

Rough Road Ahead for Highway Design

By JIM STRAYER

If sentiments expressed this week are any indication, Department of Roads (DOR) officials should have a relatively large and attentive audience Monday night when they hold a hearing in Wayne regarding a proposal for improving Highway 15 from Wayne, north.

There seems to be little disagreement that the road needs reamping but owners of property on the west side of the road, for the most part, aren't pleased with the DOR preliminary plans.

The controversy centers around the proposed widening of the highway, and an access road which would be built to serve six homes, just south of Carr Implement Company.

Drawings of the proposed plan weren't available at DOR district engineer Tom McCarthy's office last week but McCarthy had available a written proposal.

According to McCarthy, the project would begin at the main entrance to Wayne State College, described as being 700 feet south of 13th St. From there to a point 6,000 feet north, a little over a mile, the roadway would be widened from its present 30 feet to 52 feet, making it a four-lane road. The road would also be resurfaced to a point near the junction with Highway 116.

McCarthy said the center line would vary depending on terrain features. There would be some encroachment on the Country Club golf course, on the east side of the highway, but not enough to require removing any trees or the elimination of any greens.

For the most part, the centerline in the four-lane strip would shift to the west, and property owners on that side of the road aren't pleased.

Miron Jenness said the road widening would leave about 10 feet of frontage for his Fat Kat drive in, eliminating parking in front of the establishment. Jenness also stands to lose three holes from his Puffi Kat miniature golf course.

A four lane road would create more traffic problems that it would solve, Jenness said.

"It would mean absolute chaos at times. Now, police are able to control heavy traffic leaving the Wayne State campus after events. With the four lane road going south from 14th St., there is no way they could control it, especially when cars would be hitting a bottle neck a half-block south."

Jack March, owner of the Dude Ranch Drive In Theater, said he would lose a fence, hedge and marquee bordering the road, now and would possibly have to relocate the movie screen, built in 1952, and two wings, built in 1964.

The main screen has a concrete base with wooden pole reinforcing but March said he would have to use concrete and steel construction if forced to move the screen. He estimates that would carry a price tag of about $25,000.

"The main question is, do we need four lanes?" March said. "I think that with resurfacing and good shoulders, the two lane road could handle all the traffic."

The next structure north on the west side of the road is a large, two story brick home belonging to John Russell Johnson. He plans to oppose the preliminary design because, if carried out, the widening of the road would alter his driveway, making it difficult to maneuver cattle trucks on and off his farm.

Johnson is also against the design because of what it would do to the landscaping of his front yard, particularly in regard to the removal of four 30 foot tall blue spruce trees. "There's no way anyone can replace them," he said.

"And he doesn't see where the mile plus of four lane road will do much to alleviate traffic problems. When it gets down to Main St. in Wayne, where the traffic is really heavy, it funnels right back down into two lanes."

North of Johnsons, the next building is a white, two story frame farm home owned by Mrs. Laura Banister. While she thinks the road needs to be widened, she plans to ask DOR officials why more land for the four lane strip will come off the west side. "I'd like to know why the improvement doesn't include the golf course."

Heaviest controversy about the proposed design centers around an access road which would be built to serve six homes in a section north of Mrs. Banister's home.

J. Arnold Anderson said he would probably lose some trees and part of his yard to the access road. He and Willard Wiltse, who also lives in the housing section, circulated a petition requesting the upcoming hearing.

Anderson does not see any need for the access road. "It looks to me like someone just wanted to spend some money. Why not spend it where it will do some good?"

Wiltse also questioned the need for the access road. He said the access road would have two entrances to the highway, pointing out that only four driveways now open onto it.

The major safety hazard along the stretch of road, as Wiltse sees it, is a low hill which creates just south of the housing area. Visibility for cars traveling north is poor at that point and Wiltse believes leveling there would do more to improve safety than the access road.

Homes in the area are not connected to city sewer and water lines Wiltse said. See ROAD 15, page 10.

Chest Drive Is Underway

With nearly $4,000 collected by the middle of this week, Wayne's 1975 Community Chest fund drive is about one quarter of the way towards its goal of $12,900.

A total of $3,852 was collected in advance gifts efforts conducted by the Community Chest board late last month, according to drive secretary Marilyn Carhart. Although no exact figure was known following Tuesday's kickoff breakfast, Mrs. Carhart pointed out that donations collected so far have put the new fund drive figure close to it not over $4,000.

Mrs. Carhart said she expects the figure to jump considerably within the next few days when volunteers start calling on peo-

Aircraft Display Planned For Sunday Open House

October 16, General Aviation Week in Nebraska and the Wayne Airport Authority will sponsor an open house at the municipal airport on Sunday.

Airport manager Al Robinson said he is expecting from 20 to 30 aircraft to be on display for the event, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Robinson said 17 of those aircraft belong to local owners and are kept in hangars at the Wayne Airport. In addition, flyers from several other Nebraska communities have been invited to participate in the event and a couple of Robinson's personal friends will be winging in from Illinois if weather permits.

The purpose of the open house is to make for a large awareness of the contribution of general aviation to the community.

General aviation encompasses aircraft not belonging to the large commercial air carriers.

Lecturer Will Take Audience On 'Devil's' Triangle Journey

You may have heard it called the "Hoodoo Sea," "Devil's Triangle," or "Graveyard of the Atlantic." But whatever it is called, the topic of Charles Berlitz' book "The Bermuda Triangle" is most fascinating, and Berlitz himself will be in Wayne to speak on the perplexing phenomena Tuesday evening.

The presentation, one of the Wayne State College special program series, is open to the public. Admission is $15 for adults, 75 cents for high school students and free to children under 12 and WSC students and faculty.

The 8 p.m. program will be held at Ramsey Theatre in the WSC Fine Arts Center unless the crowd becomes too large, in which case it will be moved to Rice Auditorium. Advance reservations, available at the Wayne State College Business Office, are advised but not required.

The Bermuda Triangle of Berlitz' book is an area off the western Atlantic where over 100 planes and ships and 1,000 people have literally vanished into thin air.

City Will Enter Design Phase For Sewage Treatment Project

The Wayne city council Tuesday night passed a resolution to proceed with phase two of a project aimed at bringing the city sewage lagoon up to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) standards by 1977.

The first phase of the project, to determine why the treatment plant isn't meeting those standards, has been completed. The second phase will focus on preparing a design for a project to correct the problem.

The third phase, if the council then gives its approval, would be to proceed with construction of the phase two design.

Federal and state funds would possibly be available for the construction of the project. Phase one was completed at a cost of about $4,000 with local and state sources providing about $300 each and about $3.00 coming from the federal government.

The proposed project to be designed under phase two would consist mainly of digging a second lagoon on a tract of about 40 acres behind the present lagoon. After treatment of lagoon water be pumped out for

Old School Bells Ring New Tune

America's Bicentennial should have new meaning for about 100 third and fourth grade students from West Elementary School.

The children had studied early American history, their teachers had told them of pioneer life, but it all became real Friday, when four classes visited the Mamie McCorkindale School Museum on the Wayne State College campus, making believe for a short time that they were students in a country school of early American vintage.

Many of the youngsters dressed up for the occasion, and knee breeches, overalls, tricor hats, boots, calico skirts and sunbonnets added to the illusion.

