

School Board Plans for CB Radios, Jr Hi Sports

The Wayne-Carroll school board Monday night voted to authorize superintendent Francis Haun to budget for CB radios for school buses and to budget for high school girls basketball and some seventh-eighth grade sports for the 1975-76 school year.

Haun was given authority to plan a program for seventh and eighth grade track for both girls and boys, seventh and eighth grade basketball for boys, and a limited basketball program for high school girls.

The board decided against initiating a football program for seventh and eighth grade boys because of the lack of teachers to take on the program, noted Haun.

The high school basketball program for girls will be a limited one, with no more than four games with opposing schools. The program will be placed on teaching the girls the fundamentals of the sport and on an intramural program.

Also Monday night, the board discussed the track planned for construction south of West Elementary School and agreed to have the architect draw up alternate bids on parking, seating and storage.

The architect is to report back to the board during its July 7th meeting.

In other action the board:

- Reviewed plans made by the administrators and maintenance staff for summer work on school buildings.
- Agreed to give high priority to increasing the parking at the high school once the track facility is completed.
- Learned that the summer environmental class being taught for the second year by high school science teacher Vern Mills, has an enrollment of 11. The class started Monday.
- Extended appreciation to middle school social studies teacher Dan Johnson and his students for the work they did in constructing the sod house next to the middle school.
- Decided to raise the high school tuition rate for the 1975-76 school year by approximately 10 per cent, boosting it from the present $2,050 to $2,250. The tuition is that charged high school students who live outside the Wayne-Carroll school district.
- Set Monday, July 7, as the date for the official public hearing on the proposed school budget for the coming fiscal year.

Salary negotiations for the 1975-76 school year at Winside have been settled.

Both the school board and Winside Education Association have agreed on the three-man fact-finding committee report that teachers receive a base salary of $7,500, four percent pay increase for teaching experience and four per cent increase for each step up the advanced education ladder.

Teachers also will receive full single and half family insurance coverage, and the board will be allowed to deviate upward from the salary schedule to hire new teachers when necessary. Winside Teacher To Help Write Science Program

A Winside High School science teacher has been selected to help write a practical science course for nation-wide distribution.

Mike Jones, second-year science instructor at Winside, will join Dr. Roger Macklem, science consultant for the Nebraska Department of Education, in producing programs for state and national distribution next year.

Called the ERTS (Earth Resources Technology Satellite) mini-course, the program is designed to offer students not taking science electives such as chemistry, physics or biology a chance to better understand science in their daily living, according to Macklem.

Last summer Jones and three other graduate students worked with Macklem to write a pilot ERTS program for use in eight schools across the state, including Winside High. Because of the pilot program's success, the nine-week course will be revised and produced this summer for distribution on state and national levels, according to Jones.

The course uses data gathered from a NASA (National Aeronautics Space Administration) satellite to study conditions in a state, giving students an understanding of science without taking college preparatory courses.

In addition to helping write the ERTS course this summer, Jones also will be writing several science courses for Nebraska Educational Television Network while completing studies at University of Nebraska-Lincoln for his master's degree.

Ak-Sar-Ben Gives $1,000 To County Fair

The Wayne County Fair has received $1,000 from Ak Sar Ben, according to president Le Land Herman and secretary Marilyn Koch.

Half of the money represents the fourth such contribution from Ak Sar Ben for the new grandstand at the fairgrounds, completed in 1972. The balance is being used for repair of hog facilities, sheep facilities, land scaping and general repair work on the fairgrounds.

The County Fair Improvement Program, now in its 22nd year, is one of a series of projects of financial assistance to county fairs made possible by funds from Ak Sar Ben's annual race meeting, according to Dick Becker, executive director and general manager of Ak Sar Ben.

The popular county fair program follows the "dollar-matching" principle, in that Ak Sar Ben agrees to match dollars with each county fair which will match its contribution with at least an equal amount.

This year Ak Sar Ben has offered two programs to the county fairs. The first is the $500 matching grant for new construction; the second is the $500 "spruce-up" grant for repairs, painting, landscaping, cement work, roofing and beautification.

Ak Sar Ben sets aside $85,000 See FAIR, page 6

Job Over, Allen Man Eyes Travel

Retirement for Preston Ward of Allen won't be much different from what most people gear their hearts for when the time comes to say goodbye work, hello vacation.

He'll do the usual traveling, fishing, working on hobbies and, of course, traveling. Traveling, however, is one thing that's really going to be unusual for the 65-year old.

Since Ward was 12 years old, he has suffered from epilepsy, a disorder of the nervous system usually characterized by convulsions. As a result, he couldn't obtain a driver's license.

It wasn't until four years ago that Ward's boss, Bob McCord, discovered his son-in-law knew of a doctor in Omaha who might be able to help him.

After several treatments in 1971, the convulsions stopped, and after a two-year waiting period, Ward was allowed to apply for his first driver's license.

First thing Ward did was to buy a brand new 1973 car and head for California. "So far I've put on 11,600 miles. And I plan to put on more miles, too," the bachelor smiled.

Because of his epileptic convulsions, Ward didn't socialize too much. "I was always afraid something might happen. It's quite a relief now (not to have convulsions)," he said.

Ward admits that he always had to rely on other people, but See ALLEN MAN, page 6

LAST WEEK marked the end of Preston Ward's 44-year career working with cars and machinery at Allen and the beginning of retirement. Ward, right, had worked for garage owner Bob McCord, left, for 22 years.

A Sign of the Times

KENT HALL, president of Wayne Industries, Inc., displays an architect's drawing of the large sign which the industrial group will have constructed on the edge of the city's industrial park east of Wayne later this summer. The 22-foot sign, which will cost about $5,000, will include room for adding names of new industries which locate in the park as well as room for advertising current activities in the city. Lighted on the interior, the sign will be done in the colors of Wayne High School, blue and white, and Wayne State College, black and gold. The sign will be the same on both sides so persons entering and leaving the city will have their attention drawn to the industrial park. The industrial group plans to display this drawing in the two banks in Wayne during coming weeks.

Science Buffs Offered Class At Wayne State

High school students with a yen for science have a chance to study it at college level — with no tuition — starting Monday at Wayne State.

Subject of the six-week class is Energy and the Environment, to be taught by Wes Fritz and Dean Metz of the WSC science faculty and Verne Mills, Wayne High biology instructor.

Enrollment still open, but time is short to submit application forms, which are available from Metz and Fritz at Carhart Science Hall.

The program, one of the many funded by the National Science Foundation, will be an interdisciplinary course involving chemistry, physics and biology studies, classroom and laboratory work, and field trips.

Classes usually will meet from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mondays through Friday. Some days have been set aside for campouts and a three-day trip to the Niobrara River.

Students who live close can commute. Others may stay on campus at a cost of $2 a night, plus meals which run about $2.50 a day. The NSF grant pays tuition.

Students already signed up include Kathy Haas of Wayne.

Property Taxes Carrying Load Of Demand for Local Revenue

How much of the money needed for local governmental operations in Wayne County comes from property taxes?

Do these taxes produce a greater or a smaller proportion of locally raised revenue than they do in other communities?

Property taxes have always been the chief source of such revenue in most sections of the county, and they still are. But they no longer carry as large a share of the load as they did in former years.

With cities and counties requiring more money each year to provide necessary public services, which have been growing more expensive because of the rising cost of labor and materials, they have been urged to increase existing taxes and to seek additional revenue from other sources.

As for property taxes, they have reached the point in many communities at which attempts to boost them any higher are meeting with stern resistance.

In Wayne County, according to the latest findings of the Department of Commerce, approximately 71.3 per cent of the revenue obtained from local sources comes from property taxes.

In other communities across the country, an average of 63.5 per cent is from such sources, and in the state of Nebraska, 67.4 per cent.

The relative importance of the property tax has been offset, in many localities, by the newer taxes that have been imposed in the last decade or so, such as the gross sales tax and the local income tax. The yield on these two has increased three-fold in the past 10 years.

As a result, although the property tax is now producing $50.9 billion a year nationally, as against $22.6 billion in 1965, it represents a much smaller proportion of the total collection than it did then.

Overin Hurls Four-Hitter To Down Columbus, 3-2

Earle Overin threw a four-hitter and catcher Mike Meyer drove in two runs as Wayne's Legion downed powerful Columbus, 3-2, Saturday night at Columbus.

