Flea Market Plans Complete

A variety of goods should start pouring into the Wayne city auditorium Saturday morning as vendors begin setting up exhibits for the Wayne Lions Club flea market, open Saturday and Sunday.

Exhibitors will be admitted at 8 a.m. so they can arrange displays in time for the 10 a.m. opening to the general public.

Public admission will be 25 cents. Market chairman Charles Maier emphasized that the admission charge will apply only to the main floor of the auditorium where vendors will display their wares. The Woman's Club Room in the north wing of the auditorium will be open to the public with Lions Club wives serving lunch.

Maier said Tuesday that most tables have been rented for the market and a variety of goods will be on sale. A few tables remain, however, and anyone wishing to rent one should contact Maier at 375-3549.

Lions members will provide overnight security Saturday so exhibitors will be able to leave displays set up for the second day of the market.

Antiques, coins, paintings, baked goods and jewelry are a sampling of the wares which will be displayed.

New this year for the flea market will be the annual book sale sponsored by the Wayne High School chapter of the American Field Service (AFS) which sponsors foreign exchange students attending in Wayne.

Knights Seeking Good Neighbors

For the 32nd year, the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben are seeking nominations from citizens throughout Nebraska and Western Iowa for its annual Good Neighbor Awards program, general manager Dick Becker announced.

The program honors individuals and groups cited by neighbors for performing unselfish, neighborly deeds during 1975 without compensation or personal gain.

Nominations are invited from newspapers, radio and television stations, Chambers of Commerce, Ak-Sar-Ben clubs, dance, county extension agents and interested groups or individuals.

Framed citations and gold lapel emblems will be awarded to the winners selected by a statewide committee. Nomination forms are available by writing the Ak-Sar-Ben Good Neighbor Awards Committee, 63rd & Shirley Streets, Omaha, Nebraska 68106.

All nominations must be post marked not later than Feb. 7, 1976.

McCullister to Be In City on Monday

Republican senatorial candidate John McCullister will be in Wayne on Monday for a 3 p.m. coffee at Les' Steak House. Everyone is invited to meet with McCullister and talk with him.

McCullister, who is member of the House of Representatives for the Third District, is seeking the Senate seat which will be vacated by Roman Hruska.

Following the coffee, McCullister will visit with several businessmen while touring Main Street. Afterwards, he is planning a talk with college students at Wayne State.

Over 200 Ballots Cast So Far in ASC Election

About 200 ballots had been received Monday by the Wayne County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) office in the mail election for county committeemen.

ASC director Ray Butts said over 1,500 ballots were mailed and reminds county farmers to mail or deliver their ballots before the Dec. 1 deadline.

County committeemen are responsible for administering ASC programs, such as the crop disaster payment program which was deluged with applications following the drought last year.

The three committee members serve three year terms.

'If The Good Weather Holds...'

WAYNE HIGH art students Doug Pearson and Karen Nallo and their instructor Ted Blonderman dab on various colors on the side of Krap's TV Service building where the trio is painting a mural as a part of Wayne's salute to the American Bicentennial. Titled "Wayne County—A Part of America—The Beautiful Since 1870," the mural depicts the state of Nebraska back in the 1800s. The group started the project Sunday after Blonderman, who designed it, sketched the mural. If the unseasonably warm weather continues, they hope to have the painting completed by Saturday. For a look at the sketched drawing, turn to page ten.

Man Free on Bond on Drug, Assault Charges

A felony charge and three misdemeanor charges were filed Friday in Wayne County court against Steve Kraeemer, 25, formerly of Wayne, now living in Norfolk.

Kraeemer's arrest followed an incident which allegedly occurred Thursday night (Nov. 13) on the Wayne State College campus.

Ivan Creighton, campus security officer, said Kraeemer was escorted outside after attempting to enter, without paying concert by the rock music group Pure Prairie League.

Kraeemer refused to leave the campus, Creighton said, and kicked the security officer and attempted to choke him. Creighton said Kraeemer was subdued and handcuffed until city police officer Melvin Lamb arrived to arrest him.

Lamb said he took Kraeemer to the county jail and upon searching him, found what he believes to be marijuana and hashish. Samples of the two substances have been sent to a laboratory for testing.

Kraeemer was held overnight in the county jail and Friday was charged with possession of hashish, a felony, and possession of marijuana, a misdemeanor because of the amount involved. He was also charged with intoxication and assault and battery against Creighton.

Kraeemer was released on $1,000 bond Friday afternoon. No date has been set for preliminary hearing.

Wakefield Voters Defeat Bond Issue

Voters in the Wakefield school district Tuesday night decided by a wide margin against authorizing the issuance of up to $273,000 in bonds to finance the construction of an addition to the public school.

County superintendent Merle Beller said the final tally Tuesday night was 288 for the issue and 435 against. Total number of eligible voters was about 1,100.

The new addition would have housed a music room, an art room and a large classroom designed for flexible use for a variety of classes and activities.

Music activities are currently conducted at the old fire station, completely out of the school building.

The Boyd Hotel provided alpaca coats in assorted sizes on a rack in the lobby for diners too informally clad.

Honey Sunday

Volunteers found sweet success Sunday, as they sold over 1,000 jars of honey in Wayne County and one group which helped with the annual Honey Sunday sale was expected to sell more Tuesday.

Mrs. Herman Linder, chairman of the county drive reported that 29 cases, or nearly 700 jars were sold in Wayne, raising over $800 for the benefit of mentally retarded persons locally and at the state level.

Seven cases, about 170 jars, were sold in the combined Winside and Hoskins effort. About $130 was collected in Winside and $60 in Hoskins, according to Mrs. Warren Maratz, chairman of the drive in the two towns.

Mrs. Merlind Kenny said Tuesday that nine cases, or about 215 jars, had been sold in Carroll before volunteers ran out. She said more honey would probably be sold there and that some proceeds were yet to be turned in but put the dollar amount close to $270.

Helping with the sale in Wayne were Boy Scout Troop 174, the Jaycees, Lions Club, Luther League, and 4 H clubs.

Youth from St. Paul's Lutheran Church assisted with the Winside sale and six 4 Hers under the leadership of Mrs. Harold Witter, canvassed Hoskins. Lunch was served to the volunteers by the Aid Association of Lutheran Branch 1960.

The Pleasant Valley 4 H Club, led by Mrs. Melvin Dowling, and the Carroltoners 4 H Club, were responsible for the sale in Carroll. Carroll leaders Mrs. Norma Hansen, Mrs. Jackie Owens and Mrs. Joann Bens chof. served lunch.

Figures aren't available for the entire county for last year but 580 bottles of honey were sold in Wayne, considerably less than the 700 sold Sunday.

Wayne is one of four counties in the Northeast Association of Retarded Citizens, which sponsored the honey sale in this area. Funds raised through the sale will be used to obtain services for retarded persons locally and to bring about legislation to aid the retarded, at the state level.

Hospital Announces End To Ambulance Operation

Providence Medical Center will discontinue ambulance service effective Dec. 31, Mother Imelda Koch said during a press conference Wednesday morning.

Mother Imelda, head of the Benedictine Sisters who operate the hospital and chairman of the hospital board, cited lack of cooperation from the city and adverse publicity because of the controversy which has arisen around the service as reasons for the decision.

Focal point of the situation is the decision made by the city council on Nov. 10 not to provide a backup driver for the second ambulance when the primary ambulance is engaged.

According to hospital officials, the city made an informal agreement in 1970 for the ambulance service was operated by the Wayne municipal hospital, to provide support including vehicles, backup drivers and a $7,000 annual cash subsidy.

Mrs. Jim Thomas, assistant hospital administrator, said that in recent months she has been informed that no city vehicle would be available for

Museum Plan Still Uncertain

Wayne County commissioners Tuesday again met with representatives of the county historical society to discuss proposed county support of a museum, but no agreement was reached.

The family of the late Rollie Ley has agreed to donate the Ley home for conversion to a museum. Under the escrow agreement, however, the commissioners must agree to appropriate one tenth of a mill annually for maintenance and operation of the museum.

When first approached regarding the appropriation, the commissioners indicated they would like to see more county wide participation in the historical society before they would consider such an agreement. It was reported at the commissioner's meeting that 24 members have recently joined the organization, with about half that number living outside Wayne.

The commissioners informed society that they will consult with the county attorney regarding the escrow agreement. Society representatives also requested that the commissioners contact the Ley family regarding the matter.

The county consulting engineer met with the county board and received direction regarding the one and six year road maintenance plans which are required by state law. The engineer will compile the commissioners proposals into a plan which will be submitted at the next meeting.

backup while the primary ambulance was engaged.

The city is in the process of purchasing a second ambulance which would alleviate that problem, but the providing of a backup driver was still in question.

The council split evenly at the Nov. 10 meeting when voting on a proposal to authorize the second driver capability Mayor Freeman Decker's tiebreaking vote was opposed to the measure.

He suggested that the council agree to provide second vehicle and driver capability until the new ambulance is purchased. At the time, the city owned station wagon would move to third unit status, but no backup driver was added that cost $2,000 at the time. The proposal was made a motion and gained council approval.

Mrs. Thomas pointed out that the council decided to withdraw the cash subsidy to the ambulance service earlier this year. She added that $2,000 at the second salaries of drivers and attendants while the remainder of operating costs are borne by the hospital.

She added that there has also been misunderstanding regarding rates for calls, particularly outside the county. Call costs within the county are $10 plus mileage, she said, while out of county residents pay $15 plus mileage.

She said a study completed in January revealed that in five years, only 12 runs have been made outside the Wayne area, most were of emergency nature. Only two or three times has the ambulance been used to transfer patients from outside the area to another hospital, she said.

Mrs. Thomas also provided figures she had received from other community hospitals regarding the cost of operating ambulance services. Public subsidies in several towns, including Aurora, Sidney, York and Scottsbluff range up to $39,000 annually, she said.

She added that while operated by the medical center, ambulance attendants have all been registered nurses on the hospital staff, providing better qualified personnel than most ambulance services can claim.

Thomas said that in the past second driver backup has been provided by the Wayne police department. Only in rare instances has a second driver actually had to go on a run, Thomas said, but in order to operate an ambulance service, the hospital must know a driver is available.

In announcing the hospital board's decision to discontinue service, Mother Imelda said, "We don't feel we are doing an injustice to the city. We are people desirous of time to make other provisions and will deliver the old ambulance to the city."

The Benedictine order has no moral obligation to provide ambulance service, Mother Imelda said. It is a problem of the people who live in the area. While the hospital board and Benedictine sisters agree that SE AMBULANCE, page 8.

'Bermuda Triangle' Lecture Is Tonight

The Bermuda Triangle, the Hoodoo Sea, the Devil's Triangle—all refer to the mysterious area of the Western Atlantic where ships, planes and people disappear without a trace and compasses and other instruments sometimes cease to function.

Charles Berlitz, who delved into the mysteries of the area in his book "The Bermuda Triangle," will discuss the phenomenon during a program, tonight (Thursday) at Ramsey Theatre in the Wayne State College Fine Arts Center.

