

Barb Rief, Gary Koepke Wed November 22 at Grand Island Church

The marriage of Barb Rief to Gary Koepke, both of Lincoln, was solemnized in 2 p.m. rites Saturday, Nov. 22, at the Blessed Sacrament Church in Grand Island.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Rief of Dannebrog and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koepke of Hoskins.

The Rev. Tom Ryan of Grand Island officiated at the double ring ceremony. Roger Guman sang, accompanying himself on the guitar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a silhouette gown of white velvet, styled with a high collar, square yoke, bodice and full bishop sleeves, all trimmed in venise lace. Her A-line skirt fell from an empire waistline. She wore a chapel-length mantilla trimmed in matching lace.

Matron of honor Mrs. Linda Keeter of Grand Island wore a mint green floor-length crepe dress with a dark green velvet cape, and carried a long-stemmed burnt orange mum with gold trim. Bridesmaids Mrs. Elizabeth Wooden of Cairo and Elizabeth Earl of Lincoln wore dresses styled identically to the matron of honor's, and each carried a long-stemmed bronze mum with orange trim.

Best man was Don Zaroban of Lincoln and groomsmen were Gates Koepke of Steamboat Springs, Colo., and Gary Zimer of Pierce. Ushers were Lonnie Koepke of Lincoln and Jeff Wooden of Cairo.

The men wore light green tuxedo jackets with dark velvet lapels.

Colorful Yule Wreaths Made Easy With Candy

If it's time to toss out your old re-used Christmas decorations and bring in some new, try experimenting with an assortment of brightly colored Christmas candies to make some creative decorations for walls, windows, mantels and mirrors.

One of the easiest and prettiest of holiday decorations is the candy wreath.

Equipment for the job includes some florists' wire, a straightened coat hanger or length of wire of comparable thickness, clear plastic for wrapping, some red and green ribbon and bows, a small pair of scissors, and, of course, a variety of colorful hard candies.

Wrap each piece of candy in clear plastic, binding the base with thin florists' wire. Then, place the piece of candy next to the heavy wire and attach it with a bit of thin wire on the candy. Continue binding the candies until the thicker wire is full of colors, then bend the candy-laden wire into a circle to form a wreath.

Tie the ribbons and bows to the candies and wire to add extra color, adding a few candy canes or peppermint sticks as well. Then hang the finished wreath on the door to offer a sweet welcome to holiday visitors.

There's no need to store away this decoration for the following year. When the holiday is over, take the wreath apart piece by piece and have a sweet eating time.

Son is Baptized

Ted Scott Perry, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Perry of Wayne, was baptized Sunday during morning worship services at the Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The Rev. S.K. deFreese officiated. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Panter Overland Park, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kugler, Wayne. A blue robe was placed on the altar by Ted's parents and sister Lori Sue, in honor of the occasion.

A dinner was held afterward in the home of Ted's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kugler of Wayne. Guests included paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Perry, also of Wayne.

Ted was born Oct. 28 at St. Luke's Medical Center in Sioux City.

Paul Manz, well-known organist from St. Paul, Minn., will be in Wayne this week to present two recitals and a master class.

The public is invited to attend the dedicatory organ recital at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne tonight, (Thursday), and the recital at Wayne State College Ramsay Theatre Friday evening. Both performances are set for 8 p.m. No admission will be charged.

Master class will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. Friday at Ramsay Theatre. The fee for those enrolled in the master classes is $5 per person. Wayne State College Students will be admitted free.

Manz has performed throughout Europe, Canada and the United States.

Details concerning the Manz recitals or the master class can be obtained by contacting Antony Garrick at the Wayne State College music department.

Organist Giving Two Recitals In Wayne

* INFLATION-FIGHTING *
FOOD IDEAS

STEAK CANTONESE AND RICE

Rice recipes are becoming more and more popular. Not surprising, since the "typical" recipes of many countries are made with rice. In fact, rice is the most versatile foods you can serve... in soups, salads, vegetables, main dishes, and desserts. Here it's teamed with slices of round steak, to taste your palate and please your purse.

Steak Cantonese and Rice
1 1/2 pounds boneless beef round steak
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 large tomatoes, coarsely chopped
2 medium green peppers, cut in strips
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon each garlic salt, pepper, and ground ginger
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/4 cup water
1 beef bouillon cube
3 cups hot cooked rice
4 (cooked in beef broth or bouillon)
Slice meat into thin strips, cutting diagonally across the grain. Brown steak in oil on all sides over high heat. Reduce heat. Stir in tomatoes, green peppers, soy sauce, and seasonings. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Blend cornstarch and water. Stir into meat mixture. Add bouillon cube. Cook and stir until mixture thickens and bouillon cube dissolves. Cover and simmer 10 minutes longer. Serve over beds of rice. Make 6 servings.

Beverly Maple, Eugene Longe Wed Nov. 22 at Neligh Church

In a 2 p.m. ceremony Nov. 22 at the United Methodist Church, Neligh, Beverly June Maple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Maple of Neligh, became the bride of Eugene Alvin Longe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Longe of Wayne.

The Rev. Harold J. Coates officiated at the double ring ceremony. Pat Cronin of Omaha sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Richard Klone of Neligh.

The couple's honor attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Longe of Neligh. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Marilyn Maple and Lorrie Meyer, both of Orchard, and Mrs. Wendell Muls of Elgin. Groomsmen were Marilyn Maple of Orchard, brother of the bride, Wendell Muls of Elgin and Keith Doescher of Wayne.

Mrs. Douglas Conkling of Blair was the bride's personal attendant.

Flower girl and ring bearer were Jeannie Woodworth of Orchard and Chad Maple of Neligh, son of the bride. Candles were lighted by Laraine Longe of Wayne, sister of the groom, and Christy Wert of Wayne and ushers were Donald Longe of Lyons, brother of the groom, Douglas Conkling of Blair and Virgil Loeve of Norfolk.

The bride appeared at her parents' side in a long white tulle gown styled with sheer sleeves, empire waistline, lace yoke trimmed with rhinestones and a long tulle train. Her train-length mantilla was edged with wide lace and caught to a white headpiece. She wore a heart-shaped locket and watch given to her from the groom and carried a colonial bouquet of variegated flowers accented with baby's breath and long white ribbon streamers.

Her attendants wore floor-length satin dresses in deep purple with an overlay of sheer lavender, styled with long sheer sleeves and purple velvet ribbon at the bodice. They wore neck chokers enhanced with rhinestone crosses and carried purple and white regional bouquets with white and purple streamers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fryer of Neligh and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wert of Wayne greeted the 110 guests who attended the reception in the church parlors following the ceremony. Mrs. Virgil Longe of Neligh, sister of the groom, entertained guests and gifts were arranged by Mrs. Warren Frank, Sally Frank and Lynette Frank, all of Page. Mrs. Donald Longe of Lyons and Mrs. Art Kauband of Neligh cut and served the cake and Mrs. Elsworth Peterson of Neligh poured Mrs. Theodore Hughes and Mrs. Allan Coyle of Neligh served punch.

Witnesses were Eugene Longe, Leann Longe and Jalene Rose. The couple is making their first home at Blair.

