

Council Moves Toward Leasing Power Plant to NPPD

By NORVIN HANSEN
Members of Wayne's city council have taken the first step on a road which could lead to leasing the municipal power plant to Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD).
The council voted 7-1 Tuesday night to notify NPPD that the city intends to enter into an agreement to lease the plant to NPPD and end its function of producing electricity for local customers.
That first step is a tentative one, however, for the NPPD board of directors has yet to approve the final contract which would be offered to communities such as Wayne which are considering leasing their power plants to NPPD so NPPD can put them into operation during times of high demand.

The 7-1 vote, with councilman Ted Bahe casting the lone dissenting vote, came after a private engineer from Omaha, Norman Armstrong, reviewed projections which he said showed that the local power plant is "more valuable" as a peaking plant leased to NPPD than it is as a local generating plant.
The vote also came after city administrator Fred Brink emphasized to the council that costs of producing electricity locally have outstripped income for the past "several years."

"If you have a history of expenditures over income, you're going to go broke," he noted.
Pointing to recent increases in the cost of diesel fuel used at the power plant and expenses incurred by the city when it filed its lines into those of NPPD as reasons for the monthly losses at the power plant, Brink said a lease agreement with NPPD is one way the city "can do a complete turnaround" so the financial losses at the power plant can be eliminated.
In effect, a lease agreement with NPPD would permit the power company to put the power plant into production each time NPPD is unable to produce enough electricity for its customers, according to Brink. Those times would come most often during the summer when demand is high for electricity, he noted.

In return, NPPD would pay the city of Wayne a set rate depending on the kilowatt capacity of the plant. That payment would likely be about $200,000 a year and could go as high as $300,000 a year if investments were made by the city to improve plant production capabilities, he said.
At the same time, the city would purchase electricity from NPPD for distribution to local residents.

Under the lease agreement being considered by the city, NPPD would pay for all fuel costs for operating the plant, according to Brink. The city would be responsible for labor and maintenance at the plant and for upkeep and expansion of the electrical distribution system servicing the community.
There would be no "drastic changes in plant personnel" if the lease agreement is completed between the city and NPPD, according to Brink. The plant can not be shut down completely and would require employees to be on duty at all times so it could be put into operation when NPPD requested, he said.

If NPPD is able to put its nuclear generating plants into production as scheduled and if the cost of diesel fuel doesn't drop drastically, the city could purchase electricity from NPPD for less than the cost of fuel currently being consumed at the local power plant, according to Brink.
NPPD's board of directors isn't expected to approve the leasing contract until its April meeting, Brink said.
The city council will then be able to review the contract and decide if it would be better for the city to lease the plant to NPPD, he added.

Bicentennial Group Plans A County 'Hall of Fame'

Well-known people who have lived in Wayne County for at least 75 years will be named to a Hall of Fame as part of the county's American Bicentennial effort.
Members of Wayne's committee which has been working on planning projects so the county can help mark the nation's second hundred years of existence agreed to the Hall of Fame idea at their meeting Friday evening.
Persons who would like to be included in the Hall of Fame or who know others who should be listed are urged to get in touch with Mrs. Jocelyn Bull, director of the Senior Citizens Center in Wayne.
The Hall of Fame will honor persons who have made outstanding contributions to area communities and the county in the past 75 years, according to Mrs. Ron Mau of Wayne, secretary of the bicentennial organization.
Named last week by the county commissioners as co-chairman of the countywide bicentennial effort were Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Jones of rural Carroll. They will help Mrs. Roberta Weite of Wayne in planning activities of interest to all residents of the county.

Also planned as part of the county's observance of the nation's bicentennial is a cookbook project being undertaken by members of the 18 extension clubs in the county.
In charge of that project are Mrs. Norris Langenberg of Hoskins and Mrs. Dennis Otte of Wayne.
Each extension club member is to choose her favorite recipe published several years ago and to contribute two others for consideration for use in the bicentennial cookbook.
The new cookbook is expected to be compiled and printed so it is ready for sale by early next year.
Guests at last week's meeting of the bicentennial committee were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Miller of Winslow, Wayne Kwanian Dan Sherry, extension club member Mrs. Terry Bartling of Wayne, county agricultural agent Don Spitze and Tood Manske of Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, who are working on plans for the annual Old Settlers Celebration at Win side this summer, emphasized during the meeting that the celebration is actually a county wide event rather than a Win side event.
They noted that the July 22-24 celebration will have a bicentennial theme this year.
The Wayne County Teen Society, a group of 4-H junior leaders, have agreed to take on the upkeep of LaPorte Cemetery southeast of Wayne for the next two years as their bicentennial project.
The county commissioners are currently considering a request for $250 to help with that upkeep.
In other bicentennial activities Charles Maier of Wayne is requesting help in locating historical sites and buildings in the county. Persons who know of sites or buildings with historical importance are being asked to get in touch with him so they may be identified.