Tickets will be available at the door. Admission is $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for high school students. Children under 12, and WSC students and faculty are admitted free.

A near capacity crowd attended the fourth annual Farmers Appreciation Night dinner sponsored Saturday by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber secretary Howard Witt said that over 600 tickets were distributed for the get-together. According to a count by food service personnel at the Wayne State College Student Union, where the dinner was held, about 400 farmers and businessmen actually attended the event.

The dinner marked the fourth year Wayne businessmen have sponsored the dinner as a way to show their appreciation made by farmers to the community.

Shotgun Missing

A shotgun said stolen Nov. 17 was reported to the Wayne County sheriff's office Monday.

Delbert Claussen of rural Wayne reported that a Remington Model 870 12 gauge shot gun was taken from his pickup while parked six miles east of Carroll on a county road.

The pickup truck was locked but a vent window was broken to gain entry.

Which they've experienced in corn production. Other topics on the program include a discussion of nitrogen management, tillage systems for corn production, the importance of tissue testing, plant population suggestions, and wonder workers.

The entire program will be informal so dealers will have ample opportunity to ask questions about special corn production situations which are unique to the area.

The program will start at 9:30 a.m. and end early in the afternoon.

Although a special invitation is extended to seed corn dealers, all farmers and businessmen are also invited to attend.

'Tonight at Eight' Opening Saturday

The "Tonight at Eight" production by the Wayne State College Theatre Department will feature, in addition to an excellent cast, outstanding stage and costume designs by Arthur Dirks, an instructor at Wayne State.

The one-acts, directed each year by senior theatre majors, will open Saturday, Nov. 22, and will run through the 25th. Evening performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, and a 2 p.m. matinee will be presented Sunday.

All performances will be staged in the Managerie Room in the basement of the Student Union building.

"Curse You Jack Dalton," a melodrama written by Wilbur Braun, centers around Bertha and Jack, whose love for one another threatens the plans of Anna and Egbert to obtain the Dalton fortune.

The villains enlist the unwilling aid of Mrs. Dalton but are foiled when Bertha and Jack announce they are already married and Bertha's brother, Rich ard, arrives to further denounce their actions.

The play is directed by Greg Black. Wayne State's Bob Gelfer plays Jack Dalton and Lori Adams has the part of Bertha Blair. Others in the cast are Ken Bonk as Egbert Van Horn, Mary Moore as Anna Alvarado, Melodie Winger as Mrs. Dalton, Tom Maggart as

MARY HIRSCHMAN of Madison portrays Laura and Steve Ptacek of Bruno plays the part of the captain in August Strindberg's "The Father," to be presented Nov. 22 through the 25th at Wayne State College. ## Protein Biggest Nutrition Concern

The United States "started at the wrong end of the funnel" when they developed their first agricultural and food aid programs to developing countries, according to Dr. Ruth Leverton, Dr. Leverton, U.S. Department of Agriculture science advisor, was the guest speaker at a world nutrition forum sponsored by Alpha Zeta, University of Nebraska-Lincoln agricultural honorary. Approximately 150 persons attended the Thursday evening event which was held at the College of Home Economics auditorium.

Dr. Leverton, a noted nutritionist, said U.S. foreign aid directors have not thought of asking "What are these people doing that is right?"

"Cultural differences are not necessarily deficiencies. The United States cannot determine which foods and agricultural procedures should be used within a given country," the 1978 NU graduate said.

"This decision belongs to the individual nation. If a country in Africa decides it does not want to feed its hungry, we cannot force them to do so."

The forum panel, which was held in conjunction with the NU Masters' Week, included Dr. E. R. Peo, NU animal science professor, Dr. Raymond Borchers, NU professor of biochemistry and nutrition, and Dr. Lowell Satterlee, NU associate professor of food science and technology.

Shortages of protein, resulting from a drought of convenience energy and a soaring world population, were listed as today's major nutritional concerns by all four panel members.

Dr. Borchers said the protein deficiency was harmful particularly to growing children.

Dr. Satterlee added that energy shortages are hindering the development of new protein sources.

"Protein is the nutrient which requires the greatest amount of energy to introduce into the body," the food scientist said.

"To help eliminate protein shortages, we need to look at three possibilities. We need to find efficient ways to develop muscle or animal proteins."

"We also need to find plant proteins which are less dependent upon fertilizers. And, finally, we need to better utilize existing protein sources."

"Finding useable protein is one matter, Dr. Satterlee said. Fitting it into existing eating patterns is another, even more difficult problem."

"If we cannot alter the color, flavor, texture or aroma of a food so that it meets current taste standards, the protein source will not be used."

Dr. Peo said sun, chlorophyll and water are abundant and continuing sources of energy.

"However, we do have short ages of convenience energy. For humans, food energy is a convenience. Animals, particularly cattle, can take inconvenient forms of protein and turn it into protein."

Although she recognizes a world lack of protein, Dr. Leverton said she also is concerned about fat deficiencies in the diets of young children.

"Fat is the only nutrient source which has the caloric density to meet the energy needs of small children," Dr. Leverton said.

"There simply is not enough room in small stomachs to hold the amount of non-fat foods required to meet children's energy needs."

The nutritionist added that food researchers should not overlook the potential for small animal protein.

"Large animals may bring in a good deal of money to industry. But for the poor families with inadequate storage, large animals are not efficient sources of protein."

"Much of the animal must be thrown away due to spoilage."

"But poultry converts inconvenient protein into eggs. And, when the chicken is slaughtered, it is not too large. It won't go to waste."

Dr. Leverton added that she sees a need to provide nutrition and sanitation education to illiterate women in developing countries.

"These women not only nourish their husbands and children, they often plant the seeds, harvest the food and take it to market."

New Association Formed To Promote Agriculture

The formation of a new association for the promotion of the agricultural community was announced Sunday.

The board of directors met in Lincoln to outline a legislative program for the 1976 legislative session.

The association is called "Nebraskans for Progressive Agriculture." Glenn LeDioy of Omaha, president, said, "We are dedicated to the basic rights of individuals to develop agriculture in Nebraska to its fullest potential without destroying the rights, privileges and responsibilities of each individual farmer and rancher."

Other officers are David Burkholder, Cozad, vice president, and Ernest Rousek, Lincoln, treasurer. The remaining Board of Directors for NPA are Bryce Barr, Neligh; Ralph Beerman, Dakota City; Tom Olson, Lisco; and E. H. Shoemaker Jr., North Platte.

According to LeDioy, the group worked last year to present alternatives to the restrictive governmental regulation proposed in the anti-corporate farm and ranch legislation.

"This year as last we feel government can help us on a state level by not adding further regulations and forms to be filled out," added LeDioy.

NPA is a statewide association made up of any individual or business, with a desire to help Nebraska agriculture grow in the spirit of free enterprise. Members presently range from Omaha to Scottsbluff and all participate in a form of agriculture.

A membership drive and 1976 legislative issues will be announced later.

FEED CATTLE INCREASING

Nebraska cattle feeders had 1,220,000 cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market Nov. 1. This inventory was seven per cent above a year ago but 21 per cent below 1973, according to Doug Auerfield, State Statistician of the State. Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Nebraska feeder operators marketed 235,000 fat cattle for slaughter during October, down 18 per cent from the same month last year but 12 per cent more than last month.

Producers placed 401,000 cattle into feedlots during October, up two per cent from last year but 13 per cent below 1973.

Cattle feeders in the seven month reporting states had 7,585,000 cattle on feed for slaughter market Nov. 1, up 72 per cent from last year.

Feed cattle marketed from these states during October totaled 1,307,000, down 14 per cent from last year. Cattle placed on feed for slaughter, at 2,305,000, were 25 per cent more than in 1974.

Butz: Technology Only Way To Increase Food Production

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz pointed to the tremendous job facing agricultural scientists in the next generation at the recent annual meeting of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges in Houston, Tex.

Dr. Robert W. Kleis, acting director of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Experiment Station, said Butz described the job ahead as so vast that we can't spend a lot of time looking back during the 100th anniversary year of the first agricultural experiment station.

"This in spite of the fact that past agricultural research has provided Americans with a plentiful supply of top quality food for only 17 per cent of their income, Butz said.

He compared this with Canada, where people spend more than 20 per cent of their income for food, and other nations where the cost is from 30 per cent on up.

However, he said, the world population will increase 30 per cent in the next generation, which means we have only a generation to develop nearly as much new food production capacity as we have in all recorded history.

"There are no new continents to discover, no new prairies to plow up, and no new forests to be cleared. All we have now is science and technology," Butz pointed out.

A further complication is the dwindling supply of energy sources.

"This all means that much more effort must be put into developing new agricultural technology and getting it out to the people in production agriculture, he said.

There was general agreement among the university officials at the conference on the need for developing more and broader support for agricultural research, Kleis said.

Dry Autumn Makes Snow Vital

The soils in Nebraska are dry, dry, dry.

That's the word from the climatology office of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Conservation and Survey Division.

Precipitation over the state as a whole during the first 10 months of 1975 was 83 per cent of normal, or 3.62 inches short.

This is not so unusual since in approximately half of the years the precipitation is below normal and in the other half it is above normal in about one fourth of the years, the precipitation drops to 83 per cent of normal, or less. Nebraska's dry soils this fall result from the timing of the precipitation.

Precipitation during the first half of the year varied somewhat from one part of the state to another. However, by the end of June the accumulated precipitation was above normal in nearly all parts of the state; only the panhandle and north central parts were slightly below normal.

Legend has it that a horseshoe nailed to a house door is a protection against witches.

The change in the precipitation pattern began in July when all sections of the state received below normal precipitation, but only the panhandle and the eastern parts were seriously short. In general, row crops continued to do well in July and winter wheat matured on schedule. Some of the earlier moisture was used during this time.

Following July a severe shortage of moisture set in. August, September, and October were all very dry. The entire state experienced low amounts of precipitation during this time, but the north central and southwest divisions were the hardest hit. Those divisions had the driest August to October period in the last 45 years. The central division had the second driest—only August through October 1939 had less moisture.

Unless there is a reversal of the precipitation pattern soon, the conditions will be ideal for blowing dust when the winter winds arrive. Fall sown crops will be thin and underdeveloped in many areas and subject to erosion by the drifting snow and sand. A good cover of snow will be extremely important this winter.

An American invented the torpedo. It was David Bushnell, in 1777.

Nitrite Reduction Won't Mean Big Change in Meat

The proposed changes in the use of nitrites and nitrites in cured meat won't be a big change the consumer will be able to see or taste.

"Meats and other cured meats will still have their usual pink color, their cured flavor and the protection against botulism poisoning, there just won't be as much nitrite left over after the curing," explains Roger Mandigo, University of Nebraska Lincoln meat specialist.

In October, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced a proposal to stop the use of nitrate and reduce the level of nitrites in the curing of meat and poultry products.

