

'Wayne Is A Good City, But It Has Some Problems,' Survey Reveals

Local residents who took part in last November's community attitudes survey in Wayne pinpointed few problems of serious nature, but they did point out some areas where more attention should be focused.

Those areas of concern mentioned by the people who filled out the surveys include the lack of public transportation, lack of adequate rental housing and housing rehabilitation, and lack of job opportunities.

Those are the conclusions drawn in a 43-page report on the survey which was delivered to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce last week by Bill Martin, field service representative for the state department of economic development. The department conducted the survey and compiled the results.

Fifty copies of the report were delivered to the Chamber, with some of them earmarked for distribution to the libraries in the community. Copies will be made available to local officials and others interested in findings, and some will be kept on hand for use by industrial prospects considering Wayne as a location, according to Chamber manager Howard Witt.

Witt said additional copies may be ordered in the future if funds can be obtained for printing costs.

A total of about 1,100 questionnaires were distributed last fall, with 23 of them going to rural families in the area. Some 52 per cent of the questionnaires, 570, were returned and used in compiling the results contained in the report.

The survey covered such areas as general community attitudes, attitudes toward city government, governmental services and taxes, and attitudes toward economic development.

According to the report summary, "Several important findings were discovered in the survey. In general, the respondents viewed their community favorably. They identified very few problems of serious nature. Three out of four respondents agreed that the community is well planned with respect to residential, business and industrial areas. Most of the retail shopping is done in the community and the college was rated as excellent by a majority of the respondents.

The report notes that such a survey can offer guidelines to local decision makers and community organizations concerned with development and improvement programs.

"Attempts to find solutions to identified problems should be strongly encouraged and attempts to recognize and reinforce the identified strengths of the community should also be made," the report concludes. "The use of this survey now rests with the community."

Although a majority of the people completing the survey agreed that Wayne is a pleasant community, 50 per cent of them said that poor sidewalks in the city are either a very serious or somewhat serious problem.

Sidewalks was the major area of concern by the respondents, but also mentioned often as areas of concern were deteriorating commercial development, unsightly vacant lots, lack of county zoning and solid waste disposal.

In addition, a majority of the people, 60-65 per cent, named community apathy as a problem, with 18.6 per cent feeling it is serious and 42 per cent feeling it is somewhat serious.

More than half of the people, 56 per cent, pointed to "lack of pride in the community as either a serious or somewhat serious problem."

An overwhelming majority of the people, 94 per cent, agreed that the college is an asset to the community, and a high percentage, 79 per cent, agreed that Wayne State is doing a good job of keeping the community informed about its activities, programs and problems.

Noted the report: "A majority of the respondents indicated that the college was doing a fine job and a large number of respondents countered with the question — 'What can Wayne do to better serve the college?'"

The survey also revealed that local and area residents are concerned about the declining enrollment at the college. More than 38 per cent of the people said it was a serious problem and 48 per cent said it was somewhat serious. Twenty per cent of the people felt it was not a serious problem.

In the area of local government, the people surveyed were generally pleased with the level of governmental services they are receiving, the report shows. Sixty-five per cent of those surveyed agreed that the city government is efficient and well administered.

"Wayne's fire protection, library services and facilities, parks, street maintenance and law enforcement were all rated favorably," says the report.

"Both the school facilities and the overall quality of education, provided in Wayne were rated quite high," the report continues.

"Though most services were rated quite favorably, Wayne's public transportation both within the community and to other communities was rated quite poorly. Over 75 per cent of the respondents rated public transportation as inadequate."

In addition, although an overwhelming majority of the people, 92 per cent, said that the parks in the community were excellent or adequate, many people expressed concern about the lack of adequate recreational programs and facilities in Wayne.

In the area of local taxes, the survey showed that "a majority of the respon-

Girl Injured in Car-Bike Mishap

An eight year old Wayne girl was struck by a car on the 500 block of East Seventh about 4:30 p.m. Thursday while walking her bicycle across the street.

Treated at Wayne Hospital for minor cuts and torn knee ligaments was Amy Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan of 511 E. Seventh. She was released the same day.

