Property Valuations Jump 8% in County, Led by Livestock

The assessed valuation of Wayne County property rose 8 per cent — more than three million dollars — in the current fiscal year.

County Assessor Doris Stipp, reporting the figure Friday, said the increase probably is the largest in county history, both in dollars and percentage.

Major factor in the rise, she said, is the gain in livestock marketing prices. Mrs. Stipp notes that livestock valuations are set by the state, as required by law, and that all property valuations are determined as of Jan. 1 each year.

Livestock market prices were at a peak late in 1973, so valuations of Jan. 1 reflect the judgment of a panel of livestock experts who had studied marketing prices from the previous January till about November, Mrs. Stipp said.

A small portion of the higher livestock valuation total is attributed to increased numbers of stock, especially cattle, up from 87,214 head in 1973 to 88,765 in 1974.

The total 1974 county assessed valuation — real estate, personal property, motor vehicles and special schedules (mostly utilities) — is $43,371,265. That is $3,259,705 more than the 1973 valuation of $40,111,560.

Assessed valuation is the basis for computing mill levies to provide tax money as budgeted in each of the various taxing districts. County Clerk Norris Weible said he will have those levies figured before the Sept. 1 deadline.

The four classes of property show these valuations: real estate, $28,751,055, up from $28,474,735; personal property (including livestock, machinery and business inventories), $11,629,020, up from $8,887,580; motor vehicles, $2,067,760, up from $1,901,900, and special schedules, $923,430, up from $897,345.

Usually real estate is the largest gainer. But personal property, chiefly livestock — has that distinction this year.

The City of Wayne has assessed valuation of $8,989,780, an increase from $8,700,305 in 1973.

Valuations of other communities (last year's figures in parentheses): Winslow, $607,805 ($592,155); Carroll, $279,540 ($236,485); Hoskins, $322,855 ($334,595); Sholes, $46,495 ($41,660); Heikes, $180,365 ($157,920).

School district valuations (1973 figures in parentheses): Dist. 1 — $447,895 ($428,155); Dist. 5 — $937,275 ($865,235); Dist. 8 — $495,680 ($452,540); Dist. 9 — Hoskins $2,641,590 ($2,395,140); Dist. 10 — $504,345 ($474,995); Dist. 15 — $899,035 ($835,865); Dist. 17 (Wayne) $13,810,195 ($13,056,880).

Pension Plans, Benefits Head Council Agenda

Pension plans and benefits for Wayne City and hospital employees will be the major business when the City Council meets Tuesday night at 7:30 in council chambers.

The agenda includes:

- Presentation by Adon J. Jeffrey of a Hospital Board proposal to establish a pension plan for hospital employees.
- Consideration of a long studied city employee pension plan, with an insurance consultant present to explain details.
- Discussion of ordinance 795 to rescind a benefit which gives city employees $17 in cash or a $12 reduction in utility bills.
- Second reading of ordinance 792 concerning removal of obstructions blocking driver's vision at intersections.
- Consideration of linking water mains on South Main and Pearl Streets, to provide water for emergency (such as fire in the power plant) if the Main street line had to be shut off.
- Summer report by swimming pool manager Doug Krecklow on suggestions for next year.

Despite 'Tough Market' Premiums 'Good' In 4-H Beef Sale

Premium prices at last week's Wayne County 4-H beef sale didn't double as in the previous year, but prices were still good, according to county agricultural agent Don Spitz.

"We have a tough cattle market this year, which is the reason for not having a big jump in prices," Spitz said. However, after watching bidders pay out an average premium of $6.65 a hundredweight on individual animals and an average premium of $6.40 a hundred on pens of three, Spitz pointed out that "prices held up good for both singles and pens." Last year's auction resulted in 4-Hers receiving an average premium of $6.04 a hundred on individual calves, $3 on pens of five. This year the pens were dropped to three, resulting in an increase average premium price of $6.40.

The reason for the change from pens of five to three was an effort to get more 4-Hers to take part in the sale, since it takes less investment to buy and feed three animals than it does five, Spitz added.

Showing the top scoring individual animal was Paul Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Roberts, Jr. of Carroll. His Charolais Crossbred weighed 1,295 pounds, brought a packer bid of $45 a hundred and sold to First National Bank of Wayne for $50.