The win marked the first this season over a Class A club and the fourth overall against one loss.

Figured to be one of the strongest teams in the state, Columbus had to play catch-up ball as Wayne carved out a 1-0 lead in the top of the fourth.

Center fielder Gordie Cook scored the locals' first run when he singled, advanced to second on shortstop Paul Mallette's sacrifice and scored on Meyer's single.

In the bottom of the fourth, Columbus knotted the game on the only earned run Overin gave up in the seven-inning contest. A double to the outfield wall, about 100 feet, drove in a Columbus player from first.

Columbus took advantage of two Wayne errors to take a 2-1 command in the fifth frame. After singling, a Columbus player rounded the bags and came honic when two wild throws missed first base and home.

Wayne scored two runs in the top of the sixth after right fielder Monte Lowe walked and left fielder Marty Hansen singled. Mallette singled to score Lowe for a 2-2 game and Meyer's sacrifice to center field scored Hansen.

Overin, who struck out nine, upped his record to 2-0.

Wayne State BB Camp Draws 30

Basketball camp at Wayne State is the usual swirl of activity this week, just as in the past five years.

Thirty boys from sixth through 12th grades began a fast-paced Monday morning after Sunday check-in and they'll keep it up through Friday. Then Saturday some of them will receive honors for a variety of camp achievements.

Wayne State coach Jim Seward, director of the camp, with assistants Larry Schultz and Tim McCarty of the college staff and student Rusty Parker, kept the campers moving with a fast-changing schedule of drills. They dived on fundamentals during day practices, then assisted in team scrimmaging for evenings.

That done, the campers took a welcome plunge in the college pool. So what did they do there? Some of them played water basketball. Hard work, but one good thing about it — the water was easier on the feet than maple flooring.

Though enrollment is down from some previous years, Seward said, there are a couple of explanations. A chicken pox epidemic kept several boys away. And another camp is scheduled Aug. 31, presumably the goal of some who might have attended this week's session in past years there has been only one camp.

In one hour, a 1972 solar storm produced enough energy — if it could have been harnessed — to provide the power needs of the United States for the next 100 million years.

BACK IN the mind of Legion coach Hank Overin is the thought that his Wayne club could repeat as Class B state champions. For right now, that's where Hank wants to keep that thought.

The reason is obvious when players begin to think they're the top team in the state and no one can beat them, they'll become overconfident and start playing poorly.

Sure, the team has a good chance to go to the state tournament in August and come home with its second straight state trophy. After Saturday's 3-2 victory over one of Class A's top teams, Columbus, Wayne has reason to believe it could be another state contender, especially when no other team in seven previous outings was able to hand Columbus a loss.

MOST baseball coaches will agree that the key to winning games is pitching — about 90 per cent. Hitting and fielding total about 10 per cent.

Wayne has the pitching staff in Earle Overin, Paul Mallette and young Dave Hix to lead the Legion to one of its best seasons — perhaps a repeat of last year's state victory. Good hitters and top fielders are scattered throughout the lineup.

Like most teams which develop into champion clubs, the progress of the season depends on the team playing one game at a time.

WITH wet weather this week, it's doubtful the Legion will get in much playing time. Parts of the infield were still under water earlier this week at the city ballpark, a common occurrence everytime a good rain hits the area.

What can be done to improve the situation? How about some dirt to build up the infield? I'm sure Hank would be willing to get a crew together if someone would tell him some is available.

ONE thing I would like to see improved is attendance, both at Midget and Legion games. Attendance at the Laurel, Wakefield and Norfolk games wasn't too bad, but it could have been a lot better. Cost is $1 for groupings, 50 cents for children. That's not much to watch some of the best ball in Northeast Nebraska as well as the state.

IT'S A shame Winside didn't get enough interested boys to join Legion and Midgets teams to form the Ralph Bishop League. Last year the town was able to form two teams. This year, however, only 11 players showed up for a meeting, forcing coach Wayne Denklauf to forget about leading league teams.

It's also a shame league team won't get a chance to play at Winside's new park. The park has new lights, infield, fencing, dugout, refreshment stand and seating.

Right now Winside has a men's softball team as well as girls' softball and baseball for pee-wees, little league and pony groups using the field.

