Icy Streets Blamed for 5 Accidents

Icy streets Thursday were blamed for five accidents, including a five-car mishap at the Wayne-Carroll High School parking lot.

The chain-reaction collision at the high school happened about 8:40 a.m. when a car driven by Dennis Fieer, rural Wayne, slid into a parked car owned by Merlin or Brian Frevert, also of rural Wayne. A vehicle operated by Ronnie Lippman, rural Wayne, then struck the rear end of the Fieer car before a car driven by Larry Peterson, rural Carroll, hit Lippman, forcing his vehicle into the Frevert car. The jolt of the Lippman-Frevert collision then forced the parked Frevert vehicle into a parked pickup owned by LeRoy or Betty Echtenkamp, rural Wayne.

Minutes earlier at the high school parking lot, a car operated by Nancy Walteyne, 608 Logan, slid into a parked car owned by Larry H. Echtenkamp, rural Wayne.

The rash of accidents first was reported shortly before 8 a.m. when a car driven by Jan See ACCIDENTS, page 8

Fair Board Elects Four New Members

Four new members were elected Monday night to the Wayne County Fair and Agricultural board.

They are Alden Dunklau and Gerald Pospishil, rural Wayne; Don Langenberg, Hoskins; and Ray Roberts Carroll, Re-elected to the 15-member board was Felix Dorcy of Wayne.

The switch in personnel marks the first time in four years that there has been a major change on the board, said fair secretary Marilyn Koch. The four replace Bill Fredrickson, Ray Lange-meler, Herb Perry and Marvin Dunklau. The four retiring board members plus Henry Ley were named as honorary board members.

During the meeting, members set July 20, 31 and Aug. 1 as the dates for the 1976 fair.

In other action, the board discussed building a new 4-H calf barn and wash racks.

4 Drawings This Week

Three lucky Wayne shoppers this week will receive a holiday bonus in the form of $100 in Christmas Bucks.

Drawings for the coupons, good as cash in participating stores, are scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights. A special $100 consolation drawing will be held Thursday night. The Birthday Bucks grand prize remains at $500.

Stores will be open until 9 p.m. on the nights for which drawings are scheduled, and will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Christmas Bucks numbers will be selected at random on the mornings of drawings and will be posted in stores at 1 p.m.

Having Quite a Chat

TERRY WENDELL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wendell of Laurel, and Santa Claus had quite a chat Thursday night on the staircase of the William Corbit home, east of Wayne. Santa made a special appearance at the party held for special education students from the Wayne Middle School. About 20 Wayne merchants provide gifts and refreshments for the party, and the Kappa Delta Gamma sorority from Wayne State College helped supervise recreation activities which included singing Christmas carols, breaking a pinata filled with goodies, and played several games. Milton G. Waldbaum Company Celebrates 25th Year in Egg Business

Over 200 persons attended open house tours at the Milton G. Waldbaum Company egg processing plant and farm Friday. The event was held to mark the Wakefield company's 25th year.

Dr. Milton G. Waldbaum, now a practicing physician in Omaha, established the company in 1950. Originally from New York, Dr. Waldbaum came to Nebraska in 1945 after being discharged from military service.

He went to work for his brother who operated an egg processing plant in Grand Island. Dr. Waldbaum later decided to go into business for himself and began looking for a location which would not put him in direct competition with his brother. Wakefield was the choice, primarily because an existing building had the needed freezer and cooler already built in.

The company began with about 30 employees and was strictly an egg grading operation. Today, the company employs over 300 people, has a $1.8 million annual payroll, has annual sales totaling $25 million, and processes about 1.5 million eggs daily. About half are graded and packaged for retail sale through supermarkets; the remainder are processed into dried, frozen, and bulk liquid egg products.

Other companies with several plants process more eggs than the Wakefield company, vice president Dan Gardner said. The Waldbaum enterprise claims the distinction of being the largest single egg processing plant in existence.

"That takes a lot of eggs, and Waldbaum produces about half the number on their own Big Red Farms, northeast of Wakefield.

Twelve buildings on the farm house 60,000 hens each. The birds are caged together in groups of five. Row upon row of cages line the houses and eggs are automatically rolled from the specially constructed cages onto a series of conveyor belts which eventually transport them through a series of machines which weigh and grade the eggs.

Eggs are packaged in the gigantic hen houses, farm manager Davey Crockett said, and are shipped to markets the same day.

The company also maintains a growing operation, purchasing day-old chicks and raising them until they are 70 weeks old. They then go to one of the houses and are kept for production for about 12 months, before being sold to soup companies.

