

Offices, Stores Closing Monday

City and county offices in Wayne will close Monday along with local business establishments in observance of Memorial Day.

In addition, all federal offices will close on Monday, the national observance of the holiday.

But since the veterans organizations in Wayne will not mark Memorial Day until next Thursday, city and council officials have agreed to close their offices during those observances. Likewise, local businesses are being urged by the Chamber of Commerce to close during next Thursday's parade and to permit employees to take part in the graveside services following the parade.

Monday is the date the federal government has set aside for Memorial Day, but the state of Nebraska has passed legislation making next Thursday Memorial Day as far as the state is concerned.

Wayne, Area Towns Plan Services for '74 Memorial Day

Although Wayne and area towns will observe the national Memorial Day on Monday by closing business firms for the day, services, programs, parades and dinners will still take place on the traditional date May 30. Many firms will close during activities scheduled for Thursday.

WAYNE

The Wayne program, sponsored this year by the VFW, will include a Thursday morning parade and graveside services, according to VFW commander Morris Backstrom.

Participating in the parade, which will begin at 10 a. m. at Third and Main Streets and march to Greenwood Cemetery, will be the VFW, American Legion, World War I Barracks and their auxiliary groups, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and the Wayne High band.

Flower girls, between ages of eight and 14, are needed for the parade, and anyone interested should contact Mrs. Julia Haas. Girls should meet at 9:45 a. m. at the Woman's Club rooms, with flowers if they have them.

Val Peterson, Wayne State professor and former Nebraska governor and ambassador to Finland and Denmark, will speak at the cemetery. A member of the high school band will play taps. Mrs. Charles Siefken, VFW Auxiliary president, will speak briefly, and VFW member Cleve Sharer, will read the roll call of deceased veterans.

ALLEN

Allen businesses will close from 10:30 a. m. to noon Thursday for community graveside services. The program, to be held at Eastview Cemetery, will begin at 10:30 a. m.

Flag bearers will be members of the Allen American Legion Post and Auxiliary, Jewell Swenson, post chaplain. See SERVICES, page 7.

Open House Is Tonight At Armory

When Dr. Hckerl pulled a tooth for 25c

A helicopter, jeeps, gamma goat, rifles, radios and other equipment will be on display tonight (Thursday) during the open house at the National Guard Armory at Wayne.

The open house is scheduled from 6 to 11 p. m., according to administrative supply technician Dennis Spangler, and all young people, parents and children are invited to visit the Armory and see the exhibits.

Purpose of the open house is to explain the benefits of the Guard to draft age young people in the Wayne area. The Wayne O'Neill unit is working with other Guard units across the state in a recruitment program designed to boost membership in the Guard.

There are currently 64 men enrolled in the local unit, 19 under its authorized strength of 83, according to Spangler. There is a danger the local Armory will be closed down if that membership is not increased within the next few weeks, Spangler has said.

County Losing in Revenue Sharing

What have federal grants in aid and revenue sharing been producing for Wayne County in the way of roads?

To what extent did the local area share in the $12.8 billion that was distributed in the last fiscal year, compared with the amounts that went to other areas?

On the basis of Treasury Department figures and a state by state analysis of them made by the Tax Foundation, a non-profit organization that keeps track of government taxation and spending, Wayne County's share was relatively small.

An estimated $1,647,000 in grants were awarded for local purposes in the year under a variety of aid programs.

The total allotment for the state as a whole amounted to $238,000,000. It covered a number of aid programs, such as public housing, child welfare, hospitals and health care, roads, schools and urban renewal.

The figures take into account only grants in aid and revenue sharing and do not include other government expenditures in local communities for goods and services.

As to the cost of these benefits, they are met by each locality, in whole or in part, by the portion of their income and excise taxes that go into the aid programs.

Wayne County's contribution for such purposes last year was approximately $1,993,000, according to a breakdown of the See SHARING, page 7.

O'Neill Coming for Saturday 'Sock Hop'

For a nostalgic peek back into the fun of the 30's, the record hop at the Wayne National Guard Armory is the place to be Saturday evening.

St. Mary's Men's Club has engaged WOW radio broadcast for Jimmy O'Neill to spin records for the 9 p. m. to 12:30 a. m. event, and some participants are reportedly planning to come "dressed up" for the 50's dance.

Half the proceeds from the event will be donated to the Wayne State Foundation, according to club spokesman. Admission is $1 per person.

Wayne to Get Weather Wire This Month

Wayne will be among 27 Nebraska cities which will have access to a state weather wire by the last week in May, Congressman Charles Thone has announced.

Service to the communities will be provided without charge by the National Weather Service. Anyone desiring the service will pay through commercial channels for a telephone connection and a typewriter printer.

The weather wire will carry up to date weather forecasts by zones within Nebraska, stockmen's warnings, tornado watches and other special bulletins, Thone said.

Other cities to be connected initially are Ainsworth, Alliance, Aurora, Beatrice, Broken Bow, Columbus, Cozad, Fairbury, Fremont, Grand Island, Hastings, Kearney, Kimball, Lexington, Lincoln, McCook, Norfolk, North Platte, Ogallala, Omaha, O'Neill, Ord, Scottsbluff, Sidney, Valentine and York. More cities may be added later, Thone said.

Only broadcasters and news papers will be connected to the system when it first goes into service, according to Thone. After this work is completed, however, all businesses that desire the service will be hooked up.

The Nebraska Congressional delegation succeeded in placing funds for the weather wire in the 1974 appropriations for the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Paper Drive Set

Residents of Wayne, Winslow and Carroll are asked to have newspapers placed in front of their homes early Saturday morning so Boy Scouts from Wayne can collect them. News papers should be tied or put in burlap so they don't blow around.

Pay Talks for Allen Teachers To Start Soon

A third party has been selected for salary negotiations at Allen High School.

His Lincoln attorney, Con Keating, who will join Noel Roberts of the Nebraska State Education Association and another Lincoln attorney, Ed Perry, to try to settle salary negotiations between the Allen Education Association and the school board.

According to superintendent Galt Miller, talks are slated to start next week. Allen teachers are asking for $7,000 base pay, $550 more than the salary schedule currently provides. The board is offering $6,800.

"I'm not sure how long the committee has to settle the situation, but I'm hoping something can be decided by the June 10 board meeting," Miller said.

Last month the board and association declared an impasse after they could not agree on a salary schedule for the 1974-75 school year.

Roberts was selected to represent the association while the board picked Perry. Keating was named by those two negotiators.

'You Can't Miss It'

DRIVERS TRAVELING Highway 57 near Carroll can hardly miss seeing this bright sign welcoming them to the Country Courtesy Center. The sign was installed last week after the Carroll Community Club hired Roy Olson to paint the fluorescent sign. Last year the club sponsored a contest to find a slogan for the sign, and after many hours of wading through entries the members combined several ideas to come up with "Welcome to... Carroll Country Courtesy Center." Admiring the sign are Carroll merchants Leonard Hallean, left, and Cy Gubbels.

WH Seniors Share Honors

Two students shared valedictorian honors and four others shared salutatorian honors during commencement exercises for Wayne High's senior class Monday night.

Named co valedictorians after maintaining straight A grades all four years of high school were Kay Pankratz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Pankratz, and Beth Pedersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pedersen.

They led the 100 member class graduated in ceremonies at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium. Named to share salutatorian honors after they tied with grade point averages of 3.96 during their four years of high school were Greg Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Anderson, Brinda Gaunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gaunt, Marjorie Lundstrom, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Max Lundstrom, and Ann Owens, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Orvid Owens.

It marked the first time in the school's history that there had been so many ties for the top two scholastic honors.

Three "star" students and 16 others, shared numerous scholarships and honors announced and recognized during the evening.