There is a chance, however, the town could host the district girls' softball tournament July 4-6. According to district commissioner Don Leighton of Winside, the choice for a district playoff site is between Winside and Pierce. So far, though, Winside is the only team entered in its district. If more teams don't register with Leighton by Sunday, the tourney may be held at Pierce.

Swim-A-Thon Slated Tuesday

Wayne's summer swim team will hold a swim-a-thon on Tuesday at the city pool in an effort to raise money for this summer's program.

Slated to run from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., the swim-a-thon will feature swimmers from ages eight to 18 aiming to raise $100, according to first-year head coach Scott Driscoll.

Members will earn money for each lap they swim, Driscoll said, adding that he hopes people will donate from a penny to five cents per lap.

So far about 25 youths have signed up for the summer team, but Driscoll hopes to get up to the total of 35. Deadline for registering at the city pool is today (Thursday).

Although practice has started for some members, weekly practice sessions will begin Monday from noon to 1 p.m. Driscoll isn't sure when diving practice will be held.

A junior at Wayne State College, Driscoll is taking over for Doug Krecklow, who will be in

Hoskins Nips Benson's

Hoskins nipped Mint Bar, 4-3, on Dan Plantenberg's run scoring single in the seventh frame Tuesday night to up its record to 4-2.

Plantenberg drove in teammate Scott Deck from third base in the final frame during North-east Nebraska fast pitch softball action at Hoskins. Winning pitcher was Dan Bruggeman.

In other NEN action, Danny's Bar of Hoskins fell to Benson's, 3-1. The loss drops Danny's to 2-3. Losing pitcher was Larry Weich.

 Ward had worked a total of 44 years at the garage, 22 under McCord and another 22 under former owner Guy Warner. Fact is, the garage is the only place Ward has worked all his life.

 Summing up his years of not being able to drive, Ward said: "It feels great to be free and safe."

 Games were played June 3 and Mrs. Julie Haas was a guest. Mrs. Hazel Switzer and Ella Blecke served lunch. Plans were made to purchase an outside grill at the group's regular monthly meeting, held June 2.

Salary
 four-months of negotiation talks that began following a stalemate in late March.
 Both groups had earlier agreed on the $7,500 base salary for the coming school year and on the four per cent pay hikes. The stalemate arose when the board and association disagreed over the teachers wanting both full single and full family insurance coverage and the board wanting to deviate either up or down from the pay schedule to hire new teachers.
 A three man fact finding committee of Noel Roberts, Robert Otte and Dr. Arnold Emry, of Wayne State College, were chosen to attempt to settle the negotiations.
 Roberts, from the Nebraska State Education Association, represented Winside teachers; Otte, a Norfolk attorney, represented the board, and Dr. Emry was selected by the two men as the third party.
 Cost to the board for full single coverage will be $19.10 per month and for half family will be $24.95 per month.
 The board also established salaries for bus drivers for the coming school year. Experienced bus drivers will receive $25 per month, a $20 increase over the previous year. Beginning bus drivers will be paid $205. Winside has six bus drivers who drive five routes — Floyd Burt, George Voss, Alfred Miller, Veryl Jackson, Earl Duerling and Wayne Denklaue.
 In addition to the monthly salary, drivers will receive $7.50 for half day activity trips $1.75 per hour for activity trips over seven hours and a $100 for driving the complete year.
 Prices for hot lunch will go up next fall, members agreed. New prices will be 40 cents for students in grades one through four, 45 cents for grades 7-12 and 60 cents for adults. Prices were to find out if this is really what the businessmen desire.

 In other action the council: —Voted 4-3 to require at least one more reading of a proposed ordinance which would create an airport authority to supervise operation of the municipal airport east of town; in favor of at least one more reading of the ordinance before voting on it were Bahe, Russell, Fuelberth and Vokac.
 —Approved 8-4 to donate $200 to the Wayne County Jayces to help finance the Fourth of July fireworks celebration at the baseball park. The council in previous years had donated $150.
 —Approved drawing up an ordinance which, if passed, would allow a roll-out stop sign in front of the swimming pool.
 —Took no action after mayor, Decker raised the question of the necessity of the many signs throughout the city which restrict parking from midnight to 5 a.m.
 —Took no action after learning that the city's traffic safety commission recommended that

 (arrangement)," said mayor Decker during discussion of the subject Tuesday night. The few times the city's ambulance has been used to move patients from other hospitals to hospitals in Omaha or Lincoln is not valid enough reason to object to permitting the Sisters to operate the ambulance when the new hospital is opened, he noted.
 Ted Bahe, one of the council members who at first favored having the city operate its own ambulance service, noted during the discussion that the city should attempt to obtain the approximate $7,000 which he said Wayne County owes toward purchase of a new ambulance.
 The $7,000 is the amount the county should have been setting aside during the years the previous ambulance agreement was in existence between the city, hospital board and county according to Bahe.
 However, more than one council member noted that it is unlikely if the county will turn over that money now that the three-party agreement has been nonexistent for several months and now that the Sisters will take over the ambulance service.
 Following a lengthy discussion of downtown development, the council voted 5-3 to table the discussion until the next meeting.

 "To make sacrifices in big things is easy, but to make sacrifices in little things is what we are seldom capable of doing."
 Goethe

There is a measure of nobility of great sacrifices. A patriot gives his life for his country and lives forever in the hearts of a grateful people. A man gives a vital organ to his brother or son in need and the world applauds and respects him.
 Many of us could and would rise to meet the demands of a great sacrifice. We find it harder to make those "little" sacrifices that would make our day-to-day relationships with others more pleasant.
 Sympathy, understanding, consideration... these are our watchwords. Every family we serve receives our most conscientious treatment.

Exon lives up to his vow to 'veto, veto, veto'

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN — Half a decade ago, in the summer of 1970, candidate J. J. Exon was warning up for his challenge of Governor Norbert T. Tiemann.
 Exon mentioned that he wouldn't, as he indicated Tiemann had, let the legislature walk all over him. It was a threat. Exon was to repeat into the fall and it may have had something to do with his victory.
 Exon said he would "veto, veto, veto." He has.
 In the five legislative sessions since Exon has been in office, he has sent 91 bills back to the senators with veto messages.
 Fifty-nine times, his vetoes have stuck. The other 32 times, the lawmakers mustered the necessary two-thirds vote to override him.

Last session, there were 28 vetoes—the most ever by a governor in any session. Exon's objections stood 16 times, but he was overruled on a dozen bills. It was the Legislature's best showing, if you want to look at it that way. Overrides were successful on 43 per cent of the vetoes.
 To put Exon's 28 vetoes in 1975 in some perspective, note that Tiemann issued eight vetoes in the 1969 session. That was in the days before annual sessions and the Legislature considered 1,440 bills that year (in a session which lasted until Sept. 24).
 The 28 Exon vetoes were cast in a session in which 316 of the 640 bills introduced were passed by the legislators. That means Exon said he didn't like one of every 11 bills to reach his desk. Tiemann's eight vetoes were issued in a session in which 844 (of the 1,440 introduced) bills reached his desk. He, then, vetoed one in each 108 opportunities.

 For what it's worth, Tiemann was overruled only once.
 The Exon record, the past five sessions, has been 66 per cent successful in blocking legislation he doesn't like. His best year was 1972 when 10 of his 13 vetoes were sustained. In his other showings, in order of success, he won eight of 12 in 1971, 16 of 23 last year, nine of 15 in 1973 and 16 of 28 this year.
 The one-in-11 veto rate was the most frequent of the Exon era, and his pace has been record-breaking throughout. He was one veto in each 12 bills a year ago. He vetoed one of each 25 in 1973. In 1972, he objected to one of 29 and in 1971 he picked on every 47th bill.

Big Bills Reviewed
 Legislative observers, now that the heat of the session has passed, are looking over the senators' actions, trying to pick out what, if anything, the 1975 meeting will be remembered for.
 Oratory, for one thing.
 But, more than that, this might be the session that historians look back on as the one which turned the corner in penal reform.
 The past several sessions have made changes in the official state attitude toward criminals. But it always has been argued that nothing really effective could be done to rehabilitate inmates until the deteriorating reformatory is replaced.
 Bills twice were passed which authorized construction of new facilities. Each tumbled before a veto. There was another veto in 1975, but it was one of the dozen which the lawmakers overrode. Exon wanted a single reformatory, built in Lincoln. He didn't like the legislative plans for two smaller institutions, one on the grounds of the present facility southwest of Lincoln and the other in Douglas County.

 The senators contended smaller institutions would allow more personal programming. Furthermore, they said, most of the prisoners come from the Omaha area and there should be facilities in that area to make it convenient for friends and relatives to visit.
 The new law also directs the state department of Correctional Services to develop a comprehensive community program for the Omaha area.

Electronic Banking Passed
 Legislation allowing banking from computer terminals placed in retail stores was passed. That, too, might have important long-range impact on Nebraskans.
 The state already was a leader in what is known as electronic transfer banking because of pioneering by a saving and loan association.
 The whole thing could lead to a nearly cashless society. When the terminals are widely distributed, it will be possible to hand a card to a retail clerk and have the cost of an item deducted from your account and credited to the store's account—instantly.
 There wouldn't be any no-fund checks because the computer would know what you have in your account before it made the transfer.

OBSERVATIONS

Money well spent

That sign which Wayne Industries, Inc. has ordered for the city's industrial park east of Wayne will cost quite a bit of money, nearly $5,000 to be exact.
 But it will be money well spent, for it will focus attention on an area which has been the site of considerable construction activity in the past several months. Already two industries are located in the tract of land, and road construction has been going on in recent days. Once those roads are completed, they should make

GRASSROOTS OPINION

West Chester, Pa. Local News
 A reader who has reason to be concerned inquires: What has happened to those days when a man could protect his very life and property without fearing arrest by an officer of the law who must be more concerned with protecting the lawbreaker than the victim? Where are the so-called "equal rights" of the victim? Good question.

A father's greatest gift . . . himself

Fathers sometimes wonder, "What would be the best gift a father could give a son or daughter? Lots of boys when little? A savings fund for a college education? A modern home? Financial security for life?"
 The greatest gift a father can give his children doesn't come with a price tag. The greatest gift a father can give his son or daughter is himself.
 Extensive research reveals what should have been known all along—that a father's presence is important in the lives of his children. This is particularly true during crucial preschool years when sex-role identification, personality, motor skills, creativity and ability to achieve, among other things, are being molded.
 In general, tests show that boys deprived of a father's presence have less chances of growing up to become well adjusted, happy, productive adults. Father deprived boys have less self-control and tend to lack social responsibility. They tend to be less independent and to have more feminine patterns of interests and play. Such boys suffer more emotional disturbances and have difficulties in interpersonal relations. And it is a proven fact that father-deprived boys are more likely to become juvenile delinquents.
 Less research has been compiled on the effects of father-absence on girls. But conducted studies already show that girls from father absent homes especially suffer in their ability to appropriately relate to mates as they grow into adulthood.
 This article was contributed by Ken Dahl, former administrator of Wayne Care Centre. He ran across the article in a trade magazine and thought it would be worth publishing near Father's Day.
 In addition, fathers must realize that they need to spend more time with their children. Simply being at home is not enough. The dad who comes home and immediately takes a snooze on the couch, flops down and flicks on the TV set or goes about doing his own thing, to the exclusion of his children, might as well not be home as far as the children are concerned. The quality of fatherly time spent with children is as important as the quantity.
 A study of 172 undergraduate males by psychologists Mark Reuter and Henry Biller discovered that the most well adjusted were those whose fathers were very loving and spent a good deal of time with them.
 Those whose fathers were unloving, though present, grew up undependable and immature. Those whose fathers were loving, but seldom home, were not well adjusted either.
 Another study by Dr. Biller, to determine the importance of father presence, involved four groups of third-grade boys. The four groupings were these: early father absence before age five, late father absence beginning after age five, low father presence (less than six hours per week), and high father presence (more than two hours of father-child interaction per day). The boys in the high father presence group tested and graded meaningfully higher in academic performance on achievement tests than did the boys in each of the other groups.
 The implications of these studies are several. Fathers need to spend time with their children—quality time—teaching, instructing, guiding, loving and playing with them. Children need their fathers. Money can't buy what a father can give. And if a father will sacrifice some of that career and other pursuits for the sake of his children, the reward he'll reap from it in producing a happy, well-adjusted, productive member of society will be well worth it.

