouridation on the ballot of the general election in November. — Mrs. Gerald Otle

CLEANING the bones can be a tedious job, especially when trying to clean between each vertebrae. Students had to be careful not to break or chip any part of the structure.

General Science Isn't the Same At Area School

General science at Winside High School no longer is called by that name — at least not for the last five weeks of school. Instead, the 17 students in Mike Jones' morning class are dividing into three study areas — zoology, botany and physics. The first time such a program has been tried at the high school.

Purpose of the program is to give each student a chance to study or specialize in a branch that interests him.

For example, in zoology several students have been capturing birds and dissecting them. That project is harder than it sounds. The students must clean the meat from the bones in order to reconstruct the bird's structure. "This way the students can better understand the bird's functions in relation to the muscles," Jones pointed out.

In botany, students learn the various types of plants as well as their functions. Jones is hoping that by the time the class is nearly over, students can go on a field trip and use their knowledge and understanding of plants to identify them.

Students in the third segment, physics, learn about Albert Einstein's theory of relativity. Presently the three students involved in this branch are working on some of Einstein's mathematical equations to better understand the laws of nature concerning relativity, such as speed and what effects gravity has. Later during the course, the students will apply their calculations in practice.

In General Science the students study the mechanical aspects of science. Now they are taking individual looks into the hows and why of a particular branch of science," Jones said.

What's Minimum Protein For Fattening Cattle? Answer Will Be Ready

How little protein can be fed fattening cattle without hurting them? Walt Tolman, beef researcher at Northeast Station, admits he doesn't know, but he says he will know more by May 24 when the station holds its Beef Field Day.

Over the years tests at the Station have shown protein levels may be lowered in cattle finishing levels to less than many feeders use without hurting gains or finish quality, notes Tolman. In one of their tests, additional protein did not improve performance of a corn and alfalfa finishing ration except during the first month while cattle were getting to full grain feed. In another test, finishing cattle on a 9 1/2 per cent protein level (dry basis) did as well as others on an 11 per cent ration.

Ohio researchers have reported good results with a corn and corn silage ration, supplemented with minerals and vitamins — but with no extra protein — for the latter part of the finishing test, says Tolman.

"We have eight lots of cattle which are getting no supplemental protein after the first month of feeding compared to eight lots on the same rations plus extra protein," Tolman noted. The basic rations are (1) shelled corn plus about 1.6 alfalfa dry matter per day, (2) shelled corn plus corn silage and (3) ground snapped corn. The corn is over 10 per cent protein on a dry basis this year, but even then Tolman thinks he may have gone too far in cutting protein in some of these rations.

At the 7 p.m. field day, carcass results as well as gain and conversion figures on these cattle will be reported. Additional information on the storage and feeding of high moisture corn and reports on wintering tests in which alfalfa haylage and corn silage were fed will be reported.

The Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association is co-sponsoring the Field Day and will furnish coffee and donuts.

Sales in March were $6,145 and brought the county to 37.1 per cent of the 1974 sales quota.

Sales in Dixon County during the first three months of the year amounted to $99,335, $50,122 of that amount coming in March. The county had reached 42.9 per cent of its sales quota for the year by the end of March.

Ley said the big gain in March was due in part to the highest interest rate of six per cent now paid on E and H bonds when field to maturity.

Statewide sales during March amounted to $6,240,611. First quarter sales of $17,937,105 showed a gain of $1 million over 1973 and put Nebraska at 29 per cent of the sales goal for 1974.

LEO HANSEN, Candidate for City Council From Third Ward

Candidate's Comment:

'Industry Is Important'

We should try and get more industry into Wayne, as it is one of the best ways to promote growth of a town. The park situation is adequate at the present time, but the parks may need enlarging as the city grows. We need better engineering and construction on some of our improvements. A lot of these decisions have to be made as you come to them.

Candidate for City Council From Second Ward

CAROLYN FILTER, Candidate for City Council From Second Ward

'Council Representation Is Most Talked About'

In talking with you, the voters, I have found that your major concern, possibly the most talked about issue, is the adequacy of your representation on the council. You have repeatedly expressed your wish to have a representative that will be fair to all and not just a favored few. The individual issues that are here today may be settled and gone tomorrow, but your representative is here for four years. You are looking for a person who is telling you not only how he feels about today's issues, but also how he plans to represent you and know what you want for the next four years.

I see the primary obligation of a city council member as representing the citizens. This means serving as a two-way communications channel; open communications are the single most effective tool in truly representative city government. I have been urging the voters to examine all issues closely and to speak out when they feel strongly about something, both for and against the issues before their consideration at council meetings. Specifically, I would use short, simple questionnaires at least once a year to solicit opinions in the ward, and I would weigh the results of these questionnaires in my council votes. You will be listened to! Any time you have suggestions, criticisms or commendations you are urged to contact me, and I promise to weigh your statements carefully. Your opinions are not only wanted, but are needed if you are to be represented properly.

My letter to registered voters ahead of my canvassing served well, as I found many people prepared with questions and statements on many subjects. Citizens of Wayne do have many good and worthwhile comments and ideas.

By my canvassing, I have tried to give you a chance to know me, to find out how I feel about any issue you're interested in and to give you the opportunity to discuss your ideas.