Those other students, Patricia Emry Anderson, Ken Baier, Tod Bigelow, Karen Black, Debra Bordenstedt, Jim Brasch, Charles Brockman, Gordon Cook, Kerry Jech, Valerie McLean, Debra Meier, Scott Nielsen, Lee Ann Richardson, Jane

Peterson, who has served as U. S. ambassador to both Denmark and Finland and who is ending a year's service as resource consultant to Cong. Charles Thone, told the graduates that politics is not the "shabby" profession some people believe it is.

There are some crooked, self serving people in politics, he noted, but no more than there is in any other profession in the nation.

'Politics Isn't Shabby,' WHS Graduates Told

The popular idea that people in politics are "shabby, self-serving, incompetents and crooks" is a very dangerous idea to this nation and one that is very wrong, the speaker told Wayne High's graduating class at commencement exercises Monday night.

Val Peterson said there are some politicians who fit that description, but the vast majority of politicians are people who "standards as high as those of any other group of people in the U. S."

"Bad apples are spread pretty evenly throughout our society," he said, urging the graduating class to become involved in politics if they want to make sure politics remains an admirable profession.

The idea that politicians are crooks is dangerous, he explained, because it can lead to disillusionment by the public and that can lead "to the day when the nation is ripe for the man on horseback — the dictator."

He said the graduates should become involved in politics in one degree or another to make sure a dictator like Adolph

Hitler never rises to the surface in this country.

Peterson's compliment paid class member Sam Hepburn for his seeking the mayor's job in this spring's municipal election brought applause from Hepburn's classmates and the large audience attending the graduation ceremonies.

Peterson, distinguished professor of political science at Wayne State College and a former three-term governor of Nebraska, noted that Hepburn's race for the mayor's job in Wayne was one example of the effect an individual can have in our society.

Wayne High senior ever to seek a local elective office, ran second in the four-way race for the mayor's post.

"I congratulate Sam the Man (one of Hepburn's slogans). I hope he goes on and continues his participation," Peterson said.

Peterson noted that Hepburn failed to follow one bit of advice he gave him during the campaign. He said Hepburn tried to finance his campaign himself. See POLITICS, page 7.

Park Project At Laurel Gets 1st Round Okay

A park development project at Laurel which will cost an estimated $74,000 is among 38 projects given approval by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission for the next fiscal year.

The projects will have to be okayed by the State Office of Planning and Programming before funding by the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation can be approved.

The Laurel project will include roadwork, landscaping and construction of shelters, playground equipment, shuffleboard, lighting, restrooms, drinking fountains and picnic facilities. Fifty per cent of the project would be paid for with federal funds, 25 per cent with state funds and 25 per cent with local funds if it is approved by state officials and funded by the federal government, according to the state game commission.

Children Earn Honors

Stephanie, Michele and Stephen Mendyk received several honors at the district music contest held recently at Stevens Point Area High School and at the state music contest held at the University of Wisconsin at Eau Claire.

They are the children of Dr. and Mrs. Lee Mendyk who moved from Wayne to Stevens Point, Wis., last year. Dr. Mendyk was director of bands at Wayne State College from 1969 to 1973 and holds a similar position at the University of Wisconsin at Stevens Point.

Stephanie, a senior, received four superiors at the district contest and two superiors and an excellent at state. She played oboe and cello. Michele, a junior, received five superiors and an excellent at district and three superiors at state, playing flute and violin. Both were among the contestants selected at the state contest to audition for a music camp scholarship.

Stephen, playing cello and trumpet, received two superiors and an excellent at district. His class was not eligible for state competition.

Stephanie and Michele are members of the school orchestra and 54-piece wind ensemble, and Stephanie was recently featured as an oboe soloist in a concert presented by the wind ensemble. Students must audition for both groups. The girls are also members of the Stevens Point Civic Orchestra, and Stephanie will play oboe in the all-city band this summer.

Stephen, although a seventh grader, was chosen through audition to play with the junior high concert band which ordinarily consists of just eighth and ninth graders. He is also a member of the junior high jazz band.

Another son, Michael, was a member of the all-city elementary 60-piece honor orchestra and 60-piece honor band which played at the annual elementary music festival May 19. A fifth grader, he appeared as featured French horn soloist with the school's fifth and sixth grade band during their May 15 concert. He also plays viola with the intermediate orchestra at his school.

Fabric Clinic Held for Forty

Forty women and girls attended the "Listen to Your Fabric" clinic held recently at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station near Concord, according to Anna Marie Kretzels, area extension agent.

The one-day clinic was conducted by Mrs. Jane Speece, state extension clothing specialist. Mrs. Speece discussed generic names and trade names of fabrics, advantages and disadvantages of various fibers and fabrics, shopping tips, pressing methods and construction techniques. Informal discussion provided opportunity for questions from clinic participants.

Care instruction labeling currently used on garments and fabrics is now being evaluated by the Federal Trade Commission committee, noted Mrs. Speece and consumers who have criticism or ideas for more effective labeling should write the Federal Trade Commission, 6th and Pennsylvania Ave., NW, Washington, D. We care about your carpet (deeply.)

Our Magic Mist Carpet Professionals get right down to business... deep down! Using a penetrating steam extraction system, high pressure wet steam is injected into carpet fiber. This loosens the soil no matter how deeply embedded, and within a second, extracts the soil and up to 90% of injected moisture. Harsh brushing action, which only drives dirt deeper into rug fiber, is a thing of the past. The unique Magic Mist method removes soil and it's economical, too, because carpets stay clean longer!

Wildkittens Are 3rd In College Softball

Looking at it this way, Wayne State's women's softball team ranks third in the world.

That helps soothe the pain of a 9-8 extra-inning Wayne loss Sunday to the University of Northern Colorado in the College World Series at Omaha. Had the Wildkittens beaten UNC Sunday, they would have gone into the championship game against Southwest Missouri State.

Southwest had defeated Wayne, 8-5, late Saturday, and in the title tilt Sunday Southwest blanked Northern Colorado, 14-7. Wayne gained third place automatically as the last team to drop into the losers' bracket — ironically against the same team, Northern Colorado, that Wayne had dumped Saturday by 23-7. Wayne finished with a 3-2 series record, UNC with 5-2, champion Southwest Missouri, 5-0. The University of Kansas finished at 5-2, but had to settle for fourth place.

Wayne's final loss had to be disappointing after the Wildkittens led all the way to the bottom of the sixth inning when Northern Colorado tied at 8-8.

A four-run burst in the top of the second put Wayne ahead, and another in the third made it 5-0. Then the Coloradans got four in the bottom of the third, partly because of field conditions. The series had been moved to the University of Nebraska-Omaha football field after frequent rains made every softball field in town unplayable. UNC's football field has artificial turf — but no outfield fence for softball.

The UNC uprising in the third ended with a home run, scoring two. If there had been a fence to stop the long-flying hit, that homer would likely have been a double; a triple at best, scoring only one. The next two batters went out.

Simple arithmetic indicates UNC would have had to score one more run to forge its tie in the sixth inning.

This, naturally, is second-guessing. Then there's another morsel for second-guessers to consider — the fact that artificial turf, though playable when wet, still is wet and slick. One can wonder about the plight of pitchers wielding a water-weighted ball. Although it works equally against both pitchers, Wayne had only Mary Gerken to pitch through five games. UNC had two pitchers, the second nearly as good as the first.

Curiously, Wayne's total of 43 hits in five games exactly equaled the 43 Gerken gave up. Scoring was something else, the Wildkittens totaling 42 runs to 27 opponents.

Shortstop Deb Thurness led Wayne's series batting with an amazing .615 on eight of 13. Leftfielder Jan Nyquist went 500 on 9-18. Centerfielder hit Ann Fulkerson .444, Gerken .333, rightfielder Carol North .316 — a dandy bunch of figures which lifted team batting to an even .300.