Feed for the nearly one million chickens kept on the Big Red Farm comes from Humpty Dumpty Mills, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Waldbaum company, located in Wakefield. The mill produces over 2,000 tons of feed monthly.

The hen houses are strictly controlled with feeding, watering, lighting, temperature and egg collection functions automated to protect against mishaps which could be disastrous to the laying operation; an electronic watchman has been installed in each house. When a problem does occur, the elec-

Ambulance Fate Is Topic Of Special Council Meeting

Wayne city council members tonight (Monday) will try to reach a decision which will set the course for emergency medical treatment for the city and the surrounding area.

The special meeting was set at Tuesday's regular meeting, following Mother Imelda Koch's announcement that Providence Medical Center (PMC) is willing to continue operating the city ambulance service.

Mother Imelda, representing PMC and the Benedictine Sisters who operate the hospital, made the announcement as the result of council action at an earlier meeting in which members agreed to provide a backup ambulance driver.

The council had earlier denied the request and hospital officials had responded by announcing that they would terminate ambulance service Dec. 31, and turn the present vehicle back to the city.

Lengthy discussion followed Mother Imelda's Tuesday night announcement, but council members were unable to reach an agreement about whether or not to accept the offer.

Realizing that a quick decision couldn't be reached, mayor Freeman Decker recommended recessing the meeting until the next night. City attorney Budd Bornhoff advised setting a special meeting date so Nebraska public notice requirements could be met.

Under the present arrangement, the hospital operates the ambulance service, and receives $7,000 annually in financial support from the city. The city also provides the ambulance. The present motor is a 1968 Pontiac, a gasoline-type ambulance, with about 28,000 miles recorded.

The city is also considering a $22,500 bid for a new limousine ambulance, built on a 1975 Cadillac chassis. If the council does decide to continue the present arrangement, the Cadillac ambulance will become the primary unit, with the Pontiac providing backup capability when the Cadillac is in use.

The hospital employs two salaried ambulance drivers, Miron Jenness and Doug Finn.

One of these two primary drivers must be available at all times. Drivers are paid $5 per eight hour shift when they are on call. When they are actually called upon to make a run, drivers are paid $5 an hour.

Ambulance attendants primarily responsible for rendering emergency medical treatment are registered nurses working at Providence Medical Center. While on call, attendants perform regular nursing duties and are paid by the hospital. When called to ambulance duty, they receive $5 an hour and are paid from the ambulance account.

If the hospital continues to provide ambulance service, the city will be responsible for providing a driver available to drive the Pontiac ambulance, should it be needed, when the Cadillac ambulance and salaried driver are already engaged.

This standby capability in the past has most often been provided by members of the city police department. If called to standby ambulance duty while already on duty as a police officer, backup drivers are not paid for the time they are on call, assistant hospital administrator M. J. Jimmie Thomas said. If they are called to standby ambulance duty during hours when they are not on police duty, officers receive the $5-per-eight-hour-shift pay. If called to operate the ambulance, they receive the regular $5 per hour driver's fee.

An alternative to a hospital operated ambulance discussed during Tuesday's council meeting, and expected to come up tonight, is the establishment of a rescue unit staffed by members of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department.

Fire chief Cliff Pinkelman Tuesday night informed council members that the volunteers had voted in favor of forming the unit if the council wishes, but indicated that the vote is probably the result of a sense of obligation and pointed out several difficulties in establishing the service.

There are no training requirements for ambulance attendants now but under Nebraska statute, a rule goes into effect in the summer of 1976 which will require them to have completed a state approved Emergency Medical course. See AMBULANCE, page 8

Host Family Is Being Sought For Domestic Exchange Student

Wayne High School's first domestic exchange student will arrive in Wayne sometime next month, according to Mrs. Margaret Lundstrom, secretary of the American Field Service chapter.

Kristin Elizabeth Whitehurst, a 16-year-old student from Bel Air, Md., will arrive in Wayne around Jan. 15 and will attend classes during the second semester at Wayne High School.

While Kristin, who likes to be called Kris, attends classes in Wayne, Shari Hamm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deward Hamm of Wayne, will also be attending classes at another high school in the United States under the same program.

Although Shari has not received word from the national AFS office in New York as to where she will be attending school, Mrs. Lundstrom said she expects to receive an announcement sometime this week. Shari is a junior at Wayne High School.

Mrs. Lundstrom said the AFS chapter is still looking for a family for Kris to live with while she attends school in Wayne.