In my talking with you I have found some of the most frequently mentioned subjects to be all-night street parking, transportation in Wayne, sidewalks, city engineer versus using an engineering firm, industrial growth and problems of the senior citizens. Talking personally with residents of ward two has given both of us a better understanding of the issues.

These and other issues deserve serious, intensive study. I am confident we can devise and implement acceptable solutions.

I am also aware of financial concerns. Inflation has hit the city budget just as it has our personal finances. This makes it that much more important to set priorities as to what we will do with our tax money, as we don't want our taxes to go up. We want to be careful what we do and how we do it, and we want to watch our money. I would do my best to help maintain a city budget free from unnecessary spending, yet adequate for maintaining essential services and fostering civic growth.

My husband and I own our home and I am a concerned citizen with no vested interests for wanting to serve on the council, and I am my own person. I feel I can think things through on my own. Moreover, I am willing and open-minded enough to listen when you have something to say, and I encourage you to take a part in your government. I want to represent all of ward two and not only a few. My main interest is in representing you — in order to keep Wayne a city on the grow; a good and proud city for all of us.

I want to use facts and good strong reasoning in speaking out for and working for ward two.

VICKY SKOKAN,
Candidate for
Wayne-Carroll
School Board

Candidate's
Comment:

'W-C Is Tops, But...'

The main question so many people have asked me is, "Why are you running for school board?" It certainly isn't for the pay or thanks you receive. I'm mainly interested in the welfare and education of our Wayne-Carroll school children. As a taxpayer, I'm interested in how, why and where our tax dollars are being spent in our school system. The education system in the Wayne-Carroll schools is one of the best around, and I'm glad my children have the opportunity to attend these schools. Especially when I saw the physical education program the other night that Paul Eaton presented. Those children did a fine job and he really presented a fantastic program. But, even though I feel our Wayne-Carroll system is tops, I also feel there are a few areas that could possibly be improved.

One area that I have questions about is all the food that is wasted in our school lunch program. It seems to me that the smaller children could be served a smaller portion for a little less money and not have so much food wasted. Then the older students could be served a larger portion for a little more money and get the amount of food they need. It seems to me this plan would be less expensive with a minimum amount of food wasted.

In some people's opinion this may be a very minor issue, but to me it is important and I am concerned. Do know that I'm not afraid to voice my opinion on issues such as these and others as they arise. I will do my best to serve all of you and try to keep the interest of the majority of children in mind when voting on issues that come before the school board.

No matter who your choice of candidates are for school board, the important thing is that you get out and cast your vote on Tuesday, May 14.

Sometimes, when the kids have all gone to bed and I realize how meaningless life would be without them, I put aside thoughts of unmetted blue jeans and unpaid dental bills and spend a few minutes just being thankful for their beauty.

Last night, I got to thinking about the youngest of our trio of wide eyed charmers. She's the one, who as a baby smiled at us before all the books said such a feat was possible. At six she has yet to learn the meaning of fear, and her love of nature has all the splendor of a dew-fresh rose.

The confines of winter are a trial she almost cannot bear, and milder weather finds her indoors only long enough to upset the kitchen in the making of a peanut butter sandwich.

If you've looked for her, and she isn't examining the flowers, or riding her bike, or down the front walk, pondering the problem of where butterflies come from, you can bet she's under the porch talking to the cats or sitting in the swing, listening to the birds or the grass or the trees or whatever it is she does out there for hours on end.

She seems to have discovered a method of communicating with ants and doesn't find worms and insects repulsive. Only interesting. Dogs don't bite her, cats don't scratch her and the lawn at the zoo last week came up and nuzzled grass from her grubby little hand.

She's the one who loves the spring breeze, the summer rain, the sounds of autumn and the snow in winter. And unless you remind her, she will probably slip out barefoot to greet the morning, even when the thermometer is shivering in a coil of frost.

Another time she'll surprise you by breaking the silence of a long car ride or a walk to the park by commenting on something that may have been on your very mind, and you'll never be able to tell how it happened.

She smiles often, but her tears come easily too. A harsh word, a stern reprimand, will cause one fat tear after another to slip down her cheeks, and if you don't make up for your sternness with a reassuring hug, her quick temper will take her out of the room, stomping her little feet and slamming doors at the injustice of it all.

Things of the world don't impress her much yet. She's the only one you've ever known who can wear two unmatched shoes all day long and not be particularly concerned when you point it out to her.

She started kindergarten this year, though, and I can see that changes are in store. Already the dictates of society have caused her to wonder if her dress is long enough or her ribbons the correct color.

Sure, she'll start remembering to say "please" and "excuse me" and soon she'll find out how to add two and two. Eventually she'll understand the meaning of such words as payola, interrogate and psychoanalyze, and though I know it's necessary, it makes me a little sad.

FINAL BULLETIN

An Open Letter To The Citizens of Wayne

During the past several weeks I have attempted, through my ads and in my house to house campaign, to bring to you bits of information that I thought would interest you as they relate to the problems of the City of Wayne and my qualifications as a candidate for the position of Mayor of Wayne.