The Wildkittens, unseeded

TRIPLE GRIN: Wayne State's Mary Gerken, right, and coach G. I. Willoughby think Mary's triple, scoring one run, was just dandy against Northern Colorado.

despite their 19-2 record going into the series, surprised Michigan State, 4-3 in eight innings of the opener, then blanked No. 1 seeded University of Arizona 2-0, massacred Northern Colorado, 23-7, before losing to the eventual champions, then to UNC.

Wayne and Colorado matched 11 hits in their first encounter, but two UNC pitchers walked 14

Wildkittens and hit two others with pitches in the debacle. Gerken, always strong on control, walked only five batters in the whole series.

In Wayne's final loss, Colorado took advantage of three walks, four Wayne errors and the fenceless home run to score seven of its runs in two innings. So Wayne finished third in the world series with a 2-2 season.

SPORTS

Brudigan Wins 'C' Feature

Gene Brudigan of Hoskins powered his modified race car to a first and third in Sunday's competition at Norfolk's Riviera Raceway.

Brudigan captured the C feature after racing the C feature in the third heat. Town rival Gerald Bruggeman had troubles in the B feature, finishing fifth for his only showing of the night. The veteran driver usually picks up numerous placings at Norfolk. Last week he set a new track record, whipping around the oval in 6:12.3, three seconds better than the mark set the week before. In setting that record, Bruggeman won the 25-Lap-A feature.

Bruggeman's son, Larry, continues to improve on the track. During Sunday night's performances the first-year driver took a third and fifth.

In the late model division Wakefield's Dennis Crippen won a pair of thirds.

The zaniest baseball holdout probably was George "Rube" Ellis, crack St. Louis outfielder, back in 1908. Ellis refused to sign his contract until he got what he was holding out for — $2.50 — to buy a new fielder's glove.

NAIA District Crown Eludes Wayne State

A Wayne State baseball team that began its season with a question mark ended with a period Saturday.

Over that time the mostly inexperienced Wildcats surprised almost everybody, maybe even themselves, by winning 23 games, losing 11.

In the process the Cats claimed a Nebraska College Conference championship — their 10th (one a tie) since Wayne began baseball in 1959. They lost only one of six conference games, that to Kearney State.

But the bigger prize, championship of the Nebraska NAIA District, eluded Wayne, and it was Kearney that dooped a third straight Wildcat crown. The Antelopes turned in a championship performance by winning three games Saturday after rain washed out Friday action.

First, Kearney defeated Dana, 6-4, for a crack at Wayne and the title in Saturday's second game. It was a must game for Kearney, after a 7-6 loss to Wayne Thursday, and the Antelopes bombed the Wildcats, 13-6.

That set up the final shoot-out. Result: a 4-2 Kearney win earning the Antelopes a ticket to the five-state NAIA area playoff this weekend in Oklahoma City. The winner of this meet goes to the national tournament.

In the first two games Thursday, Wayne got iron-man performance from pitcher Bob DeVaul. He won the opener, abbreviated to seven innings by a 12-1 Wayne rout of Dana. Then he hurled four innings of relief to preserve Kim Kopack's win over Kearney.

Saturday, Kearney came up with its man of steel on the mound, Ken Vergith. In the first game with Wayne, he took over after one out in the fifth — Kearney, leading by 6-5, but Wayne threatening — and went on to hold Wayne hitless for a 13-6 decision. Then Vergith went all the way in the title game, allowing the Wildcats three hits and two runs while the Antelopes converted seven hits into four runs. Vergith struck out 22 in his 13-2/3 innings.

Pitching heroics of DeVaul and Vergith reminded Wayne fans of an even mightier effort by Jerry Nicolarsen in the 1970 district playoff. He hurled 7-2/3 relief innings in a 2-0 loss to UNO, then immediately went on for nine innings to beat Dana 3-2. A Nicolarsen home-run produced all three Wayne runs, too.

For Kearney, the district title is a first after years of frustration while the University of Nebraska at Omaha and Wayne almost perennially dominated district playoffs.

In the area playoff, Kearney is matched against Kansas champion Fort Hays Wednesday following a Southeast Oklahoma-Yankton game. Yankton, winner of the Dakotas district, split with Wayne May 13.

Wayne, Newcastle Grooming For NEN Town Team Title

The Northeast Nebraska Baseball League will be entering one of its most interesting seasons when action opens Sunday night.

For the first time in several years the league has true Northeast Nebraska flavor with 10 teams from a four-county area — Wayne, Dixon, Thurston and Dakota.

Newcastle, which won the playoff title from regular season champion Homer last year, and Wayne appear to be the strong title-contending entries this year, according to reports from around the league.

The locals will have good pitching depth in former triple A player Bob Weisenberg along with veteran Randy Benish. According to team manager Hank Overin, both will see action, with three other town team members also vying for mound duties.

Wayne State freshman hurler Roger Saul and Dave Schulte are labeled as possible pitchers as is veteran Paul Eddie.

Those and other players likely will see action when Wayne meets Wakefield in an exhibition game tonight (Thursday) at Wakefield.

Overin said his tentative line-up includes catcher Dennis Paul, Schulte on first, either Herb Swan or Randy Helgren on second, Steve Hix on third, shortstop Terry Luth, and outfielders Mike Creighton, Benish and Dan Nedaig.

The roster also includes Bob Nelson, Bruce Lange, Nick Daehenke, Ward Bareman and Vaughn Benson, all returning veterans except for Nedaig and Daehenke.

Tonight's game will be a warmup for both teams, which meet in league-opening play Sunday night at Wayne.

First-year Wakefield coach Lynn Tomjack said his club is "awfully young, but should be relatively fast."

Tomjack, who intends to see some action himself, has six veterans on his team — pitcher Gary Preston, infielders Kevin Peters, Rob Eaton and Kevin Hill, and outfielders Kip Bressler and Paul Eaton.

Preston will be battling new men Bruce Paul, Bob Twile and Mark Prather for pitching duties. New faces in the infield might include Steve Kay, Dave Rouse or Tomjack. Vying for the outfield positions are Mike Barge, Randy Hallstrom and Lyle Brown.

This year the league has expanded from eight teams to 10.

New on this year's team rosters are clubs from Allen-Martinsburg, Walthill and Pender. Winnebago dropped out of the league.

Bob Anderson of Martinsburg will coach the Allen-Martinsburg entry when the team travels to Homer. (Anderson was not available for a review of his team.)

Other games on tap Sunday find South Sioux City at Newcastle, Dakota City at Ponca and Walthill at Pender.

Laurel Team

Plays Randolph

Laurel will host Randolph in one of five opening games in the Tri-County Amateur Baseball League Wednesday at 8:15 p.m.

Other games on tap include Bloomfield at Pierce, Crofton at Crofton, Orchard at Tilden-Battle Creek and Coleridge at Wausa.

League play will continue on Sunday and Wednesday nights through July 31. The all-star game is set for July 14.

Athlete Of The Week

RANDY WORKMAN,
WAYNE HIGH SCHOOL

Randy Workman is a consistent golfer. Not always the best golfer on Wayne High's team, but consistent. Workman's consistent shooting in the low 80's for 18 holes is one reason coach Harold Maciejewski said Randy is one of the most dependable golfers on the squad, and one reason he is this week's Athlete of the Week.

"He hasn't been one to break 80, but he always scores in the low 80's. I feel this is what always has helped us place high in triangular and area meets," the coach pointed out.

Last week during the district meet in Norfolk, the senior shot an 82 to place fifth among the top five golfers earning bids to the state tournament in individual competition.

In addition, Workman will be heading to Beemer for the state tournament along with seniors Scott Ehlers, Mark Schram and Scott Brummond — as a team after helping to lead Wayne to the district crown.

Workman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Workman of Wayne, started playing on the Wayne team his freshman year. Although he wasn't an outstanding player his freshman or sophomore years, he proved himself as a junior when the Blue Devils won the Husker Conference title.