Creating Holiday Decors

IT'S EASY to make your own Christmas tree decorations. All you need is colored paper, glue, felt, a few old Christmas cards, and some patience. Manufacturing some of those Christmas decorations during a workshop Tuesday afternoon at the Villa Wayne at Wayne was, left photo, Anita Telesky, area home extension agent from West Point looking over some of the decorations, right photo, are Mrs.

Orville Brandstetter, center, and Mrs. Fred Gildersleeve, at right. The woman standing behind the chain decoration was not identified. Helping conduct the workshop Tuesday was Linda Sander of the University of Nebraska Northeast Station near Concord. Nearly 25 persons attended. Similar sessions are being given in Emerson, Stanton and West Point.

Monthly Meeting Held at Villa

The regular monthly meeting of the Villa-Wayne Tenant's Club was held Monday evening. Plans were made for a Christmas dinner Dec. 8. The monthly potluck birthday dinner will be held Dec. 19.

Following the meeting, members decorated the Christmas tree in the Villa recreation room. A cooperative lunch was served at the close of the evening.

On Tuesday afternoon, Linda Sander, home extension agent from the Northeast Station at Concord, along with Anita Telesky, home extension agent from West Point, conducted a workshop at the Villa on handmade Christmas tree decorations. Nearly 25 persons turned out for the workshop, one of several being held in the area.

Hoskins Couple Mark 50th

Over 150 guests attended the golden wedding anniversary reception for Mr. and Mrs. George Langenberg of Hoskins, held at the Peace United Church of Christ at Norfolk Sunday.

The open house event was hosted by the couple's children and families, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hirschman of Norfolk and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Langenberg and Mr. and Mrs. F. George Langenberg, all of Hoskins. George Langenbergs have four grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Guests were present from Fond du Lac, Wis.; Hoskins, Winside, Norfolk, Wayne, Pierce and Madison, and were registered by grandchildren Brad Langenberg and Michelle Langenberg, both of Hoskins. Gifts were arranged by granddaughters Mrs. Paul Johnson of Fond du Lac, and Beverly Hirschman of Norfolk.

The church choir sang "How Great Thou Art" during the afternoon program.

The cake, baked by Mrs. Ed Brogie of Hoskins, was cut and served by Mrs. George Heusinger, Mrs. Walter Flier Sr. and Mrs. Ann Langenberg, all of Norfolk, and Mrs. Henry Langenberg Jr. of Hoskins. Mrs. Walden Rakowsky of Madison and Mrs. Grace Carberry of Norfolk poured and Bernice Langenberg of Norfolk and Mrs. Norris Langenberg of Hoskins served punch.

Waitresses were Julie Carberry of Norfolk and Karen Wittler and Peggy Langenberg, both of Hoskins.

Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Andy Anderson, Mrs. Lucille Asmus, Mrs. Vernon Behmer, Mrs. Walter Fenske, Mrs. Marvin Fuhrman, Mrs. Herman Marten, Mrs. Reuben Puls, Mrs. Walter Strate and Mrs. Raymond Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Langenberg were married Nov. 28, 1925 in Sioux City and have resided in the Hoskins vicinity all their lives.

Sweet Victory Finally Comes Home

Wayne State's basketball Wildcats and Wildkittens traveled to a pair of rousing home sports Tuesday.

The games could hardly have been more different. Wayne State blitzed USD Springfield, 68-38, after coach G. I. Wilfongh pulled out her starters within six minutes. All but one of 16 players scored, and top honors went to subs Lori Mittelstadt, 12, Mary Booth, 9 and Pat McKay, 8.

The Wildkittens built a 48-15 half lead against a young and inexperienced Springfield team.

By contrast, the Wildcats had to whittle Mount Marty's early lead until they gained a 34-35 edge 41 second before intermission, then made it 38-35 at the rest.

Thereafter, it was a shooting duel, with Mount Marty keeping the outcome in doubt until two minutes from the end. It was 89-80 then.

But Wayne's 63 per cent field shooting through the second half fashioned the first Wildcat win after three road losses: Rick Anderson hit 17 of his 29 points — shooting mostly on layups and key jumpers — while Rex Fressler got half of his 26 on long shots, mainly from the corners.

For the game, Wayne shot 58 per cent from the field, first time this season over 39 per cent. The hot hands, coupled with smooth play execution, made the Cats look like their progress of last year.

The Lancers, now 1-3, made it a shooting duel on the strength of 53 per cent field accuracy, paced by Chuck Brewer's 32 points. He shot from all over, but mainly from a distance. Mount Marty battled to a 57-111 tie 12 minutes from the end, but Wayne's cannonading quickly restored leads of six points and more.

Saturday night at the University of Nebraska at Omaha, Wayne showed flashes of execution and led at the half, 35-33, slipped behind, caught up at 47-47, then trailed till the end.

However, the Cats chipped away at UNO's 62-51 lead to close within two points, 77-75. They had a chance to tie in the last 10 seconds but threw the ball away before time ran out.

Wayne Robinson, in his best game so far, led the Wildcats with 20 points before fouling out. For UNO, Dennis Forrest led at 21.

Next on the schedule for the Wildcats: a game at Dana tonight (Thursday), then at home Tuesday night against Dakota Wesleyan — their last home show before the Christmas Tournament, Dec. 29-31.

For the Wildkittens, the next game will be a different story from their romp over Springfield. Saturday afternoon they will host Grandview of Des Moines, a power team of the talented Iowa college and national ranked team. A reserve game is set for 1 p.m. in Rice Gym, followed by the varsities at 2:30.

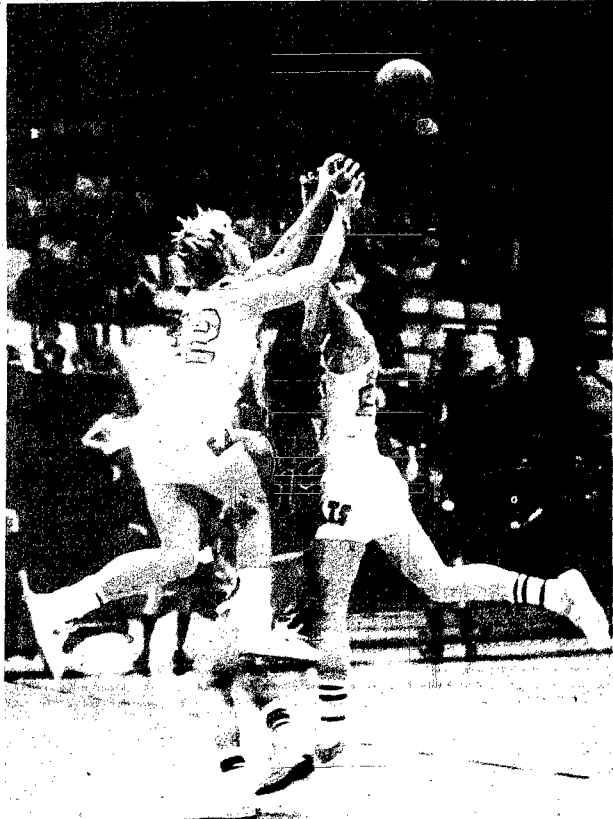

Last weekend at Springfield, Mo., the Wildkittens placed fourth among eight teams in the Turkey Tournament. They opened with a 75-50 blast over host Southwest Missouri, then lost to Kansas State University, 90-65 and finally bowed to Northwest Missouri, 85-82.