According to police reports, the driver of the vehicle, Matt thews Smith, 819 S. Walnut, was headed west on East Seventh when the Jordan girl was crossing the street.

In another car bicycle mishap, the same day, 11 year old Tony Mau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mau of 508 Whidom, escaped injury when his bike was hit by a car driven by Richard Hoestle, 114 Douglas. The accident happened near the intersection of Secord and Main Streets about 5:30 p.m.

Hoestle told police his brake line broke causing the car to brush the Mau bike.

Neither driver was charged in the accidents, according to local police.

4-H Meeting Slated Again

Wayne youths interested in joining a 4-H club for city youths are invited to attend a meeting Tuesday evening at the Wayne County courthouse.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the courtroom on the top floor of the courthouse.

The meeting had been scheduled for Tuesday evening last week, but the tornado activity in the area that afternoon apparently kept youths and parents from attending, according to county agricultural agent Don Smitze.

Planned for those who enroll in the club are sheep and electric projects, he noted.

Poppy Day Slated for Thursday

The Wayne American Legion Auxiliary will hold Poppy Day Thursday, with proceeds to go for needy and disabled veterans.

Adults will canvass the business district in the morning and local youngsters will assist with door to door sales in the residential districts, beginning at 4 p.m.

Any youngster who would like to help sell poppies is asked to meet after school at the Vet's Club where local auxiliary members will be making poppy wreaths to decorate the graves of veterans and auxiliary members on Memorial Day. Youngsters will be served refreshments before they begin selling poppies.

Through the American Legion Auxiliary poppy program, more than $300,000 is paid annually to needy and disabled servicemen and women who make the memorial flowers. All contributions received from Poppy Day go directly to aid disabled war veterans or members of their families.

Hattie McNutt, Lora Dron and Vicky Skokan are chairmen for this year's sale.

WINSLOW HIGH students Deb Albrecht, left, and Jill Stenwall join Wayne County employee Darrell Franzen in helping clean up trash around the Chester Marotz farm southwest of Winslow. The Marotz farm was one of several struck by Tuesday's tornado which ripped through the southwest part of the county. Wayne residents were planning on helping clean up at the farmsteads Saturday afternoon.

Finally, Farmers in the Fields

AFTER a spring of wet weather, Wayne area farmers are finally getting spring field work done. This farmer plowing a field southeast of Wayne is framed in a dead tree along a fence line.

Wischhof Attorney Named Felony Charges

Wayne County district judge George Dimick of Norfolk named Wayne attorney Ken Swarts to represent Leonard Wischhof, charged last week with shooting with intent to kill, wound, or maim.

Swarts was named court-appointed attorney for the Wayne man during the regular monthly district court session in Wayne on Wednesday.

Wischhof, 54, is charged in connection with the shooting of his older brother, Paul, 56.

Paul remained in stable condition in the Veterans Hospital in Omaha Friday evening after being transferred there from the local hospital about noon Sunday, May 4. He had been shot twice, both times in the chest area. One bullet went through his body, the other lodged in his stomach. Local law officers said. He underwent surgery in Omaha, they say. He was transferred.

Although he was listed in critical condition when first transferred to Omaha, he has shown "some progress" and is able to get up and move around, according to a hospital spokesman.

Leonard was arrested by local law officials about 2:30 Sunday afternoon, May 4, outside the trailer he and his brother had been living in.

His brother reportedly called the local hospital that morning and asked that an ambulance be sent to pick him up and take him to the hospital. He complained of bladder trouble, but a doctor later found out that he had been shot twice.

Date for a preliminary hearing for Leonard has not been set. The hearing in Wayne County court will determine whether he is bound over to district court to stand trial on the felony charge.

Prompt Pleas Of Innocent

Two former Wayne men pleaded not guilty to separate felony charges during their arraignment in Wayne County district court last week.

The two are John Krause, charged with embezzlement, and William Ingrain, charged with auto theft.

They entered pleas of not guilty at their arraignment before district judge George Dimick of Norfolk on Wednesday during the regular monthly session of district court in Wayne. He continued bonds for both of them — $10,000 for Ingrain and $20,000 for Krause.