Plans now call for holding a large bicentennial celebration in Wayne July 25 next year. The celebration will include a large parade on July 5.
Next meeting of the bicentennial organization will be Friday, April 4, at 7:30 in the Woman's Club room at the city auditorium in Wayne. The meeting is open to the public.
Tickets on Sale For Inauguration Of Dr. Seymour
Tickets continue on sale until April 7 for the banquet scheduled the evening of the inauguration of Dr. Lyle Seymour as president of Wayne State College.
Tickets for the April 11 inauguration banquet are available at $5 each from the Chamber of Commerce office at 108 W. Third St. or at the business office at Wayne State College.
All activities scheduled for April 11 are open to the public, according to Mrs. Corneil Renshaw, head of a committee in charge of those activities.
However, seating is limited for the banquet, scheduled for the south dining room at the Student Center, so persons wishing to attend that 7:30 p.m. event should obtain their tickets as early as possible, she noted.
The tickets permit persons to attend the 5:30 p.m. social hour at the Wayne Country Club, she added.
Dr. Seymour's inauguration is scheduled for 7:30 a.m. in the Theater in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. A reception open to the public will be held in the tower of the fine arts center immediately following the ceremonies.
Inauguration activities continue Saturday morning with 9:30 breakfast for out of town guests at Redeemer Lutheran Church. Scheduled for 1:30 that afternoon is a dedication ceremony at the Walter Benhack Applied Science Building. An open house will be held at that building from 2 to 4 p.m. that afternoon.
Wayne State art teacher Ray Replogle is in the process of casting a bronze medallion for a special design he created for the inauguration. The design combines the first two letters of the college's name and the lamp of learning symbol used by the college.
The medallion will be presented to Dr. Seymour at his inauguration.
Night Showing of 'Sawyer' Changed
The date for the evening performance of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," the 17th annual children's show to be put on by the Wayne State College Theater Department, has been rescheduled from April 3 to April 2, according to Dr. Helen Russell, head of the college's theater department.
The evening performance will be at 8 p.m. in the WS Ramsey Theater.
Other performances are 1 p.m. March 31 and April 1, 2 and 4, and 10 a.m. on April 1 and April 3.
Dr. Russell said early reservations are advised because of limited seating capacity.

Ah, Good Old Nebraska Springtime

SPRING came to the Wayne area last week, just like the calendar said it would, bringing with it near shirtsleeve temperatures, sunny days and a promise of golf or tennis within a week or so. The weather also lulled area people, making them completely unprepared for the Sunday Monday storm which blanketed the area in white, made roads impassable and closed area schools. It also turned motorcycles, a sure sign of spring, into black and white machines which looked out of place when the storm blew itself out late Monday. Another picture, page eight of the second section.

WS Art Club Plans Confab For HS Artists

Wayne State College Art Club members have announced plans for the annual High School Art Conference to be held on campus Thursday and Friday, April 3-4.
All area high schools have been invited to participate in the two day event, according to Ray Replogle, WSC art instructor and Art Club sponsor.
Wayne State art students will set up sculpture, pottery, crafts, drawing and painting demonstrations throughout the Fine Arts Building and possibly in the Student Center so visiting students can get an idea of courses offered and techniques involved.
A special feature of the conference this year will be demonstrations by visiting artists Elliott Pujol and Angelo Garzio from Kansas State University in Manhattan, Kan.
Pujol, who is assistant professor of metal smithing at KSU, plans a jewelry demonstration, and Garzio, in charge of the KSU ceramics department, will demonstrate pottery and will discuss ceramics.

WHS Speakers Get 4 Superiors

Wayne High contestants garnered four superior ratings Tuesday in the Class A division of the District III speech contest held at Wayne State College.
Jo Tomrle and Lisa Tooker both won superiors in oral interpretation of poetry, and Mike Schmidt won a superior in oral interpretation of prose.
Wayne took a superior for oral interpretation of drama with a cast of Deb Wolke, Erin O'Donnell, Mike Schmidt, Mark Kramer and Janet Spillinger doing "Murder."
Two Laurel entries won superior ranking: Tim Garvin in after-dinner speaking and Gary Olson in original public address, and Class A competition, for schools of 200 or more students, went on as scheduled Tuesday. Class B schools had to wait till Wednesday after weather postponed the Monday contest.

2 Farm Youths Selected for April Seminar

Two Wayne County Farm youths have been selected by the Wayne County Farm Bureau to attend a Youth Citizenship Seminar at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in April.
Selected were Sheila Gramlich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gramlich of Carroll, and Ver Neal Marotz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Marotz of Winslow.
The seminar is being held to give youths from across the state a better understanding of their Nebraska heritage and the unicameral system.
Among those helping conduct the seminar, scheduled for April 7-9, will be Dr. Robert Mantley, who will speak on Nebraska's history, and Dr. Roger Weisch, who will talk about folk songs and folklore. Both are from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.
Also on hand for the three-day meeting will be Kenneth Cheatham of the American Farm Bureau, the Rev. Peter Todd of the American Evangelical Association and Danish immigrant Karl Killsholm of Algona, Ia.
Miss Gramlich, a sophomore at Wayne High School, is active in 4-H and serves as 4-H junior leader. She attended 4-H camp at Halsey last summer. Her interests include cooking, sewing and home living projects.
Marotz is a sophomore at Winslow High School where he plays basketball, lifts weight, plays bass drum in the high school band and sings in Swing Choir. He also enjoys playing the organ. He is a member of St. See YOUTH, page 3

Council Votes to Ask Governor To Veto Bill on Publishing Claims

Wayne's city council Tuesday night voted unanimously to appeal to the governor to veto a bill passed by the Legislature which would require cities of 40,000 population or less to publish a list of claims paid by the city.
Action came after councilman Vernon Russell called the recently passed bill a "political maneuver" by the newspapers in Nebraska to charge the public more money.
"I've had no requests for it (publication of claims by the city)," said Russell.
Mayor Freeman Decker argued that if the bill is good for cities of 40,000 population or less, it should be good for Lincoln and Omaha as well as the University of Nebraska and Wayne State College, which also spend tax money in their operations.
Noting that councilmen review all claims before they are paid, Decker said "the amount of money we spend is peanuts" compared to the money spent by other governmental agencies and subdivisions in the state.
Fourth ward councilman John Vakoc said that he would personally see to it that a list of claims paid by the city is mailed to everybody in the fourth ward who requests them.
City clerk treasurer Bruce Mordhorst has estimated that it would cost Wayne an additional $3,000 each year to publish all claims paid by the city, something the city is not now doing.
However, that figure is considerably higher than estimates made by the Nebraska Press Association.
Publication of claims by the city of Papillion, which has a population of 5,606, averages about $14.44 per month, according to the association. Scottsbluff, population 14,507, spends about $32 each month to publish a list of claims paid by its governing body.

