Wayne Man Charged With Shooting Brother

A Wayne man remained in stable condition in an Omaha hospital Tuesday and his brother was in Wayne County Jail following a weekend shooting at a local trailer court.

Charged with shooting with intent to kill, wound or maim was Leonard Wischhof, 54, who was apprehended at his trailer home in Wheeler Trailer Court by law officials Sunday afternoon.

His brother, Paul, 56, was listed in stable condition Tuesday afternoon after being in critical condition following his transfer Sunday from the Wayne hospital to the Veterans Hospital in Omaha.

He had suffered two bullet wounds, both of them in the chest area. One bullet entered his left chest area and went out under his right arm, according to county sheriff Don Weible, and the other entered under his left arm and lodged in his stomach. He underwent surgery in the Omaha hospital.

Leonard was arrested about 2:30 Sunday afternoon after he allegedly fired a .22 caliber pistol at Wayne police sergeant Ron Penierick as Penierick and Weible were attempting to get him to come out of his trailer home.

State patrol officers and local firemen were called to the Wischhof trailer, which had been the home of both brothers, after the shot was fired because of the possibility of being forced to use tear gas to force Wischhof out of the trailer, Weible said. If tear gas had been used, he said, there was the possibility of the trailer starting on fire.

Wischhof finally came out of the trailer without force, said Weible. A handgun was recovered from inside the trailer, he added.

Paul Wischhof reportedly called the local hospital Sunday about 9:30 a.m. and asked that an ambulance be sent to his trailer to pick him up and take him to the hospital. He complained of bladder trouble.

When the ambulance arrived, Wischhof came out of the trailer and got on the stretcher outside the trailer, Weible said. He was taken to the hospital, but the doctor was not called out of church because it did not appear Wischhof was seriously ill, according to Weible.

Fire Drill Slated for Saturday

Saturday's Operation EDITH Day could be one of the most important days in your life, according to Wayne fire chief Cliff Pinkelman.

The acronym stands for Exit Drill in the Home.

The fire siren will sound in the city of Wayne at that time, offering local residents an opportunity to conduct exit drills in their homes to see how quickly and efficiently they can get out of their homes.

When it was illegal to have a rear-view mirror in your auto? After the roads in the country had dried. There were no hard surfaces, not even gravel and the farmers had smoothed out the ruts with their horse-drawn drag, you might be tempted to exceed the speed limit (25 mph) and in doing so you would want to keep watch for a cop.

Fire Is Extinguished

A fire at an apartment occupied by Mrs. Pearl Echtenkamp at Villa Wayne, Fourth and Dearborn Streets, was extinguished Wednesday morning before volunteer firemen arrived. The alarm was sounded about 11:15 a.m.

W-C School Board Okays Site for All-Weather Track

Wayne Carroll's school board Monday night voted down the site for an all-weather track south of West Elementary School, the latest in a series of steps the board has been taking toward expanding the sports facilities in the school complex.

They have not yet decided whether there will be a staging or warmup area outside of the track as suggested by coaches, how much permanent seating to build into the hill south of the elementary school or whether the track should have six or eight lanes.

The site approved during Monday night's board meeting would allow bus parking on the east side of the track and would accommodate a staging area on the south side of the track.

Simply by repainting lanes on the track. The board left open that possibility.

Tornado's Destructive Trail Is Over 7 Miles Long

Farm families in the south-west part of Wayne County are cleaning up and salvaging as much as they can from the wreckage left in the wake of Tuesday afternoon's tornado and high winds.

The tornado ripped and twisted its way across a seven and a half mile stretch, touching down first at the Chester Marrott farm home in the county line south-west of Winslow shortly before mid-afternoon Tuesday.

The tornado did thousands of dollars damage to that farm home before heading north where it hit the Dale Deck farm on Highway 35 just west of the county line in Nebraska.

The tornado's path is about a mile apart and in between them the tornado ripped down lines on Nebraska Public Power District's 230,000 volt transmission line.

At least three of those large poles were toppled and two others were bent over by the force of the tornado and winds.

Although the tornado did extensive damage in the area, thirty totaling close to a million dollars, no deaths or injuries were reported, according to Wayne County Sheriff Don Weible.

The tornado was just one of several which Tuesday afternoon's turbulent weather spawned in eastern Nebraska. Others touched down at Pierce, Osmond, Magnet and Crofton, and at least two ripped through the Omaha metropolitan area, taking at least three dead and property damage in the millions of dollars.

Tornado Treats Nothing With Respect In Sweep Across County

LUMBER is scattered across the Dale Deck farm southwest of Winslow, the aftermath of Tuesday afternoon's tornado which ripped across the southwestern part of Wayne County.

The tornado and high winds did extensive damage in that area, including flipping a large trailer truck onto its side northeast of the Deck farm. The truck had been going south (left in the picture) on Highway 35 and ended up on its side facing east.

Although the tornado and high winds damaged thousands of dollars in property and livestock, no injuries or deaths were reported.

Fluoridation of Allen's Water Getting Closer

Allen will join a small list of area communities with fluoridated water when an Omaha firm installs equipment sometime this week, town board members learned during Monday night's meeting.

Last summer the town board okayed fluoridating Allen's water after residents failed to petition against the move, ordered by the state, said board member Ken Linafelter. Deadline for fluoridating the town's water was Jan. 1, but the fluoridation equipment didn't arrive until this week, Linafelter said.

that a family which has planned ahead for a fire emergency is usually able to make a safe escape when fire actually strikes," he said. "National Fire Protection Association studies indicate that the majority of lives taken by home fires each year have been needlessly lost, just because of failure to pre-plan and rehearse."

