First Santa Letter Received

The Wayne Herald has already received the season's first letter to Santa Claus, which will be forwarded to his North Pole headquarters.

The letter, below, was written by Lori Sue Perry of Wayne. The Herald is again this year helping Santa by forwarding letters from local young, and in addition will print all letters received.

Before sending us your letter, please be sure to include your name, age, address and parent's name.

Dear Santa Claus:

My name is Lori Sue Perry, 10 1/2 years old and my brother has a new baby brother who was born Oct. 28. He is named Scott. We live at 311 West Third Street in Wayne, Neb.

I've been a good girl all year for mommy and daddy so hope you will remember me on Christmas Eve. Also my new brother, he's mommy a lot taking care of him.

Thanks for the jolly, bowing suit and outfit you brought me last Christmas. We sure had fun with them. I'm glad you enjoyed warming your feet by our fireplace while sitting in the chair and listening to Betty Crocker. Easy Bake Oven, ironing board set and a typewriter. If you think I deserve all these things, then is still very small, but please bring him a rattle for his little red stocking because he is a real sweetheart.

My Love,
Lori Sue Perry

Snow Removal Policy Explained

Wayne street superintendent Vern Schultz said the Nov. 20 blizzard was the worst in 10 years, so far as the amount of work it created for snow removal crews.

Schultz said he believes there has been some confusion regarding city snow removal procedures and explained how it works.

During the winter, a crew of eight men and their equipment are on call at all times. As soon as freezing rain or snow begins, the street sander is put into operation. When snowfall exceeds two inches, snow plows

Storm Has Bright Spot

There was one bright spot in the Nov. 20th blizzard. According to Pat Gross, Wayne observer for the National Weather Service, the six to eight inches of snow received amounts to about 75 inches of precipitation.

County agricultural agent Don Spitzte said that, when combined with rains received in October, it adds up to a fair amount of Autumn precipitation.

Immediate benefits aren't noticeable, but there was little run off from either the rain and snow and the precipitation will help raise soil moisture levels.

More moisture will be needed before planting time, Spitzte pointed out, because annual rainfall received is still below normal.

'My Next Victim Will Be...'

MIKE SCHMOLDT, playing the role of Mortimer Brewster, doesn't know it, but he's about to become the next victim in the Wayne High drama club production, "Arsenic and Old Lace." Sneaking up from behind with a cord to strangle Mortimer is Jonathan Brewster, who is played by Virgil Kardell. Curtain time for the production is 8 p.m. Thursday and Saturday. Tickets may be purchased at the school at $1.25 for adults and $1 for students.

Council Reverses, Will Provide Driver

The Wayne city council Tuesday night agreed to meet the demand made by Providence Medical Center officials that the city provide a driver for a second ambulance to be operated by the hospital.

The decision followed an announcement made Nov. 18 by Mother Imelda Koch, representing the hospital board and Benedictine Sisters who operate the hospital, that the medical center would cease operating the ambulance after Dec. 31.

Some council members were at first hesitant about taking any action without having hospital representatives present. Council member Carolyn Filter had contacted Mother Imelda and was the official invitation from mayor Freeman Decker would be necessary. City administrator Fred Brink said hospital administrator Charles Thomas had also declined to attend.

Mayor Decker said he had sampled public opinion regarding ambulance service and found most people favor keeping the ambulance service at the hospital. Most violent reaction is to the city buying a Cadillac ambulance for use in a rural area. Most people questioned would prefer a more rugged type vehicle for use on rough and snow clogged roads.

In an undated letter to the mayor, Thomas stated that the hospital is unable to provide a driver for the second ambulance.

One Last Chance Remains For Casting ASC Ballot

Farmers who haven't yet returned their ballots in the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation committee election can still do so if they hurry today (Monday).

Today (Monday) is the deadline for voting. Ballots must either be delivered to the ASC office today, or if mailed, carry today's postmark.

ASC director Ray Butts Friday said that 365 ballots had been returned, out of 1,500 mailed to Wayne County farmers.

The three member county committee is responsible for overseeing the administration of ASC programs in the county and are called upon to determine eligibility for payments under various Department of Agricul-

Recovered Car Is Reason for Thanks

Loren Kamisch of rural Wayne had a special reason to be thankful Thursday. His car stolen sometime overnight Wednesday, was found unharmed, stuck on a nearby county road.

The Wayne County sheriff's office said the car, a 1963 Chevrolet, was stolen either late Wednesday night or early Thanksgiving morning. The car was reported to have been parked in front of the Kamisch residence, just north of Wayne, with keys in the ignition.

The auto was found Thursday, two miles north and about one-quarter mile east of Wayne, stuck in a ditch. The car had not sustained any damage.

Local Directors Will Determine Loan Eligibility

The Wayne County emergency board is scheduled to meet today (Monday) at 8:30 p.m. to compile a report on crop and livestock losses in the county.

The board is composed of all Department of Agriculture directors in the county, including Ray Butts, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation director; Arnold Marr, Soil Conservation Service director; Lavern Ostendorf, Farmers Home Administration (FHA) director; and Don Spitzte, county agricultural agent. County clerk Norris Weible will also attend, representing the county commissioners.

Butts said Friday that the four USDA directors will compile a report on crop losses due to drought conditions during the summer, and livestock losses suffered during the November blizzard.

If the report is approved by the state, it will be used to determine which farmers suffered enough of a loss to be eligible for low interest loans from FmHA.

that time that the city agreed to purchase a new ambulance and provide $7,000 annually for operation, but at no time was manning of vehicles mentioned.

Paragraph four of the agreement to which the city and hospital are supposedly parties' (see accompanying article) says the hospital will maintain both ambulances, provided by the city, for $7,000 annually, which would include, among other items, employee salaries.

In an undated letter to the mayor, Thomas stated that the hospital is unable to provide a driver for the second ambulance.

Electric Bills Will Increase By 40 Per Cent

Rural residents in Wayne County will be paying about 40 per cent more for electric power beginning Jan. 1, according to Wayne County Public Power District manager Cal Comstock.

The decision to increase rates was made Wednesday by the rural power board and reflects the recent increase in wholesale rates by the Nebraska Public Power District, supplier for the local power district.

Actual amount of increase for individual customers will vary according to the amount of power used, Comstock said, but overall, the increase will be about 40 per cent.

The city of Wayne is now considering a contract with NPPD for all electric power used in the city. Council members were told by electrical engineering consultant Norman Armstrong that a 35 per cent rate hike would be necessary, although that figure does not reflect a detailed rate study. Armstrong said the increase would be required if the city continues to generate its own power.

Postmaster Urges Cooperation With Roads, Holiday Mailings

Anyone with Christmas packages to mail has nine days from today (Monday) if they are going to mail the packages recommended by postal service.