"Notice they aren't eliminating nitrites, just reducing them," Mandigo points out.

"Trying to find the lowest levels that still give these properties consumers are used to."

Nitrites and nitrates have been used as long as there have been cured meats. They have always been a part of the curing process for curing hams and other meats such as corned beef and most sausages, the USDA expert relates.

The problem is not that there are nitrites, but that nitrites sometimes combine with amines to become nitrosamines. These nitrosamines produced with heat in frying bacon have been found to be cancer causing when large amounts are injected into rats.

"Because of the botulism threat, we cannot pull nitrites out of the meat curing process immediately. However, by eliminating nitrate, we can have better control over the levels of nitrites used in curing."

"The proposed changes should result in the greatest consumer protection against both health hazards," Mussman believes.

'Origin of Thanksgiving' Lesson at Woman's Club

The Origin of Thanksgiving was the theme when the Carroll Woman's Club met Thursday in the Woman's Club room, featuring a most cooperative dinner.

Planning the noon dinner were Mrs. Charles Whitehead, Mrs. Ann Roberts, Mrs. Enos Williams, Mrs. Ellery Pearson, Mrs. Ervin Wittler and Mrs. Edna Fork.

Twenty-seven members and two guests, Mrs. Edna Fork of Warm Springs, Geo. J. Catherine Hosch of Ranlph, were present. Mrs. Edna Fork was in charge of table grace and opened the meeting with a prayer, entitled "Thanksgiving."

Following the singing, accompanied by M. Leo Jordan, the flag salutes were given and Mrs. Robert Johnson reported on the last meeting. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Lyle Cunningham.

Roll call was "What I Remember of an O.T.M. Store."

Plans were made to purchase a gift for a resident of the Wayne Care Centre, Mrs. Fay Hurlbert. It will be in charge of the group and to send a contribution of a dinner for four to the Waikiki Mission in Sioux City, Iowa, announced that a memorial plaque will be placed in the club room with names of deceased Woman's Club members.

Jack Kavanagh and Mr. Lyle Cunningham presented an afternoon program. They read articles about Thanksgiving and told about the early beginnings of the town of Carroll.

Lucile Larson and Mrs. Wayne Fritzsche of Wayne spoke about the possibility of a historical museum in Wayne. Members are asked to bring cookies, candy or fruit and a decorated container to the next meeting, Dec. 11, when Christmas boxes will be packed for senior citizens in the Carroll vicinity. An exchange of a $1 Christmas gift will be held during the meeting.

Mrs. Lynn Roberts and Mrs. Frank Cunningham will be on the program committee and Mrs. Martin Hansen, Mrs. Merlyn Kenney and Mrs. Robert J. Jones are in charge of serving.

Effie Suber Birthday Prize Stays at $500

Tuesday, Nov. 25: Methodist and Congregational Presbyterian—sing-a-long—Methodist Church.

Mrs. Faye Hurlbert spent the weekend in Lincoln with her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hurlbert.

Mrs. Gordon Kuder of Norfolk, the former Gladys Dowling of Carroll, is a recent graduate of the Norfolk Beauty College and is employed at Norfolk Holiday House of Beauty. Mrs. Kuder's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Dowling, were in Lincoln Thursday where her mother was her model for the state board exams.

The Dick Tuckers, Jim and Ann, Sioux City, and Levi Roberts of Lincoln Sunday supper guests in the Lynn Roberts home. Mr. and Mrs. Duane Franches, Buhl, Idaho, were supper guests Friday in the Roberts home.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Owens and Megan spent the Nov. 9 weekend in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gesirich of Newport.

The Frank Cunninghamhs were in Norfolk Sunday where they visited her sister, Mrs. Ray Crawford of Waldorf, Md., in the Rudy Hickey home.

The Mrs. Mary Ann, Jill, Joe and Bob, attended funeral services at Harlan, Ia., Nov. 11 for 17-year old Wayne Gerhart, who died of injuries he sustained in an automobile accident. Wayne is the brother-in-law of Mrs. Mike Gearhart, the former Ruth Kenney of Carroll.

That $500 grand prize in the weekly Birthday Bucks drawing is still waiting for some lucky shopper.

Again last week an shop shopper missed winning the grand prize. Mrs. Effie Suber of Wayne was only five days off of picking up the top prize. Her birthday is Sept. 8, 1984. The winning date was Sept. 3, 1984.

Mrs. Suber, who was in Wittig's Food Center, received the $25 consolation prize.

The grand prize will remain at $500 until someone wins the jackpot by matching the winning date selected at random. Anyone can participate in the business promotion by just being present in one of the participating Wayne businesses when the drawing is made at 8:15 p.m. every Thursday.

No registration or purchase is necessary.

Protein Biggest Nutrition Concern

The United States "started" at the wrong end of the tunnel" when they developed their first agricultural and food aid programs to developing countries, according to Dr. Ruth Leverton, Dr. Leverton, U.S. Department of Agriculture science advisor, was the guest speaker at a world nutrition forum sponsored by Alpha Zeta, University of Nebraska-Lincoln agricultural honorary.

Approximately 150 persons attended the Thursday evening event which was held at the College of Home Economics auditorium.

Dr. Leverton, a noted nutritionist, said U.S. foreign aid directors have not thought of asking "What are these people doing that is right?"

"Cultural differences are not necessarily deficiencies. The United States cannot determine which foods and agricultural procedures should be used with in a given country," the 1928 NU graduate said.

"This decision belongs to the individual nation. If a country in Africa decides it does not want to feed its hungry, we cannot force them to do so."

The forum panel, which was held in conjunction with the NU Masters Week, included Dr. E. R. Peo, NU animal science professor, Dr. Raymond Borchers, NU professor of biochemistry and nutrition, and Dr. Lowell Satterlee, NU assistant professor of food science and technology.

Shortages of protein, resulting from a drought of convenience energy and a soaring world population, were listed as today's major nutritional concerns by all four panel members.

Dr. Borchers said the protein deficiency was harmful particularly to growing children.

Dr. Satterlee added that energy shortages are hindering the development of new protein sources.

"Protein is the nutrient which requires the greatest amount of energy to introduce into the body," the food scientist said.

"To help eliminate protein shortages, we need to look at three possibilities. We need to find efficient ways to develop muscle or animal proteins.

"We also need to find plant proteins which are less dependent upon fertilizers. And, finally, we need to better utilize existing protein sources."

"If we cannot alter the color, flavor, texture or aroma of a food so that it meets current taste standards, the protein source will not be used."

Dr. Peo said sun, chlorophyll and water are abundant and continuing sources of energy.

"However, we do have short ages of convenience energy. For humans, food energy is a convenience. Animals, particularly cattle, can take inconvenient forms of protein and turn it into protein."

Although she recognizes a world lack of protein, Dr. Leverton said she also is concerned about fat deficiencies in the diets of young children.

"Fat is the only nutrient source which has the caloric density to meet the energy needs of small children," Dr. Leverton said.

"There simply is not enough room in small stomachs to hold the amount of non-fat foods required to meet children's energy needs."

The nutritionist added that food researchers should not overlook the potential for small animal protein.

"Large animals may bring in a good deal of money to industry. But for the poor families with inadequate storage, large animals are not efficient sources of protein."

"Much of the animal must be thrown away due to spoilage."

"But poultry converts inconvenient protein into eggs. And, when the chicken is slaughtered it is not too large. It won't go to waste."

Dr. Leverton added that she sees a need to provide nutrition and sanitation education to illiterate women in developing countries.

"These women not only nourish their husbands and children, they often plant the seeds, harvest the food and take it to market."

Dry Autumn Makes Snow Vital

The soils in Nebraska are dry, dry, dry.

That's the word from the climatology office of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Conservation and Survey Division.

Precipitation over the state as a whole during the first 10 months of 1975 was 83 per cent of normal, or 3.62 inches short.

This is not so unusual since in approximately half of the years the precipitation is below normal and in the other half it is above normal. In about one fourth of the years, the precipitation drops to 85 per cent of normal, or less.

Nebraska's dry soils this fall result from the timing of the precipitation.

Precipitation during the first half of the year varied some what from one part of the state to another. However by the end of June the accumulated precipitation was above normal in nearly all parts of the state; only the panhandle and north central parts were slightly below normal.

Legend has it that a horseshoe nailed to a house door is a protection against witches.

The change in the precipitation pattern began in July when all sections of the state received below normal precipitation, but only the panhandle and the eastern parts were seriously short in general, row crops continued to do well in July and winter wheat matured on schedule. Some of the earlier moisture was used during this time.

Following July a severe shortage of moisture set in. August, September, and October were all very dry. The entire state experienced low amounts of precipitation during this time, but the north central and southwest divisions were the hardest hit. Those divisions had the driest August to October period in the last 45 years. The central division had the second driest—only August through October 1939 had less moisture.

Unless there is a reversal of the precipitation pattern soon, the conditions will be ideal for blowing dust when the winter winds arrive. Fall sown crops will be thin and underdeveloped in many areas and subject to erosion by the drifting soil and sand. A good cover of snow will be extremely important this winter.

New Association Formed To Promote Agriculture

The formation of a new association for the promotion of the agricultural community was announced Sunday.

The board of directors met in Lincoln to outline a legislative program for the 1976 legislative session.

The association is called "Nebraskans for Progressive Agriculture." Glenn LeDioy of Omaha, president, said, "We are dedicated to the basic rights of individuals to develop agriculture in Nebraska to its fullest potential without destroying the rights, privileges and responsibilities of each individual farmer and rancher."

Other officers are David Burkholder, Cozad, vice president, and Ernest Rousek, Lincoln, treasurer. The remaining Board of Directors for NPA are Bryce Barr, Neligh; Ralph Beerman, Dakota City; Tom Olson, Lisco, and E. H. Shoemaker Jr., North Platte.

According to LeDioy, the group worked last year to present alternatives to the restrictive governmental regulation proposed in the anti-corporate farm and ranch legislation.

"This year, as last, we feel government can help us on a state level by not adding further regulations and forms to be filled out," added LeDioy.

NPA is a statewide association made up of any individual or business with a desire to help Nebraska agriculture grow in the spirit of free enterprise. Members presently range from Omaha to Scottsbluff and all participate in a form of agriculture.

A membership drive and 1976 legislative issues will be announced later.

An American invented the torpedo. It was David Bushnell, in 1777.

FEED CATTLE INCREASING

Nebraska cattle feeders had 1,220,000 cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market on Nov. 1. This inventory was seven per cent above a year ago but 21 per cent below 1973, according to Doug Murfield, State Statistician of the State Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Nebraska feedlot operators marketed 235,000 fat cattle for slaughter during October, down 18 per cent from the same month last year but 12 per cent more than last month.

Producers placed 401,000 cattle into feedlots during October, up two per cent from last year but 13 per cent below 1973.

Cattle feeders in the seven month reporting states had 7,585,000 cattle on feed for slaughter market Nov. 1, up 12 per cent from last year.