Krause is charged with embezzling $20,300 from Feeders Elevator between Feb. 8 and April 8 of last year when he was See Innocent, page 5

Tax Refunds, Rebates Total $1.67 Million In Wayne County

Some financial aid is already flowing to residents of Wayne County.

A total of $1,670,000 will be coming in from Washington, a partial offset to the funds sent in the opposite direction recently in paying 1974 income taxes.

Essentially, it represents a two-part payout. The bulk of it, approximately $1,271,000, will be coming back in the form of refunds to local taxpayers who overpaid on their taxes during the past year because the amount withheld from their paychecks was more than was required.

Most of the other money they will be receiving consists of the rebates on their 1974 taxes that Congress and the Administration approved last month.

Wayne County residents will recover an estimated $399,000 in such rebates.

In addition, local persons who are recipients of social security benefits being retroactively adjusted and aged, the blind and the disabled who are on welfare will receive $50 each.

This bonus will in no way affect the increase in monthly benefits they are scheduled to get later this year under separate legislation.

Nationally, a substantial amount of money is being put back into the hands of consumers, with the hope that they will See Refunds, Rebates, page 5

OBSERVATIONS

Thinking back . . .

Some editorial observations on a Saturday-morning-afternoon-week-of-too-much-activity jammed into two hours.

—Windside High School students and Wayne residents deserve some recognition along with all those others who helped the tornado-stricken families in the southwest part of Wayne County. The high school students showed up Friday afternoon to help the farm families clean up around their homes. Local residents spent part of their weekend in doing the same thing. From what I could see, it's going to take a lot more help than that to return those farms to even a semblance of what they were before Tuesday's tornado ripped and tore to pieces years of work and labor. It's probably not stretching the truth to say that a few of those farm families will never be able to build themselves back to what they once were. I would like to see some other groups in the area offer their assistance to at least help them toward that goal.

In what they are doing, but I'm not so sure that they will be.

—Val Peterson got a good deal of ink in Thursday's issue of the newspaper, but considering the honor he received over the weekend, he deserved every bit of it. He is now listed among the elite group of people who have been named to receive the Nebraska Book Honor from the University of Nebraska. It's the highest non-academic honor awarded by the university.

—I'm glad to see the Wayne-Carroll school board moving toward building an all-weather track, although I'm quite aware that the approximate $35,000 the track will cost is no small sum. For as fine a school system as Wayne has, its facilities for sports activities is woefully inadequate. Our school doesn't have a track, a baseball field or a football field. Few other schools our size would have to admit they lacked such facilities. (Note: I'm not giving the school board is moving slowly on the issue, for that will likely result in a much better track than would result if the board hurriedly went ahead with construction.)

Because the fire siren blew in Wayne Tuesday to warn people of the possibility of a tornado and because it blew again Wednesday morning for a small fire, local firemen decided against sounding it again on the weekend for EDITH — Exit Drill in the Home. That drill, which offers local residents an opportunity to practice escaping from their homes as if they were on fire, was scheduled for 8:30 Saturday evening. As too often is the case, however, the people who could benefit from such a drill are the ones who won't take part in one when it's held.

—If you get an opportunity, pick up a copy of the results of the community attitude survey conducted in Wayne last November. Although it takes some time to go through the results, it is worth it. You end up with a feeling that a good majority of the people in the city think we have a heckuva fine place to live. They point out problems, of course, but those problems are not insurmountable. Not if we take a look at the survey and determine that we are going to tackle the problems brought to the surface. I hope the survey results aren't stuck in a bunch of drawers and forgotten in coming months. That would be a waste of a considerable amount of time and energy. Not to say a large sum of money.

Spring is bringing its usual amount of business activity. A new furniture store has opened its doors on main street, a liquor store is in the process of changing hands, another liquor store has moved to a different location, and other businesses are in the process of making changes in their normal day-to-day activities. I hope everybody is successful

"A logger operating in the Mt. Hood National Forest in Oregon has been using horses to haul logs and thus reduce the damage to the environment that his big trucks had been causing. However, much of his logging work has been taking place above a water reservoir that serves the City of Portland. Some time back he was ordered to remove either the horses or the pollution they were causing. His solution: horse diapers. That's right, the lumberman outfitted each of his legs with nappies — actually a canvas bag that hooks onto the harness and under the horse's tail. Again, somebody has to do the dirty work. In this case, employing the 'diapers.' But they're saving the forest trails from ruination and it's safe to drink the water in Portland. And organic gardeners in the area are delighted."