After voting 8-0 to ask the governor to veto the bill, the council voted 7-1 to donate $4,000 for the third straight year to the College Community Committee.
The committee has used previous donations from the city to advertise Wayne State College in an attempt to halt declining enrollment.
Voting against making the donation was Vakoc. Favoring it were Darrell Fuelleber, Leg Hansen, Ivan Beeks, Carolyn Filler, Ted Bahe, Jim Thomas and Russell.
In other action, the council voted 8-0 to enter into a five-year agreement with the Wayne See COUNCIL, page 8 representative form of government work better," Thone said.

Thone, who represents the 27 counties in Nebraska's First Congressional District, will speak to the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce at noon that day and will address the Pierce County Livestock Feeders in Pierce that evening.
He will speak to the Cedar-Rixon Farm Bureau at the Laurel city auditorium at 7 p.m. April 3 after having private meetings in South Sioux City during the day.
On April 4, Thone will speak to business leaders in Lincoln, to a student convocation at Lincoln Southeast High School and at a Saunders County Farm Bureau meeting.
April 5 will be spent at the Founders Day activities of the Nebraska Republican Party in Norfolk, and on April 6, Thone will make appearances in Beatrice and Lincoln.

Public Invited to Meet Thone Here on April 2

A three-hour "Meet Your Congressman" session has been scheduled by Rep. Charles Thone at the Wayne County courthouse from 2 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, April 2.
Thone will speak at the session in the district courtroom and will meet with individuals who either have problems with federal agencies or wish to express opinions concerning pending federal legislation.
Residents of Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, Thurston and Wayne Counties are invited by Thone to meet with him.
"With this three-hour session, I hope to be able to give everyone the time they need. Last year, I scheduled a 'Meet Your Congressman' meeting in each county, and I spent much more time traveling than I did visiting with people," Thone said.

Freel-Noe Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Freel of Salem, Ore., and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Noe of Dixon announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their children, Lt. Carol J. Freel to Maj. Paul E. Noe, both of Pirmasens, Germany.

Lt. Freel graduated from South Salem High School in 1967. In 1971 she received a degree in resource recreation management from Oregon State University where she was affiliated with Chi Omega Sorority. She is presently employed as an adjutant at the Pirmasens Army Depot.

Her fiancé is a 1963 Laurel High School graduate. He graduated from the University of Nebraska Dental College in 1970 with a bachelor of science degree and doctor of dental surgery degree. In 1970 he entered active duty in the Army dental division and has served in Korea, Thailand, Alabama and Germany. He is presently serving as a general dental officer.

Plans are being made for an April 26 wedding at the First Congregational Church of Christ at Salem, Ore.

Spring Styles Modeled

The Wayne State College Faculty Wives and Women's spring style show held at the college Saturday drew approximately 110 members and guests. Decorations for the luncheon-style show were in the Easter motif and featured straw baskets, ribbons and spring flowers.

Among the models were Mrs. Gwen Brandenburg, Mrs. Anthonie Garlick, Mrs. Charles Hepburn, Mrs. Allen O'Donnell, Mrs. Ruby Pedersen, Mrs. Michael Palumbo, Mrs. Neil Swanson, Mrs. Rafael Sosa, Mrs.

Raymond Schreiner and Mrs. R. L. Rasmussen.

The show was narrated by Mrs. F. O. Urwiler of the Village Vogue at Laurel. Pianist was Jeri Hanzlík.

Co-chairmen of the planning committee for the annual show were Mrs. Larry Schultz and Mrs. Cornell Runestad, assisted by Mrs. Ratael Sosa, Mrs. Ed Elliott, Mrs. Anthony Garlick, Mrs. Allen O'Donnell, Mrs. R. L. Rasmussen and Mrs. Michael Palumbo.

The luncheon marked the group's last activity for the year.

Club Fare Potluck

Thirteen LaPorte Club members met for a potluck dinner March 16 in the Carl Sundell home. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomsen of Laurel.

Next meeting will be in the Carl Bichel home April 15 at 2 p.m.

Rummage Sale Slated For 19th, Not 9th

Saturday, April 19, is the date set for the Wayne Hospital Auxiliary's community-wide rummage sale. A story which appeared in last Monday's issue of The Wayne Herald incorrectly gave April 9 as the date for the sale.

The sale, which is being held to raise money for a memorial for Dr. Roy Matson, who died Dec. 30 after practicing in Wayne for nearly 30 years, is scheduled to get underway at 10 a.m. at the city auditorium.

The auxiliary is asking for volunteers to help collect, sort, price and sell items for the sale. Persons who have articles they wish to donate or who would like to volunteer their help should contact Mrs. Richard Keidel, Mrs. Orville Sherry, Mrs. Wilmer Marra or auxiliary president Mrs. Mathilde Harms.

Cards for 85th

A card shower is being planned for Ertrid Allvin of rural Wayne, who will observe his 85th birthday April 2.

Allvin, who was born in 1890 at Vimmerby, Sweden, came to America in April of 1913 and was married to Goldie Ireland in June of 1922. The couple has resided on the same farm near Wayne since their marriage.

Their children are Mrs. Elmer (Ruth) Wacker of Wayne, Mrs. Henry A. (Violet) Arp of Carroll, Mrs. Carl B. (Donna) Nelson of Plainview, Mrs. Herbert (Dorothy) Brader of Craig, Carl of Wayne and Jerry of Wakefield. A son, Dean, died in 1956. There are 34 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Salad Supper to Help Finance AFS Program

At their March meeting, members of the Wayne chapter of the American Field Service made plans to sponsor a salad supper in April to raise funds needed to bring an exchange student to Wayne High School during the 1975-76 school year.

Helping to sponsor the supper, scheduled for April 10 at the city auditorium, will be members of Wayne High's AFS committee.