Persons who are interested in having Kris stay with them should contact Mrs. Lundstrom, chapter president; Mrs. H. Niemann or domestic program coordinator Kendall Carlson. Kris will leave for her return trip home around June 30.

Although Kris is the community's first domestic exchange student, the AFS chapter has sponsored 10 foreign exchange students since the exchange program aimed at increasing understanding between America and foreign countries began in 1966.

Presently attending Wayne High under the foreign exchange student program is Alain Guillet-Plingue, from Liege, Belgium. Alain is making his home with the Dwayne Rethwisch family.

Mrs. Lundstrom said the domestic exchange program, which is similar to the foreign exchange program, was developed to create understanding and friendship across cultural boundaries within the United States.

Miss Whitehurst has one brother, Pat, who is a year older. Her father is a physiology teacher at Bel Air Senior High School where she attends school, and directs a boy's camp where the entire family spends the summer. Her mother is a housewife.

Bel Air is a suburb of Baltimore and has about 3,300 students in its school system. Bel Air High School has participated in the domestic exchange student program in the past, and sponsored two students last year, one from Minnesota and one from California. Last year Bel Air sent a student to California.

In a recent letter to the Lundstroms, Miss Whitehurst said she has traveled in the eastern states only and is looking forward to coming out west. She enjoys spectator sports, television and reading, and attends the Methodist Church at Bel Air.

Three Youths To Appear In Dixon Court

A Newcasite youth and two Allen youths are scheduled to appear in Dixon Court this week after the trio were apprehended for allegedly stealing items valued about $500 from a Wakefield school bus on Dec. 4.

According to Dixon County sheriff, Dean Chase, the three took clothing, purses, money and other items from the school bus while parked at Allen High School during the Allen-Wakefield basketball game. Most of the items have been recovered, he said.

The same three youths also are believed to be involved in 10 to 15 antennas broken off cars that evening, the sheriff noted.

CD Appointment Pending

The Wayne County board of commissioners are expected Tuesday to ratify a contract with Northwestern Bell Telephone company regarding underground telephone cables.

The county is planning to widen and grade between three and four miles of a road from Sholes to the Wayne-Cedar County line. The contract, signed by telephone company officials and awaiting the commissioners' signatures, provides that if repairs are required to a cable buried under the road, Northwestern Bell will buy a new cable in the roadside ditch, rather than excavating the road bed.

The commissioners will also consider appointing a Civil Defense director to replace Thomas Roberts, who died Nov. 9. According to county clerk Norris Weible, Wayne mayor Freeman Decker has recommended retired Wayne police officer Pat Hailley for the position. In the past, one person has served as Civil Defense director for both the city and county.

Also on the county board agenda is the setting of public hearing dates for the one- and six-year road maintenance plans.

EGG GRADING PROCESS is observed by Rosa Castillo, member of a Wayne State College meal planning class which toured the Milton G. Waldbaum plant Friday during open house activities commemorating the company's 25th anniversary. For more photos, see page nine.

'Tis the season . . . for highway tragedy

Among persons under 35, highway crashes are the major single cause of death. Automobile accidents are challenging the diseases usually associated with old age for the number one cause of death for all ages. In fact, because vehicle crashes kill and injure the young as well as the old, they are equalled only by heart disease as the major single factor in lost man-years of productivity.

There is a great concern and effort to conquer the diseases and health problems that cause death. Accidents, on the other hand, by the very name, suggest a random event, an act of God, something beyond control. They are treated with shameless callousness.

Anyone working with traffic accidents knows that approximately 50 per cent of all highway fatalities involve alcohol. Studies not only establish the strong causal relationship between alcohol and traffic crashes, they demonstrate that it is not use, but abuse of alcohol, most implicated in accidents. The highest proportion of alcohol-involved crashes occurs in the age group between 21 and 24, and falls off after that point. Thus it is the young problem drinker-driver who is most often involved in fatal crashes.

To abate and curb this trend, the Nebraska Highway Safety Program is coordinating a concentrated campaign for the immediate holiday season. They recognize that this is a time when many people feel themselves in an alcohol-related situation, and they are gearing public service messages for the social drinker with a tag line: "Don't let your friends drive home drunk."

Last December there were 27 persons killed in Nebraska. According to the Nebraska Highway Safety Program, November and December held the highest rate of all the months for alcohol-involved accidents.

Through the efforts of information campaigns and concerned persons across the state, the Safety Program is hopeful that the drinking driver problem can be curbed. They urge a concentrated attempt on everyone's part to make this occur.