A closer look.

WAYNE couldn't have timed its practice tornado disaster any better. Less than four days after the tornado sirens sounded for the dry run, they were baring away again to alert people of the possibility of the real thing striking the city.

He should have put into the Myron Deck-lane a bit west, so that farmland was damaged much less than Dale's.

Luckily, the real thing missed this city Tuesday afternoon, but a Tornado did a great deal of damage to farm homes, buildings and livestock southwest of Winside. You can't believe the destructive force that a tornado carries with it until you view a site where one touched down.

YOU have to admire the friends, neighbors and others who quickly assembled at the Deck and Maroz farm homes to help with cleaning up and picking up after the tornado passed out of the area. By the time I got over there, about an hour after the tornado struck, they had already been working for quite some time.

Those pictured in Thursday's issue of The Wayne Herald vividly illustrate what happened at the Dale Deck farm along Highway 35 southwest of Winside, but even they failed to tell the whole story. You would need a fish-eye lens on a camera to get a panoramic view of that farm home, and then you would have to blow that picture up to a full eight columns to really tell the story in a newspaper photograph.

One of the workers walked up to Deck with a small piece of green fiberglass in his hand and asked Deck if it was part of his boat, which had disappeared in the twister. Deck asked, "You didn't find the motor, did you?"

That tornado literally exploded some of the buildings on the Deck farm, scattering broken lumber of all sizes about the yard and up into the grove of trees north of the home. Other buildings were ripped apart, with whole sides flattened on the ground as if some giant child had become impatient with her doll house.

That simple quote probably tells the story as well as everything else I've written.

Pieces of metal buildings were hanging from trees stripped-bare of young buds beginning to sprout leaves. Some of the metal probably came from the Deck farm, but other pieces could easily have been carried all the way from the Chesler Maroz farm about a mile south Drenched from the rains that accompanied the tornado and partially covered with debris, a dead woodpecker lay sprawled in a grove of trees north of the Deck home.

SOUTH of the Deck home you could see those broken power poles on Nebraska Public Power District's 220,000-volt line between Dakota City and Norfolk.

Inside that home, the destruction was almost unmet. Mud was splattered on walls and furniture, broken glass was scattered everywhere, wall surfaces were ripped away from the studs underneath, light bulbs were broken.

I HOPE somebody is able to come up with some sort of estimate of the dollar damage done by the tornado.

A band of vandals couldn't have done that much damage in a week, but the tornado did it in a matter of minutes. I imagine the damage was just as bad at the Maroz farm home.

Considering the buildings destroyed, homes damaged, tools lost and livestock injured and killed, it would have to be somewhere around a million dollars. There can't be another natural disaster which could do that much damage in this area of the country in such a short length of time.

CONCORD FARMER Lloyd Luedtke barely made it into the Deck farm home before the tornado hit. He was coming home from Norfolk when he saw the thing headed his way and quickly drove into the Deck Lane. By the time he got to the house, his pickup was being demolished about their children in school after the tornado sirens sounded in Wayne. All in all, they did a good job.

Station announcers kept listeners informed about where tornadoes were being sighted and calmed parents worried about their children in school after the tornado sirens sounded in Wayne.

They left for London on April 21, returned six days later.

Moile McLaws, associate professor of history at Wayne State College, told the story of Two-Gun Hart during last week's Kiwanis Club meeting in Norfolk. Two-Gun was the eldest brother of Al Capone. Filing the suit in Dakota County district court last week was Elaine Harris, who is seeking $1,500 for doctor bills and medical expenses and $2,600 for the demolished automobile she was driving.

NEARLY ALL of the small village of Magnet in Cedar County was damaged by the tornado shortly after 3 p.m. Tuesday. The Magnet Lumber Co. building was destroyed, the top of the town's elevator tank was ripped off, and an upright refrigerator was broken open by flying debris, spreading ammonia fumes across the area and hindering clean-up efforts. Other business buildings, homes and trailers in the community also were damaged.