Feed cattle marketed from these states during October totaled 1,307,000, down 14 per cent from last year. Cattle placed on feed for slaughter, at 2,305,000, were 25 per cent more than in 1974.

Butz: Technology Only Way To Increase Food Production

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz pointed to the tremendous job facing agricultural scientists in the next generation at the recent annual meeting of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges in Houston, Tex.

Dr. Robert W. Kleis, acting director of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Experiment Station, said Butz described the job ahead as so vast that we can't spend a lot of time looking back during the 100th anniversary year of the first agricultural experiment station.

This in spite of the fact that past agricultural research has provided Americans with a plentiful supply of top quality food.

for only 17 per cent of their income, Butz said.

He compared this with Canada, where people spend more than 20 per cent of their income for food; and other nations where the cost is from 30 per cent on up.

However, he said, the world population will increase 30 per cent in the next generation, which means we have only a generation to develop nearly as much new food production capacity as we have in all recorded history.

"There are no new continents to discover, no new prairies to plow up, and no new forests to be cleared. All we have now is science and technology," Butz pointed out.

A further complication is the dwindling supply of energy sources.

"This all means that much more effort must be put into developing new agricultural technology and getting it out to the people in production agriculture," he said.

There was general agreement among the university officials at the conference on the need for developing more and broader support for agricultural research, Kleis said.

Ambulance

the best place to operate an ambulance service is from the hospital, and the sisters are more than willing to help with the problem, if the help is not desirable and creates controversy and more of a problem than it solves. The service should be withdrawn.

"We are willing to do our part, even at a loss and considerable inconvenience, but we are not willing to do so at the cost of jeopardizing any good we can do."

She said it is felt that adverse publicity resulting statements is damaging to the Benedictine Sisters' ability to serve. In particular, she quoted a statement made by councilman John Vokes of the May 10 meeting. "You keep speaking of the city's moral obligation," Vokes said, referring to a statement made by mayor Freeman Decker. "What about their (the hospital's) obligation. It makes me think that they like the money we give them but when we want service they say 'fine, give a little more.'"

Hospital administrator Charles Thomas pointed out that he has received over $125,000 in working capital since the medical center has opened and that so far revenues have been sufficient to meet payroll expenses.

Flea Market

The AFS has sponsored the book sale for a number of years but this will be the first time the sale has been held in conjunction with the Lions flea market. Alain Guillot-Pinguet, from Leige, Belgium, now attending Wayne High, is the 10th foreign exchange student sponsored by the local AFS chapter.

The book sale will be conducted during the first day only of the two-day flea market. Books and magazines will be offered for 25 cents each or five for a dollar.

Barber said the money earned by the Lions Club from the market will be used to support community service activities including maintenance of the camp ground near the Wayne Air port, and providing Christmas gifts for residents at the Wayne Care Center.

Seventeen Inducted into Wayne HS Honor Society

Seventeen Wayne High students Tuesday night were inducted in the newly revived Wayne chapter of the National Honor Society. The 17 include seniors Linda Costello, Jodie Draghu, Kathy Dranselka, Jan Maun, Judy Janke, Tom Johansen, Mary Kovensky, Paul Mallette, Mike Schmidt, Phil Kaaber, Kris Nedergaard, Susan Jacobmeyer and junior Mark Brandt, Kathy Haas, Laura Haase, Joe Kenny and Stephanie Dorcy. School principal Don Zeiss told the gathering at the school's lecture hall that the selection of the students was based on scholarship, leadership and character. Each of the student's teachers had to evaluate a candidate and give the students a grade of 70 per cent or better in each of the three areas before he or she could be inducted, he said. High school counselor Ken Carlson, who is co-sponsor, then inducted the officers before they in turn inducted the new members. The officers are: Phil Korber, president; Kris Nedergaard, vice president; Susan Jacobmeyer, secretary and Stephanie Dorcy, treasurer. Although no records were available, the last known National Honor Society chapter at Wayne High was about 15 years ago, according to Zeiss.

USE WAYNE HERALD WANT ADS!

By Brian McBride

"God gave you the gift of 86,400 seconds today. Have you used one to say 'thank you'?"

William Arthur Ward

Appreciation might be called a form of lubrication... the "grease" which makes interpersonal relationships work more smoothly. It's so easy to say "thank you", yet it is so often neglected.

At this time of the year we thank God for our many blessings. This should be a daily routine, rather than an annual event. But we should not overlook the opportunities we have to brighten someone's day with a cheery, heartfelt "thank you". Do it often... it benefits all concerned.

We're thankful for the opportunity to serve this community with an essential service and for the many friends we have made here, over the years.

Concord 1-6 Year Hearing Is Dec. 10

The Concord town board will hold its one and six year street improvement hearing during its Dec. 10th meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the village fire hall. Members agreed during last week's board meeting.

In other action last week the board agreed not to hold a special meeting to settle a land dispute between former town board chairman Duane Harder and Glenn Magnuson.

Magnuson claimed the Harder had built part of his garage on village owned property. The board decided to settle the problem among its members according to a village official.

Business notes...

Mrs. Betty Addison of Wayne has been awarded the Residential Member designation by the governing council of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

This professional designation was inaugurated in 1968 to recognize appraisers with demonstrated skill and experience in appraising single family residential property. To receive the designation, Mrs. Addison was required to have at least three years experience in the real estate business including two full years experience in appraising residential property.

She also had to pass a technical examination of the institute, submit an acceptable single family demonstration appraisal report, and have the favorable recommendation of other appraisers familiar with her work and professional integrity.

Mrs. Addison is affiliated with the Nebraska Chapter No. 23 of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers. Having been employed by Wayne Federal Savings and Loan Association since January 1970, Mrs. Addison has served on the board of directors and as president of the Association since February 1973.

She also is a director of the Nebraska League of Savings and Loan Associations and is a committee member of the standing committee for small city savings associations of the United States League of Savings Associations.

Membership in the Appraisal Institute is limited exclusively to professionally designated appraisers, and the Institute is the oldest and largest organization in North America of appraisers qualified to evaluate all types of commercial and investment real estate and also having members qualified only as residential property appraisers.

Social Security: Holiday Earnings

Earnings from holiday jobs can affect the monthly payments of students, housewives, and other people getting social security benefits, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.
The amount people earn from holiday jobs will cause a reduction in their social security checks if their total earnings for 1975 are over $2,500.
For every two dollars earned over $2,500, one dollar in social security benefits is withheld. But no matter how much is earned for the year, the full social security payment is made for any month in which neither $210 or more was earned and substantial work wasn't done in a private business.
People planning to take holiday jobs should notify social security as soon as possible if they know their earnings for this year will go over $2,500, according to Branch.
"Refunding overpayments to social security could cause hard ship," he said.
People can get information about earnings and social security benefits by calling or writing any social security office. The Norfolk social security office is at 1310 Norfolk Avenue. The phone number is 371-1595.
George Reed, a representative from the Norfolk office, will be in Wayne Tuesday at the Senior Citizen Center, from 9 to 11 a.m.

We are just starting a new 4-H year, new 4-H clubs are forming and new members joining. So I thought it would be appropriate to run the following "want ads". If you are interested in learning more about 4-H contact either the Extension Office or one of the 4-H leaders.

WANTED YOUTH OF AMERICA. No dues, no uniforms, lots of fun; opportunities for learning and leadership. Only those 6 to 18 can apply. Lots of fringe benefits.

JR. LIVESTOCK FEEDER. Learn to feed livestock just like dad does (or even better). Enroll in livestock project and feed your own beef, lambs and hogs. Now is the time to join.

HELP WANTED. Men or women—Be a 4-H leader. Have the time of a life. No age limit. No experience necessary. Must have a big heart and open doors. Generous salary of love from 4-H'ers and respect of the community. Big fringe benefits.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT. Baked goods, canned goods, better breakfasts, lunches and suppers can be yours. Opportunities for both boys and girls to learn the ABC's of cooking. Ability to read a recipe necessary.

WANTED—CARPENTERS. Boys and girls interested in learning to use hand tools in basic woodworking. Requirements: Accessibility to tools, lots of patience and a desire to learn.

WANTED—Eager young boys and girls to learn about electricity and home repairs of light cords, switches, and outlets. No experience necessary. Opportunity for advancement to motors, lighting and electronics.

GIRLS WANTED. No experience necessary, must have needle, thread and cloth. Put them together for fashions galore. Play clothes, school clothes, lounging and special occasion too. All can be yours. Join 4-H today.

RUMMAGE—You name it, we have it. Almost any interest is available as a 4-H project. Many new items, many old. Available to boys and girls in town as well as country.

Nitrite Reduction Won't Mean Big Change in Meat

The proposed changes in the use of nitrites and nitrate in cured meat won't be a big change the consumer will be able to see or taste.

"Ham and other cured meats will still have their usual pink color, their cured flavor and the protection against botulism poisoning, there just won't be as much nitrite left over after the curing," explains Roger Mandigo, University of Nebraska-Lincoln meat specialist.

In October, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced a proposal to stop the use of nitrate and reduce the level of nitrites in the curing of meat and poultry products.

"Notice they aren't eliminating nitrites, just reducing them," Mandigo points out.

"Trying to find the lowest levels that still give these properties consumers are used to."

Nitrites and nitrate have been used as long as there have been cured meats. They have always been a part of the brine used for curing hams and other meats such as corned beef and meat sausages. The NU meat expert relates, "They change the cooked color of the meat from whitish grey to the pink we all expect in cured meats. They also serve a part in the flavor function and have been shown in repeated research studies to be an effective control measure for botulism food poisoning."

The problem is not that there are nitrites, but that nitrites sometimes combine with amines to become nitrosamines. Those nitrosamines produced with heat in frying bacon have been found to be cancer causing when large amounts are injected into rats. Bacon has been implicated more than other cured meats, Mandigo adds, because many people overcook their bacon and cook it at very high heat.

Says Dr. Harry C. Mussman of the USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service: "These recommendations take into account the very real danger to people of botulism poisoning if too little nitrite is used, as weighed against the potential hazard of cancer resulting from nitrosamine formation."

"Because of the botulism threat, we cannot pull nitrites out of the meat curing process immediately. However, by eliminating nitrate, we can have better control over the levels of nitrites used in curing."

The proposed changes should result in the greatest consumer protection against both health hazards, Mussman believes.

4-H CLUB

Pals and Partners
The Pals and Partners 4-H Club held their Nov. 14 meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the Northeast Station near Concord. Mrs. Dwayne Rethwisch showed slides of her trip to Japan.

Garry Roaber presided at the business meeting with 14 members and 20 guests present. New officers were elected with Bryan Ruede, president; Jerry Echtenkamp, vice president; Greg Meyer, secretary; Terry Borg, treasurer, and Mark Schuttler, news reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Borg were named club leaders and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Echtenkamp, assistant leaders. New members are Lori and Kenny Meyer. A potluck lunch was enjoyed by everyone.

The next meeting will be Jan. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the Northeast Station, near Concord.

Keith Schuttler, news reporter.

