School Board Requests New Track Bids

Members of the Wayne-Carroll board of education Monday night decided to ask for revised bids on construction of a proposed track and football facility.

The initial bids from Ote Construction of Wayne and Christiansen Construction of Pender, were rejected Sept. 18 as costing more than the funds available through a sinking bond fund.

Lynn Jones, representative of the architectural firm responsible for the track design, indicated Monday night that alterations to the bid specifications would probably result in bringing the cost in line with the approximate $100,000 available.

Jones said he had contacted Christiansen Construction, apparent low bidder during the first round bidding, to get an idea of how alterations would affect price. Changes in the bid specifications include reducing from four to three inches the thickness of a leveling layer of asphalt under the track surface, and a reduction in the thickness of the rolled rock layer which will form the track base. It was also proposed by a subcontractor that a standard rock aggregate used by the State Department of Roads be used, resulting in saving the cost of labor to set up new rock sieves.

Because of the relative closeness of the original bids—about a $2,000 difference on the $100,000-plus project, the board voted to ask both Christiansen and Ote to participate in bidding for the project under the revised specifications. A special meeting is set for Oct. 16 to open the bids.

A $19,915 bid from Ron Wreidt was accepted, for citizen band radios for school buses. That amount will provide mobile units in six buses, a base station at Wayne High School and all necessary maintenance and noise control equipment needed for the communications system. Superintendent Francis Haun said all known qualified radio vendors and servicemen in the Wanted: Families To Host Students Living in U.S.

The Wayne American Field Service chapter is looking for a host family who will house a student from within the United States.

The student, who will be living with the family while attending classes at Wayne High School for a six-month period, will be part of the AFS's new domestic program, approved by the school board Monday.

Purpose of the program is to give high school students living in the U.S. a chance to live in other parts of the country and to learn about other people, said Mrs. Max Lundstrom, secretary of the Wayne AFS chapter.

The program is designed so that a student will attend classes from January to June. Students taking part in the new program will be expected to pay for their travel expenses.

Mrs. Lundstrom said that the program will start in January if a host family can be found.

Families interested in hosting a student should contact Mrs. Herbert Nieman of rural Wayne.

High school principal Don Zeiss will be taking on an extra chore for about nine weeks this winter. Heun told the board no qualified girls basketball coach could be found among the school faculty and Zeiss agreed to serve as mentor for the new team, on a one-time basis only, if the board would approve.

The premiere season of girls basketball will cover about a nine-week period, with four games scheduled. Zeiss has had basketball coaching experience before becoming a school administrator.

The board agreed to allow Zeiss to coach the team setting the salary for this year at the step four on the coaching salary scale, amounting to $400 for the year.

Commissioners Sign Application For Law Enforcement Funding

Wayne County commissioners Tuesday approved a request for federal and state funds to finance the first year of a county-wide law enforcement project.

The communities of Winside, Carroll and Hoskins have signed contracts in which they agree to pay $9 a year per person for police protection provided by the county sheriff's office.

If received, the grant will provide funds for the hiring and equipping of three additional deputies and a clerk. Total cost for the first year would be $60,567. Of that amount, $48,907 would come from federal sources, $3,028 from the state government and $8,631 from local taxes.

Salaries for the three additional deputies and one clerk would account for $30,972 of the total, with the rest being allocated for equipment.

Equipment purchases would include three patrol vehicles, and duty equipment for the deputies $19,000, and a communications system including three new radio units, a base radio and two hand radios, $10,594.

County clerk Norris Weibie said it is difficult to guess how long it will be before a final decision on the request is received. Reviewing agencies in order of progression are A 95 Council of Governments reviewing agency in Norfolk, Division of Communications, State Department of Administrative Services, Region 11 and 25 Crime Commission, and the State Crime Commission.

The county board also heard a report from six members of the Sheriff's Commission.

Allen Petition Halts Proposed Street Work

A proposed four block paving district in Allen was petitioned over during Monday night's town board meeting.

Opponents of the newly created paving district presented the board a 10th enough signatures of persons whose property joins the district that the board has agreed to drop the scheduled four blocks of paving, storm sewers and curb and gutters.

"The village board of trustees wish to make it clear to all people concerned that we are not trying to push something off on to someone. Our purpose in proposing this was to make an effort to improve the town of Allen as a whole. But because it appears that people don't want to do this, we are going to drop it," said board member Ken Linaleifer.

Members noted that the present milling of the village streets over the next 15 years could cost about $2,000 more than the figured cost of paving.

In a hearing on Monday night the board agreed the laying of a new four inch water line to service the eastern part of town. The present water line tends to freeze up during the winter.

Phipps Plumbing and Heating of four blocks of paving, storm sewers and curb and gutters.

Members also filed an application with Old West Regional District in Omaha for a used maintenance. If the request is granted, the maintainer will be on loan for two years. Cost to the town will be for insurance and transporting the machinery.

The board also okayed hiring Darrell Rhoete of Rhode Construction Co. of Allen for four blocks of street work. No cost figure was given.

Kids Are Thrilled by Move to New School

Students in school District 57 were probably a bit more bright and enthused than usual when they began another week of learning Monday, but it isn't every day that kids move into a bright new modern schoolhouse.

The new steel and brick building, located four miles south of Wayne, just west of Highway 15, was financed through a $95,000 bond issue approved unanimously in a special election on July 22.

Volunteers from the seven former districts which now comprise District 57 finished moving furnishings into the new building Sunday afternoon. Districts involved in the consolidation were 8, 19, 34, 40, 49, and 88.

Approval for the merger was given by Wayne County's special reorganization committee, overriding a state school reorganization committee vote against the merger.

The new school includes bathrooms, a multi-purpose room, storage rooms, a teachers lounge, a room for the central heating and three classrooms. Teachers are kindergarten through second grade, Mrs. Cliff Peters; third through sixth grades, Mrs. Gloria Leseberg and seventh and eighth grades, Mrs. Virginia Koll. Enrollment is 48.

The 60 X 75 foot steel building has an attractive brick facade front. Appointments in the classrooms include carpeting, acoust

Road Hearing Site Selected

The Wayne State College Student Center has been selected as the site of the State Department of Roads hearing on Oct. 20.

The hearing, which will begin at 7:30 p.m., will be held to hear testimony concerning proposed improvements on Highway 15 from Wayne, north for about 10 miles.

Fluorescent lighting, wash basins and walls paneled in special material which allows the use of masking tape to attach decorations and teaching aids.

Mrs. Peters said students were so thrilled about attending their first day in the new building Monday that many arrived early. The enthusiasm was still apparent Tuesday morning.

Most students cite the bright orange carpeting as what they like best about their new school. Mrs. Peters said that in addition to providing a brighter setting than the students were accustomed to, the carpeting, in combination with the special ceiling and wall materials, helps hold down the noise level in the

A pops concert is scheduled for Oct. 14 at Ramsey Theatre in the Wayne State College Vail Peterson Fine Arts Center.

Featured will be the Wayne State concert band, jazz band, and Ragtime Ensemble, under the direction of Dr. Raymond Kelton, director. The program will include numbers from "The Entertainers" to selections from the movie "Shogun" as well as jazz and rock music by the jazz band.

The concert is part of the week of activities scheduled for Wayne State College Wildcat Day, Oct. 12-18.

No admission will be charged for the 8 p.m. performance.

16 Haystacks Lost in Monday Blaze

Volunteer firemen from Allen, Dixon, Concord, Wakefield and Laurel Monday afternoon extinguished a haystack fire on the George Blohm farm about four miles northeast of Concord.

The fire, which damaged about 16 haystacks of hay valued at nearly $2,000, occurred about 3 p.m. Cause of the blaze is undetermined but fire could have been started either from burning cinders from a wood fire about a quarter mile away or from a spark from an electric fence which surrounds the hay.

The quick action of the Allen department saved a barn on the Blohm farm when firemen hosed down the building which is located 15 feet from the burning hay stacks.

Just before the fire alarm, members of Allen and Dixon volunteer fire departments were answering earlier fire calls.

A fire on the Minnie and Hazel Carlson farm southeast of Concord damaged a manure spreader and a corn crib. The Concord department put out the fire.

About three miles west of Allen, the Allen department extinguished a fire along a Burlington railroad right of way.

$275 Missing From Ron's Bar

About $275 in cash and coins was reported missing following a break-in overnight Sunday at Ron's Bar in Carroll, according to the Wayne County sheriff's office.

Entry was gained by cutting a hole in a wooden door in the front entrance, reaching through, and unlatching two locks.

Reported was about $175 in cash plus an estimated $100 in change, taken from two juke boxes, a pin ball machine and a coin-operated pool table.

Also missing is a radio, a 22 caliber pistol and six to eight possible brass lighters.

The break-in occurred between 11 p.m. Sunday and 6:45 a.m. Monday.

Winside Finds New Water Supply

Winside street commissioner Ken Macke was in Lincoln Wednesday morning, talking to State Health Department officials about requirements for installation of a new city water well.

The city contracted with the Salmon Well Co. of Wakefield after two of the town's wells went dry several weeks ago.

Health Department officials advise use of a well holding water with a diesel smelt.

Village clerk Mrs. Marian Hill Wednesday morning said three test holes were drilled before water was finally discovered at a depth of 175 feet. The site is across Crawford Ave. south of Winside High School.

She said Macke was conferring Wednesday with Health Department officials to find out which agencies must approve use of a new well and what specifications are required for a pumping station.

