

Local Opportunities Center To Train Mentally Retarded

A center which will train mentally handicapped adults is expected to be in operation in Wayne by Sept. 1, according to Elmer Wallwey, executive director of the Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities.

Wallwey, former state senator who has headed the regional organization since it was established in January of 1972, told the Wayne County commissioners during Tuesday's regular meeting that the center will be similar to opportunities centers currently in operation in South Sioux City and Bloomfield.

"Adults will be trained to be capable of holding down jobs outside the center and will be taught how to attain and handle independent living," according to Wallwey.

Wallwey said about six to eight adults 16 years of age and older will be trained in the center when it is opened this fall, but the facility will be capable of handling about 15 adults.

The center will be located in the downtown business district in a building currently being purchased for remodeling, he said.

Serving as administrator of the center will be Jim Sheldon, who also directs activities at the South Sioux center, according to Wallwey.

Adults who have taken advantage of the centers at South Sioux and Bloomfield have come out of care centers, the state facility at Beatrice and private homes, Wallwey explained.

Funds for operation of the center will come from the seven-county service area composed of Wayne, Knox, Cedar, Dixon, Dakota, Thurston and Burt Counties and from state and federal sources, Wallwey explained.

Each county in the service area has agreed to contribute one-tenth of one mill for operation of the centers, according to Wallwey. Wayne County's annual contribution amounts to about $4,000, he noted.

To be used by adult women working at the center will be a home recently purchased by Residential Services, Inc., a non-profit organization. The purchase was made possible by a cash gift from a South Dakota man, according to Wallwey. Located across from the county courthouse, the home will be used to teach women to take care of themselves when they start living on their own, he said.

WSC to Offer Workshop for Piano Students

A one week workshop in piano literature and materials will be offered at Wayne State College July 8-12, directed by James Day, associate professor of music at WSC.

Dr. Cornell Runestad, chair man of the fine arts department, said the workshop is intended for college piano students, music educators and keyboard teachers. It will cover latest teaching techniques and materials.

Prof. Day, well known as a recitalist in the area, has studied at the Kansas City Conservatory of Music, the University of Kansas, the University of Southern California and with Rosina Levhine at the Juilliard School of Music in New York.

Cycle Safety Is WS Course Subject

Anton Nelherda of Wayne State College recently attended a motorcycle safety education workshop at St. Cloud State University in Minnesota.

The workshop, sponsored by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation of Washington, D. C., was designed to prepare instructors to teach motorcycle safety education. It was one of 47 sponsored or assisted nationwide by MSF.

Nelherda will teach a workshop on motorcycle safety education Aug. 19-23 on the WSC campus. Listed as a senior or graduate level course for three hours credit, it will meet daily from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. plus one evening session for night riding.

Purpose of the workshop is to present techniques of teaching motorcycle education. Complete information can be obtained from Loren Kamish, Wayne State director of continuing education.

County to Buy Microfilming Equipment

Wayne County commissioners Tuesday approved spending about $20,000 in federal revenue sharing funds for purchasing microfilming equipment.

The equipment would be used by the register of deeds for recording deeds, mortgages, contracts and the like, by the clerk of district court and by the county judge, according to county clerk Norris Weible.

The microfilming equipment, which should be purchased and used by this fall, is the "latest thing in record keeping," said Weible.

It will speed up record keeping, save money now being spent on costly photographic supplies and reduce the amount of space devoted to record storage, Weible noted.

The miniature films on which information will be stored will be less likely to be destroyed in case of an accident or fire, he added.

Wayne County will be following a trend toward microfilming which has been set by other large counties in the state when the switch is made, according to Weible. Area counties which now use the process include Madison and Cuming, he said.

No longer used once the switch to microfilming is made will be the large haloid photographic machine in the clerk's office which is used to take photographs of records.

Voicé of Youth Is Loud When Spending Money

Financially, Wayne County's teenagers have come into their own. They have wealth such as their parents never dreamed of at their age.

As a result, they have blossomed into a consumer group to be reckoned with.

With the unprecedented amount of money at their command, estimated at more than $1,105,000 a year, they are being courted as never before by manufacturers and retail merchants through frequent changes of fashions and styles.

For the most part, it is found, what they have they spend — fast. The money doesn't get a chance to bore holes in their pockets.

It goes for the whole gamut of personal items and leisure activities that are important to them: beauty aids, jewelry, pop records, radios, cars, clothes. See SPENDING, page 5

Tour Cancelled

Mrs. Jocell Bull, director of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center, has announced that the tour of "Amana Colonies," which was to leave this Monday, has been cancelled because of a lack of persons signing up.

Board members also approved the three-way agreement between the county, city and municipal hospital which makes ambulance service possible. The See BOARD, page 5

Also Tuesday, the board named Arnold Zach of Wayne to another five year term on the veterans service affairs committee. Also serving on that committee, which has the county's veterans service officer and oversees veterans activities, are Jean Nuss of Wayne, Ernest Muehlmeier of Hoskins, Dewey Thomas of Carroll and Clarence Pfeiffer of Winslow.

In other action, the board renewed its contract with the company which provides service and repair on the radio equipment used by the county employees and the sheriff's department. The contract calls for paying the company $172.50 a month to take care of radios and two base stations.

Nightshirts Are In for Madness

Wayne businessmen and employees are probably rummaging through their closets trying to find their most comely nightclothes to wear during next week's annual Moonlight Madness promotion.

The city-wide promotion is scheduled for Tuesday from 7 to 10 p.m., with stores closing from 5 to 7 p.m.

The event will give local area residents an opportunity to pick up specials in all businesses open during the evening as well as an opportunity to see businessmen and employers in some crazy costumes.

The "best dressed" men and women employees will receive cash prizes from the sponsoring Chamber of Commerce, $20 for the first place dressers and $10 for the runners-up.

