Demo Candidates Repeat Campaign Ideas at WSC

By NORVIN HANSEN
Former governor Frank Mor rison. Democratic candidate for the post of attorney general in Nebraska, said in Wayne Tues day afternoon that he would ask the legislature to lake the attor ney general out of partisan potitics if he is elected in the
Nov. 5th general election.
Morrison, calling the attorney general the "lawyer for the people," said there is "no way" the person hoding that post can interpret the law. "in a Republican way or in a Democratic way."

Morrison, former three time governor of Nebraska and now Douglas County public defender, criticized University of Nebraska athletic director Bob Devaney for soliciting votes for Morrison's Republican foe in the general election, Paul Douglas of Lincoln.

He said that type of campaigning and the type of campaigning where pictures of policemen are used by politicians seeking office have no place in.

Noting that politics is not Morrison said partisanship has no place in selecting the person who will act as the lawyer for the people, governor, legislature, sthie officials and county officials.

He said he would try to remove the attorney general not from politics but from 'partisan politics' if he is elected in Navember.

Paper Drive Slated Saturday

Residents of Wayne, Winside and Carroll who have been saving their old newspapers may get rid of them Saturday when Boy Scouts from Troop 175 in Wayne conduct their monthly paper drive.

The Scouts will begin collecting the newspapers at 8:30 a.m. They ask that residents of the three communities box or bundle their newspapers and leave them on the curb or in some place where they are basily visible.

Heading up this month's drive are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Emry of Wayne:

By BOB BARTLETT Winside High's football team has little time, if any, to mourn its first loss of the season after Norfotik Catholic defeated the Wildcats, 14-7, Friday night. The reason: Winside steps into conference action — this time possibly for the Lewis and Clark division title. Both host Coleridge and Winside are perfect in loop play — Coleridge 50, Winside 2.0. However, this is the last conference game for Coleridge, If the Bulldogs win, they will meet the winner of the East division for the conference championship. Although the plays that beat the Cats last week were ground gainers, coach Doug Barclay should be prepared for an aerial attack once the Bulldogs take the field. Coleridge proved that against Alleh High last week, collecting about 150 yards on eight completions of 21 pass attempts. The attempts are the significant factor, as the head man probably knows. Winside, ranked first in the conference against the rush as week, was only sixth against the pass — a department where Coleridge was first. Against the pass — a department where Coleridge was first against the pass — a department where Coleridge was first against the pass — a department where Coleridge was forth. Offensively, Coleridge ranked second in both rushing and passing. Winside came in eighth and seventh-respectively. Those stats paint a grim picture for Winside. But stats alone don't fell the outcome of a game, so I'll go with the Cats. Wayne, which nearly wrapped up, the West Husker title with a 29-12 thrashing of Columbus Lakeview Friday, only has one more conference foe to face after last night's (Wednesday) meeting with Emerson-Hubbard. Since Emerson was winless in six games, the Devils should have had little frouble in posting their eighth win. Winside's loss was the only blemish on last week's prepick. Otherwise. Coleridge defeated Allen, 28-6. Onleit! beat Laurel, 27-0, and Wakefield downed Stanton, 33-0, for a 25-6 mark. LOREN BOOK, Allen High School Alten High defensive back Loren Book Friday night showed area football fans that height and weight aren't the only factors that makes a good player.

The 6-0, 150-pound senior showed plenty of determination in stopping the Lewis and Clark Conference's most deadly pass receiver. Randy Papenhausen of Coleridge.

That's why Book, one of cobach Ron Wecker's top choices for all-conference when the season ends in about three weeks, is this week's Athlete of the Week.

Book didn't allow Papenhausen a single reception, something no team has done during the season. The Coleridge receiver was the conference leader in pass receptions last week with an 18-4-yard everage per catch.

"Loren has always been a top performer," Wecker said. In Friday's 28-6 tops to the undefeated division leaders, Book also had the ointerceptions to stop a pair of Coleridge scoring drives.

According to high school, baseball coach Mike Mallette, the W Club is past the haltway point towards its $900 goal. Mallette figures members should have enough money to buy the machine by the Nov 1st deadline.