WISNER-PILGER school board members voted last week to move the seventh graders from the high school to the elementary building in Winside and to bus the fifth and sixth graders to the elementary building in Pilger.

The move was prompted by continued crowding in the high school and dropping enrollment in the lower grades. The change will become effective in the fall.

TWO WISNER men, Warren Aitson and Herman Dinklage, Sr., were honored during Friday night's Nebraska Football Hall of Fame banquet in Omaha.

Aitson was inducted into the Hall of Fame in recognition of his outstanding career. Twice named to the All-Big Six team, he was an All-American at the University of Nebraska in 1940, playing on the Rose Bowl team coached by Gliff Jones. He later became a regular on Brooklyn's NFL team.

WAYNE, Allen and Norfolk firms submitted low bids for construction of Randolph's new fire hall and rescue station.

Dinklage received the Clarence Swanson Memorial Award, bestowed annually for service to the Husker football program. He has long been a backer of NU football and was one of the founders of the school's Beef Club.

Submitting low bids were Otte Construction Co. of Wayne for general construction, $49,027; Ellis Electric of Allen for electrical work, $3,260; and Tim's Plumbing and Heating of Norfolk for mechanical work, $10,171. Total of the three bids comes to $62,458.

Stenwall Sets Another State Record in Shot

Winside High's Jill Stenwall heaved the shot to another state record during Wednesday's Class C high school district track meet at Wisner and earned her third straight ticket to state.

The junior heaved the steel ball 45-3/4, the best-ever mark in high school girls competition. Just two weeks ago, she broke the state mark with a toss of 44-3/4.

Stenwall also will represent Winside in the discus after winning at Wisner with a toss of 115-1/2.

Stenwall leads a parade of three other individuals and a relay team headed to Saturday's state meet in North Platte.

Allien's JoAnne Roberts and Laurel's Julie Hirschman will compete in the long jump. Wakefield's Mary Kober will run in the 80-yard low hurdles.

Also winning first was Wakefield's 400-yard relay team of Cheryl Nelson, Joy Myers, Robin Mills and Kober.

Wakefield's first-place finishes heeded coach Steve Kovar's team to second place with 61 points. Last year Wakefield won the district title.

Winning the meet was favorite Emerson-Hubbard with 78 points. Following Wakefield were Pender with 67, Lincoln Creek 44, Laurel 36, Winside 35, Newcastle 27, Allen 13, Ponca 9, Hartington 6, Coleridge 7, Norfolk Catholic 7, Stanton 1 and Walthill 0.

Eagles Stun Bancroft, 4-3

Allen High's baseball club will be heading into the district playoff against Wakefield today (Monday) still high from a stunning upset.

The Eagles, now 1-4, nipped Bancroft by 4-3 Wednesday in Allen's best defensive game this season, said coach Robert Moore.

"We only committed two errors, and that's an improvement," Moore pointed out.

Both errors resulted in Bancroft runs in the first and fifth frames to give Bancroft a 2-1 lead going into the sixth. Allen's top hitter, senior Don Kluever, put the Eagles back on top in the sixth when he smashed his first home run of the season.

Score teammate Doug Smith from first base for a 3-2 lead.

Then starting hurler Jeff Creamer hit a three-bagger and came home on senior Paul Snyder's ground out to shortstop for a 4-2 advantage.

"With all the rain and everything, we're just arriving," Moore said about his team's playing better ball.

Kluever finished the game with three runs batted in, collecting his first RBI in the opening frame to drive in Creamer, who had tripled.

Creamer, who took the win, on the mound was relieved in the sixth by Loren Book Snyder. Snyder came in he seventh frame to finish the pitching chores for Allen.

Injuries Spoil Devils' Dream of Track Win

Wayne High's dream of capturing the West Husker Conference track crown was shattered Friday when the Blue Devils were struck by injuries to the right team meet at Wisner.

The Devils' two-mile relay suffered the worst setback when Robert Mitchell sprained his ankle to knock the squad out of the contest.

Wayne's top discus thrower, senior Rod Hoops, also was hobbling with leg injury that hurt his chances to place high in the standings.