Serving will be from 5:30 to 8 p.m. The price, 75 cents for children 10 and under and $1.50 for adults, includes a tavern, beverages and salad.

Chairman for the supper is Mrs. Max Lundstrom.

According to AFS president Mrs. LeRoy Simpson, continuous entertainment will be provided throughout the evening and persons planning to attend are encouraged to bring a salad to help the AFS in their fund raising efforts.

Mrs. Simpson said the local chapter hopes to be able to raise enough money from the supper to meet half to two-thirds of the total cost of financing next year's exchange student.

New officers, who will take over at the May meeting of the American Field Service are Mrs. Herb Niemann, president; Mrs. Deardil Hamm, vice president; Mrs. Max Lundstrom, secretary, and Mrs. Rowan Wilse, treasurer.

Next AFS committee meeting will be April 2 with Mrs. LeRoy Simpson at 8 p.m.

June 7 wedding is being planned at Wakefield.

Twelve Attend Saturday Fete

Twelve guests, present from Allen, Martinsburg, Ponca and Sioux City, attended a personal bridal courtesy for Diane E. Fahrneholtz of Allen in the Ken Linafelter home at Allen Saturday afternoon.

Decorations were in pink and blue, colors chosen by the bride elect for her April 4 wedding at the Allen First Lutheran Church.

Hostesses for Saturday's fete were Denise Linafelter of Allen and Karen Schultz of Ponca.

Members Give Remedy For Common Cold

Thirteen members of the Happy Homemakers Home Extension Club, responding to roll call with a home remedy for the common cold, attended the group's Thursday meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert Greenwald.

The hostess read an article on cholesterol in foods. Members were urged to submit recipes for the new extension club cookbook and lessons for 1978 were discussed.

The lesson on fabric flammability and clothing was given by Mrs. Kenneth Frevert.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Leon Meyer April 17 at 1:30 p.m.

200 Students, Teachers Attend Spring Meeting Of Jr Science Academy

About 200 students and teachers from area schools attended the spring meeting of the North-east Nebraska Junior Academy of Science (NEN JAS) held Saturday at Wayne State College.

Students from 10 of the schools participated in the student exposition, presenting 100 science reports for judging during the morning session. Following lunch and an afternoon program, awards were presented by NEN JAS president Ed Mundt, Logan View High School, and NEN JAS secretary Harlan Pankratz of Wayne State College.

First, second and third place ribbons were awarded, and seven overall winners (six of them from West Point Cedar Catholic High School and one from Stanton High School) received special trophies and certificates.

Overall winners, who presented their reports to the entire assembly at the conclusion of the program, were Mike Schorn and Mike Oigmueller, WPC, "Effects of Sugar on Rabbit's Blood" in junior high physical science category; Judy Steuter, WPC, "Bromelin, a Protein-Splitting Enzyme," and Nancy Englemeyer, WPC, "A Comparative Study of Auxins on Bean Seedlings," both in the junior high life science category; Peter Lueninghofer, Stanton, "Nature's Master Engineer," and Geri Schaal, WPC, "The Hormonal Control of Metamorphosis in Vanessa Cardui," both in the biology category; Jacklyn Hunke, WPC, "Unique Discoveries in a Study of Points," math category; and Terry Banthorst, WPC, "A Fluid Medium," physics-chemistry category.

Prior to the awards presentation the visiting students had their choice of a science program presented by WSC students Beverly Meyer, Rita Melisfrik, Curt Willard and Dale Tomrdle, or a show at the Dale Planetarium.

Serving as judges for the exposition were 44 Wayne State College instructors, Wayne State students and area high school instructors.

First place winners included Michael Reibusch of Wayne.

Among the second place winners were Dennis Magnuson, Don Nelson, Steve Brandt, Judy Korn and Sherry McClain, all of Wayne.

Third place winners included Ed Fletcher, Randy Park, Steve Gramlich, Lori Hall, Peggy DeTurk, Sheila Gramlich and David Sherry, all of Wayne.

'Psst! Uncle Sam Going to Tap $8.19 Million in Taxes This Year'

Residents of Wayne County, as they prepare for the April 15th tax deadline, are once again becoming sharply aware of the big bite the federal government takes out of their earnings.

Last April their combined contributions to the federal coffers added up to approximately $8,270,000.

And this year, for those who were fully employed throughout 1974 and were, in most instances, earning more than they had in 1973, the tax payments will be even larger than before. On the other hand, those who were unemployed part of the time will be turning in less.

Overall, the federal government expects that its tax receipts will be somewhat smaller than they were a year ago. Just how much smaller is indicated in the new budget.

Nationally, it calls for about $203 billion in individual and employment taxes, $2 billion less than was collected a year ago.

Wayne County's share of this tax load was determined by an unofficial breakdown of the returns received in the past year from the state of Nebraska as a whole. The statewide total was $1,426,000,000, according to the Department of Treasury.

Of this total, local residents contributed an estimated 58 percent, the figures show.

This year, reflecting changes that took place in 1974, their tax liability is expected to be close to $8,192,000.

The expectation is that it will be considerably less than that next year. Just how much less is an open question at the present time.

Both the President and the Congress favor a tax cut of sizeable proportions to put more buying power into the hands of consumers and thereby induce them to spend more. That, in turn, would put the wheels of industry into higher gear and create more jobs.

Also proposed, with the same objective, is a rebate on some of their 1974 tax payments.

For the forthcoming fiscal year, personal income and employment taxes of only $183 billion or so are called for in the budget.

The cut, on that basis, would mean that Wayne County taxpayers—as a whole—would have about 10 per cent less to pay, all other factors remaining constant.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. George Holekamp

Funeral services and burial for Mrs. George Holekamp of Glendora, Calif., formerly of Carroll, were held March 20 at Glendora. She died at a nursing home where she resided at the age of 92 years.