Wayne postmaster Wilbur Giese said the post office is recommending that packages be mailed by Dec. 10, and cards by Dec. 15. Packages and cards can be mailed later, of course, but those who want to be sure their holiday greetings are received before Christmas.

Air parcels to European addresses should also be mailed by Dec. 10, and the Dec. 15 deadline applies to air mail to Central and South America. Further information regarding recommended mailing dates can be obtained by contacting the nearest post office.

Giese also cautions mailers to take a little extra time when addressing holiday mail, to make sure a complete address and return address is included. The Wayne post office alone receives about 100 pieces of mail every Christmas season which are undeliverable because the mailing address is incomplete and no return address was included.

The postmaster also urges everyone to package solidly gifts sent through the mail.

Giese is also requesting that

No Progress Made in Request For Law Consolidation Money

Wayne County applied in early October for funds to finance consolidation of law enforcement services in the county, but the request hasn't been able to get past the first step in the application procedure.

All requests for federal law enforcement funds, administered by the State Crime Commission, must first go to the division of communications, State Department of Administrative Services.

The communications division must inspect communications facilities to ensure that radio frequencies in use won't interfere with neighboring communications networks.

County clerk Norris Weible said Friday he had been in touch with communications division officials but they could give him no indication as to when they would be able to complete their recommendation regarding Wayne County's request.

If the $50,000 grant is approved, communications equipment to be purchased would include mobile radios and a new base radio unit. The grant would also pay one year's salary for three additional deputies, pay for outfitting the officers, and cover the cost of three county-owned patrol cars.

The consolidation movement would give the sheriff's department responsibility for policing the towns of Winslow, Carroll and Hoskins, in addition to present duties. The city of Wayne would continue to maintain its own police department.

Under Crime Commission guidelines, requests for law enforcement grants are given priority according to the population of the area involved. Wayne County's request was No. 11 in priority when originally submitted, but apparently isn't moving up any within the division of communications.

Weible was told Friday that while some requests had been investigated and approved, other requests from more populous areas have been received in the interim and automatically take

New Year's Eve Band Selected

The Country Classics band will play at the Wayne Lions Club New Year's Eve dance, chairman Don Langston announced Monday.

Club members are selling tickets for the celebration, which will be held at the Wayne National Guard armory. Tickets are also available at the First National Bank, and State National Bank in Wayne.

Ticket price is $2.50, for advanced sales and at the door. Langston said noise-makers, balloons, and other items will be provided at the dance.

Doors will open at 8 p.m. and the band will begin playing at 9. "This is a good opportunity for people to celebrate New Year's Eve in Wayne and cut down on the amount of driving they do that night," Langston said. "Proceeds from the dance will be used for community service projects."

Ambulance Agreement

Following is the supposed agreement between the city of Wayne and Providence Medical Center.

A new ambulance will be purchased according to specifications set forth by hospital administration which will include radio equipment.

Present ambulance kept for back up.

Suggest city keep a station wagon for ambulance service in case both ambulances are gone from the community.

Will maintain both hospital ambulances for $7,000 a year (including gas and oil, maintenance, insurance, license, and employee salaries plus any new medical equipment).

Money to buy ambulance will be donated to hospital and ambulances will be a department of hospital.

Hospital will maintain all records and handle all policy decisions including setting rates.

Agreement will run for five years beginning Jan. 1, 1975, for a sum of $7,000 a year and will be transferred to hospital in unrestricted donation.

Request police provide back up whenever one of the ambulances is on a run.

At Jan. 1, 1980, the following procedure will be used: If the agreement is to be renewed, the hospital will sell the oldest ambulance to the city for the sum of $1, and the city will provide us with funds to purchase a new ambulance of our specifications. If the services to be discontinued the hospital will sell both ambulances to the city of Wayne for the sum of $1 each. Also, at the end of five years, if the agreement is to continue, the cost of the service will be negotiated.

Birthday Bucks Consolation Is Hiked to $100

Lucky Wayne shoppers winning the Birthday Bucks consolation prize during the next three weeks will receive a special Christmas bonus.

The consolation winners on Dec. 11 and 18 will receive $100, rather than the usual $25 prize. Consolation prizes are awarded to the shopper whose birth date is closest to the announced date. Should a shopper's birth date correspond exactly with the announced date, they will win the Birthday Bucks prize of $500.

Birthday Bucks can be redeemed for merchandise at any participating business.

Taxes Due Today

The first half of personal taxes on livestock, machinery and inventories are delinquent today (Monday), reports Wayne County treasurer Leon Meyer.

He said the delinquent taxes will begin drawing interest at a rate of nine per cent at the time they become delinquent.

Meyer added those persons who are sending in their checks for payment to also include their tax statements.

STRAYEr Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

KIDS ARE wonderful and say some pretty wonderful things. When questioned about first aid, a class in Edmonds, Wash., gave these answers:

For a head cold—"Use an agonizer to spray the nose until it drops into the throat."

For a nose bleed—"Put the nose lower than the body."

For snake bite—"Bleed the wound and rape the victim in a blanket for shock."

For fractures—"To see if the limb is broken, wiggle it gently back and forth."

For fainting—"Rub the person's chest, or if it is a lady, rub her arm above the hand."

For asphyxiation—"Apply artificial respiration until the victim is dead."

line washing machine engine mounted on an angle iron frame above the rear fender.

Power was transmitted by rubber belt from a pulley on the engine to a large grooved drive pulley, nearly the diameter of the bicycle rim, attached (I can't recall how) to the spokes of the rear wheel.

Sounds kind of Rube Goldberg, but it worked pretty well. The only real problem was that, at times, on an extremely steep hill, the rider had to pedal to help along the laboring one-lunger.

My friendship with Larry, the bike's owner, convinced me that being tall can have disadvantages. He stands 6'7", which isn't extremely tall but was sufficient to attract attention.

Strangers invariably asked two questions, when curiously gave them enough courage. Tired of reciting the answers, Larry finally had a sweat shirt custom-printed with the following legend: "Yes, I am 6 feet, 7 inches tall. No, I do not play basketball."

Youngsters were the most fun to watch. I suppose because they were the most awed. Usually they wouldn't say anything, just crane their necks in wonderment. During a weekend in Kansas City, however, a grade schooler walked past us in the opposite direction, then turned around and ran to catch up. Accosting Larry, the youngster leaned back as if he were trying to sight in on the top of a building and asked, "Say mister, how many feet is you?"

But Larry's favorite comment about his extra height came later that evening. Two ladies had obviously been enjoying some liquid refreshment and didn't seem to be able to focus too well. However one of them spotted my companion from a half-block distance. Larry weighed about 165 pounds at the time, and upon seeing him the woman pointed and exclaimed, "Look, it's Olive Oil's brother!"

