

Planning Is Wayne's Biggest Industrial Development Need

Wayne has a lot going for it when it comes to attracting industry but a comprehensive plan is needed to promote the city on a continuous basis.

That is the opinion of Chuck Elliott, director of industrial development for the State Department of Economic Development (DED).

Elliott was one of several speakers in Wayne Tuesday for an industrial development seminar sponsored jointly by DED and the Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD).

The workshop began with a noon luncheon at the Vets' Club. Wayne Industries, Inc. president Kent Hall introduced the first speaker at 1 p.m.

Robert Shively, director of market development for NPPD, told why communities need industrial development and how they should organize for it. Bill Martin, DED field representative based in Norfolk, spoke on community research.

Other speakers and topics were Dolores Rupprecht, DED industrial consultant—industrial sites; Elliott—financing the industrial development effort; Shively on prospecting; Martin on how to make presentations and Elliott on selling Nebraska.

A panel discussion at 4:15 featured Shively, Elliott and William Spitzberger from NPPD, answering audience questions.

Elliott made his comments on Wayne's potential for industrial development in an interview following the scheduled presentations.

He cited a number of factors which he thinks make Wayne an attractive community for industrial prospects.

The development of an industrial tract such as the one located east of Wayne is vitally important to industrial development, Elliott said, especially when a building is readily available.

Educational facilities were also pointed out. Elliott said Wayne High School is excellent and added that Wayne State College and nearby Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk are very attractive because of their potential for providing employee training.

Any industry wants to be sure adequate medical facilities are available. Elliott said, adding that the New Providence Medical Center ensures that.

The industrial development specialist pointed out several other less obvious but just as important plus factors for Wayne.

"The quality of life is very good here and fits in well with our 'Nebraska, The Good Life,' slogan."

Relatively close location to larger communities such as Norfolk, Sioux City and Omaha can also be important to manufacturers because of the ready availability of goods and services necessary for operation.

"If a plant needs parts for big electric motors, they don't want to have to order it and then wait weeks for it to arrive," he explained.

The business climate in Wayne and the attitude toward industrial development are also important. "The people in a town have to want an industry. If companies are going to look over a

'I've Got You Now'

"ANDREW," PLAYED BY Phil Koerber, seems to take delight in the possibility of shooting "Milo" in the clown costume, during a robbery. The action takes place in "Sketch," the Wayne High Drama Club play which will be presented Friday and Saturday nights beginning at 8 o'clock. Virgil Kordell fills in as the clown during rehearsal in the above photo but Mike Schmidt will play the character of Milo when the curtain goes up in earnest. Tickets are available at the door.

Liquor Issue Is Approved

Voters Tuesday approved by more than a two to one margin a proposal to allow liquor by the drink, according to city clerk Bruce Mordhorst's unofficial tabulation.

A total of 357 persons cast ballots with 250 voting for and 107 against.

The yes vote will allow the issuance of class C liquor licenses within Wayne. The license permits the serving of liquor and beer by the drink for consumption on the premises and in carry-out packages for consumption of the premises.

The city council will meet at 5 p.m. Monday in their chambers to canvass the votes and arrive at the official election results. Absentee and disabled voter ballots will be added to the total but shouldn't have any effect on the outcome. Mordhorst said he had issued only two such ballots.

The total vote is relatively poor when compared with other elections. During the November 1974 general election, 1,370 Wayne city voters cast ballots. Mordhorst said the total number of registered voters in the city is about 2,400.

The liquor proposal apparently carried in each of the city's four wards. Unofficial results by wards are: Ward 1 — for-52, against-25; Ward 2 — for-40, against-22; Ward 3 — for-33, against-34; Ward 4 — for-65, against-26.

Mordhorst said persons wishing to apply for class C liquor license should be able to do so as soon as the results of the election are officially declared. Application is made to the State Liquor Commission which considers the application and then sends it to the city clerk.

A public hearing must be held to hear testimony concerning the application. The council then votes on what type of recommendation to give the application and it is returned to the liquor commission for final action.

A fire on the Alvin Anderson farm about five miles south and one east of Wayne Wednesday was extinguished before members of the Wayne Volunteer fire department could answer the call.

According to fire chief Cliff Pinkelman, sparks from burning lumber ignited shingles on the adjacent building at about 9:50. Minutes earlier, the department answered a false alarm at the Al Grashorn residence, 571 W Third.

Report Shows Rising Medical Costs in Surrounding Area

How much are Wayne county residents paying per year for health care? How does that compare with what others are paying?

Because of inflationary pressures, the cost of medical and dental services, hospital care, prescription drugs and the like have gone up sharply in recent years.

The direct burden of these costs on the individual pocket book has been carried, to a large extent, by private health insurance and by such government programs as Medicare.

In all, according to the latest figures, two-thirds of the bills are now being taken care of in that fashion.

Wych leaves the one third that must be footed by the patients themselves. These out of pocket costs have zoomed recently.

Details on the cost of medical care in the various sections of the country have just been released by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

In Wayne County's regional area, it appears, out of pocket costs in the past fiscal year, excluding premiums paid for health insurance, came to an estimated $131 per capita.

Elsewhere throughout the United States the average was $149 per capita.

The figures apply to the population as a whole and include those who had no expenses and See MEDICAL, page 8

WSC Student Dead in Highway Mishap

Funeral services are scheduled for today (Thursday) for a 28-year-old Wayne State College student killed early Tuesday morning in a motorcycle accident.

Funeral services for Bernard Bonnenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick H. Bonnenberger of rural Atkinson, are to be held at 10 a.m. today at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Atkinson. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

State Trooper Dave Headley said Bonnenberger was killed about 3:50 Tuesday morning when he apparently lost control of his motorcycle after striking the rear of a motorcycle ridden by Douglas Mau, 23, of Wayne.

The pair were traveling east from Wayne on Highway 35 when the mishap occurred. After losing control of his cycle, Bonnenberger struck the railing of a bridge, adjacent to the municipal airport property.

He was thrown over the railing and was found by Headley near the creek bed below the bridge. His body was taken to Wiltsie Mortuary in Wayne.

Mau also lost control of his cycle, laying the machine on its side and skidding in the road. Mau was treated for bruises and facial cuts at Providence Medical Center and released.

Headley said neither rider was wearing a crash helmet when the accident happened.

In addition to his parents, Bonnenberger is survived by three sisters. He was a junior at WSC, majoring in business

Fire Extinguished

A fire on the Alvin Anderson farm about five miles south and one east of Wayne Wednesday was extinguished before members of the Wayne Volunteer fire department could answer the call.

Teletype Will Provide Speed and Accuracy

The Wayne police department moved into new quarters Monday and the same day learned the use of a new teletype installation.

A total of 375 man-hours were donated by police officers, dispatchers and their families in remodeling the new offices, located in the old Wayne Hospital building at the corner of Third and Pearl Streets.

Police chief Vern Fairchild said part of the reason the department needed more space was to accommodate the teletype equipment.

"There simply wasn't room in the old building," Fairchild said. The former police headquarters were located adjacent to the fire hall. City administrator Fred Brink said the small brick building will probably be used as office space for the fire chief and his assistant.

The new teletype equipment is rented from the Western Union telegraph company at the rate of $2,451 a year. A Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grant was obtained through the State Crime Commission to pay 95 per cent of the cost for the first year. Thereafter, the expense will be included as part of the police department budget.

Fairchild said the teletype is part of a special police network and fits in with 51 terminals in Nebraska.

In addition, the Wayne terminal can be linked through a state computer in Lincoln to other terminals in every other state except Hawaii.

The advantage in speed and accuracy of communications should be tremendous, Fairchild said. "Before, we had to radio the terminal in Norfolk or Omaha and have them dispatch a message. That took time and there was more chance for error. This way it's fast and we get a printed copy.

The police chief gave some examples of the types of information which can be obtained via the teletype. It is linked directly with the State Department of Motor Vehicles in Lincoln and can provide fast information on automobile registration and individual driving records.

The teletype also links the Wayne office with the National Crime Information Center computer in Phoenix, Ariz., which See TELETYPE, page 8

Fancy Fireplugs

FIREPLUGS IN Wayne will be getting a new look next week, thanks to these designs developed by designer Harry Gray. A WSC student and Circle K member, Gray will present the designs to the Bicentennial committee this week for their approval. The committee and the city have already given their okay to the project and the college Kiwanis organization will start the painting as soon as possible, hopefully this Saturday or next week. About 22 Circle K painters will start at Main St. and work east and west. They hope to finish the project by Wildcat Days' Oct. 18.

Band Contest Expected To Draw 1,200 Musicians

Wayne State College will be host to over 1,200 young musicians Saturday as 22 visiting high school bands from Nebraska and Iowa arrive on campus to participate in the annual Band Day activities.

Dr. Raymond Keiton, director of bands, said that students will arrive in time for a 1 p.m. rehearsal. The parade comencing at 3:15 p.m., will begin at the campus and continue on Main Street to downtown Wayne, past the judges stand located at the corner of First and Second streets, and concluding near the city auditorium where lunch will be served to the students and their directors by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

Parade competition will be judged on quality of sound, marching execution and precision, appearance and overall general effect. Judges will be Dr. Jay O'Leary and Dr. Cornell Runestad. Wayne State faculty members and Ken Kronsoson.

First place awards will be given in two categories: total high school enrollment of 200 and above, and total high school enrollment under 200. First place schools will each receive a plaque and two scholarships to Wayne State's Summer Music Camp next summer.

The bands will also appear on the WSC football field prior to See BAND DAY, page 8

White Horse Patrol Tickets Now Available

Tickets are now available in four locations for the Oct. 5 appearance in Wayne of the White Horse Patrol from Sioux City.

Mrs. Ronald Mau said tickets can be obtained at the First National Bank, the State National Bank, the Wayne Music Company and Ben's Paint and Wallpaper.

The precision mounted drill team will perform at the Wayne County fairgrounds at 2 p.m. Oct. 5. The event is sponsored by the Wayne Bicentennial committee.

City Planners Will Recommend Zoning Change

The Wayne Planning Commission voted Monday night to recommend that the city council grant a zoning change to Corliss and Sheridan Frey, chairman Mern Mordhorst said Tuesday.

If the council grants the request, the zoning of a lot at Seventh and Logan Streets will be changed from residential to business to allow the Freys to operate a pottery and art center.

Mordhorst said one of his was present to protest the change.