Preceding her in death were her husband and a son, Nolan. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Bob (Aylet) Davis and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Marion Stephens Holekamp, both of Glendora, and two sisters, Mrs. Clara King of Lincoln and Marie Everson of Glendora.

Anna Ahern

Former Carroll resident Anna Ahern of Ft. Worth, Tex., died Friday at Ft. Worth at the age of 79 years. Funeral services were to have been held Wednesday at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Wayne.

The Rev. Thomas E. McDermott officiated and pallbearers were Paul Broeker, Harry Hefel, Anton Pedersen, Edwal Roberts, Johnny Paulsen and Ted Winterstein. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Anna Marie Ahern, daughter of James F. and Anna Theresa Finn Stanton, was born Nov. 30, 1895 at Wayne. At the age of four years, she moved to Carroll. In November of 1932, she was married to Maurice Ahern at Wayne. The couple lived in Carroll, where he was postmaster and she was a clerk at the post office for many years. She moved to Ft. Worth, Tex., three years ago, to be near her son, William.

She is preceded in death by her husband in 1961 and one brother. Survivors include a son, William Ahern of Ft. Worth, Tex.; two grandchildren; a brother, James Frank Stanton of Atascadero, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Arthur (Madeline) Burbridge of Bloomfield, and several nieces and nephews.

Adolph Baier

Adolph Baier of Wayne died Sunday at the Pierce Manor at the age of 80 years. Funeral services were to have been held Wednesday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wayne, with the Rev. Doniver Peterson officiating.

Pallbearers were Glenn Slaver, Randy Baker, Mark Meyer, Roger Boeckenhauer, Keith Boeckenhauer and Tim Boeckenhauer. Burial was in the Greenwood Cemetery.

The son of Daniel and Augusta Kleine Baier, he was born Sept. 2, 1894 in Wayne County. On April 29, 1919, he was united in marriage to Dora Meierdierks at the Theophilus Church southwest of Wayne. The couple farmed until 1950 when they retired to an acreage near Wayne and moved into Wayne about five years ago.

Preceding him in death were his wife in June of 1974, three brothers and one sister. Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. William (Edna) Slaver of Pierce, Mrs. Clyde (Inez) Baker of Wayne, and Mrs. Ruben (Elta) Meyer and Mrs. Clarence (Donna) Boeckenhauer, both of Wakefield; 11 grandchildren; 13 great grandchildren; six brothers, Lou, Chris, Otto, Alfred, Paul and Walt, all of Wayne, and three sisters, Mrs. Albert (Ida) Bichel and Mrs. William (Erna) Mellor, both of Wayne, and Mrs. Ralph (Frieda) Austin, of Norfolk.

IRS Q & A
Q. How are meal and mileage allowances treated under the Pay regulations?
A. In general, most firms reimburse employees for meals and mileage charges while on company business. They are allowable tax-deductible expenses for the firm. Therefore, they are not considered either part of an employee's hourly pay rate or fringe benefits under normal circumstances.

Q. Are longevity increases subject to the Pay Board's 5.5 per cent standard?
A. No. Longevity increases provided for in an employment contract or pay practice in existence on Nov. 13, 1971 (or continued in a successor contract or pay practice) may continue to operate without being charged to the 5.5 per cent standard so long as they remain unchanged.

Q. Are longevity increases provided for in an employment contract or pay practice in existence on Nov. 13, 1971 (or continued in a successor contract or pay practice) may continue to operate without being charged to the 5.5 per cent standard so long as they remain unchanged.

These longevity increases must be solely related to the employee's length of service and must operate without significant affirmative exercise of employer discretion or subjective evaluation of the employee's work performance. The only conditions which can attach to the increase are satisfactory work performance and length of service.

County Is Converting to Microfilming Records

Workers last week wrestled the large photographic machine out of the Wayne County Clerk's offices and began installing new microfilming equipment.

The switch in the method of reproducing documents in the courthouse should save money as well as reduce the space needed for storage, according to clerk Norris Weible.

The microfilming equipment being installed cost approximately $14,000, according to Weible.

The equipment will enable Weible, who is register of deeds for the county, to reproduce on small strips of film the large documents recorded almost daily in his office. Those documents include deeds, mortgages and real estate contracts, he said.

The microfilming equipment also will enable the offices of the county judge and the clerk of district court to record their documents on microfilm, speeding up the recording process and reducing storage problems, according to Weible.

One copy of the microfilm will be kept in the courthouse for use by county officials and the public, said Weible, while another copy will be sent to Lincoln to be kept permanently on file. In case the records in the courthouse are ever destroyed, duplicates can be obtained from the copy in Lincoln, he noted.

Many counties in Nebraska, especially the larger ones, have been converting to microfilming their records in recent years. Weible said the smaller counties are beginning to follow suit, he added.

WAYNE COUNTY clerk Norris Weible, right, listens as Steve Johnson of Sioux City explains the functions of the new microfilming equipment now installed in the court house. The equipment will record the large documents Weible is holding onto the small strip of film in Johnson's hands.

home March 16 after spending three weeks in the Leslie Sherman home, Vermillion, while they were vacating in the southern states. Charles Sherman, Tuscon, Ariz., returned home with them and spent the week with his mother. Mrs. Sherman and Charles were Monday supper guests in the Ralph Stark home, Ponca. Tuesday supper guests of the Donald Shermans, Wayne, and were Saturday supper guests in the Wilmer Hertel home.

11 Members at Even Dozen Club

By Mrs. Louis Hansen 287-2346

Mrs. Dean Meyer was hostess to the Even Dozen Club last Tuesday. Eleven members attended wearing something green in honor of St. Patrick's Day. Guests were Mrs. Jerold Meyer, Mrs. Glen Nichols and Hglli and Kristin Swanson.