Sholes Country Kids
The re-organizational meeting of the Sholes Country Kids 4-H Club was held Nov. 13 in the Melvin Dowling home with 15 members and one new member, Jill Gubbles, present. Leaders are Larry Whittier, Mrs. Melvin Dowling and Mrs. Hans Bauermeister.

Duane Leicy was elected president; Kelly Isom, vice president; Roxanne Rhode, secretary-treasurer, and Dean Dowling, news reporter. Goals for the new year were voted on and projects for the year decided. Names were drawn for a Christmas gift exchange to be held Dec. 11 at the Hans Bauermeister home. The group planned to assist with Honey Sunday, Nov. 16.

Dean Dowling, News reporter

Dixon Belles
Dixon Belles 4-H Club met Nov. 10 at 8 p.m. in the Sterling Bora home for their 1975 organizational meeting.

Dues were set at 50 cents. A Christmas party was planned for Dec. 6 at 8 p.m. at the Northeast Station, near Concord. If there is snow, the program committee will bring gifts, if not, they will plan games and skits.

New officers elected were: Adel Kessinger, president; Sharon Taylor, vice president; Anna Borg, secretary; Shelby Taylor, treasurer; Diann White, song leader, and Jodi Kessinger, news reporter.

Seventeen girls were present including Lauril Corvin, Sandy Taylor and Jodi Kessinger, who recently joined the club. Several members were also present. Leaders for the year are Mrs. Sterling Berg, Mrs. Dave Ahlms, Mrs. Earl Eckert and Mrs. Doyle Kessinger.

Carroll News

'Origin of Thanksgiving' Lesson at Woman's Club

The "Origin of Thanksgiving" was the theme when the Carroll Woman's Club met Thursday in the Woman's Club room following a noon cooperative dinner.

Planning the noon dinner were Mrs. Charles Whittier, Mrs. Ann Roberts, Mrs. Enos Williams, Mrs. Elly Pearson, Mrs. Ervin Whittier and Mrs. Edward Ford.

Twenty-seven members and two guests, Mrs. Edith Burris of Warm Springs, Geo. and Catherine Hosch of Radolph, were present. Mrs. Edward Ford was in charge of table grace and opened the meeting with a poem, entitled "Thanksgiving."

Following group singing, accompanied by Mrs. Lee Jordan, the flag salute was given and Mrs. Robert Johnson reported on the last meeting. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Lyle Cunningham.

Roll call was "What I Remember of an Old-Time Store."

Plans were made to purchase a gift for a resident of the Wayne Care Centre. Mrs. Fay Hurlbert will be in charge. The group voted to send a contribution for a dinner for four to the Wall Street Mission in Sioux City. It was announced that a memorial plaque will be placed in the club room with names of deceased Woman's Club members.

Mrs. Jack Kavanaugh and Mrs. Lyle Cunningham presented the afternoon program. They read articles about Thanksgiving and told about the early beginnings of the town of Carroll. Mrs. Lucile Larson and Mrs. Wayne Tiegion of Wayne spoke about the possibility of a historical museum in Wayne.

Members are asked to bring cookies, candy or fruit and a decorated container to the next meeting, Dec. 11, when Christmas boxes will be packed for senior citizens in the Carroll vicinity. An exchange of a $1 Christmas gift will be held during the meeting.

Mrs. Lynn Roberts and Mrs. Frank Cunningham will be on the program committee and Mrs. Marie Hansen, Mrs. Merlyn Kenny and Mrs. Robert L. Jones are in charge of serving.

By Mrs. Edward Fork 585-4827

EFFIE SUBER

Birthday Prize Stays at $500

That $500 grand prize in the weekly Birthday Bucks drawing in Wayne is still waiting for some lucky shopper.

Again last week an area shopper missed winning the grand prize. Mrs. Effie Suber of Wayne was only five days off of picking up the top prize. Her birthday is Sept. 8, 1894. The winning date was Sept. 3, 1964.

Mrs. Suber, who was in Wittig's Food Center, received the $25 consolation prize.

The grand prize will remain at $500 until someone wins the jackpot by matching the winning date selected at random. Anyone can participate in the business promotion by just being present in one of the participating Wayne businesses when the drawing is made at 8:15 p.m. every Thursday.

No registration or purchase is necessary.

Meet for Cards

The Happy Go Lucky Card Club met Friday evening in the Clair Swanson home. Prizes were won by Lem Jones, Mrs. Ed Fork, Mrs. Marion Glass, LeRoy Peterson and Robert Peterson.

The 12 meeting will be in the Marion Glass home.

9 at Meeting
The Star Home Extension Club met Nov. 11 in the Merlin Malchow home with nine members and a guest, Mrs. Robert Peterson.

Mrs. John Rees had the lesson on heritage arts and each member brought needlework made by their mother or grandmother. The group voted to purchase a Christmas gift for a woman at the Wayne Care Centre.

Plans were made for the club's Christmas party, Dec. 9 at Ron's Bar. Husbands will be guests for a supper and cards.

Savings Bond Near $170,000 in Wayne County

Sales of E and H Savings Bonds during the first nine months in Wayne county have totaled $168,856 for 81.6 per cent of quota according to Henry Ley county chairman. Statewide sales during the same period were $43,569,832.

Dixon County sales during the same period total $157,736, 84.4 per cent of quota. September sales were $13,425.

Newly appointed state volunteer chairman, John F. O'Neill, Lincoln, announced that Nebraska now holds as estimated $920 million worth of U.S. Savings Bonds and Savings Notes according to a recent report from the Department of the Treasury.

Referring to the report, O'Neill said, "Savings Bonds represent an important reserve to every community in the state and provide an annual earning of more than $47 million in the form of interest checks paid by the Treasury or accruals to Series E Bonds and Savings Notes held by many thousands of Nebraskans."

"Savings Bonds have been a major factor in encouraging thrift, and their ownership aids greatly to our economic stability," O'Neill added.

Seward Is Optimistic About Cage Season

"Optimistic" is the word coach Jim Seward uses to describe prospects for his Wayne State basketball team. Reasons he cites: three starters returning among eight lettermen, plus promising recruits.

Two of those three starters, John Redmond, of Kankakee, Ill., and Rick Anderson of Chicago, Ill., caused the coaches a selection problem last year when "should" get post-season honors? Solution: Redmond was tagged Mr. Defense, Anderson most valuable player, Charlie Henderson, now graduated, was honored as Mr. Offense.

Redmond and Anderson finished the '74 season last year first and second in scoring with 17 and 12 point averages, and Redman led rebounding with a norm of 9.3. The other returning starter, Rex Pressler of North Platte, ranked fifth in point production at 8.8. All are seniors, good starting prospects. Other returning lettermen, with their point average last year: Andy Kapraun, Elgin, Ill., 6.9; Lennie Adams, West Point, 4.2; Joe Curt, South-Center, City, 2.7; Reggie Balderas, Makawao, Hawaii, 2.7; Dale Meyer, Sioux City (Heelan High), 2.8.

Among newcomers is Sylvester Pierce, a regular on the Omaha Central team that won state Class A championships the last two years. Says Seward: "He has the prospects of being a great athlete."

Two Nebraska junior college transfers are Ed Gogan of Arcadia and Dave Scheel, who played at Wakefield High and now lives in Battle Creek, both of Platte College, Columbus.

Seward expects considerable help from five other transfers: Paul Benson, Milwaukee, Wis., from North Iowa Area Community College at Mason City; Craig Micheli, Fort Dodge, Ia., from Fort Dodge Community College; Gary Rauch, Tinley Park, Ill., from Joliet, Ill., Junior College; Bob Robinson, Denver, from Kansas City; Sam Wright, Chicago, and Sam Wright, Chicago, from Sioux Empire College; Howard, Ia.

While the team averages 6.4, here is no "big man." Tallest are Curt, Gogan and Micheli, all 6-6. Four others are 6.5, a couple are 6.4. Everybody stands at least 6-0 — except 5.5 Balderas, a junior who can out quick a lot of big guys.

For openers, Wayne State goes to Sioux City on Saturday against Briar Cliff. Says Seward of Briar Cliff: "They probably had the most individual talent of any team we played last year, and they have all their starters back." In two games last year, each team won at home.

A 75-game schedule includes two tournaments, the Chicago Classic, Dec. 18-20, and Wayne's own Christmas Holiday Tournament, Dec. 29-31. Visiting college teams will be Bellevue, Midland and Westminster. The high school division brings Elgin Pope John, Fremont Bergan, Lyons, North Bend, Omaha Cathedral, Plain view, Plattsmouth and Wayne.

Schedule:
November — 25 at North-west, 18; 29, at UN Omaha.
December — 2, Mount Marty 4; 9, Dakota Wesleyan 18, 20, at Chicago Classic; 29, 31, Holiday Tournament.
January — 3, Doane; 6, University of South Dakota Spring field; 8, Chadron State; 13, Hastings; 20, at Kearney State; 22, at Doane; 27, Peru State; 29, Briar Cliff.

Youth BB Starts Next Week

Recreation basketball for youths in grades four through eight will begin next week at the city auditorium.

According to recreation director Hank Overin, all Wayne youths are eligible to play in the program which will run from 4 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. The times are changed for Saturday's lineup.

The schedule:
Monday-Thursday: For youths in seventh and eighth grades Tuesday-Friday: For youths in sixth grade
Wednesday: For youths in fifth grade
Saturday: 9:10 a.m. for third and fourth graders; 10:11 for fourth graders; 11:12 for fifth graders; 12:30 p.m. for fifth and sixth grade girls; 2:30-4 for seventh and eighth grade girls.

Times are subject to change if there aren't enough participants. Overin noted.

Brandt Leads Devils In Post-Season Stats

Junior all-conference running back Mark Brandt led Wayne High graders in four of 10 categories during the Blue Devils' 8-2 season.

Brandt was first in points scored, rushing total yards and punt returns, according to final season statistics.

Brandt scored 12 touchdowns for 72 points, rushed 161 times for 964 yards, collected another 263 yards in the air to finish with 1,227 total yards and had seven punt returns for 89 yards.

Quarterback Paul Mallette finished right behind Brandt in scoring, with eight touchdowns and one two-point conversion for 50 points.

During Wayne's campaign the Devils averaged 24.3 points a game while the opponent offense scored an average of 9.1 points a game. In first downs per game, Wayne had about 17 compared to almost nine for opponents.

Other per game averages include Wayne stats are first: passing—100 to 72; rushing—240 to 98 and total yards—341 to 169.

Coed Cagers Open Action At NM State

"The toughest schedule ever" awaits the Wayne State women's basketball team, and its first foe illustrates that description: The Wildkittens will go to Maryville, Mo., Sunday against a North-west Missouri State team that usually is one of the state's best.

Last year Northwest came to Wayne with the best current record in Missouri and lost a tense battle, 58-55.

Coach G. I. Willoughby has seven regulars back from the 1974-75 team that won a third straight Nebraska championship.