I have pointed out to you that the operation of the city is big business, bigger than most people realize. I have tried also, to tell you that no city can remain static, it needs to grow and in order to grow it needs to make every effort to hold on to its present businesses and industry and to attract more families and more industry. I have every confidence that Wayne has a bright future. We have an excellent college one of the finest school systems in the state and a potential for growth that is challenging.

New industry is coming to Wayne and more will be coming if we only take a positive attitude toward solving them. We need more minded citizens to our city, with some effort this can be achieved. We have some problems, but none of them are insurmountable if we only take a positive attitude toward solving them. We need more minded citizens to our city, with some effort this can be achieved. We have some problems, but none of them are insurmountable if we only take a positive attitude toward solving them. We need more minded citizens to our city, with some effort this can be achieved.

Our city light plant which has served us well for many years is facing a fuel crisis. The time may come when the lack of natural gas and the spiraling cost of fuel oil may make it desirable and cheaper to purchase our electricity through our present tie-in with another source. This is only a matter of economics and common sense. We cannot plus students add tremendously to the economy of Wayne. We cannot take this institution for granted but must make every effort to make it welcome.

I wholeheartedly believe in economy in government and feel that we need to remember that when money is voted for any project, it is "your" money and not someone else's.

I have tried my very best to carry on a clean campaign. I promise that it has been in good taste. If elected your Mayor, I promise to devote almost full time to this very important position. I feel that I have the maturity, good judgment and administrative experience necessary to head up a growing Wayne.

If you feel that my qualifications fit the need for this position, I will truly appreciate your support at the election on Tuesday, May 14.

Wakefield Girls Win District Track Crown

Wakefield High girls track team, paced by four girls going to state, captured the Class C district trophy at Wisner, Pilger Thursday by outscoring a field of 14 teams.

The Trojanettes compiled 87 points behind four firsts and a pair of seconds to beat Laurel by 14 points as the two teams battled to the wire.

Emerson-Hubbard won the battle for third, scoring 47 points to nudge Pender by one and Winside by five. The rest of the finishers: Stanton, 29; Bancroft, 21; Wisner-Pilger, 15; Norfolk Catholic, 7; Coleridge with, 4; Ponca, 1; Hartington and Wynot girls did not score, and Allen failed to show up.

Wakefield's record-breaking sprinter, freshman Kathy Tullberg, did her usual best in the 50, 100 and 200, winning all three to earn spots in the state meet Saturday at North Platte. Tullberg ran a .06.3 in the 50-yard dash equalling her best time, .12 in the 100 and .27.2 in the 200 (also equalling her fastest time). Her .12 in the 100 is about three-tenths of a second off her best.

Junior Ruth Bressler garnered the clubs over first with her 4.8 mark in the high jump. Bressler, however, won't be alone in going to state in that event. Teammate senior Cindy Keagle finished second with a 4.6 leap. Both first and second-place finishers go to state.

Wakefield's second second-place showing went to freshman Mary Kober after clocking a .121 in the 80-yard hurdlers.

Laurel also will have four girls, all runners up Thursday, entering the state meet.

Senior Denise Magnuson heaved the shot put (34.14); sophomore Julie Hirschman went 15.1 1/2 in the long jump; freshman Patti Stark ran the 800 in 2:30, and junior Kathy Maxon ran the 440 in 1:03.1.

For Laurel this is the second year coach Alan Rainbolt's team has taken second in the Class C district competition.

Seconds also go to Hirschman and Maxon, second time both have qualified for state.

As expected Winside's shot put will be headed for North Platte. Sophomore Jill Stenwall heaved the eight-pound ball 39 feet to win the event. She also will enter the discus after she took second with a toss of 95.1.

The surprise for Winside coach Jim Winch came when sophomore Sheryl Petersen came in second in the 50-yard dash. "I expected Sheryl to place, but I certainly didn't think she would place this high," Winch happily commented. In taking second, Sheryl broke her own school record with a .06.4 time. The rest of area girls who placed:

College Golfers Sweep NCC Team Championship

Wayne State golfers won one championship and Kearney State won the other title in the combined Nebraska NAAIA District and Nebraska College Conference golf tournament at Fremont Monday and Tuesday.

The NAAIA crown belonged to Kearney after a 36-hole stint lasting both days. The Antelopes totaled 630 strokes to edge runnerup Wayne, scoring 638.

The four-team NCC championship went to Wayne, based on Tuesday's 18-hole scores — Wayne leading 311; Kearney 314; Peru 337 and Chadron 359.

Curiously, the medalist in Trojan Banquet Is Tonight

Better hurry to get those tickets for the annual Wakefield athletic banquet tonight (Monday).

Tickets will remain on sale all day to day from any member of the W Club, but the $2.75 tickets will not be sold at the door, said athletic director Lyle Trullinger.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Beanie Cooper, athletic director and football coach at Sioux City's Heelan High School.

Other team scoring in the NAAIA event put Doane third at 650, followed by Peru, 659; Concordia, 661; Midland, 671; Hastings, 672; Dana, 702; and Chadron, 718.

Advancing to the NAAIA national golf meet at Aberdeen, S. D., will be Kearney as the district team winner and Williamson as the individual champion.

Deer, Antelope Permits Open

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission began accepting deer and antelope applications Wednesday for the public drawing on June 3 for over subscribed areas. Applications must be received in Lincoln by May 15 to be eligible for the drawing.

