Miss Raneé Kniesche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kniesche of Wayne, was crowned Wednesday afternoon as Nebraska's 1976 Dairy Princess.

The 20-year-old University of Nebraska-Lincoln junior was crowned a noon luncheon during the annual convention of the Nebraska Dairy Industries Association in Omaha.

A food science and technology major at UN-L, Miss Kniesche was selected from among five other candidates. She will represent the state's dairy industry at fairs, shows and other dairy promotional events during the following year.

A $400 scholarship from the American Dairy Association of Nebraska, sponsor of the contest, and other gifts, are received along with the Dairy Princess crown.

Miss Kniesche was recently named top dairy showman in the 1975 Little Ak Sar Ben show, sponsored by the UN-L Block and Bridle Club. The win repeats a 1973 victory for her. Earlier this year, Miss Kniesche was a finalist in the Ak Sar Ben Dairy Queen contest and was also a candidate for Ak Sar Ben's Nebraska 4-H Queen title.

Thursday Accidents Keep Sheriff's Department Busy

A bad wheel bearing in a farm tractor was blamed for a traffic accident in Carroll Thursday morning.

According to the Wayne County sheriff's office, the bearing caused the tractor driven by Kevin Davis to veer right, striking an automobile owned by Arthur Cook, parked in front of the Cook residence. The rear of the Cook car was damaged.

Two other unrelated accidents occurred shortly after the tractor mishap. An automobile eastbound about 4:25 a.m. on the Highway spur connecting Win side with Highway 75 was struck by a pickup truck turning right out of the high school parking lot.

According to the sheriff's office, the pickup, driven by his father Victor Mann, turned and causing it to enter the left lane and strike the side of the oncoming car, driven by William A. Kramer Jr. of rural Wakefield.

Damages to side of the car were estimated at about $300. The left front position of the pickup sustained damages estimated at about $200.

At about 4:30 Thursday morning two vehicles collided at an intersection four miles west and one mile north of Wayne.

Cindy Willers, 19, of rural Wayne was headed east in an FI Camaro pickup and Kelly M. Hansen, 15, of rural Wayne was traveling north when the two vehicles collided. Both vehicles received extensive damage.

No personal injuries were reported in any of the three accidents.

There's Plenty of Leaves

Growing Number Attends County 4-H Leader Banquet

The number of 4-H leaders in Wayne County has doubled in the last four years, county agent Don Spitzke said at the 4-H Leaders Banquet Thursday night, and he thinks that is a good trend.

There are now about 170 leaders for some 700 4-H'ers in the county, about one leader for every three youths.

Towns Plan Celebration Of Traditional Vet's Day

Wayne County veterans or organizations will celebrate traditional Veterans' Day on Tuesday with a variety of activities.

In Wayne, participants will assemble at 9 a.m. at the Lil' Duffer Cafe parking lot for a parade down Main St. to the Veterans' Club where Wayne mayor Freeman Decker will deliver an address.

The parade will then proceed down Main to First St., on right to Pearl St. and then head north to disband.

Taking part in the parade will be units from the Wayne Army and Air Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, World War I Barracks and Disabled American Veterans organizations and their auxiliary units.

Participating will be the Wayne High School band and members of various Scouting organizations.

Veterans Day programs in Allen and Winslow will be held at the high schools.

Beginning at 9 a.m., Allen will see VETERANS' page 10.

Present, Past State Governors Will Convene

Nebraska Gov. J. J. Exon will meet Friday at Wayne State College with several of his predecessors for a conference on state policy.

The Nebraska Governor's Conference is being sponsored by the WSC Public Affairs Institute.

Former governors Val Peterson, Dwight Burney, Frank Morrison and Robert Crosby will present a panel at 1:45 p.m. to discuss "The Role of the Governor in Nebraska Government."

A discussion of "The Nonpartisan Legislature as Seen by the Governor" will follow at 3:15.

The conference will take place at the Ramsey Theatre in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. No admission will be charged for the conference.

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce will host the evening social hour and dinner. Gov. Exon will be the dinner speaker.

Persons wishing to attend the social hour from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Wayne Country Club and the dinner to follow at the college Student Union may contact the college business office, the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, The State National Bank or the First National Bank for tickets.

Student tickets are $3.75 and non-student tickets are $4.25.

Jones' Condition Better

Eli Jones Jr. of Wayne was listed in serious condition Thursday morning at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Sioux City.

Jones was transferred there in critical condition Monday from Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Thrown from his auto during a one car accident north of Carroll on Highway 57 Saturday night, Jones sustained head injuries.