Wayne Spikers Finish Season With 17-3 Mark

Wayne High's volleyball team wrapped up the season Saturday with a 17-3 record.

The Blue Devils lost the third match of the year in the semi-finals of the state Class B tournament at Scottsbluff when the locals fell in two sets to eventual Class B winner, Ogallala.

After taking a 4-1 lead in the first set, Wayne lost the momentum and lost the set 15-4. The second set Ogallala dropped Wayne 15-1.

"I have to give a lot of credit to their team," Wayne coach Mavis Dalton said. Last year Ogallala finished second in the Class A tournament. The team went to Class B this year after a drop in student enrollment.

"I'm real proud of our girls. They worked hard all year long and reaped the benefits of it," Mrs. Dalton said about her club which had its best record in the school's three year history of girls volleyball.

THE RUMOR that Winnebago may drop out or be asked to leave the six team Lewis division of the Lewis and Clark Conference still hangs in the air. Division president Ray Lang of New Castle said he hasn't heard about the possible exclusion of Winnebago, but the Newcastle school superintendent pointed out that the addition or subtraction of a division team could take place today (Thursday) at the conference's meeting in Hartington.

On the agenda for 3:30 p.m. executive committee meeting is a request by Bancroft to join the league. If Bancroft is admitted to the division, the league would have to be expanded or revamped, Lange said.

Other teams in the Lewis division are Homer, Ponca, Allen, Walthill and New Castle.

Also on the agenda are the questions of dropping round-robin play in division basketball and the reduction in the number of players named to league's annual all conference football teams.

Presently, each division member plays the other five twice during the basketball season. The proposal now is to play a league team once so that other division teams can play more opponents outside of the league, Lange noted.

About football, Lange added that 44 players are selected each year — 22 on the first team for each division. The feeling is that 44 is too many.

ALMOST time to dig out that pair of worn out tennis shoes and get ready for city recreation men's basketball league play.

Action starts next week, beginning at 7 and 8:30 p.m. Monday for persons wanting to play in the fall league. All those run-and-gun type players should report at the city auditorium at 7 o'clock if you haven't played recreation ball before.

"Veterans" gather at 8.

For those diehard players who want to play the game at a little slower pace, Wednesday night at 7 and 8:30 are the times to gather at the auditorium for newcomers and oldtimers.

Both leagues are open to men who live or work in Wayne. Students at Wayne State College who are graduates of Wayne High are eligible to play. So are members of the college faculty. Sorry, the league isn't open to high school students.

Players in both leagues will practice for about three to four weeks before teams are selected and action begins. If you're interested in playing, but can't make the first practice session, contact recreation director Hank Overin to let him know you want to play.

PERHAPS the epitome of faith in the University of Nebraska's football team could have been seen in a newspaper advertisement for a Lincoln motel. According to the grape vine, the ad welcomed all Iowa State football fans to stay at the motel during last week's game, absolutely free, if Iowa State had beaten the Cornhuskers.

Koontz: Winning One Game Doesn't Mean We've Improved

Most Allen High basketball followers would consider a victory this season a 100 per cent improvement over last year's club which was winless in 18 outings. But coach Jim Koontz has a different viewpoint.

"Winning one game doesn't necessarily mean we've improved," the first-year head man said. "Whether we win or lose, we have to show improvement each game before we can say that we are better than last year's club," he added.

Koontz believes that his club can win about half of its games this year. He bases his outlook on his team's depth and average height.

This year's Eagle team 12 players out for the season, including three starters from last year's club and a transfer letterman. The starters include seniors Jeff Creamer, Shawn Persinger, Lindy Koester and transfer Charlie Ferguson.

Persinger will be Koontz's tallest player on the floor, standing at 6-3. Creamer and Koester each are 6-0 while Ferguson is 5-6.

Allen, which belongs to the Lewis and Clark Conference, will be five and six players deep at the guard and forward spots. Along with Creamer and Ferguson competing for a guard spot, Koontz also will have junior Denny Uhi, sophomore Rayme Dowling and freshman Mark Creamer Koester will head the list for one of the forward positions. Also working out for the other forward slot will be senior Verneal Roberts, junior Bart Gatch and Darwin Kluever and sophomores Ryan Lubberstad and Mark Ruback.

With that kind of depth, the coach expects Allen to be running more on offense for the quick points. "We'll be running a free-lance offense," he noted, adding that his game plan is to have four or five of his players scoring equally.

"Defense will be one area the coach wants to stress. The Eagle quint will be working on a man-to-man, pressure type of defense in an attempt to slow down its opponents' scoring. "I expect our defense to take care of us on a poor shooting night," Koontz pointed out.

Prior to coming to Allen, Koontz was an assistant basket

The schedule has 17 games leading up to state tournament play and half of those games will be with out-of-state teams, including several state champs who went on to regional tournaments.

After the Sunday opener, pre-Christmas games are Nov. 28-30 at the Turkey Tournament, Springfield, Mo.; Dec. 2, the first home game, with USD, Springfield; 6, Grandview College; 12, Westmar.

KOESTER CREAMER

ball coach at Franklin High School where his team finished with a 7-8 record. Allen is his first head coaching assignment.

Allen opens its season on Dec. 4 with a home game against rival Wakefield. The rest of Allen's schedule:

December — 5 of Coleridge, 12 Winnebago, 16 Newcastle, 19 Homer, 23 at Pender, 29-30 at Wakefield Tournament. January — 12 Walthill, 16 at Ponca, 20 at Westfield, Ia., 23 at Winnebago, 27 at Newcastle, 30 Ponca, February — 3 at Walthill, 6 at Homer, 10 at Hartington High, 13 Emerson-Hubbard.

'Trojans' Quickness, Experience May Overshadow Lack of Height

With six lettermen returning, Wakefield basketball coach Joe Coble feels that his squad will be in good shape for the upcoming season, provided injuries don't take their toll.

The Trojans will be smaller than last year's club, which finished with a 15-7 record. But Wakefield will have experience and better than average quickness, which, according to Coble, "is most important in sports."

Winside Finishes Strong In Rushing

Rushing was the name of the game for Winside High during the 1975 football season. The Wildcats collected over 1,550 yards while running up a 7-2 season record as coach Ron Peck's team finished second in the six-team Clark division of the Lewis and Clark Conference.

Leading the Cats on the ground for the season was senior Brad Brummels who piled up 434 yards on 115 carries, according to post-season statistics.

Right behind Brummels were two players with 290 yards or better. Cliff Tillema had 290 yards in 60 totes and Monte Pfeiffer had 295 yards in 67 carries.

Winside had 2,126 yards for the year, including 572 in the air. Quarterback Bryan Denklau threw for over half of those total yards as the senior rifled 18 completions for 309 yards. Tyler Fraver, who started at the quarterback slot earlier in the season, before being switched to tight end also had 18 completions. He finished with 201 yards. The quarterbacks main targets were Bob Hoffman, Hugo Bleich and Fraver. Hoffman had 11 catches for 176 yards. Fraver 169 yards on eight receptions and Bleich had 157 yards on 13 catches.

Scoring honors went to Brummels with 36 points. Also scoring in double figures were Fraver with 30, Tillema 25, Hoffman 24, Denklau 18 and Pfeiffer 12.

In punting, Fraver booted the ball a total of 1,110 yards in 32 attempts for an average of 34.7 yards. Fraver also was the leader in punt returns with almost a 10 yard average. Brummels was second with about seven yards.

A new look will be evident on Wayne State's wrestling team as 11 goes into first combat this weekend at the Northwest Missouri State Tournament Friday and Saturday at Maryville.

Coach Marlon Haeyer has four lettermen returning on a squad that appears to be strongest at the middle weights, but light on depth at bottom and top.

Only three of the lettermen survived challenge matches Tuesday — sophomore Mark Ellis of Spencer, Ind., at 118, junior Randy Humpal of Butte at 167 and senior Mike Riedmann of Omaha at 190. The other letterman, Craig Hellwege, a senior, lost out to junior transfer Paul Sok of Oakland at 134. Sok was aiming to make 126, but could not drop weight soon enough.

The 126 spot will be open when Wayne takes the mat at Maryville. Other challenge winners are Ed McCoustan, freshman from Pender, 142; Kevin McCurley, freshman from Missouri Valley, Ia., 150; Keith White, freshman from Maywood, Ill., 158; Dwight Lilenemann, freshman from Winside, 177, and Jerry Mundell, freshman from Schuyler, heavy-weight.

Lilenemann, who just shifted from football to wrestling, brings the credential of a state high school championship to the Wayne campaign. Sok also has considerable experience, including third place for two years in AAU national tournaments and sixth in the junior college nationals while grappling for McCook.

Humpal seems back to normal condition after last year's bout with injuries. As a freshman the year before, he turned in some of the liveliest action by a Wildcat wrestler in years. This week he's going at 167, up two or three weight classes from his previous level, but he expects to drop weight later.

Donohoe, Mintken Earn Valuable Player Honors

For the third straight year, Pat Donohoe of O'Neill has earned the honor of most valuable defensive player on the Wayne State College football team. The most valuable on offense is Marvin Mintken of Gretna. Coach Del Stoltenberg announced after a team election.

Two other honors went to Gary Krajicek of Gretna as the most improved player and to Rod Hoops of Wayne as the outstanding freshman. Krajicek is a junior defensive end, Hoops a linebacker.

Donohoe, a senior middle guard, logged the most tackles — a team-high 40 solo stops and 75 assists, which ranked second. Donohoe led the Wildcats in quarterback sacks, with eight, and tied with two other fumble recoveries, three.

Stoltenberg says of Donohoe, "He is easily the best middle guard at Wayne in years."

Mintken, a junior split end who has started since his first freshman game, now owns all the Wayne pass receiving records, both in number caught and yardage. He snared 41 for 809 yards this year, breaking his own record of 39 for 643 last year.

In the first game this year, Mintken surpassed Dean Ott's Wayne career record for yardage. At season's end he boosted his total to 1,833 on 97 catches.

The Minkens success lifted quarterback Dave Miller of Savanna, Ill., to a four year Wayne career passing record, 2,218 yards, bettering the 2,206 by Steve Gunther in 1966-67. Gunther still holds the Wayne single season pass record of 1,105.

Another quarterback, Rick Benedetto of Schiller Park, Ill., who alternated with Miller four years, came close to the Gunther career mark. He passed for 1,955 yards. Stoltenberg has frequently labeled the two quarterbacks as "both No. 1." Now he has statistical proof they finished a yard apart in total offense: Miller with 2,145 yards, Benedetto with 2,144.

Under federal law, youths 16 or older may work at most jobs in manufacturing, warehousing, laundries, drycleaning plants, hospitals and restaurants, except those declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor.

SODERBERG MILLS

can play guard. The problem with both is that they're on the injury list, still recovering from knee injuries suffered during the grid season.

If those two are ready by the Dec. 4 opener at Allen, Coble believes Wakefield fans will see the Trojans "do a lot of running."