Queen Naminees Sought

The Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers are now looking for candidates for their annual queen contest to be held in November.

Candidates for the Pork Queen title must be single and between the ages of 16 and 19 on Jan. 1, 1976.

Contestants also must reside on a farm in Wayne, Dakota, Dixon, Cedar or Thurston Counties on which pork is now raised or be the daughter of parents actively engaged in pork promotion.

Farmer Injured In Tractor Fire

Lowell Glassmeyer of rural Wayne was reported in good condition Monday afternoon in Providence Medical Center where he was taken Sunday afternoon for treatment of burns.

Fire chief Cliff Pinkelman said the injuries resulted from a fire reported about 3:35 Sunday afternoon when propane was ignited while Glassmeyer was refueling his tractor.

Dr. Robert Brackhoff Monday said Glassmeyer had received first and second degree burns to his arms and face.

The fire had been extinguished by the time the volunteer firemen arrived at the Glassmeyer farmstead, five miles south of Wayne on Highway 15 and three miles west. Cause of the fire has not yet been determined. Damage, confined to the tractor involved, was light.

Boosters Hold First Meeting

Introduced at the Monday evening meeting of the Wayne Carroll Music Boosters were Mrs. Vern Jacobson, the organization's new president, Mrs. Keith Owens, vice president, Mrs. Charles Maier, secretary, Mrs. Alan Bebe, treasurer, and Mrs. Neal Phelps, Mrs. Irvin Brandt, Mrs. Jean Nuss and Mrs. Joanne Proett board members.

About 100 boosters turned out for the meeting which was held at the high school lecture hall.

Band instructor Ron Dalton introduced Keith Copperud, mid high school band director, and luth grade vocal instructor, and Larry Stratman, middle and high school vocal instructor, and outlined the upcoming music schedule. Mrs. James Day, elementary and middle school strings instructor, explained the strings program.

Dalton announced that the Wayne High School band, which received a superior rating last year, will again participate in the Pershing Band competition at Lincoln, Nov. 1. The band will also participate in a marching contest at Wisner on Oct. 25.

Mrs. Dick Mencl reminded members that the magazine drive, sponsored annually by the boosters, would be held in November. Music students will be selling subscriptions as in previous years.

Following the business meeting, the high school stage band under the direction of Dalton played several selections, and the Girls' Glee and choir, directed by Stratman, sang.

Boosters will meet again on Monday, Nov. 3, at 2:30 p.m. at the high school band room.

Whirlers Receive 20 Trophies

The same whirlers brought home 19 trophies a week earlier during the NBTA open baton contest at Fairbury. Connie won a first place trophy in hoop twirling. Lynette received three trophies. Joette came home with eight trophies and Kim brought back seven trophies.

Twirlers Receive 20 Trophies

Four area baton twirling students of Mrs. LeRoy Damme of Winside came home with a total of 20 trophies in the following baton competition at the National Baton Twirling Association's open baton contest Saturday at Dell Rapids, S.D. Connie Hansen, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hansen and Lynette Hansen, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Hansen, all of Wayne, each received a first place trophy for their duet. Connie also placed second with her solo and Lynette placed third in two baton twirling. Placing fourth in the first top division of the Miss Granite City Pageant was Kim Damme, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Damme. Kim brought home seven additional trophies in the contest, plus receiving the high point trophy in her age division. Another student of Mrs. Damme who placed in competition in South Dakota was Joette Haase, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Haase of Norfolk. Joette placed fourth out of 18 girls who competed in the Miss Granite City Pageant, juvenile division, and won six additional trophies, placing in various divisions of the contest.

Kurt Schrant's Married Saturday

Two floral bouquets appointed the altar of St. Peter and Paul Church at Bow Valley for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Antoinette Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Becker of Harrington, to Kurt Schrant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Schrant of Winside.

The bride and groom were ushered into the church by Larry Guenther of Wynot and Don Holtgrew and Les Keenan, both of Winside. Steve Wortmann of Harrington sang, accompanied by Mrs. Roger Kock of Harrington. The Rev. Charles Knippen of Bow Valley and the Rev. Thomas McDermott of Wayne officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of white sheer organza styled with an empire waistline and shepherdess sleeves. Her three layered, elbow length veil cascaded from a headpiece of lace and pearls.

Attendants for the bride were Mona Becker of Yankton, Mrs. Mary Becker of Omaha and Stephanie Becker of Harrington. They wore floor length gowns of polyester interlock jersey in rust, orange and apricot, featuring empire waistlines. A line skirts and hooded caplet jackets.

Best man was Rodney Deck of Winside and groomsmen were Mike Becker of Omaha and Mark Buschelman of Fordyce. The men wore brown tuxedos with matching shirts. Gift bearers were Joey Becker of Harrington and Lori Schrant of Winside.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Becker chose a forest green polyester gown in floor length. Mrs. Schrant wore blue green polyester dress, also in floor length. Judy Pinkelman of Bow Valley greeted the guests who attended the reception in the church basement following the ceremony. Mary Jo Kuehler, Lori Milander, Gerlyn Guenther and Linda Holtgrew arranged gifts.

MR. AND MRS. KURT SCHRANT

Sonya Fauer of Lincoln and Mrs. Dennis Proveck of Yankton cut and served the cake. Waitresses were Joan Lauer, Joan Lauer, Doloretta Kuehler, Cheryl Vorhagen, Mary Ann Guenther, Nancy Rolles, Shirley Wieseler, Phyllis Wiepen and Mariane Wuebben.

The couple took a wedding trip to the Ozarks and will be at home at Winside. The bride is a 1974 graduate of Wynot High School. The groom, a 1972 Winside High School graduate and a 1974 graduate of Northeast Technical Community College at Norfolk, is engaged in farming.

Coterie Honors Mrs. Edna Casper

Mrs. Edna Casper was honored for her birthday Monday when members of Coterie met at her home for a 1 p.m. luncheon hosted by Mrs. Casper's daughter, Mrs. Robert Harrison of Blair. The group welcomed Mrs. Paul Mines to Wayne Mines recently moved back to Wayne from Tucson, Ariz. Eight members attended the meeting and winners at bridge were Mrs. Jessie Morgan, first high and Mrs. Leslie Ellis, second high. Next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 13, at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. John Ahern.

Wayne State Opens Conference Play Saturday at Chadron State

Momentum of three straight wins, with bigger scores each game, takes Wayne State's football Wildcats into their first conference game Saturday afternoon, at Chadron State. Game time is 1:30, mountain time.

What to expect from Chadron? Hard to guess because the Eagles frequently play a spoiler role, even when not expected. In a 2-3 season, the Eagles lost to South Dakota Tech, Dickinson State, N.D., and Kearney State — the latter blanked Chadron, 33-0. But the Eagles beat Doane, and last Saturday, they came from behind to edge Colorado Mines, 11-10, on a last-second, 41-yard field goal by Chad Emanuel.

That game cost Chadron the services of leading quarterback John Burns — out for the season with a shoulder, dislocation — and leading receiver Dale Dratoff. It is unknown when he will return, a Chadron story reports.

Statistically, Chadron trails its opponents badly in nearly every category, according to five-game figures.

By contrast, Wayne catapulted up in statistics when it romped Dakota State, 46-14, Saturday at Madison, S.D. That lifted the Cats to No. two position from fourth on team offense among Nebraska's nine NAIA colleges. Meanwhile, Wayne stayed No. one in team defense.

Wildcat defense cut its season average yield to 178 — from 192 the previous week — by holding Dakota State to 120 yards total. Meanwhile, runnysup Hastings and Kearney sagged in their defense, both losing Saturday.

Only once did Wayne lapse on defense — on the first play when Dakota State fullback Jeff Rodman electrified a homecoming crowd with a 74-yard touchdown.

Such humiliation did not last long. The Cats proceeded to score seven touchdowns and Randy Slayback kicked four extra points, and that 46 total was the highest since Wayne's 59-7 win over Peru in 1970.

Strangely, the usual Wildcat big-gainers, rusher Brian Moeller and receiver Maurice Mintken, posted modest yardage. Moeller with 29 yards, and an air yard of normal, and Mintken with 47 yards on pass receiving, a bit over a third of his norm. Mintken did reach the goal line once, on a 17-yard pass.

Not that this pair proved ineffective, but so many others got into the act, and the leading rusher turned out to be freshman fullback Tim Dahl, whose 49 yards on five carries showed why hometown folks in Scribner call him Cannonball.

Senior tight end Jerry Bayse had himself a notable game, catching three passes for 90 yards and a touchdown, that going 48 yards on a pass from Rick Benedetto.

Benedetto ran Wayne's first touchdown and passed for 108 yards, a move ahead of Moeller in total offense. The score was 25-6 late in the second quarter when Dave Miller took over, as quarterback. He tossed passes for 104 yards and three touchdowns and turned over a 46-6 score to third quarterback Brock Hotsel.

One of Miller's TD strikes went to Mintken, one to wingback Marty Hansen of Wayne, the last to split end Mike Green. Freshman Hansen's dandy catch for 36 yards was his first collegiate score.

Green, a junior, was no less jubilant over his first Wayne score. Same for freshman back Charles Curry, who ran a 36-yard fumble nine yards to score. Ditto for junior tailback Joe Burke with his first TD of the season.

Defensively, honors have to be spread wholesale, though offensive guard Bill Nield might have played more ferociously than anybody.

Only three times after the initial touchdown did the Trojans move out of their own territory — once on an intercept tion, once on a Wayne fumble both deep in Wildcat land, and finally near the end when eager defense cost Wayne two 15 yard penalties. The Trojans scored soon after on a three yard run and two point pass conversion.