The commission will present their recommendation to the city council at the regular council meeting Sept. 30. The council must schedule a public hearing on the matter, probably for their Oct. 14 meeting, said city clerk Bruce Mordhorst.

Wakefield 4-H Entry Is Carcass Winner

Trudy Hansen of Wakefield, entering a spotted swine, won the purebred carcass division of the Northeast Market Hog Show.

LeRoy Wolfe, of Hartington, swept the crossbred division with first and second place. The reserve champion purebred was another 4-H entry owned by Amy Finn of Carroll.

Unlike the live competition where pigs are judged individually, the carcass ratings are based on the average ham and loin percent of two pigs.

Other winners in the top ten in the purebred and crossbred divisions were purebred: Pat Finn, Carroll (third and fifth placings); Eileen Finn, Carroll; Robert Hansen, Wakefield (sixth and eighth placings); McQuistan Bros., Pender, and Gloria Hanen, Wakefield, crossbred: Ronnie Weststrand, Wakefield (third and ninth placings); Dennis Nighthus, Coleridge; B. & H Farms, Allen; Terry Borg, Concord; Val Birkleigh, Hubbard; Judy Gustafson, Wakefield; and Veri Carlson, Wakefield.

'Life Skills' Are Taught At Rehabilitation Center

By JIM STRAYER

The Northeast Nebraska Rehabilitation Services Center in Wayne is almost at a point where further growth will be impossible if proper living situations for clients can't be found, housing director Brian Lina tetter said Tuesday.

The workshop center is located at 206 Logan St. in Wayne and is designed to "teach physical and mentally handicapped adults the skills they need to make a living."

A group home for some of the clients is also located in Wayne. Residents there are taught skills they will need to eventually live on their own.

The workshop center is part of Northeast Nebraska Rehabilitation Services. The agency is funded by federal, state and local money. It began in South Sioux City when members of the local Association of Retarded Children decided that the community should provide rehabilitation services for the mentally handicapped, rather than seeing them institutionalized away from family and friends.

Centers in Wayne and Bloomfield were started later at the instigation of persons living in the two communities. Together, the three centers serve a seven county area in northeast Nebraska.

The goal of the rehabilitation centers is to teach physically and mentally handicapped persons to become as independent as they are capable of being. That is accomplished by teaching job skills which they can use to become financially self-supporting and living skills which will eventually enable them to maintain their own residence with minimal supervision.

The workshop center in Wayne teaches skills and provides some income by providing clients with contract jobs such as painting pocket fences, assembling ball point pens, cutting wooden stakes and pecking metal swivels in plastic boxes.

The workers are paid on a piece work basis and at the same time are learning to work with their hands, hopefully gaining enough skill to eventually acquire employment outside the workshop.

Living skills are taught at four levels, with each level allowing more independence than the preceding one.

The first level is the group home, located on Pearl St. in Wayne. There, clients live together and supervisors provided training in what Linatetter calls "life skills" such as cooking, housekeeping and money management.

From there, clients advance to a board and room situation similar to a foster home for younger persons. The idea is to live with a family which is willing to provide not only a place, to live but friendship, supervision and training in living skills.

Next comes a supervised apartment where clients and a supervisor share a residence as roommates.

The final step is semi-independence with clients maintaining their own residence with regular visits from supervisors.

Supervisors provide transportation for clients who aren't able to drive and help them develop social contacts and get them involved in the community.

Referrals for the rehabilitation services come mainly from the See REHABILITATION, page 8

First District Democrats Plan Fremont Caucus

The day-long First Congressional District caucus of the Nebraska Democratic Party will be held Sunday in Fremont.

Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. at the Valley View Country Club in Fremont.

After committee reports during the morning session, an associate chairman will be elected and state chairman Dick White will be introduced. A panel will discuss "What Happened in 1974?"

State Senator Steve Fowler will be the special guest at the 12:30 luncheon. National committeewoman Frances Umsted will be introduced during the afternoon session and a panel will discuss "What Can We Do Better in 1976?"

Democratic Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana will be the special guest for the afternoon.

Couple Married Friday Night At St. Mary's Catholic Church

St. Mary's Catholic Church of Wayne was the scene of the Friday night ceremony which united in marriage Joyce Diedrichsen and Roger Tacey.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Diedrichsen of Winside. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tacey of Osmond.

Honor attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Don Gudenkauf of Osmond. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ron Sovereign of Omaha and Mrs. Rod Schwankel of Wayne. Groomsmen were Ron Sovereign of Omaha and Don Wienand of Osmond.

Kathy Leighton of Winside and Rodney Diedrichsen of Winside, brother of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer.

The bride chose a floor-length, empire-style gown of white satin, featuring long sleeves, high collar and tie in back. Floral lace trimmed the front, inset sleeves and ruffled edged the hemline of the gown. The floral lace was repeated on the train veil and she carried red roses and white pompons, with baby's breath and lily.

The bride's attendants wore floor-length crepe dresses with floral print sleeves, styled similar to the bride's gown. The matron of honor's dress was pink and the bridesmaids' dresses were in maroon. They wore flowers in their hair and carried a bouquet of carnations pompons and baby's breath.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Diedrichsen wore a peach-colored tulle dress with white accessories. Mrs. Tacey chose a black and white dress with white accessories.

Guests, registered by Danze Kuhn at Winside and Mrs. Dan Emerson of Elkhorn, were ushered into the church by Byron Gutz of Osmond and Melvin Korn of Wayne. Mrs. Terry Barling of Wayne sang "Wedding Song" and "Sunrise, Sunset" and Don Wienand of Osmond sang "Sabbath Prayer". Both were accompanied by Mrs. G.W. Gottberg of Winside. The Rev. Thomas McDermott of Wayne and the Rev. Bill Tacey of Pender officiated at the double ring rites.

MR. AND MRS. ROGER TACEY

Candles were lighted by Tony Sovereign of Omaha and Scott Gutz of Osmond. Mrs. Richard Korn and Mrs. Roger Wortman both of Wayne, pinned on flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gathie of Wayne greeted the 250 guests who attended the reception which followed at the Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne. Gifts were arranged by Joni Merchant, Mrs. Bob Fleming and Jane Austin, all of Wayne.

Mrs. Lyle Weal of Malvern, Ia., and Alice Diedrichsen of Scribner cut the cake, which was served by Mrs. Jose Schmitz and Catherine Goeres, both of Osmond. Mrs. Miron Jeness of Wayne and Mrs. Albina Kirchoff of Columbus poured and Missie Greunke of Winside and Mary Peters of Greeley, Colo. served punch. Waitresses were Mrs. Rich Junck of Sholes, Sal Landanger of Norfolk, Vickie Baird of Winside, Phyllis Reeg of Fremont, Judy Korn of Wayne and Sharon Diedrichsen of Blair.

The bride, a 1974 graduate of Winside High School, was employed as a nurse's aid at the Providence Medical Center in Wayne. The bridegroom graduated from Osmond High School in 1969 and attended technical school while serving in the Air National Guard. The couple is engaged in farming near Osmond.

Emilie Reeg Hostess

Next meeting will be Oct. 9 at 2 p.m. with Mrs. Fred Heier.

Speaking OF RURAL

Rural Wakefield Couple Observes Silver Year

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Walden Kraemer of rural Wakefield was observed last week.

Dinner guests Sunday in the Steve Kraemer home, Wakefield, in honor of the occasion were the Walden Kraemers, Kris and Jackie, and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Stokke and Justina of Lincoln. Guests that evening in the Walden Kraemer home were the Harry Bakers and Susan Baker of Wakefield.

Mrs. Melvin Kraemer and Mrs. Anders Jorgensen, both of Wakefield, were guests Saturday afternoon in the Walden Kraemer home. Kraemers' children hosted a dinner Saturday evening at the Billmore in Sioux City to honor their parents' 25th wedding anniversary.

Supper guests last Thursday in the Marlin Kraemer home at Allen were the Walden Kraemers and Jackie and the Steve Kraemers, all of Wakefield, and Mrs. Elsie Snyder of Allen.

Kraemers were married Sept. 18, 1950, and resided in the Concord area before moving to Wakefield about 14 years ago. They have six children: Marlin of Allen, Mrs. Jay (Marilyn) Stokke of Lincoln, Steve of Wakefield, Kris of Lincoln, Barb of Kearney and Jackie, at home. There are three grandchildren, Justina, Gloria and Doug and Michelle Kraemer.

Weekend guests in the Walden Kraemer home were Barb Kraemer, Kris Kraemer and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Stokke and Justina.

Barbara Boyd September Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Ric Barner, who were married in Sunday evening rites at the Winside St. Paul's Lutheran Church, will be making their first home at Wriedel Trailer Court in Wayne.

Mrs. Barner, nee Barbara Boyd, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boyd of Spencer, Ia., a 1973 graduate of Spencer High School, she is attending Wayne State College where she is a junior.

The bridegroom, a 1973 graduate of Wayne High School, is also a junior at Wayne State College and is employed at Melodee Lanes in Wayne. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Barner of Wayne.

The Rev. G.W. Gottberg of Winside officiated at the double ring ceremony and Connie Baker of Fremont sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Song," accompanied by Mrs. Larry Echtenkamp of Wayne.

Gifts in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in an ivory gown of polyester satin and applied lace and velvet, styled with long lace sleeves and detachable train. Applique was featured on the skirt of the floor-length gown and on the train. Her fingertip veil was caught to a lace Juliet cap and she carried stephanotis, mums and baby's breath.

Maid of honor Peg Barner of York, sister of the groom, wore a floor-length dress of blue dotted swiss. Best man was Kim Baker of Norfolk. The men wore blue tuxedos.

The bride's personal attendant was Brenda Capener of Spencer. Ushers were Alan Paul of Yankton, S.D., and Bill Scarborough of Spencer. Ia. Candles were lighted by Darrin Barner of Wayne, brother of the groom, and Shelly Paul of Wakefield.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Boyd wore a beige and brown knit Mrs. Barner chose a cranberry and dusty rose double

Policy on Weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a cutline underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

Jim Bovees Wed At Oakland

The marriage of Jane Geiser to Jim Bovee was solemnized in Sept. 13 rites at the West Side United Methodist Church near Oakland.

The couple will be at home in Wayne where the groom is attending Wayne State College and the bride is employed at the college.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Geiser of Oakland and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Bovee of Valley.