The new machine should take a load off Stan's mind. Often the old machine would malfunction when throwing a ball, endangering youths at bat. A new machine will eliminate those headaches.

Jef you are confused about when to observe Veterans Day this year; don't feel alone. There are probably many others who feel the same way.

Observing the holiday Monday will be all federal employees in the city, including postar employees. That means curtailed postal service on Monday, just like on the other federal holiday observed earlier this month.

Also observing the holiday on However, businesses are not expected for observe the holiday — If they do at all — until Nov. II, also a Monday.— The retail committee of the local Chamber of Commerce voted Wednesday morning to urge business owners to mark the holiday on Nov. II, the day local veterans organizations plan on observing the occasion. There is a possibility there will be a city-wide half day sales blitz the afternoon of Nov. II, with some stores closing in the morning and others closing long enough to-permit employees to visit graves and take part in any ceremonies planned by local groups. Some other stores, however, are likely to remain open all day.

City and county offices also will be closed on Nov. 11.

Better Study Skills Aim of WSC Grant

College is organizing a pillot program for evaluation of and assistance to college students with problems in the areas of reading and study skills.

NETCHE (Nebraska Educational Television Council for Higher Education) had made such grants to nine of the 15 Nebraska colleges which are NETCHE members.

Development coordinators from each of the campuses involved are attending workshops in Lincoln to-help thems, shops in Lincoln to-help thems, shops in Lincoln to-help thems. The programs and NETCHE reading-learning specialist Mindy Brooks from Lincoln will visit each institution periodically. Lo assist—the coordinators.

Eincom will vision to the Wayne periodically to assist the coordinators.
Coordinator for the Wayne State program is Elaine Knudson, who was named director of counseling this fall.
This term will be spent evaluating the reading and study skill needs on the WSC campus, said Mrs. Knudson, and next term students who could benefit from the program will be invited to enroll in a class which will meet five days per week. Credit will be offered for the class.
The coyrse may include such areas as rapid reading, spelling, writing skills.

There is a possibility that a study skills learning center could develop from such a program, noted Mrs. Knudson. Such a center would continue to help students who are experiening problems but could also serve as a resource center for superior students, faculty members and even the community. Mrs. Knudson received her BAE from WSC in 1962, majoring in elementary education and physical education. She spent a year at the University of Hawaii in Honolulu, where she did a study on the disadvantaged child, and received her MA in psycology, counseling and guidance this summer from the University of Northern Colorado.

He said military spending, monopolies and anti-competitive practices are inflationary and ought to be prime targets. Congressmen and Senators concerned about the nation's most pressing problem.

He also called for tax reform, noting that 'middle and low income people are bearing too much of the (tax) burden.' He said wealthy people and corporations "are just not bearing their fait share" of taxes, resulting in a $50 billion to $75 billion loss to the country's treasury each year. treasury each year

FACA Meets, Learns About State's COGs

State's COGs

Bill Martin, representative from the state office of economic development in Lincoln, was speaker at last week's meeting of the "Northeast Nebraska Family and Community Affairs Council (FACA) at the Northeast Station near Concord. Martin explained how county Councils of Government are organized and their purposes as a governing group. He encouraged members of FACA to become active in bringing local concerns and problems to the attention of the Councils of aged members of FACA- to become active in bringing local concerns and problems to the attention of the Councils of Government.

Martin said that problems such as transportation for the elderly, health services, industrial development and the like are among types of concerns which citizens might present to Councils of Government.

Al Lierz, mental health educator with the Northeast Mental Health Clinic at Norfolk, outlined the functions of the comprehensive health planning bill and the developmental disabilities services bill. Citizens and advisory groups are invited to comment on the bills, he noted.

Mrs. Shirley Arens of Hartington and Chris Hings' of Emerson reported plans for special school programs which FACA will be sponsoring in the Emerson and Hartington schools early in 1975.

Senator Whitney: Moller's state aid figures incorrect

Dear Editor:
The Wayne Herald on October 10, 1974, had an article on state aid to education. The article gunted Walt Moller of Wayne and member of the State Board of Education as saying "that Dixon County schools would receive $920,346 in state aid in 1976-77, some $799,700 more than the county would pay out in sales-income taxes."

laxes.'' Nothing could be further from the Nothing could be further from the truth.