FINALLY got the mortgage paid off and you own both cars outright and you don't have any other bills? Sorry, but you're still in debt up to the tune of $2,621, for every member of your household.

That is the per capita amount, as of Nov. 17, of the national debt. Chances are, even for a family buying a home, the second biggest debt is their portion of the federal deficit.

The only difference is, there is a definite plan for paying off the debt on the home whereas the federal government seems to think it can go on indefinitely, digging the financial hole a little—or a lot—deeper every year. That kind of fiscal policy won't work for us taxpayers. Why does the government think it will work for the nation?

'Statement was emotional but honest'

At a Nov. 10 Wayne city council meeting, council member John Vakoc, during discussion as to whether or not the city should provide a back-up driver for a secondary ambulance unit, in effect said that time is what we want—it's non negotiable."

I'm not particularly proud that the council was dictated to in such a manner. However, in all fairness, it was without a doubt, in my opinion, the best ambulance service we could procure for the City at the time.

The council was further dictated to, in regard to the type of ambulance which the city would buy and donate to the hospital. We succumbed, even after hearing a public statement by one of Wayne's doctors that a rescue vehicle was preferred by him rather than the Cadillac demanded by the hospital administrator. Still, at this point, the proposal by the hospital remained the most viable of the alternatives available to us.

Just prior to the last council meeting, the council members received a copy of an undated letter from the hospital administrator to the mayor expressing their inability "to produce the manpower or second vehicle coverage when the primary ambulance is on a run for the community of Wayne." On the basis of this statement I concluded that "they" did not intend to abide by point four of the nine-point agreement and I stated my opinion to that effect.

The council, by majority vote, directed the city administrator to respond that we were reaffirming our intentions to continue with back-up service when the present ambulance was on a call but that after the new ambulance was received and the hospital had, at their access, two ambulances, then the city would provide only a third vehicle and on call personnel for backup.

In response to the city's letter came the statement from the hospital administrator that they would discontinue ambulance service as of Dec. 31, 1975.

Dealing more directly with the issue, most of the controversy seems to center around an "original agreement," a nine-point statement presented to the city by the hospital administrator, who stated, in effect that time is what we want—it's non negotiable."

I'm not particularly proud that the council was dictated to in such a manner. However, in all fairness, it was without a doubt, in my opinion, the best ambulance service we could procure for the City at the time.

In response to the city's letter came the statement from the hospital administrator that they would discontinue ambulance service as of Dec. 31, 1975.

Through all this I've not altered my opinion that the hospital operation of the ambulance remains the most desirable of our alternatives. There comes a time, however, when the council can no longer tolerate these arrogant dictates.

I have stated that I do not believe the hospital has a moral obligation in regard to the ambulance. Without question, and by their own admission, they are the most qualified to operate the ambulance. Is it right then that they should turn their backs on it? And what of the many donors of the Wayne area—who, whether rightly or wrongly, felt that through their pledges they were helping to assure this area of complete medical services?

It is the moral obligation of the city council to represent the people of Wayne. In our attempt, we have expressed concern over such points as the operation of the Wayne ambulance for the benefit of other hospitals, the type of ambulance unit to be purchased, whether the city would have any control over fees, whether a written agreement could legally be executed, etc. Discussion by the council, of these and other matters and subsequent coverage by the media has resulted in "negative publicity" for the hospital according to the hospital administrator. He even states that the "negative publicity" constitutes non fulfillment of the original agreement on the part of the city. Where in the nine-point agreement is publicity mentioned?

In a controversy of this nature the only losers will be the citizens of the Wayne area. For this reason the decision should be theirs. Do we seek an alternative method of providing ambulance service or do we relent to the dictates of the Providence Medical Center administration?

When I campaigned for a city council, I stated that I thought the position demanded representation more than individual judgment. This is still my opinion and therefore I appeal to the residents of the fourth ward to make me aware of your wishes in this regard. It may not change my personal beliefs but it could change my actions as a councilman.

OBSERVATIONS

Will Providence hospital continue with ambulance?

The Wayne city council Tuesday night approved a decision made at their Nov. 10 meeting. By unanimous vote, the council has agreed to provide a driver for the secondary ambulance, to be operated by Providence Medical Center.

That puts the ball back in the hands of hospital officials. The council has now agreed to the hospital's request, partly because some of the council members have been clarified (in the interim between the two meetings, councilwoman Carolyn Filler was informed that the hospital would pay salary expenses for the driver) and partly because they didn't

Yo-yo tax rate confusing

Nebraskans have had their attention so riveted on tax rates that they have trouble understanding that they pay more taxes every year because budget appropriations at all levels of government steadily increase—partly because of inflation which means their tax dollars buy less and partly because people demand more government services.

The recent session of the Nebraska Legislature did not contribute to their understanding. Several senators put it in simplest form: the Legislature last spring appropriated more money than the current sales tax of 2.5 per cent and the 12 per cent state income tax (set by the Legislature) would provide in revenues. The state, which is prohibited by the state constitution from borrowing money to cover its deficits as the Federal Government does, was in a "cash flow" squeeze.

Because of the drought and recession, revenues from the sales and income tax sources during the past 18 months had declined and the state had used up a cash balance which exceeded $60 million in early 1974. The State Board of Equalization is required by law on November 15 of each year to set the sales and income tax cover legislative appropriations. Last year, the governor and the state tax commissioner would provide 2.2 in revenues. The state, which is prohibited by the state constitution from borrowing money to cover its deficits as the Federal Government does, was in a "cash flow" squeeze.

The figure was too low and the Legislature during its regular session set the rate at 12 per cent, rejecting a proposal by the governor that the rate be set at 13 per cent. In calling for the special session, the governor submitted a tax package of three bills to solve an admitted "cash flow" problem and reduce state agency appropriations by across the board reductions of three per cent. He said such action was necessary to permit the Board of Equalization to keep the sales tax rate at 2.5 per cent and prevent the state income tax rate from going to 16 or 17 per cent.

The legislators changed the governor's proposals, which included one which would have permitted the state to delay payments to school districts and political subdivisions for such things as home-stead exemption, personal property tax exemption reimbursements and state aid to education.

They solved the "cash flow" problem for the current fiscal year by permitting the state to make the payments to the political subdivisions on a monthly rather than lump sum basis until June 30 of next year. They reduced the amount of the five per cent cushion required for short-falls in state revenue down to a choice of two or three per cent on the part of the board in its rate setting duties. The senators made some cuts in agency appropriations though not on the scale proposed by the governor. They did more deferring and juggling of funds than actual cutting of appropriations. Until safely, the taxpayers will have to pay whatever the legislature appropriates.