The Rev. Bernard Noordhoek officiated at the double ring ceremony. Cathy Anderson of Fremont sang "Sunrise, Sunset," "You Are the Sunshine of My Life" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Bonnie Sierken of Winside.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a silhouette gown of organza over bridal taffeta, featuring a scoop neckline, trumpet sleeves and an A-line skirt. Venice lace trim, with a daisy pattern, accented the sleeves, bodice and front of the skirt, which extended into a chapel length train. She wore a wide brimmed hat decorated with lace trim and tulle, and carried a cascade of yellow roses, daisies and white carnations intermingled with baby's breath.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with a white shirt and a white bow tie. He carried a white boutonniere and a white corsage.

The bride's bridesmaids were Kim Ellis of Wayne, Sue Pfister of Waterloo and Kelly West of Fullerton. All wore identical dresses of yellow and white checked gingham with picture hats trimmed with yellow ribbon. Their bouquets were nosegays of yellow roses and daisies, accented with baby's breath.

Best man was Keith Lieckert of Waterloo and groomsmen were Dan Bovee of Valley and Steve Bovee of Yutan, brothers of the groom, and Tom Geiser of Waterloo, brother of the bride.

Ushers were Steve Lentell of Valley and Byron Kiebbe of Elkhorn. Candles were lighted by Gloria Hulme of Schuyler.

Hosting the reception were Mrs. Ron Schindler of Elkhorn and Mrs. Garry Manson of Fullerton. Guests were registered by Mrs. Mason.

At the gift table were Cinda Wacker, Sharon Luth, Kathie Kardell and Barb Freivolgel, all sorority sisters of the bride. Joyce Welch and Barb Winter, also sorority sisters, carried gifts and served as waitresses.

Mrs. Dan Bovee and Mrs. Steve Bovee cut and served the cake. Mrs. Bill Mauldin, sister of the groom, poured and Mrs. Bill Garrill served punch. Also helping at the reception was Barbara Lühr.

Afraid You're Going Deaf?

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid device will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this non-operating model now. Wear it in the privacy of your own home to see how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 5876, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria Street, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

Shelley Glass-David Dahl Exchange Vows at Norfolk

In a double ring ceremony Sept. 20 at the United Presbyterian Church, Norfolk, Shelley Glass became the bride of David Dahl. Both are of Norfolk.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Marion-Glass of Winside and Mrs. Patricia Dahl of Norfolk.

The Rev. B.C. Poncelow officiated at the ceremony. Bruce Shively sang "Colour My World," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Follow Me," accompanied by Mrs. Pierce Feenstra. All are of Norfolk.

Jenni Topp and Trevor Top, both of Pilger, were flower girl and ring bearer. Candelights were Kevin Peterka and Kerry Peterka, both of Yankton.

Guests were ushered into the church by Mick Topp of Pilger, Tom Penhollow of Manhattan, Kan., Larry Peterka of Yankton and Lamont Johnson of Norfolk.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a silhouette gown of white organza over angel mist taffeta. Chantilly lace with seed pearl accents created a deep V over the top stitched yoke and modified V neckline which featured a sheer stand up ruffle. The lace was repeated on the sheer bishop sleeves which were gathered to lace covered cuffs. Her A-line skirt also featured lace trim creating an apron look in front, and continuing on to the back skirt and chapel length train. Her matching mantilla of nylon tulle was edged with Chantilly lace, and she carried turquois and white roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Her attendants, Deb Lienemann of Stanton, June Wacker and Sheila Cooper, both of Norfolk, and Deb Krueger and Stacey Glass, both of Winside, wore floor length gowns of poly ester knit in turquois, styled with empire waistlines, V necklines and short sleeves trimmed in maribu. Their veils were of turquoise net trimmed in maribu, and they carried turquois and white bouquets with carnations, baby's breath and white ribbon.

The bridegroom's attendants were Dean Krueger of Winside, Terry Liechtenberg of Norfolk, Bob Myer of Winside and Wayne Denklau and Allen Schuett, both of Wayne.

The groom wore black trousers and a white tuxedo jacket with a white ruffled shirt trimmed in black. His attendants wore black tuxedo jackets and trousers with white ruffled shirts trimmed in black.

The bride's mother selected a gold and white floor length gown and the bridegroom's mother wore a navy and white gown, also in floor length. Both wore a white orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Muhs of Norfolk and Mrs. Mary Elvyn Smith of Norfolk were the officiating ministers.

The couple will reside at 517 Lincoln St. in Norfolk.

For the Great Escape —

It happens all the time; the urge to escape. So you say goodbye to the office, pick up some buddies, and head for Lake Watchamacallit, or Mount Overlyhder, or whatever. And solitude, sweet solitude. What you need for such excursions is a container capable of transporting the entire crew.

Enter Buick LeSabre. Jackpot. Its utilitarian benefits are immediately obvious. There's ample space for six, enough trunk for all sorts of vacation gear, and improved fuel economy that makes you feel downright decent about doing the driving.

Naturally, LeSabre Custom comes in 2- and 4-door models, each with power steering, power front disc brakes, and automatic transmission as standard equipment. Along with a 5.7-liter V-8, steel-belted radials, High-Energy Ignition, and lots of sound-deadening insulation.

Best of all, owning a Buick LeSabre can be a good lesson in economics. With its ability to go quite a long way between recommended tune-ups and oil changes, LeSabre's one sound buy for the money.

Does Success Breed Success? Cats Find Out This Saturday

If success breeds success, Wayne State football prospects are looking good for Saturday night after last week's satisfying win over Midland, 16-6.

Next in line is Doane College, coming to Memorial Stadium at 7:20 Saturday. The Tigers own a 2-1 record, having beaten Trinity of Texas 15-3 in the opener, lost to Chadron, 20-14, then blanked Tarkio, 14-0, last week.

Unlike Midland, which brought a yard-gobbling rush offense, Doane has not generated massive yardage. Currently the Tigers rank seventh among nine Nebraska NAIA teams on total offense, 218 yards. Wayne ranks third at 314 yards a game. Perhaps of more consequence is the comparative defense. Wayne vaulted into No. 1 when it held Midland to a third of normal yardage. Now the Wildcats have limited opponents to 196 yards a game, while Doane ranks second at 198.

Coach Del Stoltenberg expects one fact to dominate his team's thinking. "They should remember how Doane beat them, 27-7, last year. That was not typical."

He referred to Doane's blocking three Wayne punts — something unheard of. Seldom has Wayne had that many punts blocked in a season. The result was devastating at Doane.

So far this year, no team has managed to deflect a punt by Wayne's Mike Green, though one came perilously close to a block by Midland. Green is averaging 34.4 a kick.

A couple of other statistics are worth mentioning from Nebraska NAIA reports this week. Wildcat fullback Brian Moeller forged into No. 1 on rushing, 103 yards average, and the only one over 100, or near, split end Maurlie Mintken remained far ahead of everybody on pass receiving in both number caught and yards traveled — 17 for 106 a game.

As the Wayne-Midland game went, Moeller padded his rush.

Laurel Reserves Fall to Randolph

Laurel's reserve football team goes on the road Monday to Randolph in search of its first win in three outings.

Monday night, the Bears suffered its second straight setback, this time a 14-0 loss to visiting Wisner-Pilger.

Wisner scored a touchdown in each half, including a two-point conversion following its second TD in the third period.

Under the direction of freshman quarterback Rusty Gede, Laurel marched to Wisner's four-yard line before a fumble stopped the Bears' deepest penetration.

Wayne's schedule includes six Class B teams, two Class C and one Class A. However, not all the nine teams that Wayne plays will finish with respectable records. Hansen said, pointing out that Class A South Sioux City has a 0-3 record.

This year marks the first season a high school playoff system has been set up for football. Each of the four classes are made up of four districts. Each district winner, which is selected by a point system, ing with 127 yards on 35 carries — one of his best collegiate games — while Mintken had less opportunity and caught four for 74 yards.

In previous games, Wayne relied more on the pass, but ground warfare seemed more productive against Midland. One reason: quarterback Rick Bene detto went to the option many times, springing Moeller and other backs for surprising gains. A sprinkling of 10 passes — compared to 35 and 20 in preceding games — kept Warrior defenses loose.

Alert defense gave Wayne four

Winside JVs Blanked

Norfolk Catholic went to the air Monday night to blast Winside reserves, 30-0. For the Wildcats' first defeat in two games.

The hosts scored three times on passes in the second quarter for a 24-0 halftime lead, then went to the air again in the third quarter to wrap up the scoring.

Leading rushers for Winside were junior Wayne Smith and sophomore Eddie Morris, said coach Carter Peterson.

'Scotus Loss Would Improve Devil's Hopes for State Playoff'

If Columbus Scotus High School suffers a defeat during its 1975 football campaign, then Wayne High might have a chance to make the state high school playoffs, said coach Al Hansen during Monday's Kiwanis meeting.

According to last week's ratings compiled by Omaha and Lincoln newspapers, the Class B Blue Devils are on top of the playoff charts in their district. However, Scotus is close behind and has a good chance to go ahead of the Devils if the Columbus team remains unbeaten, Hansen pointed out.

Columbus plays eight Class B teams and one Class C club that should finish with good records, Hansen noted, adding that its schedule of teams is the main reason Columbus should win the 16-team district and represent the area in the playoffs.

Wayne's schedule includes six Class B teams, two Class C and one Class A. However, not all the nine teams that Wayne plays will finish with respectable records. Hansen said, pointing out that Class A South Sioux City has a 0-3 record.

This year marks the first season a high school playoff system has been set up for football. Each of the four classes are made up of four districts. Each district winner, which is selected by a point system, drive after the next kickoff and, aided by two Wayne punt-kickers, reached the goal on Dexter Brown's seven-yard run. His running attempt for points failed, and that ended scoring.

However, Wayne scored twice more following turnovers. The first, on Bene detto's quarterback keeper from the three ended in a fumble. Soon after, Midland lost a fumble to Wayne fullback Mike Riedmann, who ran 22 yards to the Warrior two as the game ended.

Reserves Nip Pierce For Second Victory

A strong defensive effort by Wayne High reserves stopped host Pierce on the seven-yard line late in the game Monday to preserve the locals' second victory in three games.

With three minutes left in the game, Wayne shut off Pierce's attempted pass on fourth and goal to take home a narrow 16-14 victory.

Aiding Wayne's first TD drive that went 55 yards were aerials from quarterback Vic Sharpe to Kevin Hansen and Mark Victor that went 20 and 15 yards respectively.