His statement means that people in Dixon County would pay out only $120,646 of sales-income tax for the schools and get back $920,346. The truth is finat Dixon County people will pay out $939,676, instead of $120,646 assuming that the people in Dixon County pay the state average of sales and income taxes the pre pupil for the schools. On this basis, Dixon County people pay put $39,300 more taxes than they get back as state ald.

Also, Mr. Molter states that Wayne County people pay out only $346,300 cales-income taxes and get back $624,713 state ald to public schools. Actually if Wayne County people pay the state average of sales-income taxes per pupil they will pay out $750,212 (not $346,300), thereby paying out $125,500 more than they get back as state ald.

Big errors have recently been found in intermation called a side from this color and the state taxer is the sale and the public people in the sale and the thereby paying out $125,500 more than they get back as state aid.

Big errors have recently been found in information going out from Lincoln to superintendents of schools and to school board members, so this may not be the fault of Mr. Moller.

Alsorin a letter that has recently been sent out to patrons of the Wakefield school by superintendent Muri R. Beller, he states that LB 772 is designed such that the state will pay "50 per cent of the operating costs" of the schools.

This is not true, because one-third of the K. 12 schools in Nebraska will get less than 20 per cent of their operational costs from state_aid. In. Dixon County, the percentage of operational costs paid by the state is as low as 18 per-cent and.

Wayne County as low as 20 per cent.—Ramey C. Whitney, State Senator.

Whitney refers to was-the one reporting on the October 7th meeting of the Wayne-Carroll school board meeting. At that meeting. Moller reported his results of studying what he said were the latest statistics available concerning income taxes paid and net taxable sales register-del in Wayne and Dixon Counties. He later revised those figures, taking into account he state aid received by schools in the two counties in 1973-74. His figures then revealed that Wayne County schools would receive $53,387 more in state aid than residents would pay out in sales and

Reader: never 'dehorn' trees

Wayne

Dear Editor:

Any 'course concerning the care or pruning of trees, or any bulletin or magazine article on those subjects will emphasize two points:

1. Never ever "dehorn" a free. That is, don't just leave stumps of all the branches. The new growth will consist of water sprouts, which are soft wood and extremely susceptible to disease and Insect damage. They also leave the free rugly and structurally unsound.

2. If a branch must be removed, it should be cut off at the base, flush with the trunk. This type of cut heals much better than a stub, which leaves the tree vulnerable to diseases.

The frees in Wayne which have been "dehorned" should be cut down completely rather than tortured to death.

income taxes during the 1976-77 school year. Dixon County schools would receive $435,162 more than residents of that county would pay out in 1976-77, his figured-showed.—He also compiled figures for ning other counties in his district as a member of the state education board. All would receive more in state aid in 1976-77 when LB 772 is fully funded than they would pay out in sales and income taxes, according to his figures.) 'Cattle_slaughter

Dear Editor:
Regarding the killing of calves in Wisconsin:
People everywhere seem to deplore this action. Today a radio news commentator said. "Shooting these calves would not "turn on" people to the problems of the producer."
When our President put the farmer "in the trenches on the tront line" in the inflation battle he misjudged what results he would get from these desperate "soldiers." Most men worry about feeding their family before they worry about feeding their family before they worry about feeding their family before they worry about feeding others. That is survival. That's what this is all about!

It doesn't regulze much common sense or a farmer to realize that destroying any farm commodity in tull view of the public would not "turn on" most people, especially during these times of shortages and inflation. It also requires little intelligence on the part of a farmer to realize there is only one major farm commodity in plenitful supply at this time — cattle. No one is grateful and no no compriments the cattleman for his success in producing an abundant supply in this, great battle against inflation. Instead. This soldier is being slaughtered along with his cattle against inflation. Instead. This soldier is being slaughtered along with his cattle against inflation. Instead fine soldier is being slaughtered along with his cattle against inflation instead fine soldier is being slaughtered for "urn on" other farmers who continue to blindly respond to subtle orders they receive from government and industry controlled data.

