Voter Interest May Be High For Local and State Issues

By NORVIN HANSEN
Fluoridation issues in several area communities and a controversial state aid to schools bill are expected to bring out more voters than normal in a general election, according to area officials.

Deciding whether they will boost the level of fluoride in their water supplies will be voters in Wayne, Hoskins and Wakefield as time shortens before the state law requiring hikes in most communities' fluoride levels goes into effect.

The bill passed by state senators goes into effect the first of the year unless voters turn down the issue at the voting booth, something most communities across the state have been doing in scattered elections in recent months.

The state aid to schools bill passed over the governor's veto the past legislative session began generating interest across the state as days ticked off before Tuesday's voting.

The bill, LB 772, would hike sales and income taxes for Nebraskans in an attempt to relieve the pressure on property owners in supporting public schools. A complicated bill which is interpreted in several ways depending on which side is doing the interpreting, it would take two years to go into full effect, increasing the state aid to schools from the present $55 million to approximately $160 million.

Readers of The Wayne Herald interested in what local and area residents have to say about those two issues may find their comments in letters printed on the editorial page inside this issue of the newspaper.

Also expected to generate voting activity in Wayne, Allen and Wakefield are school board races—pitting six candidates against each other for three positions open on each board.

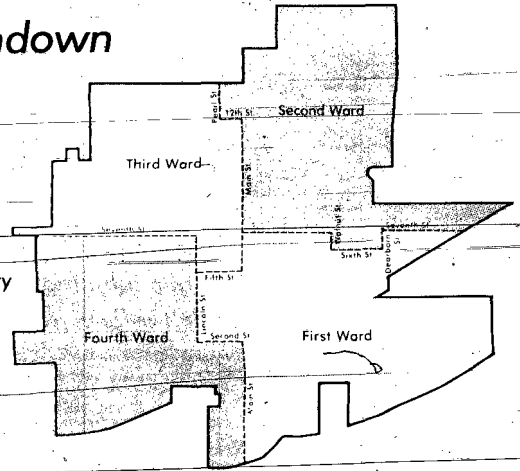

Foes in the Wayne-Carroll school board race are incumbents Margaret Lundstrom of Wayne, Morris Sandahl of Carroll and Wilbur Giese of rural Wayne along with challengers Dale Stoltenberg of Carroll, Dallas Havener of Wayne and Rafael Sosa of Wayne.

Appeal by Area Farmer Against NPPD Proves Costly

A rural Wakefield man who helped direct the fight against the Lake power line constructed between Norfolk and Dakota City last year lost $1,250 by appealing his case to the district court level in Dixon County.

A jury Wednesday awarded Mr. and Mrs. Elton Miller, who farm just west of Wakefield, $1,750 for damages done to their land by construction of Nebraska Public Power District's 230,000 volt transmission line.

Appraisers at the county court level early last year had awarded the Millers $300 in damages after they rejected NPPD's offer to pay them $1,575.

The jury met Monday and Tuesday, awarding the Miller property on Tuesday afternoon before bringing in their settlement the following day.

Miller is one of several farmers in the Wayne and Wakefield area who protested strongly against construction of the power line, arguing that the line would create hazards, disrupt farming practices and prevent pivot irrigation.

In addition, Miller protested because of what he called a landing strip on his land about two miles west of Wakefield.

He and several other area farmers appealed NPPD's easement offers to county courts in both Wayne and Dixon Counties. Some of those farmers as well as

STACY SWINNEY

WHS Grad Among New Troopers

Stacy Swinney, a 1966 graduate of Wayne High School, was among 31 new troopers who joined the ranks of the Nebraska State Patrol Thursday.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Swinney of Wayne, he was one of two members of his graduating class who was given special recognition during exercises in the East Senate Chamber at the State Capitol Building in Lincoln. He received recognition for attaining the highest score in his class for marksmanship.

Swinney, 26, had formerly served as deputy sheriff in Brown County before being accepted for the seven week academic course of study for those wishing to join the State Patrol.

The 31 graduates of the course will now serve six months of in-service instruction after which they will return to the Training Center at Lincoln-Air Park for two additional weeks of classroom study. They are expected to be qualified for solo patrol duty as of May 1.

Swinney will be stationed at Gordon during his six months of training with another trooper.

The group of new troopers represents the 22nd such unit trained during the 37-year history of the State Patrol. The Patrol's current authorized personnel strength of 383 represents a new high.

Wayne State College has awarded Board of Trustees scholarships to 18 WSC students—one junior, one sophomore and 16 freshmen.

The recipients, all from Nebraska, include Brenda Gault, Patricia Emry Anderson, and Dale Beckmann, all of Wayne.

Also named recipients were Dean Troester, Aurora; Kathy Smith, Battle Creek; Debra Neujahr, Beatrice; Claudette J. McMahon, Dakota City; John Frank Schueth, Grand Island; Sally Ann Oberg, Nickerson; Alan Wayne Sipes, Osceola; Terri Lynn Durham, Mary Ballers, Roslyn Kay Nyquist and Deborah Kay Salmen, Omaha; Ronald Paul Morse, Pender; Julie A. Spatz, Plainville; Fred Robertson, Schuyler and Dawn Hughes, Neligh.

Brenda Gault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Gault of Wayne, graduated second in her class at Wayne High School where her activities included pep club, speech, drama, choir, science fairs and contests. A member of the college drama club, she is studying pre-pharmacy and plans to minor in theatre.

Mrs. David Anderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Emry of Wayne. She graduated 11th in her class of 100 at Wayne High School and participated in band and choir, served as a class officer and chair president.

She has a grade point average of 4.0 at WSC. Mrs. Anderson plans a career in medical technology.

Beckmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Beckmann of Wayne, was 10th in his graduating class at Pender High School. A junior at WSC, Beckmann has a 3.59 grade point. Involved with intramural sports at WSC and affiliated with Phi Theta Kappa, he plans to major in accounting.

WSC Prof. to Help TV Cover Voting

Dr. Charles Hepburn, professor of history and chairman of the division of social science at Wayne State College, has been invited to comment on state and national races in a Sioux City television station's coverage of Tuesday's election.

Dr. Hepburn will appear on Channel 9 at various times between about 7 p.m. and 11 or 11:30.

Appearing with him as guests will be a former Congressional candidate from Iowa and a political science teacher from the University of South Dakota.

Staff Member at NE Station Gets Association Post

Gladys Stout, home economist at the Northeast Station east of Concord, was one of several section officers named at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Association in Kearney.