OBSERVATIONS

Hospital — best alternative

A special Wayne city council meeting is scheduled for tonight (Monday) for the sole purpose of deciding what to do about ambulance service for Wayne and the surrounding area.

The two most prominent alternatives to be considered are 1. continued service by Providence Medical Center, 2. establishment of a city-operated rescue service, manned by volunteers.

For the immediate future, the first choice seems to be the only acceptable one. The rescue service idea has merit and is worth looking into further. Perhaps such a unit is needed, either in replacement of or in addition to the present ambulance service.

Granted, the present ambulance would revert to the city and the volunteer firemen have agreed to run a rescue unit.

But fire chief Cliff Pinkelstein pointed out at Tuesday's meeting that the Emergency Medical Technician course usually takes six months to complete, and some Nebraska communities have been waiting up to two years for an instructor.

EMT training won't be a requirement for an ambulance attendant until the summer, and perhaps not even then. But to put willing but untrained volunteers on a rescue squad isn't fair — to the public served or to the volunteers.

Attorney Duane Schroeder is scheduled to present a proposed agreement which the city could legally enter into with the Benedictine Sisters and Providence Medical Center. Some modifications to the nine-point proposal on which the present ambulance service is based, but hopefully, an agreement acceptable to all parties involved will be arrived at. That appears to be the only hope for continued, immediate emergency medical service for the Wayne area. — Jim Strayer

Out of Old

Nebraska

No longer is fear of pestilence a factor in the lives of Americans. Not with the "miracle" vaccination, and the greater skill of medical personnel. This was not the case a century ago when cholera ran rampant along the frontier after the Civil War. There were then also half a dozen or more children's diseases which put dread into the hearts of parents. Infantile paralysis (polio) lost its sting in the 1930's with the development of the Salk vaccine.

Nebraska's last great epidemic which affected young and old was the Spanish influenza. Commonly called the flu, this scourge hit the U.S. early in 1918. It had greatly intensified by September and was at its worst during the fall months, throwing a damper on most social gatherings. Even World War I victory celebrations on Armistice Day, November 11, were limited in many towns as the war against the disease continued without let-up.

Hardest hit were state-side Army training camps where hundreds of thousands of men were closely confined. Ten times the number of doughboys killed in action in France were the victims of influenza at home. In every paper in Nebraska, news of the epidemic vied for headlines with news of the impending defeat of Germany. Following are typical reports from newspaper files of the Nebraska State Historical Society.

The Omaha World-Herald of October 2, 1918, gave the flu top news billing: 14,000 new cases in the Army in 24 hours, an increase of 3,600 over the preceding day. A day later 17,383 new cases were reported in the training camps. Three days later headlines indicated Omaha was in trouble, too. "No Epidemic But Omaha Is Nearly Closed, and Theatres Closed With Regret." Indoor gatherings were prohibited. With 700 cases and seven deaths in Lincoln, officials "pondered" the closing of schools, then shut them down.

The Oct. 10 Fairbury Journal reported "a new disease or old disease under a new name had struck schools, churches, theatres, business houses, and pool halls," which were promptly closed "till further notice." It resembled "la grippe of 1899" the Journal said, with "aches in the bones."

The McCook Tribune labeled the disease as "the well-known grip" but "more virulent and fatal." Deaths were occurring daily. The Red Cross started a project to make "contagious ward face masks." The masks could be obtained at the Tribune, and a model was displayed there. By October 14 the city required a shut down of schools, pictures shows, public gatherings, churches, and "even gatherings in the streets." On December 12 that the ban was finally lifted, but dances and public meetings were still held by permit only. In January, McCook theaters were again advertising their playbills as the epidemic tapered off.

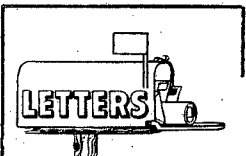

On October 21 the State Board of Health recognized "its obligation to warn the people of the seriousness of the situation and to adopt such regulations as will most quickly stamp out the disease, even though in doing so, the regular habits of the people are to an extent interfered with.

"It is therefore ordered that all gatherings of the people be dispensed with both within doors and without in all villages, towns, and cities of the state, that the schools of the state be closed, and that so far as practicable children be kept at home. These regulations shall be in effect and in force from this date until Saturday, November 2, 1918, or until further notice by the board."