Although application started arriving Wednesday, the initial influx was comparatively light. That number is expected to increase quickly, however. There are 785 more available permits for the nine-day, firearm deer hunt that begins Nov. 9. Archers take to the field Sept. 21.

Application fees are $15 for residents, $35 for nonresidents. Firearm permit applicants should list choice of units in order of preference.

Persons who held a firearm deer permit in the Blue, Wahoo, or Elkhorn units in 1973 may not apply for a permit in any of those units during the May 1 to 15 period. They may apply, however, in any of the remaining 15 units. The only exception applies to those who held a limited landowner permit. Antelope eligibility is closed to persons who had a firearm antelope permit in 1972 or 1973, other than limited landowner permit. Limited landowner permits may be applied for only if the farmer or rancher failed to receive a regular permit from his May 1-15 application.

Persons 14 years of age may apply for a deer or antelope permit; but if under age 16, he must be accompanied by a permit holder who is 21 years old.

10 Reasons Why a Successful, Middle-aged Business Owner/Operator Has MORE QUALITY For the Mayor's Office:

1. A successful, middle-aged business owner operator is the caliber of person who will bring "quality" into the mayor's office.
2. An able, successful, middle-aged business executive can do a better job. He is living proof. He is aware of current trends. He is not naive, inexperienced or old-fashioned.
3. The 30 to 40-year-old successful business owner is most needed in all levels of government — especially the executive branch: (a) Under 30 — too inexperienced; lacks the ability to distinguish between fact and fiction or theory and practicality; too impulsive; unable to cope with needed leadership expected of an executive office (social, political, economic, etc.). (b) Over 40 — past the most active years; has a tendency for status quo; has a tendency not to be his own man (not independent but controlled by outside factors).
4. A successful businessman has the ability to recognize what the problems are — and then the physical, mental and moral courage to do something about them despite the verbal abuse or the loss of business.
5. A successful businessman has to take all the analysis, research and problem-identification to reach a conclusion — and live with it.
6. A successful businessman is a decision maker.
7. A successful businessman causes people to do things — causes things to happen.
8. Leadership is a trait of a successful businessman — a desperately needed trait of quality.
9. A successful businessman builds rather than merely operates — does not seek status quo. He has an invested interest in the success and the future of the community.
10. A successful businessman is responsive to his patrons' needs and wants.

WH Golfers Repeat As Husker Kings

For the second consecutive year Wayne High's golf team won the Husker Conference golf crown, firing an 18-hole total of 314 during Thursday's match at Oakland.

WS Cindermen Pace Wildcats With 3 Firsts

Three first places by two performers—Bob Zitek of Omaha and Jerry Kruger of Elkhorn—accounted for most of Wayne State's scoring in the Nebraska College Conference track and field meet at Kearney Tuesday.

Zitek claimed a first in the 120 high hurdles, clocked in 15.3, identical to the time of second place Bill Degan, Kearney. Zitek fouled the 440 intermediate hurdles in .56.7, with nine tenths of a second to spare.

Kruger won the high jump at 6.7, with fewer misses than Jerry Ott, Kearney, at the same height.

Wayne also scored third in the 440 relay and mile relay to total its scoring at 19, edging fourth-place Peru State's 16. Kearney continued its dominance with a 93 point first place, well ahead of Chadron State's 57.

The champion Antelopes won nine of 17 events. Chadron matched Wayne's three firsts, and Peru claimed two.

The Devils, with the same five players as were on last year's winning team, beat West Point by 10 strokes. Hooper Logan View took third with a 332, followed by Wisner Pilger with a 337 for fourth.

The rest of the scoring in the 12 team field Oakland Craig, 346, Scribner, 362, Hartington Cedar Catholic, 378, Stanton, 380, Wakefield and Pender, both 381, Tekamah Herman, 398, and Madison, 426.

Two members of Wayne's all senior team finished one-two in medalist honors after the pair tied for first with Scott Luebke of West Point at 75. Scott Ehlers took first and Mark Schram finished second in playoff action.

The rest of Wayne's team—Tod Bigelow, Robin Kudrna and Scott Brummond—shot 82's to help bring home the trophy.

Coach Harold Maciejewski said the entire squad shot well. Ehlers had a 39—the first round, then came back with a blistering 36. Balanced scoring highlighted Schram's game—38 on the first nine, 37 on the final nine.

Kerry Bressler shot a 90 to lead coach Eyle Trullinger's team. Alan Johnson and John Polen tied with 95 each while Steve Possil had a 101 and Bennett Salmon scored a 137.

Next match for Wakefield will be the Class C district at Wayne Thursday. Wayne's golfers will have one more test before district play at Norfolk, also Thursday. The Devils, undefeated in dual play, will travel to Bemmer today (Monday).

Last week the Devils continued their strong showing against Class A competition by downing Norfolk for the second time this year, 206-217.

During that dual at Norfolk, Philers led the team with a 39. Schram and Bigelow tied at 40 with Kudrna firing a 42. Brummond had a 45.

Norfolk's B team took its match, beating the JV squad, 278-204. Randy Workman led the team with a 39, followed by Tom Johansen with 43, Roger Wacker with 49, Si Prather with 42, and Jon Ley with 53.