Pretty Good Size

THIS PAIR of three and four-pound bass, caught by Vellvin Temme, left, and Steve Mrsny of Wayne, prove that the Izaak Walton League Lake north of Wayne is loaded with some of the best fish in the area. Mrsny's four-pounder measured 17 inches. Temme's 15. Both anglers caught their fish Tuesday.

OUR LEGACY FROM THE MEDICINE MAN

Who would ever think on entering today's streamlined pharmacy that many of the medicines available had their early beginnings with the medicine man. Of course, they have undergone many changes and refinements. In early days Indians chewed on roots (or leaves) of certain plants in order to extract a "magic substance". This later evolved to a "more sophisticated" technique of cooking the roots for hours and then boiling down the resultant liquid.

Thousands of years have passed since these earliest processes were begun. Our contemporary drugs may bear little resemblance to their crude ancestors. But many of the basic chemical substances do date back to the medicine man.

Thought for Today
By Rowan Wiltsie

"Who lives content with little, possesses everything."
Shakespeare.

It is well to be content with what we have. If that be little, at least the lack of more does not make us miserable. There is no peace of mind in being covetous of another's possessions.

Contentment with what we have does not mean that we should forsake all desire for improvement, but a sensible willingness to be happy with what we have, at least for the time being, makes waiting for improvement more tolerable.

When your first call is to us, we understand both your needs and what must be done. We can take over most of your duties. Wiltsie's experience dates back through three generations to 1909.

REGISTRATION for the first session of swimming lessons at the city swimming pool will be Saturday, said pool manager Doug Krecklow.

Classes include beginners, advanced beginners, intermediates, junior and senior life saving and competitive swimming. The competitive class is for individuals who have passed intermediate or for those who are ready to take swimmers or advanced swimmers instruction. Krecklow added that adult classes will be offered on an arranged schedule.

Those interested in swimming on the Wayne team also must register Saturday. Registration starts at 2 p.m. and lasts until 5. Krecklow advises most swimmers to register in person rather than call the city clerk's office (The office is closed on Saturdays).

A $5 fee will be charged for those taking lessons who don't have season tickets.

WAKEFIELD'S third annual Chuck Ellis Memorial Baseball Tournament promises to be as exciting as last years, possibly more so.

The eight-team Legion schedule starts Monday at 6:30 p.m. with what may be the tournament's highlight — defending champion Sioux Falls taking on powerhouse Council Bluffs Thomas Jefferson. Both clubs are tops in their own state — TJ the defending state champ, Sioux Falls the eastern league and regional camp.

Their records prove that both clubs are title contenders since the majority of the starters are returning — Sioux falls was 34 — 4. TJ 55 — 5.

Just as impressive are the credentials of the pitching staffs. Sioux Falls' Scott DeGeest was named his league's top pitcher for 1973. TJ coach Tom Vincent has four starting pitchers: unbeaten Ken Cvejdlik, member of the Iowa all-state team; Bob Knezevich, 11-2 and a third team all-state selection; Bob Higgins, 8-0, and Kevin Moores, 9-2.

Norfolk and Coleridge close first night action. Wayne and Wakefield's Legion teams get into action Tuesday. The locals battle Sioux City Heelan at 6:30 p.m. before Wakefield meets West Point.

This year's Wayne team should be loaded with talented players coming up from last year's 191 Midget squad. Top newcomers appear to be pitcher Earle Overin, catcher Mike Meyer, outfielder Gordon Cook and shortstop Marty Hansen, along with Jack Froehlich, Mark Lowe and Scott Nissen. Returning legion players include, Kerry Jech, Kim Baker, Charlie Roland, Randy Nelson and Bill Schwartz.

Wakefield, defending state Class B Legion champion and No. 1 in the Ralph Bishop League, has eight members of last year's team who are eligible again this year: Sam Uecht, Randy Hallstrom, Bob Twitte, Scott Miller, Keith Seibrandt, Doug Fischer, Ik Tim Hill and Doug Soderberg.

Last year's record may seem deceiving since the Trojan club went 22 and 15, but many of those games were against tough opponents.

Scorecard on the other teams: Norfolk — seven experienced starters returning off the 1972 Class A state champion Midget team; Coleridge — defending Tri-County League champion, 20-5 last year; West Point — Defending Cornhusker League and district champion, 24-7 last year; Sioux City Heelan — four returning players, including catcher Rich Goergen, a second team all-Northwest Iowa selection.

The four winners will decide Thursday night which two teams go into the finals Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

ONE THING that seems overlooked about this tournament is the person it was named after. Chuck Ellis was an outstanding baseball player who helped lead Wakefield's Legion team to the Ralph Bishop League, District and area championships in 1969. The team capped the year with a runner-up trophy in the state Legion tournament and a and now finds himself several hundred dollars in debt. There is nothing harder to pay off than debts racked up in a losing political campaign, according to Peterson.

Those debts Hepburn incurred in his campaign are an example of one of three things the young people in this country should seek in an effort to keep politics clean and honest.

Americans should try to find a better way for politicians to raise money to finance their campaigns, he said. The present system where people donate money with the idea of getting special treatment "is simply not tolerable," according to Peterson.

He also called for full disclosure of "every dollar" contributed to and spent by politicians as well as full disclosure of the financial affairs of all political candidates.

He said politicians who object to this should "get out of politics" and remain private citizens. People who become involved in politics should expect to be constantly scrutinized because it is the right of the public to know as much about them as possible to make sure they are not serving themselves financially, he noted.

4 Area Girls Place In State Track Meet

Four area high school girls placed in the state track meet at North Platte last weekend, giving one high school its first points in a state meet since starting girls athletics.

Both Wakefield's Ruth Bressler and Cindy Keagle led a girl from Grant for fifth in the high jump; Jill Stenwall placed third in the shot put and fifth in the discus, and Laurel's Patli Stark was fifth in the 800.

Stenwall became Winside's first girl to score in a state meet, collecting eight points to place her school 16th among 34 teams.

The sophomore's 111.1 foot throw in the discus was her best, said coach Jim Winch, but she was more consistent in her throwing than she has been before. Earlier this year Stenwall tossed the plate 118 feet for a new school record. Winch pointed out that Jill has moved a long way from 17th a year ago to fifth in the discus this year. "That's quite an improvement," he noted.

The coach also was happy with Jill's third in the shot

Kamish: Response Good To Workshops at WSC

Loren Kamish doesn't like the label "Weekend College" which has been given Wayne State since it began its weekend workshops.

The label doesn't tell the whole story about the purpose of the weekend workshops, he said, and it sounds as if the college is giving away cheap credit hours.

Purpose of the weekend workshops, the head of the college's placement bureau told Wayne Kwanians Monday, is to offer area teachers a chance to advance in a specific field as well as earn credit hours towards a higher degree.

The workshop program started in January and is growing rapidly. Already additions have been made, such as repeating some courses, and as a result Kamish figures there will be 25 workshops at the end of the eight-month period, more than twice what was planned.

Last week the college finished one of its workshops dealing with motor perception in specific learning disabilities in children. Now Kamish is organizing another program because of the overwhelming response to the workshop.

What is helping make the program successful is the availability of experienced teachers in the area for teaching the workshops, according to Kamish.

The idea behind the workshop is to have a living learning situation where teachers work on campus and live in the dormitories. In some cases that concept is not working since some teachers drive home in the evenings, according to Kamish.

Kamish stressed that the three day workshops do not serve as a substitute for a 15 week course. "We just scratch the surface," he said, "hoping that the workshops can be 'frothing on the cake' for those who already have had training in a particular field."

Kamish is hoping the program will expand in order to offer courses to laymen as well as teachers.

Following the program, Kwanian board members voted to donate $50 to the Villa Wayne to purchase a wheel chair. They also okayed the $25 scholarship presented to the winner in last year's Wayne County 4-H demonstration contest.