The concentration on tax rates can be misleading. The sales tax instituted in 1967 was set at 2.5 per cent and remained there until 1969 when it dropped to 2 per cent, then returned to 2.5 per cent in 1970.

The state income tax rate started at 10 per cent in 1968 and 1969, jumped to 13 per cent in 1970, dipped to 10 per cent in 1971, bounced up to 15 per cent in 1972, dropped to 13 per cent in 1973, and down to 11 per cent in 1974.

But, total tax revenues of the state from all sources, according to the annual report of the State Revenue Department for the 1973 fiscal year, were $243 million in 1970, $294 million in 1971, $319 million in 1972 and $375 million in 1973. Growth of the tax take reflects the growth in the economy, and inflation.

The same trend is evident too, at local levels. Local property tax revenues (in the counties, cities, school districts, etc.) increased from $352 million in 1970 to $415 million in 1973 and is far above that figure by now.

If taxpayers really want to do something about the amount of taxes they pay, then they must spend more time looking at the annual budget appropriations of the taxing agencies and not at the tax rates that are set to cover them. If it is any consolation, by comparison with other states, Nebraska ranked 46th in the amount of state tax revenue collected per capita in 1973 with a figure of $243.27.

WITH public response running six to one in favor of an extension of the Valley Home Alcoholism Treatment Center in O'Neill, efforts to bring a center to the city began last week. Dr. Rev. Wilson and Chuck Frappich, both instrumental in setting up practices for infirmed individuals, said the next step in securing the center for the city is a fund drive which the two men emphasized should be a statewide effort with an initial start up cost of $125,000 to be raised. The $400,000 which will ultimately be needed for the 72-bed facility to make it self-supporting will come from the statewide effort.

Kuenning-Johnson Vows Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Ward Johnson, who were married in Nov. 15 rites at the Luther Memorial Church in Syracuse, will be making their first home in Lincoln, where both are employed at the Nebraska State Capitol.

Mrs. Johnson, nee Kathryn Kay Kuenning, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kuenning of Syracuse. A 1972 graduate of Syracuse High School, she has been employed in the data processing division at the State Capitol Building for the past three years.

MR. AND MRS. KEVIN JOHNSON

The bridegroom, a 1971 Winside High School graduate and a 1973 graduate of Northeast Technical Community College at Norfolk, is also employed in the State Capitol's data processing division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Johnson of Hoskins.

The Rev. Douglas Zurek of Syracuse officiated at the double ring ceremony and Douglas Boldt sang "Sometimes," "Follow Me" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Jerry Black.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in an A-line, silhouette gown of white organza, styled with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves trimmed in Venice lace. Matching lace trimmed the skirt which fell from an empire waistline into a chapel-length train. She carried yellow roses and white carnations on a Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Gary Kuenning and bridesmaids were Mrs. Douglas Boldt, Mrs. Bill Genthe and Deb Nietfeld. All wore identical dresses in white with a blue rose print designed with empire waistlines and long puffed sleeves. The dresses were trimmed with dark blue cuffs and collar. They each carried a single white mum.

Best man was Gary Johnson of Norfolk and groomsmen were Richard Krause of Hoskins, Dale Vanosdall of Battle Creek and Dan Schlautman of Lincoln. Ushers were Roger Kuenning of Syracuse, Randy Ryan of Norfolk and Don Metzger and Guy Miller, both of Lincoln.

The groom wore a light blue luxedo and his attendants wore light blue luxedo-jackets trimmed in black with black trousers.

Candles were lighted by Mrs. David Venema and Mrs. Dan Schlautman, both of Lincoln. Chris Wallman of Syracuse was ring bearer and Ann Marie Kuenning of Champion was flower girl.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kuenning selected a floor-length light blue dress with a yellow rose print and pleated skirt. Mrs. Johnson chose a similar print in floor length, styled with an empire waistline and printed top.

A reception was held at the church social hall and a dance followed at Elms Ballroom. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Truman Johnson of Hazard and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kuenning of Imperial, Beverly Burr of Lincoln registered guests and Mrs. Steve Lingle, Mrs. Don Cocherham, Mrs. David Blessing and Kristie Mankske arranged gifts.

Mrs. Rodney Wallman of Syracuse and Mrs. Gary Johnson of Norfolk cut and served the cake. Mrs. Martin Klawitter of Norfolk poured and Mrs. Virgil Seelhoff of Syracuse served punch.

Waitresses were Becky Kuenning of Wahoo and Ramona Genthe and Karlyn Kuenning, both of Lincoln.

Outstanding Farmer Award Goes to Rural Wayne Man

OBITUARIES

Dale Hanks

Former Wayne resident, Dale H. Hanks died Nov. 8 at his home in Boise, Ida., at the age of 61 years. Funeral services were held Nov. 13 at Boise with burial in the Star Cemetery, Boise.

He was born Nov. 24, 1913 at Wausa and attended school at Wayne.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Fred (Virginia) Van Horne of Arcadia, Calif., Mrs. William D. (Vivian) Lockwood of Bakersfield, Calif., and Mrs. William S. (Sherry) Powers of Boise, Ida., and one brother, Ross B. Hanks of Wichita, Kan.

A rural Wayne man has been selected as recipient of the Wayne Kiwanis Club's Outstanding Farmer Award.

Frederick Temme, who was named during Monday's Kiwanis meeting, will represent the Wayne chapter in the Nebraska-Iowa district agricultural achievement contest in January.

This is the first year the Wayne chapter has presented a farmer award, said chairman Leon Meyer. The award is part of the Kiwanis club's salute to Farm-City Week which runs through Thursday. This is the second year the Nebraska Iowa district has sponsored the award program.

The district winner will not compete in a national contest, Meyer pointed out. However, he will receive a plaque and prizes from the district.

A three-man committee of Ken Liska, Lyle Marolt and George Phelps made the selection.

Temme, whose family operates a 480 acre dairy farm about four miles northwest of Wayne, began farming in 1956. Since then he has been a leader in the dairy herd business.

Temme is one of the first dairymen in this area to utilize individual calf hutches for housing calves. The new dairy complex, including free stalls, parlor and holding pen, are all under one roof. Also included are an office for bookkeeping and records and a specially designed room for holding individual cows for breeding or treating.

In addition to maintaining a dairy herd of about 90 cows, the Temme family also feeds about 750 cattle annually and irrigates 60.90 acres of feed grains and alfalfa.

To improve his dairy herd, Temme serves as an artificial insemination technician. He also improves his land by use of such conservation methods as wind breakers, terraces, waterways, contour farming and animal waste control for pollution purposes.