Mrs. Dean Meyer and Mrs. Arnold Hammer were honored with the birthday song. Mrs. Verona Henschke had charge of entertainment with prizes in cards going to Mrs. Arnold Hammer, Mrs. Louis Hansen, Mrs. John Greve and Mrs. Elsie Tarnow.

April 15 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Albert G. Nelson. Members will hold a plant or bulb exchange.

Club Meets Wednesday

Serve All Extension Club met last Wednesday with Mrs. William Driskell. Ten members were present to answer roll call with lesson ideas for the coming year.

Mrs. Cornelius Leonard conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Rudy Longe, reading leader, reported on the use of aerosol sprays, telling members that materials used in the aerosol will eventually affect the oxygen supply.

Mrs. Driskell and Mrs. Rudy Longe presented the lesson on fabric flammability, telling of research and legislation concerning the flammability of fabrics and demonstrating how certain fabrics burn more rapidly than others.

Members brought recipes for the bicentennial cookbook and discussed visiting the Wakefield Care Center.

Mrs. Paul Everingham will be the April 16 hostess.

Allen High vocational-agricultural student and a three member team which finished first and second in Saturday competition will lead the parade of seven Allen entries going to the state voc ag meet in Lincoln April 3.

Headed the list will be Loren Bock who won the welding division and the tractor maintenance team of Rob Bock, Ted Maggart and Doug Peterson, which took second at Saturday's district voc ag meet at Allen.

Both Bock and teammate Todd Koester earned purple ribbons and qualified for state, said instructor Daryl McGhee. But each school is allowed to send only one representative in welding. McGhee said. Koester finished fifth in the competition.

McGhee also earned a purple while Maggart and Peterson received blue ribbons in the tractor maintenance competition. As a team, the trio received a purple.

Other Allen students who received ribbons were those entered in horticulture, electricity, agronomy, farm management, livestock management and poultry competition.

LeAnn Lubberstedt, Van Hanson and Rick Chase, Lubberstedt received a blue ribbon, her teammates reds. On the agronomy team were Jerry Stewart, white, Jack Warner and Dave Roth, neither received ribbons; farm management - Vic Schultz, blue; Mark Chapman, red; livestock management - Linda Koester, red, Jeff Cramer, no ribbon; poultry - Lin Smith, Rayme Dowling and Stan McAfee, no ribbons.

PART OF Allen's horticulture team, LeAnn Lubberstedt, and Rick Chase, study various leaves before identifying them.

The most serious communicable disease among American young people is venereal disease according to the Nebraska Medical Association. The big news on venereal disease is the willingness of the public to talk about and learn about these diseases so they can be eradicated.

The antique truck, pictured hauling pigs to Sioux City during Truckers' Day in May last year, was one of those described in a special story on antique International trucks still in use.

Drawing Tonight
Is Worth $300

This week's Birthday Bucks drawing in Wayne will be worth $300, the result of Ted Reed's winning the $1,000 prize last week.

Reed, of Wayne, was at Shrader & Allen Hatchery last week when the winning date, Feb. 16, 1975, was announced in all participating businesses. The winning date matched his birthday.

If nobody claims the grand prize in the drawing tonight (Thursday) at 8:15 o'clock, a $25 consolation prize will be given away and the grand prize will climb to $325 for next week's drawing.

Each week there is no grand prize winner, the top prize climbs $25 until it reaches a ceiling of $500.

No purchases are necessary and no registration is required to take part in the weekly drawings. However, a person must be present in one of the sponsoring businesses to claim either the grand or the consolation prize.

AFS Student to Talk

At Kiwanis Luncheon

Daniel daSilva, American Field Service student staying with the Deardiff Hamm family of Wayne, will be guest speaker for Monday's Kiwanis luncheon. A native of Brazil, he will talk about his homeland.

This week's scheduled talk by Wayne airport manager Allen Robinson was postponed until a later date when snows forced members to cancel Monday's meeting.

Robinson, who replaced Don Johnson, was scheduled to discuss private aviation, said program chairman Dick Manley.

Pruning Ornamental Trees
Now through May is the best time for pruning lawn trees, junipers and flowering shrubs. Annual light pruning is better than occasional, heavy pruning. Size, shape and health of plants can be maintained by annual, light pruning if you start when plants are small and follow a good pruning program.

If trees or shrubs have grown too large and heavy pruning is required, do the work in two or three annual steps. If a deciduous hedge has grown too large, cut the hedge to the ground and shape the new growth that develops from the crowns of the plants. Shaping can be done by shearing or by selective pruning when the new growth is 10 to 15 inches tall. The base of the hedge should be kept wider than the top. Allow about three years to regenerate a three to four-foot hedge of cotoneaster or privet.

Early flowering shrubs such as spirea, lilac and forsythia are best pruned immediately after silicon, which makes up 28 percent of the earth's crust, stands second only to oxygen in abundance among the elements, and forms the basic stuff of most soil and rock. National Geographic says.

they flower. Flower buds of those plants develop later in the summer and open the following year. Spring pruning would remove many of the flower buds before they have a chance to bloom.

Pruning Systems

For shrubs and for "natural form" hedges: Annually remove about one-third of the oldest, tallest stems plus weak sucker shoots and one-third of the strong new shoots. Leave strong new shoots that are within the size and shape desired. Plants included in this system are dogwood, lilac, forsythia, cotoneaster, spirea and privet.

For evergreen shrubs, small trees and shade trees: Prune oversized branches back to a smaller branch growing in the same general direction as the part removed. This procedure reduces height and spread without changing the form of the plant. Plants included in this system are spruces, pines, firs, yew, juniper, cedar and cypress.

Deciduous trees in this system are flowering crab, mountain ash, redbud, green ash, hackberry, elms, cottonwood, maple, locust and oaks to name a few.