Named president of the organization during the meeting, which ended Wednesday, was Phil Cole, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension dairy specialist. Also named were other officers and section officers for specialists, home economists and agricultural agents.

The association includes state and district specialists, county and area agricultural agents, and county and area home economists.

Firms to Start Giving Tickets for Drawings

Although Christmas is more than seven weeks away, Wayne area shoppers today (Monday) will start receiving numbered tickets for the drawings for Christmas Bucks which will start in early December.

Merchants will start giving away the numbered tickets which will win some lucky shoppers a total of $1,500 in Christmas Bucks during the weeks just before Christmas.

The Chamber of Commerce earlier this year decided to award several prizes rather than one or two large ones after sampling public opinion on the subject.

Two prizes of $500 each in Christmas Bucks will be awarded to kick off the promotion and to end it on Monday, Dec. 9, and on Monday, Dec. 23. In between five $100 prizes will be awarded on Dec. 13, Dec. 16, Dec. 17, Dec. 18 and Dec. 20.

The Christmas Bucks awarded in the seven drawings may be spent just like cash in any of the participating stores.

In addition, the regular weekly Birthday Bucks drawings held each Thursday evening will be conducted throughout the Christmas shopping season, offering local and area shoppers numerous opportunities to win coupons which could help ease some of their financial headaches as they go about their gift buying.

All tickets local merchants will give shoppers beginning today will be numbered. Drawings will be conducted each of those seven days. Christmas Bucks will be awarded during December, with the list of numbers drawn posted in all businesses. Holders of any of those numbers will have until 8 p.m. each evening to present their tickets at the Chamber office. That day's prize will go to the person holding the ticket highest on the list.

An added treat this Christmas season will be the appearance of Santa's mobile sleigh in the community on Monday, Dec. 9, from 2:30 to 8 p.m. to give free rides to children. The sleigh is a 42-foot, custom-built affair which features mechanically operated deer which "lope" while the sleigh is driving around the city.

Sleighs will remain open several evenings during December to enable shoppers to do their Christmas buying as they please. Those evenings are Dec. 9, 12, 13, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 23. Stores will close at 4 p.m. on Christmas eve.

'Fluoridation is just like vaccinations for smallpox'

Dear Editor: Fluoridation of water is a very controversial subject especially at this time with many towns in Wayne County, including Wayne, voting on the issue...

Remember, just because our grandparents had false teeth doesn't mean you and your children have to. Nature has supplied us with a chewing mechanism that is far superior to any artificial substitute...

'Where is our tax money going?'

This is a letter to the taxpayers who live outside the City of Wayne. It has been brought to your attention that Wayne County is appropriating $6,000 annually towards the city ambulance maintenance...

'Public meeting didn't inform me'

Dear Editor: If your readers did not attend the public meeting on LB 772 held at the Wayne High School last Monday afternoon, they did not become less "informed" by their absence.

'Tax hike more than it seems'

Dear Editor: An important detail was omitted from the recent Wayne Herald article about LB 772, the Public School Support Act of 1974.

Dear Editor: I would like to remind everyone to vote on Tuesday, Nov. 5. To help avoid confusion on the fluoride issue in this election, I want to repeat that:

OBSERVATIONS

I hope many people in Wayne had an opportunity to watch the panel discussion on fluoridation on Wayne State's television channel Wednesday evening. All four panelists — the two against fluoridation and the two in favor of it — conducted themselves in a manner that they can be proud of.

Letters - Chemist: Fluoride is safe for body

Dear Editor: A recent article on fluoridation written by C. V. Agler quoting Homer C. Roberts from the Sioux-City Journal is full of distortions and I believe that the people of Wayne and nearby communities deserve the facts and straight answers. He seems to completely ignore the scientific research of recent years and is at least 30 years behind in time being a fluorine chemist. I can provide the facts on fluoridation.

Nature adds fluoride by dissolving calcium fluoride, which is an extremely insoluble rock. Nature has millions of tons of this rock salt spread over acres of land and has huge reservoirs of water. If the city of Wayne tried to fluoridate water as nature does, it would take tons of fluoride rock and its bulk would require a huge reservoir. So sodium fluoride, which is very highly soluble in water, is used to fluoridate. Because of its ready solubility, it is easy to control in small trace quantities and is very cheap.

The presence of sodium or calcium (or any other mineral for that matter) in water along with fluoride is not relevant. There is no difference in the chemical or physiological action of the fluoride ion whether it is associated with sodium or calcium or any other metal. The city can't afford the time and space and thereby the money needed for fluoridating the nature's way so the sodium fluoride is used. That is the only reason to use sodium fluoride.

The only other serious charge against fluoridation is that sodium fluoride is used as a rat poison. Any chemical used in excess indiscriminately will kill anything. To kill rats and roaches you need to use equal parts of fluoride (1 ounce of sodium fluoride in 1 ounce of corn starch or flour). Nobody is going to add that much fluoride in drinking water. We are talking about adding one half an ounce of fluoride to one million ounces of water, or an ounce in sixty tons of water. Fluoridation means adding a minute trace and not huge quantities needed to kill rats.

Agler and Roberts talk of some unknown reputable authors and books. I can categorically state that not one case has been substantiated so far in the whole world where fluoridated water (1 ppm) has done any harm to anybody anytime. In trace quantities, fluoride is not only food for your teeth but is safe and economical. — Dr. J. S. Johar, Professor of Chemistry, Wayne State College.

Carriers: bonds are appreciated

Dear Editor: We would like to thank The Wayne Herald for the savings bonds which you gave us during national Newspaper Carrier Week. We were surprised and appreciated the gift. — Sydney Mosley, Greg Mosley.

(Editor's Note: The two Mosley youths, children of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Mosley, were given $25 savings bonds for having delivered more than 17,700 newspapers without a complaint from their customers. The two have been carriers for the Herald since carrier service was initiated by the newspaper in April of 1972. No other carrier has been able to equal that service to their customers.)

'That's sport?'

Dear Editor: I think the picture of two men proudly displaying an elk's head in your October 24th paper was disgusting. It must have taken a great deal of skill for the hunter to kill the 1,000 pound animal from just 50 yards with a high-powered rifle — not unlike shooting a cow in the farmer's pasture. Some sport. — Bambi.

'Main issue is human rights'

Dear Editor: It seems to me that the main issue in the public fluoridation discussion is not a scientific or medical one, but rather is an issue of human rights.

With a few notable exceptions, scientists appear to agree that fluoride taken in small quantities into the body has beneficial side effects on teeth and bone structure without producing cancer. The fluoride content of the city water supply have good will as their motive. But what of the rights of those people who simply do not want to drink more fluoride?

When this nation was founded nearly 200 years ago, it was founded upon the proposition that all men have certain "unalienable" rights and that government is established by individuals themselves for the purpose of protecting these "unalienable" rights. Surely the right to choose what to eat or drink belongs among the "unalienable" rights of an individual and a right which those who govern by duty must protect. If this is so, then government must protect my right to drink fluoridated water if I so choose. But government also must prevent me from forcing my neighbor to drink fluoridated water even if my good will urges me to make him do so for his own health. For, if I were allowed to force my neighbor to drink fluoridated water, that act on my part would violate his "unalienable" right not to drink fluoridated water. Vitamins may be good for my neighbor, but government must prevent me from forcing my neighbor to take them. I am sure nearly everyone will agree with this.

Now if this proposition is sound, would it be right for a majority of voters to use the government as a tool to force their unwilling neighbors to drink fluoridated water when the government has been created to protect, not deny, their right of free choice? Majorities may not justly violate the natural rights of any individual. The fact that this is frequently done does not make it just.

The public water supply belongs to everyone in the community, not solely to those who wish to increase the fluoride content. This is not a matter of protecting each individual in the community against an unsafe water supply. It is simply a matter of some individuals who want fluoride in their tap water trying to force all individuals to drink fluoridated water on the ground that fluoridated water will be beneficial to everyone.

My answer is for those individuals to buy fluoride tablets at the drug store and fluoride their own water at home. We have done this in our home in the past and it is quite inexpensive, simple and effective, and it has the great advantage of allowing my neighbor to retain his "unalienable" right to decide for himself whether or not to do likewise.

I shall vote "yes" for the ordinance to prohibit the adding of fluoride to the water supply of the City of Wayne. — Samuel B. Heppburn.

What about private, parochial schools?

Dear Editor: As I see it those who choose to send their children to private or parochial schools will have an even harder time with the inflated spending and added increase in sales and income tax as provided in LB 772 with no guaranteed significant property tax reduction. — Mrs. Joe Rieken.

Let's all study the issue carefully and vote intelligently Nov. 5. In elections in Nebraska this spring, 135 cities and villages voted to prohibit fluoride in their water and only five voted to have fluoride put in their water so you can see where the feelings of the people of Nebraska lie. — A Concerned Citizen.

'Fluoridation is harmful, costly, violates rights'

Dear Editor: There is evidence in literature proving that artificial fluoridation is not beneficial as claimed, but is harmful, economically absurd and a shocking violation of individual rights. There are increasing numbers of publications warning of the dangers and ineffectiveness of fluoridation. The proponents talk about safety of fluoridation, but there is evidence showing that it is not safe.

The desperate promotion of fluoridation has nothing to do with concern for children's teeth. The chemical industry profits greatly as well as the manufacturers of fluoridation equipment. The dosage of fluoride cannot be controlled when fluoride is in the water whereas if a child is given tablets or drops, it is given in an amount specified by a physician, for it can be bought by prescription only.

Approximately 99.6 per cent of water coming from the taps is not drunk by anybody. Why have all this tax money go down the drain? The city could start a tablet plant for anyone desiring fluoride at a fraction of the cost of putting it in the water and those who shouldn't have fluoride or don't want it wouldn't have it forced upon them.

Do you realize that once fluoride is voted into a city there is no way it can be taken out of your water supply unless the state law is repealed? There could be a lot of upkeep and expense because of replacement of fluoride equipment or breaks in the pipes, etc., for fluoride has a corrosive effect.

Do all of you understand how to vote come Nov. 5? The ballot is worded rather tricky. If you DO NOT want fluoride in your water system, you vote "yes" to the fluoride ordinance. If you DO want fluoride, you vote "no."

Read section 15, subsection 3, of this bill in this issue of The Wayne Herald. This is one thing our school superintendents and school boards are not telling us.

This section says that the legislature must appropriate 10 per cent more each year over the past year's expenditures to fund this bill. The first year, they plan to raise at least $155,000,000 for state aid to education. This alone, they know, will raise our state income tax by at least 36 per cent (from 11 per cent to at least 15 per cent) our sales tax at least 40 per cent (from 2.5 per cent to at least 3.5 per cent).

It is not difficult math, just start out with $155,000,000 and add 10 per cent of it for next year and 10 per cent of that for the next year and so on. What kind of money will they take in taxation in two, three, four or 10 years? Do you want 36 per cent more withheld from your pay check for state income tax now plus a promise of continued increases?

Also, this bill does not in any way guarantee property tax relief or reduction — rather the legislative computer print out shows school districts K-12 as well as K-8 in Wayne, Thurston, Dixon, Cedar, Pierce and most counties around us still hit hard by property taxes.

The only way we can be spared this tax burden is to vote against Measure 300. Not voting will allow this bill to be law. — Mrs. Fred Mann.

HOSKINS YOUNGSTERS decked out in all sorts of funny and ghoulish costumes for the community Halloween party Thursday night. Devil, vampire, and witch costumes might have frightened a few youngsters during the early part of the party, but they soon forgot about them when it came to trying to win candy prizes. Billy Wagner, left, and Paul Davids, both of Hoskins, didn't worry about ghosts and goblins. Their main concern was plucking an apple off a string for a prize.

Shop Early at Bazaar

Area residents who want to start their holiday shopping early should plan a visit to the Wayne Hospital Auxiliary's annual fall bazaar, to be held Saturday, Nov. 9, at the city auditorium.

Items to be offered for sale will include hand made aprons, tea towels, pillow cases and children's toys, in addition to a variety of Christmas gifts and decorations. Other features at the bazaar will include a food fare, white elephant table and candy booth.

Soup, sandwiches, desserts and coffee will be served, beginning at 10 a.m. when the doors open.

Persons who would like to donate gift or handicraft items should contact Mrs. Robert Ben-thack. Mrs. Robert Vakoc will handle candy donations and Mrs. Charles McDermott is heading up the food fare. Cash donations can be made by contacting Mrs. Clifford Wait.

Halloween Party Is Held at Villa

Villa Wayne residents met for a Halloween party Thursday evening with 27 attending. Games furnished entertainment. Jessie Phillips, Etta Biecke and Rena Pedersen receiving prizes.

Ruth Anderson read a Halloween poem and Minnie Heikes, Alice Boyce and Florence Slemers told ghost stories. Group singing was accompanied by Pearl Griffin.

Members of the Villa Wayne Tenants Club met Tuesday with Esther Van Slyke and Nora Netherda serving.

65 at Community Day

About 65 women attended World Community Day of Prayer Services held Friday afternoon at the First United Methodist Church at Wayne.

The Rev. Kenneth Edmonds, host pastor, gave the message. His theme was "Discovering the Aspiring Majority." Rev. Edmonds told members that we aspire to challenge our lives for dreams. If we don't have dreams we perish, he said. Other aspirations to survive are freedom of religion, political freedom, recognition, harmony, dignity and identity. God works through all of us for harmony.

Members of Church Women United held their business meeting prior to the 2 p.m. program. Officers elected to serve for the coming year were Mrs. Ray Schreiner of the United Presbyterian Church, president; Mrs. Joe Reiken of St. Mary's Catholic Church, vice president; Mrs. Harvey Luff of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, secretary, and Mrs. Gaylen Bennett of the First Baptist Church, treasurer. Board members are Mrs. Herbert Niemann of the United Methodist Church and Mrs. Darrell Rahn of Redeemer Lutheran Church.

Outgoing officers are Mrs. Mike Karei, president; Mrs. Howard Will, vice president; Mrs. Joe Reiken, secretary, and Mrs. Harvey Luff, treasurer. Serving on the 1974 board were Mrs. Gaylen Bennett and Mrs. Herbert Niemann.

The next regular meeting of Church Women United will be held at St. Mary's Catholic Church in February.

Winside Girl Qualifies for All-State

A Winside High student has qualified for the all-state vocal and instrumental contest in Scottsbluff Nov. 21-23. Gail Grone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Grone of Winside, will compete in vocal presentations, said Winside vocal and instrumental instructor Mrs. Bonnie Sierken.

A junior, she was among eight of the 55 vocal entrants to earn a trip to the state meet following tryouts Oct. 19 at Creighton. The results, however, weren't known until Wednesday, Mrs. Sierken said.

Also competing from Winside were Deb Westerhaus and Linda Rubeck, both vocal, and Linda Hottel; alto-saxophone.

Over 40 high schools participated in the district meet, including entrants from Allen. Competing from Allen but not placing were Karl Terwin, flute; Lesa Carpenter, baritone sax; and Jeff Creamer, Dan Kluser and Anthony Brown, vocal.

Extension Club Members Meet for Annual Dinner

Fifty-nine extension club members met for dinner Tuesday evening at Borgen's Steakhouse at Crofton. The annual gathering is held for extension club members who have attended the state convention of extension clubs in past years.

Mrs. Francis Janssen of Crofton led the group in opening prayer and song and Mrs. Laurence Liska of Niobrara gave the welcome. Poems entitled "Friendship" and "Be-cause of Friends Like You" were read by Mrs. Janssen.

Readings were given by Mrs. Ray Brounroth of Bloomfield, "How to Behave at a Banquet" and "What's End"; Mrs. Ray Wilkins of Bloomfield, "Democrats and Republicans"; and Mrs. Harold Bushkamp of Crofton, "Whatever Happened to Grandma."

Mrs. Frank Buschkamp conducted group singing and Mrs. Lucian Perk closed with a poem, "Making Friends."

Extension club members attended the dinner from Pierce, Center, Stanton, Hartington, Randolph, Bloomfield, Verdigré, Hoskins, Coleridge, Niobrara, Pigeon, Aureli, Wakefield, Wisner, Howells, Plainview, Neligh, Royal and Clearwater.

Stanton County will host the 1975 friendship dinner.

Cats Win West L-C Crown

Winside High captured its first division title since joining the Lewis and Clark Conference with a 27-12 win over league foe Osmond Friday night.

The Wildcats, who will represent the West half at the conference playoff Nov. 12 at Wayne State's Memorial Stadium, used a balanced rushing attack to secure their fourth loop win and eighth overall victory against one non-conference loss.

Junior Brad Brummels, who led ground gainers with 64 yards, scored twice in the first half on runs of 20-yards and one yard before Gregg Lage gave the Cats a 21-6 command going into the third quarter.

Both teams exchanged touchdowns on their first possessions in the opening quarter. Winside jumped to a 7-0 lead when Brummels capped a 60-yard drive in eight plays and Mike Anderson converted the extra point.

Brummels, who also ran for 11 in the team's first drive, got help from a 12 yard pass from quarterback Tyler Frevert to Bob Bowers on a third and 11 situation.

Osmond struck back with a 64 yard march in seven plays with the aid of a 15-yard face mask penalty that gave the Tigers a first down inside Winside's 30. Blake Moritz, who scored both Osmond touchdowns, made the score 7-6 on a short run—but Neil Wagner preserved Winside's one-point edge when he blocked the extra point.

Brummels, Lage and Dwight Liennemann teamed up for the Cats' next two touchdowns. Lage returned an Osmond punt 20 yards to the 42 where Liennemann carried for 28 of those yards before Brummels broke across the goal.

Lage's theft of an Osmond pass on the 43 put the Cats into scoring range when he brought the ball to the 10. Three plays later Lage capped his drive from the eight for the team's third touchdown.

"The kids played a good steady ball game," said Winside coach Doug Barclay, but the team is hot out of the fire yet. The Cats host improving Wynot Friday night to close the season. "We can't take Wynot for granted. It's a totally different ball club than last year," Barclay said.

Barclay pointed out that if his club can continue its strong running and good passing the Cats will be able to knock off Wynot. Balanced rushing again will depend on Liennemann, who finished second in ground gaining with 50 yards. Lage, who had 35, and Frevert with 27.

Frevert, who was two for five in the air, launched his second completion against Osmond to Bob Hoffman in the third period to set up the Cats' final score from the seven.

Frevert hit Hoffman on a 54-yard bomb to move the Cats from their 17-yard line, and nine plays later Winside had a 27-4 margin. Anderson's fourth PAT missed.

With 1:17 remaining in the game, Osmond's Moritz broke loose from Winside's 36 to score. The PAT failed.

Besides Hoffman's strong oftensive showing, the junior led defenders with 14 tackles and six assists. Brian Wade was close behind with 11 tackles and six assists while Gregg Carstens had 10 drops and three assists. Also finishing high on the tackle charts was Brummels with 13 total tackles.

5-10 Going Into
VB Tourney

Winside High's girls volleyball team will go into the district tournament at Winside tonight (Monday) with a 5-10 record after losing to Newcastle last week.

Both clubs were tied at 10 each in the third game when Newcastle earned five straight points for the win. Despite the loss, coach Don Leighton pointed out his girls played one of their best games during regular season play. Winside won the first game 15-12 before losing the second 4-15.

The B team also fell in three games after winning the first, 15-7. The visitors scored 15-12 and 15-2 victories to drop the reserves to 3-7 for the year.

In C team play, Winside finished the season with a 4-5 mark after beating Newcastle two straight, 15-7 and 15-2.

Late TDs Give Laurel
14-6 Win Over Wausa

Laurel High scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to stage a 14-6 come from behind victory over Wausa Friday night.

Sophomore Mike Dalton and Senior Robin Gade guided the Bears to their second win in seven games after the hosts took a 6-0 lead in the third period.

Dalton knotted the game with about nine minutes left in the contest on a one-yard quarter back keeper before Brad Erwin hit Jon Erwin for the two-point conversion to put the Bears ahead for the first time in the game.

Laurel, going 65 yards in 15 plays for one of the longest sustained drives, was able to keep the drive alive when the Bears converted two fake punts into first downs. Sterling Stolpe threw a 15-yard pass to Phil Dalton for one crucial first down and Wausa was called for pass interference for the other.

threats. Boized said. Stolpe and Brad Erwin were leading rushers with 38 and 34 yards. Phil Dalton and Mark McCoy had 19 and 17.

Friday night the Bears end their season at home against crofton.

According to Boized, Laurel hasn't defeated the Warriors in two years, "so we'll be out to win this game."

It's Good For the Taxpayers of Wayne-Carroll School District

- Compared with the present state aid law, Wayne County Property Taxpayers should receive a reduction of $53,389 in local property taxes in 1976-77 if Measure 300 is endorsed.
- Estimates based on proposed funding levels indicate that by 1976-77 Wayne-Carroll School District could lower property taxes by 19 mills if Measure 300 is endorsed.
- If Measure 300 is not endorsed, inflation could force property taxes far beyond present limits.

Devils Breathe Easier After 15-9 Win Trojans Score Homecoming Win

By BOB BARTLETT
A recovered fumble in Hartington Cedar Catholic's endzone spelled the difference in Wayne High's pushing its unbeaten string to nine Friday night. Defensive end Jack Frehlich, who helped force the fumble by kicker Collin Becker, scored the Devils' winning touchdown midway in the second period to give the Devils control of the first half.

with a strong ground game that saw the visitors use about 18 minutes of the last two quarters. Cedar had the ball for the first six minutes of the third period before punting the ball to Wayne's 21. Cedar held to force the Devils to punt; but a high snap went over the head of kicker Marty Hansen, allowing Cedar to recover on the four. On the next play Cedar's second leading rusher, Bill Pinkelman, broke through for a 15-6 ball game.

Although the try for the two-point conversion failed, the Trojans still had enough steam to start another scoring drive with less than two minutes remaining in the third period. Cedar, behind top ground gainer Jon Wieseler, moved from Cedar's 28 to Wayne's nine before a stiff Devil rush pushed the Trojans back to 16. That's where Cedar kicked a field goal to make the score 15-9 with 4:48 left in the game.

"We knew we had to get the ball and keep it on the ground in order to stop Cedar from starting another long drive," said Wayne coach Al Hansen after Wayne got the needed yardage to move the ball out of its territory to near Cedar's 30. Halfback Marty Hansen escaped several Hartington tacklers on the Trojan's kickoff to race from Wayne's 35 to Hartington's 33.

Wayne appeared to be starting its scoring machine again after moving the ball to Hartington's 19 for a first down, but two penalties pushed the Devils back about 20 yards and the Devils were forced to give up the ball with about a minute left in the game. A Wayne punt put the ball at the 74 and Hartington was forced to go against game plans and go with the pass. Cedar collected its only completion of the night on a fourth and 10 with about 17 seconds left in the game.

"It's Cedar had a passing quarterback I'm sure the game would have been a lot closer," Hansen admitted. The Trojans lost the services of veteran passer Tom Schiefer the first game of the season against Columbus Lakeview when he suffered a broken arm. Since then the 6-3 Trojans, of the West Husker Conference, have relied on the running of Wieseler and Pinkelman. "They have to be the best backs in the conference," Hansen pointed out.

The Trojans' defense held the visitors to only 79 yards for the night, 31 of them on the ground. Torczon credited Nicholson, Dolph, Dan Byers, Chuck Lindstrom and Doug Schwarten, who was filling in for injured defensive back Scott Mills, as the leaders in stopping Emerson. Emerson's only score resulted when Wakefield fumbled on its 37 in the third period. Dale Bowder recovered for the Pirates, and then quarterback Bill Hayes threw a 14-yard TD strike to J. D. Hassler. The PAT failed.

"Following Hoops' touchdown with 11:04 remaining, Hansen grabbed a fumbled PAT kick and ran around left end for the two-point conversion. Hansen has to be another top league runner, collecting 48 yards rushing and nabbing a 42 yard aerial that eventually set up the Devils' second score. With the ball on Wayne's 45, Hansen, who was tackled at Hartington's nine. A personal foul placed the ball at the five, but Hartington forced Mallette to scramble out of the pocket and stopped the Devils at the one. Four plays later Hartington tried to kick from the 10 but for a 14-0 halftime lead.

The Trojans, getting fine front-line blocking, moved the ball in five plays to set up their second TD on a trio of passes to end Pat Nicholson. Nicholson, who caught all Wakefield aeriels for 77 yards, grabbed quarterback Ken Dolph's passes of eight, 12 and 20 yards to put the ball at Emerson's one. Dolph, who scored the Trojans' only PAT in the first half, got the club rolling again in the last period after Wakefield downed a short Emerson punt on the Pirates' 30. With the aid of an 11-yard run by Tim Rouse and a 14 yard aerial to Nicholson, Wakefield reached inside Emerson's five in six plays before where Dolph bulled over for the TD.

"We had excellent gang tackling throughout the game," said a happy Wakefield coach, John Troczon after his club picked up its third win in nine games.

Leading rushers for Wakefield were Loren Victor with 53 yards in 12 carries and Kahle with 32 yards in seven rushes. Dolph finished with 29 yards in seven carries and Nicholson ran once for 14 yards.

WS to Host VB Tourney

Kearney State is seeded No. 1 in the Nebraska college women's volleyball tournament scheduled at Wayne State Friday through Sunday at Wayne State.

Defending champion University of Nebraska-Lincoln got No. 2 seed, Chadron State No. 3, and the University of Nebraska at Omaha No. 4, based on season records, according to G. I. Willoughby of Wayne, tourney director.

The Democratic nominee in the First District has made a number of unfounded charges and allegations about Congressman Thone and his voting record.

Below is a sample of some of those most frequently made "together with their" sources and a brief statement of what the facts are.

Tax Reform

DYAS: "The taxpayer in this district cannot afford two more years of the incumbent's do-nothing record in tax reform." (Dyas undated position paper.)

FACT: Thone has introduced or co-sponsored a score of tax reform measures, ranging from equal tax treatment for unmarried individuals to deductions for the cost of day care. It is not Thone who is doing nothing, but rather the DEMOCRAT-DOMINATED HOUSE WAYS and MEANS COMMITTEE which last reported out a tax reform bill in 1968.

52-0 Scrubbing Ends Eagles' '74 Season

Walthill dashed Allen High's hopes of winning its last game of the season when the visitors dumped the Eagles, 52-0, Friday night.

Walthill taking advantage of an Allen fumble and an intercepted pass, scored four times in the first period while marching to a 40-0 halftime lead.

The Bluejays led by two touchdowns midway through the first period before the Eagles coughed up the ball on their 32 yard line. Two plays later the Jays were on the board again.

Still in the first frame, Walthill grabbed an Allen aerial and converted it into six points after marching 60 yards in three plays.

"After they scored the first two times we were pretty much out of the game," said head coach Ron Wecker after completing his first year with a 2-7 record.

Although Walthill isn't as good as Coleridge, when the Bulldogs beat Allen, 28-6, Wecker admitted that "Walthill is physical."

The visitors showed their scoring punch twice in the second quarter and once each in the two remaining periods. Walthill marched 81 yards in just three plays at the opening of the second period to score before taking a 40-0 command when the Jays took the ball in from 10 yards out on another recovered Allen fumble.

The closest the Eagles got to scoring was to Walthill's 35-yard line late in the second half. Wecker said Allen was able to move the ball that far after the visitors were tagged with three straight 15-yard personal fouls.

Mike DeBorde led Allen with 21 yards of the team's 66 rushing total, while Paul Snyder, returning after a neck injury suffered two weeks ago, got 18 yards in five carries.

Although no defensive charts were available, Wecker noted that Doug Smith and Don Kluever did a good job.

New Study Area Is Generating Interest at WS

A new area of study, offered in conjunction with the elementary master's degree program at Wayne State College, has generated considerable interest, particularly for in-service teachers, according to Dr. Ed Elliott, director of graduate studies.

In January the college began offering weekend study opportunities in special learning disabilities (SLD) for in-service teachers. Because of the interest in the courses, and because of state legislation dealing with study opportunities for disadvantaged children, college officials felt it would be appropriate to establish the lead in offering an MSE in Elementary Education with Specific Learning Disabilities Endorsement.

Requirements for the SLD endorsement are Principles of Learning Disabilities, Identification of Children with Learning Disabilities, Curriculum Modification for the Learning Disabled Child, Instructional Materials for the Mildly Handicapped and Practicum and/or seminars with children in developing skill in curriculum modification, motor development and improvement in language usage.

A spin-off of the SLD courses is their applicability to regular classroom teaching, noted Dr. Elliott.

Considerable interest in the SLD area has apparently been the result of the Title III Project Success program which has been operating in the local public school several years.

Grid Loop To Divide Next Year

The West Husker Conference will divide into two divisions next school year.
League representatives voted to set up two football divisions during a meeting Wednesday afternoon in Norfolk to balance the division.

Wayne High principal Donald Zeiss said the two four-team divisions will consist of larger and smaller schools based on boy enrollment. The loop will exist two years unless the Nebraska State Activities Association causes a reshuffling, he said.

According to Zeiss, the division won't eliminate smaller schools from winning the overall West Husker title. If a small school beats all four larger schools and three in the lower division, that school would advance to the conference playoff.

However, a school in the larger bracket doesn't have to play smaller schools to win the division, he pointed out.

As a result of the shift, Wayne has dropped Wakefield and Stanton from next year's schedule and likely will drop Emerson, Hubbard. According to Zeiss, the Devils' schedule may drop from 10 to eight games next season unless Wayne can pick up two opponents.

Presently, athletic director Harold Maciejewski is trying to set up games with O'Neill and Tekamahla Herman, both Class B schools.

2 WSC Students Named To Posts at D.C. Confab

Two Wayne State College students were named to leadership posts during the first annual Youth for Federal Union (YFU) conference held at Washington, D. C., Oct. 11-14. James Hepburn, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Hepburn of Wayne, was elected regional director and will supervise college campus YFU organizations in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and South Dakota. Patrick Meuret, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Meuret of Brunswick, was named Nebraska field director and will help organize campus YFU organizations throughout the state, giving lectures and maintaining contact with regional and national headquarters.

Dr. Hepburn, professor of history and chairman of the WSC social sciences division, was asked to serve as national educational advisor for the YFU.

YFU is a branch of Federal Union, Inc., a private, non-profit organization designed to promote the idea of a federal union of nations dedicated to human liberty, primarily the Atlantic democracies.

Among world leaders who support the movement are Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, Senator Barry Goldwater, Senator Hubert Humphrey, ex President Richard Nixon, and Senator Gale McGhee, a WSC alumnus.

Conference speakers included international banker Winthrop Oppenheimer of New York and General William Westmoreland. About 40 persons attended the conference.

Q. I am attending college under the Veterans Administration's program for orphans of deceased veterans. I married two months ago and am wondering if my educational allowance will be increased?
A. Sorry, no. The VA is not authorized to pay additional educational assistance to dependents of participants in that program.

Q. How many spinal cord injury treatment centers and prosthetic treatment centers does the Veterans Administration have?
A. As of September, 1974, the VA had 16 spinal cord injury treatment centers and 20 prosthetic treatment centers for amputees, geographically located around the country.

Q. When I was discharged from military service last month, I took out a Service Disabled Veterans Insurance (RH) Life Insurance policy. Does the Veterans Administration pay dividends on this type of policy?
A. No. RH insurance is not a participating policy because the extra risk costs are paid by the government.

Q. I am attending college under the Veterans Administration's program for orphans of deceased veterans. I married two months ago and am wondering if my educational allowance will be increased?
A. Sorry, no. The VA is not authorized to pay additional educational assistance to dependents of participants in that program.

TERRY BAILEY

Tri-Cog Selects Bailey for Post

A 1972 Wayne State graduate has been named Administrator of the Tri-Cog Council of Governments.

He is Terry Bailey, 26, who will head the Tri-Cog office in Hartington. Bailey, who started Friday, was selected out of eight candidates during a special board meeting Monday night at Hartington.

According to Allen representative Ken Linafetter, Bailey will receive $9,000 a year. Bailey's job includes working with village and city governments in Dixon, Cedar and Knox Counties which belong to Tri-Cog. Bailey will assist in acquiring federal grants and funds in addition to filling out applications for state assistance.

Before graduating from Wayne State, Bailey served as administrative intern under Wayne city administrator Fred Brink. Both Bailey and his wife Mary Jo, live in Wayne. Mrs. Bailey is a senior at Wayne State.

First District: Hess Dyas

Inflation runs rampant, defying government to stop it, and while it may be argued that the Democrats control Congress, Nebraska's First District is not represented by a Democrat; the voters here have only Rep. Thone to call to account.

High standards of conduct gave way to corruption at the highest levels of government and whereas Thone is as scrupulously honest as a person as he is undeniably partisan, during the long nightmare of Nixon's fall he was a conspicuous fence-sitter, failing to condemn the fact of corruption or the taint of it in a forthright and timely manner.

The "trust Thone" slogan wears a little thin in a couple of places. Nebraskans can't blink at the fact that Thone was loath to go on record for impeachment, holding out until the last minute, but quick to support the pardon, which established a double standard of justice condemned by a majority of Americans. Nor can Nebraskans blink at Thone's going on record as saying he has "implicit trust" in G. Bradford Cook, the native Nebraskan and former Securities and Exchange Commission chairman who faces possible disciplinary action at the hands of the Nebraska bar for lying to a grand jury. Nebraskans suffer from a pattern of politics as usual at the national level, and Charley Thone is part of that pattern.

The Thone voting record in the House is one marked by inconsistency. While decrying foreign aid in principle Thone, when he had a chance to do something about it, did not support the attempt to override President Ford's veto of a bill cutting off military aid to Turkey. He has on various occasions voted to adopt legislation relating, for example, to consumer protection, clean air, legal services and older American programs, but only after voting to gut such bills of essential provisions. It is a time-honored political trick, but not one beyond criticism.

Regrettably, Thone, who during his two terms had maintained open communications with public and press in Nebraska, has become quite shy during the campaign, avoiding debate with his opponent and requests from the media with calculated frequency. Again, it is a time-honored practice of incumbents during campaigns, but not one beyond criticism.

Dyas, like Thone, takes a basically conservative approach to government spending. In a word, he favors cutting it in order to help dampen inflationary fires and balance the budget. But Dyas appears to give more thought to balancing needs; if won't do to junk some programs while maintaining high spending levels for some sacred cows, Dyas asserts; there is waste in all parts of the budget, so let's identify it wherever it exists and remove it.

Particularly important, we think, in reversing the inflationary tide are efforts to plug tax loopholes so as to equalize the tax burden among all Americans and the investigation of monopolistic practices which might lay bare price fixing and artificial shortages. Both rank at the top of Dyas' priority list.

Dyas has prepared thoughtful positions on major issues of interest to Nebraskans: from fighting inflation to a coherent agricultural policy and help for the family farm to health care and programs for the elderly to tax equity and reducing spending. Admittedly, Dyas is not tested by the fire of elective office. It is one thing to espouse a program and quite another to carry it off while trying to avoid the pitfalls of congressional pettifoggery.

But we think there is hope in a fellow who walks the district and listens as much as he expounds. And who would go to Washington with no strings attached.

It is The Star's opinion that Hess Dyas offers the voters of the First District an excellent opportunity to break the pattern of undistinguished representation in Congress to which nebraskans have been accustomed for so long.

Dixon Man Injured in Car Wreck

A two car head on collision on Highway 35 about three miles southwest of Hoskins resulted in a Dixon man and a Norfolk man being hospitalized.

Ronald Peters of Dixon suffered lacerations and William Hoffman of Norfolk received a dislocated hip and facial injuries when their vehicles collided about Wednesday.

According to state trooper Roger Boardman of Norfolk, Peters was traveling northeast when he attempted to pass another vehicle on the rain soaked highway. Both Peters and Hoffman collided when they turned off the highway onto a shoulder.

Peters and Hoffman were taken to a Norfolk hospital by the Hoskins rescue and squad.

This Is A Letter Supporting FLUORIDATION From The Mayo Clinic!

October 3, 1974

Mayo Clinic
Rochester, Minnesota 55901

G. Herbert Seberg, D.D.S.
Committee on Fluoridation
P. O. Box 787
Hastings, Nebraska 68901

Dear, Doctor Seberg:

Thank you for your letter of September 26, 1974. You were quite right in stating that the Board of Governor's of the Mayo Clinic recommended fluoridation of this community water supply. The position of the Board of Governor's of the Mayo Clinic was made known to the City Council of the City of Rochester, Minnesota on May 14, 1959 when Mayor Alex Smejka asked for the position of this institution on the subject of fluoridation:

"Answering your inquiry, the Board of Governor's of the Mayo Clinic recommends that fluoridation by established techniques be approved for the water-supply of the City of Rochester. This recommendation is based upon the conclusive scientific evidence in favor of fluoridation and is in concurrence with the conclusions reached by the United States Public Health Service, the American Dental Association, and the American Medical Association."

The water-supply of this community has been fluoridated since March, 1968. The water supply in this City of Rochester, Minnesota continues to be fluoridated. The drinking water supply of the Mayo Clinic and the hospitals is supplied by the City of Rochester.

We continue to support the utilization of this proper health measure.

Sincerely,
Joseph A. Gibilisco, D.D.S.
Chairman, Department of Dentistry

Foreign Aid

DYAS: "Hess Dyas criticized Rep. Charles Thone Friday for the latter's reversal on the foreign aid issue and ultimate support of aid for Turkey." (Lincoln-Star, October 12, 1974.)

FACT: Congressman Thone has voted against military and economic foreign aid since first being elected to the Congress. He believes much of the money is wasted and much of it never reaches those for whom it is intended. He has supported, however, special appropriations for the humanitarian relief of suffering people overseas. Most recently, he voted for such appropriations for the people of Nicaragua, Pakistan and the Sahel region of Africa. In September of this year he twice voted to cut off aid to Turkey. When President Ford personally talked with Thone and told him a 60-day extension could be helpful in obtaining a Greek-Turkish settlement of the Cyprus crisis, Thone voted for it.

Grass Kill at Golf Course Ends in Suit

Wayne Country Club officials have filed suit in Wayne County district court in an attempt to get a financial settlement for alleged damages done to the golf course from application of a herbicide at the local drive-in theater.

Club officials are asking for $10,000 to replace the damaged ground and grass across Highway 15 from the Dudge Ranch Drive-In Theater a mile north of Wayne.

Listed as defendants in the suit are Jack March, owner of the drive-in; Bob Sherry, owner of the local business which allegedly sold and applied the herbicide; and Du Pont Nemours E. I. and Co., supplier of the herbicide.

The suit charges that runoff following application of the herbicide sometime in May damaged 64,000 square feet of vegetation.

The herbicide was "soil sterilant" and the defendants were "negligent" for applying it and for not taking care to pick a herbicide which would not harm country club property which it ran onto following rains, according to the suit. The suit charges that the defendants "should have known" that rainfall would carry the material onto country club property.

The suit was filed in district court on Monday.

Drive Near $10,000

This year's Community Chest drive was just a few dollars short of $10,000 Saturday morning as donations continue to trickle in.

A total of $9,896 had been collected by the weekend, about $1,500 short of this year's goal of $11,400, reports drive secretary Vera Hummel.

The drive could easily go over this year's goal if the volunteer workers make calls on all the people they have cards for, said Mrs. Hummel. Some 240 people in the city have yet to be asked to contribute to the drive, she noted.

Benefiting from the fund drive will be the city's recreation program, Wayne Senior Citizens Center, Red Cross, Girls Scouts, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, Arthritis Foundation, Florence Crittenton Home in Sioux City and the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

Wakefield Crowns Royalty

Cindy Johnson and Charlie Leonard were chosen as the queen and king to reign during Wakefield High's homecoming activities Friday.

The two were named during ceremonies Friday afternoon at Wakefield's elementary building before an estimated crowd of 200 people.

Cindy, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Peterson of Wakefield, and Charlie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Leonard of Wakefield, were among six candidates selected for the honor. First runners-up were Jana Dahlgren and Pat Nicholson, while Nancy Carlson and Pat Nicholson were second runners-up.

Following the crowning of the king and queen by last year's royalty, Marcia Leonard and Don Lindstrom, the high school's vocal groups, Patriots and Triple Quartet, sang "Aquarius" and "Going Out of My Head."

AFS Sale Of Books Is Thursday

Wayne's chapter of the American Field Service will hold its annual book sale on Thursday from 1 to 8 p.m. at Peoples Natural Gas in Wayne, with the money raised to be used to finance a foreign student at Wayne High School.

Most of the more than 600 books will sell for 25 cents each and none will sell for more than $1. Both hardcover and paperback books will be included, ranging from popular novels to specialized texts. Children's picture books and early reading books have also been collected from donors throughout the past year. Magazines, including Christmas hints and craft ideas and Bride's Magazine, will also be available.

People desiring to donate books for the sale may bring them to the gas company on Thursday or call 375-2435 or 375-3560.

The AFS chapter brought Dan Silva from Brazil this year. He is staying with the Deardiff Hamm family. This is the ninth student who has studied at Wayne High since the program started in 1960.

Voters

board are Harlan Mattes, Wayne Stewart, LeRoy Koch, Michael DeBorde, Raymond Brownell and Norma Warner.

Competing at Wakefield are Sidney Preston, Donald Meyer, Clarence Boeckenhauer, Paul Byers, Larry Clay and Randall Larson.

Also expected to increase voting activity, at least in the third district in Wayne County, is the wife in campaign of Ed Watkins, who is seeking to take away Floyd Burt's seat on the county board.

Watkins came in second in a three-way Republican primary race that also featured candidate Lawrence Backstrom.

Competition exists in several races in Dixon County.

Foes for the county clerk's job are incumbent Esther Brennan on the Democratic ticket and Janice Mansker on the Republican ticket.

Foes for the supervisors jobs up for grabs include Democrat Jerry Knerl and Republican Thomas Carey in the first district, Democrat Raymond Wiedenfled and Republican Donald Thomas in the third district.

Democrat Dale Furness and Republican Merle Von Minden in the fifth district, and Democrat George Emmann and Republican Donald Mackling in the seventh district.

Seeking four posts on the governing board of Educational Service Unit No. One are Darrel Merry, Kenneth Olds, William Wiese, Hilary Hoising, Claire Hansen and William Norvell.

Area Republicans and Democrats will be watching the race between incumbent Republican Charles Thone and Democratic challenger Hess Dyas for the seat in the House of Representatives from Nebraska's First Congressional District.

Both candidates were in Wayne last week, but the debate between the two anticipated by local Democrats failed to materialize.

Congressman Thone on a

12-community campaign swing through Northeast Nebraska Thursday, got into Wayne about 9 p.m. that evening, about an hour after Dyas spoke to a small gathering at the Senior Citizens Center.

Dyas returned to Lincoln Thursday night, and Thone campaign in the business district Friday before continuing his campaign jaunt through the area.

Supporters of both will be waiting to see if the Republican Party's problems in Washington, D.C., filter down to affect Congressional races.

Voters will also face ballots listing candidates for two natural-resources districts covering this part of the state. Candidates are seeking posts in both the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District and the Lewis and Clark Natural Resources District.

In addition, voters will help determine who will hold the governor's job come next year. Seeking that post are incumbent Democrat J. J. Exon, Republican Richard Marvel and Independent Ernest Chambers. Gerald Whelan is Exon's running mate for the lieutenant governor's job while Anne Balchelder is the second part of Marvel's bid for the state's top executive post. Chambers has no running mate.

Voters also will help name the secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, state treasurer and attorney general in the other state wide races.

The Democratic nominee in the First District has made a number of unfounded charges and allegations about Congressman Thone and his voting record. Below is a sample of some of those most frequently made together with their sources and a brief statement of what the facts are.

Campaign Financing

DYAS: "In fact, he (Dyas) said he hopes soon enough funds can be raised for given races so the campaigns can be paid for fully. 'This would allow a person to really compete with the Republicans,' Dyas remarked." (Lincoln Star, June 6, 1973.)

FACT: Dyas has publicly acknowledged his campaign expenditures will reach more than $100,000, thousands of dollars of which have come from out-of-state labor unions and from COPE, the political action arm of George Meany's AFL-CIO. Thone, on the other hand, expects to spend only $75,000-80,000, none of it from special interest groups, and with individual contributions limited to $100 in any one year.