Use labor unions as a comparison. Who does a strike "turn on"? How. much waste occurs as a direct result of a strike? Hard feelings exist and often remains, abor unions and "big business" don't often make, new friends in the public, but they sure do prosper!

It finally took mass demonstrations, riots and other radical actions among blacks, indians, even women and students to "turn on" government and business to their inequtilies.

The Wisconsin farmers involved are truly victims of infl tor numan consumption, it government and industry propagands is to be believed!

The family farmer has to invest huge sums of money each year and work long hours to make a living comparable to the average city worker and businessman. Most are willing to face risks of weather, disease, etc. from year to year. Soon, however, we will not tolerate this artificial price yo-yo! Either-we will organize efforts to stop this, or it's move over, city friends, we are coming after your jobs. And since we work for less pay we will get them. — Gary Blecke,

P. S. I'm glad everyone doesn't have complete faith in our elected officials or the morals of big business. I'm also grateful that I live in a nation which allows its people to speak out as I have.

State aid, 3 amendments facing Nebraska voters

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN — The decisions Nebraskans will be asked to make behind the polling booth curtains November 5 will include ... wotes on three proposed amendments to the state constitution. They also — if the State Supreme Court says it is a proper issue for the ballot — may decide if the Legislature was correct in adopting a bill which makes significant increases in the state's share of financing public elementary and secondary schools. The high court, will listen to oral arguments next week on that question and a ruling is expected just before election-day.

If it reaches the ballot, the issue, in an oversimplification, is whether more sales and income tax revenue should be used to replace school funding now paid from property tax collections. The school aid bill — adopted over a veto — has been getting considerable publicity and surely will get a lot more before it reaches the ballot, if it gets there at all

As you recall, the United States and the Soviet Union failed to reach agreement in Moscow on permanent limits for offensive nuclear missiles. Commentary on the failures which hepreferred to call by other names, Kissinger said:

"One of the questions which we have to ask ourselves as a country is what, in the name of God, is strategic superiority? What is the significance of it, politically, military, operationally, at these levels of numbers? What do you do with it?"

The numbers he was talking about were, at that moment, according to the pontanon, 7 and American Heart in the services of the postanon, 7 and American Heart in the postanon Heart in the posta

Unless the momentum of the nuclear arms race is checked within the next few years, Kissinger added, "we will be living in a world which will be extraordinarily complex, in which opportunities for nuclear warfare exist that were unimaginable 13 years ago.

Funny that Henry Kissingers should express these worries. He first came to public attention as a professor by discussing the useful possibilitities of "limited" nuclear war. help this proposal pass.
The amendment would allow the student body presidents from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, the University of Nebraska at Omaha and the University of Nebraska Medical Center sit in on all meetings of the regents.

Center sit in on all meetings of the regents.

The proposal, as it was introduced, would have allowed the students to spill a vote three ways. The sponsor of the bill, Senator Richard D. Marvel of Hastings, agreed to the change when his colleagues said it wouldn't pass out of the Legislature with a student vote. Marvel now is running for governor and has active support from some student factions.

and has active support-from some student factions.

Supporters of the amendment contend-students-rights and activities are directly affected by regent decisors, but the students don't now have an effective way to provide input—or to get an understanding of how the eight board members feel on a variety of issues.

Issues.

Opponents say that may be true, but, if it is, it is a mechanical problem which can be solved without amending the state constitution.

Supporters also contend that a seat on the board would give the student body presidency an extra status which would upgrade the nature of campus politics.

nearly all of them are at least 18 and have a vote in state elections, they don't comprise a significant enough constituency in any of the regent districts to affect the outcome of a race. They also say a student aged candidate for the board usually wouldn't have a good chance of winning an election.

They say the result is that the board members are old enough to be out of touch with general student aftitudes. The presence of three students, even though they don't have a vote, would touch with-general student attitudes. The presence of three students, even though they don't have a vote. whold help the board understand the student position on issues, supporters say.

On the ballot as amendment No. 2 is a proposal to change the starting time for each legislative session. The constitution now decrees that the opening gavel come down at noon on the first Tuesday in January — even if that happens to be New Year's Day.

This year, you will recall, it was New Year's Day and the senators, as anxious as most of their feltow Nebraskans to watch the Cornhuskers in the Cotton Bowl, met at the constitutionally appointed hour and adjourned 11 minutes later.