Kelly Hansen bolted across the goal line from two yards to cap Wayne's second TD drive in the third period that covered 80 yards on the ground. Mark Law once made the two-point conversion.

Both Hansen and Maun finished as Wayne's leading rushers with 86 yards each. Hansen finished with the best average of the two. Current notes.

Brian Methold was Wayne's outstanding defensive player, making 11 tackles. Hansen finished with eight and Mark Poshman had seven.

Pierce took advantage of two Wayne fumbles to cash in on its scoring plays. In the opening of the second half, the locals fumbled the ball on the kickoff at their 20 yard line where Pierce pushed the ball in on the next play to trail 14-6. After a Wayne fumble at midfield, a Pierce runner scrambled 50 yards on a reverse for a 16-14 game.

Wayne High football coach Al Hansen believes his Blue Devil team could go undefeated again this year. Hansen was guest speaker at Monday's Kiwanis meeting.

heads to the playoff later in November. Unless you see it on paper, the point system is a "big confusing mess," Hansen said.

"It's hard to tell how many points Wayne will have until the season is over with. By that time we'll see how the other teams did so we can get a better idea of how we stand," Hansen noted.

In reviewing Wayne's last three games, the coach pointed out that his players have been playing heads up ball. "Going into the game against South Sioux City, we didn't know what kind of defense it was going to use. So I gave the offense several defensive lineups. South Sioux might use and told them to visualize their blocking and signments," Hansen said. Result: 43-6 victory.

Wayne mastered a 20-0 shut-out of Blair for the Devils' second win and drove past Wisner-Pilger 29-6 to chalk up a 3-0 slate.

"Our defense is real good this year. The kids take pride in the number of tackles they make." Leading list of defenders is Paul Lindner with 30. He's followed by Mike Wieseler with 21, and Rick Straight and Aaron Nissen with 18 each.

Last Friday Wisner can only 25 ground plays, Hansen said, adding that is the main reason his players don't have more tackles.

The only loss thus far in the season is Nisson, who suffered a broken thumb during the Blair game. "We're not sure how long he's going to be out. Maybe for the season."

Greasy Pigskin

LED BY defensive halfback Jeff Zeiss, a bevy of Wayne eighth grade players secured after a loose ball Tuesday fumbled by a Randolph player in his own backfield. As luck would have it, the ball squirted out of the grasp of the local players and back in to the Randolph hands. Wayne settled down after first half action to beat the visitors, 20-0.

Prep Pick

LH to Hold Homecoming

By BOB BARTLETT

High school homecoming activities get off to an early start this year when Laurel crowns its king and queen following the Bears game with Crofton.

Friday's game, which starts at 7:30, will mark the fourth of eight Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference teams coach Bob Bozied's club will face. The Bears are 1-2 after dropping last week's first away game, 32-18 to Plainview.

The following Friday Oct. 3, Wakefield will host Wisner. Pilger and Winside will play Wausa in second of three weeks of homecoming games. On Oct. 10, Wayne takes on Madison and Allen plays Newark to roundout home coming activities for the five area schools.

Looking at the Bears' game, Laurel should rebound to topple Crofton and even the Bears' record at 2-2.

Last week it was the best for four in picking prep football games. That's the three I've done so far in three weeks of football action.

The only spoiler was Wakefield's 17-0 loss to Dodge. Otherwise, Winside beat Allen, Wayne defeated Wisner and Plainview toppled Laurel for the three right selections.

The right picks boost my record to 85, or 61 per cent. Because Wayne High is idle this week, again I'll have only four selections. Maybe this week I can up that average with these picks.

Winside over Hartington High. After last week's 26-6 trashing of Allen, coach Ron Peck's Wildcats should be hungry for another win. More important, Friday's match is key division game for the Lewis and Clark Conference champions.

Wakefield over Madison. Coach John Torcion's crew is much better than it showed in last week's 17-0 defeat of Ponca over Allen. Friday's home match for Allen marks the second of three straight toughies for coach Cliff Jorgensen.

Athlete Of The Week

BRAD BRUMMELS,
Winside High School

Winside High School's leading rusher and scorer is this week's "Athlete of the Week."

He is senior Brad Brummels who has rushed for 305 yards and three touchdowns, including two TD's and 115 yards Friday in Winside's 26-6 win over Allen.

Described by his coach as "determined," the hard-running halfback is close to bettering last year's 400 yards total he collected. One reason for his low mileage last season is that he was third in line behind such top running backs as Gregg Lade and Dwight Lienenmann. But Brummels has made it on his own now, the coaching staff pointed out.

In Winside's opener against Walthill, Brummels racked up 133 yards to lead the 'Cats to a 26-0 victory over Wynot.

The three-year letterman also is a mainstay on Winside's defense. Although no figures were available, Brummels has been tabbed by coaches as one of the leaders on the tackle charts as he plugs up the backfield.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Brummels of Winside, Brad also is a three-year letterman in wrestling and has lettered in track. While a sophomore, he won his 119 pound weight division in district wrestling and completed in the State tournament.

AH Volleyball Team Wins 2nd Loop Match

Allen's varsity volleyball team scored its second straight victory over a conference foe Tuesday night as the Eagle girls topped visiting Walthill in two sets, 15-9 and 15-7.

For coach Steve McManigal, Tuesday's win makes his club's record 2-0 in the Lewis division of the Lewis and Clark Conference and 2-2 overall.

Kris Young led her team with 11 serve points for both games while teammates Diane Witte and Cathy Smith played a strong floor game, McManigal pointed out.

McManigal aims to keep his win string alive when his club heads to the six team Newcastle tournament Monday night, Allen which drew a bye the first round, plays the winner of the Homer Wynot match at 8:30. The winner advances to semi final action Tuesday night in the two day tourney.

Other teams in the tournament are South Sioux City, Ponca and Newcastle.

Allen's reserve team suffered its second setback against no wins. After posting a 15-8 first set win, Allen fell 7-15 and 8-15.

June Stapleton led Allen serving with 10 points. Strong bumping game came from Sue Lanser and Kathy Malcom, the coach pointed out.

The C team evened its mark at 1-1 with a two set victory. The area team won 15-7 and 11-6. Cheryl Koch was tabbed as doing a good job.

Coed Spikers Take Tourney

It was a fine start for Wayne State volleyball women Saturday. They won the eight-team Northeast Technical Community College invitational tournament, and both of Wayne players earned all-tourney honors.

This trio of Kathy Johnson, Ithaca; Becky Kucera, North Bend; and Karen Heeney, Hubbard, took a strong role in Wayne's three victories.

Wayne defeated the host Northeast Hawkelets, 15-13, 9-15, 15-12. In the finals, with Deb Bishop of Fairport and Johnson, scoring 11 and 10 points for the Wildkittens.

In first-round action, Wayne downed Briar Cliff, 15-7, 15-13, then in the second round, beat Platt, 15-4, 14-16, 15-8.

Mount Marty claimed third place by defeating Hastings, 15-9, 15-7.

Also competing: Mid-Plains, SouthEast Tech.

Wayne coeds will make their home debut at 11 a.m. Saturday in Rice Gym against the University of Nebraska at Omaha, both varsity and reserves playing games. Monday evening Wayne goes to Columbus to meet the varsity and reserve match-ups.

Recreation FB Starts Tuesday For Both Loops

City recreation football starts Tuesday night for teams in the fifth and sixth, and seventh and eighth grade leagues.

Starting at 6:45 at the city ball park, the Blue team faces the Golds in fifth and sixth grade play. At 8:00 clock, the Blues and Golds tangle in seventh and eighth grade action.

Each league this year is made up of three teams. The White teams in both leagues remain idle next week, said recreation director Hank Overin.

Weekly league play will continue until Nov. 12 when players are selected for an all-star game. Overin noted.

A total of 86 boys are out for recreation football in grades five through eight, Overin added.

The revised recreation schedule is:

Monday and Thursday — Practice between 4 to 6 p.m. for seventh and eighth grade players. Tuesday — Practice for fifth and sixth grade boys who don't play in league action that night. Wednesday — Practice between 3:45 and 5:30 p.m. for third and fourth grade boys. Friday — Practice between 4 and 6 p.m. for fifth and sixth grade boys. Saturday — Practice from 10 to 11:45 a.m. for third and fourth grade boys.

Monday and Thursday — Practice between 4 to 6 p.m. for seventh and eighth grade players. Tuesday — Practice for fifth and sixth grade boys who don't play in league action that night. Wednesday — Practice between 3:45 and 5:30 p.m. for third and fourth grade boys. Friday — Practice between 4 and 6 p.m. for fifth and sixth grade boys. Saturday — Practice from 10 to 11:45 a.m. for third and fourth grade boys.

City Volleyball Gets Underway

The first night of weekly league action in city recreation volleyball was scheduled to get underway Wednesday night at the National Guard Armory.

Teams 1 and 2, and Team 4 and 5 were slated to battle each other beginning at 7 p.m. Teams 3 and 6 were scheduled to play at 8:15.

Winside VB Teams Topple Coleridge

Winside's varsity spikers pushed their record above the 500 mark Tuesday night with a home victory over Coleridge.

Sporting a 4-3 mark and its second win in the Clark division of the Lewis and Clark Conference, Winside dumped loop foe Coleridge, 15-6 and 15-8.

Tammy Gramberg led Winside serving with 14 of 15 aces in 10 and Cindy Thomas was 7-9.

"Our girls played a very good, hustling game," said coach Don Leighton. Leighton added that the strong floor game of Tami Koll, Barb Ritze and Gramberg along with the spiking of Jill Stenwall, Thomas and Albrecht kept his team in front the entire night one tie.

The B team won their third march in four outings after giving three sets. Winside, which only missed three serves, easily won the first set 15-7. Coed reserves Blankens hosts the second set, 0-15. Before Winside settled down to win, 15-13.

The C team won its second match in four contests. The scores were 15-6, 9-15 and 11-5.

Wayne Stays At No. Five

The top five teams, including fifth ranked Wayne High, maintained their positions in this week's Omaha World-Herald Class B prep football standings. Lincoln Plus X holds down the No. one spot with a 3-0 record, followed by York, 2-1 and Lexington, Columbus, Scotus and Wayne, all with 3-0 records.

In playoff district standings, Wayne is rated first with 47 points in district B.3, the Herald reported and close behind is Scotus and Hartington Cedar Catholic with 45.3 points each. Creighton is fourth with 40.3 points followed by Albion with 40.

Allen Jr High To Face Homer

Allen's junior high football team, under first-year coach Jim Knoolz, will seek its first win Monday at Homer.

