Clinic To Answer Irrigation Questions

Wayne area farmers interested in irrigation will have an opportunity to learn something about the subject at a clinic Friday at the Wayne city auditorium.

lunch break, talking about alternatives for financing irrigation equipment.

Farm operators Verne Climer and Vernon Hokamp will discuss their experiences with irrigation, beginning at 1:15 p.m., followed by Extension district agronomist George Rehm at 2:30 p.m., talking about irrigation and soil fertility.

Registration for the clinic, sponsored by the First National Bank of Wayne, will begin at 9 a.m. Bank agricultural representative Dale Stoltenberg will welcome participants at 9:30 a.m., followed immediately by an address on irrigation potential in northeast Nebraska. The address will be given by Vincent Dreeszen, director of conservation and survey division, University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Ground water control legislation will be discussed by Steve Olfmans, manager of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District, and Deon Axthelm, UNL Extension water resources specialist.

Extension economist Phil Henderson will finish the morning sessions explaining the economics of irrigation.

Omaha National Bank second vice president Robert Hatch will speak at 12:45 p.m., following a

Waldbaum Company Plans Open House

To Mark 25th Year

The Milton G. Waldbaum Co. of Wakefield will observe its 25th year in business Friday with an open house.

Dr. Milton G. Waldbaum opened the egg processing plant in the fall of 1950 with 20 employees. Over 300 persons are now on the payroll, working three shifts and processing 1.8 million eggs daily into dried, frozen and shell products.

Tours of the Waldbaum plant will be conducted Friday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served and door prizes given.

$500 Give-Away Set for Tonight

Some lucky Wayne shopper will receive $500 in Christmas Bucks tonight (Monday) from the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

Christmas Bucks tickets are available for the asking at participating businesses. The Chamber is planning to pick 50 numbers for the drawing this morning and will post a list in stores at 1 p.m.

Shoppers who find they hold tickets with numbers on the list should present the ticket at the Chamber of Commerce office at 108 West Third St. at 8 p.m., secretary Howard Will said. The person presenting the ticket highest on the list will receive the Christmas Bucks prize. The coupons can be spent like cash at participating businesses.

Another $500 Christmas Bucks drawing is scheduled for Dec. 23. Christmas Bucks prizes of $100 will be given away Dec. 16, 17, 19 and 20.

The Chamber is also offering a special treat for kids today. Santa's mobile sleigh will begin giving rides at 2:30 p.m. and will continue until 8:30. Boarding area for the sleigh will be at Second and Main Streets.

A Touch of Christmas

THANKS to the cooperation of the Wayne County Public Power district, City of Wayne light department, Chamber of Commerce, members of the Alpha Beta Sigma fraternity and the weather, Christmas lights and decorations were put up in one day along Main Street in Wayne. Helping to put up one of the light pole decorations is Ken Otte of Alpha Beta Sigma.

Sixth Graders Depict Nation's History In Song, Verse and Film Strip Program

Condensing American history into a four-verse poem sounds like quite an assignment but a group of sixth grade students at the Wayne Middle School have parlayed equal to the fifth grade. Teacher Cindy Swartz' language arts students didn't stop with just a poem, however. Musically talented students wrote song for the verse and those with an artistic bent drew illustrations.

The patriotic poem set to music was recorded on a cassette and the illustrations were converted by photography into slides, and later, a film strip. The result is a 15-minute musical and film presentation titled "Our Fought-Far Dream," a monument to the nation's heritage and the student's creativity.

Mrs. Swartz said the project began in March while the students were in the fifth grade. The class was trying to decide on a good Bicentennial project and hit upon the idea of a film strip program. The 12-member class was divided into three groups and the work began.

Students in the first group had displayed an interest and ability to write, and were responsible for the historic poem.

"Columbus began the creation of our great and wonderful nation" the poem begins. From there it traces various events in American history including the coming of the Pilgrims, the Revolutionary War, the freeing of slaves and the War Between the States, westward expansion, various inventions including farm equipment and automobiles, both World Wars, the Great Depression, Roosevelt's New Deal, television and the landing on the moon.

Four musically talented students comprised the second group. With the help of band director Keith Kopperud they all but one of the 12 students in the class plays in the middle school band and each young musician arranged music for their own particular instrument.

"We were very fortunate," Mrs. Swartz said, "because the remaining student, Mandy Peterson, sings beautifully and she sang for the recording, accompanied by the rest of the class."

The third group was responsible for drawing pictures to illustrate the poem's text. After the drawings were completed, the visual aid group then learned to convert their drawings into 35 mm. slides, with the assistance of Middle School media specialist Mrs. Laura Fredrickson. When slides were completed, a film strip was also made.

Mrs. Swartz said she is very pleased with the results of her student's efforts. A considerable amount of effort went into the project, she said, and the students learned to combine several aspects of communications into one comprehensive, concise message.

No public presentation has been scheduled yet, but Mrs. Swartz said she is considering using the production as part of a Bicentennial Christmas program.

City and Hospital Officials Planning Ambulance Talks

Nothing is final but it appears that the Wayne city council and Providence Medical Center officials may be able to resolve differences concerning operation of ambulance service.

Following a meeting of hospital officials Friday, Mother Imelda Koch, head of the Beneficence Sisters who operate the hospital, issued the following statement: "I have requested of the city administrator's office permission for a delegation from Providence Medical Center to be present at the next city council meeting. This delegation consists of heads of the hospital governing board, medical staff, the hospital administration, and the persons who operate the ambulance. It is hoped of members of the delegation to respond to the action of the city council regarding ambulance service in the city."

The city council is scheduled to meet Tuesday night. At the last city council meeting, the council reversed a decision made at an earlier meeting and agreed to provide a backup driver for a secondary ambulance.

The hospital now operates a Pontiac ambulance and the city provides secondary coverage with a driver and station wagon. The council Tuesday night will consider letting a bid for a Cadillac ambulance which, if all goes according to original plans, will also be operated by the hospital.

Differences between the hospital and city arose when the hospital administration requested that the city provide a driver to provide backup coverage when the hospital driver is engaged with the Cadillac ambulance.

The council's first vote, Nov. 10, was split on the matter and mayor Freeman Decker broke the deadlock, voting against providing the second driver.

The hospital administration then announced Nov. 12 that they would curtail service Dec. 31, giving the Pontiac ambulance back to the city.

A motion to provide the secondary driver was again made at the council's Nov. 25 meeting and passed unanimously.

Bornhoff Is Bowing Out Of Ambulance Fund Suit

Budd Bornhoff, attorney for both the City and County of Wayne announced Thursday that he would withdraw completely from a civil action in which the city contends it is due $7,000 from the county under terms of an agreement regarding support of ambulance service.

Bornhoff had indicated he would represent the county in the suit but said Thursday he would represent neither party in the action.

The attorney said he had sought the opinion of the advisory commission of the Nebraska Bar Association which replied that it would be proper for Bornhoff to withdraw completely.

The city has retained Duane Schroeder as their attorney in the case. The county commissioners must now retain an attorney to represent the county. The commissioners were in Omaha, Friday, attending the annual convention of the Nebraska County Officials Association and were not available for comment. Their next regular meeting is scheduled for Dec. 16.

The city contends the county is committed to pay $7,000 toward the purchase of a new ambulance. According to the city, the county had agreed to allocate $1,000 annually to be placed in a sinking fund. The money would be used to help pay for a new ambulance when the city deemed it necessary to purchase one.

When the agreement was made, the ambulance service was operated by the city-owned Wayne Hospital.

The ambulance service has been operated by Providence Medical Center since the new hospital opened in September.

The city council opened bids for a new ambulance at their regular meeting Nov. 25 but deferred action until the meeting scheduled for Tuesday night.

The city, when first deciding to advertise for bids for a new ambulance, had contacted county officials regarding the sinking fund. Bornhoff advised the county commissioners that See BORNHOFF, page 8

Santa Claus Is Comin'

Parents in Wayne who would like to have Santa Claus visit their children will have an opportunity to do so when the Wayne County Jaycees begin their Santa Claus visitation program the week of Dec. 18.

By calling 375-1739 to arrange a time, parents can have Santa deliver their children's presents, according to Dale Preston, in charge of this year's program.

Cost is $2.50 for 15 minutes. Proceeds will go to support future JC projects.

City Taxi Still in Offing

If no further delays are encountered, Wayne residents should be able to take advantage of taxi service within six weeks, city administrator Fred Brink said Thursday.

Brink said he expects to know within the next two weeks if the Nebraska Public Service Commission will grant the city a license to operate a taxi.

The decision to initiate a pilot taxi project was made in the late summer, but was held up by licensing requirements. When first approved by the council, the taxi was scheduled to begin operating Sept. 1. It was delayed when city officials were informed by a PSC attorney that a license application would have to be submitted to the commission even though the service would be provided by a governmental subdivision.

The council then directed Brink to submit an application for license, which was made in early November. The PSC must publish legal notice of such application for 30 days prior to granting a license. Brink said the publication period should be ending soon and he expects to receive approval for license within two weeks. The city should then be able to begin the service within one month.

The taxi will run from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Hours on Thursdays will be from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Fare will be 50 cents per person with travel restricted to within the city limits, except for service to the city airport.

Council Agenda Includes Bids, NPPD Contract

A meeting between city and Providence Medical Center officials is expected to occupy a considerable portion of Tuesday's Wayne city council meeting.

Council members will review bids for a new ambulance, as well as bids for a police cruiser and aerial ladder truck for the fire department.

An ordinance to vacate an alley on West Third St. will be considered for final reading. Discussion of a proposed contract between the city and the Nebraska Public Power District, and setting of hearing dates for the city's one- and six-year street plans are other items of major importance.