In other action, the board set July 29 as the date for the club's annual picnic at Bressler Park.

Commissioners Approve Bid for Beer License

Wayne County commissioners approved the application for an on and off-sale beer license by Alice Mersy during Tuesday's regular meeting.

The application for the license to operate the bar at Fredrickson, north of Wayne will now have to be approved by the state liquor commission.

During Tuesday's meeting, the commissioners learned that the state roads department will install new rumble strips and a flashing light at the junction of Highways 98 and 35 north of Winside.

The intersection has been the site of several accidents in recent years, some of them resulting in serious injuries to drivers and passengers. It has been one of the traffic hazards singled out as needing immediate attention by the county committee formed recently in an attempt to cut down traffic injuries and deaths.

Informing the commissioners that work is planned at the intersection was Jim Pearson of Norfolk, liaison officer with the state roads department. He also told the commissioners that the roads department is considering major redesigning of the intersection to make it safer.

Pearson also explained the new federal highway act which provides for allocating federal funds to help correct traffic problems at railroad crossings and other high hazard areas.

Also meeting with the commissioners was Elmer Wallwey, director of the regional office for developmental disabilities in Wayne. Wallwey explained the legislation passed by the last legislature which puts Wayne County in a 22-county mental health district.

2 Laurel Graduates Share Valedictorian Honors

For the first time in Laurel High School's history two graduates share valedictorian honors.

Lori Brachvogel and Jim Dahlquist were the top seniors in the 61-member class graduated Monday night.

Jim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marilyn Dahlquist of Laurel, and Lori, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Broachvogel of Laurel, both head the list of eight Laurel seniors who posted at least 3.6 grade averages during their four years of high school (4.0 is an A). The rest of list includes Kim Chace, Carol Stark, Susan Schroeder, Pam Renter, Lori Anderson and Sheryl Anderson.

The two top graduates received numerous scholarships and awards, and they shared the Dorothy Garvin Rath Award established this year. The pair will receive $75 each, a plaque and medalion. In addition, Lori was named alternate for the University of Nebraska Regents scholarship.

During the ceremony both students addressed graduates on the future and what it can hold for them.

Lori pointed out that being truthful to yourself is one of the most important traits a person can have today. "Fear can be defeated through self-truth," she said. Both self — truth and self-contemplation are important if an individual wants to be a success in life, she added.

Dahlquist noted that the graduates represent "the most remarkable people today — our parents and grandparents." They have made our life much easier so we may progress, but to continue "that progress a person must have a firm idea of the goal he wants to reach, desire, preparation and responsibility as well as a moral and spiritual conviction," he added.

Commencement speaker Joel Parks, Laurel's head basketball coach, added that in life there are very few certainties. But there are probabilities that can be in your favor to change the future, he noted.

Parks pointed out that there is no single factor for success, but faith in self, mankind and God are the keys. The 1974 graduation class:

Whelan (huff, puff) Outruns Carpenter in lieutenant governor race

CAPITOL NEWS

LINCOLN — The campaign Gerald Whelan waged, was the help and encouragement of J. J. Exon, was expensive, extensive and exhaustive. Whelan was chasing all over Nebraska the last few weeks, shaking hands, giving speeches and (probably) kissing babies. His picture was in newspaper ads and flashing on television screens, always with the governor at his side. There were billboards giving the Exon-Whelan message. Buttons, matchbooks, bumper stickers and campaign material of other types flooded the state.

Before the election, the Hastings attorney who was trying to get to be Governor J. J. Exon's ballot-mate in the November showdown reported a sub-total of nearly $50,000 in expenditures. The final figure was expected to be nearer $75,000 and there were those who thought it could go higher still. But it worked. Whelan defeated three other candidates — including a pair of legislature heavyweights, one of whom immediately announced his retirement.

The Whelan victory in the Democratic lieutenant governor primary led Scottsbluff senator Terry Carpenter to send a letter of resignation to Exon and announce that he was through with politics for good.

That raised some eyebrows. Carpenter has been known to change his mind many times during a political career which has run a zig-zag course over four decades.

But Terry insisted he was serious. There could be a trip to Europe for him and his wife this summer, he said, and he would do some other pleasure traveling and take care of his Panhandle business enterprises.

Really, Carpenter said, he was just as glad he didn't win.

But some observers thought the veteran senator was going out pouting. And Carpenter himself conceded the size of Whelan's margin was a surprise.

"I thought I'd win by 15,000," the senator said.

Another senator who was a victim of the Exon-Whelan landslide was J. W. Burbach of Crofton, who finished third, a long way behind Carpenter.

Burbach, who ran twice for governor and in 1970 narrowly missed knocking Exon out in the Democratic primary, still has two years to serve in a legislative term. He has been chairman of the revenue committee and said he probably would seek that job again, although he has been mentioned as a potential speaker.

A third legislator — senator Frank Lewis of Bellevue — was a distant fourth in the race.

On the other side of the political coin, Republicans named Mrs. Anne Batchelder of Omaha to accompany senator Richard Marvel of Hastings into battle this fall against the Exon-Whelan team.

Mrs. Batchelder, who has reported spending an eye-popping $36,000 of her own money in her campaign, defeated former Senator William Wylie of Elgin for the GOP nod.

Marvel was unopposed and Exon faced only nominal opposition from Richard Schmidt of Lyman in the Democratic gubernatorial primary.

This fall, Nebraska voters will mark an "X" for one team or the other —

Marvel Batchelder or Exon-Whelan — unless senator Ernest Chambers of Omaha is successful in getting his name on the ballot.

Chambers, the state's only black legislator, has said he wants to be a petition candidate for governor and he doesn't wish to have a lieutenant governor candidate join him as a teammate. He has said he will go to court if necessary (and it appears it will be necessary) to prove his point that a ballot partner shouldn't be a requisite for a campaign for governor.

The Legislature adopted a new law that petition candidates for governor must have lieutenant governor teammates, but the legislation didn't have the emergency clause and won't be effective until July 12. Chambers said he will have his petitions ready to go before that and, if secretary of state Allen Beermann won't accept them, the case will go to court and the whole governor's election may be jeopardized.

Whoever gets to be lieutenant governor in the next term, he will have to wield the legislative gavel as well as help his chief executive with work in the administrative branch.

The voters rejected an amendment which would have relieved the lieutenant governor of his constitutional duty to preside over the Legislature. The amendment was proposed because earlier amendments have strengthened the lieutenant governor's role in the executive offices by allowing him to serve as the governor's substitute on boards and commissions.

'Local citizens missed chance'

St. Joseph, Minn.

Dear Editor:

For the sake of Wayne, I mourn the lost opportunity its citizens had to elect a well-qualified man to serve them as mayor. Sam Hepburn is a gifted and energetic young man, one who truly cares about the welfare of Wayne. I love my brother and I love his hometown. It is lamentable that the two potentialities could not have been fused into one DYNAMIC. — Kathryn L. Hepburn.

May 19, 1949: Fire early Sunday morning destroyed a chicken house at the Robert Turner home southeast of Wayne. Three hundred baby chicks which had been purchased Saturday were lost in the blaze. Wayne's National Guard service battery will celebrate its first anniversary Sunday by going to Camp Ashland, near Lincoln, to complete range firing and with a birthday party to follow. Vandals broke into the Carroll community last week and destroyed about $300 worth of city property. A group of friends and neighbors plowed 75 acres of ground for Alfred Wagner, Hoskins, May 10. Mr. Wagner has been ill with mumps.

Brink: Rumors have no truth.

Dear Editor:

I have always been a firm and dedicated subscriber to the American free enterprise system. This dedication is clearly indicated by my volunteer participation in the first Marine combat group in Korea where I gave my time and blood.