Second highest scoring animal was the 1,095 pound Angus crossbred steer shown by Blaine Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson of Wayne. His animal brought a packer bid of $45 25 a hundred and sold to The Wayne Herald for $50.

Animals were sold according to See Beef Sale, page 9

Benthack Hall to Aid Applied Arts

Walter Benthack Hall of Applied Sciences, which replaces the 1916 vintage Physical Industrial Building on the Wayne State College campus, will be ready for September classes, according to Dr. Niel Edmunds, dean of the School of Professional and Applied Studies.

The two-story brick building, located just west of the old building, will house the industrial education, safety education and home economics courses.

The facility is named for Dr. Walter Benthack, Wayne physician and a member of the Board of Trustees of Nebraska State Colleges from 1939 to 1945.

Dr. Edmunds has noted that remodeling the old building was considered initially, but architectural estimates for such a project showed new construction to be less expensive.

Plans for the new building were started in 1971. Ground breaking was in April of 1973. The new building has 44,000 square feet of floor space, compared to 24,000 square feet of usable space in the old facility. The old building will be razed, probably within the next year, depending on legislative funding.

Benthack Hall, in addition to providing a more efficient and cheerful learning center, will allow for expansion in many areas of study including graphic arts and power mechanics. A child development program will be added to the home economics department.

Faculty members who will move to the new building are Dr. Niel Edmunds, Dr. Howard Schmidt, Dr. Don Cattie, Anton Netherder and Randall Shaw in industrial education, and Dr. Laveta Roemli and Ema J. Adams in home economics.

Faculty members were instrumental in planning the facility. The 15 classrooms are arranged so that all related classes are located in the same area. All offices are centrally placed on the main floor. Each class has at least one wall of bright color and is equipped with an observation window leading to the hall.

An overhead utility system will facilitate future changes as they become necessary.

The building is designed in an offset T shape, with the noise and dirt of the heavy shops at the top of the T, away from other classrooms. There will be an elevator and exhaust and dust collection systems when installation is complete.

Special features of the new building include the Rodgers Warner Lecture Hall, a lecture amphitheatre with tiered bench type seating for over 70. Dr. Edmunds said continuing education courses for the Wayne area will be offered in the lecture hall by the home economics department.

The hall was named for former home economics professor Erma J. Rodgers on the faculty from 1956 to 1970, and the late Ida Warner, faculty member from 1945 to 1968.

The E. J. Huntermer Research Laboratory will provide facilities for industrial arts experimentation and research. The physics department may also make use of the laboratory, said Edmunds.

The late E. J. Huntermer, on the faculty from 1910 to 1938, was also a board certified architect and designed all the buildings added to the campus while he was here.

The child development lab is fitted with one-way mirrors and a communication system which allows teachers, teacher aids and parents to observe youngsters without being noticed. This lab may provide for expansion of studies in the counseling area.

Benthack Hall cost the state $1,080,000.

Injured Youths Are Improving

Two Wayne youths involved in one car accident last week were reported in improving condition.

Mark Powers was in satisfactory condition at a Sioux City hospital Saturday morning, but still remains in intensive care.

Powers suffered a double fracture of the left leg and cuts and bruises when the car he was riding in went out of control, skidded off the west side of Highway 15 and rammed into a utility pole just north of Wayne.

The driver, Brian Magnuson, is in fair condition, according to officials at the Wayne Hospital. He sustained a fractured pelvis and minor cuts and bruises.

Two other passengers in the automobile, Scott Glassmeyer and Larry Creighton, both of Wayne, were treated and released from the Wayne Hospital.

With Those Kind of Friends...

ALLEN's Kim Jackson found out it doesn't pay to be a girl near a watering tank on a hot day at a county fair with a bunch of teenage boys standing around looking for something to do to have a little fun. She ended up being picked up, stretched out and pushed under the cool water, coming out soaked clean through almost to her toes. Her friends, who treated her to the bath Wednesday afternoon at the Dixon County Fair included Scott McAttee, Anthony Brown and Jim and Todd Kuester. She was one of several youths who got the treatment in the watering tank, and the cattle standing close by didn't even seem to mind. GRASSROOTS OPINION
New Haven, Ind., Allen County Times
Sometimes it seems that permissiveness is getting way out of line. In a court case of a man charged with kidnapping and molesting young girls, the defending attorney said he wouldn't have done it if they hadn't been walking down the street by themselves. What kind of a defense is this? It is ridiculous that a woman should not be able to walk down the street without being kidnapped or molested. In this case, the victims were accused of wrongdoing instead of the person charged with the crimes.