Co chairmen of the event this year are local businessmen Chuck Surber and Bill Richardson.

JOHN WEBER

Weekly Prize Nears $700

Wayne's weekly Birthday Bucks promotion draws within $25 of $700 this week, the result of another consolation winner being named last week.

Winning that $25 consolation prize last Thursday night was John Weber of Wayne, a shopper at Bill's Market Basket at the time the winning date was announced in all participating stores. Weber's birthday was closer to the date drawn at random than the birthdate of any other shopper in town.

This week's drawing grows to $675, $25 more than it was a week ago. The prize coupons which can be spent just like cash in any participating firm, will be awarded to the shopper with a birthday matching the date to be announced at 8:15 tonight (Thursday).

All shoppers in the area are eligible to participate in the weekly drawings, and there is no limitation on the number of times a person may win. Employees are also eligible for the weekly drawings.

Persons must be present in one of the participating firms in order to win the prize.

'Chest' Board Drops USO From Budget

Board members of Wayne's Community Chest voted Tuesday to drop USO as one of the organizations receiving funds from the annual drive in the fall.

The board dropped USO after reviewing a proposed budget which would call for collecting $11,000 during the drive, scheduled for the first week in October. If approved, that total would be $1,000 less than the goal set for last year's drive.

Receiving funds from this year's drive will be the local recreation program, Wayne Senior Citizens Center, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Red Cross, Florence Crittenton Home in Sioux City, cystic fibrosis drive and arthritis drive. This is the first year the arthritis organization will receive funds from the local drive.

A total of $9,995 of the proposed budget will be distributed to those organizations, with $1,005 going for administrative purposes.

During Tuesday noon's meeting, board members also voted to purchase a $70 film to be used during the annual drive. The film, which will be shown to clubs and organizations, explains the functions of the national United Fund.

Board members are expected to approve the budget for the fall drive at their meeting next month.

Farewell Picnic for AFS Youth Is Friday

The public is invited to Friday night's farewell picnic for AFS student Monica Plehn at Bressler Park in Wayne.

The potluck picnic is scheduled for 6 p.m., with a concert by the Wayne High varsity band scheduled for 7:30.

Mrs. LeRoy Simpson, new president of the American Field Service chapter in Wayne, said everybody is welcome to attend the picnic, held annually about this time of the year as the AFS student readies for the trip back home after a year's study at Wayne High.

"We would really like to have a good turnout Friday night," she said. "Monica has spoken to many groups and organizations and has made many friends during the year, and they are welcome to take in the picnic," she noted.

Those attending the picnic are asked to bring a dish and their own plates and silverware. Drinks will be furnished.

Monica, who has been staying with the Rowan Wittse family in Wayne during the past year, will leave Wayne for her trip to her home in Kassel, Germany, on June 28.

Announced during the evening will be the name of next year's AFS student and host family, said Mrs. Simpson.

The band concert scheduled after the picnic is the first of three summer concerts in the park scheduled by band director Ron Dalton.

Pssst! Got Any Tasty Recipes Handy?

Wives and mothers who have special recipes they would like to share with other families are invited to send them in to The Wayne Herald for use in the coming Farmer Feeder Section.

The fifth annual special section devoted to news and features about agriculture and area farmer leaders will be printed late in July.

To make the section especially interesting to farm wives and other women, recipes sent in by area women will be used throughout the section. Contributors are reminded to take special care in writing or typing out their contributions so no mistakes are made when they appear in the section.

MONICA PLEHN

Vakoc Named 'Lion of the Year'

John Vakoc won the Lion of the Year Award Tuesday night during the Wayne Lions Club's annual awards dinner.

Vakoc, member of the club for the past five years and club president two years ago, earned the newly established honor for the numerous activities he took part in during the past year and for the exceptional amount of work he devoted to them, according to awards chairman Wes Pflueger.

Vakoc was one of several club members who scored more than 100 points for taking part in club work, attending meetings and the like, noted Pflueger. Among those scoring more than 100 points were Charles Denesia and Cleo Sharer, who had a few less points than Vakoc.

Presentation of the Lion of the Year honor was the highlight of an awards ceremony which saw numerous club members receiving recognition for efforts during the past year.

Named to receive special awards as members who headed up successful club projects last year were Harold Maciejewski for the punt, pass and kick contest; Charles Denesia, Thanksgiving turkey ticket sales; B. J. Hirt, flea market; John Vakoc, St. Patrick's Day dance; Wayne Fisher, talent contests; and Al Reeg, glaucoma clinic.

President Charles Maier, who ended his one-year term Tuesday night, presented appreciation awards to Lee Foote, Bill "Skip" Kinslow, Don Langston and Clarence Boling for special efforts on their part.

Books, Books and More Books

OF INTEREST to teachers in seventh to 12th grades, a display called Books on Exhibit is currently being shown in Wayne State's Com. Library. On its annual list here is the assortment of nearly 400 books, recently published by about 100 companies, covers a wide range of topics, both fiction and non-fiction, that teachers can use in classes. Looking over the books are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tooker of Wayne. The show will remain at Wayne until late July, located in the ground floor instructional materials center.

RICHARD MARVEL

GOP Hopfuls To Visit in City Tuesday

Republican candidates for governor and lieutenant governor will be in Wayne Tuesday, Richard Marvel, Hastings, and Mrs. Anne Batchelder, Omaha, will arrive in Wayne about 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Following visits to local newspaper and radio station offices, the candidates will visit downtown Wayne in an effort to meet Wayne County citizens and discuss issues of the November election.

Wayne County Republican co-chairman Val Peterson and Mrs. Jack March have announced a covered dish supper for the candidates in Bressler Park at 6 p.m. following the downtown visitation. Each family is asked to bring a covered dish to the supper; beefburgers will be supplied by Hervale Farms and soft drinks by the Wayne County GOP, Mrs. March said.