Also expected in Wakefield starting lineup are senior Scott Keagle or junior Gary Roeder at pivot, junior Alan Johnson, forward, junior Tim Rouse, guard, and transfer student Brad Jones from Cedar Valley, Ia. Jones, who stands at 5'10, is nephew of former Wayne State basketball coach Ron Jones.

Keagle will carry the height, at 6'5, but the coach pointed out that sophomore Val Johnson, who stands at 6'5, and Roeder, at 6'1, could give Wakefield's game more punch as they develop. Also expected to see action are juniors Brooks Myers, Jerry Echtenkamp and senior Don Berry.

Because of Keagle's height the big man is expected to continue his 10 points per-game average. Mills, who also averaged 10 points last year, could also be one of the top rebounders after he averaged 11 carsoms a game last season.

The West Husker Conference team to beat this year will be Hartington Cedar Catholic. Coble said, adding that Pender, Ponca, Winside, Laurel and Madison, which are on Wakefield's schedule will be tough this year.

The rest of Wakefield's schedule:

December — 5 Winside, 12 Wisner Pilger; 13 at Coleridge; 19 Lyons, 26-27 Wakefield Holiday Tournament. January — 4 at Stanton, 9 Oakland Craig, 17 Pender, 23 Madison, 24 Laurel, 30 at West Point. February — 7 at West Husker Conference at Wayne; 13 Homer, 14 at Emerson Hubbard, 20 Ponca.

Disease Striking White-Tailed Deer

A disease with a tongue twist in its name has been killing white-tailed deer in parts of central and eastern Nebraska recently, according to Game and Parks Commission wildlife biologists.

The cause of the deer mortality is Epizootic Hemorrhagic Disease, or EHD for short. EHD attacks only white-tailed deer, and does not affect other wildlife, domestic animals or man. Symptoms include bleeding from body openings, sloughing, loss of fear of man, excessive salivation and rapid breathing. The disease most often occurs in areas heavily populated with white-tailed deer.

The unusually warm weather this year may have contributed to the outbreaks, allowing the insects that carry the disease to survive longer. Also, the presence of more people in the woods due to the recently completed fire-mgmt season of most certainly means discovery and reporting of more sick or dead deer.

Outbreaks in Central Nebraska has been reported near St. Paul, Wolbach, Fullerton, Greely, Ravenna and Anselmi in eastern Nebraska. Some 100 falls have been lost in the Ashland-Wernershire area.

(Devotio Lindquist, pastor) Saturday: Polk Camp annual meeting, 1 p.m.; dedication of new administrator's home, 3:30 p.m.; Sunday: Sunday school, 10 a.m.; morning worship, 11 a.m.; prayer time, 7:15 p.m.; evening service, 7:30 p.m.; choir rehearsal, 8:30 p.m.

Ambulance

(Continued from page 1) the best place to operate an ambulance service is from the hospital, and the sisters are more than willing to help with the problem, if the help is not desirable and creates controversy and more of a problem than it solves, the service should be withdrawn.

"We are willing to do our part, even at a loss and considerable inconvenience, but we are not willing to do so at the cost of jeopardizing any good we can do."

She said it is felt that adverse publicity resulting statements made at city council meetings is damaging to the Benedictine Sisters' ability to serve in particular, she quoted a statement made by councilman John Vakoc at the Nov. 10 meeting: "We keep speaking of the city's moral obligation." Vakoc said, referring to a statement made by mayor Freeman Decker "What about their (the hospital's) obligation? It makes me think that they like the money we gave them but when we want service they say 'fine give a little more'."

Hospital administrator Charles Thomas pointed out that he has received over $125,000 in working capital since the medical center has opened and that so far revenue taken in hasn't been sufficient to meet payroll expenses.

The 17 include seniors Linda Costello, Jodie Draghu, Kathy Dranselka, Jan Haum, Judy Janke, Tom Johnsons, Mary Kovensky, Paul Mallette, Mike Schmidt, Phil Koeber, Kris Nedergaard, Susan Jacobmeier and Junior Mark Brandt, Kathy Haas, Laura Haase, Joe Kenny and Stephanie Dorcy.

School principal Don Zeiss told the gathering at the school's lecture hall that the selection of the students was based on scholarship leadership and character. Each of the student's teachers had to evaluate a candidate and give the students a grade of 70 per cent or better in each of the three areas before he or she could be inducted. He said High school counselor Ken Carlson, who acted as sponsor, then inducted the officers before they in turn inducted the new members. The officers are Phil Koeber, president; Kris Nedergaard, vice president; Susan Jacobmeier, secretary and Stephanie Dorcy, treasurer.

Although no records were available, the last known National Honor Society charter at Wayne High was about 15 years ago, according to Zeiss.

The AFS has sponsored the book sale for a number of years but this will be the first time the sale has been held in conjunction with the Lions flea market. Alain Guillot Pingue, from Leige, Belgium, now attending Wayne High, is the 10th foreign exchange student sponsored by the local AFS chapter.

The book sale will be conducted during the first day only of the two-day flea market. Books and magazines will be offered for 25 cents each or five for a dollar.

Maier said the money earned by the Lions Club from the market will be used to support community service activities including maintenance of the camp in park near the Wayne Air port, and providing Christmas gifts for residents at the Wayne Care Center.

Thought for Today

By Brian McBride

"God gave you the gift of 86,400 seconds today. Have you used one to say 'thank you'?"

William Arthur Ward

Appreciation might be called a form of lubrication... the "grease" which makes inter-personal relationships work more smoothly. It's so easy to say "thank you", yet it is so often neglected.

At this time of the year we thank God for our many blessings. This should be a daily routine, rather than an annual event. But we should not overlook the opportunities we have to brighten someone's day with a cheery, heart-felt "thank you". Do it often - it benefits all concerned.

We're thankful for the opportunity to serve this community with an essential service, and for the many friends we have made here, over the years.

The Concord town board will hold its one and six year street improvement hearing during its Dec. 10th meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the village fire hall.

Members agreed during last week's board meeting. In other action last week the board agreed not to hold a special meeting to settle a land dispute between former town board chairman Duane Harder and Glenn Magnuson.

Magnuson claimed the Harder had built part of his garage on village-owned property. The board decided to settle the program among its members according to a village official.

Business notes . . .

Mrs. Betty Addison of Wayne has been awarded the Residential Member designation by the governing council of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

This professional designation was inaugurated in 1968 to recognize appraisers with demonstrated skill and experience in appraising single family residential property. To receive the designation, Mrs. Addison was required to have at least three years experience in the real estate business including two full years experience in appraising residential property.

She also had to pass a technical examination of the institute, submit an acceptable single family demonstration appraisal report, and have the favorable recommendation of other appraisers familiar with her work and professional integrity.

Mrs. Addison is affiliated with the Nebraska Chapter No. 73 of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers. Having been employed by Wayne Federal Savings and Loan Association since January, 1970, Mrs. Addison has served on the board of directors and as president of the Association since February, 1973.

She also is a director of the Nebraska League of Savings and Loan Associations and is a committee member of the standing committee for small city savings associations of the United States League of Savings Associations.

Membership in the Appraisal Institute is limited exclusively to professionally designated appraisers, and the Institute is the oldest and largest organization in North America of appraisers qualified to evaluate all types of commercial and investment real estate and also having members qualified only as residential property appraisers.

OBSERVATIONS

Community Chest needed

Good news-bad news stories are in vogue today and recent local events fit the format.

First the good news. Mrs. Herman Lindner, chairman of the Honey Sunday sale in Wayne County, reports a successful drive, thanks to a good turnout of volunteers, generous purchasers, and a little help from their "other mother."

Farmers Appreciation Night, sponsored Saturday by Wayne Chamber of Commerce, was a standing-room-only crowd again for the fourth year.

It was a chance to renew old acquaintances, make new ones, enjoy an excellent meal and have a good time. Both the master of ceremonies and guest speaker were entertaining and helped businessmen show their appreciation for the main industry of our area.

Now for the bad news. It looks like the Community Chest is going to have to find another way to raise funds. With 91 per cent of the drive completed, about $10,300 has been raised toward a $12,900 goal.

It's doubtful that the remaining nine per cent of the pledge cards yet to be turned in will come anywhere near making up the deficit. Drive officials are considering an additional activity to make up the difference.

It's hard to pin down why the fund drive has failed to reach its goal for the third year running. It doesn't appear to be from lack of volunteers or effort.

So a new method might be tried next year, and maybe that's good. Sometimes it takes a change to inspire people. But it seems a shame, because the present system gets a large number of people involved, so that many do a little rather than a few doing a lot. Everyone who helped with the drive and contributed to it deserves a "Thank You".

Regardless of the method used next year, we hope a Community Chest drive is held, anyone who has lived in a community where a United Fund drive isn't organized knows the frustration of having someone soliciting for a different organization every month, or perhaps even worse, being one of the solicitors. — Jim Strayer.

Information misuse questioned

Mention "privacy" today and many people think of Watergate or the more recent allegations of misbehavior by various cloak-and-microphone government agencies. But the issue goes much, much deeper than bugged olives and bungled burglaries.

Intelligence experts will tell you that most of the information they need can be obtained legally and openly, from government publications, newspapers, etc. The name of the game is gathering, sorting and coordinating. And that's where the computer comes in. Computers lower the cost of data storage and recovery, and facilitate its transfer.

Computers are extremely useful tools. Modern society couldn't function without them. Like the automobile, though, they can be dangerous when misused.

BUT WHAT constitutes misuse? That's a question we've all got to answer, and it won't be easy.

Businesses collect, sort, store—and sometimes trade—vast amounts of personal data, from simple mailing lists to credit ratings and even medical histories. Such practices help to eliminate fraud, hold down prices and improve service to the consumer. They also result in the assembly of a great deal of personal information that should, perhaps, be nobody's business but the subject's.

Likewise, government agencies collect, sort, store and trade similar data. And in addition to the sources available to business, the government has in its files census data, tax returns, police reports, and business trade secrets.

Academic records, too, are important both to the individual and to society in general. The institutions collecting and disseminating them are a mixture of public and private, profit and nonprofit.

CONSIDER a sample of the thorny questions raised by the maintenance of computer "data banks":

—Suppose you authorize release of your medical history to insurance company A?

Should company A be able to give it to insurance company B without your knowledge? Suppose company B suspects you of trying to defraud it—should a court be able to get the data from company A?

—Suppose private information about you (or your business) is stolen from the computer of a company (or government agency) authorized to have it? Who is liable for the damage done to you?

—Should data-gathering agencies be allowed to consolidate their separate files on you, on the grounds of efficiency? If not, where should we draw the line?

—Opening government files to public inspection by law, sounds like a noble idea—but, would you want your file to be open to the public? (In practice, this is more of a problem for businesses than for individuals. Businessmen fear—with good reason—that competitors will use such laws to get trade secrets and other valuable information.) If the files are open to the public, can foreign governments be successfully excluded?

