

Yo-Yo Bill (Teacher Tenure) Not Favored By Some in Area

Unicameral In Action

By IVY HARPER

LB82 has been amended so many times that senators are referring to it as the yo-yo bill.

Introduced by Lincoln Sen. Harold Simpson, the bill would protect outstate school teachers from being fired without just cause.

Simpson said LB82 stemmed from a recent Nebraska Supreme Court decision that state law placed no requirements for teachers' dismissal on school boards outside the state's largest districts, Lincoln and Omaha.

One of two amendments that have been "yo-yoed" back and forth is the one by Gothenburg Sen. Herb Duis, which proposes that school superintendents and administrators be included under the just cause protection.

Senators first rejected the amendment, later adopted it and this week rejected it again.

Expected to come up for final reading sometime next week, the bill now includes administrators but not superintendents, as eligible for just cause protection.

Francis Haun, superintendent of the Wayne Carroll school system, said he does not care if superintendents are included.

"Personally, I always have felt that if you can't get along with the school board, you might as well leave," Haun said.

Fred Rickers, Wayne County superintendent of schools, said he agrees with Haun. Rickers added that he favors just cause for teachers and feels they are entitled to it.

Another amendment that has sparked some controversy would add a two-year probation period to the requirements.

Under this proposal, teachers signing a contract for the 1975-76 school year would have a two-year probation period. After two years, they could be fired only for just cause.

Teachers currently under contract could be fired only for just cause.

Sen. John "Bob" Murphy of South Sioux City, opposes LB82. He said school boards should have the right to fire teachers at their discretion.

Murphy said just cause is difficult to define.

"You would just about have to catch them in bed or drunk out on the street to fire them," he said.

School boards from Wayne Carroll,

Newcastle and Allen have contacted him and expressed negative reaction to the bill, Murphy said.

He said he especially opposes the amendment giving new teachers two years probation. Murphy said he does not think two years is long enough for school boards to determine whether they want to keep a teacher.

He favors either not having a teacher tenure bill or having one like Lincoln and Omaha's which, he said, gives school boards three years to decide on a teacher, and if there is a question, an extension of two years can be given.

"We should have a uniform standard throughout the state," Murphy said, "or otherwise, next year the teachers from Lincoln and Omaha will go to the courts and demand that they also get a two-year probation period."

"That's the way they work," he added. Murphy said he was contacted by teachers associations which favor the bill, but he felt most of his constituents are against it.

Irvin Brandt, president of the Wayne Carroll school board, said he goes on record as being opposed to LB82. Brandt said through Ross Rasmussen of the Nebraska State School Board's Association, has let Sen. Murphy know of the board's opposition.

Brandt said that he agrees with the concept of teacher tenure, but he doesn't believe the bill, as written, is definitive enough.

He said he would be in favor of a bill that gave definite criteria as to what constitutes just cause, so teachers, school board and administrators would know it. Brandt stressed that "tenure does not mean an automatic lease on life." He said that teachers always deserve due process and courtesy, but he added that they should be able to be fired if they are not doing a good job.

Brandt said he agreed with Sen. Murphy that there should be uniform tenure throughout the state.

The bill states that teachers may be fired if the administration needs to reduce the staff.

A final amendment to LB82 proposed that superintendents being fired be notified by April 15, and a public hearing be held to state the reasons for the dismissal. This would give superintendents a chance to know why they aren't being rehired.

4 WS Workshops Set for March

Four continuing education workshops, each worth two senior or graduate credits, are offered by Wayne State College for March.

Cost for each of the courses is $21. An additional $10 matriculation fee is required of anyone who has never before taken a class at WSC.

Those interested in registering for any of the March workshops should contact Dr. C. Don Keck, director of continuing education at Wayne State College.

"Teaching Spanish: A New Approach to Special Problems," is set for Mar. 7. Registration deadline is Feb. 28.

Instructors will be Dr. Maria Grovas, a WSC faculty member, and Dr. Douglas Benson, chairman of modern languages and assistant professor of Spanish at Hastings College. Dr. Benson received his PhD in Spanish camp last summer.

The course will incorporate the new discoveries of Dr.

William Bull of UCLA to explain the most difficult problems of learning and teaching Spanish. The presentation will be a visual as well as oral, and materials will be developed for classroom use. The course is suggested for all teachers of Spanish.

"Mainstreaming the Emotionally Disturbed Child" will be offered Mar. 14. Instructors are Dr. Neal Phelps and Calvin Polk. Dr. Phelps, another WSC faculty member, has experience as a public school counselor. Polk, who has taught elementary grades, has recently conducted classes for disturbed children in elementary grades in Kansas.

Characteristics and education of the emotionally disturbed child will be discussed. Emphasis will be directed toward an electric approach with the methods of Freud, Skinner, Berne, Harris, Glasser, Moreno and Perls.

Follow up date for this course will be April 5. Registration deadline is Mar. 7.

"Motor Perception for the SLD Child" will be taught Mar. 21-24 by Don Koenig. Koenig has taught in the Wayne Carroll school system eight years and the past four years has served as K-6 motor perception specialist. He has developed many materials for use by motor perception teachers. Koenig is a member of the Nebraska State Advisory Council in Physical Education and Motor Perception.

Registration deadline is Mar. 14.

The final workshop for March is "The Energy Game," set for Mar. 21-23.

Instructors will be Wes Fritz and Dean Metz. WSC instructors who have worked together on the "Think Metric" and "Atomic Energy Commission" project.

The workshop is designed not to see WORKSHOPS, page 5.

Man Posts Bond After Hearing on Embezzling Charge

A preliminary hearing will be held in Wayne County court on March 20 for John Krause, former manager of Feeders Elevator, Inc. in Wayne who has been charged with embezzlement.

Krause allegedly embezzled $28,300 from the Wayne business between Feb. 8 and April 8 of last year, according to the charge filed by county attorney Budd Bornhoff Jan. 20.

Krause, who now lives in Sioux Falls, posted $2,000 bond in Wayne County court Friday after returning to Wayne on his own following his arrest in Sioux Falls.

His bond was set at $20,000 but state law permits a person to be released upon posting of 10 percent of the bond total, according to associate county judge Luverna Hilton, who Krause appeared before Friday.

District court judge Eugene McCadden of Norfolk will conduct Krause's preliminary hearing to determine if he should be bound over to district court for trial on the felony charge.

Local Kids to Be on TV

An innovative television series produced by Wayne State students and featuring Wayne elementary school pupils will go on the air Wednesday night.

"The Eyes of Children," the six week series will appear live from 7 to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday on cable Channel 10.