Marvel is an 18 year veteran of the Nebraska Legislature and has served several terms as chairman of the legislature's appropriations committee. He is a professor at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

His running mate is the wife of former Nebraska State senator Clifton Batchelder. Mrs. Batchelder was Nebraska committee woman for the Republican National Committee for several years. She is currently publisher of the Douglas County Gazette at Waterloo.

EXTENSION NOTES

By Joycelyn Smith

Can the Extras
Our gardens and orchards often yield more than the family can consume during the time produce is ripening, so consider freezing and canning the extras.

They will be appreciated in tasty and nutritious meals next fall and winter.

There has been a noticeable revival of interest in canning the past few years. The reward is triplefold—supplementary food for the family, a working knowledge of food processing and a tasty product.

The two recommended methods for processing foods at home are by water bath and pressure canner. Fruits, tomatoes, and pickled vegetables can be safely canned in a water bath. For all other common vegetables except tomatoes, a pressure canner is recommended for processing.

Following a honeymoon to Florida, the couple will reside in Lincoln for the summer. They will move to Tinley Park, Ill. in August where the groom, a 1971 graduate of Laurel High School, will be a second year student at the Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago. The bride, a 1970 graduate of Laurel High School, and a 1973 graduate of Wayne State College, will teach second grade at Matteson, Ill.

Thought for Today

By Rowan Wittse
"Trifles make up the happiness or the misery of mortal life."
Alexander Smith

The cumulative effect of many small, seemingly trifling events has considerable impact on our lives. The small joys and fleeting anxieties, the brief pleasurable interludes and the negotiable problems of the day are individually of little consequence, but day after day they form the pattern of life.

Good or bad, big events are the peaks and valleys in the topographic reading of life's pattern, but it is the trifles which bridge the many gaps and give the pattern meaning and continuity.

Thanks to Snooper, It's A Dog's Life for 3 Little Kittens

Russell Ankeny of rural Dixon said no one would believe that his dog Snooper is raising cats unless he saw it or read about it.

Consider it proven. Snooper, about a year old, is the mother of three adopted kittens born about a month ago on the Ankeny farm three miles north of Dixon.

Unique? Perhaps not, but certainly unusual and interesting.

About three weeks ago Snooper took over the job as mother when the mother cat disappeared, leaving four small kittens alone. One died shortly later, prompting Russell to get rid of the other three since none of the other cats on the farm would take care of them.

Mrs. Ankeny, however, wasn't so willing to dispose of the kittens. She wanted to wait a little longer, hoping that one of the mother cats would adopt the trio.

That night Snooper answered Mrs. Ankeny's wishes.

According to Ankeny, Snooper was wandering around the dairy barn when she apparently heard the kittens whimpering. The following morning the couple found Snooper snuggled with the little ones, feeding and taking care of them.

"I've seen something like this before," Ankeny smiled, "but I didn't say too much about it because I didn't think anyone would believe it unless he saw it."

Before Snooper adopted the trio she would always be out in the field following Russell. Now her time is completely devoted to the kittens, he says.

During the cool nights the animal family can be found, snuggled in the barn, with Snooper keeping a watchful eye. When the weather turns warm, Snooper escorts the little ones outside, quickly hurrying them off to a shady area when it gets too hot.

Snooper, of course, plays favorites.

She always pays close attention to the brown and white kitten, carrying it in her mouth or staying with it most of the time.

Snooper hasn't been with the Ankenys very long. She came to the farm in November by "just walking on the place," Ankeny related.

"At first I thought someone dropped her off, expecting us to take care of her," he said. But Snooper soon found a new home on the farm and in the Ankenys' hearts. Especially now that she's become a "mother."

Doris Dickey, James Kirchner Wed June 5 in Laurel Church

The marriage of Doris Jean Dickey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray S. Dickey, Laurel, to James Keith Kirchner, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Kirchner, South Sioux City, was solemnized in candlelight rites June 5 at the Laurel United Methodist Church.

The Rev. A. M. Ramos and the Rev. Robert Nebes officiated at the double ring ceremony and Sylvia Truby, Randolph, was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Martin Zieroff.

Candelabras, accented with baby's breath, pink and white pompons, and pink elegance carnations, graced the front of the church. Pew candles were lit by Joyce Kirchner and Kim Kardell.

Midgets Take Over First In Ralph Bishop League

Wayne Midgets own first place in the Ralph Bishop League, picking up a pair of wins to boost their record to 5-0. The locals went six innings Tuesday night to drop former league co-leader Pender, 3-1, with a two-run output the last frame of a makeup game.

Left fielder Dave Hix, who scored two of the team's runs, and third baseman Dave Nuss scored the late game runs on a fielder's choice by center fielder Mark Brandt.

The host team took a 1-0 lead before Wayne tied the game in the fifth on second baseman Randy Park's single that drove in Hix.

The Midgets picked up their fourth win with a 13-3 win over Winside Monday night at Winside.

Wayne hitters collected 10 hits in the abbreviated five-inning match, taking a 11-0 lead after two frames. The locals scored five runs in the first and six in the second on seven singles plus a triple by catcher Larry Creighton. Wayne scored its final two runs in the top of the third on a single and walk.

Winside, now 1-3, got on the scoreboard in the bottom of the third, scoring two runs before tallying its final run in the fourth.

Winside Midgets continue in a slump, losing their second game to Laurel, 10-2. Laurel had a 4-1 lead after the

152 Sign Up for Laurel Swimming

Eighty-six beginner swim students have signed up for instructions at the Laurel pool this summer.

According to swim instructor Star Smith, this is the largest number recorded in the beginning group. Assisting Mrs. Smith are Rebecca Kraemer, Kelly McCoy and Mike Martin.