Winter Weather Terms Defined

Northeast Nebraska has been enjoying an unusually warm autumn, but the seasonal parade of winter storms probably isn't too far off.

Winter weather can be dangrous for the unwary, the Nebraska Civil Defense Agency warns, but citizens who keep track of the weather forecasts and know what to expect can be prepared.

The civil defense agency defines the following types of winter storms:

FREEZING RAIN or freezing drizzle is precipitation, which falls when surface temperatures are below freezing. The moisture falls in liquid form but freezes upon impact, resulting in an ice glaze.

The weather service uses the term ice storm, freezing rain or freezing drizzle to warn when a coating of ice is expected on the ground, trees, buildings and overhead wires. The term "heavy" is used when the coating is expected to have sufficient weight to cause a great deal of damage.

SLEET STORMS are not the same as ice storms. Sleet is frozen drops of rain, falling in pellet form. The pellets bounce upon impact and do not coat objects. However, sleet in sufficient depth can cause hazardous driving conditions.

SNOW, when predicted with only a qualifying word such as occasional or intermittent, means the fall of snow is expected to be steady in nature and will probably continue for several hours.

Heavy snow warnings are issued when the snowfall is expected to exceed four inches in 12 hours or six inches in 24 hours.

Snow Flurries are defined as See WEATHER page 10.

Leadership is one of the areas of change Mrs. Damme has observed during her quarter century involvement with 4-H. When she first volunteered her services, she was adult leader of her club and had one assistant.

Today, all mothers of girls in the Busy Bee are involved with the club in leadership roles.

In addition, Mrs. Damme said, the number of projects available to 4-H'ers has increased since she began and programs have changed through the years.

She initially became a leader because her daughters wanted to join 4-H. She enjoys working with young people and decided to continue.

There have been other rewards, Mrs. Damme said. "Through the years I've improved my sewing and other skills."

Mrs. Damme, the second Wayne County 4-H leader to receive a 25 year pin, has announced that she will retire from 4-H service.

Key speaker Kenneth G. Schmitt said the Wayne County growth in 4-H members and leaders reflects a state-wide trend. The 4-H associate leader See 4-H LEADERS, page 10.

Final Reading Slated For Pay Increase

The final reading of an ordinance to set city administrator Fred Brink's salary at $20,700 is scheduled for the regular meeting of the Wayne city council tonight (Monday).

At the second reading during the council's last meeting, the vote was split 1-1 on suspending the statutory rate which would have allowed final passage then.

A similar vote on final reading would require a tie breaking vote by Mayor Freeman Decker.

Final reading is also scheduled for an ordinance which would set the occupation tax for liquor licenses at the maximum amount allowed under state law.

The council also voted 1-1 on that issue at the last meeting.

Public hearings are slated to consider recommendations for granting liquor licenses to the Black Knight Lounge, the El Toro lounge and Al's Tap.

Other agenda items include discussion of the paving of Highway 15 from Wayne north, discussion of replacement of rest rooms in Bressler park and discussion of proposed contract with the Nebraska Public Power District.

Columbus Financial Firm Requests Wayne Branch

Wayne could gain another financial institution if an application by Columbus Federal Savings and Loan Association is approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

The Columbus based savings and loan institution has requested permission to open a branch office in Wayne on a vacant lot at 720 W. Seventh St.

Plans now call for a building with office space so operation can begin while the new building is under construction.

"We feel Wayne is a good area," Hockenberger said. "We are impressed by what has been done with the industrial site. We know Wayne people are out beating the bushes looking for industry. That attracted us to Wayne."

Phil Hockenberger, vice president of the Columbus firm, said Friday that he anticipates a two to six month waiting period before receiving notification regarding a decision on the request.

Plans now call for a building with office space so operation can begin while the new building is under construction.

The ceremony will follow the supper which is scheduled for 6:30 at the Northeast Station near Concord. Everyone is invited to attend the dinner. Refreshments will be served.

Concord to Receive Bicentennial Flag

A representative from the Nebraska American Revolution Bicentennial committee will present the Bicentennial flag to Concord citizens during a pot luck supper on Friday evening, Nov. 21.

The ceremony will follow the supper which is scheduled for 6:30 at the Northeast Station near Concord. Everyone is invited to attend the dinner. Refreshments will be served.

Sheep Champ Wins Ak-Sar-Ben Award

Steve Gramlich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gramlich of Carroll is one of 17 University of Nebraska-Lincoln freshmen awarded a $400 Ak Sar Ben scholarship for the 1975-76 school year.