—Should one government agency be able to trade data with another—to facilitate a criminal investigation, for example? This question is especially tricky when it comes to tax returns. Since an individual is required by law to file an accurate return, he could invoke the Constitutional protection against self-incrimination if his answers could be used against him in a nontax criminal prosecution.

—How much personal data should government be permitted to gather through the census? Through the school system? Through investigative agencies? In its own personnel files? And who should have access to it? In what form?

Those are just a few of the problems. There is plenty of room for honest disagreement among honorable people of all political persuasions. And there is a very great need to begin thinking carefully and methodically about the best solutions for a free people. — Richard Leshner, U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Alaska BOUGHT from Russia for $7 MILLION.

A lot of people thought it was a mistake. "Seward's folly," they called it. Just a lot of ice and igloos. But Alaska has yielded furs, fish, forest products and minerals worth many times the purchase price.

And that purchase was made possible when Americans bought a government issue of six percent five-twenty bonds in 1865.

Today, Americans still help their country grow by buying United States Savings Bonds at banks or through the Payroll Savings Plan at work.

Seward knew what he was doing then. Be in the know, now. Buy United States Savings Bonds.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held for maturity of 5 years (4% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deducted until redemption.

Financial demons slain and wounded

CAPITOL NEWS

LINCOLN—There were, to use Gov. J.J. Exon's phrase, "twin demons" facing Nebraska when the Legislature was called into special session.

If so, one was slain and the other was wounded. Exon said one of the "demons" was difficulty in keeping enough cash in the till to meet the state's on-going expenses. When the session convened last month, the balance in the tax-supported general fund was down to $7.4 million and the state tax commissioner was predicting a deficit of more than $11 million in January.

The accountants' word for that demon is cash flow. Even the governor praised the legislative solution to the cash flow demon. It wasn't the same as the solution he had offered, but Exon said it might be better.

So, that demon was slain. The other demon was the potential of what Exon said would be "dramatic" increases in tax rates for 1976. The legislators also did some editing of the governor's proposals in this field, but he wasn't as complimentary here.

Whereas the chief executive said his program would have preserved both the 2.5 per cent state sales tax and a state personal income tax levy of 12 per cent of federal liability, the legislative version preserved only the sales tax, 7.5 per cent.

Exon contended, and the State Board of Equalization was saying for sure last Saturday, the income tax rate would have to climb three percentage points—from 12 per cent to 15 per cent—because of the Legislature's decisions.

Still, that isn't as high as Exon had said the tax rates would be without any attention by the legislators. He had said the potential was for a three per cent state sales tax and a 16 per cent personal income tax.

There was considerable senatorial resentment to the governor's remarks. Several senators said they were sure the governor had set them up so they couldn't win by proposing budget cuts which, for some agencies, went beyond what those legislators thought was reasonable and threatening higher taxes unless something was done.

Whether it was a legislative victory or not remains to be seen, but what the lawmakers did was to excuse many agencies from the three per cent across-the-board budget cuts the governor had recommended. The agencies which got the reprieve were those which said they couldn't stand the cuts without making significant decreases in the service they render to Nebraskans.

The most money was involved with the University of Nebraska. The legislative action preserved $2.3 million in NU appropriations.

Altogether, more than $4 million was removed from the Exon cut list.

In addition, the senators found money that wasn't to be spent this year anyway and took it out of the 1975-76 fiscal year budget. Much of that money was for capital construction that would be delayed for a variety of reasons until next year in any case.

Adding that to the budget cuts which weren't waived, the legislative action relieved the general fund of about $15 million, improving the cash flow picture. The original Exon plan contemplated about $10.4 million.

The governor said, in a speech at the closing of the special session, there hadn't been enough budget cutting.

He also didn't like what was done to his proposal to relax the requirements the State Board of Equalization was to meet this autumn when it set the 1976 calendar year sales and income tax rates.

Exon wanted to be relieved altogether of a requirement that rates be set to bring in five per cent more than is needed. This is called an overlevy and it is required as a hedge against a collapse in the economy.

The lawmakers did grant some relief. They said the board had to levy at least two per cent more than the amount needed, but no more than three per cent. That meant the board could overlevy by as little as half as much as it otherwise would have to do. In other words, the legislators met the governor half way.

That wasn't enough, Exon said, but he signed the bill.

The same measure also said, when Exon had it introduced, that the board wouldn't have to look at what are called express obligations, or major future obligations the state must meet. The Legislature put the phrase back in and the attorney general's office issued an opinion which said items identified by the Legislature as express obligations must be considered the rate-setters.

The bill that both sides—the administrative and the legislative—liked was one amended to put state payments to local governmental subdivisions on the installment plan.

The state has been making large payments quarterly, semiannually or in a single lump) to cities, counties and school districts. These large payments are what causes the biggest cash flow difficulties because they drain the treasury all at once.

The legislative solution was to have the payments made monthly instead, thus spreading the payouts more closely to the income from taxes.

Exon wanted authority given to the state treasurer to prorate or defer making payments to state's creditors when the treasury was low.

Alternative to property tax wanted

This article, reprinted from The Nebraska Cattleman October issue, contains a portion of testimony given by Cal Coulter, president of the Nebraska Stock Growers' Association, at the Interim Study Committee hearing of the Nebraska Legislature's Revenue Committee at Alliance, Sept. 15.

In order to understand our thoughts concerning taxation, I think it is necessary to review five basic concepts relating to taxation.

1. Organized society requires some degree of government
2. Government services must be paid for.
3. In our society, main source of government revenue is from taxation
4. Taxation in any form is confiscation of property.
5. Property tax is a poor tax.

Property taxation, once a logical concept, cannot be justified in today's complex economic system. Gone are the days when everyone was a land owner. Many other forms of property ownership are today available to the investor and we have seen the evolution of a large class of highly paid workers and professionals who may own a very limited amount of taxable property. The ownership of property is not a good measure of the ability to pay taxes.

Taxes must be paid from current earnings, or if these are not sufficient, from past and accumulated earnings. Taxes such as the income tax, are measured by current income and thus the ability to pay is closely correlated with the tax liability. Property taxes, in contrast, are measured by the value of the property, multiplied by the mill levy. In a year when income is not sufficient to cover expenses, past accumulated earnings must be used to pay the tax. The net effect of property tax in a low income year, is to confiscate the accumulated earnings of past year.

Our experience during the 30's would raise a serious objection to property taxation because of its counter-productive effect. Many farms and ranches were sold at low foreclosure sales, the result was that the owner lost the land and the county did not, in many cases, even recover the cost of the foreclosure action. It is difficult to see how any useful purpose can be served by this process.

It would seem logical, taking into account the lack of correlation between ownership of property and ability to pay, and the counter-productive nature of property taxation, to eliminate this unfair and unwise system of taxation. The public policy of the State of Nebraska is to reduce our dependence upon property taxation. This is evidenced by the adoption of the broadened tax base, the exemption of intangible personal property, the partial exemption, on a percent age basis, of tangible personal property, and the numerous efforts by the Legislature to use state funds (i.e. sales and income tax receipts) to finance elementary and secondary education within the state.

Nov. 17, 1960: Over 1,000 people attended the Wayne elementary school open house Sunday to bring a climax to Education Week in Wayne. From 125 to 130 bushels of corn to the acre as the field goes is the average being established by John Mohr as the picking season gets into full swing in the county. Mohr who farms a mile east of Wayne, said his corn is all irrigated and rows are 37 inches apart! The tolling of bells in Northeast Wayne this week came from the new carillon being installed on the Wayne State campus. Believed to be the largest carillon in Nebraska, the Schumacher electronic unit provides 25 English tuned bells and 25 sharp bells.

Our full realization that it is unlikely that we will suddenly abandon the property tax system, no matter how unjust it might be, we should examine the area where this tax system, in addition to being unfair is also applied in an unequal manner. This area is clearly the school tax levy. There is little correlation between the amount of taxable property in any given district and school need of that district. Thus, a piece of land, uniform in value, equally divided between two school districts may be subjected to two vastly differing mill levies, even though there is no difference in the use of the productivity of the two halves. The only difference is that one half is in a "poor district" and must be taxed higher to operate the school, and the other half is in a "rich district" and is taxed lower.

Because school tax is the area of the greatest inequality in our property tax system, it is the area most in need of reform and relief. We would tend to look with favor upon a fair, workable method of lessening our dependence upon property tax, particularly in the area of school tax levies. We are not asking to be excused from our duty to pay taxes. We are asking to be taxed in a fair and equitable manner.

'Big Labor' bills called bad news for consumers

Two bills pending in Congress and being pushed by the AFL-CIO and other elements of "Big Labor" are bad news for farmers, consumers and the unemployed, but the present labor-dominated Congress continues to move them toward passage.

One, H.R. 10210 would increase coverage and benefits of the Unemployment Compensation law. The other is a bill called for by the AFL-CIO and introduced by Rep. John H. Dent (D-Pa.) which would accelerate the federal minimum wage step-up to reach the $3.00 per hour level on Jan. 1, 1977 for non-farm workers and a year later for farm workers. Dent's bill would also impose stiffer premium pay penalties for overtime work.

The Unemployment Compensation bill would provide an increase of more than 150 per cent in the federal program for unemployment insurance.

Despite the fact that every increase in the minimum wage historically has produced increases in the unemployment rate, labor leaders demand major increases. The loss of jobs traditionally falls heaviest upon segments of the work force having the most trouble. The teenage unemployment rate in September was 19.3 per cent as compared to the overall U.S. rate of 8.3 per cent. This is the highest teenage unemployment rate of any major industrial country in the world.

And in the past, increases in the minimum wage have boosted unemployment for the minority groups, the older workers and the unskilled.

The bill to increase unemployment benefits contains the following major provisions:

- Coverage is extended to agriculture, all public employees and to certain domestic workers —Coverage is extended to workers of employers with four or more workers in any 20-week period or who pay out $5,000 or more in wages in any calendar quarter.

—An "available-for-work" requirement for migrant farm workers that would a migrant to be available for work in the localities in which he had worked within the past year in order to be eligible for benefits.

—The farm operator will be deemed the employer if farm labor is supplied by a crew leader, unless the crew leader is registered under the Federal Farm Labor Contractor Act; or substantially all of the workers supplied by a crew leader operate or maintain tractors, harvest equipment, crosscutting equipment or other mechanized equipment.

—The base for the federal tax is increased from $4,200 to $8,000. This increase is also mandated for the state taxes.

—The federal tax is increased from 5 per cent to 7 per cent. In dollars and cents, the federal portion of the federal state tax would go from $27 per employee earning as much as $8,000 to $56. The state share of the tax varies from state to state.

—Still to be decided is whether the full House Committee will impose a mandatory benefit standard on all states, requiring them to pay each individual 50 per cent of his wage, up to a statewide maximum equal to at least two-thirds of the statewide average weekly wage. This lost on a 5-5 tie in the subcommittee.

Both bills, on the basis of all past performances in such matters, point toward more unemployment, increased costs, more farm and small business failures, and higher prices for consumers. —M.M. Van Kirk, Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation
