Allen, Wakefield, W-C School Board Hopefuls Whittled to 6 Tuesday

School district voters in Wayne, Allen and Wakefield cut the number of candidates for seats on their boards of education in Tuesday voting.

The top six vote-getters in each race will advance to the general election in November.

Four candidates from Wayne and two from Carroll will advance to the general election to determine who will fill three vacancies on the board next year.

All three of the incumbents, Wilbur Giese of Wayne, Margaret Lundstrom of Wayne and Morris Sandahl of Carroll, were among those six.

Joining them in the election in November will be Dale Stoltenberg of Carroll, Dallas Havener of Wayne and Dr. Rafael Sosa, also of Wayne.

They defeated three other candidates on the nine member ballot eliminated in Tuesday's voting were, Vicky Skokan of Wayne, JoAnn Stoltenberg of Carroll and Steve Hall of Wayne.

Unofficial results of the voting were: 876 for Giese, 810 for Sandahl, 799 for Lundstrom, 483 for Sosa, 354 for Skokan, 335 for JoAnn Stoltenberg, 292 and Hall 130.

Although there are nearly 50 absentee and disabled ballots in Wayne County which will be counted today (Thursday) they are not expected to change results of the race.

The primary runoffs in the three school districts is the result of a law passed by the last legislature which required a runoff if the number of candidates was more than six.

Decker Wins Mayor's Job; Russell Stays on Council

Dr. Freeman Decker will take over as mayor of Wayne next month.

Decker, recently retired professor of education at Wayne State College, handily defeated three other candidates for the job in Tuesday's municipal election.

He received 807 votes, more than twice the 401 received by young Sam Hepburn, according to unofficial results. Hepburn is a Wayne High School senior who will graduate Monday night.

The other two candidates trailed far behind those two — teacher businessman Miron Jenness with 182 votes and Wayne State student Richard Hall with 28.

In voting for councilmen, incumbent Vernon Russell narrowly defeated Larry Meier in his bid for another term as representative of the first ward. Russell collected 142 votes, Meier 122.

The five absentee and disabled ballots which will be counted today (Thursday) — 48 across the county — are not expected to make any change in that race.

The other three council seats up for grabs after incumbents decided against seeking another term were won by Carolyn Filler in the second ward, Leo Hansen in the third ward and John Vakoc in the fourth ward. Mrs. Filler got 204 votes to

Beiermann Defeats Wilson In Race for County Board

Merlin Beiermann, a farmer southeast of Wayne, ousted incumbent Joe Wilson of rural Wakefield in voting for the Republican nomination for Wayne County first district commissioner.

Beiermann 42 received 402 votes in Tuesday's primary election, more than doubling the 197 received by Wilson, unofficial results show.

In the race for the Republican nomination for the third district commissioner's job, incumbent Floyd Burt of rural Winside defeated Ed Watkins of Winside and Lawrence Backstrom of rural Wayne. Burt collected 235 votes, Watkins 170 and Backstrom 143.

Beiermann and Burt, 64, will have no Democratic opponents in the November general election. The filing deadline passed earlier this year without a Democratic filing for any county office.

Both Burt and Wilson are ending their first terms on the board of commissioners.

Beiermann, a graduate of Wayne Prep, has farmed near Wayne most of his life. He has

Wayne Man Trails Slightly In ESU Voting

Claire Hansen of Coleridge was top vote getter in Tuesday's balloting in Wayne, Cedar and Dixon Counties for members at large to the board of Education at Service Unit No. One.

Hansen collected 3,863 votes, slightly more than Wayne's Ken Olds received in his bid for another term on the board. Olds got 3,732 votes in the three counties.

The other two leaders in the voting for four members were William Norvell of Laurel, 3,403 votes, and Hilary Hoising of Harrington, 2,953.

See ESU VOTING, page 7

VonMinden Defeats Johnson

Merle VonMinden, a Republican from Allen, will face Allen Democrat Dale Furness in the November general election race for the 11th district supervisor's job in Dixon County.

VonMinden defeated Republican Leo Johnson also of Allen in Tuesday's primary balloting. 186 57. Furness collected 81 votes in his unopposed bid for the Democratic nomination for that post.

In the only other contest for party nominations for supervisor jobs in Dixon County, Donald Thomas, defeated Giles Wilbur 72-36 for the Republican bid and Raymond Wiedenfeld defeated Raymond Nelson, 47-31 for the Democratic bid. All are from Newcastle.

The only results of the approximate 30 absentee and disabled ballots could reverse the Wiedenfeld-Nelson race in the third district. Those ballots will be counted today (Thursday).

There were no opponents in the first and third districts in Dixon County Democrat Jerry Knerl and Republican Thomas Carey, both of Ponca, sought nomination in the first district.

Republican Donald Macklin and Democrat George Emmons, both of Emerson, ran for nomination in the seventh district.

In a prelude to the November balloting, Republican Janice Mansker of Newcastle outpolled incumbent Democrat Esther Brennan of Ponca in balloting for the county clerk's office. Mansker received 843 votes, Brennan 596.

2 Area Towns Nix Fluoride

Two of the three communities in the Wayne area voting on adding fluoride to their drinking water turned thumbs down on the idea in Tuesday's balloting.

Dixon voters, opposed adding fluoride by a 46-4 vote, similar to the 42-12 negative vote in Concord.

Laurel voters, however, approved adding fluoride by a 146-82 vote.

Nebraska communities with a low level of fluoride in their drinking water have to boost that level by Jan. 1 unless voters reject adding fluoride.

Puzzle: Find Missing Piece

ONE STEEL WORKER seems to have lost the upper part of his body, and on first glance the worker going up to give him a hand seems minus a head in this photograph of construction on the east edge of the city. Workers were bucking gusty winds Tuesday afternoon in erecting the frames for the building which will house Marra Home Improvement Co. on the city's industrial site east of Wayne.

911 Emergency Dialing Is Year Away

In about another year residents of Wayne and the immediate surrounding area will be able to dial 911 and get almost instant help in emergencies.

City councilmen Tuesday night gave unanimous approval to Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. to go ahead with work necessary to provide the emergency telephone service to everybody with the 375 telephone prefix.

Monthly charge to the city for the service will be $108.40, according to Dick Mullican, a NW Bell representative who explained the service to the council. There also will be a $24-one-time installation charge, bringing the first year's cost to $132.40. Mullican noted there is a possibility the city could get 90 percent of that first year's cost paid by federal funds.

The emergency service is "a number to call when you've got a problem, whether it's somebody coming in your door or a fire," Mullican explained.

He said the number is easily remembered by everybody, even children, and is one of the best ways to get immediate help to somebody in an emergency.

All 911 calls will be received by the police department, which can then take necessary action depending on the type of emergency it is, he said.

The service even has a "hold and re-ring" ability which permits the police to call a person back if he hangs up in panic without saying where or what the problem is, he noted.

Mullican recommended that when the system goes into use that the police department be authorized to sound the fire siren.

Right now, fire calls go to the city's light department employees who in turn sound the alarm.

Mullican noted that he is discussing the 911 system with Wayne County officials to see if they wish to help pay for providing the service to Winside and Carroll. Those communities would be hooked into Wayne's 911 system if approval is given and the towns decide to go ahead with it, he noted. It would be easier to hook Hoskins into Norfolk's 911 system, he said.

Both volunteer fire chief Cliff Pinkelman and police chief Vern Fairchild readily endorsed the 911 system during the discussion.

According to Mullican, the communities in the state which have gone to the 911 system are highly pleased with it. Fairchild See 911, page 7

Pam Heinemann, Dick Nolte Wed In Double Ring Ceremony May 4

Pam Heinemann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Heinemann of Wakefield, and Dick Nolte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Nolte of Wayne, exchanged wedding vows in a 7 p.m. ceremony May 4 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wayne.

Guests, registered by Karen Nolte of Wayne, were ushered into the church by Dave Zach, Chuck Rudenbeck and Merlin Heinemann of Wayne and Myron Heinemann of Emerson. Mike Nuss of Wayne sang, accompanied by Mrs. Norman Meyer of Wakefield. The Rev. Doniver Peterson officiated at the double ring riles.

Mrs. Anne Nolte, Mrs. Connie Hall, Mrs. Diane Hefti and Jan Sherry, all of Wayne, attended the bride and Ken Nolte, Ken Austin and Roger Hefti of Wayne and Randy Baker of Norfolk were the bridegroom's attendants.

Christine Heinemann of Wakefield was flower girl and Michael Heinemann of Wayne was ring bearer. The bride's personal attendant was Pam Wittig of Wayne.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of ivory organza, styled with high neckline, fitted bodice and long sleeves of lace. A wide ruffle of matching lace edged the skirt and chapel length train which was caught to the gathered back waist. Her veil cascaded from a Juliet cap, and she carried lavender pompons with ivory roses.