Gramlich, a Wayne High School graduate, was active in 4-H sheep projects and was state sheep winner to the National 4-H Club Congress. He received the Ak Sar Ben Service award.

The Ak Sar Ben scholarships are given annually to students based on academic achievement and financial need.

EXTENSION BEEF Specialist Vern Krause (right) studies a printout for a ration mix dictated by Fred Otten, Commercial State Bank, in Haskins. The ration mix was figured using a portable computer terminal. In the foreground, the terminal is linked to a computer at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Krause demonstrated the terminal at a meeting for agri-businessmen, Wednesday night.

Specialists Review Livestock Industry

Wayne County agent Don Spitzke Wednesday night said that local businessmen are better supporters of 4-H projects than at any location he has served during a 15-year career which has included four counties and two states.

Spitzke's remarks were made during the opening portion of a four-session meeting sponsored by Extension Service specialists for local businessmen connected with agriculture.

Following Spitzke's summary of 4-H activities, three livestock specialists from the Northeast Station at Concord made a presentation regarding their area of expertise. Included were Bob Fritschsen, swine; Don Kubik, dairy and Vernon Krause, beef.

Spitzke said a trend is developing among local 4-H'ers in which livestock projects other than beef are becoming more and more important.

"At one time, beef was king," Spitzke said. "And it's still the largest category among 4-H projects."

But while interest in market beef projects is still tremendous, it appears to be static. At the same time, interest in breeding beef, dairy and sheep projects is growing rapidly.

Spitzke pointed out that the annual 4-H livestock auction, previously confined to market beef, this year included all categories of animals. Youths with dairy and breeding projects for the first time received fair premiums, for a pool of funds donated for that purpose.

Looking ahead, the county agent said he plans to emphasize the educational aspects of 4-H livestock projects.

That has probably been the weakest part of the county 4-H program, Spitzke said, and he feels he should stress it more because 4-H participation will be the main vocational training for many future farmers who don't plan further formal education following high school.

The past 18 months have been bad for the dairy business, dairy expert Don Kubik said. Products had been held off the market until, at that point, inventories were full. At the same time, there was a tremendous influx of imported dairy products. The two factors combined to make dairy farming a losing enterprise for the majority of farmers.

An average 60 cow dairy herd produces about 9,000 pounds annually. Revenue at that level hasn't been sufficient to pay operating costs.

Things might be looking up somewhat, Kubik said. He predicts that prices in November and December should be at a level where farmers can meet operating expenses and receive a reasonable return on their labor and investment.

Kubik doesn't think that condition will hold, however, unless milk prices increase another dime a gallon. Chances of that happening might be better than in recent times, he said, because consumer advocate groups are beginning to realize that farmers must earn a fair return if they are to continue producing adequate food supplies.

Bob Fritschsen, swine specialist, divides his time between extension work and swine research. Recent research has dealt mainly with swine housing and confinement. About half the hogs marketed by Nebraskans are not finished by producers who fattened them, Fritschsen said, indicating the popularity of confinement finishing.

Revealing the results of some research in swine housing, the specialist cautioned agriculture financiers that the least expensive confinement feeding building isn't necessarily the best investment for a farmer.

Comparing $16,000 and $24,000 swine buildings, both housing 400 hogs, Fritschsen said research has shown the more expensive facility will pay the cost difference in two years, because of greater feed efficiency.

However, Fritschsen said, according to research results, swine confined in buildings with conventional sidewall ventilation show a slightly lower incidence of pneumonia, lung lesions than swine in buildings with the more expensive pit ventilation system.

Vern Krause, beef specialist, told the audience that because of current conditions, feeders finishing cattle for market are probably better off buying weaned calves than carrying the calves through the weaning stage. The cost of feed to carry a cow for a year is generally above the price paid for an average-weight calf.

That's bad news for the cow-calf man, Krause said, but a program is being started to help farmers produce calves with higher weaning weights.

Krause also demonstrated a computer terminal, linked by telephone to a computer at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. The terminal, in use at the Northeast Station, has a number of applications including figuring feed ration mixes and profits.

OBSERVATIONS

Meeting was informative

One of the more enjoyable recent local meetings was presented Wednesday night by Wayne County agent Don Spitzre and Extension Service livestock specialists. The program was designed to stir interest among agri-business men regarding services available through the Extension Service.

The meeting was well organized and interesting. Presentations were easy to understand for someone not closely connected with agriculture, yet had enough meat to interest the businessmen who deal with agriculture on a day to day basis. — Jim Strayer

Hearing to begin

An ICC hearing is slated to begin today (Monday) in Wayne regarding a request by the Chicago and North Western Transportation Company's request to abandon rail service between Dakota City and Wayne.