Wayne recovered four of six Trojan fumbles and scored after three of them.

Devils Slip To No. Five

Wayne High slipped a notch to No. five in this week's Class B top 10 ratings in the Omaha World Herald.

The move by Holdrege to the No. three spot pushes last week's third-ranked Columbus Scotus to fourth and Wayne goes from fourth to fifth.

With the exception of second-ranked York, the rest of the top five teams are undefeated. Number one Lincoln Plus X, Holdrege and Scotus are 5-0 and Wayne is 4-0. York has a 2-1 mark.

The Blue Devils maintain their second-place status in this week's playoff district standings. The Devils have 43-7 points, Columbus Scotus is the No. one district team for the second week with 47 points.

According to Wayne coach Al Hansen, Wayne fell from its No. one perch last week because Blair, the Devils' second victim of the season, fell below the 500 mark in games played.

In Class C playoff standings, Laurel is the new addition to District 3 in the C-3 division. The Bears, 3-2, are fifth with 39 points.

In Class C-2, Winside is tied for fourth in District 2. The Wildcats and Leigh, both 3-2, have 26 points each.

Mann Wins Third

Chalk up victory No. three for Winside High runner Dave Mann.

Monday afternoon the senior distance runner won the Plainview triangulum cross country meet with a time of 14:21. Also competing in the meet were runners from Coleridge.

According to coach Carter Peterson, Mann hopes to run in more meets before the district cross country meet on Oct. 17th at Plainview. Peterson hopes coaches will contact him at Winside High if there are any openings in dual or triangulum meets.

According to the Veterans Administration, one out of every five homes constructed since World War II was financed under the agency's loan guarantee program.

Prep Picks:

Some Coaches Leery Of Homecoming Tilts

By BOB BARTLETT

If last week's homecoming games for two area football teams are any indication, it's likely that prep coaches at Wayne and Allen aren't going to take this week's opponents as "easy pickins."

Walthill and Wesley Pilsner marred Winside and Wakefield's homecoming activities with a pair of victories. Going into the final week of homecoming games for the five area teams, only Laurel has emerged a victor.

Wayne and Allen face divisional rivals in their own conferences. Wayne hosts Madison of the West Husker loop and Allen takes on Newcastle of the Lewis division of the Lewis and Clark Conference.

A victory is crucial for the Blue Devils if they are to maintain their undefeated mark as well as retain their No. five standing in this week's top 10 prep football ratings. Equally as important as Wayne's rating is its chances of winning a playoff berth if the Devils go undefeated.

Madison comes into Friday's 7:30 p.m. match at Wayne State's Memorial Stadium with a 3-1 loop record, which includes a 33-0 lashing of Wakefield. Wayne is 3-0 in the West Husker.

The Dragon's conference record looks good on paper, but I don't think they'll look as good when they face coach Al Hansen's club. Pick Wayne to rock up win No. five.

Allen also is my favorite to get back on the winning trail. After three straight setbacks, the 1-3 Eagles should be primed up to knockout winless Newcastle.

Last week for the second week in a row, I missed having a perfect slate. By just one game, Winside's 15-0 loss to Wausa gave me a 2-1 record for the week and a 15-4 season mark for a 48 per cent average. Otherwise, Wayne and Laurel won while Allen and Wakefield lost.

Other selections (winners in boldface):
Ponca at Winside — Indians riding a five game win streak which should make it even tougher for the Wildcats to jump out of their slump.

Walthill at Bancroft — Coach John Torrison's "Walking Wounded" will take a while before they mend.
O'Neill at Laurel — Score could be close, but the Bears are getting on the right road now.

ANYONE interested in becoming a certified hunter-safety instructor has an opportunity to do so on Thursday, Oct. 16, when representatives from the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission hold a certification meeting at the Allen High School auditorium.

The one night only program runs from 7 to 10:30 p.m. in order for a person to teach hunter safety this fall he or she must be certified, according to Ron Wecker of Allen, who is helping to conduct the certification program.

WAYNE HIGH School principal Don Zeiss forwarded a letter he received from Osmond officials which I think bears repeating.

The letter, from Osmond High principal Bruce Haag, commends Wayne High's volleyball team for winning the four team Osmond tournament last week. The letter goes on, "But more importantly, we would like to express our appreciation for the manner in which your young ladies conducted themselves."

In a footnote Zeiss said, "This is what athletics is all about and what we always strive for!"

After watching Wayne in action last week at home against South Sioux City, I fully understand comments by both principals. Wayne's varsity, as well as the freshmen and reserve teams, showed a lot of poise and team workmanship in posting wins. Credit for Wayne's playing also has to go to the coaching staff of Mavis Dalton and her assistant Cindy Peterson.

Currently riding on a nine game win streak, the 9-1 varsity volleyball team appears to be heading for district play with its best record in its three year history. Wayne's only loss of the season was against rival Pierce in the season opener.

"I wish we could play that match over," Mrs. Dalton pointed out after Thursday's win. Later she noted that her girls will have another chance at Pierce if the two teams meet in district play, slated for Nov. 6-8. No playoff site has been selected yet.

Without a doubt, Wayne has to be one of the favorites to win the eight team district. Other schools in that Class B-4 district are Hartington Cedar Catholic, Hooper Logan View, North Bend, Schuyler, West Point Central Catholic and Wisner Pilger.

Fans who want to see just how well Wayne teams perform only have three, possibly four more chances to view the matches. Tonight (Thursday) the girls travel to Wisner and return home Tuesday night to face Hartington Cedar in the final home match for the Blue Devils. After Tuesday, Wayne heads to the West Husker Tournament on Monday, Oct. 20, at Columbus Lakeview. The West Husker winner goes on to the Husker playoff on Thursday, Oct. 30.

Injuries Halt Cats, Trojans Reserve Game

Injuries have forced coaches at Wakefield and Winside High to cancel last Monday night's reserve football game.

The cancellation ends Wakefield's season with a 10 record. Next game on tap for Winside is Monday night at Emerson Hubbard.

"It's very regrettable that we couldn't play any more," said Wakefield coach Jim Celis. "We have a very respectable reserve team this year. I just wish we could have played Winside," he added.

Wakefield was slated to visit Coleridge in the season finale. However, Coleridge officials notified Celis last week that they could not play.

The Trojans' schedule, which is 10-0 overall, includes games at Emerson and 20-0 over Laurel Winside 1-1. The Wildcats beat Hartington High 8-0 and lost to Norfolk Catholic 30-0.

Athlete Of The Week

Defensive players again are the top selections for this week's "Athletes of the Week."

Winning the honors are six Wayne High players who all but shut off Takamah's offense in the Blue Devil's 28-0 victory Friday which pushed Wayne's season record to 5-8.

They are seniors Larry Creighton, Doug Straight, Paul Lindner, Les Thomsen and juniors Randy Davie and Rick Straight. The six held Takamah's ground and game to totals of 34 yards each as the linemen repeatedly caught Takamah quarterback Rick Lade behind the line.

Creighton was the top tackler for the night as he collected a total of 10 stops. Thomsen and Lindner each has eight tackles and Doug Straight finished with seven. Straight also pounced on a Takamah fumble in the first period to set up Wayne's second touchdown of the period.

Early in the first period during Takamah's only major scoring drive, Thomsen and Davie dropped Lade for a big loss in the 33 yard line.

Parents of this week's top athlete award winners are Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Creighton, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Straight, Mrs. Bill Davie, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lindner, all of Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomsen of rural Wakefield.

Allen Jr High Clips Winnebago

Allen's junior high football team will close its season Wednesday with an away game at Ponca.

Coach Jim Koontz's club will carry a 1-1 record into the afternoon game after his team chalked up its first win of the season Monday with a 19-0 victory over Winnebago.

Hallback Greg Carr again led Allen scoring with touchdowns of 70 and 65 yards as the young sprinter finished with 153 yards in 10 carries.

Carr broke for the team's first score on a 40 yard swing play in the second quarter to give Allen a 6-0 halftime command. In the final period, Carr raced 65 yards on a bootleg for a 15-0 score.

Fullback Doug Osbahr was Allen's second leading rusher with 23 yards in six totes. Leading Allen's defense were Pat Onderstall, who broke up two Winnebago passing threats late in the game. Mark Koch, Tom Sturgis and Doug Koester. Allen's defense held the home team to minus yardage for the afternoon. Koontz pointed out

Allen Tops .500

Allen's varsity volleyball team pushed its record past the .500 mark Tuesday night with a win over Lewis and Clark Conference rival, Winnebago.

Coach Steve McManigal's club now holds a 4-3 overall record while the Eagles are 3-0 in conference play.

Senior JoAnne Roberts and junior Peg Taylor each served 10 points as Allen won in two sets 15-3 and 15-6. Aiding the wins was strong team spiking, the coach noted.

The reserve team won its first match in three outings, topping Winnebago 15-3 and 15-1, before more June Stapleton served 27 of the team's 30 points. In the first set she had 13 points and in the second set had 14.

Unbeatens Clash In 7-8 Football

A pair of unbeatens will clash Tuesday night in the second week of seventh and eighth grade city recreation football.

The Gold and White teams, each sporting 1-0 marks, battle at 8 o'clock at the city ballpark to decide the leader in their league.

In a defensive struggle Tuesday night, the White team handed the Blue team its second loss with a narrow 8-0 White victory.

Defensive end Tod Heier picked off a Blue pass and raced 12 yards early in the first period for the game's only scoring.

Twice the White team had scoring opportunities denied in the first half. The Whites' first drive was stopped on the 12 yard line and with five minutes left in the half gave up the ball on the six.

Emerson VB Hands Winside 4th Loss

Winside goes into conference action tonight (Thursday) when coach, Don Leighton's Wildkittens travel to Hartington High.

Leighton's club, which is 3-0 in the Clark division of the Lewis and Clark Conference, goes into tonight's game with a 3-4 record after suffering its fourth setback Tuesday night to Emerson Hubbard.

Emerson was victorious in three sets, 15-7, 14-16 and 5-15. Winside weren't playing ball. We seemed to be looking ahead to Hartington," Leighton noted.

Leading the varsity serving were Tammy Gramberg and Cindy Thomas each with 13 of 14 aces and Tami Koll who was 12 of 13.

Winside's reserves also lost, 12-15 and 4-15 to drop their record to 4-2. Also holding a 4-2 mark is the C team which won in three sets, 45-12, 11-15 and 15-11.

Wakefield VB Ends Season Next Week

Wakefield raps up its regular volleyball season next week with two home games.

The Trojannes will host Lyons on Monday and Stanton on Tuesday before heading into the West Husker Conference tournament the following week.

Going into the Lyons game, Wakefield's varsity carries a 6-3 record after spilling action earlier this week. Monday night the Trojannes beat visiting Coleridge in two sets, 16-14 and 15-12.

Lynn Holm and Renee Wilson led coach Ernie Kovar's club with 14 and 15 spikes. Top scoring went to Lisa Paul with 14 points.

Tuesday night the varsity fell at the hands of host South Sioux City, 4-15 and 14-18. "They just outplayed us," Kovar commented.

Wakefield's reserves dropped both matches Tuesday and Monday. The reserve team fell 10-15 and 13-15 to South Sioux, and 7-15, 10-10 and 9-15 to Coleridge.

The C team beat South Sioux 16-14 and 15-12 and lost to Coleridge 15-9, 14-16 and 4-15.

WH Volleyball Clubs Travel to Wisner-Pilger

Wayne High's volleyball teams head to Wisner-Pilger tonight (Thursday) with another victory added to their long list of wins.

Tuesday night all three Wayne teams defeated visiting Norfolk High.

The varsity travels to Wisner with a 9-1 mark after the locals stopped Norfolk in two sets, 15-4, 15-8. Highlight of the game was serving; pointed out coach Mavis Dalton-Wayne scored on 98 per cent of its serves.

Both the freshman and reserve teams are 6-1 after the reserves knocked off Norfolk 15-12 and 15-8 and the freshmen won three sets 15-3, 12-15, and 15-7.

Lisa Barclay led from serving the first match, scoring Wayne's last eight points. In the final match, Sandy Jacobmeyer had the last 11 serve points.

WH School Board Reviews Calendar

The Winside school board Monday night reviewed dates for the parent-teacher conferences and Veterans' Day program.

The conferences will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 29. There will be no school. The Veterans' Day program will be on Nov. 11 at 8 p.m. Classes will be dismissed after the program.

In other board action, members appointed superintendent Don Leighton to work with the Kansas Nebraska gas company to approve an easement to run a line across school property to hook up with a house occupied by Owen Hartman.

The board also appointed high school principal Al Schuetter as administrator of the NDEA Title III program.

The board agreed to reaffirm its position that Winside school will continue its closed campus policy. The policy states that once students arrive at school grounds, they may not leave until classes are dismissed at the end of regular school hours.

The Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 provides for work and training programs, loans to low income farmers and businessmen, and various other national and community anti-poverty programs.

Learning More About Career Ed

ALLEN elementary teachers and administrators gathered at the school's career education room Monday for a talk by two Minnesota educators who discussed the role of career education in the elementary level. Presenting part of the program was Marian Hallamb. Left. Also speaking for the day long program was Roger Evans.

The ancient Scandinavians believed that the earth was made from the body of a giant his blood became the oceans, his bones the mountains, his teeth the cliffs and his hair the trees. The skull, held up by four dwarfs formed the heavens.

County Planners
Sign with SOPP

Phil Olason, chairman of the Wayne County joint planning commission Tuesday night signed an agreement under which the State Office of Programming and Planning (SOPP) will provide planning services.

The county commissioners had agreed at their meeting Tuesday afternoon to sign a warrant at the planning meeting to authorize payment of the county's share of the contract cost, pending ratification by the planners. The county is paying $5,000 of the $15,000 contract, with the remainder coming from federal sources.

SOPP consultant Jeff Foley told the planning committee that gathering of information about public facilities will begin in October. Involved will be the County and five municipalities: Wayne, Winside, Hoskins, Carroll and Sholes.

The state planning expert also said he intends to contact the Norfolk planning commissioners for a statement of their planning policies. Because of the proximity of the city to the western area of Wayne county, "there is no way we can ignore the impact of the city of Norfolk on land use," Foley said.

WSC Classes Observe

New opportunities have become available to medical technology students at Wayne State College with the recent opening of Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

The new hospital, located just east of the Wayne State College campus and owned and operated by the city of Wayne and the Missionary Benedictine Sisters of Wayne, provides the opportunity for observation of medical laboratory techniques for the 18 students currently enrolled in the "Topics in Medical Technology" course.

In addition to lectures by instructor Wes Fritz, movies, film clips and reading assignments, students each have two hours per week to observe and assist at Providence Medical Center. The course is open to junior medical technology students at WSC. Primary objective of the course, according to Fritz, is to orient students to the practical aspects of being medical technologists.

Over 100 students have participated in the Wayne State medical program since it was first offered seven years ago, noted Fritz. After three years of study at Wayne State, students go to one of 11 area hospitals for their internships. They receive 35 hours of credit for the internships and return to Wayne State to receive their bachelor of science degrees.

Internships are currently available at hospitals in Kansas City, Denver, Omaha, Lincoln and Sioux City.

Two graduates of the Wayne State medical technology program are now employed at Providence Medical Center. Sister Mary Jerome Fendrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Fendrick of Dodge, interned at Creighton Memorial Hospital in Omaha and received her bachelor of science degree from WSC this past August. Elizabeth "Lute" Mohr of Laurel interned at St. Luke's Hospital in Sioux City and received her degree in 1974.

WSC Students To Elect

POLLUTION IS A MENACE TO ALL AMERICANS ...
NOT JUST THOSE IN THE "WRONG" NEIGHBORHOODS

Out of sight, out of mind. Perhaps ugly scenes like this are never viewed by most of us but they do exist. They are a menace, not just to those who live or work in the vicinity of polluted areas, but to all of us. You can't isolate something like pollution . . . it spreads its insidious filth through every level of society, contaminating our air, water, and land today and threatening disastrous consequences for generations to come. We must all mobilize against the elements that contribute to pollution — beginning with the empty beer can tossed out of a car window, to the conditions that permit rat-infested slum areas. Our environment is a precious heritage . . . let's preserve it for ourselves and for future Americans!

Teachers — (Continued from page 11) With the cooperation of National Aeronautics and Space Administration film slides of the earth surface are used to demonstrate some of the roles science plays in the study of the earth.

During the Saturday morning presentation, Jones and Macklem will present the slide tape program and discuss pilot testing the program at Winside. Jones, now in his third year at Winside, teaches high school physics, chemistry, physiology and general science. He also teaches fifth and sixth grade science.

The board also approved initiation of a pre-school training program for handicapped children. About $40,000 for the one year project will be provided by a federal grant under Title VI of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

The project which will run through Aug. 31, 1976, will be aimed at identifying pre-school children in the Wayne Carroll district with handicaps, and providing training which allows and helps to compensate as much as possible for the disabilities before they enter school.

Included will be children with hearing and speech problems, and trainable retarded children. Work will be done in the home by counselors for the Educational Service Unit 1. Parents will be taught ways to help their children after they enter school.

Hahn said the program will be a pilot project which could be expanded to other areas of the district.

Because of the number of other agenda items, the board tabled until their next regular meeting a review of school board policies.

SPICY LUNCHEON FARE

When you want something a little different for your next luncheon, consider corn bread. It has a flavor all its own that your guests will welcome. Combined with a spicy beef sauce, it makes a tasty entree.

A fresh fruit salad is the perfect partner for color, texture and taste. Everything can be prepared in advance, arranging fruit in half horizontally. Toast corn bread pieces until golden brown.

For sauce, saute celery and onion in butter until tender, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and blend in paprika, pepper and flour. Return to heat, gradually add milk, stirring to combine. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Stir in Worcestershire sauce. Add mushrooms, green beans and dried beef; stir to distribute ingredients evenly. Warm over low heat.

To serve, place 1 piece of toasted corn bread on each plate. Spoon sauce over corn bread. Top with second piece of corn bread and more sauce. Serve immediately.

SPICY BEEF SQUARES Makes 6 servings

1 cup enriched corn meal 1/2 cup butter or margarine 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour 1 teaspoon paprika 1/4 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon pepper 4 teaspoons baking powder 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour 1/2 teaspoon salt 3 cups milk 1 egg 1 1/2 cups butter or margarine, melted 1 1/2 cups Worcestershire sauce One 4-oz. can mushroom stems and pieces, drained 1 cup cooked green beans One 5-oz. jar dried beef, torn into bite-sized pieces

For corn bread heat oven to hot (425° F.). Sift together corn meal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into bowl. Add egg, milk and melted butter; mix until smooth. Bake in greased 8-inch square baking pan in preheated oven (425° F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cool on wire rack. Cut into 6 pieces. Split each piece in half horizontally. Toast corn bread pieces until golden brown.