Steve Wamberg, WSC television student from Glenwood, Ia., who is the producer, said the show will feature puppets made and operated by students in a class taught by Ron Wachholtz.

Their audience will be a selected group of Wayne children of kindergarten through third grade. After they watch the prepared puppet show for about 15 minutes, the children will have a chance to voice reactions to what they have seen.

Said Wamberg, "We're a bit jittery how it will go, but it should be interesting."

He described the show's multiple purpose as giving college students experience in puppetry and in eliciting a response from the elementary audience.

From his experience with young children, Wamberg said, "I expect plenty of response. They're lively."

The show's concept is the brainchild of Jerry Kruger, Elk Horn, and on the air host will be Larry Franzen, Harting, Ia.

'Declaration' Is Subject Of Talk at Local Center

Dr. Charles Hepburn, professor of history and chairman of the division of social sciences at Wayne State College, will talk at the Senior Citizens Center Wednesday afternoon.

The topic of his talk, open to the public, will be "The Idea of Freedom: The Declaration of Independence: Definer of Freedom."

Mrs. Joceli Bull, director of the center, said local and area residents are welcome to attend the talk, which will kick off the center's American Bicentennial activities. The talk begins at 1:30 p.m.

Dr. Hepburn's lecture has been endorsed by the Nebraska America Revolution Bicentennial Commission. He delivers it at no charge to high schools, colleges and other groups throughout the state.

At Wayne State since 1968, Dr. Hepburn says that he believes Americans have given too little attention to the fundamental philosophy of liberty expressed in the Declaration of Independence and that this period of Bicentennial celebration offers each of us an ideal chance to re-examine our faith in unalienable rights. He hears in the voice of concern over our present period of national anxiety a call to dedicate ourselves to basic values of freedom which can only function when understood and defended.

DR. CHARLES HEPBURN

Dr. Hepburn received his PhD degree in history at Stanford University. He taught at Stanford, Texas A&M and Arkansas Universities before coming to Wayne State to head the social sciences division.

Editor of the "Mid-West Review," a journal published at Wayne State, he served with the Air Force during both World War II and the Korean conflict. He later worked with the U.S. Army reserve in the Directorate of Foreign Intelligence in Washington, D.C.

Pancakes 'n Sausages: Simple But Good

IF PANCAKES and sausages are high on your list of favorites, Wayne and Winside were the places to be Thursday night. Reason, the two communities' annual pancake feed. Hundreds of people turned out for the two feeds, the one at Wayne sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and the one at Winside put on by the Community Club. Doing duty on the sausage line at Winside are Mildred Witt, front, and Mrs. Allen Schrant. Meanwhile, Kiwanians William Koerber, Fred Brink and Rev. Don Iverson Peterson, from left, were dishing out pancakes to hungry youngsters and adults. Money from the Wayne feed helps support the Kiwanians' youth activities. There is no charge for the Winside feed. Other pictures, page 9.

350 Attend 'Time to Run' Showing Here

About 350 Wayne area people attended Wednesday morning's showing of "Time to Run," a feature length color film released by the Billy Graham Film Ministry studios.

The film will be shown at the Gay Theatre in Wayne twice nightly for a week beginning March 12.

Wednesday's showing was the second preview of the film in Wayne. An earlier showing was for workers and others involved in bringing the film to Wayne.

Dick Sorensen, a swine producer near Wayne, has been named executive chairman for the showings. He is enlisting support of numerous civic leaders and other residents to help publicize the show.

The film will have a positive impact on the lives of both teenagers and parents, according to Sorensen. If Wayne area residents plan to see only one motion picture all year, this is the one they should see, he said.

"Time to Run" is a realistic portrayal of the tensions created in a family where the son's values and ideologies differ from his father's according to a representative of World Wide Pictures, which produced the film.

Love and communication between the father and son are crippled, and further confrontations develop between the young man and his girl friend when she becomes involved in the "Jesus Movement," according to the representative.

Comments of some of those who attended Wednesday's showing:

Mrs. Loren Carr, Allen: "A very moving and touching film. I highly recommend it for everyone."

Mrs. Roy Hanson, Concord: See SHOWING, page 5.

Carroll Man Heads Board

Merrill Baier of Carroll was named president of the Wayne County extension board during a meeting Tuesday. He replaces Lowell Johnson of Wakefield.

Also elected during the meeting were Phillip Scheuch of Hoskins as vice president, replacing Stanley Baier of Wayne, and Mrs. Melvin Wilson of Pender as secretary for another one year term.

Other members of the board are Dwayne Rethwisch, Wayne; Lowell Johnson, Wakefield; Mrs. Richard Lange, Carroll; Mrs. John Greve Jr., Wisner; Mrs. Warren Baird, Winside; and Dean Janke, Winside. Mrs. Dennis Grunke Winside is the board's Ernest Sietken representative on the board. Mrs. Ernest Sietken of Wayne is the home extension council representative and Larry Skokan, also of Wayne, is the Chamber of Commerce representative on the board.

Concord Board Studying Bids

The Concord village board will continue studying bids for armor coating village streets after meeting with a firm during Wednesday night's board meeting.

Approximately eight streets will be oiled this summer, according to village clerk Donna Nelson.

Although no cost was given, the village board has set aside about $7,000 for armor coating called for in its one year and six year street improvement program.

Blood Needed for Allen Family

Allen volunteer firemen will donate blood to replace that which the Duane Koester family of rural Allen owes to a Seattle hospital.

Several firemen will contribute blood at the Siouxland Community Blood Bank in Sioux City, said department member Ken Linafelter. "We also are urging town and area residents to contribute," he added.

Last year the Koester's 15-year old son, Danny spent several months in a Seattle hospital recovering from a rare bone disease. The family owes the hospital 20 pints of blood. The hospital will not accept money. Linafelter noted. The Siouxland Community Blood Bank at 1502 Pierce St. is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday and Wednesday evenings until 7:30 and Saturday mornings by appointment.

Persons who wish to donate blood for the Koester family but who are unable to go to Sioux City may donate at Wayne when the blood bank visits here Tuesday, Feb. 25. Blood will be taken that day between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. at the Woman's Club room at the city auditorium.

WS Gets Science Grant

Wayne State College has received a $6,710 grant from the National Science Foundation CNFS to support a research program for science-oriented high school students this summer. Its subject: "Energy and the Environment."

Two WSC science professors, Wes Fritz and Dean Metz, who will direct the project, said Friday the NSF's Student Science Training Project is open to any high school student who will be a senior next fall.