Temme has served two terms as supervisor of Wayne County Soil and Water Conservation District (NRD) and is a member of the Farm Bureau. He has been a 4-H leader and assistant leader.

A member of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne, Temme has served as a trustee and has been a member of the parish education board. Presently, he is head usher and youth councilor.

Temme and his wife, Joan, have three children, Karen, 21, Doug, 19, and Judy, 15.

Health Council Seeking Nominations

A public meeting of the Northern Nebraska Health Planning Council will be held at 7 p.m. on Dec. 4 in the MacLay Building of the Northeast Technical Community College.

The purpose of the meeting is to nominate persons from the Northern Nebraska area to serve on the governing body of the Health Systems Agency for this area that is required by the National Health Planning and Resources Development Act of 1974.

The nominations made at the meeting will be forwarded to a 34 member interim task force that will select the members for the proposed governing body.

The governing body of the Health Systems Agency will be composed of 30 people from the 71 county health service area of "outstate" Nebraska. Sixteen of those persons will be consumers of health care, of which four will be elected officials. The remainder will be representatives of health care professionals.

The body will govern the actions and make the decisions of the Health System Agency. The Health Systems Agency will be responsible for developing and implementing a health systems plan and annual implementation plan; the review and approval or disapproval of Federal funds in the area; making recommendations for construction and modernization of health facilities among others.

Doubleheader Headlines Tuesday's College Action

SPORTS

Intramural BB, Coach Are Pluses for Laurel Girls

Although this will be the first year for girls basketball at Laurel High, coach Everett Jensen will have two positive aspects going for him when Laurel opens its season against Crofton on Saturday, Dec. 6.

One, Laurel has had girls intramural basketball for several years. That should give his girls some of the fundamentals to build a good program. Another factor is that Jensen has coached girls basketball.

While at Iowa West Bend for two years, Jensen has compiled a 6-13 record while coaching six-girl basketball. Jensen admits that there is a big difference in Iowa and five-girl Nebraska basketball. The main difference is that the girls playing Nebraska style will have to be in shape to work hard in six-girl basketball, where there are three girls from each team on each half of a court, a team doesn't have to rely so much on conditioning because there isn't that much running, he pointed out.

"There's a lot more a coach can do with five players on a team than Iowa brand of girls basketball," Jensen said, adding that the Nebraska style has more team unity and team effort.

Last week, 30 girls reported for this year's squad at Laurel Juniors, sophomores and freshmen number about nine each while the seniors number three. Following Laurel's opener with Crofton, the Bearettes head to Allen on Tuesday, Dec. 9. Other games on Laurel's schedule:

December—13, Bloomfield, 22 at Stanton; Jensen—15, Newcasttle, 20 at Wayne; 29 at Hartington High, February—2 at Bloomfield, 10 Wayne, 19 at Pender.

Wayne State basketball will make its home debut with a doubleheader Tuesday—the women's team playing at 5:30 in Rice Auditorium, the men following at 7:30.

The women will go against the University of South Dakota-Springfield for the first time. The men's foe is Mount Marty, always a scrappy team. Last year at Yankton, Wayne edged the Landers, 79-77, after a see-saw battle.

The doubleheader, with women's and men's teams is the first of several planned this season, and on two dates there will be overwrestling's basketball combination.

This results from a decision by WSC sports officials to eliminate junior varsity basketball. Coach Jim Seaward explains the reasons: reduction of costs, the advantage of training freshmen and sophomores with the varsity, and the small number of freshmen, only one, sophomores, three.

Junior varsity games—using Wayne's younger players, were played with Blair, Cliff and Northwestern because of early commitments.

The Wildcats dropped their second game Tuesday, 81-67 to Northwestern at Orange City, Ia. It was pretty much a copy of the loss to Blair. Cliff and Wildcats trailed Northwestern, 40-31, at the half, went down by 14 soon after intermission, then battled back within four a little over a minute from the end.

Then a series of fouls produced the result that so often happens in catch-up basketball. Northwestern spread the gap on free throws. Both teams lost two players by fouls in the late going. For Wayne, John Redmond and Rick Anderson departed with 21 and 16 points. Only one other Wildcat scored in double figures, Rex Pressler, with 11. For Northwestern, five scored between 15 and 13 points. Wildcat shooting percentages improved over the opening game. From the field the Cats hit 39 per cent (25 of 64), from the free throw line, 65 per cent (17-26). Northwestern connected on 42 per cent of field shots, 82 at the line.

Before Tuesday's home games, the Wildcats were scheduled for another tour, at the University of Nebraska at Omaha Saturday, while the women's team competed in the Turkey Tournament at Springfield, Mo., Friday and Saturday.

Cats Shrug Pressure to Repeat As '75 State Wrestling Champs

If there's any pressure on Winside High's wrestling team to repeat as last year's state Class C wrestling kings, it doesn't show now on the faces of the Wildcat grapplers or their coach Ron Peck.

Sure, there's some pressure, admitted Peck, who is going into his first season as Winside's mat boss. "Right now, though, the kids are more concerned with getting in shape and wrestling one match at a time."

Peck, who has coached high school wrestling before taking over for coach Doug Barclay who resigned at the end of the last school year, believes his team will be solid for the upcoming season.

Nine returning lettermen, including 105-pound state champion Bob Bowers, will help build what coach Peck sees as a scrappy crew in the lower and middle weights. "Our strength will be between 112 and 155 pound classes," Peck said.

Besides Bowers, other Winside grapplers who went to state last year include seniors Monte Pfeiffer, Keith Suehl and junior Kevin Cleveland. Two years ago senior, Brad Brummels also went to the state meet.

Like most of the returning

CLEVELAND SUEHL PFEIFFER BRUMMELS

leaders, this year's leaders are expected to move up in weight. Chances are Bowers will go from 105 to 119. Pfeiffer from 126 to 132. Suehl from 112 to 126. Cleveland from 98 to 112, and Brummels at 132 or 138.

As expected Bowers comes into the season with the most impressive record on the squad. The senior, three-year letterman last year won 28 matches and lost only two. Cleveland was right behind at 2-7 while Suehl had a 20-3 mark. Pfeiffer 13-8 and Brummels 24-5.

Other lettermen include sophomore Ed Morris at 119, juniors Doug Adams at 132, Brad Langenberg at 115, Neil Wagner at 155 and sophomore transfer Brian Sopoboda at 185.

Not all the positions are sewn up, Peck pointed out. There is a three-way battle for 132 between

15 Fresh Out For WH Team

Fifteen freshmen turned out for this year's Wayne High basketball team which is under the direction of coach Duane Blomenkamp.

Headcoaching the list is the team's tallest player, six-foot Jay Davis, who will miss part of the season due to a broken arm he suffered during practice.