HEALTH TIP FROM THE NEBRASKA MEDICAL ASSOCIATION During these cold Nebraska winter months, you may often want to warm up the family car before starting out. And the most convenient place seems to be the garage. Watch out, warns the Nebraska Medical Association. Carbon monoxide poisoning from auto exhaust fumes is the basis of many accidental deaths each year. If you must start your car in the garage, make sure the garage doors are completely open. Even then, allow the motor to run for only a few minutes. Also, the association says, leaky exhaust connections and holes in the muffler can cause accidental carbon monoxide poisoning. When you sit in a parked car for more than a few minutes, shut off the engine unless you have the car windows open.

Wakefield NHS Initiates Eight New Members

The Wakefield High School National Honor Society held initiation ceremonies at the school Tuesday, Sept. 30, for eight new members.

Students accepted as members include seniors Merrill Hale and Dave Dunning and juniors Lynn Holm, Renee Wilcox, Pam Nicholson, Jackie Kraemer, Brenda Oberg and Tamara Carlson.

Conducting the initiation ceremony were NHS members Scott Mills, Steve Pospisil, Deb Domsch and Lori Magnuson. NHS sponsor Mrs. Alvin Sundell and principal B.C. Thompson.

The piano prelude was played by Sarilyn Sundell. The boys' octet, under the direction of Mrs. Dianne Trullinger, sang "God Bless America."

That evening a banquet honoring the new members was held at the Uplown Cafe with 29 members and guests attending. Speaker was Mrs. Rae Brown of Wakefield, a member of the 1968 69 society.

Guests for the banquet were principal B.C. Thompson, Superintendent and Mrs. Muri Beller, Principal and Mrs. B.C. Thompson, Mrs. Rae Brown and honorary members Katherine Rebbe, Mrs. Norman Swanson, Dennis Crippen, Mrs. Alice Johnson and Merlin "Lefty" Olson and their husbands and wives.

Officers for 1975-76 will be installed. They are Scott Mills, president; Lynn Holm, vice president; Deb Domsch, secretary; Pam Nicholson, treasurer and Tamara Carlson, historian.

Malpractice insurance, railroad abandonments occupy five-state conference

CAPITOL NEWS

LINCOLN — Nebraska's latest legislators from four other states last week for discussions on a variety of issues, including medical malpractice insurance and railroad abandonments.

Actually, five other states were visiting. Kansas, for example, not a member of what is known as the "Five-State Legislative Conference," was invited to sit in on the Lincoln meetings because one of the topics was the coal slurry pipeline.

The Kansas delegation was so impressed it asked to be considered for membership, but the other states said they were reluctant to expand what was designed as an organization to serve the needs of thinly populated states in the upper midwest region.

Kansas was asked to take the matter up with its legislature and return at the 1977 meeting (the organization meets biennially with a formal application for membership if it is decided. The matter is to be decided then).

To be decided before that, however, will be a proposal that the five current members authorize a self-insurance program for physicians and hospitals.

A resolution was adopted saying the states aren't large enough (don't have enough doctors) to make medical malpractice underwriting feasible individually. The base may be large enough if it is attempted regionally, the resolution said.

A meeting is to be held this fall at Rapid City, S.D., with delegates from the five states to put together proposals that can be considered by the 1976 legislative sessions.

In each of the states, the availability and the cost of medical malpractice insurance has reached crisis proportions.

A South Dakota delegate said, for example, the state started a medical school in an attempt to get more doctors, but is finding the graduates are apt to practice somewhere else because of the insurance problems.

The only firm writing medical malpractice policies in Nebraska — the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co. — says firms are quitting writing such policies or raising their rates because the claim rates are becoming larger and settlements are becoming larger and premiums were "underpriced" for too long.

The resolutions adopted at the conference also included messages to go to Washington concerning dealings with other nations in regard to agricultural products.

There was one on beef imports (more controls were sought) and grain exports (less interference by "political, labor, adverse foreign policy or other peripheral matters").

The five states — each with a lot of wide open country — indicated dissatisfaction with the 55 miles per hour speed limit the federal government has repeatedly insisted to establish. A resolution, which passed only by a close voice vote, suggests Congress raise that to 65 miles per hour.

Opponents of the resolution claimed the 55 mph limit has saved lives and energy.

The speed limit is an example of matters referred to in another resolution — one dealing with mandates from Washington with which the states must comply or lose federal funds.

That resolution asks Congress to "cease to allow the administration and any federal government agency to withhold or withdraw any federal funds from any state for the purpose of requiring any state to enact, implement, administer and directly enforce a federal funded policy setting program."

A similar subject is the federal interpretation of what constitutes "navigable waters." The current definition, the five states said, allows too much interference by the Army Corps of Engineers in the affairs that ought to be handled by state government.

Another resolution decries the "absence of a national transportation policy" and urges Congress to enact legislation "to provide a two-year moratorium on railroad abandonment and 100 per cent financial subsidization of railroad operational losses on those branch lines considered for abandonment."

Sen. William Nichol of Scottsbluff, Neb., complained that language was "kind of vague." He said he wasn't certain he wanted the conference to go on record promulgating railroads 100 per cent subsidization. Dakota legislator who was backing the resolution said it wouldn't be fair to the railroads to stop them from closing down unprofitable lines for two years without promising subsidization.

The resolution, which urges creation of a "balanced upper Midwest regional railroad transportation system including lines not currently recommended for inclusion in the consolidated rail corporation, was passed, but by a narrow voice vote.

The 1977 conference will be held in North Dakota.

Let's keep it growing for 200 more years.

Welcome God to America's bicentennial... practice what you pray.

OBSERVATIONS

Sight-seers not welcome

Sunday afternoon a parade of private cars was observed following fire department trucks which were answering an alarm southeast of town.

Fire chief Cliff Pinkelman said the problem is one which recurs at intervals. The fire department will campaign to convince the public not to follow fire trucks and to work for awhile. Then it's just worn out and the problem sits its over again.

Pinkelman makes it plain that sight-seers aren't welcome. "Unless people have a reason for being at a fire, they are a problem."

And probably a bigger problem than the most people realize. It's easy to decide "Well, everyone else should stay away but it won't hurt anything if I go out." Trouble is, the people in the other 25 cars think the same thing.

Part of the route to Sunday's fire was down a narrow county road, without many places to pull over. If a second piece of equipment had followed the first piece out, it could have been slowed by the traffic.

Things would have been even worse if it had been necessary to dispatch a tanker back to town. Not only was the road from the highway congested, but many people who had no business being there, followed the fire truck right up into the farm yard which was the site of the blaze.

Pinkelman recalled a fire last year which was controlled quickly but could have been disastrous if circumstances had been different. The fire chief said it would have been impossible to have sent a tanker back for more water, because of the number of cars on the highway.

It's natural to want to "be in the know" but when fire trucks and other emergency vehicles are concerned, it is best to steer clear. Don't let curiosity overcome common sense. — Jim Strayer

White Horse Patrol appreciated

A fine afternoon of entertainment was presented in Wayne County Sunday. The White Horse Mounted Patrol from Sioux City, Ia., appeared at the county fair grounds, under the sponsorship of the Bicentennial committee.

A big "thank-you" is in order for the Bicentennial group for their initiative in bringing the show to our area. It's a once-in-a-lifetime event and the kind of activity which is making for a successful local celebration of the nation's 200th birthday.

Thanks, too, the members of the patrol. In July they won the world's championship for mounted patrol competition and make only about six appearances a year. The rest of the time is spent in practice to maintain their level of excellence.

The announcer for the patrol said they consider Wayne County and the surrounding area a part of their home region. While they perform throughout several counties, he said, they enjoy appearing most locally. We appreciate that. — Jim Strayer

'Laws' explain why things sometimes go wrong

Not long ago, a national cartoon featured a little kid asking, "Which side of the bread do I butter, Mommy?"

Most people would answer, "It doesn't matter." But to those of a more methodical nature, there is a scientific way to find out. Simply drop the slice of bread. The side it lands on is the side to butter. The answer to this weighty question is found by applying Murphy's Law, which states, "If something can go wrong, it will."

Murphy's Law has many corollaries, one of which is, "The bread always falls buttered-side down."

Some others:

- The part most difficult to replace is the one that breaks.
- A dropped tool will land where it can do the most damage (or is hardest to recover).

The more innocuous a design change appears, the further its influence will extend.

And, of course, what might be called a false corollary of Murphy's Law (more properly from the realm of Aristotle): "A misplaced object always turns up in the last place you look for it."

There are numerous other laws and rules formulated in the attempt to account for the vexatious vagaries of daily life. Some of them are capable of standing alone; others should properly wear the Murphy mantle.

One of the former would certainly be Parkinson's famous dictum "Work expands to fill the time available for its completion." Parkinson's Law has many variations of its own, validated throughout any bureaucracy.

A somewhat more recent addition to understanding bureaucracy is the Peter Principle, which declares, "An executive tends to rise to the level of his incompetence."

Laurence J. Peter, who derived it, reasons that competence brings promotion. Therefore, a person will tend to be promoted until he no longer exhibits competence, and at that point — having reached the level of his incompetence — he will stay.

Intriguing, but it fails to take into consideration the Law of Upward Failure, which suggests that an executive can far surpass his level of incompetence if he makes fast enough so his next promotion always comes before his next takes surface.