If the request is granted, Wayne becomes the biggest town in the state without rail service.

Hard facts and figures concerning the economics of the branch line will presumably be presented as testimony, the railroad attempting to prove that the line can not be maintained at a profit, and the Public Service Commission representatives attempting to show the potential for profit if what they consider adequate service was provided.

Loss of rail service probably won't be a death blow to communities along the line, but it will mean some hardships, mainly for farmers. Many commodities which are shipped in bulk and loss of rail service would mean higher retail prices. In some cases, shipping farm products to market would be more expensive by other transportation means, as added cost which the farmers would bear.

Hard facts will be forthcoming in the hearing. But Public Service Commission or Duane Gay has pointed out that other railroads operate branch lines in Nebraska and make a profit. It will be interesting to see why Chicago and North Western contends that they cannot do so. — Jim Strayer

A time for reflection

Veterans Day, Nov. 11 originally known as Armistice Day, is a very important national holiday. In fact it might well be considered as most important of the commemorations in our land.

Armistice Day was first observed on November 11, 1919 by the proclamation of President Woodrow Wilson, as a day set aside to pay tribute and recall the grievous conditions of the first World War. Also, it was a day that President Wilson wanted reserved to pay fitting tribute to the servicemen of World War I.

The original purpose of Armistice Day, which was to honor men of the First World War, has now been enlarged to encompass the veterans of all wars in American history.

Veterans Day became official when a bill passed by Congress was signed into law by President Dwight D. Eisenhower. It was the deliberate intent of Congress in the enactment of Public Law 380, to honor our American veterans, living and dead, who fought so gloriously in the struggles to keep our country free Tuesday will see us continue to observe this memorable day for the 56th time.

Veterans Day is a day that every American should set aside as a time of reflection and contemplation. Every American should recall the blood, sweat, tears, and toil that have been so freely expended throughout our history in order that the great principles of freedom, justice, equality and dignity, remain synonymous with the United States of America.

Each and every one of us should bring to our mind a picture of the hundreds and thousands of our countrymen that are at the moment serving the Armed Forces throughout the world that these principles may remain a living reality. We should be so proud that our fighting men living and dead, have made a great America that is the hope of mankind throughout the world. — Keith M. Boughn

"It's 2 A.M. and I feel rotten. Who has time to read medicine labels?"

When it comes to reading medicine labels, it's easy to make excuses. And that's too bad. Because the label information is there to help you. The medicine label tells you what it's for, how much to take, and how often to take it. It's important information. Fact is, there's no excuse for ignoring the information on your medicine labels. It's there for your health. Just like the medicine.

STRAYEr Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

IT'S THE time of year for hunting stories and I heard a good one last week at the 4-H Achievement Night. Don't know if it's true or when it happened or the names of the people involved, but here it is.

It seems that in a community a little further west in the state, a game warden and one of the local citizens had never gotten along well, mainly because the conservation officer always suspected the other fellow of violating game laws.

The warden was never able to pin anything on his "adversary", however. One fine autumn day he followed the citizen, at a desecrated distance, into the country. The citizen pulled into a field, got out with a deer rifle and headed for the woods.

After the hunter was safely out of sight, the game warden pulled in behind the hunter and followed on foot.

Sure enough, the hunter bagged a white-tail and the officer approached him as he was field dressing the deer.

"Let me see your license," the officer demanded.

"I don't have one," the hunter replied. "Whereupon the officer directed the hunter to pick up the carcass and accompany him back to their vehicles."

The hunter refused to carry the carcass. The warden didn't like the idea of lugging the critter a couple of miles, but he decided it was worth it if it would help get a conviction.

 "The pair arrived at the vehicles, the hunter fresh and the warden winded. Without saying a word, the hunter reached in his pocket and produced a deer permit. The two men have been friends since then, or so the story goes.

This priceless gem was clipped from the Blair Pilot-Tribune and appeared in the Blair Democrat in 1910, supposedly written by a small boy. "Newspapers are sheets of paper on which stuff to read is printed. The meg look it over and see their names in it. I don't think God does. The bible says nothing about editors, and I never heard of one being in heaven. The first editor I heard about was the one who wrote up the flood. He has been here ever since. Some editors belong to Church and some try to raise whiskers, all of them cause cain in their neighbor hood. Sometimes the paper dies and then the people feel glad, but someone starts it up again. Editors never went to school because editors don't get licked. Our paper is a mighty poor one but we take it so we can use it for her pantry shelves. Our editor don't amount to much but pa says he had a poor chance when a boy. He goes without underclothes in the winter, wears no socks and has a wife to support him. Pa has never paid his subscription in five years and don't intend to." Comment? Well, I have managed to raise whiskers and I do wear underclothes in the winter and have a drawer full of socks, but I'll leave the rest up to the readers.