'In Washington'

Irony come full circle

By RON HENDERSON
ANNVILLE, Pa. — Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, nestled in a sleepy hollow near the little Pennsylvania towns of Anville and Hershey (Chocolate Capital of the World), is about to become home, at least temporarily, for thousands of Vietnamese refugees.
 It is irony come full circle, for Indiantown Gap is one of the army's "Siberian outposts," set aside primarily for training reserve components.
 Every summer during most of the Vietnam war, thousands of national guardsmen and army reservists—weekend warriors (draft dodgers, some called them)—trooped through here for their annual two-week stint of active duty. Many were graduate students who enlisted in the late-1960's after President Johnson ended graduate school deferments. Many were war protesters who were lucky enough to find a legal way to avoid participating in a conflict they found reprehensible.
 A few were Vietnam veterans who, finding no jobs back home, opted for the reserves, a meager source of income.
 Until recently, the Gap was commanded by Col. Oran Henderson. Henderson was sent here to wait out retirement in obscurity after his career was ended by charges leveled against him in the My Lai massacre investigation.
 Henderson is retired now, and most of the enlisted reservists from '68 and '69 have completed their six-year obligation.
 When the refugees arrive, the Gap will be seen in all.
 The Vietnamese will probably find this place comfortable, at least compared to what they have known since leaving Saigon. The base is surrounded by rolling hills that slope down to lush, green valleys farmed by Pennsylvania Dutch, a thrifty, hard-working lot who believe in nothing so much as the value of order. Their roots are sunk deep into the soil that sustains them, and they treat it with care approaching reverence. Lawns and fields are immaculately manicured; houses, barns and fences gleam bright-white, and flowers abound everywhere.
 The base itself is not quite as blessed. Except for Gov. Milten Shapp's official summer residence, located just outside the gates, the Gap's facilities are of another era. Ancient wooden barracks are held together by countless coats of now-peeling paint, sagging porches, clinging planks that long ago lost the will to stay in place, and wall lockers that once held the gear of World War II and Korean War trainees are bent and twisted.
 Still, the place is clean. And it can be made livable. Summer nights are often cool, even chilly. Days are hot, at least by American standards. There is a swimming pool, the only relatively new facility on the base, except for some saunas. Baths Col. Henderson installed in the back of the gymnasium.
 As a temporary home for those who have no place else to go, it will suffice. It did for Col. Henderson. It did for the reservists. It will for the Vietnamese.
 Things really do have a way of coming round full circle.

 June 10, 1965 — Wayne's physical area grew another seven acres Tuesday night. The city council approved annexing over seven acres of land owned by Dick Carman at the northeast corner of the city. Wayne county will have an "ambassador" to Rhode Island this month. It is probably another "scoop" on the rest of the state in the promotion of the Nebraska Centennial. Meeting Thursday night, the Wayne County Centennial committee officially named John Rethwisch, postmaster at Carroll, as the county's ambassador. Working together for the safety of the city, the Wayne Kiwanis club and Wayne Jaycees are co-sponsoring a two-day vehicle safety check on a basis set up for similar checks throughout the nation.

Hail
We are now into the hail season, so here are some interesting facts about hail.

Hail is a warm season weather phenomenon, is formed high up in thunderclouds where the temperature is cold.

June is the peak hail month, although hail may accompany severe thunderstorms from April through September.

Hail storms are most frequent between 3 and 9 p.m. Thirty-three per cent last less than 5 minutes, and 80 per cent last less than 15 minutes.

The hail tends to move from south to northeast in narrow bands, so there are some areas that may be a few to 50 miles long.

Hail intensity and damage varies considerably in short distances.

Hail intensity in Nebraska is most severe in the Panhandle and decreases to the east.

Plants have an amazing ability to recover from hail damage, especially when young and when their growing points or fruit (seed heads or pods) are not damaged. Examples: Young beans, 70 per cent defoliation — 12 per cent yield loss; blooming beans, 70 per cent defoliation — 50 per cent yield loss. Under eight inch corn (growing point below ground) produced 57 per cent yield when completely damaged above ground.

Damage to older crops is proportional to the amount of foliage destroyed and is particularly severe at and shortly after tasseling.