Devils Face Homer (Again) After Belting Knights, 12-2

Wayne Highs baseball team will carry the best team record into the Class B district baseball tournament at the Wayne ball diamond today (Monday).

The Devils will take a 10-1 mark against Homer at 3 p.m. after Wakefield 4-3 and Allen 5-2 battle in the opening game at 1 p.m.

Today's second game will mark the third time coach Mike Mallette's club has faced Homer. Wednesday afternoon the Devils got their 10th win on an easy 12-2 victory at Homer. Earlier, Wayne blanked the Knights 10-0.

The locals rapped nine hits in the abbreviated contest, with their largest output coming in the third frame.

Wayne had a 4-0 lead after two innings, but scored seven more in the third with the help of five hits and a pair of Homer errors. Catcher Bill Schwartz, third baseman Dave Nuss and first baseman Vince Jenness connected for doubles while center fielder Gordie Cook and shortstop Kim Baker rapped a pair of singles.

Cook started Wayne's scoring drive in the third with a single to score Dave Hix, who was hit by a pitched ball, before Schwartz unloaded his double for the second RBI of the inning. Baker and Kerry Jech both got on base after Baker hit a single and Jech, who had struck out, took first on (an error Homer) by the catcher. Nuss then smacked the Team's second two-bagger to score Baker.

A second Homer error resulted in Jech's scoring when Hix, in his second at bat, popped a grounder to the shortstop. Hix was safe on error. Prior to Hix's at bat, Earle Overin walked.

Jenness then pounded the third double to score Nuss before an error on Homer's second baseman allowed Wayne to tally its final two runs.

Going into today's match, Baker leads the team in both stolen bases and runs batted in. Baker has 18 RBIs, six steals.

Paul Mallette, who pitched his fourth win against no losses, has the high-balling average with a .484. Mallette is right behind at .480.

Schwartz is No. 1 in doubles with nine and is tied with Baker and Nuss in the number of triples—one. Both Baker and Schwartz have a home run each.

Stats Show WSC Club Deep, Balanced

Statistics of the 1974 Wayne State baseball team indicate that team depth and balance have been big factors in compiling a 20-8 season record to date, and an NCC championship. A total of 18 batters have taken their turn at the plate this season while 11 different pitchers have led the rubber.

As a team, WSC statistics are not overly impressive, nor is their third place ranking in NAIA District 11 team batting average (.277), or their fourth place rating for team fielding.

However, coach Larry Schultz said statistics don't reveal everything, such as the number of timely hits and big plays in the field that have characterized the Wildcat ballclub this season.

Individually, Scott Sager, a freshman from Wahoo, is 4-0 on the mound, with a 1.21 ERA for 23 innings worked. Bob DeVaul shows a 3-0 record for 29 2/3 innings and a 2.10 ERA.

Greg Kamp, WSC's all-time winningest pitcher with 27 career wins, stands 3-1 with a 1.96

ERA for 28 innings. John Zwargart of Bancroft, a sophomore right hander is 3-2 with a 3.73 ERA after 29 2/3 innings and Mark Prather is 2-2 with 22 innings and a 5.40 ERA.

Roger Saul, a freshman right hander from Wayne High, is 1-0 for the year with a 1.40 ERA for 10 innings.

Jim Mergen, primarily a reliever, is 1-0 in 17 innings and has a 2.88 ERA for seven innings.

Jim Kopecky, normally a third baseman, has seen mound action late in the season, posting a 2-0 record in 14 innings, and a fine 0.99 ERA.

Ray Miller, the regular right fielder, shows a mound of 0-1 after 9 1/3 innings, but an excellent 0.77 ERA. Steve Russell, who has had arm problems since the Texas spring trip, threw only against Texas Wesleyan and posted a 1-0 record for five innings and did not give up an earned run in the process.

Offensively, Ray Miller has the highest batting average with a .400 after 80 AB's in 27 games. Sophomore second baseman Rick Bendetto has hit a consistent 351 in 57 at bats. Brent Moeller, a speepler on the base paths, is 454 in 11 AB's.

Tim Denham is the team leader with 7 HR's and 21 RBIs, has a .235 batting average. Jerry Frerichs has seen limited action at the plate, but has responded in fine fashion with a .428 average in 21 AB's in 11 games.

Dean Ott, switch hitting outfielder, is 329 in 88 AB's and 26 games. Bob Pudil, a clutch hitter and DPH'er has come up with timely hits and a .313 average in 67 bats for 27 games.

Jim Wetzel, coming on strong in late season play, is 254 in 67 AB's. Greg Kamp stands at 250 in 72 AB's, and Jim Kopecky is 245 in 53 AB's. Bob Cominoli is 235 in 17 AB's in 15 games. Don Hasenkamp, a superb shortstop, is 222 in 72 AB's. Nick Danze and Ray Nelson, who share catching duties, are 204 and 171. Mark Wedel has hit the ball

Mental Health Group Selects Carlson Head

The Wayne County Advisory Committee on Mental Health has elected Ken Carlson, Wayne High School guidance counselor, to be president of the committee for the coming year.