Common Denominator: Swine Problems

THE WAYNE AREA took a touch of England earlier this week when Dr. Richard Penny, second from right, stopped in Wayne on his way to review the foot and leg research being done on swine at the Northeast Station near Concord. One of the world's leading authorities on the subject, he and Dr. Alex Hogg of the University of Nebraska extension veterinary department, left stopped in to visit with local veterinarians. From left, J. J. Liska, Ken Liska and Dave Swerczek. Dr. Penny is with the Royal College of Veterinary Medicine at the University of London. He had spoken at the annual meeting of the American Association of Swine Practitioners at Kansas City before coming to Nebraska and was scheduled to speak at colleges throughout the country before returning to England.

Deadline Near For Applications

Juniors and seniors in high school wishing to attend this summer's Nebraska Agricultural Youth Institute at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln have until Tuesday to complete application forms, according to Wayne High guidance counselor Ken Carlson.

The institute will be held at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education on the NU campus July 28-Aug. 1. Sponsor ing the event are the state department of education, Farmers Home Administration and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Youths attending the five-day institute will listen to guest speakers and take part in discussions aimed at pinpointing problems facing today's farmers as well as possible solutions. Scholarships are available which will pay the $300 cost of fees and room and board for those attending the institutes, according to Carlson.

Area youths wishing to apply for the scholarships may obtain application blanks from Carlson or from their county agricultural agent.

SS Manager Urges Caution for Farmers Nearing Retirement

Self-employed farmers could lose part of their social security payments for a year even though they sold all their products in the year before they became age 65 or after they became age 72, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

Contrary to common belief, social security benefits are not withheld just for the month or months in which the farmer receives his income. For a farmer who works every month of the year, $1 of his yearly social security payment is withheld for every $2 his net profit exceeds $2,520, said Branch.

For example, Mr. Farmer became age 72 in October. His only income was from cattle sold in November. The profit from his cattle was $8,000. He would be entitled to payments for October, November and December because he was over age 72 in all those months and has no earnings restriction after age 72. A total of $2,000 of his profit, or 1/4 of the total, would be charged to the portion of the year in which he was over age 72. The balance, $6,000, would be charged to the nine months in which he was not age 72. Mr. Farmer would have to forgo $1,740 of his social security payment for the first nine months of the year, which would be 1/2 of the excess above $2,520.

In another example, Mr. Farmer became age 65 in June. He worked on his farm all year but the only products he sold were his previous year's crops, which he sold in April. His profit for the year was $5,000. Mr. Farmer would have to give up $1,740 of his social security

It's Spring Again: 'Backyard' Is Back

It must be spring for "Backyard Farmer" to be back. On Monday, April 7, at 9 p.m. this popular Nebraska ETV Network program begins its 13rd season of weekly broadcasting. University of Nebraska-Lincoln experts on turf, turnips, tulips and tarantulas - and a hundred other denizens and diseases of lawn and garden - answer viewer phone in questions during the live broadcast.

The companion program, "Backyard Farmer R.F.D.," returns on Tuesday, April 8, at 7 p.m. This program deals exclusively with viewer mail questions.

Returning panelists of "Backyard Farmer" include extension entomologist Bob Roselle, charter member of the NETV series; David Wyszog, extension plant pathologist; and John Furrer, extension agronomist. University of Nebraska horticultural department staff members will rotate on the program since "Backyard Farmer" veteran Wayne Whitney, extension horticulturist, has retired from the UNL faculty.

Co-hosts of the program are Tom Bare and George Round, members of the NU Department of Agricultural Communications.

Hog Inventory Down

Nebraska pork producers had 2,508,000 hogs and pigs on hand March 1, down 20 per cent from a year earlier and the lowest March 1 hog inventory since 1966, according to Don Marfield, state statistician with the Federal Division of Agriculture Statistics.

Pig Crop Down

Nebraska hog producers had 110,000 sows farrow during the December 1974-February 1975 period producing a pig crop of 814,000, down 20 per cent from the previous period a year ago. This was the smallest pig crop for the first quarter since 1965.

Farrowing Intentions Down

Hog farmers reported intentions to farrow 780,000 sows during the next six months, a decrease of 24 per cent from the corresponding period last year. Of these 780,000 farrowings, 160,000 are intended during March-May, 27 per cent below the same period last year and the lowest second quarter total since quarterly records were started in 1955. June-August intended farrowings at 170,000 represent a 20 per cent decrease from last year, and the lowest since 1965.

payment for the year. That would be 1/2 of the excess above $2,520 even though he did not wish to start his payments until he was age 65.

Rings Return From Trip to Nation's Capitol

Merle and Donna Ring of rural Wayne membership chairman of Wayne County Farm Bureau recently returned from an eight day, expense paid bus trip to Washington, D.C. They joined 57 others from 26 Nebraska counties which achieved their 1975 membership quotas by March 1.

Among the historical points of interest visited were the Gettysburg battlefield, Eisenhower farms, the nation's capitol and office buildings, Smithsonian Institute, Arlington National Cemetery, the Washington, Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, the Kennedy Center, the White House, the Pentagon and Mount Vernon.

The group enjoyed a dinner with Nebraska's Congressional delegation followed by an informal question and answer session. The Rings share the feelings of many others that every American should visit at least once our nation's capitol, the center of democracy. In spite of its failings and imperfections, this nation under God is the world's last hope for freedom, the Rings said.

Is There A Wedding In Your Future?

You Should Be Saving NOW!

There is probably no event that brings so much change in one's life as getting married. And, although it is one of the most wonderful happenings, the adjustments are not always easy to make.

One of the major obstacles to a happy married life is the lack of money to cover all of the many expenses that are involved in setting up and maintaining a household. The financial is overwhelming. And, money problems are well known as the cause of many arguments and breakups.

We at Wayne Federal Savings and Loan like to see marriages succeed. Based on our years of experience, we know the value of saving in advance of the wedding day. There are so many needs that must be met, and it takes more than just a few hundred dollars. To encourage young couples plan for the future, we offer savers the highest interest allowable by law. Your savings are also insured up to $40,000 by an agency of the federal government.