The school, moved to the Wayne State campus by the Wayne State Foundation ten years ago to serve as a museum, was again alive with laughter, and echoed the sound of children's hurried footsteps on the bare wooden floor. Before the children left and the door was once more locked, the musty museum odor had disappeared, and if you used your imagination you could smell the apples that some of the children might have brought from their parents' cellars for lunch, and the wood or coal fire that might have been burning in the polished, potbelly stove.

The children adopted quickly, if not seriously, old time ways, standing attentively for recitation, and sitting, almost quietly, with hands folded on the scarred desk tops during class.

They tried on the dunce cap. They looked critically at the kerosene lamps. They played and sang along to the majestic old pump organ. And they carefully passed around the stereo scopes with views of far-away places.

Some of the children walked from West Elementary School to the country school museum, and others returned to their regular classrooms by foot so they could better imagine the tales told by their grandparents of tramping across fields to reach their own country schools.

All classes have visitors, and the Friday Bicentennial classes at McCorkindale School were no exception. Visitors during the day included Val Peterson, former Nebraska governor and ambassador to Finland and Denmark; Peterson, who serves as distinguished professor of political science at Wayne State College, explained to the youngsters that he had once taught in a school of this type near Carroll.

Other visitors during the day were Charles Kay, executive secretary of the Wayne State Foundation, Roberta Welte, Wayne city bicentennial committee chairman, and inquisitive

Woody Allen Comedy to Open Oct. 26

The first production by the Wayne State Theatre Department will be "Don't Drink the Water," a comedy by Woody Allen, concerning the adventures of an American family trapped in an American Embassy behind the iron curtain.

The production will open Sunday, Oct. 26, and will run through the 28th. A 2 p.m. matinee is scheduled for Sunday and evening performances will follow on Monday and Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The audience will be introduced to the "Don't Drink the Water" plot as the story unfolds inside an American Embassy where an American tourist, Walter Hollander, his wife, Marion, and their daughter, Susan, seek refuge from police who suspect them of spying.

But, it's not much of a refuge for the three as Ambassador Magee has left his son Axel, a political failure, in charge. Nevertheless they carefully and frantically plot their escape and Axel and Susan even have time to fall in love.

Cast as Walter Hollander is Noel Rennerfeldt who has been active in several other productions of Wayne State's Theatre Department. Last year Noel appeared as Don Baker in "Butterflies Are Free" at Wayne State and at the Valley View Country Club in Fremont. A 1972 graduate of Oakland Craig High School, Noel will graduate this December from Wayne State.

Portraying his wife, Marion, is Jean Dederman, a 1968 graduate of Norfolk Senior High School and a 1974 graduate of Northeast Nebraska Community College at Norfolk. While attending NNTCC, Jean was an active member of the theatre and appeared as Ophelia in "Lily, the Felon's Daughter." She is presently attending classes at Wayne State with a double major in English and speech.

Playing the part of Susan, their daughter, is a sophomore with a double major in theatre and speech, Jackie Meisel. Jackie graduated in 1974 from Norfolk Catholic High School where she appeared in such plays as "Boar of the Grease Paint" and "The Crow" and "Camelot."

The part of Axel Magee will be played by Wayne Hendricks, a freshman with a major in communication arts and a minor in math. He is a 1975 graduate of David City Public High School. Tickets will be $2 at the door. Season tickets good for five plays throughout the season, will be available for $7.50 each. Students and faculty members will be admitted free with identification.

Thought for Today

By Brian McBride

"You cannot do a kindness too soon; you never know how soon it will be too late."

Ralph Waldo Emerson

If more people followed this advice from Emerson's essay on Compensation, the world would be a nicer place. For some reason, we tend to procrastinate on performance of kindnesses, perhaps because we think there'll be a better time tomorrow, or next week, or next month.

When a death occurs, grief is often intensified for those of the bereaved who call to mind the nice things they intended doing for the deceased, but just never got around to, until too late.

For us, there are no "minor details." Every aspect of a funeral service is important to the families we serve and therefore merits our most careful attention.

Foreign-Born Population Low In Local Area, Report Shows

What adjustments, if any, will have to be made in Wayne County to conform with federally-mandated changes in election procedures, enacted this year, to aid voters who have language difficulties?

How many are there in the local area who have trouble voting intelligently because of an inadequate grasp of English?

Many of the problems that led to the 1975 amendments to the Voting Rights Act stemmed from the relaxation of immigration restraints in 1965. It resulted in a big increase in the number of foreign-born in this county.

Most of them have adapted, or are adapting, to their new surroundings and to the language. Some still need help, however.

Essentially, the special assistance comes into play, states the Department of Justice, in places where more than five percent of the citizens of voting age are members of a single language minority and where the illiteracy rate is higher than the national average.

In such cases, the communities are being required to furnish bi-lingual election materials and special monitors at polling places.

The latest figures for Wayne County show that 1.7 percent of the local population is foreign born.

In other parts of the country the average is 4.9 percent and in the State of Nebraska, 1.9 percent.

The picture of the local area, viewed from another angle, is one of a population in which 84.0 percent of the residents are native-born Americans, three generations or more in depth.

Thus far, the Census Bureau reports, communities in several of the states, where the illiteracy rate is high, have been ordered by the government to provide special voter assistance to those needing it.

Similar determinations are being made for the other states, using data from the last census, the statistics on the percentage of people who cast ballots in 1972 and estimates of the voting age population.

The illiteracy rate, defined as the proportion of the adult population with less than five years of schooling, has been dropping steadily in Wayne County. The latest figures put it at 2.1 percent.

EXTENSION NOTES

MUSIC and Children Children love music and music can help them learn. Children are naturally curious and very interested in musical sounds, you can provide simple musical instruments such as bells, hol low blocks, old pots and pans plus their lids. This will intrigue most children and the more they listen, the better they will be able to keep time to the music.

Children don't care if you are a good singer or not - in fact, they most likely don't know the difference. The important thing is that they learn the pleasant experience of music. Your child will probably have more fun singing alone or just with you when he is younger. And by preschool age he will enjoy group participation.

Exposure to music can help children enlarge their vocabularies and increase their attention span. Songs with actions can help their muscle coordination and develop a sense of rhythm.

Children love singing the same songs over and over, just as they love having the same story repeated to them. A song that has a phrase repeated many times is easy for them to remember.

Children like songs about every day things they are familiar with - dogs, cats, trees, balls. Also, their songs may have nonsense sounds.

WAYNE, NEBRASKA

WH Spikers Are Seeded 1st in Division Playoff

Wayne High's varsity spikers Monday afternoon will head into the eight-team West Husker Conference tournament seeded No. one with a 10-1 record.

Coach Mavis Dalton's squad chalked up win No. 10 Tuesday night with 15-9 and 16-14 set victories over visiting Hartington-Cedar Catholic to top up regular season play with the team's best record in its three-year history.

Seniors Kris Nedergaard and Susan Jacobmeier powered the locals to their victories with 10 and seven serve points for the night. Wayne easily mastered Cedar in the first set. Cedar made the second set score a lot closer when "our gals kind of let up," Mrs. Dalton noted.

Jacobmeier and junior Julie Kovensky had good net games, the coach added.

Both the reserve and freshmen teams posted victories in Laurel JVs Fall

Hartington Cedar Catholic reserve football team Monday defeated Laurel 14-6. Ron Gadenken scored the Bears' six points in the first half.

Monday standouts for Laurel were Scott Pigg, Calvin Bingham and Clyde Matthews.