As you can imagine, the Washington scene abounds with Murphy corollaries. One attributed to a former Under Secretary of Defense, Cyrus Vance, is the Rule of Two-And-A-Half: "Any military project will take twice as long as planned, cost twice as much, and produce only half of what is wanted."

Alan Otten, of the Wall Street Journal, thinks it should be adjusted for inflation, making it the Rule of Four-And-A-Quarter.

There is also Nief Law, reported by Otten: "The effort expended by the bureaucracy in defending any error is in direct proportion to the size of the error."

I'm tempted to offer, "The value of a government program is inversely proportional, and the cost directly proportional, to the noise made about it." But I'm not sure that one would hold up consistently enough to be called a law.

There is one I am sure of, however: "For any given economic problem, the chance of adopting the appropriate corrective fiscal and monetary policies increases as the problem itself decreases." — Richard Leshner, president, U.S. Chamber of Commerce

The signs are plentiful: the training of Air Force bomber crews in the techniques of "limited" nuclear wars, the search for more accurate missiles whose only purpose is to destroy Soviet Missiles in their silos; the acknowledged targeting of Soviet missile bases; the surveys of empty mine shafts by the Defense Civil Preparedness Agency so that millions of Americans can be "sheltered" in them in case of international crises; the statement by Defense Secretary Schlesinger that it is "conceivable" the U.S. could be the first to use nuclear weapons; the refusal by President Ford at his June 25 press conference to disavow the first use of nuclear weapons.

Remember the days when the mission of nuclear weapons was to deter nuclear war? Now, President Ford is ready to use nuclear weapons if the United States starts to lose a conventional war, or if the Soviets launch a "limited" attack on the U.S. No one ever tells us why they would launch a limited attack. But Secretary Schlesinger has it all figured out in case of a "limited" Soviet attack: "U.S. bases and a 'limited' nuclear counter attack on Soviet bases. Schlesinger says: "... If we were to maintain continued communications with the Soviet leaders during the war and if we were to describe precisely and meticulously the limited nature of our actions, including the desire to avoid attacking their urban industrial base, that in spite of whatever one says historically in advance that everything must go all-out... political leaders on both sides will be under powerful pressure to continue to be sensible."

Continue to be sensible? Once the H-bombs start dropping, are these "sensible" leaders going to talk it out or fight it out? Isn't Schlesinger's scenario more likely to lead to the top rung in the ladder of nuclear escalation?

The arms race itself, spiraling upward between the superpowers and outward to a bigger Nuclear Club, has become the single greatest threat to our national security. Thirty years have passed since Hiroshima and Nagasaki were atom-bombed, but what have we learned?

It's past time for all of us to prevent these so-called "sensible" political leaders from snuffing out our futures, not with a whimper but a bang.

Congress knocked for 'inaction'

The following editorial appeared in The Nebraska Oil Jobber, a trade publication for Nebraska petroleum marketers. It is presented here to provide insight as to how the industry views the current energy situation.

10 years ago
Oct. 6, 1955: Jerry Stirtz, son of Mr.

What we have been referring to as an energy crisis is really a misnomer. Sure, we had a crisis during the embargo and for a short time thereafter. But what we are involved in now and will be for the rest of our lives, is a great big conservation effort. That is the real purpose of everything that is going on today. And this involves two important features—the dollar outflow and the using up of a very important commodity that is irreplaceable.

Dear Editor,
I had the fortune of staying in the city of Wayne three days a couple of weeks ago and enjoyed the town and the people. I stayed at the city's newest motel and ate some very good cooked meals across the highway from it.

What goes on in the Congress has nothing to do with either. They are playing another time game busy trying to get out on top. The President to be concerned with any dollar outflow or petroleum conservation. However, as it always does, a time will come when that

On the first day that I stayed in town, I ate at a cafe downtown in the morning, which seemed to be the only one open at the time. After spending the next two days in town, I found out that it was the only one open in the morning. My question is this, why does a town like Wayne only have one cafe open in the early morning hours?

Out-of-towner wants better breakfast

After eating my cold eggs and imitated "funny looking" sausage, I was a little puzzled. It seems that some of the people in your community would become more than observant to this fact and take advantage of what I think would be a very good profit make.

A new cafe could open at the same time that served food that the people would want to come back to, not one that they have to because it is the only one. I don't always write letters to hometown papers, and to be honest, this is my first. Good town, excellent motels, and a couple of fine places to have supper, but one flaw can ruin it for the rest.

Post Office Starting Service Improvement Program Saturday

The U.S. Postal Service first-class mail service improvement program will go into effect on October 11. Wayne postmaster Wilbur Glisse said Tuesday.

Under the program, first-class mail weighing 13 ounces or less will receive service by the fastest available method. There no longer will be an advantage of purchasing airmail postage for domestic delivery.

Priority mail (that which is first-class in nature weighing more than 13 ounces) which would also include air parcel service, and international airmail, are unaffected by this program and continue in their present form. Airmail stamps will be sold for use on priority and international airmail. They may also be used in various combinations with other stamps for first-class mail.

Customers may exchange airmail stamps, and stamped envelopes and cards at full postage value for ordinary stamps, stamped envelopes or cards. Stationery bearing airmail indicia will be allowed to be mailed at the first class rate.

$500 Bucks Prize Missed by 1 Day For the second week in a row an error in the weekly Birthday Bucks drawing has missed winning the $500 grand prize by only one day.

The lucky shopper was Paul Pokett, of Wayne, whose birthday fell on April 4, 1965. The winning date selected at random last Thursday night was April 5, 1965.

Two weeks ago Vandel Rahn of rural Allen was one day short of picking up the top cash prize. As a result of Pokett's missing the winning date, he received the $25 consolation award. If the grand prize goes unclaimed again tonight (Thursday) at the 8:15 drawing, another $25 consolation prize will be awarded to the person whose birthday comes the closest to the winning date.

Anyone can enter the weekly contest. No registration or purchases are necessary but the shopper must be present to win when the date drawn is announced.

Pokett, who was at the Black Knight for the drawing, can spend the coupons just like cash in any of the stores or firms taking part in the promotion.

Local Outlook On Food Problem Is Forum Topic

By Mrs. Pearl Carlson 287-2489

Local perspectives on world food problems will be examined in a special forum to be held at 2:00 p.m. this Sunday, October 12, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The forum is specifically designed for Northeast Nebraska residents who are concerned about world food problems, but are unsure about effective personal responses that might impact on the problems. The emphasis will be upon sharing practical alternatives.

Dr. Lloyd Fisher, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln will serve as chief resource person for the forum. Other resource participants will include Steve Olmans, general manager of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District in Norfolk, and Melvin Berman, Dakota City farmer and cattle feeder. The forum moderator is Rev. Gordon Simmons, chairperson of the Nebraska Lutheran Legislative Caucus.

The forum is sponsored by the Nebraska Lutheran Rural Ministries in cooperation with the Nebraska Lutheran Legislative Caucus through a special grant from the national Lutheran Church in American World Hunger Appeal.

Similar forums will be held elsewhere in Nebraska during October. Dates and locations include: Oct. 19 - Campus Lutheran Church in Kearney; and Oct. 26 - St. John's Lutheran Church in Cubertson.

Registration fee is $3.00, which includes the evening meal.

Chick Quiz!

Distances are sometimes deceiving. To be able to see just the tip of a 200 foot oil rig that is 54 miles out at sea, how high above sea level would you have to be (a) 62 feet (b) 262 feet (c) 1,662 feet?

ANSWER "C" is correct. You would have to be standing 1,662 feet above sea level. That means that if you stood on top of the Empire State Building, you would still need a 412-foot ladder to see even the tip of that oil rig.

Water Resources Institute Starts Projects

Six-foot, four-inch Millard W. Hall striding across the University of Nebraska-Lincoln East Campus, might be taken for a professional football scout looking for prospects.

He's not recruiting Cornhuskers, but as the new director of the Nebraska Water Resources Research Institute, (NWRRRI), he is seeking answers to Nebraska's water conservation and usage problems.

In the Nebraska, NWRRRI organizationally is one of five components of the NU Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources. A similar institute operates within each state's land grant university, including the Virgin Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C. The institutes were created in 1964 by the Water Resource Research Act.

Before becoming the institute's new director on July 1, Hall said he had long been familiar with the institute's reputation built by former director Warren Viessman. Viessman resigned in March to become senior specialist in engineering and public works at the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C.

"When Dr. Viessman came here in 1969," Hall explained, "the institute was managing eight projects with an annual budget of $100,000. This year the total budget for 22 projects is almost $900,000, owing largely to his energy."

Since 1969, heavy pressure has been put on water resources around the nation and in Nebraska, with increased industrial use, population growth and a spectacular rise in irrigated acreage. The high cost of energy and an aroused consciousness by the public regarding water quality are added dimensions to the challenge faced in water resource planning and management.

Nebraska is sitting pretty well in relation to other states with respect to both quantity and quality of water. This year the state is astride a great underground river of ground water and contains an abundance of surface streams. But dropping ground water tables in some areas are a harbinger of greater problems yet to come.

In travels around the state, Hall said visits with specialists in the water field, farmers, community leaders and rank-and-file citizens have convinced him that the efficient use of water in Nebraska and the relationship between energy production and water in this region poses a tremendous research challenge to the Institute.

To meet this challenge, the institute's projects in the fall for 1976 are aimed at improving Nebraska's water resource usage and solving management problems.