Next in line is 5-11 Brad Ferris, followed by a pair of 5-10 players, Tom Gunn and Alan Nissen. Dave Hammonds stands 5-9 and Dave Schwartz is 5-6.

These six players likely will be the starting line-up when Wayne opens its season Monday, Dec. 8 at Hartington. Cedar Catholic, Blomenkamp said. Other players out for the season are Jay Stoltenberg, Scott Kay, Dennis Carroll, Loren Murray, Bob Bernards, Mark Gammon, Duane Smith, Mark Peterson and Jerry Gaudin.

Rest of Wayne's schedule: December—15 Pierce 18 at Panola; January 5 at Wakefield 9; Madison 15 at Norfolk High 19 at Wisner Pilgr 22 at Schuyler Invitational; February—2 Norfolk High 16, 17 18 at Randolph Invitational 23 19 April

L-C Loop Meet Is Rescheduled

The Lewis and Clark Conference has rescheduled its fall meeting for Wednesday at Hartington High School. A snow storm on Thursday, Nov. 20 postponed the meeting.

Among the topics members will be discussing is the possible addition of Bancroft to the 12-team conference. If Bancroft is admitted to the league the conference would have to be expanded or revamped said Lewis division president Pay Lange of Newcastle.

Also on the agenda are the questions of dropping the number of games conference basketball teams have to play each other and a new method of selecting football players to the yearly all conference teams.

Weather Cancels Grappling Meet

Wayne State's dual wrestling meet with Dakota State at Madison, S.D. was a weather victim Tuesday. The team was ready to start the trip, but a call to Madison dictated a postponement because of snow and road conditions.

Athletic director LeRoy Simpson said no decision has been made whether the meet will be rescheduled.

Wayne's next wrestling action will be a dual meet on Friday, Dec. 5, at the University of Nebraska at Omaha, then the UNO tournament the following day.

THE MOST EVIL MAN IN THE U.S.A.

A few notes on the evil he created in 1969.

He found a quarter of a million "unemployables" who never could hold steady jobs.

He trained them and put them into work that pays money they never dreamed of earning before.

He's a businessman.

For poor kids who couldn't otherwise go to college, he took three hundred and fifty millions and saw to it that those who earned them got scholarships.

He gave eight hundred million to non-profit organizations for medical research, to help stamp out cancer and heart disease and a hundred other dread diseases of the world.

To build new housing for the poor and middle-incomes in U. S. cities, he put up one billion and a quarter dollars, so more people can live in decency.

Sure, he's been a polluter — as has everyone from the U. S. government to ordinary citizens. But last year he scraped up two and one half billions to fight pollution of air and water and nature. This year he plans to get up four billion more, to keep up the battle.

After that, he put up fifteen billion dollars in Social Security taxes to help provide support and medical care for senior citizens. And he added forty-one billion dollars in income taxes to help pay the bills of the U. S. A.

And all the while, he was contributing millions of hours of personal and business time to virtually every humanitarian cause you've ever heard of.

He's a businessman. The most evil man in the U. S. A.

Isn't it time somebody had a good word for this evil man who happens to do so much good for so many people?

We think so.

'I Can Get in, But...'

A LOT OF Wayne motorists who left their cars parked on city streets last week during the city's first major snowstorm may have found themselves in this predicament. An unidentified car owner Sunday started digging his car out of a huge drift which buried his auto on West First Street. Apparently after uncovering his car door, he decided to call it quits until a later date.

Business notes...

Pamida, Inc., owner and operator of 186 Gibson Discount Centers, reported record net sales and net earnings for the quarter and the nine months which ended Oct. 31.

Sales increased 13.5 per cent and net earnings increased 11.5 per cent, compared to the same quarter a year ago. Sales and net earnings increased 15.9 per cent and 10.9 per cent, respectively, over the comparable nine month period.

Net earnings per share rose from $1.19 to $2.21 for the three months and from $4.45 to $5.30 for the nine months ended Oct. 31.

On Oct. 20 the board of directors declared a semi-annual dividend in the amount of $0.5 a share, payable in cash on Jan. 15, to holders of record at the close of business on Dec. 2. This will bring to $1.0 a share the dividends paid to Pamida stockholders in the current fiscal year.

Roderl Jordan, vice president of The State National Bank & Trust Co. of Wayne, has returned from the American Bankers Association's (ABA) 27th National Agricultural and Rural Affairs Conference at the Shamrock Hilton hotel, Houston, held Nov. 16-19.

The conference, which focused on "Agrifinancing: Perspective, Professionalism, Profits," emphasized the political, monetary and social implications of today's worldwide agricultural economy and improved financial management to support the needs of agriculture.

The ABA's 34th annual farm credit survey shows that as of Jan. 1, 1975, America's banks had $182 billion in non-real estate farm loans outstanding up 161 per cent in the past 10 years, and $5.9 billion in real estate farm loans outstanding up 147 per cent during the past decade.

Of the $81.5 billion in farm loans outstanding from all sources on Jan. 1, banks provided more than half the non-real estate loans and a sizeable chunk of the real estate financing. ABA said

Jordan participated in special conference sessions exploring risk capital in the livestock industry opportunities for young people in agriculture and the outlook for 1976 in agriculture.

The ABA is the national trade association of the banking industry. Its membership comprises nearly 14,000 banks, more than 95 per cent of the nation's total.

CB'ers Planning First Aid Class

The Wayne CB'ers Club will meet tonight (Monday) and begin a series of first aid classes to be taught by Dale Krause of Ponca.

Member Ray Butts said the club will also elect officers at tonight's meeting.

Object of the first aid classes is to qualify members under Red Cross requirements so they will be able to assist during emergencies, Butts said. One of the club's main purposes is to provide communications, during disasters, such as tornadoes, and because of their citizen band radios, members could find themselves in the best position to render immediate aid.

Emergency Board: Drought Qualifies As Local Disaster, Blizzard Doesn't

Wayne County farmers collectively lost several hundred head of livestock because of the blizzard on Nov. 20, but losses weren't great enough to request disaster status, the county emergency board decided Monday morning.

Ray Butts, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation director, said a 20 per cent overall loss would have been necessary before the storm could have been declared a livestock disaster. Farmers with losses in excess of 20 per cent of their livestock would have been eligible for low interest loans through the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA). Butts said, but it doesn't appear any farmers qualify.

Losses reported were 235 head of cattle, mostly beef but some dairy; 185 hogs, and some sheep.

The emergency board, which includes local FmHA director Lavern Ostendorf and Soil Conservation Service director Arnold Marr, also compiled a report of crop losses this year caused by drought conditions.