On the serious side, my apologies to Ken Cline. I portrayed him as his protégé Ken Swartz, in a photo in Thursday's paper.

In the for what it's worth department if you were planning a trip to Venice, picturing yourself riding along the Grand Canal in a gondola, forget it. Motorboats have taken over the canal and gondolas have been banned.

Hardly a day went by without a gondoler ending up in the water, swamped by the wash from a passing motor boat.

Take heart! While the main water freeway of the city is closed to gondola traffic the trail craft will still skim along the city's many other canals.

Out of Old Nebraska

THE COUNTY POOR FARM

Before the social security programs which grew out of the New Deal of the Depression '30's, a convenient means of providing for the aged and indigent was the poor farm. Going to the poor farm was the end of the line in many cases for old unemployed persons who had worked hard all their lives but were unable to save money. Others were too feeble to work and required some medical care.

It was a point of honor with many parents rather than to see them go to the poor farm. Children who didn't were scorned as ingrates.

Caretakers of the farms were generally a man and his wife with such extra help as the county commissioners provided. Light chores were expected of inmates who were capable of working. Farms were considered better than city property for care of the poor, since animal husbandry and farming could be made a part of the charity procedure.

In the following legal advertisement from the Chadron Journal (1910), notice that the bid of a prospective superintendent for the Dawes County farm was based to an extent on how cheaply meals could be provided:

"Bids will be received at the office of the County Clerk of Dawes County until 12 o'clock, noon, of the 16th day of January 1911, for the superintendency of the Dawes County poor farm, for the period of two years from March 1st, 1911, and will be submitted on each of any of the following propositions:

"1. Bid of man and wife to superintend said farm at a specified monthly salary.
 "2. Bid for lease of said farm, at a specified yearly cash rental.
 "3. Bid for lease of said farm, and as rent for said term, lessee to deliver to county one-half hay and seed raised yearly on 40 acres of alfalfa, thereon, county paying one-half through bill."

"In each case, successful bidder will be required to board and care for county poor, and each bid will contain in addition to above offer, bid at so much per meal per pauper, to cover such care and board. Successful bidder to give surety bond of $200, and enter into written contract. Proposed contract may be seen at Clerk's office. Farm consists of 160 acres, two story house, garden, 50 acres in alfalfa."

Dodge County about 1880 rented a house in Fremont for those who "did not receive outdoor relief," and maintained a farm near Fremont for others. The entire yearly expenditure by the county for the relief program was then $1,000. In 1905 the Fremont Evening Journal carried a feature article in which it headlined its rural facility as a "Model Poor Farm," and called it one of the most productive farms in the county. The article continued:

"It is located on the bluffs five miles north of the city of Fremont and is composed of 245 acres. This year there were seventy-five acres in corn, eleven wheat and thirty-nine oats. Several acres were set aside for garden purposes and the remainder is in hay land and pasture. The farm house and buildings are very good and are kept in excellent repair. North of the house is a large orchard. Last spring when a party of New Yorkers were here on a visit and being taken in the country they passed the poor farm. One of them remarked that that was a very nice place and he envied the owner. When he was told what it was, his astonishment and the remarks it provoked, were very amusing.

"Considerable attention is paid to the livestock business and special attention was given to the breeding of Herefords, but a change was made the past year. Shorthorns being substituted for the whitefaces. There are now ninety head on the farm and twenty three head are on feed. There are 145 hogs and six head of horses. The stock at the farm has been increased the past year and this has caused the showing of expenditures larger than the receipts of the farm.

"At the present time there are but eleven inmates, as against nineteen a year ago. The farm work is all done by the Steward, J. W. Sexton, and the only additional help is during corn husking time. A hired man is allowed nine months of the year, but none has been employed for several years. Mrs. Severson takes care of the house with one assistant. The steward and his wife are paid $73 a month.

Newspaper files (most of them on microfilm) at the Nebraska State Historical Society give evidence of varying poor farm procedures. So also does Andreas, History of Nebraska (1882), a recent re-issue of the Society.

In 1880 Thayer County maintained a 200-acre poor farm with "a good dwelling and barn, which were only temporary but sufficient to meet the demand." Saunders County provided a rural acre age with a dwelling but boasted that "paupers were few indeed" in that area.