One of those services is the satellite clinic which is in Wayne every third Thursday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. The clinic is open to any resident of the area feeling a need for help.

The committee's election of new officers comes during Mental Health Month. The state will observe Mental Health Week May 20-26.

County Investigating Possibility of Helping City Pave Grainland Road

Wayne County attorney Budd Bernhoff will investigate whether the county can help pay for paving about two blocks of Grainland Road on the south west edge of Wayne.

Bernhoff will report back to the county commissioners at their next meeting later this month, and the commissioners are expected to decide then whether they want to help with the project as suggested by the city council.

Several councilmen and city officials met with the commissioners during their meeting Tuesday, discussing what the city would like to do with the street.

Also present were three property owners along the street: Clair S. Johnson, Bill Workman and Charles Kudrna. Property owners have been trying for several months to get the city to pave the gravelled street to cut down blowing dust and dirt and to make the road more useable during wet weather.

The council has avoided going ahead with any paving project because the property on the south side of the street, from Maple to Blaine, is outside the city limits. The payment which would be made by the property owner Dean Pierson if that property were inside the city would likely have to be picked up by the city, according to officials.

Also during Tuesday's meeting, the commissioners learned that their estimates to replace two bridges in the county were much lower than estimates by the state roads department.

The county had estimated it would cost $26,000 to replace a 20-foot bridge near the Harris Heimann farm nine miles south and three and a quarter miles east of Wayne and $39,000 to replace a 21-foot bridge by the Rose Blocker farm about five miles south of Winside. The state estimates it will cost $73,000 and $136,000 respectively to replace those bridges.

The county has applied for federal funds to help build those concrete deck bridges, with the federal government paying 70 per cent of the total and the county paying the rest.

Norris Weible, county clerk, said the commissioners will consult with the county's engineering firm before taking any further action on the proposed projects.

If the county decides to go ahead with any paving project, the commissioners will ahead and seek federal funding, money from the government likely would not be available until the 1975-76 fiscal year, he said.

Commissioners also learned that a meeting will be held May 20 in Norfolk to go over requirements of a bill passed by the last legislature which puts all counties in the state in mental health districts.

Wayne County and 21 other counties in Northeast Nebraska make up the district covering this part of the state, according to Weible.

The law requires that the counties contribute money to provide for mental health facilities and services. Counties pay 25 per cent of the cost, the state 75 per cent.

All three commissioners, Joe Wilson, Floyd Burt and Ken Eddie, will attend that meeting.

Picks Officers

Joe Nuss was named treasurer of the Wayne Retail Association during the group's annual meeting Wednesday.

Nuss, recently elected to the association's board of directors, replaces Dale Gutschall, who ended his term on the board earlier this month.

Officers re-elected during last week's meeting were Roger Nelson, chairman; Clarence Kuhn, first vice chairman, and Arnie Reeg, second vice chairman. Howard Witt, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, automatically serves as secretary.

The association, sponsor of the weekly Happy Birthday Bucks promotion, discussed obtaining a speaker system for use in the downtown business district during city wide promotions and special events. The association will investigate the possibility of having "the city purchase" the speaker system in place of making an annual contribution to the Chamber.

TV Note-book

By Larry Turner

If you're one of those who still has no TV set, for whatever reason, you're one in 25. The Bureau of the Census reports that 96 per cent of U.S. homes have at least one set and one-third of these has two or more sets.

In fact, the better educated you are and the more money you earn, the more apt you are to have a color TV.

Only one family in a hundred has no TV if the family income is over $15,000.00. More than half the families in this income bracket have a color set.

We've noticed that the smarter people are more apt to buy their new color TV from us. Smart people appreciate our quality sets, our very competitive prices and our own service department to back up our merchandise.

Ballots —

voters will cast ballots in two contested county races — one for first district commission seat held by Joe Wilson of rural Wakefield and the other third district commission seat held by Floyd of rural Winside. Both are Republicans.

Ken Eddie, second district commissioner from Carroll, is not ending his term this year.

Although Tuesday's election is a primary race as far as those races are concerned, the winners are expected to face no opposition in November's general election.

Opposing Wilson is Republican Merlin Beerman of rural Wayne. Burt's opponents are Republicans Ed Watkins of Winside and Lawrence Backstrom of rural Wayne.

Voters in Wayne also will join voters in the rest of the Wayne Carroll school district in whittling the number of candidates for three spots on the board from nine to six.

The six top vote getters will advance to the general election in November.

Seeking those three spots on the board are the three incumbents — Morris Sandahi of Carroll, Margaret Lundstrom of Wayne and Wilbur Giese of rural Wayne. The other six candidates are JoAnn Stollenberg and Dale Stollenberg, both of Carroll, and Steve Hall, Vicky Skokan, Dallas Havener and Rafael Sosa, all of Wayne.

The other incumbent county officials who will end their current terms this year face no opposition from other Republicans or Democrats.

Seeking additional terms in office are sheriff Don Weible, clerk Norris Weible, assessor Doris Slipp, treasurer Leon soilball teams the past two summers. Tom, a student at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, also has been helpful in maintaining the facilities and program, and Rob, a Wayne State College student, had charge of the Emerson summer program last year.

"They should get all the credit for the community's baseball facility," said a Wakefield resident actively involved in his town's sports activities. For example, in the midst of the business rush before Mother's Day and Memorial Day, Mrs. Eaton was planting flowers at the ball diamond Thursday night, he said.

The Eaton family and the other winners of the Good Neighbor Award will receive framed citations from Ak Sargent.

Winners are chosen after nominations are sent in by friends and neighbors.

Third Party Still Unknown For Allen Talks

Representative for Allen's school board and the Allen Education Association have until Friday to name their third party before salary talks begin or face court action.

As of Wednesday, the third party of the fact finding committee had not been selected, said assistant superintendent Garland Mills.

Both the board and association declared an impasse recently when salary talks for the 1974-75 school year stalled. Allen teachers were asking for $7,000 base pay. The board offered $6,800.

Currently, Allen teachers are earning a base pay of $6,450 plus four per cent salary increases for each year of experience and another four per cent for each step in education preparation.

The agreement provides an increase of five per cent of the 1973-74 salary, plus $300, plus merit addition to be determined by the department chairman or supervisor.

Contracts for the academic year — first and second terms — are to be offered no later than May 15, the agreement specifies, and contracts for the third term of 1975 must be offered by Oct. 15. This date for third-term contracts is earlier by about five months than they have been available in the past.

Dr. J. S. Johar, chairman of the bargaining unit's negotiating team, said the advanced date for third-term contracts will mean earlier decision on courses to be offered in that term, mid April to mid June — a benefit to both students and faculty.

The agreement provides salary rates for third term 1975 at three per cent above the current third term rates.

'Fantastic' Is Rating Given Project Success

"Fantastic!" That was the way Mrs. Florence Schmerler, evaluator for Project Success for the SLD Child, characterized the over-all test results at the end of the third year of the Title III language disability project in the Wayne Carroll school system after her evaluation visit Thursday.

"Despite a prevalent idea nationally that junior and senior high school students will benefit little from instruction in basic language skills, the test results in Project Success dramatically disprove this," she noted. "The substantial gains in reading and spelling by eighth and ninth grade students in the project are indicative of the value of such instruction extended into secondary education," Mrs. Schmerler said.

She continued, "The careful planning and organization which has been a part of Project Success from its beginning has resulted in an outstanding program which now is reaching into the high school. The Wayne

Carroll system is one of the few schools which are helping bright children with specific learning problems to reach their potential.

Mrs. Schmerler of St. Thomas College in St. Paul, Minn., will return to Wayne in the latter part of June after submitting her written evaluation report. Statistics will be released at that time, and she plans to meet with community council members, parents, staff, administration and the children themselves.

"The staff is, of course, very pleased with the excellent over all test results," said Richard Metzger, director of the Project Success.

Survey Is Set for Multi-Job Holders

Data on workers holding more than one job and on high school seniors and recent graduates will be collected in a survey in the Wayne area conducted by the Bureau of the Census.

Census interviewers will visit households in this area the week of May 20-24.

Questions asked of multi-job holders will provide information about reasons why people take a second job and the extra weekly hours they spend at it as well as information about the main job.

Questions on educational will provide information about students in college and other forms of post-high school education and about recent high school graduates not attending school as well as about future plans of high school seniors.

These questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Census Bureau. The survey provides a monthly gauge of employment, a prime factor in determining the economic health of the nation.

Wortman: No Favorites If I'm on the Council

These are some of the issues I feel are important: All Wayne citizens should be given equal privileges and opportunities. This policy has not always been exercised in the past. Maybe this is because some councilmen have special interests that influence their decisions. I feel that I can be a neutral party. Through my job, I am in constant contact with many city officials and therefore am able to observe how many of their governmental problems are solved.

Often times the present council has had the tendency to pass on the authority of certain decision making to the City Administrator, giving that power to one man and his opinion, rather than to the opinion and discretion of an entire body of elected officials, and thus taking the government away from the people.

It has recently come before the council to allow the sale of beer on Sunday. I am opposed to such a move. I am opposed to the sale of any beer or liquor on Sunday.

When a visitor first enters Wayne, the first thing he views are its brick streets, old wooden-framed buildings and the hodgepodge of signs. More often than not, a prospective customer is drawn by the outward pleasing appearance of a particular business.

It is time the community of Wayne took some pride in itself and improved the downtown area. Such improvements can only be accomplished by the help of its businessmen and the community as a whole. Everyone would benefit. Prime examples of what can be accomplished, or are in the process of being done, are Neigh, Verdine (chosen All-American City last year with a population of only 584), Hoskins, West Point and Winside.

In regard to the sidewalk situation, I believe sidewalks should be installed on both sides of the street. To those in opposition, I ask, "What is a child's life worth?"

We can be proud to be Nebraska Republicans

Nebraska is a GOP state. Don't ever forget it. Don't let Washington events "steal" the election from us. Don't let phony labels beat us—No Nebraska Republican has been involved in any way with Watergate.

You can support what you believe in by talking up your Party and its candidates. Talk to the people who are apathetic, discouraged and down-hearted. Encourage them to get out and vote in the May 14th primary. And then plan to work hard for the Republican ticket this fall.