Wayne High continues to slip in the weekly Class B football ratings despite the Devils' unblemished record in five games.

Wayne tumbled from last week's fifth-place ranking to seventh, according to the Omaha World-Herald. The week before Wayne had been ranked fourth in the state.

Lincoln Plus X and Holdrege still are one-two with 6-0 records. Also is third-ranked Ogallala. Fourth-ranked Lexington and fifth-ranked Waverly are 4-1 while sixth-ranked York is 6-0.

One consolation this week for coach Al Hansen's Devils, Wayne and Creighton are tied for first in the playoff point standings with 42 points each.

Colby's Scotus drops from first to third with 40 points after Scotus suffered its first loss Friday night against Wahoo Neumann.

Winside's victory Friday over previously unbeaten Ponca pushed the Wildcats into second place in the playoff standings in District 2 of Class C. Winside, 4-2, has 38.3 points while No. one Scribner, 6-0, has 45.3 points.

In District 4 of Class C-1, Laurel is fifth with 38.3 points. The Bears are 2-11 after last Friday's 14 tie with O'Neill.

Whitesole Leader In 7-8 FB League

The White team upset the Gold club, 8-0, in seventh and eighth grade recreation football Tuesday night.

The victory puts the White club on top of the three team league which broke into the endzone from four yards for the only touchdown of the game.

Bryan Aquirre capped a 40 yard scoring drive in the first period when he broke into the endzone from four yards for the only touchdown of the game.

WAYNE HIGH varsity player Linda Costello left dives to return a serve in first set action against Hartington Cedar Catholic Tuesday night while teammate Susan Jacobmeier watches. On the right senior Jan Hochstetler leaps high into the air to hit the ball. Tuesday night's action was the season home finale for the 10-1 varsity club. Next on the schedule is the West Husker tournament on Monday at Columbus Lakeview.

Wildcats Winning Recipe Needs One Antelope Served Well Done

When the football chef matches Wayne State and Kearney State, then sprinkles that seasoning called Wildcat Days on the gridiron dish, what more need to be said.

That's the matchup for Saturday afternoon, 1:30, at Wayne's Memorial Stadium. And the only certainty is that no coach will find need to "get his team up."

Consider these facts: Kearney already owns two conference victories, 33-0 over Chadron State and 31-0 over Peru State.

Wayne's only conference outing yielded a 3-0 loss to Chadron last Saturday.

That means the Wildcats must beat both Kearney and Peru to gain a title share while a Kearney win obviously means a solo championship.

Both teams currently own what they consider "disappointing" records: the Wildcats 3-2 and the Antelopes 1-2.

Both teams occupy customary positions in Nebraska NFAA statistics: Kearney No. one in team offense with a 349 yard total average, 39 yards better than fifth place Wayne's 310.

Wayne No. one in team defense with a 63 yard average, 30 yards better than No. two Kearney's 93.

That latter figure is the surprise of 1975 Nebraska football for years the Antelope bothered little about defense figuring to run and pass the foe to death which they did most of the time.

Three weeks ago Wayne and Peru clashed as the top two defensive teams and Wayne emerged a 25-14 winner. This time the Wildcats face a more potent offense from Kearney.

Both teams have suffered casualties. Kearney with two starters out for the season, Wayne with two regulars doubtful for Saturday.

Last Saturday's brutal defensive battle with Chadron left offensive tackle Mike Schuster and tight end Jerry Bayne with injuries to knee and foot, respectively.

Winside-Osmond Battle To Decide Loop Winner

Winside's hopes for a sweep of the Clark division of the Lewis and Clark Conference rides on Tuesday night's home volleyball contest against loop leader Osmond.

The Wildkittens, who are 3-1 in the division, must stop Osmond from winning its fifth straight conference match if they want to represent the six team division in the conference playoffs on Monday, Oct. 27.

Coach Don Leighton is hoping that Tuesday night's loss to Strong Class C Pierce won't hurt his team's chances to play well against Osmond.

"We've been down the last couple of games, but I'm hoping this (Pierce loss) will be the beginning of a comeback," Leighton said.

Winside started both varsity sets with the look of a comeback club when the Wildkittens jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the first set and tied Pierce the second set, 6-15 and 8-15. The loss drops Winside's overall record to 5-6.

Senior Tammy Gramberg was eight for eight in serves while seniors Cindy Thomas and Tami Koll were six for six.

The reserve team posted the only victory of the night as the home team won 5-0 and 15-10. Top servers were Darci Janke, Janice Longnecker, Lori Liene, Jean Wacker and Barb Peter. The reserves are 3-3.

In another reserve game, Pierce won 7-15 and 5-15. Janelle Goldberg, Elizabeth Brockmeier and Jackie Gramberg were the top servers. Leighton explained that the second reserve match was for those sophomores and junior players who don't play many games during the season.

The C team lost its fourth match in eight games, 15-9 and 15-11. Kristi Durling and Lisa Longnecker played well. Leighton noted.

Wayne Reserves Overcome WPPC

A touchdown by quarterback Vic Sharpe and a two-point conversion by Kelly Hansen Monday gave Wayne High's reserves a 14-8 victory over host West Point Central Catholic.

With four minutes left in the game, Sharpe broke around the end on a booting play and scrambled 28 yards for the winning touchdown as the locals boosted their record to 3-2. On Wednesday, Oct. 29, the reserves rap up their season with a home tilt against South Sioux City. Game time is 3:30 p.m. at the practice football field near West Elementary School.

Wayne took a 6-0 lead in the opening quarter. Hansen broke into the endzone from two yards out to cap a 72-yard march on the field. West Point clipped Wayne's lead by two points early in the second frame when Hansen was caught in the end zone for a safety while attempting to field a punt. Later that frame, West Point scored for an 8-6 halftime command.

Hansen led coach Ron Carnes' rushers with 90 yards in 18 carries while Sharpe had 16 yards in three foles.

Ralph Atkins led defenders with eight tackles. Hansen had seven and Tom Nissen had five.

Wayne JVs Fall to USD

Down 27-0 at the half, Wayne State's junior varsity football team scored three touchdowns to give the University of South Dakota Jayvees a 27-19 score Monday at Vermillion.

Mark Erhart, freshman from Springfield, accounted for the first two Wildcat scores, on runs of 10 and two yards in the third and fourth quarters. The first capped a three-play, 43-yard sweep, but the second needed a dozen plays to cover 25 yards. Mike Schenck, Mullen freshman, kicked a point after the second touchdown.

The final Wayne tally came with 12 seconds left as Brian Elliott, senior from Roselle, Ill., ran three yards, ending a 58-yard drive in seven plays.

In District 4 of Class C-1, Laurel is fifth with 38.3 points. The Bears are 2-11 after last Friday's 14 tie with O'Neill.

ONE HUNDRED forty-one students at Wayne High have officially voiced their opinions in favor of a girls athlete of the week award.

The signed petition arrived Monday morning along with a note from the gal who inspired the drive. "We the undersigned, believe that The Wayne Herald should publish an 'Athlete of the Week' award for girls athletes as well as our male counterparts." In a further note, she goes on: "Dear Mr. B. I could have gotten more names, but I have to meet your Monday deadline so am mailing Saturday! Thanks for your cooperation in this matter. We really appreciate it! Thanks again, Sara Gavitt."

