Harlan: Knowledge of Soil Types Important to Area Businesses

By JIM STRAYER
While knowledge of soil types is obviously important to farmers, it can be vital to business men, Dr. Phil Harlan, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln land use specialist, told a luncheon audience on Thursday.
Businessmen and farmers at the luncheon at the Wayne State College student center received copies of the Wayne County soil survey, issued in February, and were instructed in its use.
The luncheon was sponsored by four Wayne County banks and the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District.
Harlan explained the importance of proper use of types of soil. Survey charts give the predicted annual crop yields for different types of soil, based on information supplied by farmers in the county.
Yield data is important to farmers, Harlan said, but businessmen can also make good use of the information when purchasing or selling land or in determining the amount of risk involved when making loans on farm land.
Various factors in soil type determine in part how much land will yield, Harlan said. Fields in soil with poor moisture retention are turning brown now, Harlan said, while other fields close by in a different soil-type still look good.
Farmers also need to know what type of soil they have in determining what type and how much fertilizer and herbicide to apply.

Winside Okays Gas Rate Hike

Consumers in Winside will be paying 29 per cent more for natural gas after Sept. 15. The village board approved the rate increase last Tuesday.
The minimum charge per customer (first 1,000 cubic feet per month) jumped from $2.05 to $2.25. The rate for the next 4,000 cubic feet went from $1.36 per 1,000 cubic feet to $1.71. The next 45,000 cubic feet will cost $1.51 per 1,000 cubic feet compared to the old price of $1.16.
The price per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 30,000 units goes up from 90.8 cents to $1.26. Additional gas will cost $1.21 per 1,000 cubic feet, compared to the old price of 85.8 cents.
Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas has requested rate increases with 127 communities west of McCook, according to Gordon Boatman, manager of the K-N district with headquarters in Randolph. Boatman said communities in the district which have previously approved the rate increase include Belden, Randolph, Coleridge and Laurel.
Boatman attributed the rate hike to increases in salaries, increased cost of material and the cost of research and exploration.

Beef-Swine Tour Is Wednesday

A twilight beef swine tour will be held at the Northeast Station near Concord on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.
The tour will assemble at the farm headquarters and proceed to the stops along the tour, said Vernon Krause, extension beef specialist.
Research and feeding facilities will be the major points emphasized. Bob Fritsch, extension swine specialist, will review swine feeding management practices and current research at the swine center. Krause will lead discussion of beef facilities and research.
In addition, the tour will stop at the new feed mill which has been in use about a month.
The Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association, the Northeast Pork Producers and the Northeast Station are co-sponsoring the tour.

Pilot Is Seeking License to Run Local Air Taxi

Wayne County could be the base for a new intrastate air taxi service if the state Public Service Commission grants Allen Robinson, operator of Air Service, the necessary certificates which would allow him to carry cargo within Nebraska.
Two Chicago firms, Bankers Dispatch and Apollo Airways, were present at the hearing to testify against the request, Robinson said. Robinson said it is his understanding that both firms are applicants for the same type of license he is seeking. He said representatives from the two companies gave testimony seeking to prevent him from carrying specific items including blood, dental and pharmaceutical supplies, photographic film, computer printout sheets and punch cards.
About eight Wayne business men appeared at the hearing to testify in favor of granting the license, Robinson said. He said he was told transcripts of the Miss Wittse, who was third in her 1975 graduating class at Wayne High School, was active in Pep Club, AFS and band, and served as a cheerleader, twirler and member of the annual staff.

She plans to major in biological science and carry a chemistry major.
Bernel, who was seventh in his 1975 high school graduating class at Randolph Public School, plans to study medical technology at Wayne State.

Fire Destroys Farm Tractor

Seven Hoskins volunteer firemen were called out about 6 p.m. Wednesday to extinguish a tractor fire about three and a half miles east of Hoskins on highway 35.
Henry Wantoch of Stanton was hauling silage to the Otto Wantoch farm near Hoskins when the fire apparently started from faulty wiring.
The tractor, which was insured, was reported to be a total loss.