In the next four divisions, 16 have signed for advanced beginners, 30 in intermediates, 10 in swimmers and 10 in junior and senior lifesaving.

Swim lessons will begin on Monday and run through August 9.

This season's lifeguards are LeAnn Sudbeck, Claudia Mallatt and Star Smith. Bath house attendants are Anita Zieroff, Carolyn Wentworth and LaVonne Smith.

Cheap TV antennas deliver cheap TV reception

With muddy, blurry color TV reception. Because a TV set's only as good as the signals it receives. And poor antennas pick up interference that ruins TV signals—along with your evening's entertainment.

Now there's an antenna that pays dividends in purer color TV reception—the new Channel Master Quantum. The new Quantum has the blocking power to knock out interference and only deliver the pure, clean signals your color TV needs to operate at its peak capacity.

The Channel Master Quantum costs a bit more, but it's really not much of a price to pay for peak TV reception for years and years to come.

Legion Takes Games From Winside, Pender

Earle Overin pitched a two-hitter and second baseman Randy Nelson rapped a home run as Wayne Legion beat Pender, 5-2, during Tuesday night's makeup game at Pender.

Overin dusted 11 Pender batters in the seven-inning contest as the locals posted their third win against a solo loss.

Nelson connected for his first circuit hit of the season in the top of the fifth when the visitors were out in front, 2-0. Nelson boosted the score to 3-0 before left fielder Marty Hansen singled, advanced to second and third on passed balls and came home on a Pender error. Hansen, who hit three singles in three at bats, scored three runs.

Pender didn't get to Overin until the bottom of the seventh when the home team ripped a pair of singles to score two runs.

The Legion pounded Winside, 19-3, in Winside's first home game Monday night after completion of the new ball field.

Winside, however, started in strong fashion, slugging Wayne hurler Charlie Roland for a single, double and triple in the first frame for a 3-0 lead.

Left fielder Dave Jaeger singled, third baseman Dan Bowers tripled and first baseman Mike Anderson tripled for Winside's only hits.

The locals knotted the game in the second with the help of Winside errors before ripping the game open with 16 runs on 12 hits in the remainder of the five-inning match.

Wayne connected for five doubles, including a pair by shortstop Kim Baker. Left fielder Marty Hansen led the club with a triple and a double in three at bats.

Winside's record is 1-2.

Sunday afternoon Wayne dumped Coleridge, 6-2, for its fourth win against three losses this season.

Wayne struck for three runs in the fourth for a 3-1 lead before the locals scored two in the fifth and one in the seventh. Wayne had seven hits, including a triple by left fielder Marty Hansen.

Winside's Legion record in the league stands at two wins and one loss, after beating Laurel, 14-0, Monday night at Wakefield.

Wakefield scored six runs in the first two frames and two in the third to end the abbreviated game after four innings.

Overall, Wakefield has a 10-2

Pair of Wayne Runs in the Eleventh Stops Allen-Martinsburg's Upset Bid

Allen-Martinsburg town team threw a scare into Wayne's chances of staying on top of the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League Sunday night.

The area club held a 2-1 lead going into the top of the ninth, but the locals scored one run that frame and finished the 11-inning game with a pair of left fielder Dan Nedrig and third baseman Steve Hix connected for singles to score Wayne's winning runs to boost the locals' record to 6-0.

Wayne was in command, 1-0, after three innings. Pitcher Randy Benish slapped sacrifice fly to right fielder Dave Diederker to score Hix from third.

But the tempo of the game changed quickly the next frame when Allen scored two runs. Second baseman Keith Hill scored first after walking, stealing second and third, and racing home on a passed ball. Pitcher Jim Miller scored the go-ahead run after he walked, advanced to second on teammate Mark Brasel's walk, stole third and came home on Diederker's grounder to shortstop Terry Lutt.

Wayne's defenses stopped the area club's attack in the eighth, picking off two Allen runners at third and one going home.

Shortstop Bob Anderson opened the frame by taking first on a Wayne error before Allen batters connected for a trio of singles. Hill smashed the first one-bagger to put runners at first and second.

But Allen's scoring attempt went for naught as Wayne came up with a double play on catcher Lee Schipool's single to right. Mic Daehnke threw the ball to catcher Denny Paul, who tagged out Anderson coming home and fired the ball to Hix to put out Hill at third. Daehnke came up with another fine play moments later by grabbing Miller's single and throwing out Schipool at third.

Second baseman Randy Helgren tied the game in the ninth after doubling, advancing to third on a sacrifice by left fielder Dan Nedrig and scoring on Daehnke's hit to second.

Allen-Martinsburg, now 15-15, is in ninth place in the league after Pender, which was tied with Allen, beat South Sioux City, 8-7, Sunday.

Wakefield moved up to fourth on Walthill's forfeit, making the team record, 4-2. Last week Ponca was in fourth, but fell one notch after losing to Newcastle, 12-6, Sunday.

Both Newcastle and Homer remained tied for second with 5-1 records following league action Sunday. Homer blasted Dakota City, 13-1.

Wakefield and Allen-Martinsburg meet tonight (Thursday) at Wakefield in what could be one of the top battles in the league. Wayne is scheduled to play at Walthill in the only other league action.

West Point handed the locals their second loss in nine starts in a non-league game Tuesday night at Wayne, 8-5.

Wayne led 1-0 going into the fourth before the visitors tied the game. West Point then riddled Wayne hurler Roger Saul for six runs — including a three-run homer — the next two frames to take a 7-1 command.

PEE WEES

Wakefield 10, Wayne 0 — Wakefield boosted its record to 3-0 on Mark Starlin's one-hitter over Wayne Tuesday. Wayne's record is 1-1.

Allen 4, Jackson 2 — Allen defeated Jackson Sunday night with the aid of Kevin Kramer's two-run homer. Richard Stewart and Greg Carr were the winning battery. Allen now is 3-2.