Allen holds a 0-0-1 record after Friday and Winside tied 6-6 last Friday.

Guiding Allen's 23-player squad will be quarterback Lee Hanson. His backfield will be composed of Doug Oshenbr, Mark Koch, Kenny Hohenstein and possibly Greg Carr, who suffered a knee injury during the Winside game.

Sportsbeat

By Bob Barlett

THE LITTLE response I've received about the Herald sponsoring a girls' athlete of the week award leads me to believe that no one is really interested in having such a program.

Last week I asked readers to send in their comments, either for or against, about having a girls' award program separate from the regular Athlete of the Week award.

If I don't receive any response by next week, I'll drop the matter. But if you do have any remarks, let them down and send them to me. Make sure your name is signed. Your name will be withheld if requested.

MYSELF, I'm for the idea of a girls' weekly award. However, the program needs the full cooperation of all area coaches to make it a success. If coaches don't inform me about a girl they believe deserves the honor, then the program will fall flat on its face.

One reason I'm in favor of the award's program is to honor the school girls in their sports. Often, male athletes grab the sports spotlight because football is the prime sport this time of the year.

It's almost impossible to say that a girl playing volleyball did a better job than a boy playing football did in his. The two sports are no way alike.

I DON'T think Wayne High football coach Al Hansen was being pessimistic Monday about his team's chances of making the state playoffs. His views were more realistic.

Speaking to Wayne Kiwanis, Hansen said, Columbus Scotus has a better shot at winning the district, which includes Wayne, because strong Scotus plays more Class B teams. Scotus plays eight Class B teams and one Class C white. Wayne faces six Class B, two Class C and one Class A.

The final outcome of Wayne's chances for a playoff berth depends heavily on an undefeated season and the records of the teams the Devils play. Right now, Class South Sioux City — Wayne's first victim — is 0-2. South Sioux's future doesn't look any brighter. Of the two Class C teams, Emerson-Hubbard is sporting a 0-3 mark.

Hansen wasn't down on his team by any means during the talk. Wayne has a good chance of going undefeated during regular season play again this year.

Reason for his optimism: players' desire to win and their ability to show that they can win.

IF WAYNE goes undefeated again this year, they will have won their second straight West Husker Conference title. But Hansen is willing to give that up for a shot at the state playoffs.

If Wayne goes to the playoffs, Hansen said his team will bypass the Husker playoff in favor of a shot at the state title. Hansen said he would love to play for the Husker title and for a playoff title, but playing two games in one week would be too much.

The conference playoff is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 5. The first game of the playoffs is Friday of that week.

According to principal Don Zeiss, Wayne will know more about its standing about 31. Should the Devils win the West Husker and be invited to the playoffs, the second place team in the West Husker will represent the division in the center of a playoff.

"A Craft Show of Your Own" was the lesson given at the Thursday evening meeting of the TNT Extension Club, held at the Allen Fire Hall.

Officers, re-elected for the coming club year, are Mrs. Marilyn Karlberg, president; Mrs. Merle Ruback, vice president; Mrs. Emma Shortt, secretary; and Mrs. Lawrence Lindahl, treasurer.

Hostesses for the evening meeting were Mrs. Jim Warner and Mrs. Wilmer Bensjaid.

The group will meet today (Thursday) at 9 a.m. to clean the fire hall.

Bicentennial Observance

At their September meeting, members of the Allen Community Development Club voted to sponsor a Bicentennial Week to celebrate the nation's 200th birth date and the 85th anniversary of the village of Allen.

The celebration will begin Sunday, June 27, 1976, with an alumni association homecoming, and close Sunday, July 4. General chairman is Mrs. Sam Knepper.

Jr. High Gridders Blank Randolph

Halfback Jeff Zeiss ran for 144 yards and scored three touchdowns to lead Wayne's eighth grade gridirers to a 20-0 schlicking of visiting Randolph Tuesday.

Zeiss opened the game with a 76 yard scoring play then came back in the second half with jaunts of 16 and six yards for a pair of six pointers as the locals chalked up their first win against one tie.

Quarterback Jeff Dion found teammate Stuart Nissen in the endzone for the two point conversion following the final TD.

The final touchdowns each opened about 65 yards on a "good team effort," said coach Duane Blomkenf, adding that Riek Johnson did a good job of rushing. He finished the game with 39 yards.

Dan Mitchell led the defensive unit with nine tackles while Johnson had eight and Doug Hummel had six.

After a two week layoff, Wayne's eighth grade will host South Sioux City on Oct. 8 at 4 p.m.

From WH Spikers Cedar Takes Three

Hartington Cedar, Catholic took three matches from Wakefield teams Monday night at Hartington.

In two straight sets, Hartington handed Wakefield's varsity its second loss in six outings, 9-15 and 11-15. Junior Mary Prochaska led Wakefield at the net with 11 spikes for both games.

In reserve play, Hartington also went two sets to win, 15-4 and 15-11. The loss drops Wakefield's record to 2-2. The C team record falls to 1-3 after Wakefield went down in two sets, 8-15 and 5-15.

"We didn't play well and didn't have a whole lot of enthusiasm," which I guess means we're going to have to work a lot harder in practices," said Wakefield coach Ernie Kovar.

Wakefield takes the rest of the week off and heads into action Monday night against Walthill.

Two Hundred Bandsmen Perform Bicentennial Half Time Show

A splash of color dominated the Wisner-Pilger football field during halftime Friday night as the combined bands of Wayne and Wisner-Pilger High Schools treated football fans to a spectacular and timely Bicentennial halftime show during the Wayne-Wisner-Pilger game. Two hundred bandsmen under the precision direction of Ron Dalton,

Wayne and Jim Johnson, Wisner-Pilger, formed a shield, using stars and stripes borrowed from the University of Nebraska Music Department. Members of the W-P Junior High School Band and twirlers held the stars and stripes in place while the bands played "You're a Grand Old Flag." At the onset of the show, both bands marched out on the field playing "March America" and went into a USA formation to "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." The Bicentennial show closed with the finale "America The Beautiful." Both high school bands practiced together for the show on the Wisner-Pilger field Friday afternoon. Wisner-Pilger Music Boosters fed them supper on the field after the practice.

the football game between Wayne State and Doane College. The pre-game entry will take place at 6:35 p.m. Each band will have the opportunity to play then.

At half-time, guests bands, led by the 70-piece Wayne State College band, will return to the field for a brief Bicentennial program of "You're a Grand Old Flag," "Yankee Doodle Boy," "This is My Country," "America the Beautiful," and "God Bless America."

Visiting bands, in the order they will appear for the parade and the pre-game entrance Saturday evening are:

surrounding area, Linafelter said. While the services are available to anyone if it is determined the Wayne center is the best possible alternative, most people working and learning there are from northeast Nebraska.

The program has been fairly successful at South Sioux City, with several clients having developed skills to the point where they are now able to live independently and work at jobs which have taken them off the welfare list.

Progress has been slower at Wayne, Linafelter said, because of difficulty in finding suitable living situations. Usually about a dozen clients are being served at one time but more could be accepted if homes could be found.

"What is now needed are families willing to open their homes to clients in exchange for room and board payments, Linafelter explained, cautioned anyone from taking part solely for the money involved.

"We want families who would be willing to take the people to a football game when they go, rather than leaving them at home to watch television," he explained.

The family living situation is an important step on the road to independence for clients, Linafelter said. Without it developing necessary skills to live alone isn't likely to happen.

"That will mean the center won't be able to expand, Linafelter said, and many persons referred to the service who are from the local area will have to remain in institutions, because there isn't room for them in the community.

Teletype

has crime records and information throughout the nation.

Another advantage is in providing instant verification when local law agencies must request that other departments pick up someone wanted here.

"Many departments will no longer pick someone up on the basis of a telephone call," Fairchild said. "They must have the warrant in hand and that takes two or three days through the mail. But with the teletype, we can immediately confirm that a warrant has been issued and it's accepted. We consider it as valid as registered mail."

Captain Dwight Schamp, director of the State Patrol communications division, and a civilian dispatcher, Arnold Liska, arrived in Wayne Monday to teach dispatchers how to use the equipment.

Cap Schamp said the patrol began using the teletype system in 1968 because there was so much radio traffic officers in the field couldn't get a call through.

He said teletype has become popular with law enforcement agencies for that reason and he believes the Wayne police will find that true.

Fairchild said the service will also be available to the Wayne County sheriff's office and any other law enforcement officers in the area who need it.

In addition to training Wayne dispatchers Monday afternoon, Liska and Schamp have also been conducting a teletype course for 54 dispatchers from around northeast Nebraska. The day-long classes started Tuesday morning and are scheduled to end today (Thursday).

those who had very large ones. Costs were higher in some parts of the country than in others, were higher for white population and were higher for those in big incomes.

For the elderly, as would be expected, the health bill is especially high. Their out-of-pocket expenses averaged $415 per capita, as compared with $117 for those under age 65.

A breakdown of the $149 national average shows $34 of it going to doctors, $25 to dentists, $20 to hospitals, $39 for drugs and sundries and $31 for nursing home care and miscellaneous.

The total amount spent by Wayne County residents in the year, based upon the regional average, was approximately $1,376,000, it is estimated.

HEW reports that the overall health bill in the United States reached $10.4 billion, as against $94.2 billion in 1973.

Industry

town and their industry isn't wanted by a large part of the population, they sense it right away."

Establishing a good rapport with existing industry is also vital. "One of the first places an industrial prospect will go is to existing industry. They can make or break you."

The good agricultural base which exists in the Wayne area makes the community especially attractive to companies involved in processing agricultural products.

No in-depth survey is available on the potential labor supply but industry is more interested in projections concerning long-term availability. Elliot said, "They're interested in how many from the graduating class will stay in their home town if the jobs are there."

Another DED representative, Rod Musman said that on the surface, the availability of labor in Wayne looks good and the cost of hiring workers in the area is also attractive.

Housing in Wayne is tight right now, said DED field man Bill Martin. Especially short in supply is rental housing for the elderly and families with middle income.

Considered together, the above factors make Wayne attractive to industry but a well-planned, continuing program to job-backed off to see how things would go. The idea is to keep the town's name "out front." People must know the town is soliciting industry.

That has probably been Wayne's weak spot area in the past, according to Elliot: "Any program developed must be continuous."

"You can't get involved when you have a prospect coming in and then slow down if they pass you by."