Wayne's program can take 27 students for the six-week period June 16 to July 25. They will commute to the campus five days weekly, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Studies will include biological and physical sciences in the classroom, laboratory and field trips led by Wes Fritz and Verne Mills of the Wayne High School biology faculty.

Selection of students, by April 15, will be based on scholastic ability, scientific motivation and completion of specified courses in science and mathematics.

Cost of the program will be $25. Students interested should write soon for information, and applications from Wes Fritz or Dean Metz at Wayne State.

Also Honor Students

Names of two students at Wayne High School were recently left off the list of students who made the honor roll for the second nine weeks.

They are Tim Howell, a senior, and Vincent Kniesche, a ninth grader.

They bring to 121 the number of students who earned places on the honor roll.

Booths Taken for Expo '75

All booths for Wayne's Spring Expo '75 have been spoken for, according to those working on the two-day event scheduled for the city auditorium March 14-15.

The exposition replaces the annual Farm and Home Show, but organizers say the event will have much more to offer than previous shows.

Among those attractions is a style show and a cooking school. In addition, numerous prizes will be given away by participating businesses and the Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the exposition.

Heading up the event are Darrell Moore and Jack Manske. Mrs. Kent Hall will handle arrangements for the style show, and Mrs. Ernie Thayer will take over arrangements for the cooking school.

Plans for the event were discussed again Wednesday during a meeting of the Chamber's retail committee, which is in charge of the event.

Guest during that meeting was Linda Sander, area home economist at the Northeast Station near Concord. She volunteered her help in promoting the April beef promotion scheduled by the Chamber. She will make recipes and literature available to the public to help spotlight beef during that April 24-26 promotion.

Dale's Hosting Coffee

Dale's Jewelry will host this month's Chamber of Commerce coffee from 9:30 to 11 a.m. this morning (Monday).

Wayne Federal Savings and Loan originally was scheduled to host the coffee, but it will be closed today in observance of Washington's birthday.

Holiday Is Observed

Financial institutions will be closed and the Wayne post office will distribute mail according to its holiday schedule because of Washington's birthday. Businesses in Wayne will be open as usual, however.

Letters to the editor: the readers speak out on issues

'Prank call to firemen is no joke'

Wayne

Dear Editor: Sunday, 9:25 p.m. Temperature on the bank reads 4 degrees. Streets and roads in the Wayne area extremely icy and snow-packed.

A call received by the Wayne police dispatcher. A young male voice says, "Fire! There's a fire at...". The dispatcher asks for the location and more information. "There's a fire in the kitchen, and it's bad!" The dispatcher pushes a control at the police desk.

This is the beginning of a chain of events that will disrupt the lives of approximately 20 men and their families plus about five other families. To some degree, it will disrupt the entire city of Wayne.

In 30 homes the phone rings. It doesn't stop ringing. Everyone in these 30 homes knows there is a fire and someone needs help. They scramble to get dressed. Put on extra clothes. It may be a long night. Must hurry.

Run to the car. Nearly fall on the icy walk. Put the blue light on the car top and start for the fire hall. As you near the fire hall area other blue lights come into sight. Some 20 cars converge on the area from all directions almost at once. A credit to the men that there are no accidents on the ice covered streets. Coats, helmets and boots are put on and trucks started. Location: rural area. Two rural trucks, equipment truck, panel and station wagon pull out... The fire whistle has brought out the curious, which adds to the traffic congestion as the department heads up Main Street. North edge of Wayne — so far so good. Looks like every body made it so far.

Once again location checked by radio with dispatcher. Take the next side road to the right. There, that should be the place. Several men rush to the house. "This isn't it! They don't know anything about it." Check that next house. Same answer. Other houses are checked. Nothing there. Check again with police. Location and name verified. First house should be it. "But we didn't call in a fire."

Now the uncertainty and fear set in. In the excitement, were the wrong directions given or was there a misunderstanding. Someone may be in need of help, but what do we do? "Return to the station but stand by."

Trucks are returned and parked in their stalls. Most of the men wait around for a while, and then one by one head for home. "Thank God there wasn't any fire."

But if anyone thinks this was funny, just check with any of the people who were involved. They will be glad to tell you.

Cliff Pinkelman

(Editor's Note: The local fire department was recently called out on a cold Sunday evening, apparently by a prankster.)

'Ideas are wanted'

Wayne

Dear Editor: According to a television interview with senator John "Bob" Murphy, he would like to hear more from his people in this district as to how they feel about the issues and legislative bills that come up.

Many times he has to vote on a bill without knowing what the wishes of his people are.

His address is 110 E. 37th St., South Sioux City 68776.

'Don't crush child beneath'

Winside

Dear Editor: Parents and teachers, are you enjoying the privilege of working with children? If so, your goal is to want the children you work with to succeed and achieve in the areas in which you are helping them.

Sad to say, many children we work with have learning disabilities. A learning disabled child is the one who has a capacity to learn, but for one or more reasons the major channel of learning is blocked or deficient to some degree. All people, perhaps even you, have a learning disability.

It is so easy for well intentioned people to refer to a learning disabled child as "retarded," "lazy," "slow" or "hyperactive." Parents, teachers and others who work with children must recognize that children have unique differences in capabilities and skills and it is the duty of all workers to handle each child as individually as possible. If you are fortunate enough to have children entrusted to your care and you see they are having difficulty meeting your requirements and goals, please seek help for that child from a teacher or other authorized personnel who has had training in diagnosing children's disabilities and can help set up an individualized program.

Perhaps this is a ludicrous simile, but a child who has learning disabilities is like walnut. It might be a task to break the shell of the walnut so you don't mash and ruin the meat, but if you proceed slowly and carefully, you can break the walnut shell and find "whole" pieces of meat. A learning disabled child who meets nothing but defeat and is subjected to humiliation day after day finally withdraws into a shell he has made for himself. Let's help this child to carefully break the shell so he can find happiness.

'Fluoride helps older people'

Wayne

Dear Editor: It seems that the fluoride issue is still alive, and the book, "Fluorides in Human Health," in the Wayne public library describes how high fluoride concentration in drinking water results in thick bones.

Everybody knows of old people suffering fractures by a tumble at home. Such a fall a few years before would have caused nothing more serious than bruises, and the reason is that some old people's bones become thin. Such thinning is now known to result from taking too much of one of the modern "miracle" drugs, and when this was discovered, dosage was strictly limited. The bones become thin, not brittle. A six year old can break a chicken "wish bone" but the thigh bone of the same chicken cannot be broken by bending it by the hands of an athlete. The wish-bone breaks because it is thin, not brittle.