The Crawford Tribune, October 25, 1918, warned that people who found themselves "tired, weak, and losing flesh . . . and in generally run-down condition . . . should fortify themselves against attack by building up the constitution." The disease spread despite precautions. In some areas of the state the flu held sway throughout the winter. Towns and isolated rural areas with no doctors were especially hard hit. Even doctors, caught unprepared by the virulence of the disease, had to use "specifics" and other expedients in an effort to save lives. Many physicians worked themselves into a state of exhaustion and were themselves victims of the disease.

Symptoms of the disease were high fever, cough, dizziness, and a stabbing pain in the back. Frequently bronchopneumonia developed with death following in a high percentage of cases. It was called "the Spanish Lady" by a Russian newspaper because the world-wide epidemic was thought to have started in San Sebastian, Spain — but the Spanish flu was no lady. She left a trail of horror which circled the world and killed an estimated 21 million people. India lost 12.5 million, Britain 228,000, America 45,000. It has been compared with the plague — The Black Death of the 14th Century Europe.

Firemen Lauded

Wayne Editor: I would like to commend the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department for their offer to help organize a Volunteer Rescue Unit for Wayne if such a unit is desired. In my opinion it is the willingness of the people to work together to provide the community with needed services that makes any community a better place in which to live. — Walter L. Moller

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

RESULTS of the Dec. 1 election of Pierce County ASC committee for 1976 were announced last week. Newly named to committee posts in the mail balloting were John Borgmann, Orono, county committeeman, three-year term; John A. Horn, Plainville, first alternate to the county committee, one year term; Melvin Ehrhardt, Randolph, second alternate to the county committee, one-year term.

MADISON High School girls will have a basketball team on a limited basis, beginning immediately. The decision to form the team was made by the Madison board of education. Approximately 46 girls signed as being interested in going out for the basketball team. Principal Terry Heany, sports director, said he thought that the team would be able to find a few opponents, even though most other schools have already set up their schedules.

ALBION City School's board of education decided to borrow up to $47,000 to meet the school district's payroll on Dec. 18. The action was taken after superintendent of schools Gerald Jordan reviewed the district's financial situation with the board. His report showed an estimated deficit of $41,855 after the district pays out $58,800 to its employees Dec. 18.

HERB ALBERTS, JR. of Wisner was re-elected as the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association state president at their 32nd annual convention held in York Dec. 1-3. Alberts was also re-elected for another term as a national director of the group. Nearly 800 feeders and their wives registered for the annual meeting which featured talks by various livestock specialists, symposiums and the yearly business meeting.

THE CITY of Neligh will approach the Antelope County Board of Supervisors in the near future, seeking to become part of the county-wide law enforcement program. That results from a unanimous vote at the Dec. 8 meeting of the Neligh City Council. Mayor Noel Brennan cited the current combination of police and ambulance duties in Neligh and the cost of the current system as reasons for requesting the change.

DON KUBIK, extension dairy specialist, will be at the Harrington city auditorium today (Monday) for a winter forage management meeting for dairy herd owners. The program will start at 8 p.m. Kubik will talk with producers on how the kind and quality of forages fed to dairy animals can dictate type of grain ration needed, levels of milk production, butterfat content and growth rates.

STRAY Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

It's funny how jobs which we come to regard as routine can be fascinating to others. Last week, if local clergyman brought a printing order into The Herald. As he watched the printer going through the intricate steps necessary for production, the pastor shook his head and remarked, "Boy, you've lost me now."

Nonplussed, our printer replied, "Yeah, but I'd be a lot more lost in your profession."

THERE'S NO SUCH thing as a small mistake in a newspaper, but foul-ups in headlines are what give editors nightmares and ulcers (ask me how I know).

The Columbia Journalism Review has a regular section which deals primarily with headlines or other items appearing in newspapers. Among those included in the recent edition are these:

— "Lawmen from Mexico Barbecue Guests" — San Benito (Tex.) News.
— "Rosemary Hall Gets New Head" — Hartford Courant.
— "Pastor Agghast at First Lady Sex Position" — Alamogordo (N.M.) Daily News.
— "Milk Drinkers Turn to Powder" — Detroit Free Press.
— "Out-of-Work Blacks High; Simon Says" — Columbus News.
— "Deadline Passes for Striking Police" — Indianapolis News.

BEFORE THE CHRISTMAS season passes, I'd like to thank all the volunteers who helped put up Christmas decorations in Wayne. It's through their efforts that we have a bright Main St. through the holiday season.