At times it is easy for uninformed, misinformed, or possibly unscrupulous people to resort to the malicious use of a vicious device commonly known as the rumor mill to accomplish their ends whatever they may be. Because my membership in such professional organizations as the International City Management Association, American Society for Public Administration and the American Public Works Association, among others, specifically prohibits my participation in any endeavor that would create a conflict of interest situation, I have assiduously avoided being placed in such a compromising position.

I would like to take this opportunity to publicly state I do not at this time, have not in the past, nor do I intend in the future, to have any financial interest in any refuse collection business in Wayne or elsewhere.

My responsibility and goal is to work, in concert with the mayor and council, to build a more viable and responsive city government for the citizens of Wayne. I firmly believe that a dynamic government will be more able to provide the most service to the taxpayer for the lowest tax dollar possible and that is what I am attempting to achieve. This task is not made any easier when I must cope with unfounded rumors, and it is my hope that this public pronouncement will dispel any doubts anyone may have of my professional motives. — Frederic S. Brink, City Administrator.

OBSERVATIONS

Couple worthwhile events

A couple events scheduled for Wayne deserve a little editorial backing this week.

One of them is the open house at the National Guard Armory tonight (Thursday). The other is the old-fashioned record hop scheduled for the Armory Saturday night.

Tonight's open house is an attempt by Guardsmen to tell the public that the Guard plays an important role in the nation, state and community by offering young people an opportunity to fill their military obligation without disrupting their private lives for several years. The Guard is in difficult times across the nation as well as across Nebraska. Simply put, enough young men are not signing up. Because of that, there is every possibility the Armory in Wayne will have to be closed, something which would be detrimental to both the community and state.

We urge the public, especially the young people to turn out for tonight's open house. You will be able to learn what the Guard has to offer.

Saturday night's record hop is being sponsored by the St. Mary's Mens Club in an effort to raise money for the Wayne State foundation, the organization which promotes Wayne State through awarding of scholarships, sponsoring of institutes and the like. The foundation, like the Guard, is finding itself in a difficult position. There just aren't enough donations coming in to do all the things the foundation would like. Hopefully, the dance will bring in several hundred dollars which the organization can use in promoting the college.

We urge the public's support of this event also. The college is possibly the most important single force in the area's economy. Anything we can do to keep it strong and viable is going to benefit everybody. — Norvin Hansen.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

Engineered for Less Service

They don't make cars like they used to, and that's good news for today's motorists.

Comparing the maintenance requirements of one car manufacturer's 1974 model to his 1954 model illustrates how much cars have been improved. To follow the maintenance recommended in the owner's manual over 50,000 miles (five years), the 1954 model maintenance schedule called for 47 trips to the service shop. For the same 50,000 miles, the manual for the 1974 model recommends only eight visits.

Engineering improvements have greatly reduced maintenance needs over the past two decades. The 1954 manual, for example, recommended 671 service adjustments and inspections over 50,000 miles. The manual provided with the 1974 model recommends 105. That's 566 fewer items.

In 1954, a complete chassis lubrication was scheduled every 1,000 miles; an oil change every 2,000 miles; and brake adjustments and major engine tuning every 5,000 miles. For the manufacturer's current model, chassis lubrication is scheduled only 36,000 miles, oil change is at 6,000, major engine tuning at 14,000 miles and brakes adjust themselves.

The reduced maintenance schedule is even more impressive when you consider how much the "engineering content" of the car has increased. This particular '74 model, for example, has power steering and power brakes as standard equipment. They weren't even offered as options on the '54 model.

Other engineering advances that have contributed to the reduced maintenance schedules include the introduction of alternators and electronic ignition and the development of engines, axles, wheel bearings, distributors, universal joints, suspension and steering joints that require either less periodic lubrication or none at all. On top of that, today's owner receives a 12-month 12,000-mile warranty which compares with the 90-day 4,000-mile warranty that covered the 1954 model.

Taking a look further back into history, the Model T, still a fond memory for many people, needed an oil change every 750 miles, required a 16-point chassis lube every 100 miles and even called for daily engine lubrication. In addition, an early handbook for the car described an "absolutely essential" tool kit for owners planning a trip. It included a hammer, cold chisel, oil can, files, screwdriver, wire and monkey wrench.

Out of Old

Chief Crazy Horse

There is little knowledge of the early life of the great Oglala Sioux war chief Tansuka Wiko, better known by his English name, Crazy Horse. He was a light-skinned, sandy-haired man slightly less than six feet tall. He was proud of his people and fiercely brave in battle, and his otherwise reserved nature added dignity to the man. His scalp herd is among the rare items in the collections of the Nebraska State Historical Society.

The 1868 Treaty of Fort Laramie had established reservations for the Sioux and guaranteed the sanctity of certain hunting lands which included the Black Hills. The 1874 discovery of gold brought demands from white Americans to open the area or allow the leasing of mineral rights to miners. While hunting buffalo during the winter of 1875-1876, the Sioux were ordered to return to the reservation. The time allowed made it impossible to adequately notify the Sioux, let alone have them return to their reserves. On January 31, 1876, the United States Army was ordered into the field to crush the resistance of the Indians. While many bands returned to their reservations when the weather allowed, others were attacked and open warfare resulted. Throughout the conflict, known as the Sioux War of 1876, Crazy Horse distinguished himself as a more than able warrior and military strategist. His engagement with Gen. George Crook on June 17, 1876, at Rosebud Creek in Montana Territory was closely fought, but the Sioux claimed victory because the prevented Crook from uniting forces with Gen. Alfred Terry. Eight days later at Little Big Horn, Sioux and Cheyenne under the command of Crazy Horse and Sitting Bull annihilated five companies of the Seventh Cavalry led by Lt. Col. George Custer, Terry's subordinate.

Following the defeat of Custer, the main body of Sioux broke into smaller bands and scattered throughout Montana and Dakota Territories while Sitting Bull moved to Canada. With the coming winter, the supplies and strength of the U. S. Army began to tell. Crazy Horse, carrying Oglala women and children with him, tried to establish a winter camp but was constantly HARASSED BY THE TROOPS OF Gen. Nelson Miles and Crook. Short on supplies, only the proud spirit and determination to be free sustained Crazy Horse's band. Finally, on May 6, 1877, Crazy Horse surrendered with his people at Red Cloud Agency near Fort Robinson.

The desire of Crazy Horse to return to the traditional way of life was evident, and he was kept under constant surveillance. He was asked to scout for the army during the expedition against Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce. His reply was misinterpreted as a refusal and he was ordered arrested. While being escorted to his guardhouse cell, Crazy Horse tried to escape and was mortally wounded. Following his death, the Omaha Daily Herald described the man in an editorial appearing September 7, 1877: "His probably true that Crazy Horse was one of the most remarkable men of his remarkable race, and that as a warrior, it is questionable whether it ever produced on greater."

GRASSROOTS OPINION

Auburn, Mebr., Press-Tribune

"Passing laws as a remedy for just any problem has become something of a habit, it would seem. But the fulfillment of legislation, either in changing human nature or focusing attention on potential, is better ways to achieve, keep slipping supporters down. In looking back, we may note that the strength of the nation is mainly dependent on the ability of ordinary citizens to respond to problems, individually and collectively. With so much confusion in the air, hopefully most residents will want to help reach a solution, rather than add to the problem."

Here is a summary of the most frequent type of lawn weeds and their control:

Common Chickweed — The plants are now maturing and producing seed. Spraying with "Chickweed and Clover Killer" will be of little value. Mature plants should be pulled and removed from the lawn area. An application of Dacthal now or later in the season will help control germinating seed. "Chickweed and Clover Killer" can be used in October on emerged plants.

Henbit — Pull mature plants now and encourage October treatment with silvex.