Planning ahead is essential to protect your family, for fire can spread so rapidly there would be no time to figure out what to do, according to Pinkelman.

If you haven't done so before, draw up the escape plan you will rehearse during Operation EDITH. Pinkelman said, "Make sure everyone, including the children, knows exactly what your home life safety plan is."

Rehearse it now so you will be ready for Operation EDITH, said Pinkelman, and rehearse it periodically throughout the year so you always will be ready for any emergency.

RIGHT FIELDER Mike Manes of Wayne slides safely into third base in the Blue Devils' first game against Hooper-Loganview Monday

Mallette Hurls Second No-Hitter

Wayne High hurler Paul Mallette chalked up his second no-hitter of the season Monday and Vic Sharpe gave up one hit as the Blue Devils won both ends of a double-header with visiting Hooper-Loganview.

Mallette, who struck out 10 batters, pushed his record to 2-0 when the Devils blanked their fourth straight opponent, 5-0. Sharpe, taking over for Dave Hix on the mound in the second game, gave up a run scoring single in the fourth frame for Loganview's only score in the Devils' 7-1 win.

Going into Wednesday's game at Hooper, the Devils were 7-1 for the year. Wayne batter's cracked out on 15 hits, nine of them in the second contest.

Mallette wrapped two singles in two at bats in the second game to keep his batting average hovering at .460. Top slugger in the first contest was second baseman Randy Park with a double and single in three at bats. Park's average climbed to .412.

Wayne coach Mike Mallette pointed out that the number of hits wasn't a true measure of the team's hitting ability. Loganview doesn't have a strong pitching corps. "I'm hoping we get a stiffer test from Hooper before heading into next week's district," Mallette said.

Wayne took a 2-0 lead in the second inning of the first game as runs by senior Earle Overin and Mike Manes. Overin, who singled, rounded the bases when Manes hit by Hooper's second baseman. Manes then scored on first baseman Bob Keating's single.

In the bottom of the fourth center fielder Dave Nuss singled to drive in left fielder Monte Lowe and Matt Park then singled home Nuss.

The Devils broke down with seven runs in the first inning on six hits to virtually put the second game away. Back to back singles by Hix, Mallette and catcher Mike Meyer got the Devils moving.

Doubles by Park and Keating drove in three runs and singles by Mallette and Meyer accounted for two more runs. Two Hooper errors allowed another two runs.

Hix, who started the second game, also credited for the win. His record is 2-0.

Trojans Take Pair from Allen '9'

Wakefield High won a pair of games against Allen Monday, dumping the visiting Eagles 32-4 and 2-1.

The Trojans exploded for seven runs in the fifth inning of the opener on five hits, including the game's only double.

Teammates Garry Roeber and Baxter Brown set up Wakefield's first two runs in the fifth when the pair were hit by pitches. Singles by Greg Simpson and Tim Rouse scored Roeber and Brown, putting Wakefield ahead, 7-3. An Allen error allowed Wes Lueth to take first while Simpson crossed the plate. Dan Byer's double scored Rouse before Mike Soderberg singled to score Lueth and Byers. Brad Jones' single scored Soderberg.

"We got some timely hits for the first time this season," said Trojan coach Joe Coble, adding that the team defense also did a good job. Wakefield had the game's only double play when Jones' single scored Soderberg, pick off Allen runners in the fifth inning of the first game. Prior to the double play, Allen scored two runs to whittle Wakefield's lead to 5-3.

Allen went through three hurlers in the first game. Senior Paul Snyder started before being relieved by Jeff Creamer. Don Kluever finished the contest.

Gary Munter went the distance for Wakefield, evening his record at 1-1.

Allen senior Loren Book blasted a triple and double to lead the Eagle hitters in the first contest. In the third frame, Book tripled and later scored on a passed ball. In the fifth, Book doubled to score Lindy Koester.

Book went to the mound the second contest, holding Wakefield to only two hits. But Allen errors stopped the Eagles from overcoming the Trojans when the home team scored two runs in the second frame.

Soderberg singled and Munter was safe on first via an Allen error in the second. Jones' sacri-file loaded the sacks. Roeber went to first on an error that allowed Soderberg and Munter to score.

The Eagles, now 1-3, came back with a run in the top of the third when Kluever doubled and scored on Dave Dunn's ground out. But again Wakefield's defense stopped Allen, standing-10 players.

Doug Schwartz was the winning pitcher as Wakefield notched its third win in five games.

Wanted: Residents To Raise Pheasants

Farm youngsters in eligible areas of Nebraska who want to take part in the Game and Parks Commission's new pheasant stocking program are asked to contact their county agent or vocational agriculture instructor by Friday.

Under the stocking program, one day old pheasant chicks bought from game farms will be provided to 4-H and Future Farmers of America youngsters and cooperating farmers. They will be asked to furnish shelter, feed and care to raise the ringnecks to eight weeks, at which time Game and Parks Commission conservation officers will band the birds and release them in nearby habitat.

The stocking effort is aimed primarily at ringneck range land hit by winter storms in the Panhandle and Northeast Nebraska. In Northeast Nebraska, eligible counties included are east of Antelope, Boone, Nance and Merrick Counties and counties north of the Platte River. The area includes Wayne, Dixon and Cedar Counties.

Athletes of the Week

Once again two area athletes win this week's "Athlete of the Week" award.