Insects
Insects continue to plague the area. I have had reports of mealy worms attacking poplar trees. These worms, tiny cotton-like masses that barely move, are found on the underside of leaves, such as poplars. Malathion should control them.

Cutworms
Cutworms are doing damage to corn. Gary Becke has lost some soybeans to variegated and black cutworms. The damage has been severe enough to force him to replant.

Alfalfa Weevil
Alfalfa weevil is still around, so I'll suggest watching alfalfa regrowth. If your alfalfa doesn't green up in a week or so after cutting, you had better check for insects. Alfalfa weevil, worm

Weible, president of the association, is shown with past president Merle Karnopp presenting retiring Nebraska attorney general Clarence A. H. Meyer a plaque from the association in recognition of his 14 years on the job.

In a special article inside the publication, Weible emphasizes the importance of communication and cooperation with all law enforcement men within the state.

North America's oldest Indian mounds are the large rings of piled shells that dot coastal and river sites from South Carolina to Florida, says the National Geographic Society's book, "The World of the American Indian."

Mistakes: Helpful or Harmful?
To err is human we often hear, but do we allow children this same human privilege — to make a mistake?

The way we treat children when they make mistakes determines if they learn from them or are set back.

There is a big difference in telling a child, "you failed" or "you did something wrong," and telling him, "you're a failure."

The first two are recognizing an error. The latter is a stamp on the child saying he is no good. If someone told you that you were no good, would you feel like trying very hard next time?

If we treat every mistake children make as an untouchable sin, they will grow up condemning themselves for everything they do wrong. How can they ever feel good about themselves when we won't let them?

Many adults are sure a child is going to do something wrong, so they are constantly correcting him before he has a chance to do anything — "Don't step on the flowers," "wash your hands," "don't spill your milk, etc."

This is one of the most common faults of adults.

Children who grow up with this ringing in their ears often become procrastinators and shirk responsibility. Someone has ruined their drive and initiative.

One of the best ways to figure out how to handle a situation is to put yourself in the child's position. Mistakes are a part of growing up. Let your children make mistakes. But more important, let them learn from their mistakes.

Firm Remodels Store Front

SPRING is noted for its ability to spark remodeling work—and that's exactly what has been going on at Discount Furniture in recent days. Randy Surber, son of store owner Harold Surber, works on the mansard roof being built on the front of the store north of Wayne along Highway 15. The roof will include rough wood shingles to give the front a modern look.

There being no further business a motion for adjournment was made by Den Rohde and seconded by Ken Eddie. A roll call vote was taken with all members present voting yes. The next regular meeting will be July 1, 1975 beginning at 8:00 p.m.

For 1st Time, Shopper Wins Twice in Row

For the first time since Wayne's weekly Birthday Bucks drawings were initiated several years ago a person has won the prize two weeks in a row.

Winning the $25 consolation prize in back-to-back drawings was John Barnes, 83-year-old Wayne resident. He won last week's drawing, duplicating what he had done the week earlier.

Barnes was in Kuhn's Department Store again last Thursday evening; the same place he was the week before, and he turned out to be the shopper in a participating firm with the birthday closest to the date drawn at random and announced in all participating businesses at 8:15 p.m.

His birthday is Sept. 23, 1891, just a few weeks away from the winning date of Oct. 14, 1891 drawn in last week's promotion. A week earlier, the winning date was March 28, 1887.

Because the consolation prize was given away again last week, this week's grand-prize is once again worth $500. If it is not claimed tonight (Thursday) by somebody present in one of the stores with a birthday matching the one drawn at random — another $25 prize will be awarded and the $500 grand prize will be up for grabs again next week.

All area residents are eligible to win the weekly drawings for either the grand prize or the consolation prize. No purchases or registrations are required, but a person must be present in one of the participating busi-

Survey to Ask Families About Children Plans

Will the implied wish for smaller families continue in 1975? Will the U. S. birth rate continue its downward trend?

The monthly population survey in the Wayne area conducted by the Bureau of the Census will help answer those questions. Information on birth expectations will be collected in this area the week of June 16-22 from a sample of area households.

The data collected will cover the expectations of women within the next five years.

The questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Households in this area taking part in the survey are among the 50,000 across the country scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all households.

All information about individuals and families provided the Bureau is held confidential by law and can be published only as statistical totals.