Several weeks ago Miss Gavitt approached me on the idea of a girls athlete award. I said I'd take the question to readers and see how they feel about it. So early this year students from two of the five area high schools have responded to the question of having a girls award separate from the regular weekly "Athlete of the Week" award. Lori Ervin of Allen was the first to write in favoring the award.

As I told Sara during our first talk, I need to know how coaches, athletes as well as parents feel about the separate award before the decision is final. Still to be heard from are Winside, Laurel and Wakefield fans.

If there is a majority in favor of the award, perhaps it could be started in spring when girls track begins.

ACTIVITIES in Second Guessers continue to buzz along. Latest goal of club members is to work with members of Wayne State's "W-Club" in building a W-Club room.

The idea came up during last Thursday's meeting after a three-man Guessers committee met with representatives from the W-Club to work on plans to develop a meeting room, hopefully in one of the rooms in Rice Auditorium.

According to Rowan Wiltsie, one of the committeemen representing the Guessers, both committees first have to get permission from college officials before going ahead with building a W-Club room.

Idag of the room is to have a meeting place for W-Club members as well as a place for parents and guests to gather, say, following a home basketball game.

Working with the W-Club on this project is one of many ideas members have proposed as part of the Guessers' goal of total involvement with the Wayne State sports program.

Other ideas include donations to assist in recruiting; to carpet the varsity locker room; to build an additional hand ball court; to offer scholarships; to build a new weight room; to renovate entrance to Rice; and to help buy new scoreboards for football, basketball and baseball.

Of course, none of the ideas are listed in order of importance, nor are they the only goals of the club. If you have a good suggestion for one of the club's goals, why not attend this week's meeting today (Thursday) at the Cornhusker Cafe. Meeting time is noon.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA football followers have been known to show their team spirit in many ways. Most avid fans who attend Saturday games at Memorial Stadium in Lincoln are clad in Big Red colors. Some wear neckties with the words Go Big Red printed on them.

Last week I spotted another Go Big Red marking that wasn't particularly unique, but eye-catching. On his (or her) car license plate read, "Neb. 1." Nothing really unusual about that marking, except it was on a Rhode Island plate.

Emerson Hubbard junior high gridlers defeated Winside, 20-6, in a Monday afternoon contest at Winside.

The visitors scored twice in the first half for a 12-6 halftime lead before they added the final TD in the fourth period. The loss is Winside's second against no wins and a tie.

Tuesday night coach Mike Jones' Winside club will close this season with a home match against Osmond.

Brian Foote went 11 yards for the score to complete Winside's 66-yard scoring drive in the first half. The extra-point attempt failed.

Winside's offense, led by Roger Prince with about 60 yards, collected 149 yards. Leading the defense was Bill Gottberg with 10 tackles and one assist; Bob Hakwains with five tackles and two assists, and Prince with five tackles and one assist.

Winside stopped its chances for a victory when the junior high team coughed up the ball five times.

All three Wakefield volleyball teams ended their seasons Tuesday on winning notes as the home teams defeated Stanton. Led by balanced scoring, Wakefield's varsity won a pair of 15-5 sets to end regular season play with a 7-4 record. Monday afternoon at 3 coach Earnie Kovar's spikers head to Columbus Lakeview for the West Husker volleyball tournament. The second seeded Trojanettes will play Wisner Pilger. Leading point-makers in Tuesday's victory were Renee Wilson and Tammy Murphy with seven and six points. The reserve team ended its season with a 4-7 mark with set wins of 15-6 and 15-3. In C team sets, Wakefield won two 15-9 sets for a 4-5 season record. Monday night visiting Lyons handed Wakefield's varsity and reserves each a loss. Wakefield went three sets before losing its fourth match. The set scores were 15-6, 7-15 and 6-15. "The last two sets, we made an awful lot of mistakes. The kids just looked tired," Kovar said. Junior Mary Kober had 11 serve points to lead Wakefield scoring

Experience Pays Off for Allen Driver

Loren Reuter's experience driving modified racing cars has paid off this year in gokart racing. In his first year racing gokarts, the 23-year-old Allen native has won the top points-standings trophy at Fremont. He won the top-award after winning three first place trophies during the summer season as well as placing second and third in other Fremont races.

Reuter, who gave up driving modified racing cars because of the high operating costs, pointed out that his experience driving the big race cars has turned out to be very valuable in handling the smaller gokarts.

"Learning to pace yourself in a crowd, taking turns and passing are some of the benefits he picked up. Gokart racing is more of a driving sport than a speed sport. You have to be able to control your car," he said.

Reuter travels on an one-eighth mile track, going as fast as 80 miles per hour. Because of the high speeds, Reuter cautioned that gokart racing isn't any less dangerous than racing modified cars.

"There aren't any seatbelts or protection cages to surround the driver. If a driver is in a collision or is hit, it is better for him to roll off the vehicle rather than be pinned and possibly receive serious injuries," he noted.

DURING the early part of the season, Reuter had won two of his first-place trophies while racing at Fremont.

Most drivers, he added, do wear a helmet and gloves. Several pointers Reuter has picked up in learning to become a driver are to be aware of your vehicle, especially the tire pressure, engine and track conditions, as well as be aware of the other drivers on the track. Because the condition of the track changes every day, a driver should be well aware of the track conditions before he races. Reuter went on to say that racing in the Reuter family is almost a handed down tradition.

If a driver is in a collision or is hit, it is better for him to roll off the vehicle rather than be pinned and possibly receive serious injuries," he noted. Gold II Defeats Whites by 14-8

The Gold's 14-8 victory over the Whites Tuesday night created a three way tie for first place in the fifth and sixth grade recreation football league. Both teams plus the Blue squad have 11 records.

Gold quarterback Kent Mills put his team in front early in the game when he scored on a five yard keeper. With 30 seconds left in the half, Jim Sperry ran off tackle for an 18 yard touchdown before he scored the two-point conversion to give the Whites an 8-6 command.

The Gold team got its insurance touchdown late in the third quarter when John Jacobmeier intercepted a Tom Schwartz pass and ran it back to the Whites' 20. Several plays later Mark Hummel scored from two yards out and Mills hit Tod Davie for the two-point play and the victory.

The White team had a chance late in the fourth to pull out the game. But the Gold defense held on the eight yard line where time ran out.

Tuesday night the Blue and Gold teams tangled at 6:45 at the city ball park. Outstanding players in this week's game: Golds- Scott Bowser, Steve Hurd, Shawn Niemann, Hummel, Mills, Jacobmeier and Davie; Whites- Rocky Schultz, Tim Heiler, Bob Liska, Mark Meyer, Steve Kovensky and Sperry.

Athlete Of The Week

MARK BRANDT
Wayne High School

The power running and positive pass catching by Wayne High junior Mark Brandt has earned the local gridder this week's "Athlete of the Week" award. Brandt ran for 108 yards on 13 carries and caught five passes for 27 yards Friday to lead the Blue Devils over upset-minded Madison, 19-6, for Wayne's fifth straight win. Son of Ed and Mrs. Irv Brandt of Wayne, Mark picked up 23 rushing yards in last kicking seconds of the first half when the Devils started their traditional scoring march. As Wayne High coach Al Hansen pointed out about his leading rusher, "Mark is getting smarter and tougher" as his career progresses. Friday's victory wasn't the first time the speedster has gone over the 100 yard mark in rushing. Against Wisner Pilger, he picked up 135 yards in 18 carries and scored two touchdowns on passes, to once again lead Wayne. Fact is, Brandt has led Devil runners in four of the team's five games. In the Tekamah Herman battle he had 87 yards and in the Blair game he had 79 yards.

resolution to certify that the project meets FEMA standards. A resolution had been passed at the last regular council meeting but a paragraph had to be added requiring that all buildings erected on the site would be above the 100-year flood plain level.