They are Wayne High pitcher Paul Mallette and catcher Mike Meyer. Meyer earns the award after blasting a grand slam home run in Thursday's 7-0 conquest of Bancroft. The only team thus far to hand the Blue Devils a loss in eight games. Meyer's roundtripper came in the first inning to give Wayne a sizable edge in beating Bancroft, said Wayne coach Mike Mallette.

Paul Mallette's consistency at the plate is the main reason the junior wins the award. Mallette, who leads the team with a .462 average, has 12 hits in 26 at bats, including two doubles. Mallette, son of coach Mike Mallette, also leads the team with 17 stolen bases.

Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Meyer of Wayne, also is a strong hitter with a .333 average. The senior has 10 runs batted in to lead the team. Also to his credit are a double and a triple.

For the first time in five years the Wayne State women's softball team will miss the College Softball World Series.

That's a negative way of looking at results of the Nebraska college women's tournament at Omaha Friday through Saturday. The positive fact is that Wayne placed third among 11 teams, and coach G. L. Willoughby rated that a fine feat.

"I was really proud of the team. Third is not bad with an inexperienced team," she noted. "Only two of the girls had played in a state tournament before."

Most of the players, in fact, were new to Wayne softball. Only the two pitchers, Deb Thurness and Suzi Scheef, were veterans. Curiously, neither had pitched much before. Both were mainly shortstops, and they alternated at that position this year while the other pitched.

Thurness also rapped a batch of hits in the state meet, 10 of 18 for .555 in the six games. Newcomer Cathy Curtis, a fine mite not much over five feet, hit .421 for the tourney.

Hitting like that kept Wayne alive for four wins, sandwiched between an opening 6-0 loss to Kearney State and the final loss, 6-3, to Nebraska-Omaha. Omaha went on after shoving Wayne in third place, to beat Nebraska-Lincoln twice and thus replace Wayne as state champion.

After the first defeat Friday Wayne blanked Peru State, 11-0 in five innings of no-hit pitching by Thurness. It was Wayne's first no-hitter of the year. Then the Wildcats gals dumped Creighton University, 6-1, with Scheef the winner, making up for her meet-opening loss.

A third game Saturday gave Wayne special satisfaction — a 7-5 decision over Kennedy College. Thurness the winning pitcher. Kennedy had beaten Wayne in four season games, but this time for nought as Kennedy had to forfeit because of using several ineligible players.

Sunday morning Wayne gained another revenge by downing Kearney State, 12-5. Thurness again the winner.

That moved the Wildcats against Omaha, an earlier victim of Nebraska-Lincoln. At stake here, a crack at Nebraska, unbeaten in the tournament, but twice a victim of Wayne in season play.

Omaha matched its No. 1 pitcher, Julie Wolfe, against Thurness, who had thrown all of the immediately preceding game. Scheef took over in the sixth inning and shut out the Omahans, but Wayne bats were not able to close the gap and Omaha won 6-3.

So ended a season recorded as 17 wins, 5 losses, counting the four forfeits from Kennedy. Thurness posted a pitching record of 6-3; Scheef, 3-5; Mary Gerken, 2-1. Those figures included the losses to Kennedy, which stay on the books despite forfeits.

Omaha goes on to Women's World Series later this month in Omaha. Wayne stays on at home after four straight series, topped by last year's third place.

THE FUTURE of the Class B division in the state high school baseball playoffs is shaky. Although there has been no official talk about dropping Class B, "it's out of the question" (that) if the number of Class B teams dwindle to combine the districts (into one district) or drop it (Class B) said Les Chamberlin, executive secretary of the Nebraska School Activities Association.

There are about 13 high school baseball teams in Class B and 20 in Class A. He said in a telephone interview Monday. If Class B is dropped, teams in that class would compete with Class A clubs. However, the only way a change in the present lineup can take place is through the NSAA's board of control, Chamberlin pointed out. The board's next meeting is June 7 at Kearney. There is nothing on the agenda for next month's meeting about discussing the future of Class B ball, but that doesn't mean a member can't bring the topic up for discussion, he said.

Rumors of dropping the Class B division started after a number of schools failed to field teams this year. As a result, some districts are made up of three teams.

Two such three-team districts are at Wakefield and Wayne. District play starts Monday, Wayne plays Leigh at 3:30 p.m., with the winner to play Bancroft. If Leigh wins, the playoff is Tuesday. Otherwise, Wayne plays Bancroft on Wednesday. Wakefield takes on Allen at 1:30 p.m., with the winner to play Homer at 3:30. District winners from Wayne, Wakefield, Omaha and Lincoln will compete for the state Class B title on May 27 at Lincoln.

REMEMBER Dave Schneider, 1967-70 Wayne State basketball standout? Schneider's strong performance in his second year with the Athletics in Action is one reason the AIA's best basketball team finished 30-13 this season, according to an AIA sports newsletter.

The 6-11½ center ended the season as the top field goal shooter with about 54 per cent and was the team's second leading rebounder. Schneider had back to back 14-point performances against Southern Methodist University and Idaho for his best nights. His career scoring record with AIA stands at 416 points, about 10 points a game.

Schneider, as some college fans might recall, helped lead the Wildcats to the NAIA district championship during the 1968-69 season. During his last three seasons at Wayne State, the Kennard native guided WS to a 70-13 record, according to college sports information director Dick Manby.

Although Schneider started only four Wildcat games during his college career, he was the Wildcats' top scorer his junior and senior years with a 17.6 average.