Ground Ivy — In many instances ground ivy was introduced into the community as ground cover. A perennial, it is hard to control but is most susceptible to silvex. October applications are superior to applications made now. It may take both spring and fall treatments for several years to bring it under control. Ground ivy is an excellent ground cover plant under trees and shrubs. Keep it in bounds by treating plants that move beyond the driplines of wood plants.

Speedwell — Use Dacthal applied as a postemergence spray. Add 5 level tablespoons to one-half gallon of water and thoroughly wet undesirable plants. Early April and fall applications are most effective.

Poststrate Knotweed — This weed should be treated right away with 2,4-D. As knotweed becomes more mature, Banvel will be necessary for effective control. When Banvel is used, avoid use under the dripline of trees.

You're Never Too Old To Hear Better

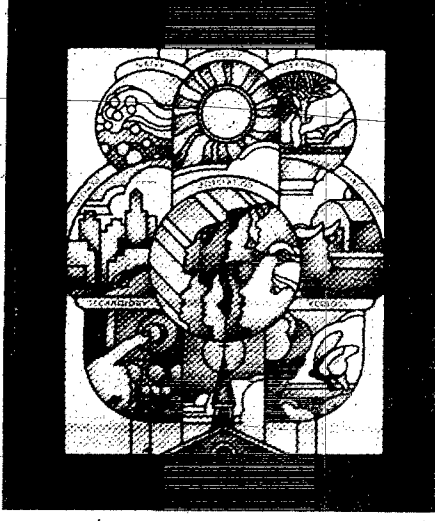

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this non-operating model now. Wear it in the privacy of your own home to see how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head. These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 5119, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria Street, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

White Clover, Black Medic — Now is the time for effective control with herbicides. Use "Chickweed and Clover Killer." It may take more than one treatment.

Bromegrass, Quackgrass, Other Coarse Grasses in Bluegrass — There's no legal selective chemical control for the elimination of perennial cool season grasses from Kentucky Bluegrass. If spots or clumps are small, dig or pour on generous amounts of boiling water. You must use enough hot water to scald the root system. Dalopon (sometimes goes under the trade name of Dowpon) is an excellent grass killer, but it kills all grasses including bluegrass. Mix one-half cup per gallon of water and pour or coarse spray undesirable grass clumps or areas. Bluegrass will move into the treated areas in six to eight weeks.

The extension office has an excellent free bulletin for helping identify and treat lawn weeds. It's called "Lawn Weeds and Their Control."

'Stewardship Week'

COMMUNITIES across the nation are observing Soil Stewardship Week this week in an effort to focus attention on the relationship between man and the natural resources entrusted to him by God. Churches are using the design featured above in emphasizing this relationship. The design calls attention to the importance of water, energy, forestry, agriculture, ecology, technology, population and growth.

Keeping Food Safe on Outings

Don't let your outing be ruined by spoiled food.

Keeping hot foods hot and cold foods cold is possible with proper storage, and perishable foods must be kept in coolers or ice chests. Count on the ice taking up almost half of the space in the chest. For a picnic or a one-day trip, an all foam cooler will keep food and beverages cool and free from spoilage. However, they are not well enough insulated to keep food longer than a day or so.

For longer trips, metal or plastic coated insulated coolers act as portable outdoor refrigerators. They come in various sizes and models. Select one with tight-fitting, hinged, lockable doors and bottom drain plugs. They need to be chilled thoroughly before putting in the cold food. Ice or reusable, packaged refrigerants which have first been chilled in your home freezer can chill the insulated cooler.

Food that needs to be kept very cold should be placed at the very bottom of the chest in order not to become warm as the warmer air rises. Always keep the chest tightly closed and in a shaded area to insure against food spoilage.

Sufficient water supply from home carried in insulated picnic jugs or vacuum bottles is recommended for one-day outings. Chill the containers first before adding cold water to insure longer cooling time.

Carbonated beverages should be kept cool in their own bottles or cans and never stored in vacuum containers. Carbonation can build up enough pressure within the vacuum bottle to break its glass lining.

When possible and practical, buy perishables in small sizes.

It is unlawful to use more than five hooks on a line or more than 15 hooks on all lines while ice fishing in Nebraska.

NOTICE

The City of Wayne will observe Memorial Day May 27 in cooperation with Wayne merchants.

City offices will be closed all day Monday, May 27 and during the parade beginning at 10 a.m. on Thursday, May 30.

Gearing Up, Throttling Back Saves Fuel

By gearing up and throttling back, farmers can save fuel for their tractors, says Lester Larsen, agricultural engineer-in-charge of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln tractor testing lab.

In the case of lighter loads and with the larger tractors farmers operate nowadays, it's possible to shift up to a higher gear and thus reduce the engine speed, according to Larsen. In doing this, the farmer is still able to work at the same ground speed as previously.

"For example," Larsen said, "just last week we completed a test on a 70 horse power tractor, which is not a large tractor. But in this particular run, we were able to save one gallon of fuel per hour, and that counts up."

With some bigger tractors, he said, the farmer using this procedure can save up to one and a half gallons of fuel per hour.

This procedure, which testing lab technicians developed in 1970, enables the farmer to save fuel by shifting up and throttling back. Larsen noted that by doing this the farmer operates the engine at a better efficiency point.

A tractor tested at NU recently had an engine running at 2,500 rpm. "When we reduced it to about 2,000 rpm," he said, "we got much better economy out of it."

By reducing the engine speed, the farmer can save a little fuel as well as wear and tear on the engine.

In addition, the tractor makes less noise, possibly as much as 5 1/2 decibels less. It operates a lot more quietly and doesn't vibrate as much, he added.

Area's Newest Recreation Facility Is Nearly Finished

By NORVIN HANSEN
 One of Northeast Nebraska's biggest recreation areas is nearing completion 15 miles south of Wayne.

Main attraction of the recreation area, being built by the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD), will be a lake some 600 feet wide and about a half a mile long.

The lake will be open for swimming, boating and fishing when it begins filling later this summer, and the surrounding area will have camping, playground and picnic facilities.

There will be a sand beach for swimmers, and a concrete boat docking ramp has been constructed. No motor boats will be permitted on the lake, however.

Treatment of the lake bed with a chemical to prevent leaking is scheduled to begin this week. That project of applying some 750 tons of bentonite to the bed will take about two weeks, according to Glenn Spreeman of Norfolk, assistant manager for the LENRD.

Spreeman said when that project is completed, the outlet to the dam will be closed and filling of the lake will begin. "With luck and a couple two-inch rains, the dam will be full sometime in June," he said. If those heavy rains don't come early next month, the dam may not be full until "later in August," he said.

The dam will be filled even though enough soda ash has not been received to seal the sides of the lake where the water level fluctuates.

Soda ash is used on the sides in place of bentonite because earth treated with it will not dry out and crack when the water level drops, according to Spreeman. If bentonite were used on the sides, cracks would develop and the dam would begin leaking, a problem since the dam was built several years ago.

The lack of enough soda ash to treat the sides "is no problem," according to Spreeman, because the lake can be lowered and sides treated when the chemical does arrive. It will take approximately 100 tons of soda ash to waterproof the sides of the lake but only about four tons have been promised by suppliers. Environmental problems have caused some soda ash operations to close down in recent years, according to Spreeman, but others are opening up to meet demand.

As soon as the lake is full, the Game and Parks Commission will take over stocking of the lake with young fish, Spreeman said. Although it will take a couple years for good fishing to develop, the lake promises to be perfect for area residents looking for a place to picnic, camp, boat or swim this summer without having to travel many miles.

The facility, officially known as Pilger Recreation Area, is the second largest in the Elkhorn River Basin, according to Spreeman. The only place larger is Skyview Lake at Norfolk.

To find a bigger recreation area outside those on the Missouri River at Ponca and Gavins Point Dam, you have to go all the way to the Salt Creek facilities at Lincoln, he noted.

The 51-foot dam, built in 1966 by the village of Pilger as a flood control facility, is 600 feet in length. It will hold water from a drainage area covering 2,317 acres.