City To Request $291,000 for Storm Sewer

The City of Wayne will request $291,000 in federal community development funding, city administrator Fred Brink said Thursday.

If approved most of the grant will be used to construct a storm sewer connecting the end of the city's present system with Logan Creek.

The storm sewer system now ends at the south edge of the city, near railroad tracks at Window St. The city council had previously authorized Brink to prepare the grant application.

Major reasons for wanting to construct the half-mile storm sewer are safety and health problems presented by the open ditch which now carries the city's run-off water.

The open ditch is a serious safety problem when water is running, Brink said, and standing, stagnant pools of water create a health hazard.

Maintaining the open ditch is also expensive, Brink estimates the city spends about $1,000 annually, dredging the ditch to keep it open, and spraying pools to control mosquitoes.

The community development funding project is offered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). A total of $2.7 billion has been allocated by HUD for community development in the coming year. The program is designed to help communities meet safety and health needs and upgrade low income areas.

Grants under the program are made outright with no state or local matching funds required. Brink said that if the grant is received, any money left over after construction, the storm sewer will be used for street paving in the Roosevelt Park area.

The city must hold two public hearings on the grant request before application can be made. The city administrator said mayor Freeman Decker is expected to schedule the hearings soon. Deadline for submitting the application is Jan. 15. The request will initially go to the State Office of Programming and Planning which acts as a clearing house for applications. After the office determines that the project doesn't interfere with other projects in the area, it will be forwarded to the Omaha See EPA GRANT, page 8

New Civil Defense Sirens Expected To Arrive Soon

Residents of some parts of Wayne can probably be a little more certain they will receive advanced notice of the approach of a tornado or other impending disaster after three new warning civil defense sirens are installed.

City administrator Fred Brink is expecting the sirens to arrive by the end of this week.

The three new units will augment two sirens already in use. Brink said the new sirens will have separate circuitry so they won't sound at noon when the present sirens are blown.

Sirens now in use are located behind the fire hall and at the old water tower near Eighth and Main Streets. Brink said that strong winds from the south-west, often the "direction of approach for tornadoes, sometimes prevent persons in the western part of town from hearing the present sirens, so the city decided additional units were needed.

The new sirens will be installed at the new water tower near Fair Acres and Sunset Drive; in the Roosevelt Park addition, and near the county fairgrounds.

Total cost is $6,520. The Nebraska Civil Defense Agency paid half the cost.

Christmas Calendar

THE WAYNE CHAMBER of Commerce officially opens its Christmas season today (Monday). Scheduled activities include kiddie rides in Santa's mobile sleigh, and the giving away of $500 in Christmas Bucks. A second $500 prize will be given Dec. 23 and $100 prizes will be given Dec. 16, 17, 19 and 22. Birthday Bucks consolation prizes on Thursday, Dec. 11, and Dec. 18, will be $100. Stores will be open until 9 p.m. on all above dates, and on Dec. 26. For added shopper convenience, most stores will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays, Dec. 14 and 21. Closing at 4:30 p.m. is scheduled for Christmas Eve.

ORDINANCES OF A GENERAL AND PERMANENT NATURE OF THE VILLAGE OF WINSIDE, NEBRASKA

ORDINANCE NO. 228
An ordinance of the Village of Winside, Nebraska, codifying the general ordinances of the Municipality, repealing prior ordinances in conflict herewith.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CHAIRMAN AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF WINSIDE, NEBRASKA:

Section 1. Codification. The general ordinances of the Municipality of Winside, Nebraska, are hereby codified, and the chapters, articles, sections and subsections hereunder, which are adapted and declared to be ordinances of this Municipality.

Section 2. Repeal of Prior Ordinances in Conflict. All ordinances and parts of ordinances of a general or permanent nature passed and approved prior to the passage and approval of this codification ordinance and in conflict with this ordinance or with any of the provisions of this ordinance, are hereby repealed. Provided, that in construing the provisions of this ordinance the following ordinance shall be considered of held to be ordinances of a general or permanent nature:

- 1. Ordinances vacating streets and alleys
- 2. Ordinances authorizing or directing public improvements to be made
- 3. Ordinances levying taxes or special assessments
- 4. Ordinances granting any right, privilege, franchise, or license to persons, firms or corporations
- 5. Ordinances providing for the issuance of bonds or other instruments of indebtedness
- 6. Ordinances establishing grades
- 7. Real Estate Transactions
- 8. Any other ordinance which by nature would be considered special

Section 3. Exceptions. The repeal of ordinances as provided in Section 2, Ordinance No. 228 shall not affect any rights acquired, fines, penalties, forfeitures, or liabilities incurred hereunder, or actions involving any of the provisions of such ordinances and parts thereof. Such ordinances above repealed are hereby continued in force and effect after the passage, approval and publication of this general codification ordinance for the purpose of all rights, fines, penalties, forfeitures, liabilities, and actions therefor.

Section 4. Defining Chapters, Articles, and Sections. The chapters, articles, and sections as set forth herein shall be and hereby are declared to be the chapters, articles, and sections of this general codification ordinance. All ordinance hereafter passed by the local Governing Body of the Municipality shall be numbered consecutively, beginning with No. 229.

Section 5. Severability. If any section, subsection, paragraph, sentence, clause, phrase, term, or provision of this ordinance should be declared invalid by any court of competent jurisdiction for any reason whatsoever, such decision shall not affect the remaining portions of this code, which will remain in full force and effect, and the provisions of this ordinance are hereby declared to be severable.

Section 6. Blanket Penalty. Any person, his agents, or servants who shall violate any of the provisions of this Municipal Code unless otherwise specifically provided herein, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred ($100.00) dollars. Whoever aids, abets, procures, encourages, requests, advises, or incites another to commit any act which is an offense under this Code or under any other ordinance of the Municipality may be prosecuted and punished as though he were the principal offender.

Section 7. Gender Definitions. The word Whenever used in this code, the word person shall include natural persons, artificial persons, such as corporations, partnerships, ships, associations, and all aggregate organizations of whatever character.

Section 8. Gender and Number. All words used herein implying the masculine gender may apply to, and include the feminine or neuter gender and all words importing the plural may be applied to, and mean a single person, firm, or thing. All words importing the singular number may be applied to and mean the plural number.

Every government official who handles public money, should publish a regular interval an accounting of it showing where and how as detailed as possible. We hold this to be a fundamental principle to democratic government.

is grouped and each article appearing in the said chapters shall be considered as a group of legislative units germane to the chapter where in it is placed. Any chapter, article, or section duly enacted by the Governing Body of the Municipality and included in this Code, and any other independent ordinance, chapter, article, section, or subsection of an ordinance duly enacted shall be altered, amended, or revised only by the complete nullification and repeal of such ordinance, chapter, article, section, or subsection and the substitution of a new ordinance, chapter, article, section, or subsection, containing the entire ordinance, chapter, article, section, or subsection as amended, altered, or revised.

Section 10. Publication and Distribution. This code was printed in book form under the direction of the Governing Body, and shall be distributed as they may see fit (RET 12 613, 12 614 RS 402)

Section 11. When Operative. This ordinance shall be in full force and shall take effect from and after its passage, approval and publication according to law.

Jean Mann-Edwin Bowden Wed in November 29 Rites

First United Methodist Church of Norfolk was the scene of the wedding Nov. 29 uniting in marriage Jean Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mann of Hoskins, to Edwin Bowden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowden of Valentine.

Guests, registered by Pat Luff of Winslow, were ushered into the church by Chuck Mann of Hoskins, Steve Bartak of Merna and David Witt and Steve Earl, both of Omaha. Scott Mann of Hoskins lighted candles and the Rev. Glenn Kennicott of Norfolk officiated at the double ring rites.

Pat Meierhenry of Hoskins sang "Sunrise, Sunset," "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Steve Reinke of Lincoln.

Maid of honor was Patty Mann of Hoskins and bridesmaid was Angela Williams of LaVista. Don Zaroban was best man and William Puth was groomsmen. Both are of Lincoln.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of white polyester jersey fashioned with a high regency collar of delicate schiffli lace, sheer yoke bodice outlined with crystal beading and seed pearls, and A-line skirt which swept into a chapel-length train. She wore a fingertip veil of nylon illusion edged in schiffli lace which was attached to a lace cap, and carried a cascade bouquet of dried cordone puffs, starflowers, starflowers and eucalyptus in shades of orange, rust and gold.

The bride's attendants wore identically styled floor-length dresses in deep orange jersey knit. Soft garters flowed from the high necklines and were brought together in an inverted V at the lower bodice. They carried crescent bouquets of dried orange cordone puffs and gold straw flowers.

The men wore dark brown tuxedos with apricot ruffled shirts.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Mann chose a light green knit dress in floor-length. Mrs. Bowden selected an apricot knit, also in formal length.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Pankoke of Lincoln and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wittler of Hoskins greeted the 175 guests at the reception which followed in the church parlors. Gift carriers were Scott Mann and Curt and Brad Pankoke.

Mrs. Jerry Allen of Lincoln and Mrs. Richard Bowden of Normal, Ill., cut and served the bride's cake, and Donita Bowden of Valentine served the groom's cake. Mrs. Duane Graves of Pierce poured and Linda Kaspar of Lincoln and Linda Nelson of Omaha served punch.

Waitresses were Sue Meierhenry and Kari, Kita and Karen Wittler, all of Hoskins, Cindy and Tracy Graves of Pierce and Darci Janke of Winslow.

The couple are now at home at 5735 Hartley in Lincoln. The bride, a 1972 graduate of Winside High School, attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln for two years and is employed at the South Corner Clinic in Lincoln. The bridegroom, a 1969 graduate of Valentine High School, also attended the University of Nebraska where he is now employed.