Nancy Morris-Scott Deck Wed In November Rites at Hoskins

A lighted candelabra laced with flowers appointed the altar of the Hoskins Trinity Lutheran Church for the Nov. 1 wedding of Nancy Ann Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Morris of Carroll, to Scott Walter Deck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Deck of Hoskins.

Guests, registered by Beth Deck of Hoskins, were ushered into the church by Randall Schluns of Carroll, Weldon Maritz Jr. of Stanton, Scott Duering of Norfolk and Jon Behmer of Hoskins.

Cindy Thomas of Hoskins sang "The Wedding Song" and "Perfect Love," accompanied at the organ by Ronald Schmidt of Hoskins. The Rev. Ray Beckmann of Stanton officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Flower girl was Amy Schluns of Carroll and ring bearer was Chris Stahn of Norfolk. Candles were lighted by Edward Morris of Carroll, brother of the bride, Skip Deck of Hoskins, brother of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length, A-line gown of ivory organza polyester, styled with a high rise collar, bishop sleeves, empire waistline and sweeping train which ended in a ruffle flounce. Venise lace trimmed the bodice, cuffs and neck line, and a row of buttons extended down the front of the bodice. Her finger-tip veil cascaded from a matching Cameo headpiece. She carried amethyst carnations, purple statice and ivory stephanotis centered with an ivory Japelle orchid.

The bride's sister, Diane Maritz of Carroll, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Pamela Hoemann of Hoskins, Glenda Schluns of Carroll, Theresa Bowers of Winside and Cheri Fahrneholtz of Pierce.

MR. AND MRS. SCOTT DECK

Their two-piece, polyester floor-length dresses alternated in colors of purple and amethyst and were trimmed in ivory lace. They wore flowers in their hair and carried bouquets of amethyst carnations, purple stephanotis and baby's breath centered with a lighted candle and ivory streamers.

Best man was Doug Deck of Hoskins, brother of the groom, and groomsmen were Steve Deck, Bill Burris and Dan Bowers, all of Winside, and Doug Jenkins of Carroll. The bridegroom wore a champagne tuxedo trimmed in black satin and an ivory shirt, and his attendants wore champagne jackets with black braid trim black trousers and amethyst ruffled shirts.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Morris wore a green polyester dress in floor length and Mrs. Deck wore an ivory floor-length dress with an ivory and rust jacket. Both had an ivory orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Roberts of Carroll and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Deck of Winside greeted the 300 guests who attended the reception and dance at King's Ball room in Norfolk following the ceremony. The Rev. Gail Axon of Stanton led in prayer. Jan Lange of Hoskins and Janette Traulwin of Winside arranged gifts.

Brandt, Nissen Shine in Loop Playoff

By BOB BARTLETT
Wayne High runningback Mark Brandt and defensive end Aaron Nissen had their best efforts of the 1975 grid campaign Wednesday night against Oakland Craig in the Husker Conference playoff at Wayne State's Memorial Field.

Brandt racked up a total of 333 yards and Nissen finished with 25 tackles in the Blue Devils' 41-20 loss to East Husker representative Oakland.

The junior had 191 yards rushing, caught two passes for 86 yards, intercepted a pass for 36 yards and returned a kickoff 70 yards. Nissen, who also is a junior, had 12 tackles and assisted in 13 stops.

Oakland's Darryl Anderson was the top ground gainer of the night. The swift running senior piled up 241 yards, scored three touchdowns and kicked five extra points to lead his team to its eighth victory against a loss and a tie.

The loss for Wayne was its second in a row and marked the close of the Devil's 8-2 season. The last time Wayne suffered back-to-back losses was during the 1971 campaign when West Point Central Catholic handed Wayne a 19-6 setback and Laurel topped the locals 30-12.

Oakland scored on its first two possessions of the ball game. On third down and six from Oakland's 10 yard line, Anderson went up the middle 90 yards to put his team ahead 6-0 with 7:55 left in the first quarter. His kick through the uprights was good to make the score 7-0.

An interception by Knight defensive end Jeff Hurrell put the visitors near midfield before several plays later quarterback

Lonny Linder hit Dan Lindstrom on a 45 yard touchdown pass and a 13-0 lead. With 5:05 remaining in the first period, Anderson made the score 14-0. Minutes later Brandt put his club on the scoreboard when, on third down and two from Wayne's 47 yard line, he broke around and for a touchdown. The kick by Vince Jenness was blocked by Oakland's Carl Pearson to leave the score a 14-6. With about two and a half minutes left in the half, a Linder to Lindstrom pass for 70 yards capped a 70 yard march and battle against Oakland Craig. In pursuit are several Oakland players including Dan Lindstrom.