Brink Predicts Office Move Can Be Done in a Weekend

No timetable has been set for moving city offices into the Wayne hospital building at 305 Pearl St. Fred Brink, city administrator is predicting the move can be done over a weekend.
The building will be vacated as soon as the new Providence Medical Center is opened. The opening was originally planned for Aug. 1 but was postponed because of construction delays.
"We should be able to start moving after regular hours on a Friday and be in business Monday morning," Brink said.
Some remodeling will be required before the move can be made, Brink said. Fire and burglar alarms must be moved from the present city office building, some walls in the hospital building must be removed and others added to conform with current plans for the city offices.
The remodeling will be done by city employees, Brink said. He said he does not have a cost estimate now.
The city council approved the move at a regular meeting July 6. Brink said the move has been planned for some time but formal approval had not been sought previously.
The basement of the hospital building will house Wayne's Senior Citizens Center, Brink said, replacing the present center at 316 Main St. He said a rampway to the first-floor will provide access for persons in wheelchairs who can then take the elevator to the basement.

"Converting the basement to a center for senior citizens will provide more room and a nicer facility than we have now," Brink said.
The police department will occupy the north half of the first floor with space provided for the office of the chief of police, an officers work room, a ready room and a storage room. See BRINK, page 8.

Carroll Man Is Injured in Farm Accident

Melvin Jenkins of Carroll was released from Wayne Hospital Thursday following a machinery accident Monday evening on his farm three miles south and three and a quarter west of Carroll.
Jenkins reportedly suffered a severed left thumb and badly cut fingers when he slipped on the combine he was working on and caught his hand in the fan. The accident took place about 9 p.m.

Light Damage Caused by Fire

Lightning was blamed for a fire which caused minor damage to the Dave Wilkerson home, 120 Lincoln St., early Saturday morning, according to fire chief Cliff Pinkelman.
Pinkelman said lightning striking an electrical outlet about 3 a.m. Saturday apparently caused low voltage. An electrical fan in the Wilkerson home became overheated while operating at the reduced voltage and caught fire, Pinkelman said.
Only minor damage was reported to the fan and the fire did not spread to the rest of the home, Pinkelman said.

A Careful Touch

WAYNE COUNTY 4-H'ers, from left, Cindy Bull and Shirley Kleehaus carefully guide their paint brushes as they trim a door on the 4-H exhibit building at the county fairgrounds. The girls, along with about 50 other 4-H youths, spent Friday morning and part of the afternoon painting the 4-H building, both inside and out, in preparation for next month's county fair.

Who bailed out the Navy in 1798?

We were still paying off the Revolutionary War. Then we were faced with yet another war, this time on the seas. How could we afford to build up our Navy? Well, Congress called for help through the issuance of government securities. And the citizens came through to the tune of $711,700. Enough to make the down payment on 10 new ships.

Their investment paid off. And you can follow their example today. When you buy U.S. Savings Bonds at your bank or through the Payroll Savings Plan at work, you're investing in your country. And as if that weren't enough, you're helping yourself to a safe and generous return. What better way to stay afloat?

Take stock in America. 200 years at the same location.

STRAY Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

I'M HAPPY to join the staff of the Wayne Herald as news editor. A personal introduction seems in order. I'm Jim Strayer; my wife is Kay. I'm a native Nebraskan, originally from Fairbury. Kay is also a Nebraskan, perhaps a less direct route. Her father is retired from the Army and she spent the first 16 years of her life in Kentucky, Germany and Maryland. Her father is originally from Stele City, 10 miles east of Fairbury and the family moved to Fairbury following his retirement. Prior to moving to Wayne, we lived in Albion where I was news editor for the Albion News. I finished there Wednesday and began with the Herald Thursday morning. Kay and I are settled in our new apartment now and are happy to be in Wayne. The move went fairly easy for us. It makes an even dozen times we have moved in nearly five years of marriage so I guess we haven't had plenty of practice. Not that there aren't a few loose ends still to be tied. We accomplished most of the move Saturday and finished Wednesday night. As usual, we started remembering little things at the last minute. For example, Wednesday afternoon, I remembered that we hadn't cleared the safety deposit box and Kay remembered that the keys to it were packed and already in Wayne. That will mean a return trip to Albion for Kay next week, which is just as well because she still has a couple of dolls she promised to finish for friends there. She started making the dolls as a hobby last winter. They have bottle bodies and craft foam feet, hands and heads with painted faces. I AM delighted to find a new chess opponent, sports editor Bob Barlett. I learned to play just last winter and from the way Bob perked up when I asked if he was a chess player, I'm afraid I could be in for some rough competition. Bob and Al Cramer are helping me get acquainted around town. The first day at work, Thursday, I met most of the city and county government officials I will be in contact with. I also attended the luncheon at the Wayne State College student center, sponsored by the Wayne County banks and the Elkhorn Natural Resource District. Soil Conservation Service officials distributed copies of the county soil survey and explained its use. The cordial welcome for a newcomer to Wayne, is appreciated. AS LONG as I'm on the subject of being new to Wayne, I'd like to mention a few of the things that are impressive at a quick first glance. The high school complex, the new hospital which will open in August, the industrial development on the east edge of Wayne and an attractive business district are guideposts pointing out quickly that Wayne is a progressive community. Kay and I are looking forward to becoming acquainted with all the communities in Wayne County. Our first opportunity will be at the Diamond Jubilee Old Settlers Reunion in Winslow, Tuesday through Thursday. Activities for every age are crammed into the three nights and two days of fun. We hope to see you there.

OBSERVATIONS

Getting your money's worth

Wayne County taxpayers, for once, are getting something tangible and material in return for their tax dollars. Business men and farmers who attended any of a series of meetings in the county this week received copies of the county soil survey, officially issued in February. The books are available to the public at the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) office in Wayne. County agent Don Spitze, SCS officials including Don Kerl and Arnold Marr, and meeting sponsors including four Wayne County banks and the Elkhorn Natural Resource District, are to be commended for their efforts to educate the public in the value and use of the survey. It was pointed out at the meetings that the survey, in the making since field work began in 1966, has a variety of uses to farmers and businessmen alike. Soil type affects crop yield and engineering and construction planning. According to University of Nebraska-Lincoln land use specialist Dr. Phil Harlan, failure to consider soil characteristics during planning stages can result in higher than necessary long-term expense on construction projects. Not everyone in the county will need a copy, but the survey does represent an instance where taxpayers are able to get something they can see and touch for their tax dollars. If you can use a copy of the survey, don't hesitate to pick one up. You've already paid for it. — Jim Strayer

The inexact art of judging

County fairs are a little like baseball games. There's a lot of hard work, judging, umpiring and decision making going on in both situations. The 4-H judge, like the umpire at a baseball game, comes under the burning eyes of exhibitors, proud parents and concerned spectators. The tension of last minute efforts to complete 4-H exhibits, the anxiety of waiting to hear the final outcome of how the entries were judged, all contribute to tense moments for both judge and exhibitor. According to state 4-H staff at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, whether it's umpiring or judging 4-H exhibits, the decision making involved is an "inexact art." No two referees will ever call an athletic contest exactly the same. No two judges will ever place a class of 4-H exhibits the same either. Judging is actually training in decision making. The skill develops with study and practice, and in the judging situation, both the judge and the exhibitor have responsibilities in maintaining a balanced perspective on the judging process. As communities across Nebraska move into county fair season, the 4-H staff had the following reminders for both 4-H exhibitors and judges in making the fair a positive learning experience. The exhibitor or parent viewing the judging procedure should accept certain basic assumptions about the judge: No one is born with judgment. It is developed only by study and practice. One of the educational advantages 4-H can offer to persons is the opportunity to practice and re-practice the art of making judgements. Standards or criteria for various exhibits change over time. The dress style that received a purple ribbon last year may not be "in" this year. The judge is basically unbiased and essentially fair. The judge must also accept certain responsibilities of his or her situation, the 4-H staff said. The capable judge knows his or her responsibilities and makes contribution through knowledge, understanding and tolerance. Will, to the extent possible, give generalized oral or written reasons on how and why the placings were made. Recognize the areas in which he or she has capabilities and does not accept requests to judge in unqualified fields. Is flexible and willing to understand the intent of the exhibitor. — Contributed by the Nebraska Press Association.