Don't get us wrong. We don't want to discourage marriages. We simply want to point out one pitfall that many couples fall victim to. We want to encourage happy marriages by encouraging the savings habit before the big day. A well planned savings program can be one of the most important keys to happiness.

For those of you who have a wedding in your future, NOW is the time to start SAVING at Wayne Federal. You'll be glad you did.

WS Marathon Dance Raises Over $4,400 for MD Fight

Over $4,400 was raised in pledges to fight muscular dystrophy during a weekend dance marathon at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium at Wayne State.

The marathon was sponsored by Omaha radio station WOV and Alpha Beta Sigma Fraternity at Wayne State.

Twenty-two couples out of 31 who entered completed the 30-hour marathon that started at 6 p.m. Friday. The winning couple of Tom Harm and Sharon Runkle, both WS students, took the first place trophy after earning more than $600 in pledges.

Second place went to Harry Gray and Gail Erickson, who danced for nearly $560, while Sally Schmitz and Jim Muegge placed third with $312, according to dance chairman Tim Wacker. Early tabulations show WS was one of the leaders in pledges among Nebraska small colleges which participated in the weekend fund-raiser, Wacker said.

NOT MANY dancers were in a celebrating mood after the 30-hour dance marathon at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium over the weekend. Two who were, however, were Tom Harm and Sharon Runkle, left, who won first place with the most donations. During the dance, a lot of couples kicked off their shoes from their sore, aching feet. On the right, a WS student takes a well-deserved rest

Shades of the Winter Past

THE STORM which struck the Wayne area Sunday evening and all day Monday was just a repeat of what residents of Northeast Nebraska have been putting up with for the past several weeks. Although the storm didn't dump as much snow in the area as past ones, the high winds and blowing snow forced travelers to stay home, Wayne stores to close early and schools to shut down. And it turned the vines on the east side of the public library in Wayne into a unusual picture and outlined in white the date in the building's cornerstone.

Thought for Today

By Brian McBride

"It is on the sound education of the people that the security and destiny of every nation chiefly rests."

Louis Kossuth

Think about this when you pay your property tax, much of which goes for education. Consider your taxes to be an investment in the future of your country, yourself and your descendants for generations.

There can be no doubt that a well-educated electorate results in better government. Our responsibility is to see that the education our children get is sound, not merely time spent in school.

We are accustomed to working closely with clergymen of all faiths to assure perfectly appropriate services. You can call on us with complete confidence.

Haun: Project Success Accomplishes Impossible

Four years after the Wayne, Carroll school system initiated Project Success, local teachers have accomplished something which professionals said could not be achieved.

That's the feeling Wayne Carroll Superintendent Francis Haun has of the program which has received state and national recognition for its attempts to help students who have difficulty learning in normal classroom situations.

"The full impact of Project Success will never be known," said Haun in a prepared statement. "It has meant too many things to too many people in too many places for a true evaluation of its effects to be possible."

Haun noted that "literally thousands of educators through out the United States have received exposure to Project Success."

The program in 1973 was named one of the top seven federally funded education projects in the nation and was recommended for adoption by schools across the nation.

Initially started to help a small percentage of elementary students who had difficulty learning to read, write and speak, the program has now been expanded so it includes all children who need help in kindergarten through the ninth grade, according to Richard Metter, West Elementary principal and program director.

In addition, the program has helped nearly all students in the school system because other teachers have learned to use some of the successful teaching methods of teachers working with the language disability children, he noted.

What the teachers (in Project Success) are doing is adapting their teaching for individual kids," said Metter "and they're doing it all day rather than part of the day."

Metter said that individualized instruction is the core of the program, permitting teachers to find out how individual students learn best and letting them use those techniques day in and day out.

He noted that although the program is aimed at helping students who have difficulty learning in normal classroom situations, the students in the program are not less intelligent than others. They just need different teaching methods to learn, he said.

Project Success has three major parts: language arts division, motor perception division and curriculum modification division.

Students are helped in the area of language arts, which includes reading as well as speaking, through special learning techniques. Students are also helped in the general area of physical education through the motor perception aspect of the program.

Curriculum modification is really individualizing instruction so students are able to learn in all of their classes. It is "nothing more than just good, plain teaching," said Metter.

Food Bills Too High?

Coping with rising food prices without sacrificing good nutrition and eating pleasure is possible. But you might have to get out of the rut — rethink your shopping patterns and eating habits.

Try becoming a brand switcher. Experiment with products carrying store labels. These products can be equal in quality and nutritional value, yet less expensive than nationally known brands.

substitute dry milk for whole milk, avoid costly sugar coated cereals and try day-old baked goods.

Now if you still aren't cutting down on food costs, search out your shopping and eating habits. Get out of the rut and let shopping and eating become a new adventure.

Brandt Is Delegate

To National Convab

Study up on nutrients essential for good health and then learn to substitute less expensive nutritional alternatives. Food labels and packages list information about nutrient content, minimum daily requirements, calorie content and vitamins and minerals. Are you reading these labels?

Try various cuts of meat and get out your cookbook and find different ways to prepare meats. All meats are nutritious, but less tender cuts need to be prepared right to be really good.

Learn to use leftovers. Soups, stews and casseroles are nutritious and economical. Serve these with hot quick breads such as cornbread biscuits or muffins made from scratch, of course, to save pennies on your food bill.

Other cost cutting habits might be to buy in quantities when favorite items are on sale,

The more than 800,000 members of the Minneapolis-based fraternal insurance society will be represented at the convention by 258 delegates from throughout the nation. The general conventions are held every four years and are the major business sessions for Lutheran Brotherhood.

At the 1975 convention, six members of the Lutheran Brotherhood board of directors will be elected by the delegates, resolutions will be considered and top officers of the society will review the growth and activities of the last four years.