The bride's attendants wore floor-length frocks of lavender double knit trimmed in ivory lace. They wore lavender pompons in their hair and carried matching bouquets.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Heinemann of Wakefield served as hosts to the reception held at the church parlors following the ceremony. Pat Dangberg and Deb Nelson of Wayne and Theresa Heithold of Wakefield arranged gifts.

Mrs. Merlin Heinemann of Wayne and Mrs. Myron Heinemann of Emerson served the cake. Mrs. Vernon Virka of Morse Bluff poured and Mrs. Jo Junk of Carroll served punch. Waitresses were Nancy Oberg, Deb Heithold, Teresa Henschke and Betty Henschke.

Emerald, Symbol of Love

Sacred to Venus in ancient times, the emerald has always been the gem of lovely women. Many emeralds unearthed in Egypt bear the portrait of Cleo paltra.

Fine emeralds are more costly than diamonds. The rarity that has made them precious collector's items has placed genuine fine emeralds beyond the reach of all but the very wealthy.

Fine man-made emeralds are now being produced by a secret process whose details are jealously guarded by its discoverer, Carroll F. Chatham. This much he is willing to reveal: the gem crystals are "grown" on tiny "seeds" of natural rough-cut emerald under temperature and pressure conditions similar to those which geologists believe produced the natural gems. Even the smallest man-made jewels take over a year to form.

Like natural emerald jewelry, jewelry fashioned with Chatham Created Emeralds is sold in fine jewelry stores all over the world. Value of the jewels, like that of natural emeralds, depends on the color, the translucency, the brilliance and the cut. No two are exactly alike.

So similar are these Chatham Created Emeralds to natural emeralds in hardness, color, crystal structure and other special characteristics that special tests are necessary to show positively that they are not natural. Yet they cost only a fifth as much as natural emeralds of similar quality.

Like all fine jewels, they are cut and polished by expert lapidaries and then set in platinum or gold.

Just as diamond is the universal symbol of innocence, ruby the symbol of contentment and sapphire the symbol of clear thinking, the liquid green brilliance of emerald stands for success in love.

Wayne, Allen Meet for District Title

Wayne and Allen will battle for the Class B district baseball title Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock to decide which team enters the state tournament at Lincoln next week.

Both clubs won relatively easy matches during Monday's opening games of the four-team tournament district at Wayne. Allen disposed of Wakefield, 7-1, before the Devils again blanked Homer, 10-0.

The Eagles took advantage of five walks and a single in the third inning to run away from the Trojans, 5-0, after holding a narrow 1-0 margin after two frames.

Third baseman Roger Anderson opened the gate with a single before Trojan hurler Mike Barge walked five of seven players to boost Allen's tally to 4-0. Then catcher Randy Lanser ripped a single to score the fifth run.

Coach Robert Moore's club was in command most of the game, cutting off Wakefield's chances to score until the top of the fifth. With two out, left fielder Doug Fischer slapped a single, stole second and came home on catcher Keith Siebrandt's single to give coach Joe Coble's team its only run of the game.

Allen pitcher Neil Blohm picked up his third win against one loss. Blohm, who went all the way, gave up one run on five hits while walking three. He had only two strikeouts while facing 26 Wakefield batters.

Blohm didn't have to pitch hard, Moore said, adding that he didn't take Blohm out of the game when the club was leading 7-1 in the sixth because "once you've got the game in the barn you want to close the barn door." Moore figured that four days rest will be enough for the right-hander before taking on Wayne.

The head man isn't relying on Blohm alone, however. Both Paul Snyder, 2-0, and Roger Anderson, 1-1, may see action in the championship game. Jeff Creamer, 0-0, is the fourth pitcher on Moore's roster.

Four days rest probably is too long for Wayne's Paul Mallette to take to the mound, but coach Mike Mallette will start veteran Earle Overin against Allen.

Mallette gave up only two hits in five frames while striking out seven of the 18 players he faced. The sophomore hurler, 5-0, had some problems in the third inning when he had runners on second and third with two out, but the defense stopped that threat when a Homer player grounded to the infield for the third out.

Although Wayne seemingly prepped past Homer, coach Mallette pointed out that Wayne didn't get going until the fifth inning when the home club scored six runs to end the game early.

The locals started out with a 2-0 lead after two, then added one in the third and fourth frames. Doubles by Mallette, Kerry Jech and Dave Nuss got the Devils on the scoring trail. Jech doubled in the second and came home on Nuss' single. After Dave Hix singled, Bill Schwarzl brought him home with his one-bagger for a 2-0 lead.

The next frame Nuss smacked the second of three hits before coming home on an error. In the fourth Mallette got his double to score Gordie Cook. Then the game broke open.

Homer changed pitchers and with that change came a different tune — the sounds of two Wayne singles. Nuss' second double and four walks.

Cook now leads in two categories — bases stolen and walks. Against Homer he walked three times and stole three bags for totals of eight steals and 12 walks.

Mallette still holds the lead in doubles with six, but Nuss has moved up into a two-way tie for second with Mike Meyer. Both have five each.

Wayne and Allen are even in their two-game series during the season. Allen took the first one, 1-0, and Wayne the second, 3-2.

Athlete of the Week

Mark Schram, Wayne High School
Kathy Tullberg, Wakefield High School

When it comes to conference action and district competition, the best usually stand out. Last week was no exception for two area athletes.

Wayne High senior Mark Schram captured medalist honors in the Husker Conference golf tournament to lead the Devils to their second straight conference title, and Wakefield freshman Kathy Tullberg captured the 50, 100 and 270 yard dashes in Class C district track meet.

As a result, both share this week's "Athlete of Week" award.

It's not unusual to have a freshman girl be the leader in most track events; a lot of coaches will point out. At that stage in life most young girls are reaching their prime as far as track and field events are concerned.

But what makes Kathy's feat better than most is her consistent running in all three events to earn three shots in the state meet Saturday in North Platte.

Kathy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tullberg of Emerson, is a highly competitive girl, said coach Ernie Kovar. The reason is simple — because she has a "good attitude towards sports."

The same thing can be said of Schram. Last week's win makes it the second time the Wayne golfer has won medalist honors at the Husker meet.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Schram of Wayne, he has been a consistent golfer throughout his high school years. Going into district golf play today (Thursday) at Norfolk, coach Harold Maciejewski is relying on Schram and other members to earn one of the top three team spots for a trip to the state meet in Beemer.

20 Teams Sign Up 'Bucks' Prize Gets Closer To $600

The Wayne Country Club women's golf league will start play June 4 with 20 teams signed up. The women will play each Tuesday until the last Tuesday in July when the top two teams in each division will play for the league crown, according to league chairman Adeline Kienast.

Making up this year's league:

American League: 1 Ann Barclay, Glennis Swift, 2 Carolyn Bigelow, Mylet McGath, 3 Joy Hein, Lois Hall, 4 Evie McDermott, Gay Bates, 5 Gay Thorbeck, Minnie Rice, 6 Dee Wacker, Marilyn Pierson, 7 Ruth Ann Vogel, Janet Roenfeldt, 8 Marion Evans, Ardye Zicht, 9 Jan Johnson, Jill Brink, 10 Elizabeth Griess, Mrs. Harold Maney.

National League: 11 Loren Gildersteeve, Peggy Lutt, 12 Bianca Collins, Doryce Smith, 13 Pauline Nuernberger, Rodella Wacker, 14 Vi Rickers, Elaine Christensen, 15 Terri Turner, Joan Potts, 16 Elsie Echtenkamp, Frances Breikreutz, 17 Margie Fuelberth, Em Willers, 18 Beryl Harvey, Lillian Surber, 19 Donna Best, Irene Block, 20 Marilyn Carhart, Viv Coryell.

Schram, Ehlers Lead Devils In Triangular

Senior golfers Mark Schram and Scott Ehlers continue to deliver the one-two punch in team play Monday both shot 80s to lead the Devils past West Point and Oakland Craig.

Wayne scored 332 points to West Point's 345 and Oakland Craig's 370 in triangular action at Beemer.

Robin Kudrna had the third low score in 18-hole play, firing an 85. Randy Workman and Scott Brummond each shot 87. Brummond's score was not used.

Today (Thursday) Wayne golfers will be back in action at Norfolk competing in Class B district play. The top three teams plus the best five golfers qualify for the state meet next week at Beemer.

In last week's Husker Conference golf action, Schram won medalist honors, not Ehlers as reported.

Playing on the winning team beside Schram and Ehlers were Randy Workman, Tod Bigelow and Robin Kudrna.

Laurel 2-Mile Team Breaks Loop Record

Laurel High's two-mile relay team broke the conference record during the Northeast Nebraska Activity Conference meet last week.

The foursome of Marty Johnson, Kirk McCoy, Mike Dalton and Mark McCoy ran the distance in 8:41.4 to score the team's only points. Laurel finished last in the meet with six points.