'Thanks for the Luncheon'

Randolph Dear Editor I would like to thank the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and everyone else who worked so hard to put on the Farm Ladies Appreciation Luncheon. I know it takes many hours of work and a lot of cooperation to make such an enjoyable event a success. I enjoyed it so much and am looking forward to next year. No other town in this area does anything like it for the farmers. Thank you again. — Mrs. Murray Leicy

'This is the best way to say thanks'

Dear Editor, There are many people I'd like to thank, and this seems the best way to do so. First of all, to everyone involved in making the Farm Ladies Luncheon such a lovely afternoon — thank you. The decorations were charming, the food superb, the program both interesting and informative. We know how much time and effort it takes to make something like this happen. Second, to Bob's Farm Service who provided the prize I was awarded — thank you. As farm wives we all deal with so many of the Wayne merchants — and it is nice to know our business is appreciated, not just taken for granted. And third, to the Wayne State College boys who helped so willingly to change a "difficult" flat tire as we were leaving the luncheon — also thank you. Accepting nothing in return for the much appreciated help, one fellow said as he was leaving something to the effect that "helping is the name of the game — what it's supposed to all be about." Perhaps it was said in jest, but it seems to say it all. Yes, helping is what it's all about. Let's keep that in mind as we go about our businesses in the future — we can all help each other. Again, thanks to everyone involved in making last Friday's luncheon a lovely one — thanks to Bob's Farm Service, and thanks to some young men for their helpfulness. — Mrs. Lester Hansen.

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

DON THOMPSON assumed his duties July 1 as administrator of Educational Service Unit 8, headquartered at Neligh. A native of Laurel, Thompson has been superintendent of schools at Crofton for the past three years. He had also served as superintendent at Osmond for three years. A BREAK-IN at Bogner's Steakhouse in Crofton netted thieves about $40,000 in cash and checks. The burglary is believed to have happened sometime early Tuesday morning after the restaurant had locked up around 3 a.m. Officials said entrance was gained through back door where a metal plate had apparently been unscrewed from a panel door, allowing the door to be opened from the inside. BEEMER became an official Bicentennial community last weekend during the annual Play Days. More than 125 attended the ceremonies in front of Beemer High School. JOHN FEUERSTEIN has been hired as superintendent for the 1975-76 school term at Hartington High School. Feuerstein served as superintendent at LaVerne, Ia., last year.

A NATIVE of Gettenburg has been appointed cashier of the First National Bank of Waverly. He is Jerry Purinton, 32, who succeeds David Knust in that position. THE WAKEFIELD Board of Education voted unanimously last Monday night to present the same building proposal, which was defeated at a special election in May, to the people in November. DEDICATION services have been set for the new Elkhorn Acres Golf Course south of Stanton on Sunday, July 27. Activities and ceremonies will begin at 12:30 p.m. and continue throughout the afternoon. NOW serving as pastor to both the United Methodist Church and the First United Presbyterian Church in Pender is William Tacey, a 25-year-old native of Osmond. Tacey will serve as interim pastor for the two churches on a trial basis until at least June of next year. He fills vacancies left by the retirement of the Rev. Gross of the Methodist Church and the moving of the Rev. Mease of the Presbyterian Church.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

Your Only Contact Adequate tread on your tires is so essential for your safety that in most states, it is illegal to drive with tires having a tread depth less than 2/32 of an inch. Tires are your car's only contact with the road and their condition determines how well your car starts, stops and takes you around curves and through ice, water, snow and mud. The area of the tread that makes contact with the road is called the footprint. About eight inches long and six inches wide, each part of the tread rolls through this footprint an average of 30 million times during a tire's life. As the tire rolls into the footprint, the tread is squeezed together, against the road under the weight of the car. This is how you get traction and ability to move. If you screech around corners or use jackrabbit starts, you rub off tread on the road and wear down the tire. Tread is the main thing that keeps you from skidding on the highway. When the tread is worn away, you may lose control, especially on wet pavement. And the chance of skidding on a dry road is up to 10 times greater with bald tires than with good tires. If you drive with a bald tire on a wet road, your car may actually lift right up off the road surface. Since there are no tread grooves to allow water to drain as the tire rolls along, it actually "surfs" on the water. You can demonstrate this with two pieces of smooth plastic. A few drops of water between the sheets of plastic will cause them to slide over one another exactly the way a bald tire will slide on a slick road. A tire with less than 2/32 inches of tread is 50 times more likely to become a flat tire statistic than one with ample tread, since it's easier for road hazards to penetrate a thin layer of tread rubber. Today's belted tires have a belt of fabric, fiberglass or steel under the tread to greatly increase tread life. The belt keeps the tread from squirming as it rolls under the footprint area, leaving less rubber on the road and more on your tire.