A single line in Defense Secretary James Schlesinger's voluminous Annual Report tells us that the U.S. will have almost 8,000 strategic nuclear warheads in mid-1974. Now, that statistic doesn't mean much to Joe and Jane Citizen not, at least, until you pick it up, turn it around, and give it a good hard look in the eye.

Don't you think there's a limit to how many times they can make the rubble bounce? We've come a mighty long way since 1960 when Dr. Jerome Wiesner, who would become President Kennedy's science adviser...

This Administration is not content with either the existing numbers of H-bombs we can rain on potential enemies or the existing vehicles which carry these bombs. Now the Administration wants to sell us the B-1 bomber.

Just by themselves, the B-1 bombers would carry more than 5,000 H-bombs. They would also cost between $11 and $20 billion, depending on whose estimates you want to believe.

Even from a purely military point of view, the B-1 is of questionable value. Land-based missiles reach their targets in 30 minutes, submarine-launched missiles in 15 minutes. The B-1 would get there in 8 hours. What would it find to attack? And if the Soviet anti-aircraft defenses weren't knocked out, B-1s would be very vulnerable to SAM missiles.

All-Stars train in 'All-Star' town

Lincoln

The people of Wayne have again proven themselves to be super hosts to the North All Star Basketball team. Through the combined efforts of the community and the college, Wayne continues to provide the North All Star Basketball team with training facilities and atmosphere conducive to developing a cohesive team from 12 individually outstanding basketball players.

The Nebraska Coaches Association thanks the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, the Wayne Kiwanis Club, the Methodist Men's Group, Wayne State College, those who participated in the ice cream social, the management and employees at Bill's Cafe and all others who helped for all that was done for the All Star Basketball team.

Because of the excellent reception they received in Wayne, the 12 young men and their coaches will be ambassadors for the community for many years. On the part of the community of Wayne and Wayne State College, it was a job well done.

A closer look...

By Norvin Hansen

I DON'T KNOW who baked it, but that pumpkin pie they were serving at the Dixon County Fair last week tasted just like the ones my mom baked when I was a kid.

A piece of that pie with a scoop of vanilla ice cream and a cup of hot coffee just about made me forget the sore feet I acquired while walking around the grounds looking for kids to photograph.

Photographing those kids is what makes covering a county fair more fun than work for me. They are proud of their achievements during the past year, and they appreciate somebody being interested enough to come out and take their picture. Just wish we had more room in the newspaper to use more pictures of those kids, but we have to settle for some of the ones generally considered most important - dress revue winners, top livestock producers, best singers and the like.

Should mention that any of those pictures used in the newspaper are just waiting in our files to be given away to whoever wants them. It's first come, first served, however, so if you would like one of them you should stop in and pick it up as soon as possible. They are free, but we can make additional pictures for a fee.

THANKS go out to Roy Stohler and all the others at the Northeast Station near Concord for the help they gave in getting results of the county fair printed in the newspaper as soon as possible. They do a fine job in going through all those cards, compiling the information and getting it out to the area newspapers. If it weren't for them, those results probably never would get printed.

ALLEN'S Merle VonMinden says he is going to quit perching under his feed bunk when he's caught outside in the rain.

Tuesday night a bolt of lightning hit the feed bunk, ripped off some shingles, killed two steers and made one other steer "plenty wobbly" for a while.

The lightning hit about 9 o'clock and sounded "like a shotgun going off in the house," he said. When he checked a little while later, he found the dead steers and the other one bawling and wobbling around.

It wasn't even a bad storm, Merle said.

WAYNE HIGH graduate Stacy Swinney has been notified that he is to report Sept. 16 in Lincoln for a physical now that he is one of about 10 per cent of the applicants to be accepted for training as a state patrolman.

Swinney, a 1966 graduate of Wayne High, has been a deputy sheriff in Brown County for the past seven months.

If he makes it through the training and probationary period, he will be one of the few state patrolmen ever to come out of Wayne—that's unusual, considering how large this town is.