Kansas State went on to beat Grandview in the finals.

Wayne's Connie Kuntzman earned selection on the all-tournament team.

A week earlier at Maryville, Northwest Missouri had spoiled Wayne's opener, 82-62.

The Wildkittens now are 2-3.

Zeiss: Speed, Quickness More Important Factors

Wayne High girls basketball coach Dan Zeiss is like many area coaches who believe that speed and quickness are the essential ingredients which go into making a good squad.

Fact is, the first-year head coach would put more emphasis on speed and quickness than height, especially since this is the first year for high school girls basketball for most area schools.

Zeiss figures that not many coaches will be concerned with the height aspect of the game this year. The main area most teams will want to develop is learning the fundamentals of the game.

That one area is where Wayne may have an edge, thanks to the city recreation program which has a girls basketball program.

Already showing signs of fundamental leadership as well as shooting ability are nine of the 36 girls out for the season. They are seniors Mary Kovensky, Joan Hochstein, juniors Stephanie Dorcey, Julie Overin, sophomores Sydney Mosley, Sue Schwartz, Bev Munter and freshmen Sue Proett and Peg Pinkelman.

"Our No. one problem right now is passing," Zeiss said. "We have a tendency to pass the ball without reading the defense. As a result, we sometimes throw the ball away."

Handing the ball is another area the coach will be aiming to improve this season. If Wayne girls cannot handle the ball well inside, they may be forced to shoot the ball from the outside — an area where most girls teams will have trouble with.

Q. The Veterans Administration is paying for my flight lessons for an instrument rating on my private pilot license. Are these payments taxable?

A. No. Benefits paid under any law administered by the VA to veterans and their families are not taxable.

Help Needed to Ease Parking Problem

Again this year Wayne Carroll High School administration are asking basketball fans to park in all home games to park their vehicles facing south in the high school parking lot.

Vehicle operators should start parking at the northeast corner of the lot in order to make it easier for traffic to leave the ball game. Said principal Don Zeiss.

Jacobmeier Leads Spikers During Devils' 17-3 Year

Senior Susan Jacobmeier was Wayne's leading point-maker during the 1975 volleyball season, according to final team statistics released by coach Marvin Dalton.

Jacobmeier had 122 points during Wayne's 20-game season while she served over 91 per cent of her serves to average about six points per game.

Right behind her on the varsity squad was senior Kris Nedergaard with 115 points. Julie Kovensky was third with 99 points followed by Mary Kovensky with 97, Stephanie Dorcey with 78, Julie Kay with 72, Joan Hochstein with 22 and Linda Costello with 12.

Kay was the top percentage server with about 66 per cent of her serves going over the net.

Mary Kovensky was the leading spiker with 152 while her sister, Julie had 116 and Jacobmeier had 106. Jacobmeier led in bumps with 549, Mary Kovensky had 514 and Dorcey had 420. Dorcey was the leading setter with 156. Nedergaard and Mary Kovensky each had 97. Dorcey also led in tips with 20. Kay and Nedergaard followed with 16 and 17, respectively.

Wayne's varsity finished the regular season with a 12-2 record. The locals won their district with match wins over Wisner, Pilger, Hooper-Logan View and Pierce to advance to the state Class B tournament at Scottsbluff where they finished fourth. Wayne beat Syracuse to advance but lost to eventual state winner Ogallala in the semifinals for a final 17-3 mark.

The reserve team, which finished with a 8-1 record, was led by Kelly Frevert with 64 points for the season. Joni Ison was second with 58.

The freshman team ended with a 7-2 mark. The team scored 284 points while their opponents had 188. No individual scoring statistics were available.

Area Grapplers Make Debuts at 2 Tournaments

High school wrestling kickoff this Saturday for three area teams which will be involved in tournaments.

Wayne makes its season debut at the 12-team Blair Invitational while Winside travels to the four-team Wakefield meet.

Defending champion Tekamah-Herman will be among the 12 teams at Blair, according to Wayne coach Don Koenig. "It will be a real tough tournament, but that's why we go down there," he said.

Winside, which also is the defending champion, is expected to repeat its role at the Wakefield meet, which also includes teams from Pender and Hartington High. "It's a little early now to say how well we'll do, but I think we're going to surprise some people," said Wakefield mentor Lyle Trullinger.

The Wakefield tournament, which will be held at the elementary school auditorium, starts at 3 p.m. Semifinals are at 7 followed by the final at 8:30.

All three teams head into dual action next week. On Tuesday, Winside travels to Pender, Wayne hosts Don Koenig, and Wakefield goes to Wisner-Pilger.

Prep Picks:

Strong Wakefield Battles Allen Tonight

By BOB BARTLETT

It's almost general consensus in the West Husker Conference that the cage teams to beat this year are Hartington Cedar Catholic, Madison and Wakefield — not necessarily in that order.

All three squads return with veteran crews which have experience, shooting ability and some height to put them in the battle for the loop title.

Outside of the league, all three are picked to be leaders in a league competition, will be discovered tonight (Thursday) and Friday when the Trojans face Allen and Winside.

Although Allen never won a ball game last year, Trojan boss Joe Coble isn't taking the Eagles for granted when Wakefield goes to Allen. The last two times the Wakefield quint has played on the Allen court, the Trojans have suffered losses.

Allen's new head coach Jim Koonitz has the right idea about the new season, Coble said, pointing out that Koonitz's theory is to work his players hard and forget about last year. "Allen certainly isn't going to be afraid of us," Coble added.

Koonitz figures that to play good ball against Wakefield, his team is going to have to pressure the Trojan quint at half court and try to shut off the Trojan's big man, 6-5 senior Scot Keagle. "Wakefield is a real fine team and has a strong tradition of being a winner. The Trojans definitely will have a height advantage," Koonitz said, adding that no one player is going to beat his club.

Wakefield's height is one area Winside's coaching staff will be well aware of when the two teams collided Friday on the Trojans' court. Besides Keagle, Coble may include in his lineup another 6-5 player, sophomore Val Johnson.

According to Winside assistant coach Mike Jones, the Cats will be concentrating on defense both against Ponca, tonight, and Wakefield, Friday. "Our idea is not to let either team have the second shot. That's where the emphasis has been all year," Jones said.

This week's prep picks (winners in boldface):
Tonight
Wakefield at Allen — Coble's team will break jinx on Allen court with a big victory to start the season.

Ponca at Winside — If Winside's returning all-conference players, seniors Bob Hoffman and Tyler Frevert, have a good night, the Cats could get by in this squeaker.

Friday
Allen at Coteridge — Eagles will have to be patient. A victory will be coming.

Winside at Wakefield — Trojans' strength and depth are too much for Cats to handle.

Blair at Wayne — Wayne's home floor advantage isn't enough.

Norfolk Catholic at Laurel — Chalk up first of many victories for coach Joel Parks this season.

Saturday
Crofton at Laurel (girls) — Laurel's intramural program should payoff with a victory.