As a long-time Nebraska Republican worker, I promise this: Whether I win or lose in the primary, I will be working hard this fall for the election of Senator Marvel for Governor.

I know that if we Nebraska Republicans put our hearts into our work, we can put a Republican in the Governor's office for the next four years.

RE-ELECT Vernon Russell COUNCILMAN WAYNE'S THIRD WARD

I am seeking re-election as councilman of the First Ward for many reasons, the most important of these being:

- Promote continued growth of the city, both residential and commercial growth.
- Assist in attracting more industry to the city.
- Upgrade our street system and economically repair our older streets.
- Upgrade our present parks with an eye to eventually having a large all-purpose park that will feature a swimming pool, ball fields, grandstand and tennis courts.
- Keep the public informed of council actions on matters that their tax money is being spent on. Too many of the things money is being spent on is not put before the public until final action has already been taken.
- Equal treatment to all city employees in matters of salaries and fringe benefits.
- The establishment of a good pension plan for city employees at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayer with the greatest benefit to the employee.
- Prevent and discourage corrupt political actions in city government.
- Get more efficient service from the various city departments for the taxpayer's money.
- To hire a full time city engineer and make the greatest possible use of this office.
- Put to use the fullest extent, information obtained from studies paid for by the taxpayers. (The recent management study cost the taxpayers over $5,000.00 and very little of the study has been used to date).

I feel that these along with many other things will need to be accomplished in the years ahead.

NO SEGMENT OR PRIVATE BUSINESS WILL EVER CONTROL MY VOTE!

Your vote appreciated on May 14.

WE WISH TO EXPRESS a sincere thank you for the many remembrances and acts of kindness and sympathy extended during the lengthy illness and passing of our father, grandfather and great grandfather. The cards, flowers, memorials, food and visits were most appreciated and those who furnished food and served at the services deserve a special thank you. All who were connected with the memorial service are to be complimented in helping to make it a day of rejoicing for all. Comment:

'The Real People Are The Dependable Ones'

When you, the voters, go to the polls on election day, remember this tidbit:

The real, real people in life are the people you can depend on, 24 hours a day, day-in and day-out. A really dependable person doesn't need to advertise the fact — it's visible in everything he does and has become common knowledge to everyone. Likewise, an undependable person can't hide, disguise or cover-up his shortcomings no matter how hard he tries or what propaganda techniques he might use.

Here are several issues I consider important:

1. Drug abuse — All the education and peer counseling service is a waste of time if the sources and suppliers are able to continue to operate.
2. Electrical energy — With completion of the inter-tie, much analysis, research and consultation will be needed for a cost electrical rate for residential, commercial and industrial purposes.
3. City owned-operated parking — A veto will be used if a decision were passed to use taxes to buy, build, operate and maintain parking lots downtown.
4. City owned-operated transportation system — Same as No. 3.
5. Additional sewage treatment — A must for any additional expansion — residential, commercial, and industrial.
6. Additional storm sewer — A must in the new hospital area. Water will not run up hill.
7. City engineer — Time for a new one. Water will not run up hill.
8. City-owned Senior Citizens-Center — Time has proven that these citizens will more than utilize larger, permanent quarters. There need be no question on expenditure of funds for this worthy purpose.
9. Sidewalks — A must.
10. High school aged youth center — A needed consideration. Hopefully the interest, staffing and support from this group would warrant another attempt.
11. City employees (A) Retirement with two levels — one for those who are ready or nearly ready to retire and one for those who have some time left; (B) A horizontal as well as a vertical wage scale to provide incentive and tenure; (C) Implementation of the employee evaluation plan; (D) Due process; (E) Insurance revision and updating.
12. Reduction in taxes — Impossible because of Nos. 5 and 6.

JOANN STOLTENBERG,
Candidate for
Wayne-Carroll
School Board

Candidate's
Comment:

'Quality Education Is Our Main Objective'

I have been asked to write some thoughts in regard to my candidacy for the Wayne-Carroll School Board. Here they are:

1. I feel a board member should be a person familiar with school teaching, administration and school board expectations. I feel qualified in all of these areas.

2. I feel the board members should show an interest in the communities of both Carroll and Wayne. A board member should represent the community in such a way that the needs of the students, parents, taxpayers, teachers and administration can be met in both schools.

3. After reading in The Wayne Herald about the female athletic award presented at our neighboring school at Winside, I thought how great it would be if Wayne Carroll could do the same. Why not sports for the girls?

4. The quality of education is still our main objective. I can see the need for more teamwork on the part of the board members, teachers and administration. The dollar amount is not the right thing to place in front of quality education. When we discuss salaries and increases, is the quality of our teacher output increasing also? I believe in affirmative action. We need to do away with student discrimination. Smaller situations where the teacher really knows the students are desirable. I feel we need to do research in some of these areas to keep the quality of our education.

and Missy Jensen who plan to join Brownies next year. Roll was taken and dues were collected.

Winside Town Board Okays Paving Districts

Winside's town board passed an ordinance to create 13 paving districts at Monday's board meeting.

If the ordinance is okayed at a public hearing, tentatively set for June 4, construction of streets and gutters in a 23 block area could start as soon as this year, said mayor Vernon Hill. It all depends upon the availability of concrete and when a contractor can do the work, he added.