During a discussion of the Nebraska open meeting law, councilman Ted Bahe read a prepared reply to editorials critical of the council, concerning a closed session at the last regular meeting. A text of Bahe's remarks will appear on the editorial page of the Oct. 20 issue of The Wayne Herald.

The council had voted to go into closed session to discuss a proposed raise for Brink. After returning from the session a motion was passed directing city attorney Budd Bornholt to draft an ordinance setting the salary at $20,700.

That ordinance failed Tuesday to gain the six votes necessary to suspend a statutory rule requiring that ordinances be read on three separate occasions. The vote was split with council members Vernon Russell, John Vakoc, Jimmie Thomas and Carolyn Filter voting no.

Second reading of the ordinance will be at the next regular meeting.

Also failing to gain first round approval was an ordinance which would set the occupation tax on liquor licenses issued within the city at twice the amount of the license fee, the maximum occupation tax allowed.

Negative votes were cast by Russell, Vakoc, Thomas and Filter. Council members said they voted against suspension of the statutory rules because they would like to hear the opinions of licensees in the city.

Dick Korn, owner of the NU Tavern, was present at the meeting and said he agreed that levying of an occupation tax was fair because the number of license holders is limited, but asked that the limit be enforced.

A date was to have been set for a public hearing to consider Korn's request for a Class C liquor license but his application had not yet been returned by the state liquor commission to city clerk-treasurer Bruce Mordhars.

Brink got approval to advertise several parcels of city property for sale through an auction. The land sale had been discussed previously and Brink said it had been suggested to his date was to be handled through an auction.

The council gave approval to advertise the auction locally. Parcels up for sale will include a 17 acre tract at the foot of Pearl St., a section at the intersection of Pearl and Chicago and North Western railroad tracks, a piece behind the city auditorium and a plot immediately west of the former street department shop.

Brink said he would have to continue the auction before the date could be set. Formal council action will be necessary to approve terms of sale.

The Wayne swimming pool may be getting a major overhaul soon. Brink said it had been suggested that the pool be closed this summer that the filtration system be renovated and he added his recommendation that the pumping system be rebuilt because of the deteriorated condition of plumbing.

The Grand Island pool company of Grand Island has quoted Brink prices of $1,060 to overhaul the filtering system and $4,738 for the pumping system.

Vakoc suggested that Brink make further contacts for bids and made a motion to that effect. The motion was approved by a 5-2 vote with objections from Robert Hansen and Leo Hansen.

The city moved a step closer to a pilot project for a municipal taxi when the council authorized Brink to start application procedures to the Nebraska Public Service Commission but a considerable number of details must be worked out before the council votes on whether or not to proceed with the project.

Brink said the PSC had indicated that the Nebraska Public Service Commission might not be able to handle the service if it didn't appear feasible following the Fryout period.

The council had expressed interest in the possibility that the city might be stuck with operating a taxi after gaining PSC approval for it. The PSC policy of termination may have removed that obstacle, but the council must still decide which vehicle will be used to obtain a driver and set rates and policies before they would be able to give final approval.

In other action the council authorized Brink to advertise for bids for a police cruiser, a fire truck and an industrial tractor. Bid specifications for the cruiser must first be inspected by the city engineer. Specification for a fire truck must be reexamined because of irregularities.

—Passed a resolution to erect "No Parking" signs along Providence Rd. a condition of sale for the property on which the road was built.

—Approved Decker's appointment of Randy Gethje as a volunteer fireman.

—Approved the purchase of fertilizer for city parks. Brink had obtained recommendations at the council's request, on what could be done to improve the condition of the parks.

—Directed Brink to find out if a situation concerning backup ambulance service was temporary. The matter was brought to the council's attention by a letter from Providence Medical Center administrator Charles Thomas saying the medical center could not be responsible for lack of ambulance coverage when the primary ambulance is already engaged, if the city does not provide backup coverage with a station wagon and manpower, as previously agreed.

The council questioned whether it had ever agreed to provide backup coverage but expressed its desire to cooperate with the hospital as much as possible and directed Brink to see if the situation is temporary or long-term in nature.

Chest Drive

"The last two years the figures have really been coming up," Workman said about the 1973 and 1974 drives which met their goals. "This year's $12,900 goal is about $1,500 more than last year, but I don't think it's much out of line. We can do it," he said.

Workman emphasized that workers should attempt to call on the people they are to seek donations for by the end of this week or early next week so that the drive can be concluded as quickly as possible.

Workman also urged workers to ask for at least a $10 donation in order to meet this year's goal. Ten dollars may seem like a lot of money, he went on, but that amount divided among nine agencies is about $1 for each group.

"We have 1,270 cards with names of persons living in Wayne who should be able to contribute. If each person gives $10 we can reach our goal."

Workers are to turn their contributions over to their captains, who will then turn them over to members of the board of directors of the Community Chest. Captains may also drop off contributions at either the First National Bank or State National Bank.

Following are the amounts the nine different agencies will receive if this year's drive reaches its $12,900 goal: City recreation program, $2,000; Boy Scouts $1,500; Girl Scouts, $2,400; Salvation Army, $1,400; Senior Citizens Center, $700; Arthritis Foundation, $700; Red Cross $500; National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, $300; Florence Crittenton Home in Omaha, a home for unweaned mothers.

and the access road would mean that septic tanks for homes there would have to be moved. Finding a location would be difficult, he said, because water wells for the homes are located behind the houses and health regulations stipulate how far sewage tanks must be from water sources.

Wittse also failing to see the wisdom of building a four lane road through an area which he believes probably will never carry much more traffic than it does now.

"There isn't going to be much more development through here," he explained. "We know there will never be any commercial or industrial development on the east side of the highway because the golf course is located there. If anything needs to be extended from Fredrickson's Oil, it would say it would be Main St. That's where the bottle neck is."

Neighbor Doug Lyman agrees with Wittse, saying he might favor a four lane road if it would extend from Fredrickson's Oil south through Wayne.

Otherwise, Lyman said, "We need a four lane highway out here like we need a hole in the head."

Lyman favors resurfacing the four lane highway, putting good shoulders on it and leaving the south of the housing area and making a "no passing" zone in the section for cars traveling north.

Mrs. Rose Heithold said she is taking a wait-and-see attitude for now. She plans to attend the hearing and form her opinion after she knows exactly what the proposal includes, how it will affect her and if she will incur any financial loss.

Robert Fryer recently bought a home in the area and he checked the DOR plans before purchasing.

He favors the access road, with reservations.

"The advantage for me is that it would provide a safety factor for my children," Fryer said. "The big advantage is providing a buffer between his home and the main highway. The Dvyers have two children, ages three and four.

Spirited COOKING

THE SOUP SOLUTION

If you're ever in the soup for lack of something to serve surprise visitors, here's a recipe that's full of beans & can really help you stretch that problem.

BEAN AND BACON SOUP

8 strips of bacon, cooked and crumbled
4 cans (11-1/2 ounces) condensed bean and bacon soup cooked according to directions
1/2 cup Scotch or blended whiskey
1/4 cup cider vinegar
6 tablespoons maple syrup
1/4 cup ketchup
1/2 teaspoon onion salt
4-8 lemon slices

Combine bacon, soup, 1/4 cup of Scotch or blended whiskey and remaining ingredients, except lemon slices. Bring to boil, stirring well to combine. Garnish with lemon slices. Warm reserved 1/4 cup Scotch in ladle or small saucepan. Ignite and pour over soup. Makes about 8 servings.

It certainly seems like one warm and hearty way to say "welcome."

Allow More Time For Duplicate Card

Lost your social security card? You can get a duplicate by notifying any social security office, and generally it can be handled by mail, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.
You can usually get a duplicate card faster if you've kept a record of your social security number and give it to us when you report your loss.
"Your duplicate card will have the same social security number on it," he said. "Your social security number is yours alone and remains the same for life."
A social security card is issued with two parts, prefabricated so the card itself—the smaller part—can be detached and carried in purse or wallet.
The card you carry is the part you show to an employer to be sure he correctly copies your name and social security number into his records. The remaining larger part should be kept in a safe place as a permanent record of your social security number.
People's earnings from jobs covered by social security are credited to their social security number to build retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare protection for themselves and their families.
People should apply for a social security card several weeks before they need the number for a job, according to Branch. Over nine million duplicate social security cards were issued last year.
The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Norfolk social security office is at Box 389, 1310 Norfolk Avenue, Norfolk, Nebraska 68701.

Dwindling state funds could mean special legislative session

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN — Gov. J.J. Exon may be summoning the State Legislature back into session.
The governor raised the possibility last week. He said the senators may be needed to resolve what he described as a "severe financial crunch."
The special session idea wasn't too popular with the lawmakers, but the governor said the dwindling balance in the state's general fund won't finance all the expenditures proposed by the budgets for the fiscal year that ends next June.

Without cutbacks in these budgets, Exon said "dramatic increases" may be needed in the state's tax rates.
The State Board of Equalization, with Exon as chairman, must convene by Nov. 15 to set the 1976 sales and income tax rates. The governor said that when the increases would be imposed, unless through legislative action, authorized spending is slashed.

What Exon has proposed—and what he says he will set before the lawmakers in detail if he calls a special session—is a new budget for the second half of the fiscal year. A smaller budget.
There are some pressures for increases and the governor said it may be necessary to boost the appropriations for some agencies, but he said there would have to be greater cuts for other programs to make up for the increases and still allow the state to get along without raising the tax rates too much.

The current tax rates are 2.5 per cent on sales and 12 per cent (of federal liability) on income. Exon had asked the 1975 legislature for a 13 per cent income tax and he said last week the current crunch could have been avoided if his pleas had been honored by the senators.
The legislators, however, rejected the 13 per cent rate and directed the State Board of Equalization to review the taxes and raise the income tax levy if it thought it necessary—but to no more than 12 per cent.
Now, Exon is saying, "I told you so."
General Fund Lowest in Memory
He said the state's general fund balance last Wednesday was $7.7 million.
That, according to Exon, is the lowest anyone around here can remember.
At the end of September of a year ago, it put the $7.4 million in perspective, the balance was $68.8 million.
It's not that the state is collecting less from its taxes. Tax Commissioner William E. Peters said it's that the rate of growth is declining and expenditures have increased.
The administration has raised the cry for years that the legislature is composed of spenders and, despite frequent Exon vetoes, jeopardizes the "line" the governor wants held.
Senators, on the other hand, have accused Exon of deferring needed programs and construction projects. They said they have had to perform the politically unpopular task of providing money for necessary state government chores.
The 12 per cent limit the senators placed on the 1976 income tax rate was established, the lawmakers claim, after projections of revenue and expenditures showed the current fiscal period could be negotiated without any higher rate.

At the time, the administration was claiming that, even if that were true and the Exon team expressed doubt that it was, a 13 per cent rate in 1975 would eliminate the need for a much higher rate, even the possibility of a sales tax increase, in 1976.
That's about what the governor is saying now. Unless the spending that will occur in the remainder of this fiscal year is cutback, it will take "dramatic" tax rate hikes in 1976 to keep the state afloat financially.
Exon didn't say what rates would be needed, nor did he say where or how much the cutting would be done. The governor said he would have a specific program ready for legislative consideration if he decides a special session is necessary.
The decision on a special session, Exon said, would be made in a few days. (It may have been made by the time this reaches you.)
Speed Case Argued
Another pending decision concerns speeders on Nebraska's Interstate Highway.
The State Supreme Court heard arguments last week in a case in which the attorney general's office acting at the request of the Exon administration—is trying to have a 1975 law declared unconstitutional.
The state is claiming the waiver of court costs for persons convicted of speeding up to 10 miles per hour beyond the 55 mph limit on the Interstate violates the constitutional provision that everyone receive equal treatment.
The Lincoln municipal judges are taking the other side. They say the law is clearly constitutional because it applies to everyone who drives on the Interstate.

Leshner: foreign investors? We need the jobs

Some people believe American jobs are lost ("exported") when an American company builds a factory abroad.
It's easy to see why a person would jump to that conclusion, although the record doesn't support it. In fact, the U.S. companies that have expanded most overseas also tend to be those that have expanded employment significantly here as well.
But it is true that when an American company starts a branch in a foreign country, new jobs are created in that country. And it is also true that a foreign company can create jobs here in the same way.
Since we need more jobs to offer the unemployed; you would think foreign investors would be welcome here. However, the idea of foreigners owning American businesses makes some people nervous.
These fears are not new. Back in 1971, we were worrying about the same issue. The first Secretary of the Treasury, Alexander Hamilton, told Congress in that year: "Rather than be judged a rival, if (foreign investment) ought to be considered an auxiliary all the more precious because it alone permits an increased amount of productive labor and useful enterprise to be set to work."

It's a good thing Congress listened to Hamilton America was built largely with other people's money. We were a net importer of capital (that is, foreign investment in the U.S. was greater than U.S. investment overseas) until the First World War, when Europe began to cash in its overseas holdings to finance the conflict.
But times changed. Most Americans alive today were born and have spent their lives in an era when new direct foreign investment here was almost nonexistent. And the few remaining, old-time foreign-owned companies have become so familiar that we think of them as American.
Now, the pattern is changing again. Foreign investment in the U.S. is picking up, and so, consequently, is the controversy over it.
Why would anybody fear foreign investment? Usually, three arguments are made against it:
1. Foreigners might "buy up" an entire vital U.S. industry—such as food production—and use their control to blackmail us.