THOSE of you who can get the state's educational television station on your TV sets can share in some of the state fair fun when it starts in Lincoln the end of this month.

Highlights will be presented each evening at 7:30. Among the events to be covered: 4-H dress revue and song contest, tractor pull, beef show, horse show and the like.

Violations of city ordinances won't continue

By Mayor Freeman Decker

Strict law enforcement is the key to a clean, well-governed city, and I am determined to make Wayne a city in which people will feel safe at all times and a city of which we can all be proud, even if this means stepping on the toes of some individuals.

The most frequent complaints I have received in my short tenure as mayor have been as follows, listing in order of their frequency: speeding, noise (horn honking and "leaving rubber"), zoning violations and weeds.

There are over 26 miles of streets in Wayne and obviously our police cannot be everywhere at the same time, but I will instruct our police chief to step up the use of radar to intercept speeders and to intensify efforts of his officers to ticket those who drive up and down our streets honking their horns at others who apparently can find nothing else to do but honk in return. Admittedly, this will not be an easy task but one I'm sure can be accomplished. Perhaps court appearances in lieu of warnings may be the answer.

It appears that the number of violations of our zoning ordinances are becoming more common. These must be stopped, and again I will instruct our police department to warn these violators once. If the situations are not corrected, court appearances will be required - this plus a request that the zoning board consider action against the violators.

The long drought has caused our city to start looking ragged, this caused by the fact that the grass-quit growing but that weeds seem to thrive. I would hope that every property owner will ask himself if he is proud of his lawn. I appeal to each and everyone to do his part in making Wayne a beautiful city. Again, I have asked the proper authorities to be alert for violations of our weed ordinances.

Our ordinances on unlicensed vehicles are very clear, and again our police will be instructed to ticket those violating these ordinances.

I have had some complaints of "police harassment." I have no sympathy for those making such a claim. Past illegal or questionable activities only serve to cause police officers to be more alert to the activities of those charging harassment. Probably the charge of harassment is only a case of a guilty conscience.

I think that what I'm saying here is that I'm issuing a warning to potential violators that continued violations of our ordinances will be prosecuted vigorously. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

WINSIDE QUARTERBACK Tyler Frevert, tabbed by coach Doug Barclay as his best prospect for the coming season, gets ready to hand off to his backfield during a scrimmage.

SPORTS

WATCHING his Wildcats, Wayne State coach Don Stollenberg checks to see that everybody is quick to start a charge down field in football practice.

Landowner Plight Hunters Problem Too

As always, Nebraska's hunters will be expected to be courteous and careful guests when going onto private property of the state's farmers and ranchers. But this fall, in particular, hunters should make special efforts to understand the plight of their hosts, according to the Game and Parks Commission.

For many landowners, what with drought-dried crops and low prices, the prospect of hunters on their property is a bit more reluctant to let hunters enter certain parts of their land, over their buildings and machinery, and among any remaining crops and livestock.

I am sure that most of the landowners will again be neighborly in dealing with hunters this fall. I am confident that hunters known by farmers to be good sportsmen will have no trouble. And it seems to me that landowners will be able to recognize a stranger as a conscientious person if he asks permission to hunt and acts responsibly.

This has been a hard year for many hunters. Many hunters will again be neighborly in dealing with hunters this fall. I am confident that hunters known by farmers to be good sportsmen will have no trouble. And it seems to me that landowners will be able to recognize a stranger as a conscientious person if he asks permission to hunt and acts responsibly.

Hefty Line Bolsters Cats' Balanced Offense

By BOB BARTLETT
Balance and simplicity best describe Winside's offensive attack for the 1974 football campaign. Balance in that the Wildcats will be going both on the ground and in the air; simplicity in that coach Doug Barclay intends to reduce the number of plays. The second year head mentor figures reduction and balance to be the key to his line. If his five-man front line stays healthy, it will average about 210 pounds per man. The hefty line includes guards Dennis Newman and John Mangels, 5'11, 235 and 6-0, 195 respectively; tackles Mike Anderson and Brian Wade, 6-4, 225 and 6-1, 210; center Greg Carstens, 5'11, 190.