Tuesday
Laurel at Allen (girls) — With a year's experience behind them, the Eaglettes should be a tough ball club to beat.

IT'S SAD that this year Wayne will not have a wrestling program for junior high youngsters after the program got off to a good start two years ago.

The youngsters' interest in the program was starting to gather momentum last year when a large number of youths turned out for the winter sport, which was conducted through the city recreation program.

Now that junior high sports is under the direction of the Wayne-Carroll school system, there just isn't enough personnel to handle the job of wrestling coach this year, said Middle School principal Loren Park.

Wayne High varsity wrestling coach Don Koenig is the only certified person who can run the program this year, according to Park. The problem is trying to find time to coach the youngsters. The options are to run the program during varsity season or after the season is over. Trying to handle varsity and junior high grapplers at once—and do a good job—is pretty tough. Koenig vetoed the idea of having the junior high program after the varsity season.

Prior to this year, city recreation director Hank Overin handled junior high football and basketball, and Steve Hix took charge of wrestling without any hitches. "However, the Nebraska School Activities Association this year passed a resolution which says a junior high sports program must be under the direction of certified coaches. Result: the school system took the junior high program under its wing and appointed some of the members of the high school coaching staff to handle the sports.

What it boils down to is that the Wayne-

Carroll school board might have to hire another coach next year to assist with junior high sports if Wayne is to develop a solid wrestling program.

TOO LATE for a news story, but still worth mentioning: Cadet John Warner, a senior at West Point Military Academy, led his rugby team to wins over Navy and Air Force in a tri-service tournament last month at Annapolis, Md. Warner led scoring with 17 points as the Army team overcame the Air Force, 24-3, and Navy, 13-4.

According to a news clipping Warner sent his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Warner of rural Allen, "Navy held a slim 4-3 lead at the end of the first half but that lead was erased early in the second half when Warner made his second penalty kick of the day to put Army in front for good."

In clipping about high school cross country, a former Wayne man last fall directed his team to its second state title in four years.

Western High School, coached by Dean Weible, capped an undefeated season by winning the Nevada state Class AAA cross country meet. Weible, who has been Western's only cross country coach, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Weible of Wayne.

CONGRATULATIONS to Winside High senior Bob Hoffman who was named Sunday to the Class C-2 Omaha World-Herald all-state football team. The six-foot, 180-pounder was selected as an end on the 11-man offensive team by prep writer Conde Sargent.

During Winside's 7-2 grid campaign this year, Hoffman was second in receptions with 11 catches for 176 yards. Making that many yards on passes is pretty good considering Winside runs mainly out of a veer formation, according to the Cats' coach staff.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Hoffman of rural Winside, Bob three times has been named to the Lewis and Clark Conference all-loop football team. Twice he was named as one of the top linebackers on defense before the switch this year. In addition, Hoffman also has won accolades on the league's all-conference basketball teams.

In the Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star newspaper, Hoffman was named honorable mention. Also listed on the Journal's all-state honorable mention list were junior running back Mark Brandt and senior quarterback Paul Mallette, both of Wayne High, in Class B, and senior guard Steve Thompson of Laurel in Class C-1.

MIGHT notice that beginning this week, I'm going to try my hand at picking winners in high school girls' basketball. Don't know how successful I'll be, but should be interesting.

Wakefield Girl Leads NNTC to 4th

A 1974 graduate of Wakefield High School, Donna Gross, was one of 12 girls named to the national all-tournament volleyball team after she helped to lead Northeast Technical Community College of Norfolk to fourth place in the National Junior College tournament at Catonsville, Va., over the weekend. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burnell Grass of rural Wakefield, Donna is a sophomore at Northeast Tech.

Also on the 14-member Norfolk team is Sally Landanger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Landanger of Winside. Sally graduated from Winside High in 1973.

Drama Club Presents 'Arsenic' Tonight

The Wayne High School Drama Club tonight (Thursday) will present the first of two productions of "Arsenic and Old Lace," a three-act comedy by Joseph Kesselring.

Curtain time tonight and Saturday is 8 p.m. at the high school lecture hall.

The play is being directed by Phil Koerber. Koerber, son of Dr. and Mrs. William Koerber of Wayne, also has a part in the play, which centers around two charming, innocent elderly ladies who poison single men because the women think the men are lonely. Koerber, who thinks he's Teddy Roosevelt, works with his two sisters, played by Lori Lesh and Carol Bartleman, to "populate" the basement with the remains of socially and religiously acceptable roomers. After a total of 24 persons are put to their rest, another brother of the two sisters discovers what has happened and tries to put the blame for the murders on Koerber. Playing the role of the other brother, Mortimer Brewster, is Mike Schmoldt.

Advanced tickets still are on sale from members of the cast. Tickets also will be sold at the door for $1.25 for adults and $1 for students.

Also taking part in the production are Virgil Kardell as Jonathan Brewster, Lisa Tooker as Elaine Harper, Mike Rethwich as Officer Klein, Dianna Langston as Mrs. Harper, Wayne Butts as Officer Brophy, Alain Guillot-Pingue as Officer Rooney, Mark Schufelt as Mr. Gibbs, Garth Hagerman as Dr. Einstein and Bob Bergt as Officer O'Hara.

Jan Haun is stage manager for the play, and she is being assisted by Lavonne Francis and Laura Blendenman.

ACTING the role of Teddy Roosevelt, Phil Koerber, left, disposes of the body of Officer O'Hara in a trunk. Playing the part of O'Hara is Bob Bergt.

Wayne Ikes Conducting Annual Drive

The Wayne County chapter of the Izzak Walton League is preparing for the new year with a membership drive in December.

Club membership now is about 135 and chapter officers are hoping to increase that total. Drive chairmen are Harry Werl and Glenn Walker.

The past year has been a busy one for the "Ikes." Members planted trees and shrubs on about 10 acres of the club's 18 acre lake site northwest of Wayne, and also completed planting on county property northeast of the lake.

The goal of the two projects was to enhance the wildlife habitat. Conservation of soil, water and wildlife is the foundation of the Izzak Walton League.

The local chapter was organized some 20 years ago.

The Ikes also own the trap shooting equipment at the Wayne Municipal Airport and sponsor Sunday trap shooting meets, now ended for the year because of snow. Albert A. Anderson of rural Wayne recently won a Remington 870 pump shotgun in a contest sponsored by the local Izzak Walton League chapter.

Other projects completed in 1975 include remodeling of the club cabins and purchase of furniture.

Membership, open to anyone, costs $13 annually, according to club secretary Norris Weible. That includes membership in the national organization, a key to the chapter lake property, and receipt of the League's national magazine, "Outdoor America."

Family Super Sunday For Wayne Veterans

All members of veteran's organizations in Wayne and their families, are invited to attend a potluck Christmas supper this Sunday at the Wayne Vet's Club. The event is scheduled for 4:30 p.m.

Wayne veteran's organizations include World War I Barracks, Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion, and their auxiliaries, and the Disabled American Veterans.

Weather Halts Sale of Popcorn

The second annual Kiwanis popcorn sale will be delayed until city streets and sidewalks are cleared of ice, said Leon Meyer during Monday's Kiwanis meeting.

Meyer, who is chairman of this year's drive, pointed out that the slippery streets and sidewalks make walking difficult for the door-to-door city canvass.

Monday night members were expected to begin the sale after cold, snowy weather last week postponed the sale.

When the sale begins, members will be selling boxes of popcorn for $1.25 each. Each box contains five packets of popcorn, salt and cooking butter. Proceeds from the sale will go toward Kiwanis sponsored youth activities in Wayne.

Thought for Today
 By Brian McBride
 "The kind of recreation a people make for themselves determines the kind of people they become and the kind of society they build."
 Harry A. Overstreet

The means of recreation that people employ is an accurate indicator of their tastes, their likes and dislikes, the quality of their mental processes and therefore, Overstreet believes, the kind of future society that they are building.

This cannot be regulated by law. People should expect to gain from recreational activity. Merely to be entertained, as by television, should not be enough. It would pay us all to re-evaluate the kind of recreational activity that occupies our leisure time.

We can be helpful in arranging a religious service for those who have no regular church affiliation.

MS Readers Rewarded

READING DONE by these Wayne Middle School girls may help unravel the mysteries of multiple sclerosis, at least in an indirect way. They were the top two money raisers in the Mystery Sleuth Read-a-Thon conducted to help raise money for multiple sclerosis research. Becky Otte (left) raised $54.50 from pledges for the 10 books she read in the three-week period. Connie Langston's efforts contributed $33.50, that amount being paid by contributors for the nine books she read. The Mystery Sleuth Hounds held by the girls were prizes for their efforts.

First District Congressman wants 'more realistic' view toward U.N.

BY CHARLES THONE
First District Representative
 America should drastically slash its financial support of the United Nations, but we should keep strong representation there, stating our views candidly and forcefully.

The United States must view the U.N. realistically. It isn't — in the foreseeable future — going to be a major force for peace in the world. After its 30-year record, we shouldn't expect much of it. Some useful purposes are served through operation of the Security Council and specialized agencies of the U.N. But the General Assembly is a bad joke replete with rabid speeches and resolutions that go contrary to every political and social value the charter is supposed to represent.

If the members of the General Assembly contributed equally to support the U.N., the United States would give 1-142nd of the money. This, of course, is realistic, but to me it is outrageous that in the past two years for which complete records are available we supplied 37 and 31 percent of all U.N. funds! We must insist on a general housecleaning of the U.N. If it is to play a major role in the world, it must be reconstituted so that Sao Tome & Principe, population 36,000, does not have the same voting strength in the General Assembly as the largest nation on earth. Its voting system is the ultimate parody of the majority principle. Nor can we permit non-independent puppets of the Soviet Union to continue their votes.

U.S. ambassador of the U.N. Daniel Patrick Moynihan said that the General Assembly gave international sanction to anti-Semitism when it labeled Zionism a form of racism. I'm glad that President Ford has encouraged Moynihan to "continue to speak out candidly and forcefully." We need less veiled language and more plain talk. Ambassador Moynihan has been, with some bite and passion, telling the truth even when it hurts. More power to him, I say.

The fact of the matter is that Israel treats the Arabs within its borders better than the neighboring Arab nations treat the Palestinian refugees within their borders. The Arabs who fled to nearby nations when Israel was formed more than 25 years ago are still kept by their host nations in refugee camps and live only through charity largely supplied by the United States.

It is ironic that Israel, a democracy, should be condemned by a U.N. vote plotted by the Arab states, nearly all ruled by dictators.

I think the U.N. was terribly, terribly wrong in branding Zionism as racist. I also thought the world body outrageous when it expelled Nationalist China from membership, the legitimate government of 14 million people living on Taiwan. I was equally affronted when the General Assembly gave exalted head of state status to a posturing blowhard like Yasir Arafat, leader of the Palestine terrorists, who was allowed to wear his gun holster to the U.N. podium.

Recent U.N. actions have contradicted everything for which the world body is supposed to stand. We must work to try to dramatically reform this global organization. In the meantime, let's not pay most of the bill for the forum that the U.N. majority is now using to unfairly slap democracy in the face.

OBSERVATIONS

NPPD contract a good bet

The Wayne city council should act at its next meeting on a contract which would commit the city to purchasing wholesale electrical power from the Nebraska Public Power District, and in turn, learning the capacity of the city light plant to NPPD.

According to figures supplied by city electrical engineering consultant Norman Armstrong, there doesn't appear to be much choice in the matter. Signing the contract will mean an approximate 35 per cent increase in power rates, but an increase of 85 per cent would be necessary if the city is to continue to operate the light plant on its own, and stay in the black.

The council decided to defer action until the Dec. 8 meeting and, when considering a contract which will be either 10 or 25 years in duration plenty of careful consider is advisable. But it appears, at least from Armstrong's figures, there is little choice.

No one knows what the energy situation will be in 10 years, how much NPPD rates will increase and what will happen to the price of oil. But diesel generation is the most expensive type of electrical power now, and odds are the situation isn't going to change. Over 200 Nebraska cities have entered into similar contracts with major power suppliers. The large companies use a variety of means to generate electricity, including nuclear and hydroelectric methods, both of which are substantially cheaper than diesel generally.

NPPD and other major companies are forced to use diesel generation during periods of heavy demand but they are working to cut down on the percentage of electricity generated by petroleum.

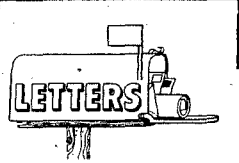

That in fact, is the reason they wish to lease the capacity of the city's plant. They plan to provide a greater percent age of power in the future through nuclear generation, but until then they need diesel capacity for peak loads. Leasing already existing plants saves NPPD from building additional diesel stations for what, hopefully, will be relatively short term use.

Signing the contract with NPPD is a big step for the city, and we think it is a good one. — Jim Strayer.

Writer advocates religious support

Laurel

Dear Editor:
 Remember Madeline Murray O'Hare? In 1963, O'Hare, a professed militant atheist, succeeded in making it illegal to read the Bible or to pray in a public school system.

And now, she's at it again. Over 27,000 signed letters to NASA protesting the reading of the Bible as a Christmas message to the world by our astronauts as they orbited the moon in December, 1968. O'Hare and her followers are demanding that the astronaut publicly endorsed for this act and further demonstrations with religious overtones by our national and public leaders be prohibited.

Since 1963, O'Hare has founded the Society of Separationists, Inc. which claims 60,000 members and just last month moved into a $85,000 headquarters in Austin, Tex.

Off-shoots from the O'Hare atheist movement is the American Atheist Book on the Month Club and a weekly radio show heard over 21 stations. In the planning stage is an atheist studies curriculum, an American atheist television service and an atheist summer camp for atheist youth to meet one another.

O'Hare's band of atheists are only in their infancy. They can and will succeed in their attempts to discredit God in public forums, schools and the news media only if you do nothing.

Yes, you can help. One million signed letters to NASA would defeat O'Hare. Ask your church members to sign and complete similar letters as in the form below.

I appreciate and wholeheartedly support the decision of the astronauts to read the Bible from their space craft as they orbited the moon in December of 1968. I further support the right of any human to express his faith in God and the Bible publicly without fear of censure.

WAY BACK WHEN

30 years ago
 December 6, 1975: A noise that rattled windows was heard in this area Thursday afternoon and evening. C. E. Carhart was made aware of the shakeup at this home in the northwest part of Wayne in the evening. An earthquake was suggested.

Lewis Eby, who lives southeast of Wakefield, suffered severe injury to his left hand Thursday afternoon when the hand was caught in the husking bed of a corn picker. Mr. Eby was taken to a Sioux City hospital where the hand was amputated just above the wrist the following morning.

25 years ago
 Nov. 30, 1950: Mrs. Chris Lunders, Wayne, has purchased the Roberts plumbing building in Wayne and plans to open an infants' and children's wear store.

Wayne American Legion post voted to purchase a polo hot pack unit and a folding wheel chair at their meeting last week. A steam pipe broke in Wayne's public library Monday morning, causing the main reading room to be flooded with about two inches of water. City policemen were awarded $12 a month salary boosts at the regular meeting of Wayne city council Tuesday night in city clerk's office. A group of nursing home operators were in Wayne Tuesday evening to meet with Cliff Dahl about forming a northeast Nebraska district and to make plans for the state convention which will be in Wayne Dec. 7.

 Dec. 1, 1955: About 40 Wayne High band members will attend the sixth annual Husker conference band clinic at Madison Wednesday, Director Earl Green said this week. Temperatures this week plunged to a new low for the season as the thermometer hit six below Tuesday night.

Mrs. Vera Drew, Wisner, daughter of Mrs. Anton Peder sen, Wayne, was recently named winner of a state "Why I Teach" essay contest sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary.

Wayne's city council Tuesday night annexed a three-acre tract on East Seventh street to the city limits as a site for the proposed new National Guard armory.

15 years ago
 Dec. 1, 1960: Although the heavy snow missed the Wayne area Monday, the wind took its toll. The most serious damage in the county was at the fair grounds in Wayne where the wind ripped the roof from the grandstand and smashed it into the agricultural building behind the stands.

Wayne firemen answered two calls to the city dump area Friday to extinguish fires in nearby fields. Ballots were pouring into Wayne this week in voting to determine who will be NE Nebraska's Yuletide Princess Beginning Monday, students in the Wayne area will collect bundles of used clothing to aid needy children and adults in the United States and overseas.

10 years ago
 Dec. 2, 1965: A new post office was put in use in Carroll Wednesday morning. It is the first new post office building to be erected in Wayne county since the present Wayne post office was erected in the 1930's.

A zoning commission, a new city clerk and an increased revenue from the natural gas company were among matters approved at the Tuesday night meeting of the Wayne city council.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

The remanufacturing of replacement automotive parts is one of the more important motor vehicle industry functions to U.S. motorists, yet one of the least known.

Besides providing car owners with a greater variety of replacement parts options, at usually less than new parts prices, the Automotive Information Council says that this specialized industry also contributes significantly to America's economy.

Millions of tons of raw materials have been saved by reclaiming and reusing the basic castings from many different automotive parts to produce the remanufactured components.

Among the parts suitable for remanufacturing are generators and alternators, starter motors, fuel and water pumps, carburetors and brake shoes. Engine components include crankshafts, camshafts, clutches, connecting rods, engine blocks and completely assembled engines.

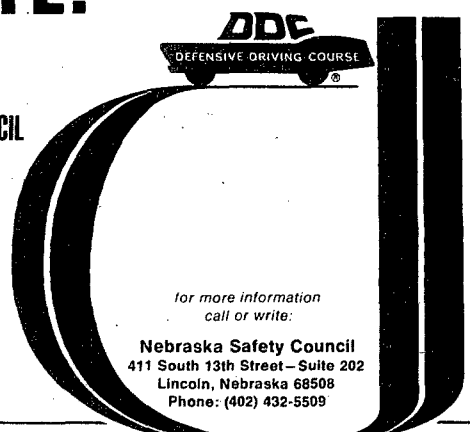

In fact, said AIC, remanufacturing complete engine assemblies today is a sophisticated mass-production process that makes available the most popular model powerplants at less than new engine replacement cost.

Remanufactured parts are distributed to repair outlets through the same distribution system as are new replacement parts.

The remanufacturing cycle begins when used components are replaced on automobiles. Automotive wholesalers collect these used components from their repair shop customers and, in return, the repair shops receive credit for reusable metal castings against the purchase from wholesalers of similar remanufactured or new parts.

When a serviceman asks, "Do you want a new or a rebuilt generator?" the latter is a remanufactured component built by manufacturers whose guidelines are industry-established standards.

Nebraska will bid for energy institute

CAPITOL NEWS

LINCOLN—Among the proposals under consideration for introduction in the 1976 Legislature is one prepared by the Nebraska Association of Public Employees (NAPE).

NAPE executive director Roger Schultz explained the proposal last week to the Government Committee, headed by Sen. Dennis Rasmussen of Scotia.

It would require state agencies to be sure they have someone trained in first aid available to assist employees in case of accidents, to be sure state offices have emergency equipment and to require first aid supplies and fire extinguishers in state vehicles.

Schultz acknowledged, under questioning from Rasmussen, that state agencies could be expected to take proper precautions now and that legislation shouldn't be necessary.

But Schultz said legislation which requires agencies to act would give them reason to request budgets to cover the costs of the emergency training and equipment.

Schultz said that kind of money often is cut in tight budget situations.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln has set priorities for the use of its energy at a time when both the money available and the state's available cash account, Ronald Wright, UNL business manager, said people have the lowest priority.

Buildings, which house research animals have the top priority and equipment, such as computers, are next in line. Humans, who can wear sweaters, are last, Wright said.

Wright said that the UNL thermostats will be set at 65 degrees for people-occupied rooms. Body heat and warmth from lighting will help bring up the temperature, maybe to 69, he said.

Rising costs of fuel, together with budget restrictions, have put the university (and all other institutions) in a tight spot, Wright said. The energy budget was increased seven per cent, while prices for energy sources are rising as far as 35 per cent.

There are some changes in the UNL lineup.

Dr. Martin A. Massengale, associate dean and director of the agriculture experiment station at the University of Arizona at Tucson, has accepted the post of vice chancellor of UNL for agriculture and natural resources.

He will replace Dr. Duane Acker who has become president of Kansas State. Dr. Howard Otison has been acting vice chancellor.

Dr. James V. Drew, dean of graduate studies at UNL, has accepted a position as director of the agriculture experiment station, and dean of a new school of agriculture and land resources management at the University of Alaska at Fairbanks.

Drew's appointment becomes effective Jan. 1. Massengale is to begin at UNL in March, subject to Board of Regents endorsement at the December meeting.

A task force has been organized to prepare Nebraska's bid to become the location of the solar energy research institute to be established by the Energy Research and Development Administration.

Dr. Donald Edwards, associate dean of the UNL College of Engineering and Technology, will be chairman of the task force.

Other members will include representatives from other areas of the university system, state government, private business and utility agencies.

LI Gov. Gerald Heelan and NU President D. Varnor are to be advisors.

The institute is to have a beginning budget of about $15 million and, by 1980, should be spending about $50 million annually.

Heelan said, "We're in the big leagues. Universities and areas with far more experience and expertise in the narrow field of solar energy are mounting massive campaigns to land the institute."

The lieutenant governor said he hoped "every citizen who may have some hair-brained scheme about solar or wind energy or who may have done some research on windmills, air conditioning, collection of the rays of the sun or anything of this nature will contact Dr. Edwards as soon as possible."

Heelan said a unified presentation would help Nebraska's chances of scoring a success.

Is national debt bigger than it looks?

If you think the federal debt is too big now, wait till you hear what it really is.

The federal government — like our local and state governments — uses a relatively unsophisticated cash accounting system in its reports to the people. That is, income is recorded when it is received and spending is recorded when money is actually paid out. At the end of the fiscal (budget) year, total income for the year is compared with spending for the year. The balance is called a "deficit" or a "surplus."

What's wrong with that system? It doesn't count debts that are incurred now for payment at some time in the future, beyond the current fiscal year. In other words, it doesn't give a very realistic picture of true indebtedness.

Look at it this way: Suppose you have an income of $10,000 a year and annual expenses of $9,000. On a simple cash accounting basis, you would appear to have surplus of $1,000 at the end of each year. But suppose Junior will be ready for college in five years, and you expect his education to cost you $5,000. Prudence would suggest setting aside $1,000 or so each year to accumulate the money needed for that future expense. So your apparent "surplus" of $1,000 a year is deceptive.

In a similar manner, the federal government commits itself to many programs that cost little or nothing initially but can be expected to cost many billions of dollars in the future. Yet, that annual federal budget does not reflect these long-term debts. In effect, nothing is "set aside."

There is an accounting system that looks at the whole picture. It's called "accrual" accounting, and it is used by virtually every big business. Accounting on a consolidated accrual basis requires that spending commitments be recorded as they are made, and revenues as they are earned, regardless of when the cash is actually paid out. The annual balance sheet compares overall assets, including those revenues, and overall liabilities, including those spending commitments.

What would the federal finances look like if examined by this more sophisticated method of accounting? That's what one of the big private accounting firms, Arthur Andersen & Co., wondered recently. So, using data from government publications, they prepared some consolidated financial statements on the United States Government.

The results are enlightening, if not frightening. For example:

According to the official federal accounting methods, the total federal debt by the end of fiscal 1974 was $66.2 billion. But applying the standards used by Arthur Andersen, it would have been calculated as $81.1 billion.

Worse yet, the "official" deficit for fiscal 1974 alone was $3.5 billion, whereas Andersen puts the "real" deficit for that year at $9.5 billion — nearly 30 times the official figure!

In making no suggestions of calculation except for anyone in government. Each set of figures is truthful in its own way. And the government is just using the accounting methods it has always used. Further, Arthur Andersen makes it quite clear that what it has done is subject to many qualifications and leaves much room for legitimate dispute. And finally, government does not exist to earn a profit, as does a private corporation.

But all that said, the question raised by Arthur Andersen remains both valid and important: Do present federal accounting and budgeting procedures give the American people enough information about the financial programs facing the country? Obviously, the answer is no.

Someday, we'll have to account for our ignorance. — Richard Leshar, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Your Mercury dealer announces an average 29% mileage improvement for 1976 cars over 1975's!

This is a weighted average based on a comparison of selected 1975 and 1976 sales of all models of Mercury cars and our computation of EPA test results for combined city/highway testing mix. White most of our cars improved for 1976 on the EPA City / Highway basis, some 1976 mileage improvements were not as dramatic as this average since their big improvements were made in 1975 models—like our MPG cars introduced in June. Note: California cars have different results.

Mercury Grand Marquis, 17 mpg highway, 13 mpg city with 400 2-V V-8 engine. The ultimate degree of Mercury luxury and elegance. From the car that made the blind-fold ride tests famous.

Mercury Cougar XR-7, 19 mpg highway, 13 mpg city with 351 2-V V-8 engine. And now you can get a Silver Cat, a gleaming new Cougar at a new price.

Mercury Monarch Ghia, 24 mpg highway, 18 mpg city with 250 6-cylinder engine, manual transmission. Last year, based on eight tests of handling and driving comfort on American roads, 41 out of 30 owners of American cars judged a 1975 Monarch Ghia superior all-around to a new Mercedes 280.

Mercury Comet, 23 mpg highway, 18 mpg city with 250 6-cylinder engine, manual transmission. Our tough, durable compact. In this dashy new optional Sports Accent Group and Sports Vinyl Roof, Comet's still low priced.

Mercury Bobcat Villager MPG, 34 mpg highway, 24 mpg city with manual transmission. The room of a wagon, the same mileage estimate as our 3-door. Either way, when you get in a Bobcat, it's love at first drive.

Mercury Bobcat MPG, 34 mpg highway, 24 mpg city with manual transmission. Now you can get mileage that compares with the small imports in a solid little Mercury that gives you hundreds of pounds more car.

All fuel economy numbers are estimates based on EPA tests. Because of many engine and transmission combinations and optional equipment, the car you choose may perform differently. Furthermore, the gas mileage you actually get depends on you. Your type of driving. Your driving habits. Road and weather conditions. And how your car is maintained.

All cars shown with optional WSW tires and Bumper Protection Group.

Record Grain Trade Flow Is Expected

World grain production (wheat, coarse grains, and milled rice) is expected to total about 1,173 million metric tons in 1975-76, about two per cent above last year, said assistant Agriculture Secretary Richard Ball at the 1976 National Agricultural Outlook Conference in Washington, D.C.

Grain production in the developing countries—thanks to rice, wheat, rice, and coarse grains—is expected to be a full five per cent higher than in any previous year. This would reverse a four-year deterioration in per capita grain output in those countries and result in a level of per capita output about equal to that in 1973-74, but fall below the levels achieved during the three years of extended good weather from 1969-70 to 1971-72. Population in the developing countries in the intervening years since 1970-71 has grown over 13 per cent, accounting for the lack of any growth and even deterioration in per capita production levels in some countries. These countries still need to import substantial amounts of food this year, and have had little opportunity to stockpile against possible future shortfalls.

The major grain production shortfalls this year are in the Soviet Union (down 36 million tons from last year), Eastern Europe (down 1 million), and Western Europe (down 10 million tons) and are concentrated in wheat and coarse grains.

If these areas are excluded, grain output in the rest of the world is up about 75 million tons in 1975-76. Total grain production in 1975-76 is expected to be over 250 million tons, compared with 285 million tons last year, permitting some expanded domestic use, larger exports to meet most of the above shortfalls, and increased stockpiling. Increased output by the other major grain exporting countries is forecast to offset some 11 million additional tons of the shortfalls.

World wheat production is forecast at about 349 million tons, unchanged from last year's level. World coarse grain production is expected to be up about four million tons to 1,292 million tons. Outside the Soviet Union and Eastern and Western Europe where the poor crops were concentrated, wheat and coarse grain output rebounded sharply from last year, with coarse grains hitting a new record.

World rice production (milled) is expected to reach a new high of 232 million tons, four per cent above last year. With much of the 1975 season world grain crop already harvested, the consumption and feed usage situation becomes the chief areas of remaining uncertainty for the 1975-76 world grain balance. Currently, utilization estimates for grain still show a moderate increase for 1975-76 over 1974-75.

World trade flows in grain are expected to reach a record level of nearly 140 million tons in the current July-June season and this excludes trade between members of the European community which will probably be another 14 million tons. The 140 million level compares with 125 million last year and a previous record of 130 million in 1973-74.

World grain stocks are expected to decline only marginally from the 103 million ton level at the beginning of 1975-76. Forecast grain stock increases in the United States are more likely to be offset by decreases elsewhere.

This means that in 1974-77 we will again be acutely conscious of weather and crop developments around the world.

World production of oilseeds is expected to decline by about three per cent in 1975 from record 1974 output. Most of the decline is expected to occur in the United States where reduced pork and poultry production will not be fully offset by larger beef and veal output.

Production of beef and veal in the major exporting areas, namely, Oceania, Central and South America is expected to exceed record 1973 levels this year despite restricted traditional import markets.

World milk production is expected to reach about the same level this year as in 1974. Consumption will probably run a little below last year in most of the world except the United States.

First estimates of 1974-76 world sugar production indicate a crop of about 83 million metric tons, approximately five per cent higher than last year's crop. The reason for the increase is expanded beet acreage in the United States and Europe.

World cotton production is expected to fall eight per cent in 1975-76 to about 58 million bales. Reduced U.S. production account for nearly half the decline, with other non-Communist northern hemisphere cotton and textile exporting countries responsible for most of the remainder.

Current production and near-record Aug. 1 world carryover stocks of about 30 million bales will be more than adequate to meet an estimated nearly 3 million-bale increase in world cotton consumption to about 61 million.

Looking beyond the current crop year to 1975-76, an improved world fertilizer situation gives hope for a resumption of solid growth in agricultural production around the world.

Feeding the world is a big job; there is no time for rest with population increasing so rapidly. It will take more than fertilizer alone to provide ample food supplies around the world. Governments and individuals must continue to work hard to provide farmers with the means and incentives for carrying out their jobs. This is just as true in the poorest countries of Asia as in the United States.

Number of Fed Cattle Up, Means More Quality Beef

For consumers, the frustrations of beef shortages and leapfrogging prices may be coming to an end. The number of cattle in feedlots and placement of cattle in feedlots are both up, said John Huston, vice president for beef programs, National Life Stock and Meat Board. "For homemakers this means increasing quantities of fed beef in the future and generally stabilizing prices."

USDA cattle on feed reports also support Huston's optimistic outlook. This month cattle on feed in the seven leading states numbered 7.4 million head, 12 per cent ahead of 1974. However, this level is still 21 per cent below that in November, 1972, a record year.

These resurgences are tied to grain availability and prices. Cattle feeders were forced by economics to cut back on placements when grain shortages, accentuated by skyrocketing operating costs, occurred in 1973 and 1974. This resulted in beef supplies and retail meat prices that rose and dipped unpredictably.

Current USDA figures indicate fed grain crops will total 24 per cent more than last year. (Corn, sorghum, oats and barley are the major feed grains grown in the U.S. Wheat and rice, the major food grains, are rarely, if ever, used for animal feed.) Production of soybeans, another food source, is also up 23 per cent over a year ago.

During the past two years, cattle feeders have cut back feeding periods for more efficient utilization of feed. There are indications this practice will continue with cattle staying in feedlots for 100 to 150 days (previously this period was from 150 to 180 days). This will maintain an extremely high level of feed efficiency, although it may result in somewhat lower weights for marketed animals.

Feed use is expected to rise 14 per cent over last year in response to the increased grain availability. This is mainly due to increasing placements, but will still be 11 per cent below the average for the preceding three years.

"As more cattle go on feed consumers will discover a continuing, steady supply of fed beef," said Huston. "One of the major advantages to grain feeding has always been the elimination of seasonal shortages in beef supplies. The combination of stable quantities and stable prices will improve the picture for America's beef eaters."

Modern Misses
The Modern Misses 4-H Club met Nov. 11 in the home of Lisa and Julie Potts with 14 members and their mothers present.

Members discussed club goals and projects for the coming year. The group decided not to have a Christmas party but to have a bowling party instead. Lisa and Julie did a team demonstration on how to set a table, with members and mothers looking it over afterwards.

News officers were chosen with Francis Prather, president; Lisa Potts, vice president; Jodi Fieber, secretary; and Judy Bauermeister, news reporter. The club has one new member, Shelly Janke of rural Wayne. Lunch was served by Lisa and Julie Potts.

Next meeting will be held Jan. 13 in the home of Karen Reeg. News reporter, Judy Bauermeister.

Pointsettias are especially sensitive to heat and light and will not tolerate a draft. Most do badly with either too little or too much water.

As soon as you get your poinsettia home remove foil or any other wrapping around the pot and place in or near a sunny window. During the day, try to keep the plant in a room where the temperature stays between 65 and 70 degrees Fahrenheit. The plant needs a cooler spot at night, but temperatures below 60 degrees will cause harm.

PROBLEM SIGNS
If your plant starts to drop leaves, check to see if it's in a draft.

The problem could also be lack of water. Touch the soil every day. If it feels dry, pour on enough water to saturate the potting soil. Pour on just enough so that it drips out the drainage hole. Let soil become quite dry before rewatering. Never let your plant stand in water; be sure to empty out any water in the saucer or flower pot.

Luxuriant green foliage plants can add an atmosphere of brightness to your home. Philodendrons, pothos, and rubber plants are some of the more popular house plants. They will grow well in a well lighted area of your home.

These plants will grow well in a mixture of equal parts of soil, peat moss, and perlite. Such a mixture is less sensitive to over or under watering.

Bucks Prize Jumps to $100

Some lucky shopper tonight (Thursday) will have a chance to win either $100 or $500 during the weekly Birthday Bucks drawing.

As a special Christmas bonus, the $25 consolation prize has been increased to $100 for the next three drawings, giving shoppers in Wayne a chance to collect extra spending coupons for the holidays.

To win the $500 grand prize, a shopper must match his birthday with the one drawn at random and announced in one of the participating Wayne businesses. If no one matches the winning date, then the person whose birthday is closest to the exact date will win the consolation prize.

Last week a Wayne man, Paul Rogge, was the latest winner in the weekly drawing.

Rogge, who was shopping in Surber's Clothing last Thursday

'Building Trend Swings Towards Smaller Houses'

The trend in home building today seems to be for contractors to build smaller one-family dwellings, according to Monday's guest speaker at Kiwanis.

Bob Carhart, president of Carhart Lumber Co. in Wayne, said that the increase in smaller homes mainly is due to rising costs in the home building industry.

The cost to build a single family unit in 1968 was about $28,000. In 1972 that figure rose to $38,000. Now a single family unit costs about $42,000 according to figures prepared by various insurance companies.

Carhart pointed out that with the increase in building new houses, there is an upswing in the number of homeowners who buy, trade or sell their homes. Statistics show that homeowners today buy about three homes during their lifetime, he said.

The way houses are built also is changing trends: Houses built in the late 1960's and early 70's are more streamlined. "They're not as elaborate as they used to be because people want to keep