There's a lot wrong with this theory. First, no foreign country is likely to have enough money to buy a major U.S. industry—we're too big. Second, such concentrations of ownership are forbidden by U.S. law, which applies to all companies operating in the U.S., no matter what their ownership. Third, in especially sensitive industries—such as communications, there are legal limits on foreign investment.
2. Foreigners might gain control of our defense suppliers.
This, too, is regulated closely by the U.S. government.
3. Foreigners might "steal" U.S. technology.
Foreigners are more likely to buy U.S. technology—and pay well for it. Too but it works two ways. We no longer have a technological lead over the rest of the world in everything. In some cases, foreign owners would actually be introducing valuable new technology into the U.S.
It's important to keep things in perspective. Total long-term U.S. investment abroad at the end of 1973 was $132 billion; total foreign investment in the U.S. at that time was $55 billion.
If we put unfairly harsh restrictions on foreign investors in our markets, other countries would retaliate against our investments on their shores—and we have more to lose from that kind of contest than all the rest of the world put together.
Besides, we need the jobs. — Richard Leshner, President, U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Senior Citizens Thank Wayne Lions Club

Dear Editor:
On behalf of the senior citizens of Wayne, I would like to thank the Wayne Lions Club members for furnishing rides to senior citizens of Wayne to tour the new Providence Medical Center on Sunday afternoon, in observance of World Service Day, a day set aside by members of International Lions Club.
The goal of the special day was to demonstrate the humanitarian principles of the Lions organization.
We want to thank Sister Alice our very capable tour guide and also say thank you for the refreshments of juice and cookies.
I personally thank the Wayne Lions Club for contacting me to get in touch with the senior citizens that wanted to take the tour, by answering our phone here at the center, and by personal contacts. Good things come when persons in the community cooperate in their efforts to achieve, and to help others.
Thanks again to those good Wayne Lions, for furnishing transportation, and helping us inside on the tour. Pastor Upton, Jon Haas, Don Langston and Eldon Bull.
Thanks to the Wayne Herald and to KTCH radio station for their fine publicity.
Wayne Senior Citizens and Jocell Bull

OBSERVATIONS

More for your money

"A dollar doesn't go very far any more," is often heard lately and perhaps that's true in some instances, but during the next couple of weeks Wayne residents will have an opportunity to spend some dollars that will go a long way toward improving the community.
The Community Chest fund drive was officially kicked off this week with a Tuesday morning breakfast meeting of volunteer workers.
Drive chairman Bill Workman said at the breakfast that plans are to finish the drive in two weeks. The idea is to have the campaign nearly done while it still has a full head of steam, and it's a good one.
The 1975 goal is $12,900 and Workman said the community should be able to meet that goal if everyone works hard. Volunteers will be asking families to contribute $10 or more to the cause. That one sabbuck per household will buy a lot. It will help support nine organizations including Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the Salvation Army, the Senior Citizens Center, the Arthritis Foundation, the Red Cross, the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation and the Florence Criffenton Home for unwed mothers in Sioux City.
At just a little over a buck for each organization, that's a bargain. Naturally, many people will want to contribute more, and some may not be able to give as much, but anyone who contributes can rest assured that their money will go a long way for several good causes. — Jim Strayer.

Bicentennial books welcomed by school

Dear Editor,
I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Wayne County Home Extension Clubs for the Book, "Treasure Trails in the USA," which they presented to the Wayne Middle School Library.
A Bicentennial project such as this one is indeed one which deserves a big thank you and a round of applause.
Thank you.
Mrs. Evan Bennett, Middle School Librarian

Thoughts for Today

THURSDAY — If we want an increase of Christ, there must be a decrease of self. Colossians 3:10. So that you may walk in a manner worthy of the Lord.
FRIDAY — The only way to do what we cannot do, is to let Christ do it through us. Philippians 1:11. Having been filled with the fruit of righteousness which comes through Jesus Christ.
SATURDAY — If God has called you, don't spend time looking over your shoulder to see who is following you. Matthew 5:12. Rejoice, and be glad, for your reward in heaven is great.
SUNDAY — Choose a church and attend. Where is he? At the end of an ungodly life John 8:47. Truly, truly, I say to you, he who believes has eternal life.
MONDAY — A good thing about telling the truth is that you don't have to remember what you said. Colossians 3:16. Let the word of Christ richly dwell within you.
TUESDAY — Have your tools ready, and God will find you work. Proverbs 16:13. Commit your works to the Lord.
WEDNESDAY — An out of town salesman went into a restaurant and asked the waitress to fry him two eggs so hard the edges would be black, two slices of burnt toast, and a cup of cold coffee. "Then sit down and eat me," he pleaded. "I'm homeless."

Burning Spirit

Sanitation Can Reduce Garden Disease

The end of another growing season has been signaled by the cooler weather and a new football season. Soon the flowers and vegetables will show the effects of early frosts and the trees and shrubs will turn their characteristic fall colors.

Before putting the tools away for the winter, one final task—cleanup—needs to be performed. Many plant diseases causing bacteria, viruses, and molds survive the winter, and plant debris left in the garden and under trees and shrubs, and serve as the initial sources of infection next year. Removing this plant debris from flower and vegetable gardens and collecting fallen leaves and fruit from under trees and shrubs in the fall will lessen the carryover of plant diseases from season to season. In addition, crop refuse harbors insects that transmit many plant diseases.

Clean-up measures in the home garden vary according to the crop involved. They may include pulling the entire plant, smowing above-ground parts, or plowing under crop refuse. The natural decomposition of plowed or disked crop refuse will be speeded up if it is pulverized or shredded first. Leaves that have accumulated under trees and shrubs should be collected and destroyed. Since burning is prohibited in most cities and town, plant debris can be allowed to decompose in a compost pile well away from the garden area, disposed of in a dumping area, or disked several inches under the soil, which allows natural decomposition.

Brown rot of stone fruit, apple scab, black spot on roses, lettuce drop, and septoria leaf spot on tomatoes are a few examples of the many plant diseases that can be partially controlled through sanitation practices.

Removing or burying crop refuse will not completely eliminate plant disease problems, but it substantially reduces the amount of disease carryover from year to year. Sanitation does not replace fungicide treatments, but it may reduce the number of applications required for effective control. Good sanitation practices in combination with crop rotation and a recommended fungicide spray program will provide very effective in controlling most plant diseases in the home garden.

No Shortage Foreseen for Next Year

Increased manufacturing capacity, the fertilizer inventory on July 1, and more attention to fertilizer needs of crops, furnish basis for the belief that the 1976 crop season will not see the fertilizer shortages of the 1975 season.

There can be some pitfalls this winter if natural gas required to make nitrogen is reduced in favor of home heating during cold winter months and if electrical energy is insufficient to keep phosphate mines at a steady output, according to Dr. R. A. Wiese.

What happened in the fall of 1974 and in the spring of 1975 has a real bearing on the present status of fertilizer supplies. Fertilizer prices increased considerably, and there was some reluctance by growers to apply as much fertilizer at the higher price levels. New payment policies for fertilizer left some growers with a greater shortage of cash for payment or a reduced ability to operate on borrowed money. The pressure for cash outlay occurred in all areas of crop production expenses.

Cattle prices had their effect on pasture and wheat fertilization. In this case, the feeder calf producer fertilized lower acres or fertilized at a reduced application rate where young calves were grazed on pasture or where wheat growers tended in lack faith in future wheat prices and held back on fall application.

In winter wheat areas—By the spring of 1975 some winter wheat areas didn't get fertilizer because of wet conditions.

An interesting observation was that, in general, the shortage of fertilizer tended to increase fall fertilizer application over spring applications. This pattern of grower thinking is contrary to the most efficient use of fertilizer.

Added production capacity by basic manufacturers in nitrogen and phosphate helped to reduce the shortage that was visible in 1975. The new production plus other factors helped to provide an inventory of fertilizer on hand July 1, 1975.

Oil prices increased the drain on phosphate reserves. The total effect has been a softening of prices and a reasonable inventory on hand at the present time.

A harsh 1975-76 winter can cause a high demand for natural gas to heat homes. When this happens, basic nitrogen plants would have to be shut down or reduce their output. Electrical energy supplies do effect phosphate mine operations. If the electrical load becomes heavy for domestic needs, phosphate production could be curtailed. The outlook for a mild winter is not a sure thing. Some curtailment of nitrogen and phosphate production can be expected but not a return to higher prices, allocation and real shortages.