IT'S GETTING that time of the school year for athletic banquets. Saturday at 6:30 p.m. Winside High School will hold its annual awards night for athletes. Guest speaker is Dr. Doyle Fyfe, an assistant athletic coach at Kearney State. Cost of tickets is $2.50. Dinner will be served by the Federated Women's Club of Winside in the school's multipurpose room.

A trip into the higher realms of university baseball this week left Wayne State with only four losses — but no humiliation.

Tuesday at Boulder, the University of Colorado beat the Wildcats—twice, 4-3 and 6-2. Monday at Fort Collins, Colorado State salvaged a 5-4 win on a two-run, two-out triple in the bottom of the ninth inning. Sunday at Laramie, the University of Wyoming got the nearest to a runaway with a 10-3 opening win. Then Wayne retaliated on a 6-1 victory in the second game.

Returning on the Wayne schedule are a home doubleheader at 1:30 today (Thursday) with Westmar, if the field is dry enough, and a makeup twin bill at home Monday, 1 p.m., with Yankton.

A crucial conference double-header with Kearney is rescheduled for Sunday — the site to be determined. Kearney came here for the games April 26, only to be rained out. So other location will be arranged.

Tornado

aging the Richard Miller home, and destroying a machine shed on the Carl Troutman farm. Also struck was the Howard Voss farmstead along Highway 35 where it moved a grainery around. Across the highway from the Voss farm, the tornado and high winds toppled one large trailer truck onto its side and forced another truck into the ditch.

The trailer truck, which belongs to the Milton G. Waldbaum Co. at Wakefield, was being driven south by Leonard Bruggeman of Hoskins when it was flipped off the highway, landing on its left side pointing east on the road leading off the highway.

Also damaged at the tornado moved north was the Lyle Krueger farm home, where it destroyed a garage, and the Rod Bruggen farm, where it destroyed hog houses, tore off barn doors and knocked windows out of the house. West of the Krueger farm the tornado knocked down Wayne County Public Power District lines.

The tornado also damaged a barn and buildings on a farmstead belonging to Herman Jaeger, and damaged buildings on the Les Decker and Bob Koll farmsteads.

Farther north and west, the tornado damaged buildings on a vacant farmstead belonging to Herb Jaeger, and about a half mile north it struck Jaeger's farm building and toppled a fairly new trailer home. At the Robert Jensen farmstead about a half mile farther north, the tornado destroyed a breezeway, tipped a trailer on its side and knocked trees across the county road.

Also damaged in the tornado was a vacant farm home about two miles east of Carroll. That house, owned by Stanley Hansen, was partially blown away. Heavy rains accompanied the tornado, dumping as much as two and a half inches in the Carroll area. Gullies and streams were nearly filled with in minutes after the tornado bulled its way across the county, carrying newly planted seed washed away from surrounding fields.

The tornado was the worst since one struck several years ago southeast of Winside, according to sheriff Weible. That tornado killed one woman, he noted.

The Aftermath of A Tornado

THESE PHOTOGRAPHS taken at the Dale Deck farm southwest of Winside show vividly the destructive force of Tuesday's tornado. The tornado uprooted trees, knocked branches down on a parked pickup, ripped a light pole out of the ground, tore away a grain bin and left a parked car virtually unmarked while tearing away the garage. It was parked in Deck, who said he didn't see the tornado approach his farm home, talks with three men who quickly showed up to help with cleaning the debris left by the tornado. Also extensively damaged by the tornado was the Chester Maratz farm about a mile south of the Deck home as well as other farmsteads and buildings in the southwest and west part of the county.

NEAL BOSEHART, right, talks to Wayne Mayor Freeman Decker following Bosehart's talk on alcoholism during Monday's Kiwanis meeting.

'Alcoholism Is Nation's No. One Drug Problem'

Alcoholism is the nation's No. one drug problem, Neal Bosehart of Laurel told Wayne Kiwanians Monday.

Because drinking alcohol is socially accepted, "it is easier for a person to become addicted to it," he said. However, stopping an alcoholic from drinking isn't so easy. "There's no trick to drying up the drunk, but there is a trick to just keeping him dry," Bosehart said.

Bosehart, who works for the Nebraska Community Alcoholism Resource Development Program at Norfolk, pointed out that he is a former alcoholic. "I started drinking when I was 16. At 17 I had my first blackout."

For 23 years he had an alcohol problem, Bosehart went on. The first 12 years I used alcohol, but the next 12 it used me."

That was 15 years ago. Now Bosehart admits that he might start drinking again. There is no cure for alcoholism, he noted.

Bosehart said the best way for an alcoholic to become sober is through Alcoholics Anonymous.

The state alcoholism program and AA work together in some cases, Bosehart noted, adding that working with AA is "easier and safer" for an alcoholic than attempting to stop drinking by himself.

Monday Is Deadline For All Return Teachers

The May school board meeting at Allie's has been moved to this coming Monday instead of the first Monday of the month in order for members to review teacher contracts for next year, said superintendent Gail Miller.

Monday is the deadline for teachers to turn in their contracts, either signed or unsigned so the board will know who is returning next year, he said.

The school board and Allie Teachers Association recently agreed on a $7,400 base pay for the 1975-76 school year, plus four per cent of the base pay in creases for teaching experience and hours beyond a bachelor's degree.

The monthly meeting is slated for 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

Property taxpayer's cry is heard again in legislative chamber

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN — It was almost as if there were echoes in the legislative chamber the other day.
 A cry heard — and often heard — over the years was heard again: The property taxpayer simply cannot stand any more.
 This time, it was expressed in opposition to a bill to put control of the technical community college system into the hands of elected board members in the six areas.
 An aspect of that move toward "local control" was the assignment of authority for the board to levy up to 2 1/2 mills of property tax.
 The other side, and the losing side of the preliminary skirmish, at least, wanted full state funding. One reason was to relieve the property taxpayer — although the sales and income taxpayer would have to provide the dollars — and another was to coordinate higher education, which would be decentralized by the bill.

 Senator Maurice Kreamer of Aurora is sponsor of the bill. He and 24 other lawmakers — comprising the bare majority of 25 necessary — voted to advance the proposal of first reading.
 Senator Jerry Warner of Waverly had tried to get the votes to make the system state-funded, but he fell short.
 The issue wasn't dead, however, because the Appropriations Committee had built its recommended budgets on the basis of a state-funded technical community college system.
 It will require amendments to the budget bills to make them conform to the Kreamer bill — and that means another fight on the legislative floor.

Fieldhouse Gets Money
 The Appropriations Committee wrapped up its 1975 deliberations last week — nearly four months after starting them.
 Among the final decisions were reversals of two earlier denials of money from the tax-supported general fund for University of Nebraska projects.
 One was the operation budget for the $12 million fieldhouse under construction on the state fairgrounds. The committee at first had decided that the university could tap its athletic funds and supplement that with revenue generated through rental of the arena for such events as rock concerts.
 But NU officials said there simply isn't that kind of revenue potential. The athletic department's treasury is in bad shape with inflation driving up costs and might go into the red in a few years, even without trying to pay for the operation of the new fieldhouse. And they said special events couldn't raise enough, although a professional football exhibition game is slated for this summer to help a little.

 Even if the football game is a big money-maker it would be only a little help toward the fieldhouse financing because it is expected to take nearly $600,000 a year to pay for the heat, cooling, lights, water, janitorial service and other maintenance of the new build-
 The committee released and decided to make $200,000 available from the tax offers in the 1975-76 fiscal year. That should be enough, the committee said, since the contractors aren't expected to be through until December or January.

 That means, as cage fans probably noticed, that the Husker home basketball schedule probably will be split between the 40 year-old Coliseum and the brand spanking new fieldhouse.
 The other NU project at first denied any money from the tax-supported general fund is the State University of Nebraska, which delivers home-study collegiate courses through newspapers, educational television and other devices.
 The committee originally held that the SUN project could go along, as it has in the past, with money from federal and private grants and tuition revenues. But the university said federal financing is drying up and state tax dollars are needed.

 On reconsideration, the committee appropriated $125,000.
Soybean Promotion Backed
 Before advancing off first reading a bill to establish a checkoff system to finance soybean promotion, the Legislature adopted an amendment which makes the board administering the fund elected by soybean growers.
 Originally, the bill called for the governor to appoint the administrative board.
 The change was sponsored by Senator Jerome Warner of Waverly and was reluctantly accepted by Senator Richard Marsh of Milligan, who introduced the bill.

Ford aiming popgun at consumer protection bill

By RON HENDREN

WASHINGTON — One of the most lobbied against bills in the history of Congress is about to pass both houses, and the White House is quietly putting out the word that the President will veto it when it does.
 Voting rights legislation? Civil rights amendments? An open housing bill? No.
 The measure is S.200 to establish an Agency for Consumer Advocacy designed to insure that American consumers get a fair shake in the federal government's decision-making processes.
 It's not a new idea, having first been proposed by the late Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) in 1961. But consumer protection has pretty much fought an uphill battle since then. The consumer protection proposal endured filibusters in the Senate in 1972 and 1974, when there were more cloture votes on consumer protection legislation than on any other subject in the history of Congress, including the Civil Rights Act of 1964.
 Now, however, the persistence of the bill's sponsors appears to have paid off. S.200 is expected to pass the Senate by a large margin within two weeks, and indications are it will sail through the house before summer's end.
 There is a possibility, though, that it may sink at the White House.
 The President doesn't want a consumer protection agency now because, he says, it will cost too much. His advisers are bending any available ear to get across the message that the Boss will probably veto S.200, even though he supported a similar bill in 1971 while a member of the House.
 Assistant White House press secretary for domestic affairs, John Carlson, told me there is "not much likelihood that the President will go along with the bill if it comes out with the costs now projected."
 Even I am almost persuaded, John, but I think Mr. Ford may be bluffing. There's a lot of pressure on him to oppose this bill from big business interests which, after all, butter his English muffins.
 The President can't very well shoot down S.200 on philosophical grounds, since he supported similar legislation just four years ago. The only gun he has to shoot with — the question of cost — is a popgun without a cork, because even if the agency were to be appropriated its full authorization for the next three years — an unheard-of fantasy — the total expenditure would amount to about 25 cents a year from each of us.
 Even the most pessimistic of the bill's supporters argue that the agency will save consumers far more than that every year. (Authorization figures: $15 million for the first year, $20 million for the second and $25 million for the third.)
 Moreover, the vote in both Senate and House is likely to be lopsided in favor of S.200 and, while Gerald Ford may not be the brightest President we've ever had, I can't believe he would be willing to stake what little congressional clout he has on a 25-cent proposal when he knows beforehand there is a good chance he would be overridden.
 I think Mr. Ford is biding his time by making a lot of tough talk that he hopes will please his contributors and scare Congress into passing the bill by a smaller margin than it now appears likely.
 I don't think it will work.
 I certainly hope it doesn't, because nobody more than the American consumer needs a voice before the federal regulatory agencies, and so far that consumer has rarely had even a squeak.

EXTENSION NOTES

By Anna Marie Kreitels

Prepare for Summer Safety
Spring means yard, garden and field work. Along with these busy tasks comes the use of pesticides. Used correctly, pesticides are helpful, but a few careless moves can mean tragedy for a family.

Storage in a secure area, preferably locked is a must. Small children are inquisitive, and regardless of how well dangerous products are hidden from them, children often get into harmful and poisonous substances. A storage area doesn't have to be fancy, but it must be secure.

Careless adults create hazards for children and others when they transfer pesticide products from the labeled container to a soft drink bottle or food container. Poison Control Center reports show that children under five years of age are involved in more than half of all the accidental ingestions involving harmful substances.

Adults must exercise care and use safe pesticides, especially if children might be watching. It's best to consider the area where pesticides are being handled as off-limits to children. Such areas are not play areas.

Common sense and personal hygiene are important in handling pesticides. Clothing should protect as much of the body as possible from exposure to pesticides. Waterproof gloves and boots are preferred since cloth and leather do absorb pesticide liquids.

It's suggested that smoking be avoided while handling pesticides, thus reducing inhalation of possible harmful substances and fumes. And remember to wash up well before eating.

Few Hitches Encountered

In Friday's Mock Disaster

FRIDAY'S mock tornado disaster in Wayne went off with only a few hitches, those who took part agreed following the practice. Among one of the problems encountered when the simulated tornado struck Wayne High School about 7 p.m., was the lack of enough adequately trained people turning out to help at the disaster site. However, those who did respond got some practice in treating people injured in a natural disaster. And the practice was surprisingly realistic — the youths serving as the victims had plastic patches stuck onto themselves to simulate injuries. In addition, they were scattered throughout the halls of the high school, moaning and yelling for help when rescuers arrived. Scenes from the practice tornado disaster, second in a row for the community, Dr. Willis Wiseman, a nurse and a rescuer lift a badly injured youth onto a stretcher in the basement hallway of the high school, rescuers completely bandage the youth's face after he was taken to the West Elementary School, temporary hospital for the practice disaster. Miron Jenness quickly checks over two injured youths before moving on to see how many more there are in the building. The practice disaster involved local doctors, nurses, hospital staff members, firemen from both Wayne and Winfield, civil defense officials, county and city law officials, Wayne CB's and others.

Bicentennial Mural To Greet Visitors

Persons driving through Wayne will be greeted by one of the projects being undertaken by the city as part of Wayne County's American Bicentennial effort.

Bill Kaup, owner of Kaup's TV Service in Wayne, has donated the use of the north side of his building at 222 Main St. for a large mural portraying the county's history.

According to Mrs. Roberta Welte of Wayne, head of the Bicentennial organization planning activities in the county, the mural will likely be a map depicting the county's historical sites. Designing the mural will be Ted Blenderman, art instructor at Wayne High School.

Committee members working on projects to help observe the nation's 200th birthday met Friday night at the Woman's Club room in Wayne.

One of several Bicentennial projects being undertaken by members of Wayne's Senior Citizens Center is the planting of a seedless cottonwood tree at the Henry Victor Memorial Park, located at the south edge of Wayne.

Mrs. Roberta Dolata, member of Wayne's Mrs. Jaycees, told persons attending Friday night's meeting that Wayne County Jaycees are planning to sponsor a Fourth of July fireworks display of the city ballpark this year and next year as their Bicentennial undertaking.

Mrs. Dolata has been named to head a committee to bake a birthday cake which will be served to the public during the Bicentennial celebration in Wayne. Stated for July 25 of next year.

The cake will be served July 3. The four day celebration also will include a large parade on July 5.

Mrs. Ron Mdu of Wayne, secretary of the Bicentennial organization, emphasized during the meeting that clubs or organizations planning bicentennial events should contact the committee so their project can be added to a list which will be sent to the state in an effort to have Wayne named a Bicentennial city.

Next meeting of the Bicentennial organization will be Friday, May 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Woman's Club room at the city auditorium in Wayne. All meetings are open to the public.

Mrs. Welte will be guest speaker at a Kiwanis luncheon in June and will talk on the Bicentennial.

Wayne's Birthday-Bucks promotion is worth $425 tonight (Thursday) as another week has gone by without a grand prize winner being named.

Winning last week's $25 consolation prize was a shopper from Hartington, Bernice Hoising, who was in Kuhn's Department Store when the winning date was announced Thursday evening.

Her birthday is July 5, 1956, several days away from the winning date of June 21, 1956. Had her birthday matched the date drawn at random and announced in all participating firms at 8:15, she would have won the $400 grand prize.

In the grand prize game, unclaimed again tonight (Thursday), it will jump another $25 to $450 for next week's drawing. It will cease climbing once it reaches the $500 ceiling.

License Is Revoked. Roger G. Greeckel, 21, of Wayne, is one of 168 motorists who lost their Nebraska driving licenses during April under the 12 point revocation system, reports the state motor vehicles department.

The 168 revocations compares with 183 revocations in March and 139 in April of last year.

The little boy whose mother had just meted out some well-deserved punishment is in no position to judge what his mother means to him.

He has a great deal of trouble realizing that his mother is shaping his character and impressing on him those standards of conduct which will stand him in good stead throughout his life. By the time he fully realizes all that she has done for him, it is often, unfortunately, too late to let her know.

Mothers everywhere deserve our honor, respect and love, every day of the year. We gladly join in the universal tribute to Mother, on her Day.

W-C Board Hikes Pay For Non-Certified Staff

A month after approving a salary schedule for teachers for the 1975-76 school year, the Wayne Carroll school board Monday night okayed salary hikes for non-certified staff members.

Like the salary increases for teachers, the pay boost for the non-certified staff members — cooks, custodians, etc. — will go into effect at the start of next school year.

Custodians will receive a 15 cent hourly raise, bringing the lowest level custodian to a pay of $2.05 an hour.

Housekeepers also will receive a 15 cent hourly raise, upping the lowest pay for that job from $2.05 an hour to $2.20.

For each level of the six-level pay scale, custodians and housekeepers will receive a 10 cent an hour increase.

Bottom level secretaries and teachers aides will receive $2.25 an hour, up from the present $2.10. Like the custodians and housekeepers, they will receive a 10 cent an hour increase for each step up a six-step pay scale.

Cooks also will receive a 15 cent an hour increase, going from the present $2.05 an hour to the lowest level to $2.20. They also receive a 10 cent an hour increase for each step up a six-step pay scale. Manager of the cooks, however, will receive $3.25 an hour, an increase from the present $3 an hour paid the person serving in that post.

Salaries for bus drivers will be increased from the present beginning base of $150 a month to $160. For each level up a six-step pay scale, bus drivers will receive an additional $5 a month. The assistant supervisor of bus drivers will receive $190 a month.

Dick Powers, superintendent of grounds and buildings, will receive a salary of $9,775, up from his present salary of $8,970.

The salary for the school nurse will be hiked from the present $5,400 to $5,850.

Salaries for two secretaries, not on the pay schedule will also be increased. Doris Daniel's from the present $605 a month to $660 and Bonnie Stanley's from the present $3 an hour to $3.25.

This and That...
from YOUR COUNTY AGENT

WAYNE COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

I have been asked a number of questions recently that I'd like to share with you along with their answers.

Jumping Threads
A lady brought into the office several houseplants, one of which was almost dead. These plants were infested with an insect so small it looked like a very small piece of thread. The tiny insects might have gone undetected if they hadn't been jumping around.

These tiny, light-colored insects are called thrips and will suck the juice out of such plants as African Violets until they die. They can be controlled by spraying with malathion.

How to Outsmart Smartweed
Smartweed is really covering the ground in many old corn stalk fields. The question was can a farmer use 2, 4-D on the weed and still plant a crop of beans.

Smartweed can be controlled with 2 to 3/4 pint of 2, 4-D ester per acre. This should be done when the weed is small, for smartweed is difficult to kill when it gets larger.

If this is done soon and the soil is tilled a person should be able to follow with beans later this month.

Fertilizing Pastures
Should I use phosphate along with the nitrogen on bromegrass pastures?
The only sure way of knowing how much phosphate to use anytime is by a soil test. Don't guess — take a soil test.

But almost without exception, upland bromegrass will need phosphate, unless you have been fertilizing with phosphate regularly in the past. A good

Why Are Beef Supply, Prices Both High?

Lincoln — Where did the sudden upward swing in market beef prices come from if the United States supposedly is overstocked with cattle?

The boost in prices — up to $50 a hundredweight Friday (May 2) compared with $34 just a month ago — is the result of a seasonal short supply coupled with a rise in demand, says Al Wellman, University of Nebraska Lincoln Extension agricultural economist.

The number of cattle slaughtered is trending down because pastures are greening up, Wellman explains. "People are able to move their cows to pasture, so cow slaughter is down. And many of the so-called baby beefs look now like they will go into feedlot placements instead of being slaughtered."

Demand for beef typically increases at this time of year, the NU marketing specialist points out. "It's the beginning of the barbecue season. When steaks and hamburgers become popular. Also, May is Beef Month across the country, so beef is being promoted."

The reductions in cattle on feed and the cutback in sow farrowings should make both beef and pork supplies drop this spring, the adds 30 cents should enjoy higher prices.

Where the market goes from here depends, however, on the weather, according to Wellman. "Right now, we're looking at a reasonable pasture supply, and planting intentions indicate feed grain supplies will be up."

"With bad weather, cattlemen will begin to sell off their animals as feed costs increase."

In the long run, there still is an oversupply of cattle. "This seasonal short supply should begin to level out in July and August when I'd expect prices to start going down from the mid $40 range," he concludes.

A change of fortune turns a wise man no more than a change of the moon.

4H CLUB

Brenna-Go-Getters

The fourth meeting of the Brenna-Go-Getters 4-H Club was held May 4 in the home of Janet, Gloria and Darin Spittiger. Brian Bjernman presided at the meeting. Roll call, naming a breed of dairy animal, was answered by 11 members.

Clark and Scott Mohlfeld reported on the dairy camp at Concord. Small engines members reported on their progress. Demonstrations given were "The King of Knots" by Darin Spittiger, "The Crankshaft" by Johnathan Selling and "Feed Nutrients" by Gloria Spittiger.

The next meeting will be June 9 in the home of Brian Bjernman. Darin Spittiger, news reporter.

Pots and Pans

A demonstration on "Better Breakfasts" was presented by Holly Meyer, Lori Meyer, Michelle Meyer and Pam Ruge at the regular meeting of the Pots and Pans 4-H Club. All members were present April 29 at 8 p.m. in the home of Penny and Shellie Meyer.

Backyard Quiz

Q. Can you start zoysia grass with seeds?

A. It's possible to start zoysia grass with seed, but it only forms seeds under certain conditions. The usual starter is plugs.

Q. If a hoyo plant is five years old and hasn't bloomed yet, what is wrong?

A. Hoyas are very temperamental house plants. They need bright indirect sunlight, moisture and some crowding in the pot if they aren't very happy, they won't bloom.

Q. A maple has 1/2-inch cracks with lumps around them on the trunk and on up into the larger limbs. What is the problem?

A. A soft maple with these characteristics probably has winter injury and is trying to heal itself. Cut the dead bark away and let the water out, which is forming the lumps. Thin barked trees should be wrapped to prevent this problem.

Q. When is the frost free date?

A. This obviously varies all across the state, but the average frost free date is April 15. If you are basing vegetable planting dates on this, it would be best to wait until after May 1.

Use Care When Running Mower

Care and attention to the job are musts to avoid injury when running power mowing equipment. Here are ways to prevent problems:

—Read the owner's manual and note all operating and safety instructions.
—Know the controls and how to stop the machine quickly.
—Police the area to be mowed, removing stones, wire, trash and other objects which could clog the mower or be thrown by the blades. Fill holes or washouts.

—Make sure shields and other safety devices are in place and functioning as intended.
—Fill the fuel tank before starting the job. If you must refuel during the job, shut off the motor and let it cool for a few minutes. That might be a good time for a work break. Don't smoke while refueling. Store fuel in sturdy, approved red metal containers.

—Keep hands and feet away from moving parts. Have utmost respect for mower blades.
—Shut off the engine (or motor) before unclogging, servicing, adjusting or removing grassbag attachments. Remove the spark wire when working on the machine.

—Keep children and bystanders out of the work area — objects hurled from a discharge chute can become dangerous projectiles.
—Watch for and avoid obstructions when mowing. Watch for hidden hazards such as holes, ruts, drain pipes, etc.
—Replace faulty mufflers. Unnecessarily high noise levels do your ears and nerves little good, disturb family members and perhaps annoy the neighbors.

Keep children and bystanders out of the work area — objects hurled from a discharge chute can become dangerous projectiles.

The What and How of Pruning

Most people know that pruning can add a more pleasing shape to trees and shrubs. Here are three areas that pruners need to know before they attack — their green growing things with a shears.

What to look for and prune:
1. Prune dead, dying or unsightly parts of a tree.
2. Prune sprouts growing at or near the base of a tree trunk.
3. Prune overlapping branches.

4. Prune one of the branches forming a weak crotch. Weak crotches cause splitting.
5. When multiple leaders develop on a tree, cut out the rest and leave one stem.

How to prune:
1. Train a tree or shrub by shaping its natural growth.
2. Control direction of new growth by cutting back to a bud or stem that points to the direction where you want it to grow.
3. Undercut any branch that is more than one inch in diameter to prevent splitting and treat the wound with asphalt varnish or other suitable painting material.
4. Do not prune when plant is bleeding. Birch, maple, gums, etc. are serious bleeders.

"My company doesn't have a retirement plan... but I can build my personal plan — a 100% tax-deductible IRA — at Commercial Federal Savings!"

That's right! Now, any worker not participating in an existing retirement plan can put up to $1,500 or 15% of earned income — whichever is less — into a personal retirement plan, an IRA (Individual Retirement Account), at Commercial Federal. And every penny is tax-deductible! Even the earnings are tax-free until the funds are withdrawn, presumably at retirement, when your tax rate will probably be lower.

- Beginning any time between ages 59 1/2 and 70 1/2, you can have your money however you please — in a lump sum, in monthly installments, or annually — as you choose.
- If you leave a company in which you have a vested interest in a retirement plan, you can invest those funds in an IRA at Commercial Federal without paying any Federal income tax if you do it within 60 days.
- You can't lose! Growth is assured, with no market fluctuations to worry about!
- No salesman's commissions to pay, year after year.

Commercial Federal Savings pays higher interest on your IRA than any bank! ANY BANK! As soon as there's $1,000 in your IRA, the money can be put into a high-rate Savings Certificate and earn as much as 7 3/4% a year, compounded continuously, for an effective annual yield of 8.058%.

Figured on that basis, an annual contribution of $1,500 to an IRA — contributed either in a lump sum or in installments — would, in thirty years amount to a whopping $189,211.34!

The Village of Winside, Nebraska,

Apply Early for
SS Number if You Don't Have One

Housewives, students and other people who plan to get a summer job should apply now for a social security number if they don't have one, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

You should apply for your number several weeks before you need it for a job covered by social security, he said, because applications must be screened against central files in Baltimore to make sure that a second number isn't issued to the same person. Screening generally takes several weeks.

More than nine out of 10 jobs are covered by social security. People applying for a social security number for the first time may be asked to prove their age, identity and citizenship.

Your social security number is yours alone and remains the same for life, said Branch. A worker builds retirement, disability, survivors and Medicare protection by work and earnings credited to his social security number. When you get a job covered by social security, be sure your employer copies your name and number correctly from your social security card to his record, said Branch.

People can get information about applying for a social security number by calling, writing or visiting any social security office.

"If you've lost your social security card, you can get a duplicate by contacting any social security office," Branch said. "You can get a duplicate faster if you've kept the stub that came with your social security card."