Athletic Convocation Slated

Wayne High's outstanding athlete of the year and recipient of the Warren Moller Memorial will be named Friday night during the annual athletic awards convocation at the high school's lecture hall.

Coaches from the eight sports also will give special recognition to the top athletes in their respective sports as well as present letters to first-year athletes and certificates to those who already have earned letters.

According to athletic director Harold Maciejewski, the 7:30 p.m. program is open to the public.

Golf Course Open

Area golfers may have a chance to play at the Wayne Country Club during Class C district play at the course today (Thursday).

According to country club officials part of the 18-hole course should be open both in the morning and afternoon. For further information call the country club.

Wildcats Aim for 3rd NAIA Win

A third straight Nebraska NAIA baseball championship is the target of Wayne State Wildcats heading into the district playoff at Kearney State College.

With a 21-9 record, Wayne will go first against Dana College, at 2 p.m. today (Thursday), that game following a Kearney State-Concordia matchup at 11 a.m.

First-round losers will meet at 4:30, the loser departing from the double-elimination meet. First game winners will play at 8 p.m. tonight.

Friday's games will pair the teams that have lost one game, playing at 4:30. The winner of today's last game will meet the winner of the 4:30 Friday contest at 8:30. If the team with no losses wins, the tournament will end.

If both teams have one loss, an 8 p.m. Saturday game will settle the championship.

Wayne owns two wins over

Dana from the regular season, by 5-4 and 8-2 margins. The Wildcats, 5-1 champions of the Nebraska College Conference, took their one loss from Kearney, 5-1, then won the nightcap, 11-9. Wayne and Concordia had to skip a doubleheader because of weather.

Under the direction of coach Larry Schultz, in his first year at Wayne, the Wildcats have a record notable for balanced offense, but no statistical stars.

Outfielder Ray Miller of Fonda, Ia., tops regular players in batting with a .414 average and also leads in runs batted in, 24, and doubles, seven. Rick Benedetto, second baseman from Arlington Heights, Ill., has batted at a .344 pace, followed closely by outfielder Dean Ott of Hooper at .337.

Two occasional batters are over 400 — Brent Moeller of Scribner, 454, and Jerry Frerichs, Coleridge, 409.

Coach Schultz, a bold experimenter, has used no less than 12 pitchers, including outfielder Miller and catcher Ray Nelson for brief stints. Freshman Scott Sagerl of Wahoo is the top winner at 4-0, with a 1.07 ERA in 26 innings.

Four others own three victories — Greg Kamp of Omaha, 3-1, Bob DeVaul of Pocatontas, Ia., 3-0, Jim Kopecky of Omaha, 3-0, and John Zwiggart, Bancroft, 3-2. Mark Praher of Sioux City is 2-2, Jim Mergen of Estherville, Ia., 1-1, Leo Yrkoski of Omaha 1-1, Roger Saul of Wayne, 1-0, Steve Russell of Omaha, 0-1, and Miller, 0-1.

Kamp, Wayne's all-time winningest pitcher with 26 victories and 5 losses, has been used less than in past years to give younger pitchers more experience. Schultz said. But Kamp manned first base most of the time when not pitching, he has a 1.96 ERA for 28 innings, leads the team in strikeouts, 29.

3rd Time May Be Charm For Coed

Nebraska's hopes in the women's softball College World Series opening today (Thursday) in Omaha rest on a Wayne State team making its third straight series appearance.

State champion Wayne takes a 2-1 record into the 18-team tournament, a four-day grand to be played at the Dill Softball Complex at 70th and Ames Streets.

Pitching burdens for Wayne fall heavily on junior Mary Gerken, a veteran of all three World Series entries. She won 19 games this year, lost one — that one to the University of Nebraska at Omaha in the state tourney's fourth game. She came right back to win the little game. The George, Ia., product pitched all of several doubleheaders in the regular season and worked 33 of 35 innings in the state tournament. She's handy with a bat, too, hitting .288.

Her battery mate, catcher Cheryl Finke of Columbus Junction, Ia., leads Wayne batting with a .360 average. Close behind is outfielder Jan Nyquist of Omaha at .351.

Also batting over .300 are Becky Olson of Council Bluffs at .320, and Lori Tienken of West Point, .304.

Most of the regulars are close to that level: Carol North of

LAWRENCE BACKSTROM

The Wildcats had an unusual workout Tuesday. Coach G. Willoughby brought in a formidable pitcher in the person of Carlos Frey, WSCart professor who did a lot of pitching in his younger years in Kansas.

A southpaw with all sorts of tricky pitches, and still plenty of speed, Frey did what Miss Willoughby wanted. He showed her batters a caliber of pitching better than most of what they will face in the World Series. And most of them managed to connect a few times, though mostly flies or easy out ground ers.

Pleased with results, coach Willoughby added "Man, I'm glad I wasn't catching!" And Frey quipped: "After all these years, I finally made it up to girls softball!"

THE NEBRASKA School Activities' Association can count on five area high schools for "yes" votes when tabulating the fate of the state football playoff program. All five — Wayne, Wakefield, Winside, Laurel and Allen — voted in favor of the playoffs.

The idea of a playoff sounds good, but I wonder if Wayne will get a change to prove itself as a contender for the state Class B championship.

In recent years the Blue Devils have posted one of the best records in Northeast Nebraska, which to a lot of Wayne High backers is reason enough to rank the school in many of the daily newspapers' top 10 selections. But the reason many dailies skip Wayne is the caliber of competition the Devils face — they play too many Class C schools.

Last year the Devils posted a 5-3 record, beating four of the five Class C schools and one B school while dropping three contests in Class B. Wayne tied Class C Stanton.

It's not Wayne's fault the school is playing so many schools. The West half of the Husker Conference is made up of four C teams and four B teams, leaving the Devils little choice but to play C squads for a chance at the West title.

Any team winning the Husker loop can be a contender in class playoffs, but the point system can eliminate the team. Points are awarded for overall win loss record point spread in each game and the Class schools it has faced.

Coach Al Hansen said right now there is nothing Wayne can do about its schedule. As far as dropping out of the Husker Conference to pick up more Class B schools, — forget it.

ATHLETES in the news: Larry Shupe, former Husker all conference football player from Wayne High may be red shirled on the Nebraska Cornhusker football team.

That means Larry will not see action for a year but will get a year's scholars' aid to NU.

According to the 6.5, 235-pound right guard, the final word will come this summer. Shupe, a walk on last year as a freshman, is on the fourth string team.

Two Wakefield students also are in the news. Former first baseman on Wakefield's state championship Ameri-can Legion team, freshman Steve Kay, has earned a letter at Chadron State College as a first baseman. Doug Soderberg, Husker all conference quarterback from Wakefield this past season, has indicated to Kearney State officials he will play for the Antelopes this fall.

ABOUT COLLEGES announcing fresh men prospects for next fall, Wayne State football coach Del Stollenberg says he wants to wait and see if his players show up for August drills before telling everyone who's coming out. By releasing names before the sessions start, a coach may be giving away some of his players to other colleges, he says. Since prospects don't have to sign a letter of intent with small colleges, there is nothing stopping them from switching schools.

IT WON'T be long before Legion baseball is in full swing.

As most know by now, Wayne will be the site of this year's American Legion district tournament, quite an honor. Already city recreation director Hank Overin and his crew have done a lot of work on the infield to get it in shape.

At the same time, local Legion members have been trying to raise funds for new uniforms to replace those bought in 1965. The organization has collected about two thirds of its goal to buy 16 uniforms, caps and other equipment. To reach the goal the Legion is going to need your help. Send contributions to any one of the Legion members.

Brasch, Relay Team First In West Husker Track Meet

Wayne High senior Jim Brasch won the 440 yard dash, then helped pilot the Devils' mile relay team to first place during the West Husker Conference track meet at Wisner Pilger Saturday.

Brasch circled the oval in 53.3 and helped Dave Lessmann, Jack Froehlich and Lane Ostendorf to a 3:41.2 clocking in the mile relay as the Devils took third with 67 points. The wins gave the locals 20 points (10 for each first).

Wayne was considerably short of catching meet winner Colum bus Lakeview, which scored 150 points. Lakeview garnered five firsts out of 17 events while piling up seven seconds and four thirds. Each event had six placings.

Wisner Pilger was closest to the runaway Lakeview club, collecting 88 points. The rest of the pack: Madison, 66, Emerson Hubbard, 60, Wakefield, 46, Hartington Cedar Catholic, 32, and Stanton, 18.

Wayne's Gordon Emry placed in three events to lead the Devils in individual placings. The junior jumped 19 3/4 for fourth in the long jump, 38.4 for fifth in the triple and ran a 16.6 time for sixth in the high hurdles.