Winside 14, Laurel 12 — Ron Hirschman's two home runs gave Laurel an 8-3 command going into the fifth in Tuesday's game. But Winside rallied with 11 runs to win its first game for a 1-1 record with the help of home runs by John Hawkins and Barry Bowers. Laurel is 0-3.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Wayne 11, Wakefield 0 — The locals blanked Wakefield for their second win in as many starts. Dennis Carroll posted the win, giving up one hit while striking out 11 in the five-inning contest. Wakefield's record is 1-2.

Laurel 10, Winside 3 — Laurel jumped out to a 7-0 lead in the first inning to collect its first win in three starts. Winside's record drops to 0-2.

PONY LEAGUE

Wakefield 7, Wayne 2 — Wayne had a 2-1 lead going into the fourth before Wakefield struck for four runs and added two more in the fifth to win its third game against no deficits. Winning pitcher John Kline hit a triple while Wayne hurler Tom Ginn had a home run. Wayne's record is 1-1.

Winside 19, Laurel 5 — Winside blasted eight runs in the first and added six in the fourth on the way to winning its first game against one person. Mitch Pfeiffer belted a circuit hit for Winside. Laurel is winless in three games.

GIRLS SOFTBALL

All three Winside teams evened their records at 1-1 with wins over Pender in makeup games Monday. The 18 and under girls won by 21-12, 15 and under took a 5-2 victory and the reserve squad blasted Pender 21-4.

Jill Stenwall led the 18 and under group with three triples to score four runs. Sally Landinger and Cindy Thomas were the winning battery. Singles and walks scored the majority of runs in the other two games. Winning batters were Jackie Gramberg and Brende Voss (15 and under), and Lauri Gallop and Voss in the B game.

Peters' Homer Lifts Allen Past Jackson

Allen's Charlie Peters belted a three-run homer Sunday night to lead the area Midget club past Jackson, 11-1.

The shortstop's circuit hit came in the top of the fourth when the visitors scored five runs to take a 7-0 command. Allen scored four more runs in the fifth to end the game.

Center fielder Brad Chase led the club with a pair of hits.

Allen, 4-1, has tonight (Thursday) off, but resumes action in the Northeast Nebraska Midget League Sunday night in a home match against Newcastle.

Yard Quiz
 Q. Where can you get pure Kentucky bluegrass seed?
 A. Federal and state laws require that labels on seed bags list all contents, so check the label. Any good lawn and garden center should have pure bluegrass seed.

Bigelow: New Environment Helpful in Meeting Needs

A new proposal to study alternate cultural environments may be the giant step for educators to better understand the needs of people.

Dr. Gene Bigelow is convinced it after five weeks of living in Omaha's inner city.

The Wayne State assistant professor of education told Wayne Kiwanians Monday that the Nebraska Educational Television Council of Higher Education (NETCHE) approved his proposal, allowing him to work with teachers and visit with students while living in the inner-city from April to June.

The methods of education, especially in the lower grades, have proven to be advanced in many respects in teaching the young, he said.

In a slide presentation, Bigelow showed some of the work already completed in various classes, some of which may create a brighter educational future for the young black.

Helping to make the education program a success in some of Omaha's schools is the Cooperative Urban Teachers Education (CUTE). Current college graduates plus experienced teachers are working in the schools to bring in fresh teaching ideas.

—ELDON BARELMAN

Bigelow hopes NETCHE will continue his proposal to place college faculty members in an "alternate cultural center" to help instructors experience the educational needs of today's youngsters.

Before Bigelow's talk, Eldon Barelman was installed as a club member, bringing membership to 57.

Courts playing big role in state government this summer

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN The courts are playing a big role in state government this summer.

Senator Lorán Schmit of Bellwood has asked federal courts to decide whether two grocery chains have conspired to set prices which destroy the free market operations at the butcher counter.

Governor J. J. Exon has threatened court action to prevent the federal government from imposing penalties which could cripple Nebraska's road-building program next year.

The State Supreme Court has issued an opinion upholding the constitutionality of legislation establishing a graduated exemption for owners of business and agricultural personal property.

Schmit filed his suit against Safeway and A & P, which his petition describes as the two largest grocery chains in the United States. He claims they have conspired to control the over-the-counter price of meat, resulting in severe problems for the Nebraska livestock producer.

The Schmit suit was filed on behalf of all the cattle and hog producers in Nebraska as a class action. He says the total damage done to the class this year is at least $507 million. His suit seeks treble damages, meaning it is asking the court to approve more than $1.5 billion.

Schmit, who farms and feeds cattle near Bellwood in Butler County, is chairman of the Legislature's Agriculture Committee. He said he and his committee colleagues have received little help from the grocery industry as they tried to figure out why cattlemen were going broke at the same time beef prices in the retail stores were still turning consumers off.

Spokesmen for the two grocery chains said Schmit's claims of conspiracy were ridiculous and that the stores had been the farmers' friends by promoting meat sales.

The governor's threatened suit would be an action to get court orders preventing the federal government from cutting federal aid for the state's highway program.

The cuts would represent penalties because the state has refused to take down tourism attraction signs along the Interstate Highway.

The signs were put up two years ago as part of a test project authorized by the federal government. After the test, the federal officials decided the signs hadn't worked out and should be removed from the 1-80 roadsides.

Nebraska, however, found the signs to be effective in promoting tourists to get off the interstate and visit such features as Boys Town and Scout's Rest Ranch.

State Highway Director Thomas D. Doyle said a study showed the increased tourist visitation at some of the special sites had a multi-million-dollar impact on local economies.

Furthermore, he said, the tourists appreciated the help.

And Nebraskans, themselves, got inspired to visit some of the tourism points in their own neighborhoods.

Exon has decided to defy the federal government on the issue, which he said boils down to bureaucrats telling a sovereign state what to do.