Jeff Nelson recovered in the endzone. Both clubs finished second in their division. However, the first place teams, Hartington Cedar Catholic and Scribner, dropped out of the annual Husker battle because they had qualified for the state high school playoffs. As a result, the conference bylaws state that the second place team will represent that division in the Husker playoff.

Wakefield VB Wins District

District volleyball winners Wakefield and Creighton Saturday were scheduled to battle it out for a berth in the state high school playoffs on Nov. 14 and 15 at Scottsbluff.

Both clubs were slated to meet at 7:30 p.m. at Wakefield in a regional contest between the Class C victors in Districts 5 and 6.

Wakefield went into that match owning a 12-6 record after sweeping up the District 5 title Thursday night with a three-set win over Wakefield. The Trojans bowed the first set, 9-15, then put their games together for 15-3 and 15-2 victories.

"We were ahead 8-2 in the first game when we went conservative and made some nervous mistakes," said Wakefield coach Ernie Kovar. Randolph took advantage of Wakefield's miscues to score 13 straight points for the win.

The last two games "we did what we normally do," Kovar added. Wakefield went to the net for its strong spiking game and forced Randolph out of position. Leading the spiking game were Mary Kober with 14, Lynn Holm with 13 and Renee Wilson with seven. Senior Tammy Murphy was the top scorer for all three sets. She had 18 points, Wilson and Kober had seven each.

Julie May had 9 sets while Kober and Murphy had 10 and eight.

Last year Wakefield finished with its best record in Kovar's three years. The Trojans were 12-3 going into the semifinals of Class C district action against Tilden Elkhorn Valley. Wakefield finished 12-4.

In Class D district volleyball play, host Rosalie eliminated Allen Wednesday night during semi final action. Allen lost 2-15 and 13-15 for a 6-7 final season record.

After a sluggish first set, Allen came back in the second set to take an 11-8 lead. But Rosalie fired up to tie the match and take a 14-11 lead. Allen made the score 14-13 before a "no return" spike by Rosalie ended the match, said Allen coach Steve McManis.

Diane Witte and Lori Erwin led Allen serving with five points each. JoAnne Roberts was the Eagles' top floor player and Kari Erwin had 10 spikes.

Wayne, LV Paired in District Semifinals

The rematch between Husker Conference volleyball champ Hooper Logan View and Wayne High was set to go Saturday night after both opened with victories in the Class B-4 district meet at Wisner Pilger High School.

Wayne and Logan View met two weeks ago at Wayne High Auditorium in the battle for the Husker Conference championship. East Husker representative Logan View was victorious in the teams' first meeting, by downing West Husker winner Wayne in two sets, 14-8 and 15-12.

That loss was the Blue Devils' second in 15 outings. The first defeat came at the beginning of the season when Wayne fell to Pierce, which also was a winner in district play at Wisner.

Wayne and Logan View were scheduled for a 7 p.m. show down, eight—after the 6 p.m. semifinal match between Pierce and North Bend Central. Winners in semifinal play advance to the final match at 8:30 for the right to play in the state tournament on Nov. 14 and 15 at Scottsbluff.

In opening district play Thursday night, Wayne defeated Wisner in two sets 15-5 and 15-8. Unlike their match against Logan View, Wayne girls worked as a team, both setting up the spikes and playing defense.

Senior Mary Kovensky had 12 spikes and teammate Kris Nedergaard finished with five in what coach Mavis Dalton labeled as a "much improved game."

Scoring honors went to Julie Kovensky who had 10 for the match. Mary Kovensky and Julie Kay had five and four to round out the top scorers.

The big defensive plays were diving saves by Susan Jacobmeier, Stephanie Dorcay and Linda Costello. All three made crucial game saving plays in the final set to preserve Wayne's 15-8 victory.

The coach had little trouble in the first set, winning 15-5, but Wisner gained momentum the last set. The hosts had a 6-5 lead and pushed it to 8-6 before the Blue Devils scored nine straight points to seal the win.

Other winners in Thursday's matches also were in two sets. Logan View beat Schuyler with a pair of 15-7 sets. North Bend Central whipped Hartington Cedar Catholic, 15-11 and 15-9, and Pierce stopped West Point Central Catholic, 15-5 and 15-6.

Big-Game Hunters Headed for Fields

Nebraska's most popular big game season began Saturday with more than 27,000 hunters ready for white tailed and mule deer hunting.

The firearm deer opener means a nine day vacation for the state's archery deer hunters. Bowmen must stay out of the field until the firearm season closes on Sunday, Nov. 16.