It's obvious, because of the number of prospects which have looked at the town, that Wayne is attractive to industry, Elliot said.

This is a particularly good time to begin a comprehensive effort Elliot added. "The economy appears to be turning around. Many companies which backed off to see how things would go now forming expansion plans. But you have to let them know ahead of time that you want them. After somebody decides to pull a plant in another town, it's too late to talk to them."

EXTENSION NOTES

By Linda Sander

Fat Babies—Fat Adults?

Babies off to a fat start during their first year of life may grow up to be fat children and fat adults. And that isn't a very healthy prospect for an infant.

Research shows that the fat baby and fat child builds more fat cells than the normal-weight infant and child. Later, when weight is lost, the cells only get smaller. The same number of fat cells remains, making it easy to store fat again at a later date.

This is one reason why it's hard for the adult who has always been heavy to lose weight. Too little exercise, poor eating habits and heredity are other things that may help to keep an overweight person from losing weight.

It is easier to prevent than correct overweight. Are you a well-meaning mother who over- feeds infants by offering food when they cry? Babies cry for other reasons than just being hungry and it is better to search out that reason than to just stick a bottle in their mouth.

reward or when they're upset begin to perceive food as a way of meeting many needs.

If the misuse of food continues into childhood, as an adult he may continue to use food as a reward or as a comfort, as well as a way to meet physical needs.

As parents you should set good examples of eating. If you use food inappropriately, the child will see and do. Television, food ads, friends, family and schools can help or hinder eating habits.

Health Tips

If you have aches and pains, should you put off complicated tasks that require muscular coordination? Should you avoid making decisions when you have a headache?

The Nebraska Medical Association acknowledges that pain does affect your ability to function effectively. Studies show that even a mild headache affects your ability to think and reason. The more difficult a mental task, the more pain curtails ability to perform it.

OBSERVATIONS

Police to be commended

The Wayne police department moved into new offices Monday in the old Wayne Hospital building and it's quite an improvement over the old arrangement.

While facilities don't make or break a police force, adequate office space can certainly help make the operation more efficient and contribute to the morale of the employees.

The remodeling project itself is evidence of the spirit and cooperativeness of the Wayne department. Officers, dispatchers and family members contributed a total of 375 man-hours, to refurbish the space. Anyone familiar with the old headquarters knows that new space would have been needed sooner or later—and the sooner the better.

It isn't easy to compute the savings to the city represented by the contributed labor but it must be substantial. Tax payers owe the police department a hearty "thank you" for their efforts.—Jim Strayer.

One track mind.

In the 1860's, Americans wanted to put their young country on the right track.

After several years, much hard work, and lots of money from government securities bought by Americans, the golden spike was driven at Promontory Point, Utah, on May 10, 1869, the east coast linked with the west.

Today, over 9½ million

Americans are helping to keep this country together by buying United States Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where they work.

Get on the right track. Look into our Bicentennial issue of Series E Bonds. And buy them where you work or bank.

Series E Bonds are sold in increments of $25.00. The first year's interest is paid quarterly. Interest is compounded annually. The federal tax on the interest is deferred until maturity.

LINCOLN — State agencies dealing with history are to meet next week to discuss a 140-page preliminary report by a consulting group to catalog Nebraska's historic resources.

The report by Merrill Mattes, retired after 40 years with the National Park Service, includes recommendations for the development of historic areas and deals with the "inherent conflict of interest" between the State Game and Parks Commission and the Nebraska State Historical Society.

The keystone of the development, according to Mattes, should be what he calls the Great Platte River Road (GPRR)—the route, which cuts lengthwise across Nebraska, followed by the pioneers in their western migration in the last century.

"Historians now recognize that the bewildering variety of trails composed actually one basic system or network, all united along the Platte River. This grand convergence of all historic routes has led to the dynamic concept of one embracing title—the Great Platte River Road," Mattes said.

He proposes, as a Bicentennial project, a series of 12 historic units stretching from east to west providing the twentieth century traveler with information about the "tourists" of a 100 years ago.

Here is a rundown of the historic areas Mattes suggests:

- Rock Creek Station, an Oregon Trail post in Jefferson County.
- Coast of Nebraska, a point near Kenesaw where the Oregon Trail meets the Platte, which Mattes said looked like the sea to pioneers in days when there were few trees on the prairie.
- Fort Kearney, the so-called Gateway, to the Great Plains because all the trails converge in the Kearney County area.
- California Crossing, a point in Keith County where the trails crossed the South Platte and headed north.
- Ash Hollow, the site in Garden County of a 19th Century "first stop" and the Blue Water Battlefield.
- Narcissa Whitman, an area in Morrill County with a vista of the trail landmarks Mattes has named after one of the first white women to cross the plains.
- Court House Rock, another spot in Morrill County important to the wagon trains.
- Mud Springs, a pony express and stage station and battle site south of Bridgeport in Morrill County.
- Jackson Panorama, another Morrill County site, offering a vista made famous in a sketch by William Jackson.
- Chimney Rock, also in Morrill County.

one of the most famous of the wagon train landmarks.

—Rodbou Pass, in Scotts Bluff County, by near the National Monument and the first pass used in the area.

—Horse Creek Treaty, near the Wyoming border in Scotts Bluff County, and the site of a famous conflict between the army and the plains Indians in 1851.

Mattes said some of the spots may be grouped geographically, but that is the fault of history, not favoritism on his part, he said.

He also proposes development of interpretive displays and exhibits at the rest stops along the interstate highway, which Mattes said he would like to have identified in the tourist's mind as the Great Platte River Road.

The rest stop displays, he said, wouldn't interfere with the controversial sculptures scheduled for the same areas. He said he is neutral on the sculpture issue. "In any event, it is doubtful that futuristic art on the perimeter would offer any significant competition with GPRR interpretation at or near the rest room walls," he said.

Some of the developments in the GPRR project would be new historical units in Nebraska—the state already has done at least some development at the other five.

Mattes said there are only three other historical sites in Nebraska not set aside for development that he would consider eligible for adding.

One is Lewis and Clark encampment area and prehistoric Indian site in Nebraska's southeastern tip.

The other two are in Omaha—a missionary's camp known as the Moses Merrill Mission near LaPlatte in Sarpy County and a trading establishment north of the Mormon Bridge known as Cabbane's Post.

Mattes said the conflicts between the Game Commission and the Historical Society over which should be in charge of some of these historic developments must be solved.

He also looked at the development of some other Nebraska historic resources.

For Robinson, he said, deserves to be considered as the "crown jewel" of the Nebraska state park system. For Robinson offers potential, according to Mattes, for a major museum to tell the "epic story" of the Missouri River, but he said it would be wasteful to try to reconstruct the old army post there.

Mattes said it isn't realistic to promote the George Norris home in McCook for operation by the federal National Park Service.

Food stamps called 'a haven for chislers'

The federal food stamp program is reeling under the heaviest barrage of criticism since its inception more than a decade ago. Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon, in a recent speech, called the program "a well-known haven for chislers and rip off artists."

Carl B. Williams, a top official of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare also said recently, "In effect, the government is giving away billions of dollars with virtually no control."

What began as a well-intentioned program in 1962 at a cost of less than $1 million a year has mushroomed into a gigantic giveaway. This year $6.6 billion in stamps will be distributed to nearly 20 million Americans under a system which is failing to make sure that the money goes to citizens who really need it.

Obviously, reform is long overdue, and the Agriculture Committees of Congress have promised investigations and reform. One logical starting point, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States contends, is elimination of food stamps for strikers.

The Chamber has been carrying on a fight for years against use of taxpayers' funds to help finance strikes.

A step in the right direction was taken by Caspar W. Weinberger in one of his last acts as HEW secretary when he proposed a new regulation barring federal welfare aid to strikers in states where strikers are not eligible for unemployment benefits. The Chamber urged HEW to adopt the proposed rule.

By any measure, food stamps are another form of financial aid to strikers at taxpayers' expense. Surveys show that during an auto workers' strike several years ago more than 40 percent of the strikers in the state of Michigan were receiving food stamps.

Dispensing food stamps and welfare to strikers, the Chamber maintains, undermines the collective bargaining process by upsetting the natural balance of power between management and labor unions.

Thus, strikes are prolonged often at the expense of consumers.

Somehow a careful union action, and unions should pay strike benefits, not the taxpayers.

Consumers pay twice when public funds are used to subsidize strikers once when their taxes pay the cost of food stamps or direct welfare and once again when they purchase goods that reflect the cost of higher wage settlements.

So many abuses exist in the food stamp program that it is nearly impossible to list them all. A national scandal is brewing and it is only a matter of time before the program gets completely out of control and new schemes are devised to exploit its weakness. Contributed by U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Out of Old Nebraska

OUT OF OLD NEBRASKA

The adage that an army "travels on its stomach" may not be entirely true. There are other important factors—"the impredictables of war" that General Ulysses S. Grant spoke of, yet, army "chow" is always on the soldier's mind.

In 1888 at the summer Nebraska Guard camp at Wahoo, a new mess set up was introduced. "For the first time in the military history of the State the rations were furnished the men and they were required to cook for themselves instead of being furnished commutation of rations as heretofore. The main trouble with this plan was the difficulty of the commissary department to obtain sufficient supply of rations, owing to the limited market at Wahoo. After the commissary department was thoroughly organized, however, but little trouble was experienced by those companies whose officers personally attended to the requisitions."

Brigadier General L. W. Colby in the "Biennial Report of the Adjutant General," 1887-88, on file in the Nebraska State Historical Society, thought the plan a qualified success.

Within this report, however, was that of Surgeon General M. W. Stove and his subordinates, Claude Watson and F. D. Halderman, all of whom commented adversely on the problems of the new plan of obtaining rations and cooking. Watson said that while the food was plain, wholesome, and fairly substantial, "it would seem to me (that) at future encampments the state should provide food, cooks, and make all other arrangements which pertain to the culinary and mess departments."

Halderman reported: "The rations are of sufficient quantity and variety. The diet is not suitable and I would recommend that the quartermaster furnish the food, cooks, and make all other arrangements which pertain to the culinary and mess departments."

The camp itself was located about a mile from Wahoo and occupied about eighty acres of meadow land. It was named Camp Sheridan in honor of General Philip Sheridan, late commander of the U.S. Army.