The board recommended that the county commissioners request that Governor J.J. Exon declare the county a drought disaster area. The governor's declaration must then be sent to the U.S. Department of Agriculture for final determination.

If final approval is received, farmers who produced less than half their programmed yield will be eligible for crop disaster payments. Programmed yield equals allotted acres times normal yield.

According to the emergency board report, about 50 farmers in the county reported below-average yields this year.

Yield loss on an estimated 116,000 acres of corn was about 10 per cent, overall in the county, with 73 bushels an acre used as an average yield. The estimated 10 per cent below-normal corn production amounts to a $1,740,000 loss, using a price of $2.50 a bushel.

The next greatest dollar loss, in alfalfa, was pegged at $331,380; yield was estimated at 10 per cent below the normal 2.8 tons an acre. A total of 26,300 acres were planted in alfalfa.

Severely losses due to dry conditions were also substantial in Wayne County.

With a base price of $5 a bushel, dollars lost totaled $200,000. The flume was calculated on a five per cent loss on 32,000 acres, with an average normal yield of 25 bushels an acre.

A five-per cent overall loss was also experienced on 3,000 acres of grain sorghum, normally yielding 69 bushels an acre. Monetary loss is estimated at $26,400, at $2 a bushel.

Butts emphasized that percentages of loss reflect total loss compared to yield if all acres planted had experienced a normal year. Much of the loss was because spotty rains throughout the late summer. Some farms received a good amount of rainfall and had better than average yields, while other fields were parched.

The emergency committee is estimating that 12 farmers, having produced less than half their normal yield, will be eligible for about $22,000 in crop disaster payments.

About 30 farmers had yields reduced by 30 per cent or more because of drought, and should be eligible for emergency loans on losses, totaling $450,000. Interest on the loans, available through the FmHA, is five per cent.

Losses this year are substantial, but don't compare to last year when 1,015 farmers received $2,268,854 in low-yield payments alone. That represented a $12,000,000 loss to Wayne County feed grain farmers.

Sleigh Rides and Drawing Begin Christmas Activities

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce will officially open its Christmas season activities Monday night with attractions for young and old alike. Youngsters will want to be sure they get a ride on Santa's mobile sleigh, which will be in town during the afternoon and until stores close at 9 o'clock Monday night.

The large motorized sleigh will accommodate 45 youngsters of one time and moving reindeer figures in front will add realism to the ride.

Adults will want to be sure they check to see if there are a potential Christmas Bucks winner. The first of six drawings for the coupons, which can be spent like cash in any participating store, will be for $500. Monday

Five other drawings are scheduled. Prizes of $100 in Christmas Bucks will be awarded

Dec. 16, 17, 19, and 22, and a second $500 prize will be awarded Dec. 23.

Stores will open until 9 p.m. on each of those dates, in addition to the regular Thursday night openings, Dec. 11 and 18. Birth day Bucks drawings will be held as usual on those two pre-Christmas dates, but winners of consolation prizes will receive $100 in Birth day Bucks, rather than the usual $25. Birth day Bucks, like Christmas Bucks, can be spent like cash at any participating business.

Tickets for Christmas Bucks are available for the asking with no purchase required. A list of 50 numbers drawn at random will be posted in stores at 1 p.m. on the day each Christmas Bucks prize is to be awarded. Holders of tickets with numbers on the list must present the

Businessmen Boost Lions Club Dance

The Wayne Lions Club is getting some assistance from local businessmen in planning a New Year's Eve celebration, dance chairman Don Langston said Tuesday.

Several businessmen have donated money which will be used to purchase decorations for the Wayne National Guard armory where the dance will be held.

The Country Classics band will provide music for the celebration. Doors will open at 8 p.m. with the band beginning at 9.

Proceeds from the benefit dance will go toward several projects sponsored by the Lions. Top priority will be in meeting the club's pledge to Providence Medical Center. The Lions have also approved purchasing Christmas gifts for residents at the Wayne Care Center. Another major local project is maintenance of the camping park adjacent to the Wayne airport.

Tickets can be purchased in advance at the First National Bank and the State National Bank, or from any Lions Club member. Tickets will also be available at the door.

County Officers Attend Annual State Convention

Visitors to the Wayne County courthouse this week might notice that some familiar faces are missing. In fact, elected officials are scheduled to be out of town.

The 81st annual Nebraska Association of County Officials convened Tuesday evening at the Hilton Hotel in Omaha. County clerk Norris Weible said Tuesday morning that Wayne County officials were planning to attend.

With officials from all Nebraska counties eligible to attend Weible estimated that attendance should be between 900 and 1,000.

Meetings have included joint sessions, for all officials, and individual sessions where association members meet with others holding the same office in their home counties, for discussion of new developments common to the office.

Nebraska Third District representative Virginia Smith was the scheduled speaker Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of county commissioners and voters directors. Vance Webb, president of the National Association of County Officials, and executive director Bernard Hillenbrand, are scheduled to speak at a joint session today (Thursday).

Gov. J. J. Exon will be the guest speaker at the annual association banquet Friday night.

Weible is immediate past president of the state county clerks association and chairman of the board for the group. He was scheduled to moderate several panel discussions for county clerks and registrars of deeds.

Family Health Office Has New Counselor

Family planning outreach counselor Dorothy Wall said many of the people she contacts in her work often initially think she "is trying to sell some thing," but then become anxious to hear what she has to say.

Mrs. Wall and husband Gary moved to Wayne Nov. 2 and she began working with the Northeast Nebraska Family Health Services office in Wayne about a week later.

Scouts Cancel Paper Drives

Conflicts with an Omaha paper firm and the lack of storage space have forced members of Boy Scout Troop 175 to cancel further paper drives, including a drive scheduled for this Saturday in Wayne, Winside and Carroll.

According to Marilyn Koch, who is in charge of this month's drive, the troop couldn't guarantee an Omaha recycling plant a minimum of 15 tons of paper. As a result, the plant said it couldn't send a truck to pick up the paper.

Koch pointed out that some of the papers could be stored in one of the buildings at the county fairgrounds, but the weather makes driving to the fairgrounds difficult.

Koch is asking persons who saved paper to discard it.

Wayne Kiwanis to Resume Christmas Lighting Contest

The Wayne Kiwanis Club, in cooperation with the City of Wayne, will sponsor its annual house-lighting contest.

All city residents are eligible to enter the contest by decorating their homes with Christmas lights and decorations. Judges will begin making their selections during the week of Dec. 15-19.

The top three winners will receive cash coupons which are good for purchasing merchandise from any Wayne merchant. The City of Wayne will award a $25 coupon to the first-place winner, $15 to second place and $10 to third place, according to club president Dan Sherry.