Business notes.

Everett Roberts, owner of Roberts Feed and Seed at 106 Pearl in Wayne, will hold an open house on Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to mark his 25th anniversary at the location.

On Oct. 10, 1950 Roberts purchased the building from an Omaha ice cream firm. For the first 16 years he operated a dairy business before he and his wife, Gladys, started a feed business.

While operating his feed business, Roberts has received numerous salesmanship awards from Pioneer Seed Corn and Hubbard Feeds.

Roberts and his dad, J. M. Roberts, began their own dairy firm in 1931. Five years later Roberts was the sole owner. Today he still buys cream and eggs at his feed store.

In reflecting upon the history of the building, Roberts pointed out that this place was once the first livery barn in Wayne. When Roberts bought the building he converted part of it to a storage locker, which is believed to be the first in Wayne County.

Focus of Attention

THE EYES of these young pre-kindergarten youngsters focus on Wayne volunteer fireman Gary Steiner as he shows the youngsters part of the fire fighting equipment the department uses. The demonstration was part of planned activities for the nursery students of Mrs. Karl OHl. Earlier the youths were treated to a ride on one of the department's trucks. Last week's demonstrations for other students were a part of department's marking of fire prevention week.

Disposal Recommended For Pesticide Packages

"Empty" pesticide containers are never completely empty, according to John Wilkowski, extension entomologist at the Northeast Station near Concord.

Some of the toxicant always sticks to the container and consequently "empty" containers, especially those of highly toxic compounds, constitute a real health hazard around the home or farm. Even those containers that have held some of the safer materials can also be deadly if handled or stored improperly.

Wilkowski recommends a full clean up and disposal of all empty pesticide containers and old or unneeded pesticides. The following suggestions are only a guide however and are not intended to supersede the manufacturers specific instructions that may appear on the label of the container.

Metal containers:

1. Do not re use the container.
2. Thoroughly rinse empty containers with adequate amounts of a mixture of water, household lye, and detergent to aid in neutralizing the toxicant.
3. Punch holes in the top and bottom of the can. Crush the can and bury it along with the rinse solution. Bury 18 24 inches deep in an isolated location away from water supplies.

Glass containers:

1. Do not re use the container.
2. Thoroughly rinse as discussed above regarding metal containers.
3. Break the container and bury along with the rinse solution at least 18 inches deep and away from water supplies.

Fiber and paper containers:

1. Burn the empty container completely. Exercise extreme caution and stay well away from the smoke. Most herbicide containers should not be burned, particularly 2, 4 D, 2, 4, 5 T and silvicide type materials.

The rinse method described above will not detoxify metal cans or drums that have contained endrin, aldrin or dieldrin, Wilkowski said. Endrin containers can be detoxified by burning. There is no practical way of detoxifying aldrin or dieldrin containers and therefore the only recommended procedure for their disposal is crushing and burying.

THE ARMY RESERVE. PART OF WHAT YOU EARN IS PRIDE.

You may join the Army Reserve to learn a skill, or to earn a good second income. But you could come away with something a lot more important. It's not something you can put in the bank. You pay for it with your sweat, your spirit, your mind, and your time. It's called pride.

Marine Private First Class Charles L. Lindstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lindstrom of 508 Maple St., Wakefield, Neb., has been meritoriously promoted to his present rank upon graduation from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

He received the early promotion for his superior performance in all phases of the training, which emphasizes physical conditioning, discipline and teamwork.

Police Blotter

A truck operated by Alton Beard Shear, Homer, struck a light pole in a parking lot located on east high way 35. The accident occurred about 6 p.m. Saturday.

Betty Stage Laurel, was backing her car out of a parking stall near the intersection of Third and Main Streets about 5 p.m. Saturday when her vehicle struck the rear end of an auto operated by Mary Longe, rural Wayne.

'Utility Rates Are a Bargain'

"Utilities are a big bargain when you think of the expense of drilling for oil or gas," Dick Armstrong told members of Wayne Kiwanis Monday.

Armstrong, who has retired as manager of products development for the oil well division of United States Steel, pointed out that oil companies spend thousands of dollars in attempting to locate new sources of oil and gas, and sometimes find nothing for its attempts. The result is that the oil companies are spending more, but they are keeping down the consumer costs, he added.

DICK ARMSTRONG

Wakefield Man Is $25 Richer

A Wakefield man is $25 richer this week as a result of winning the consolation prize in the weekly Birthday Bucks drawing. He is Bill Korth, who was in Worman's Auto during Thursday night's drawing when his birthday of Aug. 31, 1964, was selected as the one closest to the winning date of Sept. 17, 1964.

As a result, Korth picked up the $25 in Birthday Bucks. The certificates can be spent just like cash in any of the participating Wayne businesses that sponsor the weekly drawing.

If a shopper's birthday matches that drawn at random, he or she can win the $500 grand prize. To be eligible for the grand or consolation prize, a shopper must be present in one of the participating stores. No purchase or registration is required.

Tonight (Thursday) at 8:15 another winner will be announced.

Statistics though the month of August show that oil companies have drilled over 73,000 wells this year. That's about 3,000 more than the same period a year ago. Of this year's figure, about 8,000 wells were dry, he said.

While explaining a daily production report of crude oil in the United States, Armstrong said that Texas and Louisiana produce the most oil in the U.S. Texas produces about 40 per cent of this nation's crude while Louisiana has about 21 per cent.

The total crude production in the U.S. is about 8,257,000 barrels a day, according to one weekly report. That amount is only about half of what this country needs, he went on, adding that the rest is imported from foreign countries.

In an effort to reduce this country's dependence on foreign oil, a pipeline is being built from Alaska's oil-rich northern slopes across the state to a port closer to the U.S. west coast. By building the pipeline, the U.S. will be able to supply itself with more oil at a reduced cost, he said.

To give persons an idea of the amount of oil it takes to pump through the 350-mile stretch of Alaskan pipeline, Armstrong explained that it requires about 1,100,000 barrels of crude to fill the 48-inch diameter pipeline 100 miles long. "So if the Alaska pipeline is to be about 350 miles in length, it would require nearly 4 million barrels of crude just to fill that line."

PSYCHOLOGY

"Too often graduating seniors feel overwhelmed by the responsibility the job world presents. So it's often good psychology to prepare for that world before graduating. A part-time job, or at least some scouting around for career opportunities, during the last year in high school is a smart idea to prevent post-commencement panic.

It's good psychology not to do things in a hurry—and that includes choosing a lifetime career. The Marine Corps Reserve offers high school seniors plenty of time to think about what they want to do—and at the same time that they're becoming full-fledged Marines. Students begin training before graduation—and get paid for it—and then enter the Corps within 60 days after graduation.

Sprucing Up WSC

BACK IN 1963 when Byron Russell was a student at Wayne State, he can't be looked a good job. After some time, and these people in all. Some three years by the hundreds have been planted. And last Thursday there were 10 more. Thanks to a gift from Russell now operating a Denver tree farm. He donated 10 Colorado blue spruce, averaging about eight feet tall. Pictured: Marvin Brummond, director of campus in attendance, examining new spruce before its planting. Nine of the trees are in a concrete west of the Hahn Building, the other eight of Northside Hall.