Because of the widely diverse problems in water resource management, geomorphologists, biologists, geologists and agricultural engineers are involved in research ranging from wastewater treatment to determining what land is suitable for irrigation. Detection of bacteria in recreational waters, along with promoting water-use efficiency and reducing energy consumption in irrigation systems, are also included in Institute research projects.

Most of the NWRRRI's project funds come from the Office of Water Research and Technology (OWRT) in Washington, D.C., which is funding 11 research projects this year. In addition, OWRT is matching University funds to support five projects.

Three projects with the Old West Regional Commission and one with the Upper Big Blue Natural Resources District will involve experiments in underground water usage, recharge, water use efficiency and pollution, Hall said.

"We are fortunate that the Washington office believes the Institute is in the best position to know what its needs are. Although OWRT keeps in close contact with our activities, we are not confined or inhibited in our research efforts," Hall said.

OWRT has urged the Missouri River Basin Water Institute Consortium, encompassing Nebraska, and seven other states to work cooperatively on the research needs of the region. Hall said. As a member of the Consortium, Hall said he sees research conducted on three levels — state, regional and national — in that order.

Farmers Urged to Begin Soil Testing

Farmers who don't have a soil testing program for their farm, should begin one, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture extension agronomist Harold I. Owens.

A regular soil testing program gives the farmer a field history that is much more useful than a single test, the agronomist said. A soil test history tells a producer at a glance the nutrient levels of his fields and whether he needs to simply maintain them or to add fertilizer or lime in an effort to build them up.

"Soil Test in '75, Profit in '76," is the theme of a cooperative effort by USDA and The Fertilizer Institute to encourage farmers to test their soils this fall rather than wait until next spring, Owens said.

Del Knudsen, University of Nebraska extension agronomist, estimates 40,000 samples for test from Nebraska. This means that one sample was collected for each 600 acres of crop and pastureland in Nebraska.

According to a national survey, 2.1 million soil samples were tested in 1973. Of these, about 1.7 million came from cropland, pastureland, and other farmland. This figure is out to about one sample for each 320 acres of crop and pastureland in the U.S. It also means, Owens says, that many acres of crop and pastureland are not being tested.

A soil test can measure soil fertility, pH (whether the soil is acid or base) and the amount of soluble salts in the soil. It does not, Owens said, determine land values, or explain or correct poor yields throughout the farm by weather, diseases, insects, weeds, poor management, and other factors. Soil test summaries in some states indicate that some nutrient levels have increased in the soil. Regular soil tests will measure these nutrient levels and could mean that lesser amounts of specific nutrients are needed. Underfertilizing can reduce profits. Over fertilizing can reduce profits, too, and increase costs through unnecessary fertilizer use. Soil should be routinely tested every three to four years unless special annual tests are needed, Owens said.

Soil tests for nitrogen, are especially important after seasons of either above normal rainfall or drought. Without sampling at least three feet into the rootzone, it is very difficult to estimate nitrogen fertilizer carryover. Fall application of nitrogen fertilizer can be made if the soil is not sandy. Applications should be delayed until soil temperatures are below 50 degrees Fahrenheit and ammonia forms are less subject to loss by leaching.

County extension agents or fertilizer dealers are good sources for information on taking soil samples. They can also tell you where the nearest testing is located.

No More Corn Cobs?

CORN PRODUCTION may be entering a new era if this tassel seed hybrid passes the stress tests. It's a long way down the road but corn researchers at DeKalb AgResearch Inc. believe they can boost corn yields by 250 to 300 per cent over current levels by moving the grain production site from ear to tassel. Corn breeders have been invited as to how much they can do with single ears on single plants. Tassel corn is one dramatic example of how researchers hope to achieve long term gains in production.

Governor Declares Porkfest

October is Porkfest according to a proclamation signed by Gov. J. James Exon which recognized Nebraska's participation in a nationwide "October is pork month" campaign by pork producers.

Before the signing, representatives of the 6,000 member Nebraska Pork Producers Association presented Exon with a three-week old pig, which will be fed out by pork producers at the annual Wait Creek of Rising City and returned to the state chief in the form of pork chops in about five months.

October Porkfest recognizes Nebraska's pork industry as a major source of agricultural income, and focuses on the improvements pork producers have made in their product.

The month long promotion has been sponsored for the past three years by the National Pork Producers Council and its affiliated state pork producer organizations.

Members of the Nebraska organization, in addition to Crook, present at the signing, were Carson Rogers, Ord, president; Terry Schrick, Lincoln, secretary; Thelma Boe, Lincoln, promotional director; LaJean No vak, Leith, 1975 Nebraska Pork Queen; and Helen Nichols, Brock, Nebraska Porkettes national director.

October Porkfest also recognizes Nebraska's pork industry as a major source of agricultural income, and focuses on the improvements pork producers have made in their product.

Good Management Necessary In Control of Lawn Diseases

Many of the lawn diseases that have plagued Nebraska homeowners throughout the summer can be effectively controlled through sound management practices and timely applications of fungicides this fall.

This advice comes from two extension specialists at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Dr. Bob Shearman, turfgrass specialist, and Dr. John Watkins, plant pathologist.

They say, "If you experienced damage to your lawn this summer due to one or more diseases, now is the time to begin taking preventative measures to keep these problems from coming back. The onset of cool, wet weather tends to reduce or mask the symptoms of some of the more serious lawn diseases. However, this does not mean that the problems have been eliminated. Without proper management and preventative measures in the fall and spring, these diseases will occur again and could be a more serious problem than in the previous summer."

Helminthosporium leaf spot (melting out) develops during cool, wet weather in the late fall and early spring. The fungus causing this disease survives the winter in the thatch layer and in infected crowns and roots. If left unattended, the specialists say severe outbreaks of the melting-out phase of this disease during prolonged hot, humid periods in July and August can seriously damage lawns.

Power raking and aeration in the late fall or early spring removes much of the dead grass that serves as the overwintering source of the fungus. In addition, one or two fall fungicide applications are recommended to reduce the amount of leaf spot and minimize the disease carry-over through the winter. These fall applications will increase the effectiveness of the fungicide preventative program in the spring.

"If establishing a new lawn or renovating an old one, the best preventative measure is to use resistant cultivars," said the specialists.

Dollar spot, powdery mildew, and rust are most evident during periods of warm days and cool nights in late summer and early fall. Although commonly not a serious problem in Nebraska lawns, severe outbreaks can occur. The dollar spot fungus is most active during daytime temperatures of 60-70 degrees Fahrenheit, followed by cool nights. Powdery mildew can be a serious problem on new plantings and in shaded areas. Continued heavy infection by rust will not only cause the grass blades to turn yellow and die, but also predispose lawns to winter kill.

Explained Shearman and Watkins, "Fungicide treatment is not generally recommended except for recurring or severe

Entomologists Report High Numbers of Corn Borers

Recent surveys conducted by University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension entomologists indicate high corn borer populations in many Nebraska corn fields.

Highest populations were encountered in the northeast, east and central crop districts, but infestations of 100 per cent can probably be found in virtually every corn producing county in the state.

Corn borer damage is easy to spot. Damaged plants are broken over and lodged and ears of corn may have fallen onto the ground. The sawdustlike borer excrement can be found clinging to the plants where it has been pushed out of tunnels by borers. Heavily infested fields must not be allowed to stand for a long time, but should be harvested as soon as possible to prevent breakage, lodging and ear droppage. Badly damaged fields may suffer 20-30 per cent losses if harvested late. Although early harvest may result in higher drying costs to bring the corn to a safe storage moisture percentage, it should be more than offset by the savings in yield.

In view of high borer populations, many growers are considering burning their cornstalks this fall to prevent borers from overwintering. This is not recommended, since it is a destructive agronomic practice. Organic matter is needed to maintain the proper tilth and water holding properties of the soil. In addition it is expensive, since burning would destroy nitrogen estimated at 40-50 pounds per acre. This nitrogen carry over is necessary for next year's crop.

"Mother Nature" is allowed to take her toll (which she always does), nearly 95 per cent of the borers will never emerge as adults next spring anyway. Therefore burning would not be a significant factor in borer mortality.

Six youths from Wayne and Wisner will travel to Fremont Saturday to try to climb one more step on the ladder leading to the Super Bowl... They are the winners in Saturday's Ford-sponsored Punt, Pass and Kick contest held at Wayne State's Memorial Stadium.

Diseases

outbreaks Sound maintenance practices have proven quite effective. Maintain an adequate fertilization program, but do not stimulate excessive fall growth by the use of high nitrogen fertilizers.

Maintain the lawn at a height of one and one-half inches until growth stops in the late fall. Since these disease organisms survive the summer in infested grass and thatch, removal of the lawn clippings will lessen the chances of snow mold development.