Board, Room Option Offered To WS Students

Students carrying 60 hours or more who live on campus at Wayne State College have a new board-and-room option beginning with the fall term in September.

Previously all students living on campus were required to take at least some of their meals at the school cafeteria. Under the new plan, students who have completed 60 semester hours or more by September may choose the no-food option and still live on campus. The college feels the best way to experience college life is by living on campus.

The change, approved by the Nebraska State College Board of Trustees earlier this year, should appeal to students who have expressed the desire to purchase their meals when and where they wished.

The new option is supported by Broughton Food Service who operates the college cafeteria. While the no meal option gives students the opportunity not to eat at the cafeteria, it doesn't provide new additional cooking privileges in residence halls.

Students who have pre-registered for the fall term and wish to change to the new no-meal option should contact Dave Schulte, business manager at Wayne State, so fee statements can be adjusted accordingly.

Meal prices for the fall are $16 per week or $240 per term for the 10 meal per week plan; $17.50 per week or $246 per term for the 15 meal plan, and $18 per week or $270 per term for the 20 meal plan. Room prices for the fall term will be $13 per week or $195 per term for a double room and $17 per week or $255 per term for a private room.

The NRD Board That Is Sincerely Concerned About Proper Resources Development!

The resources field, as with many others, is plagued with much misinformation, rumors and "old wives tales."

The Directors of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District feel it is very important that unbiased, well-researched information be available to the public so that taxpayers can make fair and accurate assessment of the issues at hand.

All too often, emotionalism plays a large part in the decision-making process in areas affecting long term goals and actions. Your natural resources district feels it is important that taxpayers have a reliable source of information on which to judge relative merits of resources proposals. In the future, as groundwater development limitations, land use controls and erosion limitations become more and more a part of our daily life —

The following films are available from our office upon your request:

WATER — NEBRASKA'S HERITAGE

Describes Nebraska's use and supply of water. It compares amounts of water used for home, industry, and agriculture and looks at potential water needs. Locations of groundwater and surface water in Nebraska are shown by extensive use of aerial photography.

LIVING WITH NEBRASKA'S WATER

Explains the quality of water in Nebraska and how our uses change this quality. The film describes the basic bacterial and chemical characteristics of our surface and groundwater. It shows the various requirements of each water use, how man puts water to use, and how this use lowers water quality.

WORKING WITH NEBRASKA'S WATER

Examines our current water management practices and problems. Putting our water to work often causes problems such as conflicts among users, lowering water tables, rising water tables, and effects of dams or main streams. These problems are outlined and discussed in interviews with experts, farmers and legislators.

NEBRASKA'S WATER — ITS FUTURE

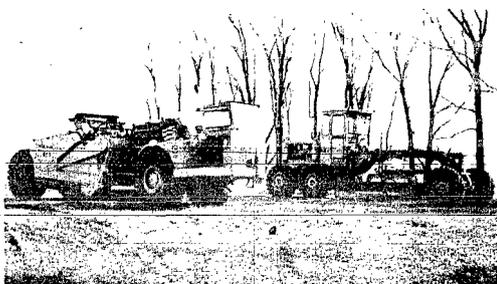

Outlines possibilities for better use of our water supplies in Nebraska through distribution systems and improved management. Development and management methods must recognize impacts on ecology and on economic, social and political structures. The Platte River Valley is used as an example of practices that might apply. Individual awareness of water in our environment and our responsibility for its management are stressed.

THE MEDICINE SHOW

An interesting film explaining different types of soil erosion and how they may be prevented by different conservation practices.

HOME

This unusual environmentally-oriented film is an adaption of a speech made by Indian Chief Seattle in 1855 when he discussed a treaty and sale of a portion of his tribe's land to the whites. His speech was very prophetic, and makes excellent narration for the film, which shows scenes of virgin timberlands, crystal mountain streams, and tranquil valleys, contrasted with scenes of modern population and urban jungles.