That line should give junior quarterback Tyler Frevert enough time to effectively execute the run pass option from the team's wishbone formation, said Barclay. The backfield will have speed and muscle. Dwight Lienemann will provide the strength as the 6-2, 180 pound senior charges up the middle. Another senior, Gregg Lage, has the speed, clocking 40.8 seconds in the 40-yard dash. Barclay hopes changing his Lewis and Clark all conference player, junior, Bob Hoffman from center to tight end will make the difference in passing. The 6-0, 175 pounder is quick in addition to being strong, Barclay admits. Another 6-foot player, senior Terry Luhr, and 5-5 junior Bob Bowers, will be vying for the split end job. As in the case of most Class C teams, most of Winside's offensive players will play defense, Barclay said. Winside is picked to be a title contender along with Coleridge and Wausa. But those title hopes could be diminished if injuries keep the top players from appearing after the first string, leaving mostly freshmen and sophomores to take over. Assisting Barclay this year are Carter Peterson, offensive backfield and defensive secondary and Mike Jones, ends and specialty teams.

Winside's schedule
September — 6 at Neligh, 13 at Tilden, Elkhorn, Valley, 20 at Allen, 27 at Hartington
October — 4 at Wausa, 11 at Panola, 18 Norfolk Catholic, 25 at Coleridge
November — 1 Osmond, 8 Wynot

Schultz-Led '9' Is Second in Nation

What a difference a grand slam makes! The difference between a national championship and second place. That's what happened Thursday night to the Boulder (Colo.) Collegians team coached this summer by Larry Schultz, who otherwise is Wayne State baseball coach. The Collegians reached the finals of the National Baseball Congress tournament at Wichita, Kan., going against the Fairbanks (Alaska) Goldpanners. Both had lost once in the eight team double elimination grand.

On the way to the title game, Schultz's Collegians — a team loaded with some of the nation's finest university players — had won six of seven games by a combined score of 53 to 5. Their one loss was 4-1, to the Mississippi entry. The Collegians pulled up to a 2-2 tie in the title game fourth inning. Then in the sixth, after the Goldpanners had loaded the bases, Schultz sent in a relief pitcher. His first pitch sailed out of the park and the batter achieved

Wayne's Class B state legion baseball champs will be honored at a special dinner Wednesday night by the Wayne American Legion post. The 7:30 p.m. dinner at the Veteran's club will be for Legion players and their parents only, according to Loren Ellis, of the Legion planning committee. During the dinner, the post will present certificates and team pictures to each player from the Ford Motor Co. Also present for the awards will be Leo Corbin of Hooper, member of the state Legion athletic committee.

Clubs Repeat in Playoffs

For the second consecutive year the top four teams in the Pro Division of the Wayne County Club men's golf league will be playing for the post-season playoff crown. Teams 2, 4, 5 and 15 advanced to semi-final play after beating the top four teams in the Con division last Wednesday. However, both Teams 3 and 15 had to go sudden death, to win their berths.

Team 5 (Jim Marsh, Bud Froehlich, Gene Cornett, Jack Brownell) tied Con division season leaders Teams 24 (Darrel Fuebberth, Dale Gutshall, Leonard Nicol, Kent Hall) with two wins each. The same held true for Team 15 (Arnie Reeg, Joe Nuss, Harold Matney, Fred Brink) when it tied Team 22.

Scribner Ousts Wayne, 4-3

Scribner's run-scoring single in the bottom of the eighth overshadowed Wayne hurler Randy Benish's two-run homer in the same frame as Scribner knocked the locals out of the eight-team Dodge County baseball tournament Friday, 4-3. Benish unloaded the round tripper in the top of the eighth with left fielder Bruce Lange on first to tie the ball game at three each. But the tie was short-lived as Scribner's pitcher blasted a double to score a runner from second. Team manager Hank Overin said Benish intended to walk Scribner's pitcher after he singled the last time at bat, but

"the ball slipped down the gut" and drove in the winning run. Scribner took a 3-0 lead after five, scoring once in the fourth on a single and twice in the fifth on a pair of two-baggers. Benish led Wayne players with two runs, the first scoring in the top of the sixth to put Wayne on the board, 3-1. Benish walked to first, then advanced on first baseman Bob Weisenberg's single before scoring on an error. Altogether Scribner had nine hits and Wayne had six in the second day of the tournament. Leading hitter for Wayne was shortstop Terry Lutt with two singles in three at bats. Two other Northeast Nebraska Baseball League members, Homer and Newcastle, were knocked out of the tourney. Homer went down to Garland (a group of players from Nebraska Wesleyan University and the University of Nebraska, Lincoln), 3-2, also Friday; and defending tournament champion Newcastle lost to Dodge, 2-0, Thursday.