Judges for this year's contest will be persons who live outside of Wayne, Sherry noted. The club hasn't sponsored the contest the past two years because of the energy crisis, Sherry said.

Winners will be notified by phone and receive their prizes at the Dec. 22nd Kiwanis meeting.

Mystery Sleuth Readers Earn $500 for MS Study

Wayne Middle School students raised over $500 for multiple sclerosis research through a three-week Read-a-Thon contest.

Students at the school obtained pledges committing an amount of money for each book read during the contest, which began the last week in October and ended Nov. 16.

Prizes were awarded Tuesday to the two top money earners. Becky Otto, daughter of Ron Otto and Carol, was at the top of the list. The sixth grade student read 10 books during the contest and earned $54.50.

Second place honors went to eighth grade student Connie Langston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Langston, for reading nine books and earning $33.50.

Each girl received a "Mystery Sleuth Hound" stuffed toy. A puppet version of the hound was used in a film to explain the contest. School librarian Mrs. Faunell Bennett said the Mystery Sleuth theme signifies that money raised through the contest will be used for research in multiple sclerosis.

A total of 66 students entered the contest. Mrs. Bennett said. They read over 200 books and combined earnings total more than $500. Mrs. Bennett said the Read-a-Thon is the only fund raising effort for multiple sclerosis held in Wayne this year.

Bright-Eyed Bear Not a Toy

Local members of the Telephone Pioneers of America will be giving a special teddy bear to the Region IV Children's Unit on Friday.

Circuit boards inside the four-foot high stuffed toy will cause its eyes to light up when spoken to.

Harvey Grosse, of Wayne, a member of the Telephone Pioneers, said the teddy bear isn't intended for use as a toy but rather is designed to be used as a teaching tool. The idea behind the bright-eyed bear is to encourage youngsters with speech problems to take a more active part in speech therapy. The Pioneers hope the bear's special feature will tempt normally reticent children to talk to it, and improve their speech.

The Telephone Pioneers of America is a community service organization, made up of long-term telephone industry employees. Cherry Johnson, a Norfolk switchboard operator, formerly of Wayne, donated the bear and Pioneer members installed the special circuitry.

Telephone company employees must have 20 years of service in the industry before they can join the Telephone Pioneers. The local chapter headquarters is located in Omaha. Wayne is part of a seven-town council within the chapter.

Bicentennial Committee Still Active in Winter

Winter weather has hampered somewhat Bicentennial activities in Wayne County, chairman Roberta Weite said Tuesday, but the Bicentennial committee will meet in January and has several events planned.

Wednesday's 8 p.m. concert at Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College campus was a Bicentennial event, Mrs. Weite said.

Winter weather has temporarily curtailed painting of the patriotic mural on the Kaup's TV Service building but the work will be completed when weather permits, Mrs. Weite said.

Sixth graders at the Wayne Middle School have written 51 centennial poems, set them to music and have an accompanying film strip to illustrate their efforts.

Wayne County commemorative dinner plates with a Bicentennial design have been ordered and should arrive soon, Mrs. Weite said. They will be available to the public at the Chamber of Commerce office and other Wayne businesses.

The Bicentennial committee is continuing to plan for the three day Bicentennial celebration July 3, 4, 5, 1976. Mrs. Weite is urging all organizations in the county to plan something to contribute to the 200th birthday celebration.

"Projects should be as patriotic, non-commercial, old fashioned and inexpensive as possible," Mrs. Weite said. "If everyone helps, we can make it a birthday celebration no one will ever forget."

Public Invited to View Predict and Prevent Film

Beverly Scovill, director of the newly organized Project Predict and Prevent, will show a slide presentation related to the new early childhood project of the Wayne Carroll school system.

The public is invited to view the presentation this Friday at 2:30 p.m. in room 10 of the Wayne State College library.

Project Predict and Prevent is offering services to children of preschool age who have special needs, said Mrs. Scovill, and is funded by Title VII-B through the State Department of Education.

A child will receive education services if he or she exhibits developmental delay in such areas as physical coordination (crawling, walking), language or self help skills (feeding, toileting). Mrs. Scovill said children may also qualify for the program if there is a speech, hearing or vision defect, a physical handicap, hyperactivity, mental retardation or any combination of these traits.

According to Mrs. Scovill, plans are being made to have volunteers canvass the Wayne school district in an effort to

Fraternity Planning Kids Holiday Party

The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity with their auxiliary, the Order of Diana, and Kappa Delta Gamma sorority are working with Wayne merchants to hold a Christmas party for children in the Wayne area.

The annual fête, which is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at the city auditorium, is for all youngsters between the ages of four and 10.

Entertainment for the day will include games, Christmas films, singing of Christmas carols and visits with Santa. Hot dogs, potato chips and drinks will be served to youngsters at noon, and each child will receive a bag of candy before leaving for home.

Decorations will include balloons, streamers and a large display of Santa's reindeer and sleigh. Christmas drawings by youngsters in area schools will be on display, and prizes will be awarded for the best pictures in each grade division.

Most of the 75 members of the three sponsoring college groups on hand to supervise the day's activities will be in costume

Progress Awards Reveal Good Year for Expansion

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce has presented 10 progress awards so far in 1975 and hopes to make it an even dozen before Jan. 1.

The latest award was presented Monday to Sherry Brothers True Value Hardware Store, which recently opened.

Progress awards were presented to Chamber of Commerce members who begin a new business or remodel or expand an existing business.

Chamber secretary Howard Witt said the organization is considering giving one or two more awards before the end of the year, and that would make a round dozen for 1975.

That's a pretty good total for one year, Witt said. Eight progress awards were presented in

A Different View of Christmas Seen in Planetarium Program

A holiday tradition at Wayne State College, "The Star of Christmas," began Wednesday at the Day Planetarium and will continue through Dec. 17.

The show, back for its fourth consecutive year, has been improved this year, according to planetarium director Carl Rump, and includes a new sound track and new narration.

The program opens with lights, festive music and holiday scenes, then focuses on the winter sky. "Because of the appearance of a star in that sky almost 20 centuries ago," Rump said.

The narrator investigates celestial objects in the contemporary winter sky, and then invests gates the sky just prior to the birth of Christ.

The mid section of the presentation is a retelling of the Biblical story of the first Christmas, to find what evidence the Bible presents to explain this special star.

The final portion of the show combines a knowledge of the sky, Biblical scholarship and understanding of the customs and beliefs of the people in the Christmas story. The final decision about the Christmas Star is left to the audience, along with the thought that the celestial phenomenon might never be explained by science.

"The Star of Christmas" is a way of redirecting people to the real meaning of Christmas, Rump said.

Showtimes during the Dec. 3-7 run of the presentation are 3:30 Sunday afternoon and 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.