Unless the state can change the federal mind or the courts put a stop to the imposition of the penalties, many road construction projects scheduled for work during the 1975 fiscal year will be shutdown for lack of federal money.

An interesting sidelight to this dispute is that it involves the 1970 contenders for Nebraska's governorship. Exon defeated Norbert T. Tiemann, who now is the federal highway administrator and the fellow in Washington with his hand on the pursestrings.

The other court case involves the personal property tax exemption bill adopted by the 1972 Legislature. It provides exemptions growing annually by 12.5 per cent until a 67.5 per cent waiver is reached for owners of business and agricultural inventories and equipment.

The law was challenged by Senators John DeCamp of Neligh and David Stahmer of Omaha, but the State Supreme Court said the law was valid.

Another state legislator is talking about the possibility of going to court to change something his fellow lawmakers did that he doesn't think is right.

Senator Ramey C. Whitney of Chappell says he might ask the courts if the state school aid bill adopted this year over Exon's veto is constitutional.

Whitney says there are questions about the validity of provisions which, he says, don't allocate the state dollars fairly among all the state's school districts.

Whitney — along with Omaha's Stahmer — also is trying to get enough petition signatures to put a school aid repeal proposal on the November ballot. That campaign was going slowly at last report.

It always happens so fast. And, this time, you're right. It did happen to the other guy.

You know. The guy who wouldn't hurt a fly, turn down a friendly drink—or take a cab home instead of driving. A nice guy who'd now and then smoke in bed, maybe swim out a little too far, sometimes hurry a little down the stairs.

We know you knew him. And that you'll miss him. We just don't want you to join him.

"Oops" is a pitiful epitaph.

Arbor Day in Nebraska—April 22

Arbor Day in Nebraska—April 22—falls on the birthday of J. Sterling Morton, the man who founded the holiday. In Mr. Morton's thinking, the principal value of Arbor Day, and of tree planting generally, was the beautification of Nebraska's homes, thus making them better places in which to live and rear children.

Two years ago on the centennial of the founding of the Arbor Day, the Nebraska State Historical Society republished J. Sterling Morton by James C. Olson, formerly director of the Society. First published in 1941, this book has become one of Nebraska's major bibliographical works. Handsomely bound, it may be purchased from the Society for $7.95, plus tax.

Following are capsule accounts of the lives of the four sons of J. Sterling and Caroline Joy Morton—Joy, Paul, Mark, and Carl:

The Morton papers in the State Archives at the Society are replete with letters of advice written by Mr. Morton to his sons. His fatherly advice apparently was followed—at least the four sons developed into men of whom their father was justifiably proud.

Joy, the oldest, worked for a while in the bank of James Sweet and Company in Nebraska City. After a long and confining illness, which forced him to give up his job in the bank, he went to Chicago to work for the Michigan Central Railroad. Illness again dogged his footsteps, and he was forced to return home. He spent three years managing Arbor Lodge, the family farm, and then went to work for the Burlington in Omaha. In 1879 he went to Aurora, Illinois, to take a position as a store-keeper with the Burlington. The next year he went to work for an agent of the Michigan Salt Association, and shortly thereafter entered the firm of E. I. Wheeler and Company as junior partner. Though only 26 years old, he had saved the $5,000 necessary to make the investment required of a junior partner. In 1885 Wheeler died suddenly and the firm became Joy Morton and Company, which he built into the great Morton Salt Company. A love of trees inherited from his father prompted Joy Morton in later life to found a great arboretum west of Chicago.

Paul, the second son rose in the railroad business at a phenomenal rate. Beginning his career at the age of 16 as clerk for the Burlington railroad, he was assistant freight agent at the age of 21. Later he became vice-president of the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, and still later president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York City. He was a close friend of Theodore Roosevelt and served for a time as Secretary of the Navy in President Roosevelt's cabinet.

Mark, the third son, worked for the Burlington railroad for a while, and then joined his brother in the Morton Salt Company. Mark Morton was the practical farmer among the four sons of the founder of Arbor Day. He developed large agricultural holdings in Illinois and in 1941 was granted an honorary Doctor of Agriculture degree by the University of Nebraska in recognition of his great contribution to practical farming.

Carl, the fourth son, died at the age of 36. Even so, he had founded and developed the Argo starch works in Nebraska City, and had taken over the management of a large starch, glucose, and corn factory in Waukegan, Illinois.

The careers of J. Sterling Morton's four sons lent ample proof to the oft-repeated statement of the founder of Arbor Day that there was no place like a Nebraska farm on which to rear children.

So They Said

"The public's willingness to cooperate will evaporate if it feels the shortages are contrived. There will be a consumer revolt if people believe government is trying to make fools of them."

'People should get to vote on fluoridation'

Dear Editor:

I am writing a few comments on Mr. Norvin Hansen's editorial "Observations" titled "Let's Fluoridate Our Water" which was in the Monday, June 17, issue of The Wayne Herald.

His first statement was that he would rather not see the fluoridation issue on the November general election ballot because he is afraid voters will turn thumbs down to adding additional fluoride to our drinking water.

Don't you feel, Mr. Hansen, that the people in the City of Wayne should have the right to make that decision by voting? Aren't we supposed to be living in a democracy? The majority of our councilmen and women agree that the people should have the right to decide.

You say the cost will be minimal $5,000 to $6,000 for the equipment and 25c per person per year. According to Reuben Fellman, D. D. S., Health Commissioner, Clifton, N. J., a town of 85,000 people, fluoridation of the water supply in Clifton would cost over $9,000 as compared to their fluoride tablet program which costs less than $500. Could our city consider a similar program?

According to information from the National Fluoridation News of Gravette, Ark., there is a difference between water that contains fluoride naturally and water with artificial fluoridation, that difference being in the mineral content of the water. The other minerals, particularly calcium, mitigate the toxicity of the fluoride ion.