The infantry regiments were encamped in the center, the artillery on the left, and the cavalry on the right. The ground sloped gently to the north. The headquarters tents of the state adjutant general and staff occupied headquarters to the west of the commanding general's headquarters about one thousand yards distant and on an eminence above the entire camp. The company streets extended down the slope to the north, at the extremity of which were placed the mess tents and kitchens.

The basic arm of the guardsmen was the Springfield rifle, calibre .45, those of the 1st Regiment with a safety notch, those of the 2nd regiment without. Only a year previously the 1st had .45 calibre muskets with McKeever cartridge boxes, the 2nd was equipped with the "old .50 calibre muskets and cartridge box, a great portion of which had been condemned."

City sidewalks need improving

Dear Editor

Yesterday as I was driving through the downtown area, I turned my head just in time to see an elderly lady stumble and nearly fall after catching her foot on a piece of raised sidewalk.

I held my breath as she struggled to break her fall, fearing a broken hip or other injury. I'm sure she had this same fear.

Perhaps something could be done to repair these poor sidewalk areas.

The Rev. Robert L. Johnson officiated and pallbearers were Jimmy Woodward, Richard Houston, Harold Murray, Terry Potter, Richard Potter and Kerry Hanson. Burial was in Eastview Cemetery, Allen.

The daughter of Emil and Martha Lehman Guern, she was born May 2, 1892, at Concord. On Aug. 13, 1912, she was united in marriage to Ralph Isom of Wayne. She had lived in the Dixon area all her life, except for a short time in Minnesota. She is preceded in death by her husband in 1972 and a sister, Mrs. Joe (Hattie) Bennett. Survivors include one son, Wallace of Duval, Wash.; two daughters, Mrs. Earl (Rachel) McCaw of Allen, and Mrs. Earl (Netta) Potter of Concord; 11 grandchildren; 23 great grandchildren, one brother, Arnold Guern of Laramie, Wyo., and two sisters, Mrs. Eliza Isom and Mrs. Erich (Eva) Larson, both of Concord.

Edward C. Grubb
Edward C. Grubb of Wayne died Monday at the Providence Medical Center, Wayne, at the age of 76 years. Funeral services were to have been held Wednesday at the Grace Lutheran Church, Wayne.

The Rev. John Ulander and the Rev. Jack Schneider officiated. Honorary pallbearers were Alfred Sydow, Robert Sievers, Herbert Kai, Stanley Anderson, Chris Tietgen, Henry Reithwisch, Ross James, Lee Caawwe, T.P. Roberts, Dr. R.E. Gormley, Everett Roberts, Roy Langemeyer, Charles Sieckmann, Marvin Dunklau, Ed Weber, Arnold Mau, Robert Anderson, Emil Hogen, John Burns, August Longe, Kenneth Oids and Lyle Marot.

Serving as active pallbearers were Clark Kai, Donald Kai, Ronald Mann, Richard Kai, Roy Kai and Charles McGuire. Burial was in the Wakefield Cemetery.

The son of George and Nora Chambers Grubb, he was born Sept. 23, 1898, at Wakefield. He spent his youth at Loveland, Colo., and then in the Pender area. He was a member of the United States Army during World War I.

In 1926 he was united in marriage to Linda Kai at Council Bluffs, Ia. The couple lived in Chicago and Milwaukee and returned to the Wayne area, where they farmed. In 1947 they moved into Wayne.

He was one of the original members of the Wayne County REA, a member of the Wayne American Legion and VFW and a member of Grace Lutheran Church of Wayne.

He is preceded in death by three brothers. Survivors include his widow, two sons, Gayle of Seal Beach, Calif., and Jerry of Omaha; five grandchildren, and one sister, Ada McGuire of Pender.

Business notes...

Gordon Nedergaard, of Wayne was among nearly 80 Lutheran Brotherhood district representatives who attended a sales conference Sept. 19-20 at the Pama Inn in Des Moines, Ia.

Nedergaard is a member of the Mike Johnson Agency head quartered in Sioux City. Members of six Lutheran Brotherhood agencies in six states attended the meeting. Seminars were held dealing with new services and products.

Planning July 3 Reunion

The Wakefield Alumni Association has selected July 3, 1976, as the date for the Wakefield High School alumni banquet and dance.

Mrs. Kenneth Schroeder, chairman of the association, said that next year's gathering would be an informal barbecue and dance outdoors at the Sampson Acres on the north edge of Wakefield.

The Minneapolis-based fraternal insurance society, those attending were addressed by Rev. Louis Volbrecht, St. John's Lutheran Church, Des Moines, and Arley R. Bjella, Lutheran Brotherhood chairman of the Board and chief executive.

Corn Borer Damage Is Noted

Northeast Nebraska surveys by John Witkowski, extension entomologist, indicate corn harvested for grain may show significant yield loss in 1975 due to high populations of European corn borer.

There are two distinct generations of corn borers per year in Nebraska. Damage by first-generation borers occurs in late June-early July, and usually causes the greatest reduction in yield, since the plants are attacked in an earlier stage of development.

Damage shows as leaf feeding and later on as stalk tunneling and subsequent stalk breakage. However, populations of second-generation borers warrants greatest concern now since damage is becoming increasingly apparent and farmers are beginning to decide the order in which to harvest their corn fields. Significant damage will be in dropped and damaged ears and broken stalks resulting from the borers seeking over-wintering sites by tunneling in the ear shank and stalk.

Surveys show high borer populations exist in Dixon, Cedar, Knox and northern Wayne Counties. Isolated corn fields in other northeast Nebraska counties may also be supporting high borer populations.

Witkowski recommends that farmers assess corn fields individually for corn borer activity and harvest most severely damaged fields first. Damage may be assessed by splitting several corn stalks lengthwise from the tassel to ground level with a knife and counting the number of corn borer larvae and observing the condition of the stalk. Particular attention should be paid to the condition of the ear shank by splitting it also and looking for corn borer. Tunneling in the ear shank will increase chances of ear drop as the plant dries down and a harvest loss will occur.

Witkowski further recommends that concerned growers watch winter meeting schedules as published by their respective county agents where additional information on corn borer control and damage will be available.

The Service Station
CWO4 Neal Olson and his wife, Carol, have returned to their home in San Diego, Calif., after spending a week in Concord in the home of Olson's mother, Mrs. Glenn Rice.

Olson, who will remain at San Diego as a naval instructor, completed a seven month tour of duty in the far east while on board the U.S.S. Durham, which helped to evacuate 1000's of South Vietnam refugees.

WSC, Television Offering Classes

Again this term Wayne State College is cooperating with NETCNE (Nebraska Education at Television Council for Higher Education) to provide college courses through educational television.

The two courses being offered by Wayne State and NETCNE this term are "Classic Theatre" a two hour course in British Theatre beginning today (Thursday), and "The Ascent of Man," a two hour course in history which begins Sunday, Sept. 28.

The cost for each of the courses, tuition, books, fees and all course materials included, is $55. Each of the courses revolves about 13 hour long television programs.

"Classic Theatre" is the study of 13 classics of the British stage. One play will be presented each Thursday at 8 p.m. and will be preceded by an introduction by one of several noted scholars at 7:30 p.m.

The plays include "Macbeth," by Shakespeare; "Paradise Restored," a dramatization of John Milton's later life by Don Taylor; "Candide," by Voltaire; Henrik Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" and "The Wild Duck" and "Mrs. Warren's Profession," by Shaw.

This course will be conducted primarily by correspondence, although conference with the instructor, Dr. Gilbert Vaughn, at Wayne State, will be welcome.

"The Ascent of Man" course, based on the BBC television series featuring the late scientist Jacob Bronowski, will be supplemented by a text, study guide and discussion with a campus instructor. The programs will be shown at 9 p.m. each Sunday, with a repeat at 11 p.m. each following Thursday.

Registration details are available from Dr. C. Don Keck, director of continuing education at Wayne State College.

UN-L Veterinary Chairman To Retire

Dr. Marvin J. Twiehaus has announced that he will be stepping down as chairman of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln veterinary science department. He has asked to be relieved as chairman on Jan. 1 or as soon after as a replacement can be found.

He will remain in the department as a veterinary science professor until he retires on June 30, 1976, after serving 12 years on the NU staff.

Concurrent with Twiehaus' announcement, a search committee for the new veterinary science department chairman is being set up this month, according to Dr. Howard Ofstos, acting vice chancellor for agricultural resources.

Nominations for a new chairman should be sent to Ofstos. Twiehaus decided to make the early move, he said, because he feels the new chairman should have a hand in choosing staff members to fill positions that have become vacant and positions created by the building of a new animal health research complex.

Twiehaus was instrumental in getting funds allowed for the four-building complex, which will replace facilities built in the 1920's.

"He's done a tremendous amount of work in getting the support of livestock producers out in the state for these new buildings," commented one of Twiehaus' contemporaries, professor Norman Underdahl. "He's been a driving force in just about everything he's undertaken." Underdahl added, "One of his major contributions has been getting the money for our call scours research and getting the work set up." That research led to the development of a vaccine now used nation wide for one type of call scours.

Twiehaus also directed studies at NU that produced a quick test for diagnosing hog cholera, which in turn led to the eradication of hog cholera in the U.S.

Dr. Twiehaus, a native of Levasy, Mo., attended the University of Missouri for one year before transferring to Kansas State University and receiving his D.V.M. degree in 1936. He received his M.S. degree from KSU in 1950. Twiehaus is also a board member of the American College of Veterinary Microbiologists and of the American College of Veterinary Pathologists.

Prior to coming to NU, he worked for the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Federal government, served in the U.S. Army, established a private practice, and served on the KSU staff.

Past honors include the National Borden Award for research in cattle diseases, the KSU distinguished award in veterinary medicine, the Nebraska specific pathogen free (SPF) swine award, and earlier this year the national SPF award for leadership and promotion of SPF swine.

He has served on both state and national SPF advisory committees and is now on the federal government Hog Cholera Eradication Committee.

Twiehaus is also active in the American and Nebraska veterinary medical associations, the U.S. Animal Health Association and the Conference of Research Workers.

4-H Youths Attend Meet

Dixon County 4-Hers attended a meeting on Sept. 24 at the Northeast Station near Concord in conjunction with a three state 4-H study which began last May. The study, sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, was designed to learn about the effectiveness of the 4-H program in teaching project skills and developing positive 4-H member attitudes about the project. Nebraska was one of three states included in the study with each state contributing twelve counties.

The 265 youth enrolled in either the beef, clothing, or photography projects who attended county meetings last

May returned for a meeting throughout the three states during September. The boys and girls who completed the study received a certificate of appreciation from the State 4-H Department.