Dalton: Wayne Still Young But Stronger in 2nd Season

In her first year as head coach of Wayne High's girls volleyball last year, Mavis Dalton stressed hard work and team play, especially in the freshmen level. Perhaps she made the freshmen girls work a little harder than they should have, Mrs. Dalton said, but she expects the dividends to pay off this season.

"We'll be young again this year, but strong," Mrs. Dalton admitted, pointing out she has only one senior and 10 juniors out of 40 who reported to practice sessions last week.

But of those, 13 sophomores will be leading the pack of experienced players. Steph Dorcay, the only sophomore girl to letter plus junior letter winners Kris Nedergaard, Susan Jacobmeier and Mary Kovensky are regarded as Mrs. Dalton's team leaders as the Blue Devils head into their second season. Mrs. Dalton added her freshmen also should be good this year, with 16 reporting.

Last year the emphasis was on solid team play, Mrs. Dalton explained. Now she intends to emphasize more on spiking and serving.

Wayne gets its first test Sept. 3 in a home match against last year's state entry, Pierce Pierce will provide one of the team's toughest games, Mrs. Dalton said, adding Winside and Norfolk also should be strong. Wayne's schedule:

September—10 at Stanton; 17 Winside; 17 Randolph; 24 at Norfolk

October—1 Norfolk; 10 Winside; 15 at Hartington Cedar Catholic; 21-22 West Husker play off, East division, host

November—4-8 Class B district tournament; 15-16 state tournament.

Coach Wants Spiking

WAYNE HIGH VOLLEYBALL girls go at furious practice action under the inspection of coach Mavis Dalton.

Hunters

Johnson outlined some rules of etiquette that hunters should keep in mind when they obtain permission. They include: Tell the landowner your intentions and clear it with him if you change your mind. Don't give him the impression that there will be three hunters in your party, then show up with eight. Don't tell him you want to hunt squirrels and rabbits, then feel you can take pheasants, quail, waterfowl, or big game without checking with him again.

Do not assume that permission to hunt granted for one day or a weekend extends for the entire season, unless the land owner agrees to these specifically. If you have permission for the entire season, stop and visit with him periodically anyway. He may want you to stay away from certain areas for a few weeks because he has moved his livestock or for some other reason.

Always leave the land exactly as you found it. Pick up your shell casings, lunch wrappings and any other trash you might be tempted to leave behind. Close gates behind you, unless you found them open.

Observe the law and rules of hunter safety. Do not endanger him, his family, or his property by careless gun handling. The law and common sense prohibits hunting within 200 yards of his home unless he specifically authorizes it.

Do not drive your vehicle where it would make ruts or wear-up fields, and do not park where you might block lands or gates or otherwise interfere with his work.

Learn boundaries of his land well, and do not alienate his neighbors by straying onto their property without permission.

Gene Quist Wins

Dixon Car Bash

Gene Quist, a Dixon driver, won the $150 first place prize in Wednesday's demolition derby at the Dixon County Fair at Concord.

Quist outlasted 12 other drivers to claim the prize. Another Dixon driver, Bill Moore Jr., placed second, earning himself a $100 prize. Ken Everingham of Wakefield won the third place $50 prize, and Fred Moore of Dixon claimed the $75 fourth place money.

Also competing in the derby but failing to place were Randy Wees, Larry Nobbe, Lynn Carlson, Steve Martindale, Gary Anderson and Warren Hanson, all of Concord. Mark Meyer, of Wakefield, and James Ercoss and Gale Hamilton, both of Dixon

Also in the four team semifinals are Pro season leaders Team 2 (W. F. Finals and a consolation round are slated for Sept. 4.

The dominant ram in a herd of Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep usually gets the pick of breeding females. National Geographic says "Bull" dominant rams must wage more horn splintering fights with youthful challengers, and consequently can expect shorter lifespans than also rams.

Opps, End of Play

Since the first football game was televised in 1940 (a college game, Maryland vs. Penn.), the game has steadily grown in popularity on the tube unit today, when 20 million sets may be tuned to watch a major contest.