According to the information you printed (from Don Blank, mayor and dentist at McCook), a person would have to drink 50 bathtubs full of fluoridated water to reach a lethal dose, but he does not say what smaller dosages might do to your body. John J. Shea, M. D., allergist of Dayton, O., has found well over 200 cases of allergy to fluorides. A warning issued by the Surgeon General in March, 1969 states that fluoride was found harmful in kidney diseases. The Gerber Company and Heinz Company do not use fluoridated water in the processing of its baby foods. The food and drug administration rules out the prescription of fluorine containing drugs for pregnant women. About 2,500 U. S. communities have rejected fluoridation by official action or referendum. More than 100 cities where fluoridation was adopted have discontinued its use, including Beatrice, Nebr.

I believe fluoridation is wasteful. The Hastings utilities water department pumped 2,350,000,000 gallons of water during 1973. Only one tenth of one per cent is consumed by children who might benefit from fluoridated water. Approximately 99 per cent of the money spent on fluoridation would go down the drain, such as car washings, garden and lawn watering, industrial use, plumbing, etc. By the way, Hastings voted fluoridation down in the May primary election.

I certainly hope the people of Wayne care enough to get the issue of fluoridation on the ballot for the November election so they can exercise their right to vote. — Mrs. Gerald Ott

OBSERVATIONS

A problem needing solving

The newsletter which Joceli Bull, director of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center, writes up regularly recently called attention to a problem facing elderly residents of the city — lack of good public transportation. The discontinuance of the private cab service this month emphasizes that problem.

We're not sure what the city council can do about this problem, but it might be that one of the unsuccessful candidates for mayor in the recent election may have had a good point when he said the city should look into the possibility of purchasing a mini-bus for use in Wayne. A mini-bus would not be a very large expense for the city, and maintenance and operation of the vehicle would be fairly small once it was put into operation. It is highly likely that some people, possibly members of the Center themselves, would donate their time to make regular trips around the community, picking up elderly persons to take them to the doctor, to help them buy groceries, to visit at the Center or to do a variety of other tasks.

The city council has discussed the problem of lack of public transportation in recent meetings. Maybe it should be given higher priority among the problems awaiting solutions. — Norvin Hansen.

DON C. SPITZE
WAYNE COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

Citizenship Trip
When you read this column, I'll be in Washington, D. C., with 45 4-H'ers from Dixon, Cedar, Dakota, Thurston and Wayne Counties. Many of you have heard about the trip and where we plan to go, but few of you know about the planning that goes into such a trip.

It all started back in November when the county agents got together and decided on a quota for each county. Then 4-H'ers were given a chance to apply for the trip, with each county having its own method of selection. In Wayne County we were fortunate in being able to send all junior leaders, who wanted to go — sophomores will have another chance in two years.

In January we met with all 4-H'ers and their parents and decided on an itinerary for the trip. This will be the fourth Washington Citizenship Trip from this area so we had a pretty good trip schedule developed, but there is always room for improvement. This year the group decided to drop the baseball game and tours in Chicago and add a side trip to the Atlantic City Boardwalk and a boat trip at Niagara Falls.

After the basic trip had been developed, committees were elected. A steering committee of 4-H'ers, which works with the agent before and during the trip, has the important responsibility of helping see that things go right and everyone has a good time.

Other committees include picture, luggage, courtesy, gifts, diary, special reports and church. Everyone is on a committee and has an important job to do.

A great deal of organization goes into making this trip a success. An example is the luggage committee. Members had number tags made for all luggage, and they developed a check-card for each day so the luggage is left behind. The luggage committee has the responsibility to see that all luggage is unloaded and loaded on the bus each day.

I will be taking along a large notebook that has all correspondence, time schedules, routes, recommended restaurants, possible sight seeing side trips and reservations listed for each day of the trip. In addition, I'll be taking a file folder along that has maps and brochures indexed by days.

These plans have been developed over a period of three trips. After each trip the sponsoring agents made suggestions on how the trip can be improved the next time.

Teen Supremes
The Teen Supremes recently sponsored a successful party for new 4-H'ers and a dairy judging workshop, and they have many other events scheduled for this summer.

Steve Gramlich led a group discussion at 4-H Club Week at Lincoln this year on planning teen programs. He reported that the Wayne County junior leader organization, the Teen Supremes, seemed to be much more active than other counties. From all the activities the Teen Supremes have scheduled this summer, I believe he must be right.

4-H Sheep
Steve Gramlich and Harold Gathje sheared 60 4-H market lambs the other day at the sheep weigh-in. This means we should have a good market lamb show at the fair this year. The wool we sheared was donated by the 4-H'ers and the proceeds will be used to buy sheep equipment to be loaned to 4-H'ers.

HAROLD GATHJE shears one youngster's lamb as Angie Schulz waits to have her lamb sheared before being weighed last week at the Wayne County fairgrounds. Angie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Schulz of rural Wayne, was one of several youngsters and parents who brought about 60 4-H lambs to Gathje and Steve Gramlich shearing during the morning and afternoon. Lambs were weighed so they can compete in the rate of gain contest at the county fair in August. The first time in several years for a weight contest for lambs. Wool sheared by Gathje and Gramlich will be sold so sheep equipment can be purchased for use by all 4-H'ers in the county.

Haircut Time for 4-H Lambs

4-H CLUB

Dixon Belles
The Dixon Belles 4-H Club met June 10 at 8 p.m. in the Fay Walton home. The meeting was called to order by Marilyn Eckert.

Plans were made to tour Sioux City July 9. Members will leave from Bressler's Station at 8:30 a.m. The club will host a Senior Citizen's party July 26 at St. Anne's Parish Hall.

Demonstrations were given by Janet Walton, "The Proper Way To Set a Table"; Alice George, "The Correct Way To Cut Celery and Carrots"; and Anna Borg, "How Dogs Are a Girl's Best Friend."

Marilyn Eckert conducted the lesson on judging scissors. Janet Walton served lunch following the business meeting.

Pleasant Valley Girls
A mother's tea with a salad bar was featured when the Pleasant Valley Girls 4-H Club met Thursday in the Charles Junk home with Dorothy as hostess. Club members prepared and served the event.

The group plans to attend a 4-H day camp in Ponca June 27-28. A discussion was held concerning entries in the county fairs, both at Randolph and Wayne.

The July 11 meeting will be held at the Hans Burmeister home with Susan as hostess.

Loyal Lassies
The Loyal Lassies 4-H Club met June 11 in the LaVern Os tendorf home with 11 members and two mothers present.

Members discussed the fair booth and song contest. All members interested in the song contest will meet every Monday in the Victor Haase home at 1 p.m.

Project reports were given and lunch was served following the business meeting.

Next meeting will be June 24 in the Waldron Bull home at 2 p.m.

Tweens and Teens
Members of the Tweens and Teens 4-H Club met June 11 in the Wallace Magnuson home.

The group cleaned up trash and cut weeds on vacant lots in Concord as part of the community betterment project. They returned to the Magnuson home for a business meeting. They also studied clothing visuals.

Tacos were served by Denise Magnuson.

On May 31 the club met in the Wallace Magnuson home to decide on projects. Denise Magnuson served lunch.

Next meeting will be June 25 in the Wallin home.

News reporter, Denise Magnuson.

Cloverette 4-H Club
The Cloverette 4-H Club met June 11 at 2 p.m. in the Larry Lueth home with 15 members present. Roll call was a favorite 4-H project.

Jackie Lueth showed how to make wall hangings, and gave a demonstration on preparing butterscotch brownies.

Some people believe that "hot cross buns" will keep for a year without becoming moldy, and hang them up for good luck!

USDA News

Cattle on Feed Down
Nebraska feeders were fattening for slaughter 1,260,000 cattle on June 1, down 15 per cent from June 1973. Compared to a month ago, the number on feed was down 7 per cent, the lowest June inventory since 1971.

Placements, Marketings Down
May placements of fed cattle totaled 240,000 head, down 33 per cent from a year earlier and 25 per cent below last month. Feeders marketed 320,000 fed cattle during May, down 4 per cent from the same period last year but unchanged from a month ago.

Pesticide Users: Use Protection, Caution

To prevent serious eye damage and possible blindness, the Nebraska Society for the Prevention of Blindness recommends that safety goggles be worn during all pesticide mixing and applying operations.

Eyes are particularly vulnerable to these substances and need to be protected with safety eyewear whenever the possibility of exposure exists. The Society says.

Severe irritation and burning may be experienced when pesticide compounds come in contact with eye tissue, but this is not always the case, for eye damage may occur when pain is absent, according to the Society. A farmer or a gardener might feel little more than a stinging sensation after a few grains of insecticide fly into his eye. A few moments later, however, the sight in the affected eye might be completely blurred, and a few months later, doctors might still wonder if sight will return to normal.

The Society suggests the following additional safety precautions:

Have ample water available in case of a pesticide exposure. A thorough washing of the skin with soap and water or a flushing of an exposed eye with clean water only may reduce irritation and the chance for permanent injury.

Always read labels before using sprays or dust noting warnings and cautions each time before opening a container.

Always store pesticides tightly closed in original containers.

Never smoke or eat while spraying or dusting.

Avoid inhaling substances, wear protective clothing, masks and respirators whenever labels direct.

Do not apply sprays or dusts on skin or clothing, if accidentally spilled, remove contaminated clothes immediately and wash them thoroughly.

Stand upwind of person applying herbicide or insecticide.

If symptoms of illness occur during or shortly after working with pesticide compounds, seek medical attention immediately.

In all cases of exposure, call a physician as soon as emergency washing is completed.

Carrolliners
The Carrolliners Girls 4-H Club met Friday at the auditorium with 19 members present. Sheila Gramlich, vice president, and Peggy Bowers, acting secretary, presided.

Mrs. Martin Hansen, leader, reminded the girls that there are only two meetings left in the club year, and progress of projects was discussed along with ideas and plans for the booth at the Wayne County Fair.

Plans are to attend day camp in Ponca June 27-28.

The group discussed clothing to be worn for the song contest on July 26.

Diane Creamer gave a mini-speech, and speeches will be given by Jackie Jones, Karrienne Beneshof, Jodi Isom and Debbie Wolslager at the July 1 meeting.

Lyrystic Hansen and Sheila Gramlich served.

Campers Pick New Officers

Merton Hilton has been named to replace Don Langston as president of the Wayne Wheelers, a local camping group.

Other officers named are Mrs. Ray Butts as secretary-treasurer, replacing Mrs. Jess Spence, and Willis Johnson as Wagon Master, replacing Ralph Blom enkamp.

The group, organized a year ago, will hold its first campout June 22-23 at Ta Ha Zouka Park at Norfolk.

Couple's Son On Honor Roll

Thomas Denesia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denesia of Wayne, has been named to the honor roll for the spring semester at Wichita State University.

To be included on the honor roll of one of the seven academic colleges within the university, a student must have maintained at least a 3.25 grade-point average on a 4.0 system in 12 or more hours of academic work.

Nearing Completion

IT WON'T be long before Winside residents will be able to use the new shelter house at the town's park. According to street superintendent Kenneth Macke, the main task left is to shingle the outside portions of the roof. Last week Mark Hervey, top, and Earl Duering were installing sheet metal on the roof. Macke said the shelter should be ready by this week or next week, except for building two fireplaces. Hopefully, those will be finished by the end of the summer, he said.