Senior sprinter Dick Chapman took two thirds—10.2 in the 100-yard dash and 24 in the 220. During preliminary action in the 100, Chapman broke the school record of 10.7 set by Bill Kern in 1956, with a 10 clocking.

Again all three Wayne relay teams appeared strong. Besides the first for the mile relay, Wayne's two-mile relay (Lanes Ostendorf, Don Nelson, Jack Froehlich, Pat Dorcey) finished second in 8:46.7. The 880 relay team of Ken Baier, Marly Hansen, Rod Hoops and Chapman took third in 1:36.8.

According to Hansen, all three relay teams have a good chance of winning a trip to the state meet today (Thursday) in the district track meet at Plainview.

The two-mile club currently holds the fastest time going into district, with both the 880 and mile teams third best. The top relay teams are invited to state.

As expected, several members of the relay squads also placed in other events: Ostendorf and Lessmann third (.54.9) fourth (.55.4) in the 440, Hansen fourth in the 180 yard lows (.23.5), Hoops sixth in the 220 (.25.3). Wakefield, which placed sixth, was led by Doug Prochaska and Pat Nicholson with a pair of seconds—Nicholsen .22.1 in the

Area Resident Files Suit

A Wakefield man, Derwin Hartman, has filed suit in Wayne County district court asking for $6,768.27 to pay for hospitalization and medical bills following a farm accident in which his arm was severed.

Hartman, elementary principal at Wakefield at the time of the accident northwest of Carroll in January of last year, is asking payment from Carl Christensen of Laurel.

He says in his suit that hospital bills totaled more than $4,350 and doctor bills came to nearly $1,200 following the accident.

The accident occurred when Hartman was shelling corn for Christensen, his brother-in-law, on the Lester Boyce farm three miles north and one-half mile west of Carroll. Hartman says in the suit, filed Friday, that he got off a truck to stop a conveyor belt from moving, tripped and fell against a revolving shaft. His clothing caught in the shaft, ripping off his left arm and ear and causing numerous cuts and bruises. The accident was the result of lack of protective covering over the revolving shaft, he claims in the suit.

Beer Sales Defeated

There will be no selling of beer on the Sabbath in Wayne — not in the immediate future at least.

City councilmen deadlocked in a 4-4 tie Tuesday night on a vote to approve a proposed ordinance which would have permitted Sunday beer sales.

Mayor Kent Hall was not present to break the tie, and the proposed ordinance died because a majority of the council was needed to add it to the city's list of laws.

Voting in favor of permitting Sunday beer sales were councilmen Vernon Russell, Ted Bahe, Pat Gross and Jim Thomas. They were opposed by Darrel Fuelberth, Don Beeks, Keith Aasley and Harry Brasch.

The vote came after two ministers, the Rev. Harry Cowles of the First Baptist Church and Pastor Larry Ostercamp of the Free Evangelical Church, argued against permitting Sunday beer sales.

Rev. Cowles said the city should not permit beer sales on the "Lord's day." Liquor consumption is a major factor in traffic fatalities, he said, and permitting beer sales on Sunday in Wayne would not help reduce those fatalities.

"If you can't sell it (liquor) on voting day, doesn't that tell you something?" he asked Tuesday was the primary election throughout the state, during which time liquor establishments were required to close.

He noted that the local ministerial association composed of ministers from various churches did not take a stand on the proposed ordinance.

Pastor Ostercamp said he could understand why some business places would like to sell beer with their food on Sundays, but he noted that the council should exercise some "restraint" by prohibiting beer sales on Sunday.

Councilman Thomas said that regardless of whether the ordinance passed or not, the city has no power to prohibit the Velt's Club from selling liquor on Sunday. Under its license issued by the state, the club may be open on Sunday, as can the local bottle clubs under an ordinance passed by the council.

Businessman Andy Manes several weeks ago argued that it is discriminatory to permit some liquor establishments to stay open on Sunday and force others, including his, to close.

After listening to his arguments the council had the city attorney draw up the proposed ordinance for consideration. A vote was put off several weeks in an attempt by councilmen to find out what the public thought of the issue. The two ministers appearing at Tuesday night's meeting were the only people to voice opposition during a council meeting.

8 Winside Seniors Receive Scholarships at Graduation

Eight Winside High students out of a graduating class of 30 were named scholarship winners during commencement exercises Monday night at the high school auditorium.

The eight winners — Vickie Baird, Deb Bargstadt, Connie Cleveland, Vickie Holtgrew, Joni Langenberg, Sally Landanger, Sharon Petersen and Peggy Thies — each received scholarships valued at $75 or more.

Of the eight, Bargstadt, Landanger and Petersen were in the top 10 per cent of the class, earning grades of 92 per cent or better. Deb had the highest average of 95.5 followed by Sharon's 94.73 and Sally's 92.93.

High school principal Ron Kramer presented the "I Dare You" awards to Sally Landanger and Doug Lage on behalf of the American Youth Foundation. The awards recognize the student's social adjustment, leadership, maturity, active participation and overall character.

Commencement speaker Dr

Edward Kelley told the class that graduation is a challenge, giving students a chance to be responsible in life.

"There is no bag limit in life" when a person is trying to accomplish the most he can, he said. But a person needs to know what he is aiming for in order to meet his goal, Kelley added.

Work and teamwork are the two most important ingredients once a person finds his goal, he said. Kelley cautioned the graduates not to become people who spend their time "looking through a rear view mirror" when trying to find a goal. Rather, he encouraged the young adults to look towards the front.

Prior to board president Robert Koll's presentation of diplomas, the high school band, under the direction of Mrs. Bonnie Sienken and the swing choir presented vocal and instrumental selections. The Rev. G. W. Gottberg, pastor at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside, gave the invocation.

DON'T BE FOOLED

By Those "Bait & Switch" Freezer Meat Ads

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED . . . BUT NOT WHEN YOU BUY FREEZER MEAT!

It's always best to buy from a local established concern. But, regardless of where you buy, here are some points to remember.

1. Don't be "baited" by a low price and "switched" to higher priced meat.
2. Beware if the salesman disparages the advertised product and tells you to buy something else.
3. Remember that "free" bonus pork chops or fryers or whatever aren't really free . . . you are paying for them indirectly.
4. If you buy a "half" beef, make sure it is a side (a front and a hind quarter). Keep in mind that two front quarters can be called a "half."
5. Be careful about misleading words and phrases like "U.S. Fancy" or "U.S. Grade A" that are supposed to designate quality. Know and use government meat grading terminology.
6. "Yield Grade" is something else you should know about: The higher the number from 1 to 5, the lower the yield in terms of red meat.
7. Don't let them "load your order" with cheap cuts while making you believe they all came from the same primal cut.
8. Will the meat be properly quick frozen? Or will this be your problem?
9. Is "six months" the same as cash? Ask your bank. You pay for such "generous" terms thru an inflated price.
10. Beware of high pressure tactics. Legitimate dealers don't insist on an immediate decision . . . they don't mind if you want to think it over.
11. Be on the look-out for deception everywhere. If you're offered a "bonus" (ham, turkey, pork chops, etc.) it'll be a miracle if it turns out to be what you expected.
12. Play it safe by buying freezer meat from an established, reliable dealer who belongs to his trade association. His ads may not be as splashy and he won't offer you "something for nothing." But, he'll treat you right by selling you quality merchandise, deliver honest weight, charge you a fair price, properly process and quick freeze it . . . and he'll guarantee satisfaction. That's because he'll be around for a long time and he wants you as a repeat customer.

"It is less important to do what you like, than to like what you do."

Unless a person is very wealthy, very headstrong, or quite insensitive to the niceties of convention, he is not likely to be in a position to always do exactly as he pleases. Peterson Ending Work for Thone

Wayne State College instructor Val Peterson will resign June 1 as resource coordinator for First District Congressman Charles Thone.

Peterson, distinguished professor of political science and public affairs the past year at Wayne State, joined Thone's staff last May after returning to the United States following four years as ambassador to Finland under President Nixon.

A former three-term governor of Nebraska, Peterson also served with cabinet status under President Eisenhower. He also was ambassador to Denmark under Eisenhower.

Thone's office, said Peterson will spend more time to "personal undertakings, including writing."

Karen Schultz, Kim Jackson Are Allen High's Scholastic Leaders

Allen High seniors Karen Schultz and Kim Jackson were named valedictorian and salutatorian during commencement ceremonies for 33 graduating students Tuesday night.

Karen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Schultz of Ponca, maintained a 97.2 average during her senior year, according to superintendent Gail Miller. Kim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylen Jackson of Allen, had a 96.5 average.

Both girls were among 10 students earning honors or scholarships.

Karen received two scholarships and was named as alternate for a third. She earned a University of Nebraska Regents scholarship for full tuition for one year.

Wayne Mother Wins Interest On $1 Million

Wayne's "Millionaire For a Day" concedes she will probably use much of her prize to buy groceries for her family, but she says she may take some of it to spend on herself.

Mrs. Neal Phelps of Wayne won the prize — interest for a day on a million dollars — in a drawing Saturday afternoon which climaxed the annual promotion by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Phelps' prize is $137 in Birthday Bucks, coupons which can be spent just like cash in any participating business. She had registered in several businesses for the drawing, but her registration slip at McNatt Hardware proved to be the lucky one.

Prior to Saturday's drawing for the prize, mothers and wives in the area were treated to free coffee and cookies by the Chamber. The first 300 who turned out for that treat received free potted penulias.

In charge of this year's promotion were Roger Nelson and Mrs. Bill Kaup.

The second performance was added because of the large number of phone calls from people asking if we could perform more than one night," he said.

Dalton promises those who take in the performance an enjoyable evening of music highlighted by a "fantastic lighting display" created and designed by high school art teacher Ted Blenderman.

The program will be exactly the same as Tuesday night's — everything from a medley of Glenn Miller songs to a medley of country and western selections. Songs to be played include "The Entertainer," popular theme song from the movie, "The Sting," and "Summer Time" from the musical "Porgy and Bess."

Guard Officials Hoping Tuition Aid, Cash Bonus Will Hike Enlistments

Two bills signed into law by Gov. J. J. Exon and an extensive recruitment drive which began Monday may increase membership in the National Guard unit in Wayne, according to Administrative Supply Technician Dennis Spangler.

The Wayne O'Neill unit is one of those faced with the possibility of being closed down if more Guardsmen are not signed up.

Some 100 Guardsmen and Guardswomen will be involved in the two week drive, scheduled for May 13 through May 26. During this time, 16 five-man teams will be traveling throughout the state.

Radio Taps A Person's Imagination

Radio — it's all in your imagination. At 16851 that's the way radio is intended, said Mike Jacobsen, manager of Wayne radio station KTCH. Radio is set up to "penetrate the private world of your inner space," he told Wayne Kiwanians Monday.

Jacobsen, in pointing out that May is National Radio Month, said radio offers both entertainment and news in addition to being a public service. Radio draws in its listeners because it "stretches the imagination."

The Wayne Kiwanis chapter added one more new member to its growing list. Ernie Thayer, new president of First National Bank in Wayne, was officially installed during the noon program.

After the installation, Wayne members voted to close the 1974-75 officer nomination list and tentatively set an election date for Monday.

Suit Settled
Out of Court

A suit between Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) and owners of land near Wayne which was to have gone to district court trial in Wayne County Monday was settled out of court.

The suit over the condemnation values set on land operated by LeRoy Rubbeck was brought by NPPD.

NPPD initiated the suit after values for a right-of-way easement across the land was established last year. NPPD sought an easement for building a 230,000 volt power line over the land. The line, now completed, runs between Dakota City and Norfolk.

School aid foes continue skirmishing as drive for signatures continues

CAPITOL NEWS LINCOLN—Skirmishing continues between the two sides in the debate over the future of the new state school aid law. Each claims the other is misrepresenting the facts. Senator Jerome Warner of Waverly, who succeeded in 1974 after three previous frustrations in getting a school aid bill passed over Gov. J.J. Egan's veto, said sponsors of a petition campaign against the measure have been telling "inconsistent and contradictory stories." Warner said he had heard that outstate Nebraskans were being told they would be subsidizing the operation of schools in Omaha and Bellevue, and that metropolitan area residents were being told their tax dollars would be going to help financial rural schools. Warner vetoed the 30 senators who overrode the Egan veto of LB 772 were from all parts of the state.

"These senators understood that LB 772 is a compromise measure intended to help all 1,200 school districts upgrade and equalize the quality of education throughout Nebraska," Warner said. "Tales of massive dollar flows are not only untrue," he said, "but obscure the real impact of LB 772. Everyone in Nebraska benefits from quality public education and LB 772 represents the first solid commitment by the state to this crucial goal." On the other hand, critics of the Warner bill have said that the supporters have been dealing in "scare tactics" by saying property taxes will jump dramatically next year. Whether that is true or not, they say, it doesn't have anything to do with the issue — which is at what level the state should provide financial assistance to local school districts. Senator Ramey C. Whitney of Chappell, one of the backers of the petition effort, says comments by the bill's supporters concerning how petition circulators must conduct themselves has given an assist to the collection of names. Ross Rasmussen, executive secretary of the Nebraska State School Boards Association, has said the law requires petition circulators to explain in full what is proposed by the petition. Failure to do so, he said, subjects the circulator to a fine of up to $500, a maximum of two years in prison or both. "Ross is just feeding fuel to our fire," Whitney said. The Chappell senator, one of 10 organizing the petition drive, said the circulators were angered by Rasmussen's implication and became more determined to gather the 24,000 valid signatures necessary to place the repeal question on the November ballot. Whitney said there was active opposition among rural residents to LB 772. "This crazy law takes money away from those with the worst schools and gives it to those with the best schools. There are exceptions to that," Whitney said, "but it's generally true." He said the measure "tends to take money out of rural areas and put it into urban schools which have the least per-pupil costs because of the economy of scale curve." In the Nebraska Cattlemen, publication of the Nebraska Stock Growers Association, education chairman Ernest Gotschall reported that LB 772 "is a move to shift part of the burden of school costs to people who now pay very little in school costs." Farmers Union, Farm Bureau and Livestock Feeders groups also have made favorable comments about the bill. But the Nebraska School Improvement Association, which represents small schools, is assisting in the petition drive. Also providing organized help is the Nebraska AFL-CIO. The NSIA is contending LB 772 would erode local control and the labor organization is saying the shift from property to sales and income taxes would hurt the working man. In addition to Whitney, the petition campaign is being pushed by Senator David Stahmer of Omaha. There are eight other senators helping with the effort. They must get 24,000 valid signatures into the Nebraska State Capitol. Secretary of State Allen J. Beer's office by July 12. The State Constitution says the roster of names must include totals equal to five per cent of the number of voters in the last election in each of 38 Nebraska counties. This provision puts stress on the rural campaigning. Much of the opposition has been centered in Omaha, but it will take signers from outstate as well to put the repeal proposal on the November ballot. Whitney said in early May that the drive was going well, although he didn't have any reports yet on the number of signatures which had been collected.

OBSERVATIONS

A one-on-one exercise

Am going to do a little mental dribbling this time around, because it's a little hard to put together some earth-shaking ideas on Monday morning and I'm still relishing the fantastic NBA championship by those incomparable Celtics. You can take — or leave — the following, whatever happens to be your pleasure. —I look for a couple more areas towns to vote on whether to boost the fluoride levels in their water before it becomes mandatory the first of next year. Concord, Dixon and Laurel voted on the issue Tuesday, and it'll be very interesting to see what happened in those towns. Allen, Carroll, Hoskins, Wakefield, Wayne and Winside will have to add fluoride to their drinking water, but it seems a poor bet to think they will do so without somebody challenging them by making the communities vote on the idea. If adding fluoride will reduce the number of cavities in youngsters, I'm all for it. I don't buy the argument that it's some conspiracy to poison us, since fluoride in the amounts we're talking about is no more dangerous than common table salt. —Businessmen in Wayne may get criticized for closing on Monday, May 27, instead of Thursday, May 30, to mark Memorial Day, but don't be too harsh on them. The 30th falls on a Thursday, and that's the most important day of the week for most business places. If they close on a Thursday, the results are going to affect the owners and employees in the same customers as well. I hope, however, that all business go along with the Chamber of Commerce suggestion that they close during the May 30th parade and permit their employees time off work if they wish to visit the cemetery. —Three cheers for Allen's Danny Koester, the young boy who has been fighting a serious illness for the past several months. Danny is now back home on the Koester farm near Allen, trying to pick up where he left off when he was forced into a Seattle hospital in January. He must have a lot of backbone to come out on top in his latest skirmish with the disease. Duplicate those cheers for the almost countless individuals and groups who got behind the Dixon County Farm Bureau's fund drive which raised more than $15,000 to help pay Danny's medical and hospital bills. Those bills may reach $25,000 before too long. —Regardless of how that race for the mayor's job in Wayne came out Tuesday, one candidate for mayor deserves a compliment for the enormous amount of work and effort he put into his campaign. He is Sam Hepburn, a Wayne High senior who was given almost no chance of winning the election when he announced his bid for the job back in February. Here's what his critics said about him: too young, spending his campaign money too early, appealing to just the teenage voters, too inexperienced, insincere. He has proven all those critics wrong, and going into Tuesday's election there were a lot of people giving him as good a chance of winning that race as anybody. —Although there are nearly 5,000 registered voters in the county, only about half of them will take part in the primary election. The other half will do their voting in the form of grumbling and complaining after it's too late. You can be sure that some of those moaning the loudest about Watergate and its aftermath probably never got inside the voting booth the last time around. The same things holds true for many of those complaining about what they think are lousy county roads, large school budgets or poor service by city employees. —Norvin Hansen.

WAY BACK WHEN

30 YEARS AGO May 11, 1944. Rain and sleet, often turning to snow, and a little sunshine occurred last week. The roads presented almost impassable mud. Elmer Rinehart bought the Ed A. Bane residence at 215 Lincoln and will move to the property later. Charles Jorgensen, Carroll, escaped with minor injuries Tuesday when his tractor turned over and pinned him beneath it. All meat except steaks and roasts of beef became ration free and red points were cut to half value at midnight May 3. Butter, margarine, cheese and evaporated milk are still on the red point ration list. 25 YEARS AGO May 12, 1949. Residents of Wayne Tuesday approved a $20,000 bond issue for the repair and enlargement of the municipal library by 375-110. Arnold Rasmus has been transferred from the Gamble store in West Point to Gambles in Wayne, where he will head the hardwares department. Dr. S. A. Lutgen, widely known Wayne physician, has announced that he plans to move to Colby, Kan. this summer. Top price of $105 was paid by Arnie Ebker for a Brown Swiss heifer calf at the dairy calf sale Thursday evening. Don Tietgen, Wayne high school senior, is entered in the state track meet at Lincoln May 13 and 14. Wayne's Pioneer ball team will see its first action of the season against Laurel's club Tuesday night on the Wayne diamond. The city council encouraged citizens and businessmen to join the annual cleanup day Wednesday by making arrangements to haul away the rubbish at no cost to townspeople. 20 YEARS AGO May 13, 1954. Wayne city councilmen Tuesday night hired a special engineer to handle technical details of planning the new swimming pool authorized by local voters at the polls early last month. Keith Broughn was elected commander of Wayne's VFW post at a meeting Thursday night. Nearly 100 Omaha businessmen will visit Wayne Saturday during the annual goodwill tour sponsored by the Omaha Chamber of Commerce. Preliminary plans for Wayne State's new $600,000 library were approved by the State Normal board Monday. Fire in a woodpile at the Lawrence Backstrom farm near Wayne called out the Wayne firemen Monday. Hans Sundahl, Wayne, suffered a fractured right arm Tuesday in a tractor accident. 15 YEARS AGO May 14, 1959. Mrs. Ethel Martelle, Pierce, has been named Wayne county welfare director, Commissioner George Stolz announced this week. Dodge defeated Wayne High 9-8 in the semifinals of the Class B district baseball tournament Monday afternoon at the local ball park. Mrs. Edwin Kluge, Wayne, was re-elected president of the Jackson Deanery of Catholic women at the group's annual spring meeting last Tuesday at Waterbury. About 140 students representing 14 rural schools Monday presented skits and displays to emphasize the importance of natural resources conservation in a program at the city hall. The meeting was a part of the Izak Walton league conservation program for schools. About 90 persons attended the Wakefield high school junior-senior banquet Friday evening at the school auditorium. 10 YEARS AGO May 14, 1965. Ten men with tractors and equipment went to the Ernest Brammer farm Monday afternoon and prepared 40 acres for planting by plowing and discing. Wes Plueger was named president of the Wayne Lions Club at a meeting last Tuesday evening. Five Winside business establishments, Paul's Produce, Park Place Tavern, Chicago Northwestern Depot, Winside Grain and Feed, Chicago Lumber Co. and the new District 95R school were entered by thieves Monday night. Winside's newest corporation, the Winside Dehy Co., is scheduled to go into operation this week, according to Bud Moret, Winside, mill manager. Paul Eaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Eaton, set two new track records for Wakefield high school. At a triangular meet Friday, Eaton ran the half mile in 2:49. The old school record was 2:59. At the district meet last Wednesday, Eaton set a new mile record at 4:40.1. The old record was 4:40.9.

Let's stop random dumping

Those two pictures on the editorial page last Thursday were not meant to be free advertising for the "dump" north-east of Wayne. They were meant to be a satirical jab at the county commissioners and law officials for permitting the public to dump trash, garbage and about everything else they wanted to get rid of into the road ditch. Several people were seen dumping their trash in the ditch shortly after the newspaper was distributed last week. They apparently couldn't see the criticism in the editorial comment — or else they just decided to join the crowd and get rid of their trash at the handiest place around.

That public eyesore is just one of several existing in the county. Too many people have little concern for others, insisting on tossing their trash and garbage in roadside ditches throughout the county. We think it is time the officials responsible for the health and welfare of all the residents in the county took action to put a stop to this problem. If that means taking some people to court and fining them, so be it. The practice may never be completely eliminated, but at least those who persist in dumping their trash at random will know that they run the risk of being penalized. Right now, they run little risk at all. —Norvin Hansen.

'Are our parks really adequate?'

Dear Editor Let's make Wayne a finer city to live in, get more people to live here and get more people to come here for an outing. Now that means we should have a park of at least 24 acres. Have a swimming pool that is 175 by 75 feet, then put the pool in the park, and also have the best playground equipment in the park. Also have a band shell in the park. In that kind of park you can have hiking trails. Let's make Wayne one of the finest cities in the state according to our population. Remember, we are going to be bigger some day and then we will wish we had a bigger park. We can handle it. Let's move Wayne forward. Get more people and new industry to come to Wayne. It brings in more money for Wayne and the people. —Ernest Voget.

SAY-WHERE ARE YOU GOING!

Congressman's comment... Thone: It's time to junk fiasco called foreign aid

By CONG. CHARLES THONE The time is ripe to junk foreign aid — I kill it completely. I have voted against every foreign aid bill that has been before Congress in the three years and four months I have been in Washington. Now, I believe the majority of the members of Congress are ready to end this fiasco. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, once enthusiastic about foreign aid, has decided that the program is misdirected. He voted against the last foreign aid bill. Our foreign aid program has been described as "throwing money at other countries" by former U.S. Price Commission chairman C. Jackson Grayson, now dean of the school of business administration at Southern Methodist University. I propose that economic foreign aid be replaced by a series of mutual aid agreements between the United States and other nations. Each two party agreement would provide for an exchange of equal value. For example, an undeveloped nation might pledge to provide the United States with a certain amount of oil for a period of years. In return, we would pledge to provide the country with equal value in whatever it needed most — perhaps modern agricultural methods and equipment. Such mutual agreements would bring mutual respect. Our present giveaways either make us hated or laughed at. The type of mutual assistance program I am advocating is supported by native Nebraskan Peter G. Peterson, former U.S. Secretary of Commerce, who is now board chairman of a major investment firm. He points out that the United States doesn't have these riches to throw away to other nations. "The United States must face the fact that it will be increasingly dependent on other nations for supplies of critical raw materials," Peterson says. Therefore, he argues that America must obtain equal value in return when we provide our products and services. Mutual assistance would require government to government treaties or agreements. Once these were reached, I would advocate that the government get out of the way and let U.S. commercial channels supply what the other nations most wanted. Nearly every nation in the world has developed or potential resources that our country needs. If there are nations that have too few resources to meet their needs through exchange, I propose that they be helped by church and other private relief agencies rather than by our federal government. Most of the people I have talked to who have observed our present foreign aid program abroad and first-hand regard it as a failure. These people include those connected with universities, the military and officials of the State Department. Our present foreign aid program is causing resentment and hatred abroad. Hard-nosed business deals that are mutually profitable to both nations involved will build respect and good-will. I hope we can establish such a sensible approach.

"To put the production and distribution of food in the same category as all other manufacturing activities... is a shortsighted, unrealistic disservice to the American consumer, which can only result in new food shortages and higher prices." —George Koch, president of Grocery Manufacturers of America

Thoughts for the day

THURSDAY — If God numbers our hairs, will He not also number our tears? Psalms 126:3 — They that sow in tears shall reap in joy. FRIDAY — The Christian is a man whom God has under treatment. 1 Peter 4:16 — But if anyone suffer as a Christian let him not feel ashamed, but in that name let him glorify God. SATURDAY — Examine many of your troubles and you'll find your own name stamped on them as the manufacturer. Psalms 46:1 — God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. SUNDAY — There is no pew 30 percent as the one without a spiritual worshipper. Philippians 3:3 — Worship in the spirit of God, and glory in Christ Jesus. MONDAY — He who cannot control himself is certainly unfit to control others. II Corinthians 5:14 — For the love of Christ constraineth us. TUESDAY — God does not comfort us to make us comfortable, but to make us comforters. Luke 6:38 — Give and it shall be given unto you. WEDNESDAY — A young man was taking a civil service exam for a rural mail carrier job. He came to the question, How far is it to the moon? In his answer the young man wrote, "I'm not interested in that route." Psalms 129:9 — He made the moon and stars to rule by night. Hazel Sarason, Wakefield

YOU AND YOUR CAR

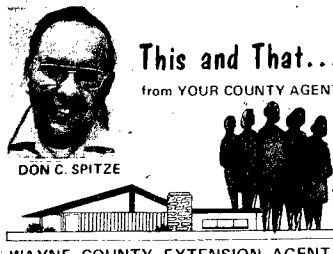

Gas Conservation The lifting of the recent oil embargo, more gasoline stations pumping fuel longer hours, Sunday gasoline sales and the disappearance of long gas lines have given many motorists the feeling that the gas shortage is behind us, and the days of unlimited carefree driving are just around the corner. Unfortunately, such is not the case. Oil experts indicate that the U. S. still faces major long-term energy problems. Our country is still dependent on oil imports — both crude and refined — to meet our demands. The current situation regarding availability of oil is unstable because oil-producing countries have lifted the embargo on what they call a trial or temporary basis, and a firm price structure for oil has not been formulated. While many motorists have faced hardships in past months, excellent cooperation, generally, by motorists practicing fuel conserving measures helped prevent the fuel shortage from becoming critical nationwide. Car pools, gas-saving driving habits and regular maintenance to keep cars performing at peak efficiency all helped reduce fuel consumption by about 15 per cent from anticipated levels, according to industry sources. The fuel shortage, by the way, made many motorists realize how dependent they really are on the automobile for essential needs. As we approach the traditionally heavy-driving season, fuel supplies are expected to be about the same as last summer. But in the meantime we have added about four million cars on our nation's highways. Based on the best available facts, there are about 10,000 more licensed drivers in the U. S. every day and about 8,000 more cars in use per day, boosting consumption daily. In order to have fuel for the things you want to do this summer, fuel conservation measures you followed during the fuel crisis are still necessary.

Bloat on Legume Pastures
Alfalfa makes excellent pasture except for the problem of bloat. Poloxalene, commonly known as bloat guard, reduces the danger of legume bloat by lowering surface tension and preventing formation of foam in the rumen.

Poloxalene does a good job of preventing legume bloat if the animal receives enough of the product. It appears poloxalene must be replenished about every 12 hours to give the desired protection.

But the big problem is to get the required amount of the product into the animal.

Some farmers have used a molasses salt poloxalene block successfully on alfalfa pasture. There are several reasons why bloat guard fails — too few blocks available, changes in palatability of the pasture, forage, high salt content of the water supply or the forage itself. When a poloxalene block is used, it should be the only source of salt to ensure higher block consumption.

Others have included poloxalene in a grain mixture to be either self-fed or hand-fed. Hand feeding has a high labor requirement. There should also be ample feed bunk space so all cattle can eat at one time. Many times cattle must be driven to the bunk as well.

In self-feeding, salt or other intake inhibitors are necessary if cattle are to be limited to make greater pasture usage. These add cost to the ration and, in the case of salt, may be detrimental to pasture productivity.

Moss on Roofs
The other day I had a telephone call on the problem of moss growing on house shingles. Make a one-half per cent solution of household Clorox or Purex. First test on a few shingles to see that the solution isn't so strong that it will bleach the shingles. Then spray the solution on the moss-infected area.

Warning to Tractor Drivers
The noise or decibel level of farm tractors will vary from 80 to as high as 115; high enough to damage hearing.

Ordinary conversation is rated at 60 decibels, an open car window near the ear rates a 95, a shotgun blast measures 130 and a jet with afterburner is 160 decibels.

Hearing loss caused by noise does not respond well to hearing aid treatment and is usually not improved by surgery. The best treatment is prevention. Various types of ear plugs and ear muffs are available.

While it is difficult to measure sound levels, the operator might experience hearing deterioration through the following danger signals:

— If ears ring or you experience head noises for a few hours after you get off the tractor after a day's work.

— If after a day's work on the tractor, speech seems muffled when others talk to you.

Area Residents Taking Part in River Study

Becky Wilson of Wayne and Fred Salmon Jr. of Wakefield are among the 17 representatives of interest groups who have been serving as citizen advisers to the Platte River Level B Study.

The study is a joint state-federal study being conducted under the auspices of the Missouri River Basin Commission in cooperation with the state. Major purpose of the study is to formulate a plan for water and related land resources management that will meet Platte River Basin needs for the next 15 to 30 years. Long range needs will be forecast for the year 2020.

Study director Carroll Hamon of Lincoln said preliminary plans are nearly completed in the Elkhorn Subbasin. Extensive irrigation from wells may threaten the future of water resources development in the Elkhorn River Basin, preliminary results of investigations show.

"A survey conducted by state agencies in August showed that residents of the Elkhorn Subbasin want to provide water for agriculture but also want additional water-based recreational facilities," Hamon said.

Information provided recently by study task forces indicates that extensive ground water irrigation from wells could lower the flow of the Elkhorn River and reduce or eliminate the potential for stream recreation, he noted.

"Regulations for water and land use will have to be made by the Nebraska Legislature or the U. S. Congress," Hamon said. "But through studies such as the Platte Level B, citizens will have a voice in recommendations that will be carried forward and upon which decisions will be based."

Over fertilizing of lawns may contribute to thatch buildup.

4-H Horse Camp

Set for June 5, 6

Four H youths from a five-county area are invited to a 4-H horse camp at the Northeast Station June 5-6.

The program, under the direction of Dick Warren, associate professor of animal science at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, will include sessions on equipment, safety, fundamentals of stock seat equitation, trail riding and horse judging — both halter and performance classes.

Attendance may be limited, said Roy Stohler, area youth specialist at the Northeast Station, so deadline for early registration is May 24 for youths in Wayne, Cedar, Dixon, Dakota and Thurston Counties. Cost will be $5, payable in advance.

Stohler said riders may bring their horses, and the horses will be stabled in the horse barn if desired. Space is limited, however.

Those interested in attending may register with their county agents or at the Northeast Station.

'Conservation Program Is Good Idea'

Farmers in Dixon County can sign up for a cost sharing conservation program until the May 31st deadline, reports agricultural agent Roy Stohler.

Stohler said farmers can guarantee future cost sharing to complete their farm conservation plans by signing a long term environmental conservation program agreement with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Ponca.

In order to complete the sign-up, a farmer must have a farm plan developed with the Soil Conservation Service. Stohler noted.

Stohler said he urges farmers to seriously consider the advantages of this program because nobody knows how much longer Congress will continue backing cost sharing conservation programs.

4-H'ers Win in Speech Contest

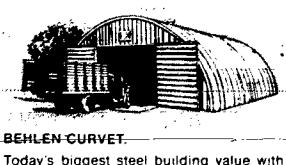

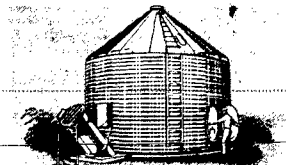

Wayne's Michael Rethwisch placed third in the district 4-H Timely Topic Speech Contest at Norfolk May 4, earning himself a blue ribbon to go along with his top placing in the boys division of the Wayne County contest earlier last week.

Rethwisch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Rethwisch, placed behind two purple ribbon winners in the district event. Title of his talk was "Hey... Watch Where You're Walking."

Earning a red ribbon in that district meet was Gail Grone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Grone of Winside. Her talk was titled "Soybeans — An American Interest." Like young Rethwisch, she won her division in the county contest last week, earning her a trip to the district meet.

Business, Construction Is Booming East of City

By SANDRA BREITKREUTZ

Business and industrial growth in Wayne has accelerated noticeably in recent years, and the east edge of town provides ample evidence the community's economic future is taking an upward turn.

Established firms are expanding. New businesses are springing up. Still other companies are looking promisingly at what Wayne has to offer.

About 15 firms have built on the east edge of the city in the past 10 years — most of them within the past five years — and seven more are now building or have construction planned to start soon.

Within the city limits, a filling station, the El Toro and a Pizza Hut have all been completed within the past year.

Seventh Street Derby at Seventh and Dearborn Streets is owned and operated by Derby Refining Co. of Wichita, and managed by Ron Fink. In addition to Fink, the station has two part-time employees.

El Toro, a package liquor business and lounge owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Farrens, operates from a brick faced building across the street east from Diers Supply, another relatively new business to Wayne.

The Pizza Hut, part of a Wichita chain, created about 10 new jobs when the doors of its brick and wood building opened in the fall of 1973. Manager Glenda Garry explained that these positions are filled locally.

Across the street south from Gibsons (which opened in 1972) is the future home of an independently owned grocery to be operated by Lueders, Inc. When the new building is complete, Bill's Market Basket on Main Street, now operated by William Lueders and William Lueders Jr., will be closed.

The new GW store, located in a 10,000-square-foot steel building, will employ 20 to 25 persons, five times as many as are employed at the Market Basket, according to young Lueders.

Also nearing completion is the Amber Inn, a 32-unit motel which should open about July 1, according to Jim Thomas, president of the corporation which owns it. Located on a five-acre plot north across the highway from the Pizza Hut and El Toro, the motel will employ six or seven persons full time.

Wayne Bates, new manager-owner of the Wayne Rendering and By-Products Co., is hoping to start by August on the addition to his plant a mile east and a half mile south.

Six men are employed by the company at present, and when the 60 x 80 concrete block addition is complete, possibly this fall, that number will jump to 14. If plans to add a pet food line work out as hoped, the company will employ as many as 50 persons.

Local Student To Get Degree At Seattle

Vernon Francis, son of Rev. George Francis of Wayne, was one of the 36 students who completed required course work at the end of winter quarter at Seattle Pacific College at Seattle.

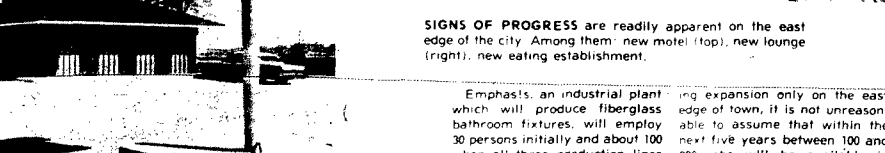

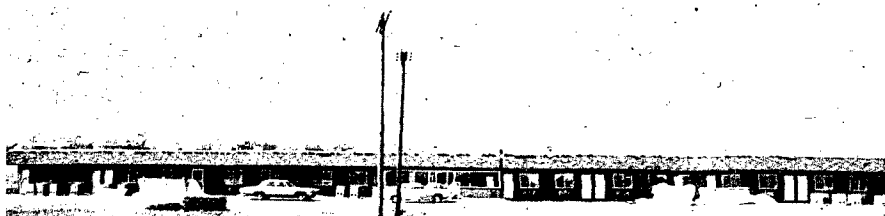

Francis will graduate with a bachelor's degree in psychology on June 2.

The college is a four-year, fully accredited Christian college of liberal arts and science.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS are readily apparent on the east edge of the city. Among them: new motel (top), new lounge (right), new eating establishment.

The industrial site just over a mile east on the south side of Highway 35 will be the new home of Logan Valley Improvement Co., owner manager Gary Pick, said he hopes construction can begin yet this spring.

Between 35 and 40 persons will be employed by the business when the move is made from the present location at First and Pearl Streets. The firm employs 21 now. The 21,600-square foot building will be located on a 12-acre site.

On the north side of the highway is the industrial site owned by the city of Wayne. Since the city purchased the site this spring considerable planning and work have gone into improvements aimed at attracting industry, city officials say.

Two manufacturing firms, which have not yet committed themselves, are studying the area now, according to mayor Kent Hall and Chamber of Commerce manager Howard Witt.

The city has had the area surveyed and graded and has installed a water line to the site. Almost $80,000 has been spent there already, and the frontage road and sewage facilities are still in the planning stages, according to city officials.

It is here that Marra Home Improvement, now on South Main Street, will relocate, and where the Broyhill Company will build.

Wilmer Marra, president of Marra Corporation, said his plans call for expanding the firm's present line. The firm, in addition to manufacturing Solar steel combination windows and doors, does specialized work such as roofing, insulating and siding. The expansion will enable the company to bring from 11 to 20 the number of employees hired, Marra said.

The 120 x 150-foot steel building with ornamental block face will be located on about five acres just east of the Standard Farm Station, facing the highway. Construction began April 1, and Marra is hoping for completion by the middle or end of the summer.

The Broyhill Co. plant, which will be located on a 10.76 acre site just north of Marra, will be reached by an access road to be put in by the city. The plant will manufacture parts for agriculture and industrial equipment, said Roy Broyhill of Broyhill, Inc., at Dakota City.

Basic completion of the 14,000-square foot building is set for September.

Broyhill would not commit himself regarding the prospective number of employees, but he said they will be hired locally.

Construction should be substantially complete this August on the Emphasis plant located north of the Standard facility.

Wakefield Hikes Base Pay $400

Wakefield teachers will receive a $400 increase in their base pay for the 1974-75 school year.

Last week the Wakefield school board approved the hike, bringing the base total from $6,600 to $7,000, said superintendent Muri Beller. The increment pay will remain the same, four per cent of the base for teaching experience and four per cent for educational preparation, he added.

Three teachers have handed in their resignations. They include principal Richard Anderson, principal the past two years; Margaret Emsich, librarian for one year, and six-year science instructor Doug Krogram. No replacements have been named yet, Beller said.

Candidates for County Offices Spending Little

Merlin Beiermann, Republican candidate for the first district commissioner's post in Wayne County, had spent the most on his campaign up to last Thursday, reports filed in the county clerk's office reveal.

Beiermann, candidate for the post now held by Republican Joe Wilson, had spent $78.26 on his campaign according to those reports.

Beiermann was the only candidate on the county level who listed contributions to his campaign on the report, the second of three required during the primary election period.

He listed contributions totaling $90 from Willis Meyer, John Heinemann, Calvin Comstock, Dennis Luff, Warren Summers and William Holdorf.

No candidates had listed any contributions toward their campaigns during the previous filing period.

Wilson had spent $52.71 on his campaign earlier, according to the first report he filed with clerk Norris Weible. He listed no new expenditures by last Thursday.

Two other candidates listed additional campaign expenditures since filling out their first form. Doris Stipp, Republican candidate for the assessor's job she now holds, spent $10.35 on advertising, bringing her campaign expenditures to $45.35. Ed Watkins, Republican candidate for the commissioner's job now held by Republican Floyd Burt, spent $14.28, bringing his expenditures to $77.38.

Listing his first campaign expenditures was Lawrence Backstrom, another Republican foe of Burt. He spent $31.38 on printing since filling out his first form.

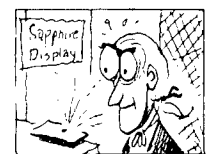

Candidates who listed no contributions or expenditures since filling out the first form include district clerk JoAnn Ostrander, school superintendent Fred Rickers, treasurer Leon Meyer, clerk Norris Weible, sheriff Don Weible, and noxious weed board members John Owens and Mike Karel.

Burt had previously listed campaign expenditures totaling $36.

Premium ride without premium gas!

Today a premium ride is not enough. You also need a car you can afford to run. And for 1974 Mercury Marquis is designed to be that kind of car. It uses regular fuel. Its standard steel-belted radials give thousands of extra miles of tread wear over non-radials. And a '74 Mercury is designed to save you an estimated average of 26% on scheduled maintenance costs when compared to a '73 Mercury in 50,000 miles of normal driving. That's due to innovations like solid state ignition. So you see, a premium ride is just not enough. Unless it comes in a car you can afford to operate. We invite you to come drive the Mercury Marquis for 1974—the premium ride that uses regular gas!

Dear Russ:

In looking over the current association figures, I just couldn't let this opportunity go by without thanking you and your organization for the excellent sales accomplishment secured (reference to Frigidaire's total share of the available business in Wayne County).

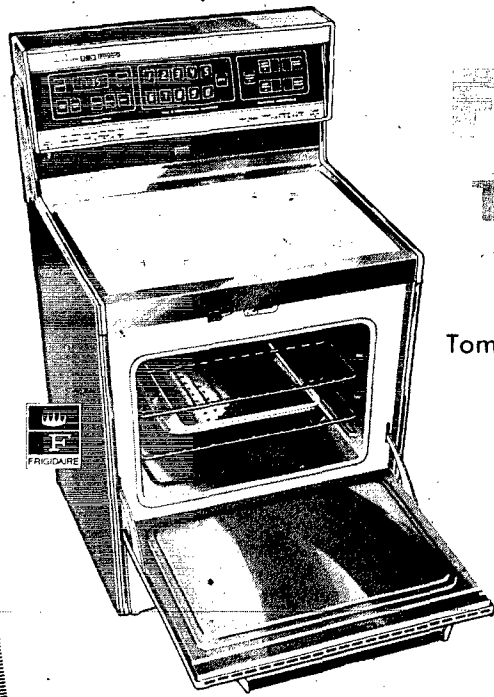

If the present sales activity can be maintained for the rest of our current model year, Kugler Electric will better than triple Frigidaire's sales in Wayne County in 1974 compared to 1973.

This also indicates to me, Russ, that customers in your area of sales responsibility place a great deal of confidence in your organization. They know that not only do you give them with exceptional dollar savings because of the large quantities in which you purchase Frigidaire appliances, but also that service on these products will always be satisfactorily and efficiently rendered whenever the need arises.

Once again, Russ, congratulations to you and your organization for the excellent Frigidaire accomplishment in the Wayne area. I know this trend will continue in the months to come!

kindest personal regards,