Ask any anatomist and he will tell you of seeing bones of old people so thin that they transmit light. No wonder that some old people become frail and break bones by a fall about the house.

I suggest that you get some one to write a letter on this subject, so your readers will have this information that older people's bones are benefited, as well as children's teeth, by fluoridation.

What happens is that as children grow up, bone tissue is added to the outer surface of body organs while at the same time, bone-tissue is dissolved on the interior. If the dissolving keeps on after the adding stops on the surface, the bones become dangerous ly thin.

Journalists can do much to keep voters informed on matters of public interest.

John Violette

P.S. There are some other misconceptions. Recently a citizen was looking at some limy scale in water pipes and said "Think what that does to your stomach." All right, think Better, find out, and you will learn how important minerals like calcium and magnesium are to health (bones-teeth and other organs).

ALL BURNED UP!

WRITE A LETTER TO THE EDITOR

'What are police for?'

Wayne

Dear Editor: When in the course of human events, it becomes inefficient for the police to aid and assist the public, and instead deems it necessary to "do their job," a citizen must ask the question: What is the police department for?

Is it to ensure law and order, to prevent violence and loss of property? The answer is yes. Is it to provide the enforcement of existing laws and ordinances? The answer is yes.

However, there is another side to be considered and this is a far more worthwhile task. In a small town with a sizable portion of the population being transitory and a sizable portion being long-term residents and quite aware of the situation, it seems that the police and the administrators of Wayne must of necessity provide a dominant role in assuring that all the people of Wayne are able to work and live together in harmony, free of hassle, and to engage in constructive endeavors together. These are the people that must provide the choices, solutions and directions for the citizens to take.

This is the whole point, and my basic dilemma. I don't have a place to park. There is a 24-hour parking limit on the city streets and restricted parking in the evening in front of my dwelling. I chose to walk, both to conserve gas and money and to get exercise. The outcome of which was that my vehicle, parked one block away, was towed away with no notice.

My question is, since the above mentioned people have offered no solution, where does the answer lie? Does the answer lie in the 1960

By Norvin Hansen

BANKING SERVICES: fire protection, college events (athletic, cultural, adult education), overall quality of education and school facilities were rated either excellent or adequate by an overwhelming majority of the people who filled out the recent community attitude survey in and around Wayne.

Also receiving very high marks were community parks, library services and facilities, street maintenance, newspaper coverage, and community law enforcement.

Flunking in the survey were public transportation inside the community and to other towns, both of which were rated inadequate by about 80 per cent of those filling out the surveys.

That is some of the information contained in the initial report on the attitude survey. A wealth of information should be available in coming weeks when the state economic development people run the survey results through their computer.

Here's how people responded when asked to rate the community services in Wayne (in percentages):

Service	Excel.	Adeq.	Inadeq.
Banking services	96.5	1.5	2.0
Fire protection	98.0	2.0	0.0
College events	97.8	2.1	0.1
Overall education quality	97.8	2.2	0.0
School facilities	97.4	2.6	0.0
Community parks	92.3	7.7	0.0
Library	91.7	8.3	0.0
Street maintenance	88.1	11.9	0.0
Newspaper coverage	87.5	12.5	0.0
Law enforcement	87.0	13.0	0.0
Commercial entertainment	86.1	13.9	0.0
Transportation outside city	21.8	78.2	0.0
Transportation inside city	17.0	83.0	0.0

Here are some other interesting bits of information gleaned from that initial report:

—Most serious problems facing the community are declining college enrollment, lack of job opportunities, community apathy, people moving away from town, lack of pride in the community and poor sidewalks in that order. All were rated as either very serious or somewhat serious by at least half those completing the survey.

—Nearly 66 per cent of those responding feel the city government is efficient and well administered.

—About 94 per cent of the people feel Wayne State is an asset to the community.

—Half or more of the people would be willing to pay more taxes to improve medical services, provide better public transportation for the elderly, improve fire protection and upgrade criminal justice and law enforcement.

—Half or more of those completing the survey would not be willing to pay more taxes to build parks, finance low income housing, improve streets and roads, develop an industrial site, provide better education, provide social services for the elderly and provide housing for the elderly.

—Nearly 57 per cent of the people do "hardly any" shopping outside Wayne. 25 per cent do "some" about 11 per cent do a "fair amount" and just over seven per cent do "a great deal." Major reasons for shopping elsewhere: more variety, lower prices and proper sizes, in that order.

—Feelings are pretty well split on whether the city should go ahead with its proposed downtown improvement program. Nearly 54 per cent are opposed to it, about 46 in favor.

—Nearly 40 per cent of the people want "equal emphasis on rate of development and quality of development" as far as new residential areas, businesses and industries are concerned.

—Available job opportunities in all areas (for women, men, youths, part timers, unskilled seasonal workers) level of wages paid locally, and available services to children and families (flexible employment scheduling, day care homes, etc.) were rated as inadequate by more than half the people.

—More job opportunities rated much higher than a broadened tax base (44.7 per cent to 9.3 per cent) as being the most important advantage to the city in attracting new industry. Rated slightly ahead of a broadened tax base were retention of young people and growth of related services.

—Not surprising was the nearly 90 per cent who said there is a definite need for Wayne Industries, Inc. Somewhat surprising was the approximate 77 per cent who said they would be willing to support the organization. About 45 per cent of those willing to support it said the best way to do that would be to sell shares.

IT'S LIKELY that public meetings will be held after more information is squeezed out of that survey and a pamphlet explaining the results of the survey will probably be printed. I plan to follow up this thumbnail review of the survey with other stories. Meanwhile, you're welcome to look over my copy of the initial results. It takes a lot of time, but there is some interesting information stashed away in it.

ODDS AND ENDS: Tom Gustafson of Wakefield, president of the Nebraska Feeder's Association, has presented a plaque to the Sioux City Stockyards for its participation in the Nebraska Beef Industry Foundation's checkoff program. J. Alan Cramer, publisher of this newspaper, has been elected as vice president of the Mid-America Council, Boy Scouts of America. The council includes 27 counties in eastern Nebraska, 15 in southwestern Iowa. A memorial scholarship to honor the late Dr. W. A. Brandenburg, longtime president at Wayne State College, has been set up by alumni, faculty, students and friends. Goal is $2,000, with a permanently endowed scholarship of about $150 yearly being offered when it is met. Scholarship would go to a junior, senior or graduate student majoring in history.

HUMOR: compliments of the February issue of Nebraska Trucker. A diplomat, a man who makes his wife believe she looks fat in a mink coat. We know a man who told his teenaged daughters they should run for the legislature, because they were great at introducing all types of new bills into the house. Golf is a game that turned the cows out of the pasture and let the bull in.

IF YOU haven't read it (and can stomach it), I recommend "Helter Skelter: The True Story of the Manson Murders" by Vincent Bugliosi (who convicted Charles Manson and some of his "Family") and Curt Gentry. The 500-page book gives you an inside look at the investigation and trial following the Tate-LaBianca murders in California a few years back. I found myself locking my doors and listening for noises each night I sat down with the book.

The vehicle, a Dodge Medicruiser, is fully equipped with oxygen, emergency lights, air conditioning, public address system, siren, flood lights and four channel radio. The vehicle is capable of carrying four patients on stretchers, and it is designed to meet all state and federal requirements.

The Coleridge Ambulance Service has averaged over 60 calls a year during the past three years. It services a total area of more than 100 square miles.

A HUSBAND and wife are now members of the Plainview American Legion Post, the first time that has happened since the post was formed. The new members are David and Corinne Janovec, both Vietnam veterans. Janovec served as a member of the Army band while his wife was in the Army Nurse Corps.

By Col. Edward King (Ret.) USA

While President Ford has been calling on Americans to bathe and wash their clothes in cold water, not drive their cars and turn out their lights, the Pentagon has gone blithely on its way developing future weapons systems that promise to further increase the high fuel consumption of present weapons.

At a time when the U.S. public was being urged to conserve fuel, the Air Force burned 1,170,000 gallons of jet fuel to moving aircraft and crews back and forth from bases in West Germany and Spain. Even as the President and Secretary Kissinger were rattling U.S. sabers at the Arab oil producers, the Department of Defense was being given appropriations to go forward on R&D and production plans for such exotic 1980 fuel guzzlers as the B-1 bomber, the XM-1 Main-Battle Tank (that will post a gas mileage record of about 5 gallons to the mile, not miles to the gallon), the sophisticated F-14 and F-15 supersonic fighter planes.

It makes little sense for the American people to walk and live in cold homes if the Pentagon is going to continue to develop dozens of costly future weapons systems that push up inflation and consume even more fuel than the present guzzlers. Such weapons increase the danger of a U.S. Under present plans for weapons development, by 1980 the Pentagon certainly might well have an incentive to want to invade the Arab oil producing countries — it will be about the only way for them to get sufficient fuel for their thousands of sophisticated weapons.

Congress should be encouraged to not only question future weapons systems on the basis of skyrocketing costs and cost overruns, but also on the basis of the feasibility of continuing to develop high fuel consuming weapons such as the XM-1 Battle Tank for future defense use during a period when sufficient fuel may not be available to operate both the economy of the country and weapons no matter how many billion the American taxpayer may have been paid to produce them. This Pentagon planning for misuse of future energy resources is something we should begin to think about now.

OBSERVATIONS

Gobbledegook aside, speed limit is too fast

I must agree with Wayne city councilman Jimmy Thomas when he disputes the logic of the state roads department officials who seem to think 45 miles an hour is a good speed for Highway 35 as it comes into the west side of the city.

Thomas thinks that is too fast for trucks and cars to be going as they approach the hill where Wayne High School is located. It is also too fast for vehicles to be going as they pass the car dealership and Oak Drive farther west, according to Thomas.

He's right, and no amount of governmental gobbledegook is going to convince me otherwise.

State officials can point out that there are many things which a driver considers as he determines how fast to drive on a certain stretch of road. They have done that, noting that the driver's familiarity with the road, his physical condition, his mental attitude, the condition of the road and the like are among them.

However, they don't seem to put much emphasis on the posted speed limits and the degree of enforcement. They note that "to some extent" they play a role in how fast a driver zips down the road. We think those should be listed much higher rather than last, as the state officials did in their lengthy explanation of the results of their speed study conducted in and around Wayne.

Of course, it's easy for governmental officials to conduct a speed study, examine it and decide what would be the best speed for a highway such as that one approaching Wayne from the west. They don't have to drive over it day in and day out, and they apparently aren't too concerned about the near-wrecks which happen all too often.

Residents in and around this community are concerned about those things, however. And that is why many — if not most — would say that 45 miles an hour on that stretch of road is too fast.

If you feel that way and would like to see the speed limit put at a safe level, you might take out a few minutes to call or write a letter to your councilman or mayor. The city officials will be taking up that speed limit recommendation again, possibly at their next meeting on Feb. 25, and those who oppose it would likely relish hearing from constituents who agree with them. —Norvin Hansen.

Speaker: Family Unit to Face Difficult Times

"I think we're going to have stormier times before families get better," said Mrs. Marie Arnot during a discussion seminar Thursday night at Wayne State College.

Mrs. Arnot, coordinator of community development and associate professor of community and regional planning at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, along with her husband, Jim, conducted the seminar, sponsored by Wayne's American Association of University Women.

Arnot, who has worked with the youth services in Lancaster County, dealing mostly with juveniles, blames juvenile delinquency on "parents who do not know how to deal with today's youth."

"We, as parents, are thrust into situations we're not comfortable with,"

he said, "and we put our children in the same situation." "In turn, they (the children) very often lash back in anti-social or unacceptable ways."

"Parents must recognize their roles and responsibilities as husband and wife and work together as a team in dealing with their children," he said. "If we as parents feel comfortable, so will our children."

In Mrs. Arnot's presentation, "Changing Relationship Between Vocation and Family Life," the lecturer said family roles have changed drastically since early history's agricultural society where each member of the family was dependent on one another.

Quoting professor Urie Bronfenbrenner of Cornell University, Mrs. Arnot said that in 45 per cent of today's homes the mother works to supplement the family income or for personal satisfaction. Approximately one in three mothers with children under six are working outside the home, she said.

According to the professor, half of all households 50 years ago had another adult, besides the parents, living at home. Today only four per cent of American households have another adult living with them, and there is twice the divorce rate in these households today as compared to a decade ago.

"Not only in deprived families where the mother is forced to work is the family structure changing, said Mrs. Arnot, but also in middle and upper-middle class families where the husband and wife entertain frequently, consequently leaving their children to spend more time with a babysitter.

What's causing this changing relationship between husbands, wives and their children? Mrs. Arnot says the women's liberation movement has played a dramatic part.

"Although I'm not necessarily opposed to women's lib, it did lead us into a traumatic experience in a very short time," she said.

Mothers need not feel guilty about working, "providing they can lead a happy, productive work life as well as a happy, productive family life." An adjustment must be made within when the family when the mother works, and employers and the community must be aware of possible conflicts in those families, she said.