Dixon County youth who attended the September 24th meeting were Kevin Griffin, Gregg and Beth Gunderson, and Rusty Harder, all of Ponca; Anna Borg of Dixon, Debi and Greg Meyer, and Mark and Ann Muller, all of Wakefield; Lyle Borg, Michelle and Darcy Harder, Kahl Stohler, Mary Helman, and Diana Rhodes, all of Concord; Cathy Sachau of Allen, and Colleen Mackey of Laurel.

This and That... from YOUR COUNTY AGENT

Don't Fertilizer Trees Now
This is not a good time to apply nitrogen fertilizer to trees and shrubs. If your trees need fertilizing wait until later in the fall when the leaves have fallen and just before freeze up. The fertilizer will then be ready to work next spring.

The application of nitrogen fertilizer in late summer and early fall tends to stimulate new growth which will not have time to harden off before winter. The result is winter kill.

DON C. SPITZER
WAYNE COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

Fertilize Bluegrass Now
Now is the ideal time to fertilize cool season lawn grasses such as bluegrass. During the cool months of September, October and early November, cool season lawns develop under ground roots and stems.

During this time, food reserves are stored to grass can better withstand winter weather and begin growth in the spring.

Grass usually shows the most response to nitrogen fertilizer. Complete fertilizers which contain nitrogen, phosphorus and potash are most effective when used in the fall.

An application of one to one and one half pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet is sufficient. An application rate of five pounds of 20-10-10 per 1,000 square feet of lawn area will then furnish one pound of nitrogen 10-6-4 fertilizer would require a 3-10-5 would require a 20 pound rate.

Most fertilizers should be applied when grass blades are dry. Water the lawn thoroughly immediately after the application. Fertilizers which contain broad leaf weed killers should not be watered for one or two days after application.

Prune Maples While Leaves Are Still on Tree
It is far better to do any limb removal needed on your maples while the leaves are still on the tree rather than to wait until the normal time of later winter when most trees are pruned.

Maples bleed less at this time of year and the wounds will heal better if limb removal is done now.

Maple sap is collected for the making of maple syrup. In later winter and early spring for a good reason. At that time of year the sap flow is very active and will explain why it would not be a good time to remove large branches.

Treat all wounds with wound dressing to insure better healing.

Swine Shed Uses Solar Heat

Although it looks like half a church under construction, it's doubtful that its inhabitants will be religiously inclined.

The long, low structure with a high pitched roof over one end is a swine building at the University Field Laboratory, being remodeled to use solar energy for heating.

The building is one that already existed as a modified open front swine finishing unit, open to the south during the summer but completely enclosed in the winter by a string of overhead doors.

Six pens in the building will be solar heated, explains NU agricultural engineering professor Norm Teter. The high, sloping roof over that end will house the solar collector panels, condensers and insulation. Each 3 feet by 6 feet solar panel can heat an approximate area of 6 feet by 6 feet, Teter says.

Another six pens will be operated normally as a control to be compared with the solar heated part of the building.

"We'll be comparing how much energy is saved by using solar heat, and we'll also look at how the pigs perform under this system," the ag engineer indicates. "We hope to see how economical it would be for swine producers to remodel their existing hog houses."

Dr. James DeShazer, also an ag engineering professor, estimates the cost of the entire heating system at $5 to $15 per square foot of solar collector, and we're striving for the $5 figure," he adds. "We hope to recover this cost not only in energy conservation but also in increased pig performance."

The study of the use of solar energy is being funded by a $30,000 research agreement, approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, with DeShazer and fellow ag engineer Larry L. Olson.

Besides analyzing solar energy use in this building, the university workers plan to look at the effect of insulating the concrete block walls to reduce heat loss. They also will see if the incoming air can be warmed with the heat given off in condensing water from exhaust air.

Although the remodeling process is still underway, a set of pigs was moved in this month (September), and will be used in nutritional studies by the animal science department. The ag engineers hope the solar heating system will be completed before cold weather when they will begin collecting information using the pigs on test.

Economist Predicts Strong Hog Market

Pork supplies expected to be down 20 to 25 percent over a year ago point to a very strong hog market during the balance of 1975. A University of Nebraska Lincoln extension economist predicts.

Dr. Allen Wellman believes that producers, riding on the crest of an increase from $39.75 a hundred weight (cwt) paid the first week of April for barrows and gilts to $63 in mid September, can expect good to excellent returns for the next several months.

Wellman sees the sharp decrease in pork supplies as the dominant factor in the continuation of relatively high prices during the last part of the year. Influences on the market which should have a dampening effect on hog prices in coming weeks.

Competition from larger beef supplies and more plentiful broilers, along with steady consumer resistance to retail pork prices, may push hog prices downward from the $60-$63 range for barrows and gilts at seven midwestern terminal markets in mid September to the $53 to $55 range by the end of October.

A projected 10 to 12 percent increase in fourth quarter cattle slaughter, including a sizable increase in volume of lower grade beef from cows and light heifers, could contribute to a weakness in hog prices at year's end.

However, Wellman pointed out that even if the fourth quarter average on barrows and gilts at principal midwestern markets would drift downward to near $50, this level of hog prices would still yield favorable returns to hog producers.

The current market situation continues a pattern of fluctuation and uncertainty characterizing the hog market for the past few months, he explains. Emphasizing this uncertainty is the possibility that the predicted live hog price range late in 1975 could deviate from $35.50 cwt either way.

Wellman said that "one can only guess at producers' response to the current situation in which returns from hog operations are probably the most favorable on record, following a dramatic upturn in the past three months."

Past production responses from hog raisers will not be a very helpful guide in projecting pork price levels for 1976. Wellman declared. While some increase in sow farrowings in the December-February quarter is fairly certain, along with a larger hike in farrowings in the March-May quarter, the increase will be tempered by the uncertainty of corn and supplement prices, he analyzed.

With current corn prices relatively high, "producer strategy" may be to sell cash corn rather than use it as an input for swine production in the months ahead.

The cost of feed after the harvest is completed will be a strong influence and an indicator of what hog producers will plan to do in 1976.

It is expected that fairly large supplies of beef and poultry will balance off a small supply of pork in 1976 and continue to restrain hog price increases. Wellman said. But improving general economic conditions will have a positive influence on consumer demand for pork he added.

4-H CLUB

Hi Raters
The Hi Raters Girls 4-H Club met Sept 11 at the Grace Lutheran Church. Eleven members answered roll with what their favorite project has been this year. Judy Langemeier is a new member.

Members planned a 4-H Fall lawn party for Oct 30 at 8 p.m. Serving were the Jerry Dorcays and the Merlin Heine mans.

The next meeting will be Dec 11 at the Grace Lutheran Church. Pam Maier, news reporter.

Dad's Helpers
Dad's Helpers 4-H Club members and their families met Sept 15 at the Northeast Station, near Concord, for a polluck supper.

Following the supper, a business meeting was held. Members discussed filling out record books. All must be turned in to Marvin Hartman by Sept. 25.

The next meeting, Oct. 20, will be the organizational meeting for 1976. Monte Mason, Randy Bloom and Terry Rhodes will give talks on their projects. Ted Roy Hansens and the Ted Gunner boys will serve lunch.

Gary Kessinger, news reporter.

Springbranch
Members of the Springbranch 4-H Club and their families met at the Melvin Meierhenry home and dam Sept 21 for a winner roast.

Perpetual calendars were given to the graduating members. Kent Whittier, Randy Kleensang, Rennee Puls, Patty Mann and Merwyn Strate.

Mrs. Dennis Puls handed out canning booklets to the girls enrolled in food preservation projects. Mrs. Harold Whittier reported on the last 4-H club council meeting which was held at Wayne Club members plan the "I Know Your Heritage" project for 1976.

Cold Storage Is Simple Way to Store Produce

The simplest form of storage for your prolific fall garden produce is cold storage. Freezing, canning, pickling and drying, are other methods of preservation but each with your own garden surplus.

If kept cool and moist, carrots, parsnips, beets, potatoes, salsify, turnips, and kohlrabi will keep for months in a warmer, dryer climate you can keep winter squash, pumpkins and onions.

Apples stored in a cool moist atmosphere will keep indefinitely, but do not store apples with potatoes and carrots. Apples give off ethylene gas in storage. This gas makes potatoes sprout and carrots get bitter.

Bartlett pears, some peaches, grapes, and honeydew melons will keep for a month in cool humid storage. Cauliflower and broccoli will also keep for a month if stored at 32 degrees Fahrenheit. The latter should be stored in a separate room because of the odor emitted during storage.

Sweet potatoes, pumpkin and winter squashes need 50 to 60 degrees F. temperatures and low humidity. The root cellar needs to be over 32 degrees F., but less than 38 degrees F. The root cellar should be well ventilated, high in humidity (80 percent), and dark. Potatoes will turn green if exposed to the light and carrots may resprout.

The old farm house that had a root cellar or cave with a dirt floor was ideal for storage. The worst problem was keeping rodents out of the area.

One of the neatest ways to conserve resources is to reuse discarded refrigerator shells or freezer shells for storage. Take the locking device off before using these for food storage. The cabinet can be sunk in the ground six inches below the ground level and filled with garden produce for good winter eating. The outside of the cabinet could be treated with asphalt to protect it. A mulch layer over the lid will protect it from freezing up during the winter months. Be sure to choose a location where the snow won't drift over the storage area.

U.S.D.A. News

Nebraska Soybean Stocks
Nebraska soybean producers and handlers had 1,957,000 bushels of soybeans on hand Sept 1.

This total is 22 per cent greater than last year and third highest of record, which was set in 1969 and 1970. Growers had 3,427,000 bushels on hand which was a record high and 18 per cent above 1974. AUI and elevators had 3,430,000 bushels, which was 67 per cent higher than last year but well below the 1969 record carryover.

Soybean Stocks
Carryover of old crop soybeans into the 1975 marketing year totaled 186 million bushels on Sept 1. The soybean carryover is the third largest of record, exceeded only by 1967 and 1970. 221 million and 230 million bushels, respectively. The September 1 stocks are 9 per cent more than last year and 3 times the September 1, 1973 stocks.

Soybeans stored on farms totaled 76 million bushels, the largest Sept 1 on farm carryover of record. This is 18 per cent more than last year and eight times the small 1973 carryover.

Off farm stocks at 110 million bushels were three per cent higher than September 1, 1974 and more than double two years earlier.