New techniques have been developed to assist armchair quarterbacks to follow the fine points of the game. The "instant replay" allows a slow motion analysis of exactly what happened. "Isolated" cameras focus on players whose actions become more significant after the play has started.

Scouting Activities Planned for Year

Girl Scout activities were planned for the coming year when the Neighborhood Service Team met Tuesday in the home of the outgoing neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Robert Carhart.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Vern Jacobmeier, organizer, and Mrs. David Ley, district advisor for the Prairie Hills Girls Scout Council.

Mrs. Carhart discussed the duties and needs of a neighborhood chairman and organizer, and troop consultants. Mrs. Ja acobmeier gave a report on the leaders and assistant leaders who are currently involved in the scouting program.

A discussion was held concerning the need for local volunteers to assist with troops. It was stressed that adult volunteers need not have a daughter of scouting age.

Persons interested in working with youth are invited to learn more about the girl scouting program by attending the District IV fall round up at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 5 at the Hartington Holy Trinity Grade School. Wayne is included in District IV.

Mrs. Carhart noted that second and third grade girls interested in becoming Brownie Scouts will be contacted through the schools in September. Girls and adults, including junior and senior high girls of Winside, who are interested in Junior, Cadette and Senior scouting, should contact Mrs. Gerald Hazam of Wayne. Members involved in last year's scouting program will be contacted by their leader.

ESU Delays Use of New Office Here

For lack of furniture, the planned opening (Monday) of a new Wayne office for Educational Service Unit No. 1 will be delayed.

Harry Mills, unit director, said remodeling of quarters is complete in the Wayne State College Education Building. Now all that awaits is arrival of furnishing for offices, located in the building's ground floor, west end.

ESU headquarters will remain in Wakefield, with Mills and several other staff members working there. The South Sioux City office also will continue.

The new Wayne office will house eight staffers — three speech therapists, an audiologist, and therapists for the visually handicapped, the mildly handicapped, and the emotionally disturbed, and a secretary. Mills said the speech therapists will be working most of the next two months at schools through the unit's area.

The Wayne office secretary, Mrs. Genevieve Williams, will be on duty starting today (Monday).

Yost Transfers As SCS Unifies

William Yost, district conservationist from Wakefield, has been reassigned to Hartington. The Soil Conservation Service will realign of responsibilities with the transfer.

Cedar and Dixon Counties will be operated as one unit, with Hartington as the headquarters office. The Wakefield office will be maintained as a sub-office, with Carl Anderson, SCS technician, remaining there.

Requests for conservation assistance will be handled from both offices. Yost states that a more efficient operation is expected from the change.

If you've been thinking about a new typewriter for a long time, now's your chance to see what we've been talking about. Ask a Smith-Corona dealer for a demonstration of our unique Cartridge Ribbon Typewriter.

With the cartridge you can change to a color ribbon in just 3 seconds.

In 3 seconds you could change from an ordinary blue ribbon to a carbon film ribbon. That's right, it's so fast for movies and professional printing.

If it sounds possible, it is. Change a normal ribbon that will give you correct errors more neatly and with less effort than ever before.

If you're less thinking about a new typewriter as a work to solve you or for yourself, get for someone else. Here's a demonstration of our unique Cartridge Ribbon Typewriter.

Ag. Bureau Asks Farmers Report

On Crops, Stock

The state-federal division of agricultural statistics is asking some 25,000 Nebraska farmers and ranchers for cooperation in preparing crop and livestock reports.

The reports are the Sept. 11 crop report, Sept. 13 cattle on feed report, Sept. 20 hog and pig report and the annual small grain acreage and production report. They will provide corn, sorghum and soybean production, number of cattle being fattened for slaughter, market hog and pig inventory, farrowing intentions, and the final estimates of acreage and yields of small grains.

Doug Murfield, division director, says farmers express varying attitudes toward the reports, but most farmers see the need for more and better reports because they reveal developing trends and help farmers plan production and marketing schedules. In addition, crop and livestock reports have a great influence on the market, he said, and accuracy and integrity are essential.

Questionnaires were mailed last week. Farmers receiving them can help improve the accuracy of the reports by carefully completing and promptly returning them. By law, all reported information is kept confidential by the Division.