Legion Auxiliary Has Candlelight Service

A Christmas candlelight service, under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Johnson and Mrs. Dorothy Parentl, was conducted at the Monday evening meeting of the Wayne American Legion Auxiliary. Assisting during the service were Mrs. Lora Dion, Renee Dion, Mrs. Mary Kruger and Mrs. Marie Brugger. A Christmas gift exchange was held following the service.

Seventeen members and one guest attended the Monday meeting, conducted by Mrs. Brugger in the absence of president Julia Haas. The American report was given by Mrs. Brugger.

The unit voted to make 200 Valentine treat favors and purchase 200 napkins for the Veteran's Hospital in Omaha. The unit is planning to make bibs and booties for the Veteran's Hospital in Omaha and the

Pia-Mor Bridge Club Has Christmas Party

Pia Mor Bridge Club members held their Christmas party Tuesday evening at the Black Knight. Prizes were won by Mrs. Everett Roberts and Mrs. George Phelps.

Ladies Aid Has Election

New officers, elected at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of Immanuel Lutheran Ladies Aid, are Mrs. Lloyd Roeber, president; Mrs. Marlin Schuttler, vice president; Mrs. Dale Lossmann, secretary, and Mrs. Gary Nelson, treasurer.

Twenty-three members attended the meeting. Mrs. Duane Jacobsen and Mrs. Mary Echtenkamp were guests. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Laverne Wischhof and Mrs. Viola Roeber. The Rev. A. W. Gode had opening devotions and Mrs. Lloyd Roeber conducted the business meeting.

November and December birthdays were honored with song.

Hillside Club Meets Tuesday In Heikes Home

Hillside Club members met Tuesday with Minnie Heikes. Co-hostess was Mrs. Wayne Gilliland.

Each member told about a Christmas table decoration. Bridge was played and prizes were won by Emma Otte and Mrs. Alvin Temme.

January 6 meeting will be at 7 p.m. at Villa Wayne for a family party. Each member is asked to bring a guest. Hostesses will be Minnie Heikes and Mrs. Duane Grunke.

Mrs. Marvin Nelson reported on the LWML fall rally which was held at Marrinsburg.

Plans were made to hold a bake sale in January or February at the Montgomery Ward Catalog Agency in Wayne. In charge of planning the sale are Mrs. Harlan Ruwe and Mrs. Gary Nelson.

The group voted to donate $10 each to the Dakota Boys' Ranch, the Lutheran Old People's Home and to Bethesda Lutheran Home. A gift will be purchased by Mrs. Alvin Roeber for a resident of the Wayne Care Centre.

November and December birthdays were honored with song.

Next meeting will be Dec. 18 for a noon Christmas luncheon.

Fifteen Hear WSC Prof's Talk at Center

Fifteen Wayne Senior Citizens Center members were present Wednesday afternoon to hear Prof. Jim Evans of Wayne State College speak on the topic of minorities. Group discussion followed.

Professor Evans will be back at the center at 2:30 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 2. The public is invited to attend his talk, entitled "Social Control."

There were 22 at the center Tuesday, Nov. 25, for a soup supper. Mathilde Harms and Goldie Leonard made chicken noodle soup and Jocell Bull prepared oyster soup.

Hekrdle-Dvorak Engagement Announced

The engagement of Debbie Ann Hekrdle of Wayne to Terry Dvorak has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hekrdle of Leigh.

Miss Hekrdle is a graduate of Stanton High School. Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dvorak of Verdigre, graduated from Northeast Nebraska Technical College at Norfolk and is a manager of the Depot Restaurant in St. Louis. Both are former employees of the Wayne Care Centre.

A Dec. 20 wedding is being planned.

Boosters Meet at School

Wayne Carroll Music Boosters met Monday afternoon at the band room with Mrs. Vern Jacobmeier, president.

Plans were made to hold a chili supper on Tuesday evening, Dec. 16, prior to the Wayne-Laurel High School basketball game. Serving will be from 5:30 to 8 p.m. in the high school commons in the lower level of the building. Tickets will be available at the door.

Entertainment for Monday's meeting was provided by the Wayne High stage choir singing two medleys under the direction of Larry Stratman.

Mrs. Marilyn Koch, chairman of the magazine sales, reported a total of $6,053.01 collected. Susan Rethwisch was top salesman in the high school and Sandy Utecht and Debbie Penn aid for selling the most magazines for the middle school.

It was announced that the seventh and eighth grade choir, under the direction of Larry Stratman, and the middle school band, directed by Keith Kopperud, will present an evening Christmas concert at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 15, at the high school lecture hall. The high school chorus will present a concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 21, in the lecture hall. The public is invited to attend both presentations. There will be no admission charge.

The meeting concluded with lunch served by Mrs. Melvin Schroeder and committee. There will be no booster meeting in January. Next meeting will be Feb. 2.

Hupp's 2 Free Throws Sink Bears' Win Hopes

Norfolk Catholic's Mike Hupp cashed in both shots of a one-and-one free throw situation Friday night to spell the difference in the Knights' narrow 51-48 victory over Laurel.

Hupp, who finished the game with eight points in Norfolk's balanced scoring attack, converted both shots with eight seconds left. The Bears were within one point with 18 seconds left, but Brad Erwin's attempted 10-foot shot off the base line got on the scoring ring in the final period.

Friday night Laurel will play its toughest game of the year when the Bears host rugged Harrington Cedar Catholic.

In reserve play, the Bears were victorious, 58-45. Bob Dahlquist and Doug Thompson led scoring with 15 and 12 points respectively.

missed its target.

"Norfolk controlled the tempo of the game, hustled well and played a very physical ball game—the way the game should be played," said Laurel coach Joel Parks.

Laurel was able to control the board with 36 caroms to 27 for Norfolk. The Bears had three players with eight rebounds each—Jon Erwin, Scott Hueltig and Brad Erwin.

The difference, though, was field goal shooting. Norfolk drilled the hoop for 50 per cent while the Bears mustered only 36 per cent.

Leading Norfolk's scoring was Kevin Bomar with 14, Mike Mejschik with 13 and Jeff Hauer with 10. Senior Greg Pippitt shined in scoring for Laurel with 20 points as he hit nine fielders and made two of four gift shots. Right behind him was senior Jon Erwin with 12 points.

"We went to the inside, but we just couldn't get the ball up," Parks pointed out after his club lost its opening game of the season.

Parks failed to get any help from his bench as he tried to snuffle Laurel's sputtering offense and put it into scoring gear.

In the first period, the Bears had a 14-10 command, but visiting Norfolk reversed the lead for 3:29. Lead at the intermission. Still having trouble finding the hoop, Laurel scored only six points in the third period to trail 41-31 before the Bears started to

3 Gridders Earn Berths On NEN Club

Two players from Laurel and a player from Laurel Wednesday were named to The Norfolk Daily News top 20 football team for the 1975 high school grid season.

Paul Mallette and Mark Brandt of Wayne and Mark Martindale of Laurel were selected by sports editor Denny Fuehrer.

Mallette, who was hampered by injuries, helped to quarterback the Blue Devils to an 8-2 season. The senior completed 54 of 105 passes for 784 yards and seven touchdowns. Brandt, who was one of only three juniors on the top 20 team, rushed 161 times for 964 yards. He also had 23 receptions. On defense, Brandt finished the season with six pass thefts.

Martindale, a senior, led the Bears' defense with an average of 10 tackles per game as Laurel completed its best season in recent years with a 6-2-1 record.

Named to the honorable mention roster were Monte Lowe, Wayne; Bob Hoffman and Neil Wagner, Winside; Scott Mills and Scot Keagle, Wakefield; and Roger Kvols and Jon Erwin, Laurel.

STRETCHING to get over Blair's Mark Hazard (25), Wayne's Monte Lowe (42) goes up for a jump shot as the six-foot-three senior led the Devils in scoring Friday with 27 points. On the right, Wayne's husky Tim Koll (50) uses all six-foot-four of his frame to pull down a tough rebound away from Bears Duane Usher (23) and Hazard (25). In the background Wayne's Lowe (42) and Rob Mitchell watch the board action.

By DAN VODVARKA
Monte Lowe's 27-point effort for the Wayne Blue Devils was just not enough Friday night at the Wayne High auditorium.

Despite a sparkling scoring effort by the six-foot-three senior, the Blue Devils still dropped a 46-41 decision to invading Blair in the season's opener for both ball clubs.

The 0-1 Devils of coach Bill Sharpe will now host South Sioux City Friday.

With a shooting percentage from the field almost as low as the December temperatures outside, the Devils never could grab a lead of any size in the game and fell prey to free throws in the final minute of action.

A driving layup by Lowe with two minutes left in the game brought Wayne to within one point, of Blair, 42-41. Moments later Rob Mitchell stole the ball for the hosts but Dave Hix missed on a shot and Blair got the ball back with 1:20 left and went into a stall.

With :17 left in the contest, Lowe fouled Blair's Mark Hazard and the six-foot Bear calmly dropped in two insurance free throws. In the final seconds, Lowe missed on a jumper and a tip-in and Blair's Ken Clements sealed Wayne's fate with two more successful free shots with :02 left.

Only five players scored for Wayne and nobody got more than two buckets, except for Lowe. Mitchell, Hix and Tim Koll each had four tallies for the losers. Clements led the winners with a dozen points while Dean Jensen flipped in 11 points.

Post game statistics told the story for Wayne as the Devils committed 17 turnovers and hit only 19 of 63 shots from the floor for a cool 30 per cent average. "That (the turnovers) was the big difference in the game," Sharpe pointed out. The Wayne coach also said that Blair's switching defenses gave Wayne trouble all night.