Legion Champs Draw a Bye

Defending Class B state Legion champions, Wayne, drew a bye in Thursday's first night action of the five-team district three tournament at Wayne.

Holding a 15-2 record before last Sunday's contest at Scribner, Wayne will play the winner of Wakefield-Wynot game at 8 p.m. on Friday.

Meanwhile, Wakefield and Wynot open league action at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, followed by Randolph-Harrington matchup at 8 p.m. in the double-elimination tournament.

The tournament is expected to be completed by July 29.

Midgets Will Finish Season Below .500

For the first time in 17 seasons under coach Hank Overin, Wayne Midgets will finish regular season play under .500.

Friday night Bancroft handed the locals a 5-4 setback to drop Wayne's mark to 7-9 going into the season finale Sunday at Scribner.

Bancroft scored four runs off a pair of doubles and two singles in the top of the sixth to overcome the Midgets' three-run lead during the last Ralph Bishop League contest of the season at Wayne.

Wayne's starting hurler Tyler Frevert gave the home team a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the third when he singled, advanced on shortstop Steve Bodenstedt's one bagger and scored on a wild pitch.

Bancroft came back with a run in the top of the fourth to knot the contest, but the Midgets fired back with two more runs in their half of the fourth on run scoring singles by first baseman Doug Carroll and Bodenstedt.

Both center fielder Mark Brandt and right fielder Ralph Atkins walked in the fourth to set up Wayne's runs. Carroll then drove in one run. Following the team's second out and a walk by Frevert, Bodenstedt connected for a single to score Wayne's third tally.

Carroll, who finished the night with two singles in four at bats, drove in his second run in the bottom of the fifth when he singled in third baseman Aaron Nissen. Nissen opened the frame with a single and scored after two outs had been made.

A pair of three-run homers and a solo circuit hit Wednesday night captured Dodge County over Northeast Nebraska Baseball League in the annual all-star game at Wakefield.

Dodge County jumped to a 5-0 lead after three frames. Brown's three-run circuit hit in the first inning cleared the 317-foot center field fence to put his league on top 3-0. The home run hitting continued in the second when Sehnicht opened the inning with a 350-foot bomb over the left field fence to boost Dodge's lead to 4-0.

After Dodge scored one run in the bottom of the fourth, NEN bats went to work in the top of the fifth to whittle the margin to 5-2.

Catcher John Kingsbury of Ponca and center fielder Bart

Kneiff of Newcastle got on bases via an error and Kneiff's single to set up the league's only two runs. Shortstop Dave Gehring of Dodge County doubled in both runners.

Dodge County's six-run seventh quickly reduced NEN's chances to overcome the favorites. Sehnicht's bases-loaded single drove in one run for a 6-2 lead before a NEN error allowed

All told, NEN hurlers gave up 11 hits and Dodge pitchers gave up 10.

Water Shortage Won't Stop Fight

Winside residents are being asked to cooperate in an effort to conserve water because of a shortage. But street superintendent Kenneth Macke said the water fight at the Old Settlers Reunion will go ahead as scheduled.

Macke said the community is running short of water and is asking residents to help relieve the situation by following an alternate day plan for watering lawns.

People living on the west or north sides of Winside streets should water on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Those persons living on the east or south side of the street should water on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Watering should be limited to two hours a day, Macke said, and no one should water on Sundays.

The water fight at the Old Settlers Reunion is scheduled for 6:30 Thursday evening and pits volunteers from Wakefield, Pierce, Wayne, Hoskins, Carroll

The south half of the first floor will be converted into office space for the mayor, city administrator, clerk-treasurer, and the billing and accounting department. A customer service counter will also be included.

Walls will be removed from the second floor to make space for the city council chambers, a planning commission meeting room and an office for the city engineer. The third floor will be used for storage. Brink said.

None of the internal walls are load bearing. Brink said. The walls and three columns support the weight of the building.

What About Those Calories?

GIRLS participating in Wayne County's home economics demonstration contest Monday weren't worried about the calorie content of the moment. Chances are their thoughts were centered on their presentation, in hopes of being selected to represent the county at the State Fair later this summer. Giving a demonstration on foreign foods was Lynette Gnirk, top. Meanwhile, other contestants paid close attention to other presentations during the contest held at the Villa Wayne.