The Extension specialists concluded: The use of fungicides on lawns can be minimized if homeowners will make an effort to follow recommended maintenance practices.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
Sealed bids will be received at the office of the Nebraska Department of Roads in Room 102 of the Central Office Building at the South Junction of U.S. 77 and N.2 at Lincoln, Nebraska, on November 6, 1973, until 10:00 o'clock A.M. and at that time publicly opened and read for sealing, guard rail and incidental work on the Carroll North Federal Aid Secondary Project No. R-57-(4101) 190 in Wayne and Cedar Counties. This project begins at the Deer Creek Bridge north of Carroll and extends north on Nebraska Highway No. 57 ending at its intersection with U.S. Highway No. 20.
Each bidder must be qualified to submit a proposal for any part or all of this work as provided in Nebraska Revised Statute 39-1251-R.R.S. 1943.
PROPOSAL FORMS FOR THE SEEDING WORK WILL BE ISSUED ONLY TO CONTRACTORS WHO ARE QUALIFIED FOR LANDSCAPING.
The approximate quantities are: 136 Acre Seeding, Type "A"; 27 Acre Seeding, Type "B"; 350 Lin. Ft. Safety Beam Guard Rail; 4

Bridge Approach, Section (Ftuh Mounted) 4 End Anchorage Assembly.
The attention of bidders is directed to the Required Contract Provisions covering subletting or assigning the contract.
The Nebraska Department of Roads hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that in any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, minority business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit bids in response to this invitation and will not be discriminated against on the grounds of race, color, sex, or national origin in consideration for an award.
The attention of bidders is invited to the fact that the Department of Roads has been advised by the Wage and Hour Division, U.S. Department of Labor, that contractors engaged in highway construction work are required to meet the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060), as amended.
Minimum wage rates for this project have been predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and are set forth in the advertised specifications.
This contract is subject to the Work Hours Act of 1962, P.L. 87-581 and implementing regulations.
Plans and specifications for the work may be seen and information secured at the office of the District Engineer of the Department of Roads at Norfolk, Nebraska, or at the office of the Department of Roads, at Lincoln, Nebraska.
The successful bidder will be required to furnish bond in an amount equal to 100 per cent of his contract.
As an evidence of good faith in submitting a proposal for this work or for any portion thereof as provided in the proposal form, the bidder must file with his proposal, a bid bond in the amount of 5 per cent of the amount bid for any group of items or collection of groups of items for which the bid is submitted. The price range of the Seeding group is between $50,000 and $100,000.
The price range of the Guard Rail group is between $0 and $10,000.
THIS RIGHT IS RESERVED TO WAIVE ALL TECHNICALITIES AND REJECT ANY OR ALL BIDS.

Metric Measures are Coming
How long is a meter, how heavy is a gram?

The time is fast coming when we'll all have these answers on the tip of our tongues. It's no longer a question of whether 20th Century America is going to go metric — it's simply a question of when.
The metric system is a system of weights and measures based on units of 10 just like our money system.
Our present measure system has about 50 different units of measure while the metric system has only seven. We simply need to learn four for our everyday use.
The meter is the unit of length, the gram indicates weight and the liter indicates volume. You will drive so many meters to the grocery store to buy grams of apples and a liter of milk. Celsius is the metric unit for temperature and is the same as the Centigrade scale.
We're already using the metric measures: seconds on our time units, ampere unit of electric current, and candela or unit of luminous intensity. To measure amount of substance in metric you'd be measuring in terms of mole.

EXTENSION NOTES
By Jocelyn Smith

The meter is a little longer than a yard (3.37 inches longer), a gram is about the weight of a paper clip (.035 ounces), 1000 grams or a kilogram is a little more than 2 pounds (2.2 pounds), a liter is a little more than a quart (1.06 quarts) and the degree Celsius is about half our Fahrenheit temperature after subtracting 32.
Add only six prefixes to your vocabulary and you'll have a basic understanding of the metric system.
Deci means 1 (one tenth) the basic unit, centi means .01 (one hundredth) and milli means .001 (one thousandth) of the basic unit. A centimeter is .01 of a meter. A milligram is .001 of a gram.
Deca means 10 times the basic unit, while hecto means 100 times, and kilo means 1000 times the basic unit. One kilometer equals 1000 meters and is somewhat further than half a mile. One milligram is .001 gram. Milliliter, centiliter and kiloliter will be the most common prefixes used.

To change from one metric unit to another, all you do is multiply or divide by units of tens, or move the decimal point. To find how many meters are in 3.681 kilometers, simply multiply by 1000 (or move the decimal point 3 places to the right). The answer is 3,681 meters. In our English system to find the number of inches in 3.681 miles you first need to multiply by 5,280 and then by 12.
Do you know what season of the year we're in when the weatherman states it's 37 degrees Celsius? On the Celsius scale 0 degrees is the freezing point (32 degrees F.), 100 degrees C. is boiling point (212 degrees F.), 37 degrees Celsius is normal body temperature or 98.6 degrees F. To calculate Celsius temperature, subtract 32 from the Fahrenheit temperature (32 is the difference between the two freezing points) then multiply by five and divide by 9.
Now all that's not hard, is it?

Winside VFD Puts Out Haystack Fire
Winside volunteer fireman Friday afternoon put out a haystack fire on the Wilfred Miller farm, about eight and a half miles southeast of Winside.
According to fire officials, the blaze started from spontaneous combustion. The fire was extinguished after members moved the stack away from nearby haystacks.

Safety Seminar For Employers Set for Oct. 22
Norfolk has been selected as a site for an Occupational Safety and Health Administration Safety Day conference for employers on Oct. 22 at the Villa Inn.
This is the fourth year that the Nebraska Safety Council sponsored event has been held in Norfolk.
The conference will be presented in two separate sessions. The first, beginning at 9:00 a.m. and running through a luncheon, is designated as "OSHA update." Designed for owners, managers and safety directors, it includes a complete review of significant changes in the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) standards and administrative during the past year. Part of the morning program will be an open forum for audience participation.
Also included in the morning session will be information on changes in Nebraska's Workmen's Compensation laws, a brief overview of the most recent congressional action of interest to employers, and a review of key decisions by the Review Commission and the courts.
The luncheon speaker will be Dezhell Ekey, president of Safety Consulting, Inc. of Topeka, Kans. He will talk on "What's Ahead in Health Standards."
The second session, beginning at 1:30 p.m., is titled "Safety for Supervisors—in the Age of OSHA." The purpose of this afternoon session is to expose first-line supervisory personnel to the nuts and bolts of dealing with safety in the workplace. Topics to be covered are hazard identification and correction, employee protection and banding emergencies.
In announcing the conference the Nebraska Safety Council emphasized that this is not an orientation course in the elements of OSHA. It is designed for those who have had experience with the act and wish to have their questions answered by people who are thoroughly familiar with the latest developments.
Also appearing on the program at the Safety Day sessions will be Thomas L. Carroll, Nebraska Safety Council; Robert W. Matz, State Department of Economic Development; Rottin Schneider, Extension Safety, University of Nebraska; and Robert L. Hinman, Safety Consulting, Inc. Schneider will conduct a special discussion for agricultural employers in the afternoon.
There will be a registration fee to cover the costs of the conference. Advanced registrations are required. Further information may be obtained from the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce or from the Nebraska Safety Council in Lincoln.

Thought for Today
By Brian McBride

"Sunshine is delicious, rain is refreshing, wind braces up, snow is exhilarating. There is no such thing as bad weather, only different kinds of good weather."
John Ruskin

Everyone talks about the weather, but Ruskin did something he analyzed it and found it all good! We can assume he never had to change a tire in a pouring rain.

Actually, a steady diet of perfect weather might grow boring. Changes in the weather, even for less-desirable forms including downpours and freezing slush, are beautiful in their own way and certainly serve to make us appreciate those too-rare perfect days.

It is gratifying to realize that most families come to us as a result of recommendations from families we have served.

Clinician: Kiwanis Vital to LD Success

One of the goals this year for Kiwanis International is to help provide a new life for children with learning disabilities.

In line with that goal, a speech clinician who works with LD children told Wayne Kiwanis Monday that their support is vital to the success of the LD program.

Speaking at the luncheon, Mrs. B.J. Hirt, of Wayne, said that usually children with average or above intelligence quota show signs of a learning disability when they aren't learning at the ability rate they should be.

Mrs. Hirt, who works at the Wayne Branch of Education Service Unit No. One located at Wayne State College, pointed out that often parents pass off a child's slow learning pace with such remarks as "he's lazy, immature, or just plain stupid."

Quarterly Wage Reports Due By End of October

Quarterly wage reports and social security contributions for household workers are due by October 31, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

People who pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in any three-month calendar quarter must send a report of the wages, along with the social security contribution to the Internal Revenue Service within one month after the end of the quarter.

Wage reports and social security contributions for July, August and September 1975 are due by October 31. Branch said.

The wage report may be filed on a form available at any Internal Revenue Service Office, Employee Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees for Social Security.

The social security contribution for a household employee is 1.45 percent of covered wages and the employer pays a matching amount.

Social security contributions buy retirement disability, survivors and Medicare protection for workers and their families. People who employ household workers can get a free copy of the booklet "Social Security and Your Household Employee" at the Norfolk social security office at Box 385, 1310 Norfolk Avenue, Phone 371-1555.

If a parent fails to recognize that his child is a slow learner, it will be very difficult to overcome that disability later in life, she warned.

On the other hand, if the problem is discovered while the child is in elementary school, chances are the problem will be better understood and a solution may be found, the speech clinician added.

Often times the learning disability arises because the child has a hearing, speech or coordination defect.

The educational service branch in Wayne is part of a six county network of trained nurses, speech and audio clinicians, psychiatrists and other medically trained personnel available to schools in the area.

Schools in Wayne, Dixon, Cedar, Thurston, Dakota and Knox Counties may contract the services by getting in touch with their county ESU office.

Named to represent the Wayne club on the Title III community counsel board was Dick Armstrong. The board works with the learning disabilities program in Wayne.

Also Monday, members learned that there will be a special Kiwanis meeting in Omaha on Saturday, Nov. 1, for all club members who want to learn about how to draw up a yearly budget. The day long meeting will be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn near Interstate 80.