Mrs. Arnot thinks one possible solution to leaving children alone at home while both parents are working is for employers to allow employees flexible business hours so one of the parents can be at home with their children.

"The age group I'm most concerned with is the 12 to 15-year-olds," said Mrs. Arnot. "There just aren't enough programs for these children. They're too old to babysit and too young for the work force."

"We're making these young adults feel unworthy and wasting useful talent, and we must find a way of introducing them into the adult world," she added.

One of the questions asked of Mrs.

Arnot during the evening was if she thought it was right for parents to argue in front of their children?

"Yes," she said, "it is important for children to know that love can survive disagreements."

Before concluding the seminar, the approximate 35 men and women broke into separate discussion groups where talk ranged from compromising and communication in the family unit to the "silent affect" of television.

Mrs. Arnot, who travels extensively throughout Nebraska delivering speeches and conducting seminars, plans to be at Wayne State College April 2 to conduct a seminar on land use planning in Nebraska.

Battle Under The Boards

CREIGHTON'S Scott Fuchtmann (15) found Wayne High's defense bothersome in second half action Friday night. On the left, Fuchtmann eyes Wayne's Earle Overin as Overin attempts to half Fuchtmann from shooting. Later, Wayne's Jack Froehlich and Fuchtmann collide as the pair battle for a rebound. Offensive, by Froehlich moves inside for two points, and teammate Bob Keating (30), far right, gets into a jumping match with Fuchtmann and another Creighton player for a loose ball. Watching the action is Wayne senior Rick Mitchell (24).

Devils Overcome Creighton in 4th Period

By BOB BARTLETT
Wayne High pumped in 20 points the fourth quarter to salvage its 11th straight win Friday night, overcoming a strong Creighton club, 56-57, at Wayne.

Led by senior Bob Keating, the Blue Devils held a 46-45 lead after three quarters before Wayne, behind junior Paul Mallette's six points in the final frame, notched its 15th win in 18 games.

Keating, top scorer for the night with 26, scored 12 points in the first period as the Devils carved out a six point advantage, 20-16, heading into the second quarter.

"We simply went too much one on one basketball," explained Wayne boss Bill Sharpe about his team's erratic second quarter shooting. "We didn't play as a team. Instead, one player brought the ball down the court and shot."

Sharpe admitted it was hard for his players to take Creighton serious when the Bulldogs started shooting from 20-25 feet in the second quarter. "Normally, I tell the kids to let them shoot, but Creighton is a good outside shooting team."

Creighton quickly jumped from a 30-29 halftime deficit to a five point command early in the third period before senior Earle Overin and Keating once again put the Devils in front, 44-43. Mallette, substituting for Overin, hit a basket to give Wayne a 46-45 lead heading in the final eight minutes.

The Devils picked off 13 offensive caroms to only three for Creighton as offensive rebounding again proved important to the Devils.

In total rebounds, Wayne had 48. Creighton 29. Senior Jack Froehlich, who finished second high in scoring with Overin at 10 points, garnered 16 while Keating had 10 and senior Marty Hansen had eight.

Both clubs shot identically from the field, hitting 28 of 72 attempts for 39 per cent.

Mallette hit 15 points in the junior varsity match to lead the reserves to a 62-50 victory.

Sophomore Tim Koll had 12 and junior Monte Lowe netted 11 to aid the JVS to their ninth win in 13 games.

Top seeded West Point Central Catholic, 15-1, takes on Tekamah Herman in the opening game on March 3 at 6:30. Crofton, fourth seeded, plays Pierce at 8 p.m.

Winside Blasts Newcastle

Despite Scott Miller's 24 points, Winside held visiting Newcastle to only 38 as the Wildcats chalked up their fifth win in 14 games Friday night, 64-38.

Junior Bob Hoffman, who pumped in 10 straight points to the third period to virtually put the game out of reach, netted Miller's total by two as Winside's offense hit 41 per cent of its shots.

Hoffman poured in 12 points to the first half in leading Winside to a 28-19 lead before the forward put the Cats ahead by 38-19 in the opening minutes of the second half.

Hoffman and teammate Bryan Denklau double teamed Miller on defense the second half, blocking several of Miller's shots to help turn the game in Winside's favor, according to coach Korlin Luft.

"I had (Tyler) Frevert and Denklau double teaming Miller the first half. But Tyler picked up his third foul in the third quarter so I put Hoffman on Miller," Luft said.

Frevert, who ended with 14 for second high in scoring, helped Winside to an 18-point cushion at the end of the third period, 50-32. Although Denklau, a junior,

Homer Stuns Trojans, 65-49

Wakefield, minus senior starter Don Myers, lost to a tough Homer squad Friday night at Homer 65-49.

The Trojans, now 13-5, connected on 18 of 51 attempts for only 35 per cent as the area club suffered its second straight setback.

Junior Scott Mills scored 18 points and teammate Tony Peters had 10 for the only Wakefield players in double figures.

Homer stormed to a 20-8 first quarter lead and built it into a 15 point lead, 51-36, going into the final frame.

Myers, a transfer from Verdugo, may be out of action the rest of the season due to an illness, according to Wakefield's coaching staff.

Wakefield's reserves lost a

65-58 overtime decision to Homer after the Trojans battled back from a 28-18 halftime deficit.

Brooks Myers and Kerry Bressler hit 16 and 15 points as the junior varsity lost its sixth game in 13 outings.

Allen Girl Cagers Thump Newcastle

Allen High girl cagers evened their record at 2-2 Thursday with a 39-14 win over Newcastle.

Lori Erwin and Kari Erwin combined for 33 points. Kari hit 17 and Lori had 16 to make up for a loss to Newcastle earlier this season.

Allen used a second quarter press to break away from Newcastle, scoring 17 points to two for Newcastle.

Also scoring were Peggy Taylor with four and Joy Kjer with two. Lori led in rebounding with 17 caroms.

Both Erwin girls were scoring leaders in Allen's first win of the season, a 46-31 victory over previously undefeated Decatur Feb. 1.

Lori, a sophomore, ripped the nets for 22 while Kari, a junior, scored 13 to hand Decatur its first loss in eight games. Joy Kjer added nine while Peggy Taylor had two. Diane Witte was leading rebounder with 13.

"The girls really learned a lot after their first two losses," coach Steve McManigal said about his team, the first girls team at Allen.

Allen's reserves chalked up their first win in three games, defeating Newcastle, 12-7.

Marcella Book and Cheryl Koch scored five each and Rose Rooney had two.

