

'Tornado' Teaches Lessons

By NORVIN HANSEN

Although there were mistakes again this year, Friday night's mock tornado disaster in Wayne went off about as well as could be expected without a detailed plan which spells out who does exactly what in case of a disaster, volunteers agreed following the practice run.

Some problems pointed out during a discussion following the practice: Failure by spotters in the county to accurately estimate speed and direction of the "tornado" and to relay that information to the Wayne police station; failure to sound the alarm until the tornado had all but struck the predetermined disaster site, Wayne High School; lack of enough adequately trained people to respond after the disaster to help care for the injured; failure to call on volunteers at the police station who could have helped at the disaster site, and lack of adequate traffic control to direct emergency vehicles to the temporary hospital, West Elementary School, and to avoid traffic jams at the temporary hospital.

But even considering those mistakes, the practice disaster went off about as well — if not better — than last year's initial run.

The helicopter being flown by local airport manager, Al Robinson, which served as the tornado, was visible about a mile or so southeast of Wayne shortly before 7 p.m. It finally swooped close to the high school, settling off the tornado warning of three 30-second blasts of the fire siren shortly after 7 o'clock.

Minutes later, rescuers were on the scene, led by men from Winside's volunteer fire department who had planned on coming to Wayne to see how the practice disaster was handled. They were the first volunteers to take an injured youth out of the building, but they ended up going to the hospital because no one had informed them the elementary school would serve as a temporary hospital.

Then came local firemen, specially trained medical people and other volunteers who helped care for and remove the victims from the high school.

The practice was made all the more real by the pieces of plastic the victims had stuck on themselves to make it look as if they had suffered everything from a severe leg fracture to an ugly eye wound.

The victims, local youths who volunteered for the job, even added screams and moans as rescuers scurried about the darkened halls of the high school in an attempt to get them to the temporary hospital so they could receive adequate medical attention as soon as possible.

Although it seemed longer, it took about 35 minutes from sounding the siren to get all 11 youths out of the high school and to the elementary school's multipurpose room.

The 12th youth — the one who was "dead" at the tornado site — didn't gain much attention from the rescuers, who were concerned with getting medical help to those still alive.

Last year it took less than an hour to get the 16 victims out of the basement of the Auditorium and transported to the National Guard Armory, which served as a temporary hospital for the first practice disaster.

About 100 people took part in last year's practice, but this year's run attracted considerably less than that.

And that prompted some criticism at the discussion held after Friday night's practice.

"The city needs more trained people" who can help out if a tornado or other disaster ever strikes the city, according to Don Langston, one of the people who had a hand in Friday's practice.

Those interested in seeing if that there are enough adequately trained people in the area are going to have to go out and work to obtain that end rather than relying on the people to take on that responsibility themselves, he said.

Mrs. Bernice Fulton, health instructor at Wayne State College, noted that the college has been offering first aid and emergency medical treatment courses for several years, but too many people are not interested in taking the courses.

Some of the people taking part in the discussion following the disaster agreed it might be helpful if a complete list could be obtained of names of everybody in the area who could help in such a disaster. Then, those people could be called in during an emergency if they failed to respond to the initial call for help, they said.

Herald Helps Buy Clippers

WAYNE COUNTY 4-H county president Steve Gramlich of rural Carroll, left, and county agricultural agent Don Spitzke look over two livestock clippers purchased recently with the help of a $100 check given to the council by The Wayne Herald. The Herald received the money from the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben for winning this year's Service to Agriculture Award during the Nebraska Press Association's annual convention in Lincoln. Last year the newspaper received a $200 check from Ak-Sar-Ben for winning its Community Service Award. That check went to help purchase fire extinguishers for buildings at the county fairgrounds. Spitzke said the livestock clippers make a perfect gift to the council and will be used by many 4-H'ers in the county.

Study Reveals: 194 Businesses Employ 1,097

For its size, Wayne County supports a large number of business establishments.

According to figures recently released by the federal government, there are more businesses in operation locally, in proportion to population than in many counties across the country.

The findings are reported in a new study by the Department of Commerce entitled "County Business Patterns." It is based upon data compiled by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare from tax reports filed last year by employers.

In it is listed, for every county in the United States, comparable data on employment and payroll for firms engaged in retail and wholesale trade, manufacturing, finance, services and the like.

In operation in Wayne County are some 194 separate businesses that employ one or more persons, the figures show. In addition, there are an untold number that have no employees and are owner operated.

Of the 194 listed, there are 103 that have from one to three persons on their payrolls, 51 with four to seven and 29 with eight to 19.

Although firms of long standing make up the bulk of the local business community, each year witnesses some changes as new enterprises are started and some older ones are discontinued.

As in most parts of the country, small and medium size businesses predominate locally. They have proved to be quite

New Minister at Winside, Carroll Not Announced

Details regarding the appointment of a new minister for the United Methodist Churches at Winside and Carroll have not been completed, according to Bishop Don Holler, resident bishop of the United Methodist Church in Nebraska.

The present minister for those two churches, the Rev. Jim Scovil, will be going to a church in Colorado later this year. He has been minister for the Winside Carroll churches since September.

Tunes Tinted With History On Program

Songs from America's past, folk dances, an Indian rain dance, and a choral reading will be performed by West Elementary students during their annual vocal music program Thursday evening.

The program, open to the public at no charge, will begin at 7:30 in the lecture hall at Wayne High School.

"America Sings" is the title of the concert, which will involve students in grades one through four at the elementary school.

Among the soloists who will perform are Kurt Ruestad, Karen Russell, Susan Hirt, Brad Moore, Chris Hillier, Jane Wirt, Kathy Swanson, Steven Peterson, Jon Jacobmeier, Pam Ulrich, Bobby Liska, Karen Sandahl and Bryan Schmidt.

Thursday night's concert will be followed a few days later by a concert by West Elementary kindergarteners. That concert is scheduled for 7:30 on Monday, May 12, in the high school auditorium. The public is invited to attend at no charge.

Stater Sparkles

The Wayne Stater, weekly newspaper of Wayne State College, received a rating of First Class for fall, 1974, editions, the Associated-Collegiate Press announced last week.

In addition to the First Class, the Stater received Marks of Distinction in three of five judging categories: for coverage and content, for writing and editing, and for editorial leadership.

First Class is the highest regular award given by ACP on numerical points. One additional rating, All American, is given when the rating judge awards Marks of Distinction in four of the five categories. The Stater received three distinctions and a note from the judge that the fall editions were "close to All American."

Loading, the fall-term staff were Sue Stolen of Sioux City, executive editor; Doug Coulter of Plainview, news editor; and Dave Mowitz of Hampton, feature editor.

Print Honors Former President at WSC

A Wayne State College graduate, John Asquith, has presented an original print to the Wayne State Foundation collection as a memorial to the late Dr. William A. Brandenburg, former college president.

Asquith, who is originally from Tilden, and his wife, the former Sharon Sulka, live in Illinois. He is director of graduate printmaking at the Institute of Design, Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago.

Arrangements for the memorial gift were negotiated by Richard Lesh of the WSC art faculty. Asquith studied print making and painting under Lesh, receiving his BA from Wayne State in 1965.

The print donated by Asquith is unique in that it was created through a "serviac" process developed by Asquith in the past few years. The "serviac" process, a complete breakthrough in silk screen printmaking, allows up to 40 different colors to be applied to the print simultaneously.

GWEN BRANDENBURG displays the Asquith print donated to the Wayne State Foundation collection as a memorial to her late husband, former WS president, Dr. William A. Brandenburg.

Four H'ers from across a five-county area in Northeast Nebraska will spend a night and a day at the Northeast Station near Concord in an effort to learn more about photography and insects.

The Station will host youths from Wayne, Cedar, Dixon, Dakota and Thurston Counties Friday evening and most of Saturday during two 4-H camps.

Helping conduct the photography camp will be John Witkowski, Ponca photographer Francis Kinsbury, a representative of The Wayne Herald, Wayne County agricultural agent Don Spitzke and Dixon County agricultural agent Roy Stohler.

The camp will include instruction in such areas as taking pictures, developing film and printing pictures. Each 4-H'er enrolled will have an opportunity to develop a roll of his own film and print a picture taken during the camp.

Conducting the entomology camp will be John Witkowski, extension entomologist at the Northeast Station.

That camp will include instruction in collecting, preserving, mounting and identifying insects.

Youths, 10 years of age and older who are enrolled in 4-H photography and entomology projects are expected to begin arriving at the camp about 5 p.m. Friday. They will sleep overnight at the Station and finish up about 3 p.m. Saturday.

Allen Teachers Get $550 Hike

The base salary for teachers at the Allen will increase $550 for the 1975-76 school year.

The increase, okayed during a special board meeting Monday night, will boost the base pay from $12,850 to $13,400.

Both salary increases for experience and hours earned beyond a bachelor's degree will remain at four per cent of the base pay, according to Steve McManigal, chairman of the Allen Teachers Association.

Monday night's meeting marked the end of salary negotiations that started in February.

Insurance coverage will increase from $15 to $19.10 per month, for each teacher. The school board agreed. However, insurance isn't full coverage, McManigal pointed out, because the school board doesn't pay full coverage if rates go up next fall.

Memorial Day Program Stated

Keith Bouhga, a teacher in the Norfolk school system, will be the featured speaker during Wayne's Memorial Day program later this month.

The program and parade will be held on Monday, May 26, rather than on the traditional Memorial Day, May 30, according to local American Legion officials.

Bouhga, a graduate of Wayne State College, will speak to a gathering at Greenwood Cemetery following the parade through the business district and to the cemetery.

The parade will begin at 10 a.m. in front of the city auditorium and will include marching groups from veterans organizations, veterans auxiliary groups,

Meeting Slated For Organizing City 4-H Club

Another meeting will be held Tuesday evening for Wayne youths interested in joining a 4-H club.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 in the Chamber of Commerce office at 108 W. Third St.

Youngsters who enroll in the club will be able to take part in a sheep project and an electrical project, according to county agricultural agent Don Spitzke.

Serving as assistant leaders for the club will be Steve Gramlich, a 4-H'er from rural Carroll, and Edward "Sam" Schroeder, See CLUB, page 5.

Local Writer at Top of Pack Once Again

Sandra Breitkreutz of Wayne has been named one of the top award winners in the Nebraska Press Women's annual writing contest. Winners were announced during the organization's awards luncheon in Kearney Saturday.

Mrs. Breitkreutz, former social editor for The Wayne Herald, won five first-place awards, one second place award and one third place award.

Only three other women received more first place awards in the contest than she did.

Mrs. Breitkreutz is a member of the Wayne State College news bureau staff. She has been a top winner in the press group's contest the past two years and serves as treasurer for the state organization.

Her first place entries Women's News Page, weekly newspaper with 2,001-5,000 circulation (The Wayne Herald); Page Makeup, same division; Personal Column, "Out of the Frying Pan," same division; Special Edition, Herald's Christmas-Holiday Bulletin, same division; Special Interest Publication, tabloid format, Wayne State's alumni newsletter.

Winning a second place award for her was her interview with Wayne State's Dr. John Bray titled "The Devil Made Me Do It" which appeared in The Wayne Herald.

Her feature story for a daily newspaper with more than 50,000 circulation won her a third place award. The story, "Recipe: Lots of Love," appeared in the Sept. 22nd issue of the Sunday supplement to the Omaha World-Herald; Magazine of the Midwestern.

Winning seven first place awards in the contest were Susan Saunders of Crawford and Eleanor Seborger of Cozad. Marianne Beel, of Valentine won six first place awards.

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska
THE Information Powermobile, a mobile library unit, will stop in Dodge, Snyder, Scribner and Hooper on Friday as it continues its trip around the state. The unit is making four of the state to give Nebraskans an opportunity to speak out on what kinds of services they would like from their libraries. Sponsoring the tour is the FIREB Library Association.
A FIRE did about $25,000 worth of damage to the home of Otto Lindquist Jr. in South Sioux City Monday evening. The fire apparently started in the kitchen area, but firemen were unable to determine exact cause of the fire. No one was injured in the blaze, although one person was home when it started.
AN ORGANIZATIONAL meeting for the Cedar County slow pitch softball league was held in Hartington Thursday evening.
ROBERT HERBOLSHHEIMER has been named assistant administrator of the Wayne Hospital. The position has been open since the resignation of Gary Hatterman in December.
Herbolshheimer, a 1963 graduate of Pierce High School, has been with the hospital since May of last year as business manager and accountant. He graduated at the top of his class at Wayne State College, majoring in industrial management and minoring in accounting.
NEW OFFICERS have been elected for the Tri-County Baseball League. They are: President, Woeller, Wausa, president; Duane Dohman, Creighton, president; and Scott Knapp, Orchard, secretary. The league will have nine teams this year, including newly created O'Neill.
SAYS Dick Lindberg in Thursday's West Point News: "Once again we've found out that tax loopholes are like parking spaces. They are all gone before you get there."

A closer look...

I GOT a kick out of taking that citizenship quiz printed elsewhere on this page. And I don't mind saying that I got 23 out of 24 questions right.
Be damned if I didn't miss the easiest question of the bunch, the one about how many justices serve on the Supreme Court. That one was so easy (for so I thought) that I quickly answered it incorrectly.
Will have to admit, however, that I pretty much guessed on one or two of the questions. Luckily, I guessed right.
I won't mention any names, but there were a couple of fellow workers who barely qualified as an "average" citizen. Of course, I didn't let that opportunity pass without rubbing a little salt in that wound.
Have to pass on thanks to Mrs. Ron Tarn of Wainor for sending that citizenship quiz in for use in the newspaper. She says the people attending a recent Bicentennial meeting in Wayne took it. Some of them were amazed at how much they didn't know about their own country. Why don't you try your hand at the quiz? I'll bet there are a lot more people who think it than who pass it with flying colors.

MRS. RICHARD BAIER of rural Wayne called in the other day to give her estimates about how old those two pictures were which I used with last Monday's column.
She thinks the picture of Nebraska Normal School dates back to about 1910 when the state bought the institution. The one showing the railroad depot and the X Ray Incubator Co.' building was taken about 1905, she figures.
Any other guesses?
WAYNE AREA high school students interested in everything from art to foreign languages might consider attending the High School Festival of Fine Arts scheduled this weekend at Kearney State College.
The camp, slated for July 26 Aug. 3, will include instruction in such areas as art, music, theater, foreign languages, creative writing, forensics and journalism. Contact Jack Garrison at KSC for more information.

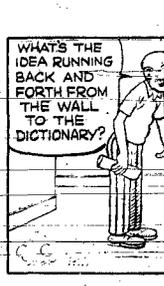

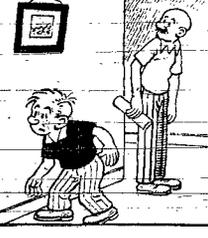

WILL YOU believe if I told you a duck sauntered under a picnic table at a local home, laid an egg and then went on her way?
Well, it happened the other day at the LeRoy Barner home. Mrs. Barner thought the duck had been injured, but when she walked near it, the duck waddled away and then took to the air. It was a pretty foggy morning, says Mrs. Barner, and that may have been the reason the duck wasn't scared.
There's an old saying which pretty well sums up that duck's predicament, but it's probably just as well left unsaid: "Oh, the Barners have the egg at a local hatchery and are waiting to see what develops."

LAST WEEK was a great one for people like me who get a kick out of some of the short stories that end up squeezed into the columns of daily newspapers.
There was the one about the bandits in Naples who broke into a social club and told the 12 men "Drop your pants. This is a robbery." Wonder if maybe those guys weren't Americans who hadn't done a very good job of studying their book of everyday translations.
Right below that story was the one about the plans Rhode Island College has of generating out how much electrical power is being used by a pickle. The experiment may be held during a coming demonstration for potential college students, apparently to show them that what goes on in college: these days really has some meaning to it.

RANEE KNIESCHE, a Wayne High School graduate who is now a sophomore at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, is the newly elected publicly chairman for the school's Food Science Club. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kniesche, she will serve in that post during the coming school year.
Hope she does a better job than the present publicity boss. The news release sent out the other day spelled her last name "Kniesch."

We need men who...

Worth repeating, we believe, are the following words from the California Free Enterprise Association: Appearing first in a publication titled Good Reading, they are indeed just that?
We Need Men
- Who cannot be bought.
- Whose word is their bond.
- Who put character above wealth.
- Who possess opinions and a will.
- Who are larger than their vocations.
- Who do not hesitate to take chances.
- Who will make no compromise with wrong.
- Who will not lose their individuality in a crowd.
- Who will be as honest in small things as in great things.
- Who will not say they do it "because everybody else does it."
- Whose ambitions are not confined to their own selfish desires.
- Who give thirty six inches to the yard and thirty-two quarts to the bushel.
- Who will not have one brand of honesty for business purposes and another for private life.
- Who are true to their friends through good report and evil report, in adversity as well as in prosperity.
- Who do not believe that shrewdness, sharpness, cunning and long-headedness are the best qualities for winning success.
- Who are not ashamed or afraid to stand for the right, when it is unpopular.
- Who can say "no" with emphasis, although all the rest of the world says "yes." — From the Aurora News-Register.

I'm for newspaper's lib'

Most people of the world today take newspapers for granted. They come home from work in the evening or sit down for a morning cup of coffee, expecting to read the daily paper, with its comic strips, advice columns, sports page or the recap of the day. They don't really realize how important newspapers are to the human race.
Of course, the main use of these information-filled pieces of paper is to receive information about other people, places and happenings. This is probably the most important use of newspapers. They report local, state, national and international news to all who read them, but I think newspapers serve many other useful purposes also.
For instance, housewives use newspapers for lining wastebaskets, cupboards and drawers, and they also spread newspapers on floors when painting walls and ceilings. Stockholders and interested buyers use the paper as a source to the stock exchange.
Newspapers help all of us to a certain extent. By reading them we can learn about events and happenings which affect our country, state, county or town, and if it affects them, it affects us.
Another beneficial reason is that when a businessman, farmer, housewife, or anyone takes time to sit down, relax and read a newspaper, he or she will be more pleasant and comfortable.
I think newspapers deserve to be recognized as a source of information and relaxation. You might say that I'm for newspaper's lib'. — Guest editorial by seventh grader Lori Adie in Cozad's Tri-City Tribune.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

When a politician says they're going to make this tax a little smaller and that tax a little bigger it's the loosest use of the word "little" you'll ever see.
Linn, Mo., Osage County Observer
"A country can't be too bad when one has a five-cent piece to turn out some traveling up to a hundred miles, to search for a little 4-year-old girl who had wandered away from home on a winter day. Now, a country where over a million drivers will ease up on the accelerator when a president, not exactly at the peak of popularity, asks that drivers slow down to conserve gasoline. It's a pretty good country after all."

A bit on the light side

Angels Camp will be a hoppin' place

Okie Red's hopping in from Tulsa. The Nugget from Las Vegas will be there. So will Raisin' Caen and Ex-Wart.
The 1970 "Jumping Frog Jubilee" is expected to draw 3,000 contestants from the 50 states and nine foreign countries to Angels Camp, Calif., May 15-18.
Many of the contestants make their entrance a little differently. They arrive by parachute, slidecoach and horseshoe. Ataska's entry showed up one year on a dog sled.
Mark Twain started it all back in 1865 when he lived for a few months in the rough-and-tumble gold mining region, the National Geographic Society says. He had a tall tale in the bar room of the Angels-Hotel and jotted it down in his notebook.
"Coleman with his jumping frog" bet a stranger $50 — Stranger had no frog and C. got him one. — In the meantime stranger filled C's frog full of shot and he couldn't jump. The stranger's frog won.
Twain turned his notes into a short story, that made him famous — "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County."
Old-timers remembered the tale, and in 1928 Angels Camp staged its first Jumping Frog Jubilee — to celebrate the paving of the streets. Today a four-day festival includes the frog contest, the county fair, a horse show, rodeo, fireworks, band concerts and a beauty contest.
The main event takes place at the fairgrounds in a natural amphitheater, with bleachers and a grassy slope for spectators. A 20-foot square mat rests on a stage. Toward the back, a circle the size of a dinner plate marks the spot where each frog begins his jump.
A frog is permitted three jumps, and the distance is measured in a straight line from the starting point to the spot where he lands on the third consecutive jump.
True to Twain tradition, frog "jockeys" occasionally try a bit of shulduggery to give their charges a fast, flying start. Some have hidden pins or needles on the toes of their shoes. Others have given their entries a surreptitious turpentine rub just before starting time. One even sparked his frog with an electric shock.

Size as well as alacrity tricks — can disqualify a croaker. A frog must measure at least four inches long.
The rule was put on the books a few years ago when a tiny South African tree frog soared 32 feet, only six inches after it had been disqualified for taking too much time on the launch pad.
In contrast, E. Dynamite Denny, last year's champ, took the Jubilee crown with leaps totaling 18' 4 3/4". The record is still held by Rippey who hopped 19' 3/4" in 1946.
Calaveras veterans, however, still remember the pygmy from Africa. "That frog was pure dynamite," reminisces an awed jockey. "The darn thing took off and landed clear out on the fairgrounds and track."

Douglas Spahr and Bride Making Home at Wayne

Making their first home at Rt. 2, Wayne, are Mr. and Mrs. Doug Spahr, who were married in 7 p.m. rites April 26 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wayne. Mrs. Spahr, nee Connie Hammer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hammer, Wayne. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Spahr, also of Wayne.

The Rev. Doniver Peterson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Laurie Helgen sang, "A Time For Us," "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Doniver Peterson. All are of Wayne.

The bride appeared at the side of her father in a floor-length gown of crystal white organza, fashioned with an empire bodice and demi-bell skirt which fell into a chapel-length train. Chantilly lace accented the bodice and cuffs of the long, beaded sleeves and trimmed her fingertip illusion veil. She carried tinted daisies and white sweet heart roses.

Matron of honor, Jean Arp of Norfolk, wore a floor-length polyester knit fashion in pastel lavender. The bridesmaid, Nancy Hammer of Omaha, sister of the bride, wore a pastel pink gown styled identically to the matron of honor's. They both wore garden-hats to match their dresses and carried tinted daisies.

Best man was Kevin Hammer of Wayne, brother of the bride, and groomsman was Dale Spahr of Wayne, brother of the groom. Dave Dahl of Norfolk and Loren Hammer of Wayne ushered.

Flower girl and ring bearer were the groom's sister and brother, Dawn and Danny Spahr. Candles were lighted by Judy Hammer of Wayne, the bride's sister, and Trina Arp of Carroll. They each wore pastel blue floor-length dresses.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hammer selected an aqua and blue double knit. Mrs. Spahr wore a black and white double knit. Both wore corsages of tinted daisies.

MR. AND MRS. DOUG SPAHR

Serving as hosts to the reception held later in the church basement were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hammer of Tucson, Ariz. The 125 guests were registered by Jo Harder of Omaha, and gifts were arranged by Julie Dawling, Connie Gemelke and the bride's sister, Janice Hammer, all of Wayne.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Wayne High School and is employed at the Wayne Care Center. The bridegroom, a 1973 graduate of Wayne High and a 1975 graduate of the Northeast Nebraska Technical Community College at Norfolk, is engaged in farming.

and served the bride's cake. Delores Helgen of Wayne and Sharon Hammer of Omaha, sister of the bride, served punch. Waitresses were Myrna Wackor and Deb Vrtiska, both of Norfolk and Beth Pederson and Janice Thompson, both of Omaha.

Interviewer Coming

Monty McClean, an interviewer with the state labor department office in Norfolk, will be in the basement of the Wayne County courthouse on Wednesday from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. No appointment is necessary to meet with him.

Among some Central African tribes it was a cause for divorce if the husband was too lazy to sew his wife's clothes.

Wakefield gave a patriotic reading. Mrs. Iner Peterson of Concord accompanied the group in singing "America" and "America the Beautiful". Moving styles from the late 1800's through the early 1900's were members of the TNT, Three C's, E.L.F., Pap's Partners, Sunshine, Happy Homemakers, Allen Community and Merry Homemakers Clubs. Men's, women's and children's fashions, including nightwear, undergarments, beachwear, wedding and graduation gowns and street dresses, were modeled. Door prizes were won by Mrs. Harry Warner of Allen, Mrs. Carl Armstrong of Ponca, Mrs. Arvid Peterson and Mrs. Iner Peterson, both of Concord, Mrs. Francis Muller of Wakefield and Mrs. Dea Karnes of Dixon. The program also included a skit, entitled "Grandma's Apron," presented by Mrs. Ernest Swanson of Wayne and Mrs. Verdel Erwin of Concord. Host clubs were Happy Homemakers, TNT, Three C's, Merry Homemakers, Twilight Line and Artemis.

Public Is Invited to Meet on Community Health Service Needs

Community leaders and other interested persons from Cedar, Dixon and Knox Counties are invited to help determine health needs and priorities for services for their local communities. The Northeast Nebraska Community Health Services Center in Norfolk is planning to hold a meeting at the Hartington city auditorium May 9 at 1:30 p.m. to review health services now available and discuss local needs and priorities for services to be offered in the future. Areas to be decided relate to direct services and treatment, health education, prevention and intervention of alcohol and drug abuse problems. Similar meetings are being planned in Walthill and Norfolk which will involve Wayne. The Stanton and Dakota County residents.

If you have a friend or relative who complains that "people don't speak clearly anymore," the individual may be suffering from an undetected hearing loss and should be encouraged to have a hearing test.

Meyer's Grand Slam Lifts WH by Bancroft

Wayne High's batting slump took an about face against Bancroft Thursday when the Blue Devils, led by senior Mike Meyer's grand slam home run, belted the visitors by 7-0.

Besides Meyer's circuit hit that gave Wayne a 4-0 lead in the first inning, the Devils also got strong pitching from senior Earle Overin, who struck out 14 Bancroft batters to stretch Wayne's shutout string to three.

A walk, error and single loaded the sacks for the home team in the first frame. Second baseman Randy Park walked, then advanced to second on an attempted sacrifice bunt by third baseman Dave Hix. A Bancroft error allowed Hix to make it to first. Then shortstop Paul Mallette singled before Meyer stepped to the plate and sent the ball over the left fence about 340 feet away.

"We showed that we could hit the ball," said Wayne coach Mike Mallette, after his club chalked up its fifth win against one defeat. The Devils' loss came in the first game against Bancroft, 4-3.

The locals scored three more runs in the third, fourth and sixth innings, before showers delayed action. Meyer, who walked in the third, went to second when right fielder Mike Hames was hit by a pitched ball. An error on Bancroft's shortstop allowed Meyer to score for a 5-0 lead.

Another walk by Park in the fourth set up the Devils' sixth run, with Park coming home on Mallette's double. In the sixth, Park scored his third run of the day on a wild pitch.

Again Mallette was the top hitter for the game, connecting on two singles and a double in four at bats. The junior now has a .76 batting average. As a team, Wayne is hitting at a .225 clip.

Next on the Devils' schedule is a doubleheader today (Monday) at home against Hooper Logan View.

Trojan Golfers 6th at Oakland

Wakefield High golfers finished sixth in Thursday's eight-team Oakland Craig invitation, firing an 18-hole total of 369.

Kerry Dressler shot an 87 to top the four-man team. Alan Johnson had a 93, John Polen 94 and Bennett Salmon 95. Wakefield's fifth man, Steve Pospisil, shot a 96.

"I was very pleased with the team after cutting 41 strokes off their last performance," said Wakefield coach Lyle Trullinger.

Scribner won the meet with a 335, followed by Blair 337, West Point 338, Oakland-Craig 343, Fremont 358, Wakefield 369, Ponder 397 and Stanton 399.

Tuesday, Wakefield and Wayne golfers head to the Husker Conference meet at Hartington.

Jr High Records Fall at Winside

Hartington junior high set three of 10 records Wednesday en route to winning Winside junior high's 16-team track invitational.

Hartington set records in the 400 yard dash, triple jump and 880 yard relay while totaling 87 1/2 points. Walhill beat Winside for second place with 74 1/2 points to tie the Cats' 60. Wakefield took fourth with 57 1/2, followed by Emerson Hubbard 54 1/2, Newcastle 26, Ponca 24, Coleridge 9, Wynot 5 and Allen 0.

Other records established were in the shot put, long jump, 400 yard relay, high jump, 100 and 220 yard dashes and 880. A Walhill runner broke the oldest meet record with a time of 10:9 in the 100 yard dash. In 1966 a Hartington Cedar Catholic youth ran the 100 in 11.6.

There was plenty of competition at the meet, said Winside junior high coach Mike Jones, pointing to the number of records broken as proof.

Sprinters from Winside and Wakefield won their events. Jordy Brummetts of Winside was clocked 17.4 in the 110 yard low hurdles, and Rick Obermeyer of Wakefield ran a 2:21.8 in the 880 to break last year's record of 2:34.4 set by a Hartington youth.

Placing for Winside and Wakefield were—

BUCKLE UP FOR SAFETY!

Battle Creek Races to First at Winside Meet

Battle Creek High's track team literally ran away with Wednesday's team Winside invitational, winning nine of 10 events to collect 186 points.

The Braves easily outdistanced their opponents, doubling Winside's second-place output of 92 points. Taking third was Walhill with 66, followed by Oakland-Craig 47, Ponca 46, Laurel 35, Winnebago 35, Allen 7, Newcastle 4, Beemer 2 and Wynot 2.

Northeast Nebraska's top distance runner, Winside senior Lyle Lage, won the mile and two-mile in record times, and ran on the winning two-mile relay team, which also set a record.

Lage ran a 4:46.4 mile and a 10:05.4 two mile. The two-mile relay foursome of Dave Mamm, Wayne Smith, Terry Lutz and Lage finished in 8:42.

Ten meet records were set, including Lage's efforts in the mile and two mile, and the effort by Winside's two mile relay team, according to Winside coach Carter Peterson.

Battle Creek broke marks in the long jump, triple jump, 120 yard high hurdles and mile relay. Also falling were records in the pole vault, discus and 880 yard relay.

Despite Battle Creek's total points, Peterson pointed out that Winside's second annual invitation was balanced in the caliber of competition.

WS to Host Two Basketball Camps

The annual Wayne State College Summer basketball camp will have two new features this year. It will be open to boys of fourth, fifth and sixth grades in addition to seventh through 12th as in the past; and it will have two week long sessions instead of one.

The first is scheduled June 8-14, the second Aug. 3-9.

Wayne State coach Jim Seward, who will direct the camps, said the program will continue much like previous years: practice sessions in the mornings, afternoons, evenings, discussing fundamentals, offense and defense tactics.

Information and application forms can be obtained from coach Seward at Wayne State College. Cost of a week's camp will be $50.

THE MOST EVIL MAN IN THE U.S.A.

A few notes on the evil he created in 1969.

He found a quarter of a million "unemployables" who never could hold steady jobs.

He trained them and put them into work that pays money they never dreamed of earning before.

He's a businessman.

For poor kids who couldn't otherwise go to college, he took three hundred and fifty millions and saw to it that those who earned them got scholarships.

He gave eight hundred million to non-profit organizations for medical research, to help stamp out cancer and heart disease and a hundred other dread diseases of the world.

To build new housing for the poor and middle-incomes in U. S. cities, he put up one billion and a quarter dollars, so more people can live in decency.

Sure, he's been a polluter — as has everyone from the U. S. government to ordinary citizens. But last year he scraped up two and one half billions to fight pollution of air and water and nature. This year he plans to get up four billion more, to keep up the battle.

After that, he put up fifteen billion dollars in Social Security taxes to help provide support and medical care for senior citizens. And he added forty-one billion dollars in income taxes to help pay the bills of the U. S. A.

And all the while, he was contributing millions of hours of personal and business time to virtually every humanitarian cause you've ever heard of.

He's a businessman. The most evil man in the U. S. A.

Isn't it time somebody had a good word for this evil man who happens to do so much good for so many people?

We think so.

I WANT TO THANK all of my friends who called my husband to see how I was when I couldn't get in to see me, and for all the cards and flowers I received. Also to Rev. Edmonds for his visits and to Dr. Robert Bentback and the hospital staff. The wonderful care I received. Franchen Banister. m5

I WISH TO THANK friends, neighbors and relatives for the cards, visits and gifts I received during my recent hospitalization. Also for kindesses shown to both of us at home. Special thanks to those who sent for the rescue squad and saw me safely off to Wakefield and to Dr. Coe and the hospital staff and to the ministers who called on me at various times. Glenn H. Rice. m5

Bicentennial Fashions Pretty, But Painful

While the woman of 1796 will probably wear fashions that provide comfort and ease of movement, the bicentennial woman of 1776 was standing poker straight.

Being fashionable in the 18th century could also be quite painful. Many of the fashions of the day included uncomfortable corsets made of bone, making sure the wearer would remain in a straight position. Fashionable women of this era couldn't slump without being "skewered" by their corset.

Gail Skinner, extension clothing specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, says even though many of the early American fashions seemed quite impractical, they were also beautiful and unusual in design.

"Some of the fabrics used in those early, elaborate garments can't be made today," Ms. Skinner said. "In fact, because of our changing lifestyles, a lot of the beauty and detail in early American fashions will never be seen again."

But for all their beauty, many of the historical costumes may still sound very uncomfortable to today's woman.

For example, in the late 1800's the look to achieve was an hourglass figure, with ideal measurements being 36-18-36. Tight corsetry was common, and according to the fashion standards, the bigger the better.

But bustles were expensive; so to work around that, many women used crumpled up newspapers to achieve "the look."

White pioneer women of the Midwest were looting in the fields, prim and proper eastern women were changing their clothes six or seven times a day. This costume change was no easy task since the total outfit included slip, corset, corset cover, petticoats and then, the actual garment.

In the early 1900's the hobble skirt was in vogue. With this garment a narrow, flaring, long skirt—a strap was tied around the knees so women actually "hobbled" when they moved. However, this fashion was denounced from the pulpit as being from the devil.

Ms. Skinner believes that fashions often reflect attitudes toward and of women during a particular era. Such was the case, she said, around the turn of the century when the suffragette movement got its start. At this point, women's clothing began to take on a more tailored look.

In the 1920's, hemlines started to go up. The flapper was popular, and the first actual sleeveless garment made an appearance.

"Where will fashions go in the next 200 years? Who knows," says Ms. Skinner, anywhere from the hourglass figure, the hobble skirt, the bustle to Alone and isolated, it is not unusual for a hearing loss victim to exhibit seemingly anti-social behavior, officials of the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation observe. Reluctance to use the telephone, unwillingness to participate in group conversations and continual complaining that others are mumbling are a few of the "danger signals" that could indicate an undetected hearing loss, they add.

Army Cutworm Invades Fields Late This Year

An insect tentatively identified as the army cutworm has been reported feeding on new seedlings at alfalfa in Madison County, according to John Witkowski, a plant pathologist at the Northeast Station near Concord.

The army cutworm, winters primarily in alfalfa, wheat fields and grass. Feeding usually begins in early spring and is completed by May 1 but the insect is seemingly much later this year, he noted.

Established seedlings of alfalfa usually will withstand cutworm infestations, but Witkowski advises growers to closely observe new seedlings of alfalfa for evidence of insect feeding damage and be prepared to treat with an insecticide if necessary.

Tests in Nebraska indicate that Diarrin one pound active ingredient per acre is probably the most effective insecticide that is approved for use on alfalfa.

Parathion at 12 ounces per acre applied by aircraft in the evening or early morning when temperatures are at least 50 degrees may also be used, he added.