"If we could have won the discus plus the two mile relay and done better in the long and triple jump, we could have taken away a lot of points from Wisner and perhaps won the meet," said Wayne coach Al Hansen.

Hansen noted that during the season Hoops had beaten most of his West Husker opponents in the discus. The same holds true for Emry in the triple and long jump, the coach noted, adding that "it was an off day for both."

Wisner Pilger won the meet with 108 points, followed by Lakeview with 92½. Wayne 90, Wakefield 78½, Emerson-Hubbard 50, Madison 46, Stanton 35½ and Hartington Cedar Catholic 26.

Winners for Wayne included senior Dick Chapman in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, who finished in 10.4 and 23.3.

Jack Froehlich won the 400 yard dash in :52.5; Gordon Emry won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.7, and the 800 yard relay team of Mark Brandy, Marly Hansen, Chapman and Hoops won with record time of 1:34.3.

The old school record was 1:35.7, set by the same four earlier this year.

Another Wayne record that fell was the mile relay time of 3:36.4 set in 1965 by Tom Addison, Bill Woehler, Allen Rasmussen and Leon Jorgensen. The new time is 3:36, set by Ken Dantley, Pat Dorcoy, Marly Hansen and Froehlich that earned the squad second place.

Although Wakefield finished fourth in the standings, both the boys and girls track team earned second in total points at the West Husker meet, officials pointed out.

Wakefield girls finished with 57 points and the boys had 78½ for a 135½-point total. Lakeview again was tops in both girls and boys track with a total of 193½ points. Wisner was third with 133, Wayne fourth with 120½.

Park Takes Over As WH's Leading Hitter

Junior Randy Park took over as Wayne's leading hitter when he connected for a pair of singles in two at bats during Wednesday's 12-1 romp over Homer.

Park jumped up from his previous .412 average to .474 to go ahead of season leader Paul Mallette, who ranks second with a .464 average. Completing Wayne's trio of 400 hitters is Park's partner, Mike Overin, who was on a 400 average.

Park's singles, however, weren't the only highlight of Wayne's eighth win in nine starts. Senior Earle Overin, who also poked out a double and two singles in three at bats, threw his first no-hitter of the season.

The right-hander struck out 13 batters, including four innings of three strikeouts each. At the plate, Overin's singles in the first and fifth frames scored three runs, tops for the day. Overall, Overin is second in team RBIs with nine, three less than Mayer.

The fourth frame was the big inning for the Devils as they scored six runs with the help of a run-scoring double by first baseman Bob Keating and Mallette's two-run single. Three other runs came on error. Dave Nuss tracked a triple to set up Wayne's scoring in the fourth. Today (Monday) Wayne hosts Leigh at 3:30 p.m. at the city ball park in the first round of the Class B district tournament.

If Wayne wins, the Devils play Bancroft Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. for the right to represent the district at the Class B state tournament at Lincoln on May 27.

Wildcats Riding High After 2-Game Sweep

Wayne State accomplished an elusive goal Thursday - winning both ends of a doubleheader. The twin wins over Westmar here was the first since Wayne dumped Kansas State twice in the season opener back in March.

The 5-1 and 15-0 decisions against Westmar buoyed Wildcat morale for two important remaining games: a pair at 1 p.m. today (Monday) with Yanikton.

The results of Saturday's Kearney-Wayne doubleheader will have something to say in selection of four contenders for the Nebraska NAIA District playoff - starting at Broken Bow. The winner goes to the Area 3 playoff, where the prize is a berth in the national tourney.

Going into Saturday's games, Kearney had a 4-0 mark against Chadron and Peru, while Wayne

Mosley, who competed in the long jump during the first girls' track season at Wayne, went 10 4/8 to earn third place during Thursday's Class B district meet at Wymore. Although tickets to the state meet are for first and second place individuals, first, a ruling allows any girl who jumps over 16 feet during district to compete at state.