Against Decatur, Rooney, June Stapleton and LeEtta Keil had two each in the team's 26-6 loss.

Third-Quarter Scoring Lifts Bears to No. 14

If I took Laurel almost three quarters Friday before the Bears settled down to stage their high win of the season, dumpting Plainview by 93-57.

Junior Greg Pipitt hit eight of his 18 points midway in the third as the Bears pulled away from a one-point lead in the Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference battle at Laurel.

Laurel held a 42-35 halftime command before Plainview regrouped to whittle the lead. Bear coach Joel Parks said The Pirates shot 47 per cent the first half and continued the shooting streak until Parks' club started its scoring spree.

Tim Anderson scored 14, Steve Stojpe 13, Mark Cunningham 12 and Brad Erwin 11 for five players in double figures for the winners. Both Mark Anderson and Erwin hit six each in the break-away third period.

Winside Adds Pair To Wrestling Rating

Winside High headed into last weekend's Class C district wrestling tournament with two additional state-rated grapplers, according to Thursday's Omaha World-Herald prep ratings.

New to the list are 98 pound Kevin Cleveland and 119 pound Monte Pfeiffer. Cleveland, rated third in his class, and Pfeiffer, rated fourth, up the total of state-rated Winside wrestlers to eight.

The pair joined six other rated teammates: Bob Bowers (105), Keith Sueli (112), Brad Brum (126), Gregg Lage (138), Dwight Lienemann (167) and heavy weight Mike Anderson.

Sueli and Lage maintained their No. one standings and Lienemann is tied for first with Rick Rosenquist of Raymond Central.

In the last mat ratings, Brumels was listed third in the 119 pound class. Now he's fifth in 126. Bowers dropped from first to second while Anderson stayed at second.

Wakefield's 155 pound Pat Nicholson is tied for fifth with Terry Jantz of Milford.

Winside Jr. High Drops 2

Winside's junior high basketball squads will be trying to break into the win column for the first time this season when the Wildcats travel to Allen Wednesday at 3:30.

Friday night Winside lost two games to Newcastle as both the A and B team records fell to 0-4.

The A team lost by 27-21. Joedy Brummels led Winside with seven points. Tom Koll scored five. Mitch Pfeiffer 4, Paul Roberts three and Randy Willis two.

Bill Gottberg and Brad Janke scored two points each in the B team's 12-4 defeat.

Wayne, Laurel Frosh Play in Cage Tourney

Freshmen basketball teams from Wayne and Laurel will play today (Monday) in first round of an invitational cage tournament at Randolph.

Wayne, 4-5, opens the eight team state at 4:45 p.m. by facing O'Neill. Laurel, 6-1, goes against Plainview at 6.

If Laurel wins, the frosh advance to a 7 p.m. meeting Tuesday against the winner of the Pierce Norfolk High contest. If Wayne wins, the Blue Devils play at 8:30 against the winner of the Hartington Cedar Catholic Randolph game.

Consolation and final games are at 7 and 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

Sophomores Fall

Wayne sophomore cagers ended their season with a 0-2 record Thursday, losing to Norfolk High in the team's second meeting, 59-40.

Tim Koll hit 13 points to lead the Blue Devils in the home contest while Mark Brandt had 12.

Also scoring for Wayne were American Nissen with seven, John Ley with five and Mark Victor with three.

Allen Quint Drops Pair

Waltheil and Emerson Hubbard handed Allen High's cagers a pair of losses last week to keep the Eagles winless in season play.

Waltheil stopped Allen 74-54, Thursday night, and Emerson walloped the Eagles, 82-47, Friday for the Eagles' 15th and 16th defeats.

Senior Don Kluever led Allen scoring both nights, netting 14 against Waltheil and 12 against Emerson. Brian Hircherin, shed second with 10 in both contests.

Allen displayed its best game Thursday against Waltheil, hitting 41 per cent. Trailing by one at the end of the first period, 13-12, the Eagles fell into a scoring slump the second quarter as Waltheil took a 33-20 halftime margin. Waltheil added seven more points to the margin the last two quarters in the makeup game that was postponed earlier because of bad weather.

Against Emerson, the Eagles hit 31 per cent as Emerson held Allen to only 18 points the second half.

In the only reserve game, Emerson knocked off the Eagles, 54-34.

Lindy Koester and Steve Osbahr had 10 points each as the junior varsity finished with a 1-2 season mark.

College Men, Women Cagers Shake Losses

Wayne State cagers, both men and women, bolstered spirits with victories over Chadron State Friday at Chadron — and a good thing, too. Both teams had lost twice in a row, and now both face the year's biggest challenge in the week ahead.

The men, coming off a 67-64 win at Chadron, will go against UN-Nebraska Tuesday, Doane Thursday, Hastings Saturday, all at home, game time 7:30.

All three of those opponents beat Wayne earlier. For the Wildcats, now 13-7, no more losses are permissible if they cherish any chance at a post-season playoff. Even if they win everything, odds are against them. Nebraska foe Hastings, Kearney and Doane own better records at the moment.

For the women, the next test comes in the Nebraska state tournament Friday through Sunday at Fremont. With a 12-3 record, they are favored to win a third straight championship. Except for one close loss to Midland, they have bombed every other Nebraska foe except Kennedy, which is not eligible for the state tourney.

The Wildkittens frouched Chadron 84-36 — and none of the top three regulars played in fact, it was Peg Yockey, who seldom plays much, getting the top score: 18. Jay Powell hit 17, Lori Langell 14, Bobbi Brockwell 10 to lead the bid.

The male Wildcats, playing next, had a tougher chore subdued the Eagles, much improved in recent games.

Charlie Henderson led the Wildcat charge with a 12 point first half while Chadron spread its scoring pretty evenly to gain a 28-18 tie.

Thereafter, Rick Anderson took over, matching Henderson's first half dozen points, and four other Wildcats added enough to win Henderson finished with 19, Henderson 18, John Redmond 12, Neal Waide and Rex Pressler eight each.

For Chadron, Brad Biehl led on 20 and three others went 19, 12, 10.

The women's team lost to defending national All champion Kennedy Wednesday at Fremont, 53-44. Was coach G. Wiloughby disappointed? Not too much.

"I thought it was plenty good to hold Kennedy under 60 points. It was a hard, tough game!" the coach said.

Actually, free throws lost the game for Wayne. The Wildkittens hit 2-14 compared to Kennedy's 12-23.

'A' League Playoffs Start Monday Night

Playoff action in city recreation (Monday) with Teams 4 and 5 playing at 7:30. Both clubs are tied for last place in the five-team league with 2-6 records.