"We had nobody out there who could call out what defense Blair was in and what pattern to run against it. Our inexperience really hurt us," Sharpe said as See LOWE, page 5

Quite an Increase

Participation in this year's two city recreation men's basketball leagues has jumped a whopping 63 per cent over last year, according to recreation director Hank Overin.

A total of 95 players are signed up for both leagues, a major increase over a total of about 60 who played in both the A and B leagues last year, Overin noted.

As a result of the increase, no more players are being accepted in both leagues. Perhaps next year, Overin said, there will be three leagues if the number of participants keeps increasing. If a C league would be formed, it would be strictly a slow breaking ball game, Overin said.

Figures for this year's recreation leagues show that 52 players are signed up for the B league and 43 are signed up for the A league.

Allen Jr High Has 16 Players

Allen junior high basketball coach Roger Miller has 16 players out for the 1975-76 season.

The Eagles, who will make their season debut Thursday at Ponca, are scheduled to play six games and to enter three tournaments.

Allen's schedule:
December—15 at Homer, January—8 at Newcastle, 15 Ponca, 17 at Newcastle, 19-20 at Newcastle, 21 Wakefield, February—9 and 12 at Ponca, 21 at Hartington Tournament.

JOHN REDMOND

Guessers' Pick
WAYNE STATE center, John Redmond, received the Second Guessers' Athlete of the Week award Thursday for his play during the Wildcats' first four ball games. Coach Jim Seward presented the award and said that the junior college transfer from Norfolk Technical Community College last year was the leading rebounder and scorer. Redmond, who two years ago was named as one of 15 players to the junior college All-American basketball team, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Redmond of Kanawake, Ill.

Wakefield Overcomes Winside's Sticky Defense

By BOB BARTLETT
Two things Wakefield basketball coach Joe Coble learned about his club Friday night are that his team can play defense and there are five players who can work the ball effectively.

Behind the offensive scoring bunch of seniors Alan Johnson and Mike Soderberg and the defensive efforts of Scot Keagle, Tim Rouse and Garry Roebber, the Trojans overcame a stubborn Winside quint, 55-47, for the Trojans' second win in two nights.

Johnson powered the rim for a total of 17 points—10 in the first half—while Soderberg ripped the nets for 14 as the Trojans struggled to get away from Winside's sticky defense. "Winside's defense is vastly improved," Coble said. "They proved us to use every kind of offense we've got and then some to beat them." Coble pointed out.

Winside coach Korlin Lutt had a different view of the outcome. "The game was just a matter of Wakefield outscoring us," Lutt said after his club lost its first ball game. The night before the Wildcats opened with a 57-44 win over usually tough Ponca.

The Trojans hit about 56 percent for the night while Wakefield held Winside to a 34 percent.

Johnson banged in six quick points after teammate Tim Rouse hit a pair of fielders in the opening frame to give Wakefield a 10-6 command. The tempo quickly changed hands late in the first period as Winside's defense shut off Wakefield's inside scoring forcing WAKEFIELD'S top scorer for the night, Alan Johnson, tries to drive around Winside's Kerry Lutt for a two-point play Friday night on the Trojans' home court.

Coble to rely on Johnson from the outside to produce the points.

Winside was able to whittle Wakefield's early lead through the efforts of senior Bob Hoffman who had game honors with 22 points. Hoffman brought the Cats to within striking range late in the second half when Wakefield has built a seven-point edge. Hoffman, who had 12 points the first half, knotted the game 23 all with 4:21 left in the half when he converted both free throws.

Keagle and Hoffman exchanged baskets for the second tie of the game, 27-27, before the Trojans took a 32-27 halftime command.

Winside cut the lead to 42-39 going into the final period where the Cats lost their big center, 6-2 senior Kevin Marotz, on fouls. The Trojans, behind Johnson's inside layups, pushed the margin to 50-43. Winside's Tyler Frevert and Bryan Denkiau added field goals to make the score 57-47 where the Trojans used their stall game with 1:14 left.

Against Ponca, Frevert had the hot hand as the senior had 30 points while Hoffman ended with seven. On defense, Hoffman was the leader with 27 points.

Both clubs were tied at 36-all at the end of three periods. Winside, however, used its zone defense to snuff out the visiting Ponca tribe as the Cats hit 18 points to eight for Ponca.

Kevin Harter was the top pointmaker for Ponca with 16 points. Jim Calvert and Brian Voss had eight each.

Winside's reserve team is winless in two starts. Ponca trimmed the junior Cats, 40-25, and Wakefield stopped Winside, 22-17.

Wakefield's JVs stand at 2-0 after a 44-32 win over Allen Thursday. Brad Jones and Val Johnson had nine points each for Wakefield while Gene Gross had eight against Allen. For Allen, Darwin Klover was the leader with 10 followed by Rich Stewart with nine.

Allen Trap Shoot Team To Be on Nebraska ETV

Fifteen members of Allen High School's trap shoot team and their coach will be featured in a film to be presented on educational television.

Friday morning the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission filmed the team at the high school where the members were unloading and assembling shotguns the school received for its program.

According to Ron Wecker, coach of this year's team, no date has been set when the film will be aired on the Nebraska ETV network. The film also is scheduled to be aired over Omaha television station, KMTB, Channel 7.

Allen is the first school in the state to take part in the lending program sponsored by the Commission and the National Guard Army in Wayne. Fire arms, Co. Allen received six shotguns. The guns are free of charge until the end of the program when they must be returned or students may buy them, Wecker said.

The school's team learned of the lending program this year through Noelyn Isom, who started Allen's trap shooting program last year.

Wecker has a total of 35 students out for the trap shoot team and 50 competing in small bore rifle club. The coach hopes to start fall practice sometime this week or next. The trap team will practice at the Logan Valley Gun Club at the Wayne County fairgrounds and the rifle team will practice at the National Guard Army in Wayne.

Improving Allen Stumbles Against Coleridge, 73-48

Allen jumped off to a 5-0 lead against Coleridge Friday night, but the visiting Eagles had trouble holding down the Bulldogs' top scorers, David Kullin and Rich Brandl, as the pair hit 19 points each en route to a 73-48 victory.

The loss was Allen's second in two nights after the Eagles fell to visiting Wakefield, 76-35. But the Eagles' play in their second contest was a big improvement from the night before, said coach Jim Koontz.

For the second night, junior guard Denny Uhl led Eagle scoring. Against Coleridge he had 10 points and against Wakefield he netted eight. Both performances have earned him a starting spot on the Allen quint, Koontz pointed out.

Allen's shooting percentage was one area the Eagles performed better. Allen finished with 41 percent compared to 23 percent against Wakefield in the first half.

Allen trailed 35-22 at the half, but the Eagles cut that margin to 42-35 midway through the third period before the hosts poured in 21 points the fourth period while holding Allen to nine.

Despite the lack of scoring in the fourth, Koontz said he was encouraged by his team's play and pleased overall with the way his players stayed in the game.

Allen had trouble Thursday night trying to stay in the contest against Wakefield. Behind senior Scot Keagle's 17 points and Mike Soderberg's 14 points, both in the first half, the Trojans jumped to a 39-18 halftime lead. Using mostly reserve strength in the second half, Wakefield coasted to a 76-35 victory. Alan Johnson was third high for the Trojans with 12 points. He was followed by Tim Rouse and Brooks Myers with nine points each and Brad Jones had eight.

For Allen, Charlie Ferguson and Bart Gotch had six points each to tie for second high scoring honors.

Allen's reserves, which are winless in two starts, fell to Coleridge, 58-24, and lost to Wakefield, 44-32.

Jr High Opens Season at HCC

Wayne's junior high basketball team opens its season today (Monday) at Hartington Cedar Catholic.

Coach Duane Blomkamp, who will be assisted by Wayne State students Rick Benedetto and Randy Slaybaugh, has 18 players out for the season.

Both the junior high and freshman teams will play on the same nights. The junior high contest will precede the freshman match.

Wayne's schedule:
December—15 Pierce, 18 at Randolph, January—5 at Wakefield, 22 at Schuyler, February—2 Norfolk.

Bancroft Is Step Closer to Joining L-C League

Members of the 12 school Lewis and Clark Conference Wednesday voted to admit Bancroft to the Lewis division, during a loop meeting at Hartington High School. Final decision to add Bancroft will be made at the Feb. 19th conference meeting.

If Bancroft is accepted, the Lewis division will expand to seven teams, according to Ray Lange of Newcastle, president of the Lewis division. Teams already making up the Lewis side are Allen, Winnebago, Homer, Ponca, Walhalla and Newcastle. Lange said if Bancroft joins, there is a possibility that another school may join the Clark division to balance both divisions. Lange noted that several schools from the Husker Conference have shown interest in joining the league.

Appointed to study a possible addition to the league was a four man committee made up of Lionel Frosch of Ponca, Abel Waldner of Homer, Don Fuetber of Osmond and Don Leigh of Winside. The committee also will study changing the method of selecting players to the annual all-conference football team.

During the meeting, the Lewis division accepted the proposal to select all conference players according to a point system. Presently, each team is allowed to have a certain number of players on the all-conference team. Based on final team standing, first place team places seven, second place team has five, third place has four and so forth.

The committee also will study reducing the number of players from 44 to 22 on the all loop football team and allowing division basketball teams to play each other once Division teams now must play each other twice.

Cats Clobber Dana, 86-69

Wayne State basketball Wild cats await a dangerous foe Tuesday night, Dakota Wesleyan, an generally strong and this time remembering a one point loss to Wayne last year.

Game time is 7:30 in Rice auditorium, and it will be the last home performance for Wayne before the WSC Christmas Holiday Tournament starting Dec. 29.

The Wildcats made their record 2-3 Thursday with a fairly easy 86-69 win over Dana College at Blair. Coach Jim Seward went to his reserves early after the starters jumped to a 10-point lead within minutes. By halftime Wayne owned a 37-28 lead.

Back to the starters after intermission, Wildcats shooting accuracy built the advantage to as much as 20 points despite ragged play and many turnovers, on both sides.

Twelve of the 14 Wildcats got into action, 10 of them scored, and several shot hot. Wayne Robinson hit eight of nine field attempts (88 per cent), and John Redmond hit 8 of 13, both totaling 17 to lead the Cats. Rex Pressler scored on six of eight—remarkable as most of them came from far out—and totaled 12. Rick Anderson contributed 11.

Seward, though pleased with the victory, saw need for sharpening defense and put the Cats through defensive drills in intermission practice.

After Tuesday's game, Wayne will prepare for the eight-team Lake Shore Classic in Chicago Dec. 18-20.

LOWE

The Devils didn't start a veteran starter against the Bears Friday.

"We really missed having Paul Mallette and Mike Sharer out there," he commented. Mallette, the only Devil starter back from last year, saw limited action because of football injuries and Sharer is sitting out some early games because of disciplinary reasons.

Blair finished the game by hitting on 36 percent of its shots from the floor and held a 35-33 edge over the Devils on the boards. Hix led Wayne in rebounding with 11 grabs.

Lowe finished the evening by hitting on 12 of 23 shots from the floor and three of six free throws.

The contest, played in front of a sparse crowd, opened with both ball clubs in full court presses and the play marred by sloppy play and a number of turnovers. Throughout the first half, the teams took turns holding the lead with Wayne gaining a 10-4 lead early but then going flat in the final minutes of the first quarter. Wayne missed a chance to blow the game open early and Blair ran off a 10-1 advantage in the final 3 1/2 minutes of the first quarter to take a 14-11 lead.

"Using a press and a fast break, Blair kept a slight edge during the second quarter and lead 26-25 at halftime. At half time Lowe had 14 points and Clements led the Bears with six tallies.

A hustling bunch of Wayne JVs took the night's opener 42-33. Wayne won the ball game by running off a 13-8 advantage in the fourth quarter. Mike Wieseler muscled his way to 17 points in the reserve clash for Wayne.

"Trade at Home"

You also hear considerable importunement by "area trade center" business people urging you to spend a tank or two of gas and a day or two of your time to go and trade with them.

Which of these pitches we respond to can make a lot of difference in our personal lives and prosperousness. A dollar we spend at home can circulate around among us and strengthen our community economy—and our personal stake in it—every time that dollar turns over around here.

'MASH' Star To Chair Easter Seal Campaign

Actor Wayne Rogers, whose portrayal of Trapper John on CBS-TV's "MASH" series de-lighted millions of television viewers, has been named National Chairman for the 1976 Easter Seal campaign.

He will spearhead the annual drive for funds to support some 2,000 facilities and programs operated by the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults. In addition to a personal appearance tour of major cities, visits to Easter Seal treatment centers and media interviews during the campaign period, Mar. 1 through Apr. 18, Rogers will host the 20-hour National Easter Seal telethon in Hollywood, Mar. 27-28. The show will be seen in Nebraska over KOLN-KGIN-TV, Lincoln and Grand Island.

Rogers had a major role in the highly successful 1975 Easter Seal telethon which was hosted by his close friend, Peter Falk, serving his second year as National Easter Seal Chairman.

Although Rogers considers himself an actor first and businessman second, he has achieved wide recognition as a financial expert whose participation in real estate and other business ventures is sought by investors ranging from a number of the nation's wealthiest financiers to such entertainment stars as James Caan, Falk and

EPA Grant—

HUD office for final determination. Brink said additional processing for the Environmental Protection Agency grant has recently been cleared by SOPP and has been forwarded to the EPA.

The grant application is part of a three-phase project to upgrade the city's sewage treatment plant so it will be able to meet EPA waste water discharge standards.

The first phase of the project, already completed, entailed a study of the sewage lagoon to determine what was causing effluent content in discharged water to be above EPA standards.

The second phase is the designing of a system to meet those standards. Brink said the EPA's goal is to attain either zero waste water discharge or for discharged water to virtually be clear drinking water.

The EPA has already agreed to fund the second phase of the project, Brink said. Documents recently approved by SOPP were further processing needed for phase two.

The city's engineering consultants, Bruce Gilmore and Associates of Columbus, will be working with EPA engineers to come up with an acceptable design. The plan being considered now is to build a second treatment lagoon. After aeration in the present lagoon, sewage would be pumped into the second lagoon, pumped further, and held during advanced decomposition. Waste water would then be acceptable for irrigation use, Brink said, achieving essentially the EPA goal of zero discharge.

The first phase of the project, for which the city will be reimbursed, cost $6,000. Brink said he has no estimate now for the design and construction phases but said total cost of the project could be from $500,000 to $750,000. EPA funding has also been approved for second and third phases.

Plea Continued

A continuance has been granted on a motion for retrial in the case of Leonard Wischof of Wayne, convicted of shooting his brother Paul in an incident occurring May 3.

The guilty verdict was returned following a one-day trial, Oct. 31. The motion for retrial was filed Nov. 10.

The motion claims irregularities in court procedure, and conduct of the jury, the prosecuting attorney, and witnesses.

Wischof's court appointed attorney Ken Swartz declined to elaborate on the motion for retrial but said such action is standard procedure when a guilty verdict is returned.

District Court Judge George Ditttrick will hear the motion in the Wayne court room on Jan. 7. Sentencing is pending a report by the district probation office. Wischof, free on $25,000 bond, faces a maximum sentence of 50 years for shooting to kill, wound or maim.

Casper Brings Laughter, Learning

Casper looks just like any other cuddly blue and white stuffed panda bear-until someone decides to speak to him. Then his big grange eyes light up.

Casper is a gift given Friday by members of the Telephone Pioneers of America to the Region IV Children's Development Center, in File Hall on the Wayne State College campus.

Casper's bright-eyed magic is the result of modern telephone circuitry, installed by Harvey Grosse of Wayne, a member of the Pioneers.

A telephone receiver hidden in Casper's chest picks up sound waves and triggers circuits which cause the stuffed animal's eyes to flicker.

A tiny switch in back can be used to turn off Casper's power supply when he isn't in use. Self contained power packs are hidden inside Casper and a jack in his back can be used for recharging. Modern transistor circuitry makes the entire apparatus compact, and it is all sealed inside so there isn't any worry about youngsters gaining access and being harmed by it.

Not that children at the development center will be playing with Casper the way they do other toys. That isn't what he was made for. Grosse said the Telephone Pioneers designed Casper to help teach speech to mentally handicapped youngsters like those at the Region IV center.

Mrs. Carl Haas, director of the center, said Casper will be used to help teach children to vocalize. It is hoped the incentive of Casper's flashing orange eyes will encourage children to express themselves in speech.

The Telephone Pioneers of America is an organization of professional telephone industry employees. Membership is open to telephone workers with 20 or more years service in the industry. Local chapter headquarters is in Omaha. Wayne is part of a seven-town council within the state chapter.

The stuffed toy panda bear was donated by Mrs. Cherry Johnson, a switchboard operator in Norfolk. Mrs. Johnson, formerly of Wayne, isn't a member of the organization yet, but with 19 years service in the telephone industry, she will soon be eligible.

Grosse said the Pioneers have previously given similar bears to child centers in Norfolk, Omaha and Sioux City, and the gifts have been well received.

Carroll Womans Club To Meet Thursday

Nitrite scare results in ridicule

The recent "nitrite bacon" scare has cost pork producers millions of dollars and is another example of how sensitive and litigious U.S. consumers have become to every hint of possible food contamination from chemical agents.

The Department of Agriculture announced a proposed change in its regulations that would modify the use of nitrate and salt in cured meat and poultry products. The USDA would discontinue the use of sodium nitrate in the curing process of all meat and poultry products with two exceptions, dry-cured and fermented sausage products.

Nitrate has been used for centuries in curing solutions. It breaks down chemically into nitrite during the curing process, but this breakdown does not occur uniformly which is why nitrite has been substituted for nitrate in recent years.

If too little nitrite is left in the cured meat products, there is a very real danger of "red rot" or botulism developing. That is why nitrites are there, to prevent this from happening.

The USDA and the meat industry are aware of the problem of nitrosamines in bacon after it has been fried and have pursued alternatives to reduce their presence. Several chemical and chemical compounds which have been found to be carcinogenic (cancer-causing) in laboratory animals. The levels, according to the USDA's expert panel which studied the situation, have been decreasing and are now in the range of 10 to 20 parts per billion, down from a range of 50 to 100 parts per billion found 18 months ago. The meat industry has achieved this decline through its research and voluntary adjustments in curing procedures.

The National Livestock and Meat Board has not taken objection to the USDA's proposal. Rather, it has announced that its technical advisory group will continue to search for the lowest possible level of nitrites to be used in curing meat while maintaining a safe and wholesome product.

But if you think that you have been endangering yourself by enjoying that crisp fried bacon with your eggs every morning, forget it. The American Meat Institute has put the situation in perspective. Current bacon curing methods can result in formation of up to 10 parts per billion of nitrosopyrrolidine, the suspected cancer-causing agent.

By comparison, for 600 days (a nearly normal rat lifespan), rats given three milligrams of nitrosopyrrolidine per kilogram of body weight developed liver tumors, while rats given one milligram and .3 milligram have yet to develop tumors.

What that means in terms of human eating is this: A 154-pound person, to equal the rat's three milligrams per kilogram of body weight diet (the only rate yet to produce cancer), would require eating 46,245 pounds of bacon containing 10 parts per billion nitrosopyrrolidine every day for the person's lifetime.

The word "cancer-causing" made headlines and is one of the reasons why the price of hogs, despite one of the shortest supplies of pork in years, has broken so sharply in recent months. The truth can be repeated many times but some people will never get the message and have crossed off bacon from their shopping list for all time to come.

Americans have the world's most abundant wholesome food supply in all history yet they seem bound and determined to scare themselves into a state of malnutrition—M.M. Van Kirk, Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation

STRAYEr Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

IF THE COVER on the fall edition of "Spotlighting Nebraska" looks familiar to Wayne residents — it should. It's a color photo of Willow Bowl, on the Wayne State College campus, in early autumn.

The magazine is published quarterly by the Nebraska Public Power District. The lead article always focuses on a Nebraska community, and Wayne is the subject of the fall issue.

Facets of the community covered include Providence Medical Center, Wayne State College, the Wayne-Carroll School system, St. Mary's School, the Industrial development park and the importance of industry to the community and the importance of agriculture to the community.

The final paragraph summarizes: "Put it all together and what do you have? Agriculture—Industry—Education—Medical Facilities—Recreation—Community Improvement—Pride—Progressiveness—Friendliness: It all adds up to Wayne, Nebraska — "A City On The Grow."

MOISTURE RECEIVED in November should help somewhat in relieving the extremely dry soil and subsoil conditions. According to Pat Gross, Wayne's official weather observer, the 4.23 inches of precipitation received is a record amount for November since records were first kept in 1914.

"America is our country."

Freedom is our fought-for dream. Independence is our key. The Liberly bell rings our theme!"

Those words are the chorus of a Bicentennial poem written by Wayne Middle School sixth grade language arts students. The poem was set to music and illustrative film strip prepared. (See story elsewhere in the issue of The Wayne Herald.)

I've seen the 15-minute Bicentennial presentation, and it's great. A lot of hard work and creativity went into it, and it's well worth seeing.

Letters to Santa Claus are coming in steadily and I'd like to assure the writers that they are being forwarded promptly to Santa's North Pole headquarters. Keep the letters coming in, and look for them to be reprinted in Thursday's issue.

HAVEN'T BEEN FARING as well with "Do You Remember?" items. We're still out and would like to restock our file. Features like "Way Back When" and "Old Old Nebraska" can relate some of the recorded history of our area; state, but "Do You Remember?" provides us with some interesting personal insights as to how things were. Hope no one is being bashful about sending items to us.

HAVEN'T TOLD ANY beard stories for awhile. (For obvious reasons, I have sort of a vested interest.) Ran across this one the other day.

Mrs. X: We expect to see that familiar jolly fellow with a beard and a sack over his shoulder coming to our place this year.

Mrs. Y: Yes, same at our place — our son is coming home from college with his laundry.

OBSERVATIONS

Street crew commended

November's blizzard was expensive for Wayne, in terms of snow removal cost. City administrator Fred Brink estimates equipment costs during 72 hours of intensive efforts at about $100 an hour, totaling $7,200. Manpower costs ran about $2,500, including overtime.

It's money well spent, as anyone who needed to be out in the streets during the storm will realize. It's doubtful that any community in the state has better snow removal service than Wayne, at least from our observations.

Snow plows had long been on the job when most of us peeked out the windows Thursday morning (Nov. 20) to find high-piled drifts, and crews stayed on the job most of Thursday as the blizzard continued to rage.

Most folks will recall that it was a good day to stay inside, but for those who needed to get out, and had a car available, streets were passable. According to city officials, the street crews curtailed their efforts later that afternoon because badly drifting snow erased much of their effort, but, again from personal observation, most parts of town were accessible if absolute necessity demanded.

From the following day on, the streets were quickly opened. Work has continued. Crews were still working last week to remove heaps of snow left from street-clearing operations. Safety is a prime factor here because the snow piles block vision at intersections.

Cleaning up after a blizzard is a tough, nasty job and Wayne is lucky to have a street department with the efficiency recently demonstrated. — Jim Strayer.

Out of Old

Americans have always been curious about the private lives of the men they elect to govern them. Too often this curiosity focuses on scandal, but it can also extend to a simple, honest concern. An example of this was expressed in a 1931 article in the Lincoln Sunday Star, one of the hundreds of Nebraska newspapers available on microfilm in the Nebraska State Historical Society.

The subject of the piece was the culinary interests of Nebraska governors, as described by William Woods, a long-time butler, custodian, and occasional chef and steward at the Executive Mansion. In an interview Woods told all — about the diets of his employers, in the quarter of a century during which he managed the mansion he served under nine governors and that fine leader that the men who held office differed not only in their political leanings but in their appetites as well.

Woods recalled the emergency dinner he prepared for Governor George Sheldon (Republican, 1907-1909). He commanded several chickens, cooked them, and surprised Mrs. Sheldon when she arrived home one hour before the dinner was to start by asking the question, "Guess who's coming to dinner?" The answer was the 1908 Republican Presidential nominee, William Howard Taft. If personal size is any indication, Taft obviously loved food and apparently enjoyed his meals in Lincoln. He weighed about 300 pounds.

Woods recalled that Governor Alton C. Shallenberger (Democrat, 1909-1911) liked steaks, but that his successor, Governor Chester H. Aldrich (Republican, 1911-1913) "probably ate more fish than any governor we've ever had." It was a toss-up for Governor John H. Marshall (Democrat, 1913-1917) — he couldn't decide between steak and milk — or between pumpkin and apple pie. He was "persnickity" about his corn on the cob, too; it had to be shaved off the cob.

Morehead originally intended to replace Woods with another butler but relented and apparently became as dependent upon him as did other governors. There was no threat to Woods' job from chief executive Keith Incentive (Democrat, 1917-1919), who, incidentally, brought more "bear and game" to the table than any other man. Although Governor Samuel R. McKelvie (Republican, 1919-1923) preferred to live in his residence in Lincoln, William frequently prepared fish and wild game for him there. Governor Adam McMullen (Republican, 1923-1929) was a devotee of Swiss steaks and rivaled Morehead with a devotion to rich, fresh milk.

Governor Arthur J. Weaver (Republican, 1929-1931) supplied his larder with home-smoked meats from his farm at Falls City, and Mrs. Weaver apparently canned enough fruits and vegetables to fill the table daily.

Governor Charles W. Bryan (Democrat, 1923-1925, 1931-1935) got along well with Woods, who revealed that William Jennings Bryan's brother loved soups and French fried potatoes.

Finally, William Woods told the interviewer, not surprisingly: "If the women you've got to please. The governors, they're boss over in their offices, but around here, well, it's the women that have to be pleased."

Thoughts for today

THURSDAY — Indeed firm discipline given in love and with reason, does help a child to learn what is right. Proverbs 29:17: Correct thy son, and he shall give thee rest, yea, he shall give delight unto thy soul.

FRIDAY — Back of your discipline is the love of teaching the child self-discipline. Proverbs 29:15: The rod and reproof give wisdom, but a child who get his own way brings shame to his mother.

SATURDAY — Without warm relationships between mother and father, they can't act as a team. Proverb 29:25: But he who trusts in the Lord will be exalted.

SUNDAY — Choose A Church and Attend. We must be examples — do not send your children to Sunday school and church — thought straightening out our dear little daughters was made for man and not man for the Sabbath.

MONDAY — Parents should agree upon the rules the child must learn to respect. Proverbs 22:4: Train up a child in the way he should go, even when he is old he will not depart from it.

TUESDAY — Your child is not a football to be kicked about by marital disharmony. 11 Timothy 2:7: Consider what I say, for the Lord will give you understanding in everything.

WEDNESDAY — A newspaper editor arriving home one evening "kissed" his wife and asked, "Well, how was everything today?" "Pretty good," came her reply. "The latest issue of Parents' Magazine was a big help, though, straightening out our dear little daughters who were acting up." "Good. What was the article?" "No article. I just rolled up the magazine and gave them a good scolding."

FOR 76

The world has avoided a major war for more than 30 years but how much does that mean when a billion — nearly a third of the population of the planet — are fighting just to keep alive on one day to the next?

We are arming, I think, against the wrong enemy. Granted that Communism and an open society are incompatible. Granted that U.S. defenses should be strong and flexible. But how much real security do we buy by spending, say, more than billion dollars for one Trident submarine and almost arrogantly neglecting the stability of the poor nations of the world, where food, famine, ignorance, overpopulation and disease provide perfect breeding grounds for tyrants?

That question was uncomfortably implicit throughout a 57 page report by Robert McNamara, head of the World Bank, to an international monetary gathering in Washington.

Of the billion in low income nations that have become the particular victims of the current global economic turbulence, McNamara said, 900 million individuals have incomes of less than $75 a year — less than some middle class American families' monthly power bill — and subsist in squalor, hunger and hopelessness — "the absolute poor."

The World Bank, albeit somewhat belatedly, has tackled the plight of the rural poor in the so-called developing nations. Now it intends to pay special attention to the urban poor. It seeks projects to enhance the productivity of the poor — both in the city and on the land.

On paper this doesn't look too hard by meeting the United Nations' target of seven tenths of one percent of its gross national product, each of the 17 developed nations contributing to development assistance through the Bank could raise the economic growth rate of these poor nations substantially. And they could do it, McNamara calculated, by dedicating "a minor fraction, no more than two percent — of the incremental wealth which they can expect to receive in the second half of (this) decade as their economies recover from the recession."

So what are we waiting for? We're waiting for the United States of America, for one thing. The U.S. contributions have sunk, almost steadily, from a little more than one half of one percent of GNP in 1960 to 0.23 percent in 1975 and 7a projected 0.17 percent in 1977. We are tied with Japan for 12th place among the 17 industrial states in terms of proportion of GNP flowing to nations struggling to survive.

"Poverty," observed World Bank President Robert McNamara, "is a world that has largely lost its power to convey reality."

Americans spend more than $20 billion a year on alcoholic beverages alone. We have structured a consumer economy that produces great waste and other things we don't need. Even now we can afford — indeed we can't afford not to come up with our share of development aid through the World Bank and related instruments. It's not charity. It's an investment in the future of the planet — Edward P. Morgan

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

A NATIVE Iowan has been named to the Bancroft village police department. Michael Fredrickson, 30, of Sioux City, began duty a couple weeks ago. Fredrickson recently completed 10 and a half years of military service in the U.S. Army. He was a staff sergeant E6 at the time of his discharge. He and his wife, Susan, are the parents of three children.

A PLAN of flood control, creek and ditch drainage and installation of storm sewers and other remedies has been initiated by the Oakland City Council. Preparatory groundwork for the $337,000 program has been made and a paperwork presentation to the federal department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) will be made immediately after the first of the year.

AS SOON AS federal guidelines are received Antelope County will have a county-wide transportation system for a guaranteed one year demonstration period. The system was explained at a public hearing Dec. 2 at the courthouse in Neligh. The system, to run five days a week, will allow transportation to individuals who are unable to transport themselves from rural areas to urban areas. Two 12-passenger vans with hydraulic lifts for wheelchairs will be purchased and two drivers' salaries and fuel costs for one year will be paid. A federal grant will provide over 90 per cent of the funding for the first year of operation of the project.

WEST HOLT Memorial Hospital officials last week requested an extension of about one month for their fund raising efforts, citing bad weather as the reason. Hospital administrator Gary Bieganski said the Farmer's Home Administration office in Lincoln would make a decision and relay it to the O'Neill office. The original deadline for the hospital to raise $365,000 for its share of the project was Dec. 6. The fund drive had collected $31,843.70 as of Nov. 30 with an additional $55,284.52 yet to be collected.

A FARM COUPLE from Bancroft were featured as the Farm-Family of the Week on WOW-TV, Channel 6 in Omaha, last week. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schoch were interviewed by "WOWT farm director Arnold Peterson during the farm portion of the noon news. The Schochs farm 270 acres and feed cattle and hogs. Kenneth recently was honored at Columbus where he received the Pork Chop Award from WOWT for his work as a commercial hog producer.

UN-L Business Bureau Gives Current Agriculture Outlook

The economic outlook for agriculture for the rest of 1975 hinges on the final output of 1975 crops, the level of world demand and the course of adjustments in the livestock sector of agriculture, according to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Bureau of Business Research.

Developments this summer in both the farm and nonfarm sectors of the economy have materially improved price and income prospects for American farmers, but major uncertainties remain.

Net farm income during the first half of this year was substantially reduced by decline in prices and a cost-price squeeze. Continued recovery in the general economy and rising disposable incomes are expected to bolster consumer demand for food and fiber products.

Per capita consumption of meat may increase later because of increasing consumer incomes and larger supplies of beef and poultry. However, year-end crops supplies and increasing output of livestock products are likely to hold retail food prices near current levels for the remainder of the year.

Foreign demand for grains remains strong as poor weather has reduced world grain crop this year. The Soviet Union 1975 grain crop is estimated at 40 million tons below planned production and European grain crops are also down.

Livestock developments are being dominated by adjustments started over a year ago. Then, livestock producers reacted to the high priced 1974 feed grains by cutting back on production of hogs, poultry and eggs, and reducing placements of cattle on feed. Reduced supplies have caused livestock product prices to rise substantially.

Cattle prices eased somewhat in August but most livestock prices were on the rise again in September. Strengthening prices for hogs, poultry, eggs and milk, along with larger output of beef and broilers, are bolstering livestock receipts in the second half of 1975.

Poultry producers are increasing output, in reaction to improve profit prospects. Broiler production may be up as much as ten per cent over a year ago and turkey output could also be rising.

Cattle feeders and hog producers appear reluctant to expand livestock feedings significantly until the longer run feed livestock price situation is clearer. Although hog producers have indicated plans for expansion this winter, pork production in hogs could still be down 20 to 25 per cent in the second half, after all reports have been tallied.

Second half cattle slaughter numbers may be above last

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Marie S. Puls

Funeral services for Mrs. Marie S. Puls of Norfolk, were held Friday at the Peace United Church of Christ, southwest of Hoskins. She died Tuesday at a Norfolk hospital at the age of 91 years.

The Rev. Ira Wilcox officiated and pallbearers were Art Lew, Walter Straté, Raymond Walker, Edwin Ulrich, Harold Ulrich and Reuben Puls. Burial was in Spring Branch Cemetery, near Hoskins.

The daughter of Herman and Margretha Bierhaus, she was born March 8, 1884 at Newton, Ia. Following her marriage to Fred Puls on Nov. 3, 1908, the couple resided with his parents at Hoskins for three years and later moved to Norfolk in 1922, where they cared for elderly persons in their home of several years. She was a member of Peace United Church of Christ and Ladies Aid since coming to Nebraska.

She is preceded in death by her husband on Feb. 10, 1963, one brother and five sisters. Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Silla Wickser and Mrs. Martha Galber, both of Sheboygan, Wisc., and several nieces and nephews.

Ralph Austin

Former Wayne resident, Ralph Austin of Norfolk died last Saturday at a Norfolk hospital at the age of 62 years. Funeral services were held Tuesday at the First Baptist Church in Norfolk, with burial in Hillcrest Memorial Park Cemetery, Norfolk.

The son of Adin Newman and Eva Marsh Austin, he was born March 29, 1913 at Minong, Wisc. He was a 1931 graduate of Wayne High School and served in the United States Army Air Force for three years during World War II.

On Sept. 29, 1937, he was united in marriage to Freda Baier at Wayne. He had farmed in the Wayne, Carroll and Pierce areas and later was a car salesman in Wayne and Norfolk, retiring in 1972. He was a member of the First Baptist Church and of the American Legion Post 16 in Norfolk.
Survivors include his widow of 107 21st Drive, Norfolk; two sons, Rick of Hoskins and Ron of Omaha; one brother, Warren of Wayne, and one sister, Mrs. Earl (Marjorie) Bennett of Wayne.

Alvin Lass

Former Wayne resident, Alvin Lass died Nov. 20 at Lake View Terrace, Calif., where he presently resided. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lass, he was 64 years old.
Survivors include his twin brother, Elmer of Gillette, Wyo., and a cousin, John Sievers of Wayne.

SNACKS HIKE FOOD BUDGET

How would you react if you were told that your family food budget included a $13,000 "item"? It's not really an "item" as such, but that's the estimated expense of feeding one child from infancy up to age 18. This estimate is based on recent government figures.

youngsters take in a distressingly high amount of "empty calories." Snack foods are often low in nutrients and protein, and they often contain inadequate amounts of Vitamin A, calcium and iron.

RUY Will Meet For Skate Party

The Northeast Nebraska rural urban youth group met Nov. 22 at the Concord gym for volleyball.

A business meeting was held afterward and lunch was served. The next meeting will be held on Saturday, Dec. 20, at 7:30 p.m. at the Wakefield roller rink.

City Is Moving Offices

Wayne residents stopping at the city offices at 220 Pearl today (Thursday) to pay electric and water bills might find them deserted, city clerk Bruce Mordhorst said, adding that in that event he and his staff can probably be found moving into the new offices across Third St. in the old Wayne Hospital building.

Mordhorst and his staff began making the move Wednesday and the city clerk said he hopes to be ready for business in the new office on the first floor of the building by the end of regular working hours today. City administrator Fred Brink is also moving into a new office, on the second floor of the city hall.

Mordhorst and staff will be sharing the ground floor with the city police department which moved into new offices in September. The police occupy the north half of the first floor, the new city clerk office complex occupies the south half.

Extensive remodeling was undertaken in preparation for the move. Several walls were removed to convert three rooms and a hallway into one large room for the city clerk's staff.

Other modifications include the installation of a suspended ceiling, carpeting, paneling, and fluorescent lighting. Mordhorst said draperies will come later. Similar modifications were made to two separate rooms: one to house the utility billing machine, and one which will become Mordhorst's office.

Brink's office is located on the south end of the second floor. Although some work is yet to be completed, the city administrator is also moving in now. Mordhorst estimates the cost for materials for remodeling so far at between $3,000 and $4,000. Labor costs were held down because most of the work was done by the clerk and administrator. Mordhorst said he helped with some of the work but credits Brink and his family with the bulk of the labor involved.

The old hospital building is due for more changes. Rooms on the second floor will be converted for use as offices by the mayor and the city engineering consultants. Brink said several second floor walls will be removed to create one large chamber which will become the city council meeting room.

The basement is scheduled to become the new Senior Citizens Center, and third floor space will be used for record and other storage. No timetable has been set for the additional changes.

The old city offices in the south wing of the city auditorium are also due for changes. The council has agreed to lease the space to Hazel Mau, owner of Hazel's Beauty Shoppe, now located at 321 Main St.

She said Tuesday it will probably be after Jan. 1 before she will move her business to its new location. Before that can happen considerable modification must be made, including installation of plumbing and wiring necessary for operation of a beauty salon.

Suicide Ruled In Man's Death

The death of a 65-year-old Carroll man will be filed as suicide, Wayne county coroner's physician Dr. Robert Benhach said Tuesday.

Wayne County sheriff Don Weible said Mrs. William Jenkins summoned him about 12:50 Monday morning after discovering her husband's body in the basement of their home. Jenkins had hung himself, Weible said. Jenkins had farmed and worked in the Wayne-Carroll area throughout his life and was employed at Wayne State College for the past nine years.

800 Take Part

About 800 youths Monday afternoon and evening rode on Santa's mobile sleigh, sponsored by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Gene Karmazine, Superior, who owns the sleigh, was assisted by several members of Phi Mu sorority in Wayne.

Homestead Filings Due April 1

Wayne County assessor Doris Stipp said persons wishing to file for homestead tax exemptions have from the present until April 1 to do so.

Under the homestead law, qualifying property owners are exempted from paying a portion of the property tax on their homes.

Regular exemptions apply to any person who owns the home in which they are living on Jan. 1. The first 25 per cent of the actual value of any homestead having an actual value of $1,500 is exempt under the act. A homestead is defined as an occupied residence and the surrounding land, not exceeding one acre.

The first 20 per cent of the first $4,000 of actual value is exempt for any homestead valued over $1,500. The first 90 per cent of actual value is exempt for veterans who served during wartime and are drawing 100 per cent disability compensation from the Veterans Administration; for widows of servicemen who died while on active duty during a war; and for widows of a veteran who died because of service-connected disabilities.

The exemption for property valued at $1,500 or less increases See HOMESTEAD, page 10

Time Is Short for Filing Corporation Farm Reports

Only three weeks remain for the filing of corporate farm reports with the Nebraska Secretary of State's office. The reports are required by LB 203, passed by the Nebraska Legislature on May 27.

The statute requires that the report be filed by owners of any farm for which incorporation papers have been filed. That includes local partnerships as well as farms owned by larger companies or out-of-state interests.

Information required on the report includes total acreage, location of corporate farm land, names and addresses of officers, board of director members, holders of ten per cent or more of the corporation stock and alien stockholders. Forms for filing the report are available at county clerk Norris Weible's office.

Weible said Monday that his office had distributed only six forms so far. Although he has no figures available, Weible estimated that the number of farms which have been incorporated in the county would be considerably higher than that.

The law is designed to provide the state with information which will help provide for the continued existence of the family farm and protect against monopolization of the agricultural industry and alien ownership of Nebraska farm land.

Farm land within railroad or utility company right-of-way boundaries are exempt from filing.

Failure to file a report is a misdemeanor carrying a fine up to $1,000.

IN A RATHER lengthy discussion about the ambulance issue during Tuesday night's city council meeting, mayor Freeman Decker, left, suggested a special meeting be scheduled for Monday in order that the matter of who will operate the ambulance service be resolved before the next regularly scheduled council meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 30. On hand for the discussion was Wayne fire chief Cliff Pinkelman, center, who told the council that the volunteer firemen are willing to establish a rescue service if it is the council's wishes. On the right, Mother Imelda Koch, who represents the Benedictine Sisters who operate Providence Medical Center, told city officials that the hospital is willing to continue the ambulance service following the council's recent decision to provide a backup driver.

Pinkelman, center, who told the council that the volunteer firemen are willing to establish a rescue service if it is the council's wishes. On the right, Mother Imelda Koch, who represents the Benedictine Sisters who operate Providence Medical Center, told city officials that the hospital is willing to continue the ambulance service following the council's recent decision to provide a backup driver.

Ambulance Issue Still Undecided

Providence Medical Center officials have agreed to continue providing ambulance service in the Wayne area, but the Wayne City council has not been able to reach a decision about what they wish to do regarding emergency medical care.

Mother Imelda Koch, representative Providence Medical Center, told the council at their regular meeting Tuesday night that the hospital is willing to continue the service, following the council's decision to provide a secondary ambulance driver. Controversy arose in November when the hospital contacted city officials requesting that arrangements be made for the city to provide a backup driver when the primary ambulance and driver are engaged.

The council responded, saying they would do so until a new ambulance was purchased, at which time the present ambulance would revert to secondary status and the city would provide only tertiary backup.

Mother Imelda later announced that the hospital would curtail ambulance service Dec. 31 because hospital officials felt the city wasn't fulfilling its part of the nine-point plan which they had supposedly agreed to orally. At the next council meeting members reversed their decision and agreed to provide the backup driver. Mother Imelda told the council members Tuesday night that hospital officials have always felt that the medical center could best operate the ambulance service and that, following the council's latest decision, the hospital would agree to continue the service. She also clarified a point regarding who would pay the backup driver. In the past, she explained, the hospital has paid standby drivers when they were actually called to operate the ambulance, and the city has paid the secondary driver for periods when they were on call, but not actually required to drive the ambulance.

150 Expected for Clinic

About 150 area farmers are expected to be at the Wayne city auditorium Friday for an irrigation clinic being sponsored by the Wayne First National Bank.

Dale Stoltenberg, bank agricultural representative, said the clinic is being offered as a public service and is open to anyone wishing to attend.

Registration for the clinic begins at 9 a.m. Shortly after Stoltenberg's welcoming remarks at 9:30, an address on irrigation potential in the North east Nebraska area will begin.

Speaker will be Vincent Drees, director of the conservation and survey division, University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Registration for the clinic begins at 9 a.m. Shortly after Stoltenberg's welcoming remarks at 9:30, an address on irrigation potential in the North east Nebraska area will begin.

Lunch will be served in the auditorium. Omaha banker Robert Hatch will begin at 12:45 p.m. to talk about ways to finance irrigation equipment.

The practical side of irrigation will be discussed by Verne Climer and Vernon Hokamp, two farm operators who have had irrigation experience.

George Rehm, Extension district agronomist at the North east Station near Concord, will conclude the clinic with a discussion of irrigation and soil fertility, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Allen School Okays Hiring Of Secretary

The Allen school board Monday night approved the hiring of Mrs. Alan Van Buskirk of Dixon as secretary and bookkeeper for the school's career education program.

Mrs. Buskirk will begin Monday, replacing Mrs. Diane Kluber who plans to leave her post at the end of the semester.

Mrs. Kluber, who handed in her resignation at last month's board meeting, will continue as secretary and bookkeeper for the school board, said superintendent Virgil Ferguson.

Mrs. Buskirk has been employed as a bookkeeper at Carl Lumber Co., in Wayne, since leaving her job at Gibson's Discount Center in Norfolk in 1970. Salary for Mrs. Buskirk was not disclosed.

In other action, the board agreed to meet at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 16, to finish business which wasn't completed during Monday night's meeting.

Members also set Tuesday, Jan. 6, as the next monthly meeting date. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m.

The Wayne-Carroll board of education Monday night authorized school attorney Ken Qids to negotiate a settlement for damages which school officials feel are due because of alleged late delivery of a school bus chassis by Ford Motor Company. School superintendent Francis Haun said the bus chassis was ordered Dec. 2, 1974, and full payment was made March 10. Haun said the chassis was to be delivered to another company which provided the coach.

When the order was placed, school officials expected to receive the completed bus some time in June. Instead, Haun said, the coach company didn't receive the chassis until July. Because the summer months are the busiest time of year for bus coach companies, delivery was not made to the school until Nov. 19. That left the school system without an activity bus during the first three months of school and forced use of an older model. The unanticipated use of the older vehicle has forced the school to make repairs before it could be disposed of. Haun said it is felt the school is due a settlement for damages, because of the delay, including interest on money paid for the chassis and repair to the older bus which would not have been necessary if use hadn't been forced by the late delivery. Haun said he had contacted Ford Motor Company in September and October but received no response to his second inquiry. Haun said that when the initial contact was made in September it was felt that $750 would be a fair settlement, but he feels the amount should be somewhat higher now. High school principal Don Zeiss reported on several proposals either being considered or already implemented. Zeiss said he began a year ago working on a proposal for mini-courses for the high school but told school board members he doesn't think it will be practical to offer the courses this year. As the principal explained the concept, the regular class schedule would be suspended for one week and students would register for one of the short courses for each of the seven classroom periods each day. The week-long mini-courses would cover subjects or aspects of subjects not dealt with in the regular curriculum. High school teachers next year may conduct parent teach. See SCHOOL BOARD, page 10

First $500 Prize 'Just in Time'

A Wayne couple, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Witt, won't have any problems deciding how to spend the $500 Christmas Bucks they won Monday night.

Besides saving for the Christmas holidays, the couple also are saving for their first child, who is expected to arrive in about three weeks.

The Witts, who live at 815 Valley Dr., matched the third of 50 numbers drawn at random after the numbers were posted in participating businesses earlier Monday.

Mrs. Witt picked up the winning ticket—No. 180040—while she was Christmas shopping at McNatt's OK Hardware in Wayne that night.

The $500 in coupons the couple won in the promotion are good as cash in any of the stores taking part in the month-long promotion.

Persons holding tickets numbered 089204 and 297356 missed out on their chance to claim the $500 when they failed to show up at the Chamber of Commerce in Wayne that night.

Monday morning Gene Cornett of Gamble Store and Phil Griess of Griess Rexall Store drew the 50 numbers by pulling numbered corks out of a container.

Four drawings for $100 in coupons each are slated for Dec. 16, 17, 19 and 22, leading up to the final drawing for $500 on Dec. 23.

In the $100 give-aways, only 25 numbers will be drawn and posted in participating firms each afternoon. The person holding the ticket with the number closest to the top one on the list of those drawn is the winner in each drawing. Those holding numbers high on the list have to be present at the Chamber of Commerce office each evening at 8 o'clock to collect the prize.

THAT HANDFUL of coupons prompts smiles from Christmas Bucks winners Mr. and Mrs. Larry Witt and Bud McNatt, right, who gave them the winning ticket when Mrs. Witt was Christmas shopping at his store recently. It should bring smiles—the coupons are worth $500 in stores taking part in the holiday promotion.