Wayne placed seventh in the nine team meet, won by Pierce with 78 points. Also scoring were Blair with 76, Randolph 67, Harrington Cedar Catholic 44, Tekamah-Herman 29, Wisner 24, Wayne 22, Creighton 20 and West Point Central Catholic 12. Potent Winside Claims L-C Track Championship Meet records set by senior Greg Lage in the mile and two-mile plus John Mangels' record in the shot put helped guide Winside High to Thursday's L-C regional Conference track title.

Lage, one of the top distance runners in North-east Nebraska, won the mile in 4:49.5, and placed first in the two-mile with a record time of 9:50.5.

The Wildcats finished with 99 points, bettering L-C rival Ponca's 74. Osmond was third with 73 1/2, followed by Coleridge with 72, Wausa 67 1/2, Walthill 56, Winnebago 47, Harrington High 16, Newcastle 12 1/4 and Allen 10 1/2.

Much of the credit for the wins goes to the weightman, Douglass coach Carter Peterson pointed out. Under the guidance of assistant coach Doug Barclay, Winside collected 25 points in the shot and discus. Mangels won the shot with a record heave of 44.90 and teammate Mike Anderson finished fifth with a toss of 42.23. Anderson and junior Bob Hoffman were second and fourth in the discus with tosses of 130.2 and 128.87.

Senior hurdler Dwight Lienehammer also garnered a first place medal in the 110-meter high hurdle. Lienehammer finished fifth with a toss of 42.23.

Survey: Wayne Not A Bad Place

(Continued from page 1) dents were willing to pay higher taxes for several functions, but in seven areas support for higher taxes received less than a 50 per cent approval rating.

The majority of those surveyed said they would pay higher taxes to improve medical services, provide public transportation for the elderly, improve fire protection and upgrade the criminal justice system and law enforcement.

Services for which a majority of the people oppose paying additional taxes include building parks, financing income housing, improving streets and roads, and developing an industrial site.

Opinion was about evenly split on whether more taxes should be levied to provide better education, social services for the elderly and housing for the elderly.

Surprising to some, an overwhelming majority of 94.4 per cent of the people surveyed they believe Wayne should try to attract new industry to the community.

One of the reasons for such a large majority favoring new industry, according to the report, is the large negative outlook people have toward the availability of job opportunities in the city as well as toward the level of wages and salaries paid by local business and industry.

Seventy-five per cent of the people surveyed said that available job opportunities in Wayne are inadequate. Expanding job opportunities "is apparently the primary reason for the respondents' desires for new industry," notes the report.

People taking part in the survey generally supported attracting industries which would be large employers. More than 85 per cent of the people agreed that Wayne needs new business or industry which would create at least 25 new jobs, according to the report.

Along a similar line, 90 per cent of the people agreed "that there is a definite need for Wayne Industries, Inc., to plan and promote the future growth of business and industry in Wayne. Even more importantly, 77 per cent of the respondents said they would be willing to support this organization, preferably by purchasing shares in the organization or by volunteering time and energy to see that it is successful."

In the area of retail trade, the survey revealed that the percentage of shopping done locally is quite high. Less than 20 per cent of the people said they do more than half their shopping outside the community. Cited as reasons for shopping elsewhere were variety, lower prices and proper sizes.

Although most of the people said they purchase a majority of their goods and services in Wayne, four exceptions were noted. Many people prefer to shop in Norfolk or Sioux City when it comes to men's clothing and shoes, women's clothing and shoes, entertainment, eating and dancing, and the services of optometrists, according to the survey.

As far as housing is concerned, the "most" widely acknowledged housing problem in Wayne is the availability of adequate housing for rent, according to the report. Eighty-three per cent of the people said that was either a serious problem or a somewhat serious problem.

Whose Right Is It?

Journalism's right to print is your right to know, just as the right to speak is also the right to hear. The American press is the communication backbone of this country. It is the measure of our American liberty. Journalism needs young minds and young hands to help keep the American press free. It's hard work. It involves discipline, objectivity, and, above all, the ability to work under pressure. . . pressure of an unrelenting deadline, and pressure from people who want to conceal the truth.

Journalism offers a wide range of careers for young people committed to defending freedom of the press. The opportunities range from editing and photography to public relations. The challenge is endless and the benefits are vastly rewarding. Choose a career in journalism. Help to assure America that its right to know will be protected.