Total normal storage area will be 406 acre feet, and the surface area of the lake will be 52 acres.

The lake, which curls slightly northwest into the rolling hills, will be about 20 to 25 feet deep at its deepest point.

Scattered around its sides are some 160 to 170 trees planted last fall when the LENRD initially started developing the area. The trees include cedar, ash, maple, linden and pine.

Also ringing the lake are two graveled parking areas, a large shelter house for picnics, restrooms, shelters for campers and others to use in case of storms and a playground area. A sand beach for swimming will be developed this summer.

The recreation area, designed by Consolidated Engineers Architects of Wayne, is located a mile west and a half mile north of the junction of Highways 15 and 275 south of Wayne.

Total cost of the project, the first recreation project tackled by the LENRD, will be $61,800. Half of that total was a grant from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, with the state and district splitting the remaining cost.

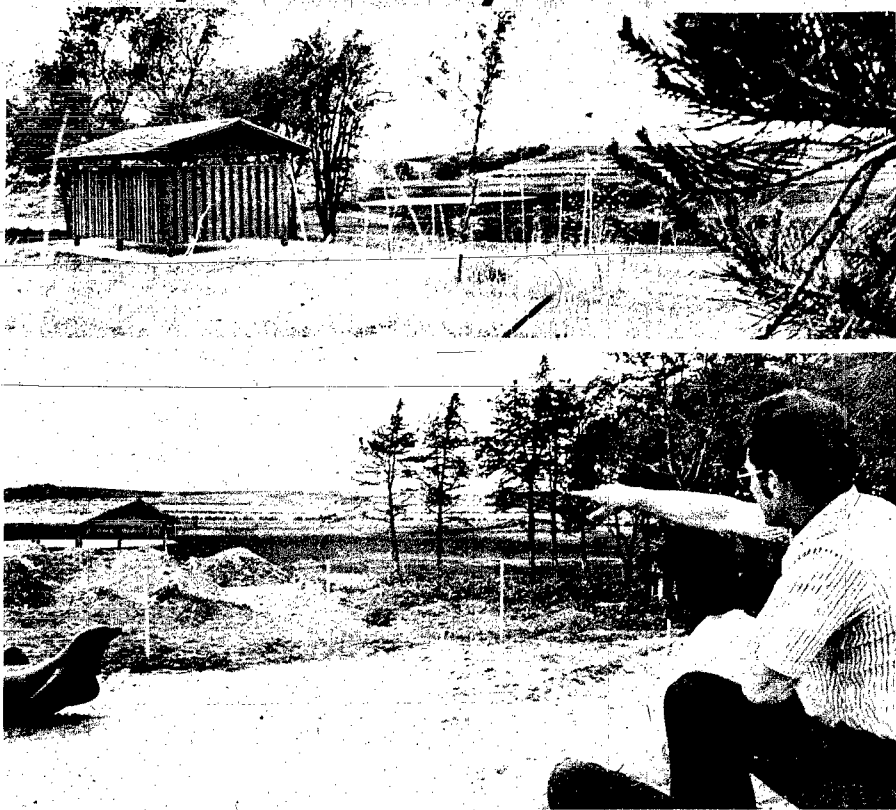

The district purchased the lake site last year from the village of Pilger, which built the dam to prevent the repeated flooding of the town when water drained off the hills to the Elkhorn River about a mile south of the dam.

Some work at the site was done last year, primarily planting of trees, but the construction, grading and other work was completed this spring. About all that remains outside preparation of the lake bed is installing decorative fence around the playground area, replanting of some of the trees which died during the winter and the like.

Although work still remains to be done at the Pilger Recreation Area, officials with the LENRD are already looking at "bigger and better" things, says Spreeman. Dirt work will begin this fall on the recreation area planned on the Muscantine Creek north-

THE AREA'S newest recreation and camping facility is nearing completion about 15 miles south of Wayne. Glenn Spreeman points out some of the facilities as Dick Seymour looks on. The two assistant managers of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District have been supervising work at the recreation site. Above them is the view of the lake site — with water in the "borrow" area — from the northeast. At left in that photograph is one of the shelter areas which may be used by persons on camping trips or picnics. Spreeman and Seymour are looking out over the lake site from the playground area.

A 6-cylinder Mercury Comet 2-door sedan got 26.6 mpg.

February 19, 1974: In a 379 mile highway test through Arizona and California, supervised by General Environments Corporation, a Comet with standard engine and transmission delivered the kind of gas mileage you'd like to get. The car was broken in the equivalent of 6,000 miles and driven by a non-professional driver, never exceeding 50 mph.

You yourself might actually average less, or for that matter more! Because mileage varies according to maintenance, equipment, total weight, driving habits and road conditions. And no two drivers, or even cars, are exactly the same. Stop in at your Lincoln-Mercury dealer's Mileage Headquarters and see what kind of Mileage you can get.

Expert Warns: State Could Get Hit With Severe Tornadoes

The Nebraska tornado season isn't even half over yet, warns Roy L. Schneider, a tornado safety specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and Nebraskans still could experience severe tornadoes.

The tornado which raked the Arcadia area April 20 was spotted when about nine miles away, he said. While residents were forewarned and had time to seek shelter, property damage was heavy. One farmer alone suffered about $60,000 worth of damage to his farm buildings, and many livestock were injured or killed.

A number of ways can detect the approach of a tornado, although the most dependable way is to listen to radio and television bulletins, Schneider said.

One indication of an approaching tornado is a sighting of moving clouds, especially those churning in circular motion. These clouds may be a dark, even greenish color.

TV Set May Help In Detecting Tornadoes

A buzzing might be heard, he said, "but if you hear this then it's too close for safety." Because of the vacuum caused by the tornado it might grow "very, very still," he said. On the other hand, an approaching tornado might sound like several trains coming or hundreds of jet engines warming up.

Schneider said he has had questions on detecting an approaching tornado by using a television set. In order to use this method, turn to channel 13 and darken the screen to the threshold of blackness. After doing this, turn to channel 2.

If on channel 2 you notice thin, white, horizontal lines flashing across the screen, then a thunderstorm is approaching. If the flashing lines are wider, the storm will be severe and probably damaging. If the screen goes completely white, however, you are in the immediate vicinity of a tornado and should seek shelter. The whiteness caused, he said, because tornadoes generate 55 megacycles which is also the frequency generated by channel 2. As a result, the interference causes the screen to go white.

He emphasized, however, that this method is not as accurate as radar. "A person who believes he may be in a tornado area should listen to bulletins on the television and radio for information."

Here are some other suggestions from Schneider:

If a tornado watch is broadcast it means a tornado could develop in the area. Residents in these areas should not interrupt normal routines except to pay closer attention to further bulletins.

When there is a tornado warning, however, it means a tornado has actually been spotted, and persons in the area should take immediate safety precautions.

If you are in an area where a tornado is approaching you should seek shelter in a cellar, or when the building has no cellar, in the interior hallway of the building. If possible, he said, seek shelter under a heavy piece of furniture.

Because of the vacuum the tornado causes, the house might collapse if windows are not left open.

Because in the United States tornadoes usually approach from the south or southwest, windows on the north and northeast corners of the house should be opened. If you are not certain of a tornado's path, open all windows. After opening the windows, stay away from them.

In schools, shelter should not be taken in gymnasiums or in auditoriums, because structures with wide, free-span roofs are dangerous in tornadoes. Shelter should be taken in designated areas such as interior hallways.

If you are caught in the open or in a car, do not say in your car. Seek shelter outside in a gully or ditch and lie flat with your hands covering your head. Do not remain there after the tornado has passed over because of danger of flash flooding.

In a trailer court, leave the court and seek shelter elsewhere unless there is a designated community shelter in the court. Trailer courts are particularly dangerous during a windstorm.