Amendment No. 2 would call for a 10 a.m. start on the first Wednesday after the first Monday in January. That would eliminate the possibility of any more New Year's Day sessions.

The mid-morning starting time also would allow the legislators to get a little more done on the first day if they were of a mind to:

Supporters claim that in these days of limited sessions (90 days. In the odd-numbered years. and 60 days in the other years) there isn't much sense in vising one of the days for an 11-minute session.

There hasn't been any organized opposition to the proposal, which is essentially housekeeping in nature. The third proposal on the ballot is even more of a housekeeping amondment. If would delete what is called obsolete language from the constitution.

The present wording refers to a two-house legislature and says orders, resolutions and votes should be forwarded to the governor. Legislative officials say there isn't anything called an order in Nebraska's law making procedures and that resolutions shouldn't be subject to guberna torial consideration.

forial consideration. The proposal was offered after Governor J. J. Exon veloed a resolution asking that congressional terms be extended to four years. The governor said that wasn't the business of a state legislature, but the senators said it was an expression of their view and the governor shouldn't have interferred.

Needed: clear information

Elsewhere on this page is a letter to the editor from state senator Ramey Whitney of Chappell in which he contradicts information supplied by a Wayne man concerning the revenue schools in Wayne and Dixon Counties would receive under 18 772

LB 772.

About all that letter does for me is further confirm my belief that the majority of the voters will be going to the polls on November, 5th uninformed, and confused about the state aid to education confused about the state aid to education issue they will have to decide.

It seems unbellevable to me that somebody who has facts and Information available has not been able to put down in simple, understandable English what the bill will mean to people across the state. One side uses figures to show that the bill will be good to this or that county. The other side uses figures to contradict that argument. The result is confusion on the part of the general public, which is being asked to make a decision when they go to the polls on whether to reject or keep the bill.

Uniess some more information is made available before the general election. I am doubtful if. I will be able to vate on the issue. I'm afraid there are going to be a lot of other voters across the slate who are going to feel the same way, And it is a sad time when voters are not informed adequately enough to decide an issue as important as state aid to education.

weed at the right time
I recently talked with a farmer who at different times had used Lasso and Banvel to kill button weeds. He had spent over 59 per acre on chemicals and still had as many weeds as;
before.

He had used Lasso as a preemergence on his corn and buttonweed and then followed up in July with Banvel with no luck.

Juck.
Lassp is not effective against buttonweed. He should have used Atrazine as pre-emergence and then followed up with Banvel or 2.4-D as a postemergence soon after the buttonweeds suon after the buttonweeds emerge. Even with this type of program, it may take several seasons or more to get rid of the buttonweeds.

Luft, of rural Wayne, made the kill with a Winchester 270 from about 50 yards in a heavily wooded mountain area. It was the only elk bagged by the five man hunting party which spent about a week in the mountains. Also in the party were Jim Hruza of Aurora, Dean Busch of Lincoin and Bob Hruza of Aspen. They are braithers and other in-law of the Wayne hunter. Luft said the elk stood about five feel at the shoulders and weighed about 1,000 pounds. The trophy might require reinforcing one of the wails in Luft's home since the head and antlers weigh close to 100 pounds.

UFO's Flying Around Planetarium at WSC

Unidentified thying objects are appearing twice weekly in the skies of the Wayne State College Dale Planetarium.

The current public offering at the planetarium, entitled "UPOs — Fact or Fantasy," reviews the recent history of UPO phenomena and lakes a close look at a number of cases which have received national attention in the past quarter of a century.

The presentation includes a discussion concerning misidentification of UPO's.

"UPO's are often common objects viewed under unfamiliar circumstances, or in some cases, strange atmospheric electrical effects," explains Carl. Rump. director of the planetarium.

The current show concludes with a look at some UPO's which have rever been explained and instructions, to follow. If a UFO's sported.

"UFO's Fact or Pantasy" is being presented each Wednesday evening at 7:30 and each Sunday afternoon at 3:30 through Nov. 24. Special showings for groups may be arranged by writing or calling the college planetarium.