Team 5 lost its sixth game Monday, a 75-69 loss to Team 1 despite Dave Schuller's 31 points and Bob Weisenberg's 22. Randy Team 1 and Dennis Paul led Team 1 to its fifth win against three defeats with 21 and 20 markers.

Team 4 also lost its sixth game as season winner Team 2 posted its seventh win in eight games, 70-62.

Leading point man for the winners was Kerry Jack with 20; Jerry Tietz had 26 for the losers.

Teams 1 and 3 battle at 8:30 Monday while Team 2 draws a bye.

Other scoring: Team 1—Tim Robinson 18, Mike Loole 12, Tom Roberts 10, Team 5—Ron Dalton, 10, Don Zeiss 4, Duane Blomkamp 2, Team 2—Mike Creighton 19, Shane Giese 13, Charlie Roland 10, Steve Hix 6, Vaughn Benson 2, Team 4—Ward Baretlam 16, Breck Giese 16, Jeff Lamp 4.

Grapplers Savor 7-7 Dual Mark

After two dual wins Wednesday, Wayne State wrestlers could savor the pleasure of a 5-0 record for the first time since they were 1-1.

However, the Wildcats faced three strong teams in a triple dual here Saturday. Augsburg, often a high placer in the NAIA Nationals, Augustana, and Fort Hays State.

And tonight (Monday) Wayne has another formidable assignment against Peru State and Grandland, in a double dual at Peru. Pure toplicity is rated in the matchup.

Wednesday, Wayne defeated Concordia 11-6 and Yankton 27-17 in between, Yankton whipped Concordia, 36-17.

Against Yankton, the burden of team victory finally rested on heavyweight Charlie Brockman, freshman from hometown Wayne who has had little action since a knee injury.

Wayne led by 21-17 when Brockman took the mat against Yankton's muscular Tom White. And Brockman showed the stuff that Wayne High fans enjoyed last year. He pinned White in 3:35 after mauling him all the way.

Another Wayne product, senior Jim Meyer, won a 3-0 decision against Yankton after claiming a forfeit win from Concordia. Arnie Stiefken, also of Wayne, beat his Concordia foe, but suffered a pin against Yankton. Craig Hellwege and Fred Spalle both won twice for Wayne, at 13-4 and 19-0.

Self-Employed Have Optional Method for Keeping SS Benefits

People who had low net earnings from self employment in 1974 may get social security credit if they report their earnings by an optional method, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

Instead of reporting net earnings for the year, people can report two-thirds of gross earnings from self-employment for social security credit—if two-thirds is $400 or more and not more than $1600, provided these amounts are not less than their actual net earnings, he said.

"They can get social security credit if their net for the year is under $400 but their gross is $600 or more and they report their self-employment earnings by the optional method, according to Branch.

Earnings reports and social security contributions should be sent with income tax returns to the Internal Revenue Service by April 15.

The optional method of reporting may be used only by people who had net self-employment earnings of $400 or more and they report their self-employment earnings of $400 or more for at least two of the three previous years. Under the law, the option may be used only five times.

Eligibility for social security benefits depends on credits earned by people who work in jobs covered by social security. The amount of monthly social security benefits is based on the worker's average earnings over a period of years.

People can call or write any social security office for more information about the optional method of reporting self-employment earnings. Branch noted.

THE MOST EVIL MAN IN THE U.S.A.

A few notes on the evil he created in 1969.

He found a quarter of a million "unemployables" who never could hold steady jobs.

He trained them and put them into work that pays money they never dreamed of earning before.

He's a businessman.

For poor kids who couldn't otherwise go to college, he took three hundred and fifty millions and saw to it that those who earned them got scholarships.

He gave eight hundred million to non-profit organizations for medical research, to help stamp out cancer and heart disease and a hundred other dread diseases of the world.

To build new housing for the poor and middle-incomes in U. S. cities, he put up one billion and a quarter dollars, so more people can live in decency.

Sure, he's been a polluter — as has everyone from the U. S. government to ordinary citizens. But last year he scraped up two and one half billions to fight pollution of air and water and nature. This year he plans to get up four billion more, to keep up the battle.

After that, he put up fifteen billion dollars in Social Security taxes to help provide support and medical care for senior citizens. And he added forty-one billion dollars in income taxes to help pay the bills of the U. S. A.

And all the while, he was contributing millions of hours of personal and business time to virtually every humanitarian cause you've ever heard of.

He's a businessman. The most evil man in the U. S. A.

Isn't it time somebody had a good word for this evil man who happens to do so much good for so many people?

We think so.

Rain Saving Is For You!

Subsoil moisture levels are very low as any operator in this area is well aware.

Moisture to raise a profitable crop is going to be a prime, but scarce commodity in the 1974 crop year. There, of course, is nothing you can do about rain; or is there? You can't make it rain another half inch, let alone 1 or 2 inches when you need it. You may not be able to make it rain, but there are several things you can do to save the rain we do get.

The benefits of a mulch of crop residue have been well documented by land-grant college research in several midwestern states. The residue acts as a sponge to allow moisture to soak into your seedbed rather than to puddle and run-off under bareland farming.

Comparison of Average Available Soil Moisture (June, July, and August) to the 18 inch depth for conventional and No-Tillage corn, 1960-1965.

Are You A 'Window-Box' Farmer?

Packed ground not only reduces moisture intake rates but reduces root growth. Plant roots in a good environment may grow up to 2 1/2 inches per day. In compacted soil, this growth may drop to 1/4 inch per day or stop altogether. No matter how much moisture is in the soil if the crop roots can't reach it, it's as good as gone.

Crops are often expected to grow and mature in volume of soil as deep as the plow sole and 12-13 inches wide. The plow pan below and compacted soil on each side can severely limit root development and consequently reduce yields.

"Greenhouse Farming" may work for flowers and tomatoes but corn and beans — well, that's another story.

Did you know that, according to the University of Illinois, the fuel needed to moldboard plow is enough to disk once, plant, knife in an hydrous ammonia plus cultivate once! Also, the evaporation that can follow plowing 6-10 inches deep can take an inch of rain to replace!

With the moisture losses, increased run-off as well as time and fuel requirements, why plow at all?

Review these suggestions as you make plans for your 1975 cropping season.

1. Plowing six inches deep can cause evaporation from the soil equaling an inch of rain.
2. Fields with last year's crop residue are able to soak up moisture much more effectively than bare fields.
3. Less water run-off means less soil loss, less expensive fertilizer and chemical treatments go down the creek.
4. Time savings are like saving a week of time on the tractor for every 100 acres of rowcrops you raise.