Most deer hunters will shoot high powered rifles, but they also have the option of using muzzle loading rifles or hand guns of approved calibers. Muzzle loaders must be at least 40 caliber or larger, and only legal hand guns are the 11 magnum, 357 magnum and 11 magnum, plus the 44 special and 45 Colt shooting the Keith Magnum handgun.

Deer hunters and anyone else going afield during deer season should be certain to wear hunter orange clothing, since the highly visible color greatly reduces the risk of an accident.

The law requires firearm deer hunters to wear at least 400 square inches of the material on their head, chest and back at all times in the field. Conservation officers report that some hunters remove the bright clothing once they reach a stand or blind, a practice that is both illegal and unsafe.

Now that the rifle season for deer is open, hunters need to read and follow closely the regulation regarding the tagging of harvested animals, according to Bob Downing, district law enforcement supervisor for Northeast Nebraska.

All hunters are required by law to securely attach the appropriate game tag to the carcass of the animal immediately after it is taken. The law also requires that the hunter immediately punch the tag in the two appropriate places designating the correct day and month the animal was taken.

Every year, Downing pointed out, many sportsmen overlook this regulation leaving themselves open to a fine. "This year, all hunters failing to follow these regulations will be prosecuted," said Downing. The fine for failing to follow these regulations is $10 to $100 plus court costs.

In addition, all hunters must check their deer at a check station in the same unit they are licensed for or the nearest check station in an adjacent unit when returning home.

MARY KOVENSKY

SUSAN JACOBMEIER

Opps! Names Are Switched

Names under the pictures of last week's "Athletes of the Week," Wayne High seniors Susan Jacobmeier and Mary Kovensky, were accidentally turned around in Thursday's edition of The Wayne Herald.

Daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Jacobmeier and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kovensky of Wayne, the girls were selected for their leadership ability on the volleyball court during Wayne's 13-7 season.

Susan is the top server on her club with a 90 per cent average of her serves going across the net and Mary is the leading spiker with 116 before last week's district play. Both girls, teams, have been named to the West Husker all conference team and have started on coach Mavis Dalton's team for the past three years.

When the archers left the field at the conclusion of their season on Oct. 24, 27 per cent of them had bagged a turkey. And during the first weekend of the shotgun season, 40 per cent of the scattergunners connected with birds.

This was Nebraska's first Fall archery only turkey season, but the 27 per cent success ratio was higher than biologists had predicted earlier and the 40 per cent success for scattergunners on opening weekend is an impressive, since about 50 per cent of turkey hunters bag birds throughout the entire season.

The 1975 fall turkey season for shotgunners closed Friday

1975 Is Good Year for Turkeys

It looks like 1975 will be a good year for turkey hunters, with excellent success recorded in the mid October archery hunt and good results showing in preliminary data on the shotgun season.

snow falling for short durations at intermittent periods. Flurries may reduce visibility to one-eighth of a mile.

Snow squalls are brief, intense falls of short duration, comparable to summer rain showers. They are frequently accompanied by gusty surface winds.

Blowing or drifting snow means poor visibility and the possibility of drifted roads. The two conditions generally occur together, caused by strong winds and falling snow or an accumulation of loose snow. Blowing snow is surface snow lifted by winds; drifting snow is used to indicate that strong winds will blow falling or loose snow to form significant drifts.

Ground blizzard is a broad term used at times in a blowing and drifting snow condition with little or no falling snow. Visibility is greatly reduced and drifting is major.

Blizzard is the most dangerous of all winter storms. Blizzard warnings are issued when winds will exceed 35 miles per hour, accompanied by heavy falling or blowing snow. A severe blizzard warning indicates wind speeds of 45 mph or more, very heavy snowfall or blowing snow, and temperatures of 10 degrees Fahrenheit or lower.

The Nebraska Civil Defense Agency warns everyone to be come aware of what these terms mean and to plan winter activities accordingly.

'I Can Do It' Is Meet Topic

An "I can do it" attitude comes easily for some children said Mrs. Dorothy Ley, because learning comes easily. For others who have learning problems, self-esteem is a fragile item and must be nurtured by both teachers and parents.

Mrs. Ley, chairman of the Wayne community council, said parents and teachers of youngsters with learning problems are invited to attend a parent-teacher workshop Tues day night at 7 o'clock in the multi-purpose room of West elementary school.

Teacher Leo Perkins will use a combination of film, story and song to illustrate to teachers and parents the importance of their roles in helping youngsters develop a "sturdy self-concept," Mrs. Ley said.