CHRISTMAS BRINGS OUT the best in people. A few local examples I can think of off hand (with apologies to those I miss) are the sponsors for the kids Christmas party at the city auditorium, merchants who donated decorations and refreshments for a party Thursday night for mentally handicapped children, and the Telephone Pioneers, who gave an electronic teddy bear to the Region IV

Child Development Center for use as an aid to speech therapy.

LOOKING PAST CHRISTMAS and on to New Year's Eve — don't forget the Wayne Lion's Club dance. The Country Classics will be playing at the National Guard Armory. It should be a good way to celebrate, without having to spend too much time on the road — and it's a good night to hold travel to a minimum.

WINTER STORM LOSSES in northeast Nebraska are expected to exceed $500,000, according to reports filed with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

As reported earlier in The Herald, Wayne county losses amounted to 235 head of cattle, 185 hogs, and some sheep — bad enough but relatively light compared to counties further west and north.

In Knox County, ASCS director Francis Kundsden estimates losses of $200,000, including 1,000 cattle, 100 sheep, and 850 hogs. Knox County dairy farmers were forced to dump 50,000 pounds of milk because of snow-blocked roads.

Cedar County losses totaled about $500,000, according to extension director Lyle Vawter, attributable mostly to the loss of about 500 cattle and 100 hogs. Also, 200,000 pounds of milk, valued at $18,000 had to be dumped by Cedar County dairymen. Cedar County is the largest milk-producing county in Nebraska.

Dixon County losses were light. ASCS director Dale Kruse said. Livestock losses were confined to 100 yearling cattle lost on a farm near Ponca.

Pierce County losses were reported as 50 cattle valued at $13,750 and 125 hogs worth $7,000, according to Berle Higgins, ASCS director.

Ford veto only block to boycott bill

President Ford and his veto power is virtually all that stands in the way of a blatant piece of special-interest legislation which would enormously increase the picketing power of U.S. construction unions at the expense of taxpayers and consumers.

In a raw demonstration of majority power, the Senate recently cut off all debate and passed the highly controversial pro-labor common situs (site) picketing bill, which, in effect, would reverse a U.S. Supreme Court decision to 1951 and permit secondary boycotts on construction jobs.

The bill, strongly backed by the AFL-CIO, permits a single union, in an dispute with one employer, to shut down entire construction jobs involving neutral employers and their workforces.

A public opinion poll shows that not only the public but most unionists oppose the use of such picketing tactics against innocent third parties in labor disputes. Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J., found in a national poll or more than 1,000 interviews that 68 per cent of the public opposed common situs picketing.

Among union members, 57 per cent were opposed and among union families, 62 per cent.

What is the rationale behind such a piece of legislation?

Sheer power: The votes. Most of those votes were won in the 1974 general election when the AFL-CIO, rather than either political party, emerged as the big winner, with seven of every 10 candidates endorsed by the AFL-CIO winning their races.

The success of this particular pro-labor bill was assured months ago when the Senate majority, flexing its power, voted to change the rules by which all debate could be cut off on legislative issues. On March 7, the Senate voted, 56-27, to discard the long-standing rule which required a two-thirds majority. Under the new rule, a vote of three-fifths of the entire membership, or 60 Senators, can vote closure, or an end to debate.

When the common situs bill reached the Senate, a filibuster was attempted but was swept aside, 62-37. Under the former rule 66 votes would have been needed.

It should come as no surprise that 85 per cent of those who voted to change the closure rules (48-56) in March were among the 62 voting in November to shut off the filibuster against the picketing bill.

Forty Senators scored 100 per cent on the AFL-CIO ratings. They voted to change the closure rules, to end the debate on the picketing bill and in favor of the bill on final passage, when the vote was 52-45.

The Associated Press reported that the AFL-CIO, according to an unofficial tally, had contributed $1.4 million in campaign funds to many of the Senators whose votes helped clinch passage of the picketing bill. The tally came from a computerized study made by Common Cause, a citizens' lobby.

Except for the remote possibility of defeating the House-Senate Conference Report, only President Ford can stop the rampant pro-labor majority, and he has indicated he may sign the bill if it is accompanied by an administration-backed construction bargaining reform bill. — U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Bake a Merry Christmas

Have you ever suddenly thought that you had forgotten a gift for someone? Don't panic, turn on the oven and reach for your favorite cookbook. A quick bread such as banana bread or cranberry bread might just fill the bill, says Gladys Stout, area home extension agent.

Instead of baking the bread in a conventional loaf pan, grease some small cans (soup or pop can size), fill half full and bake. These small, round loaves are just right for open face sandwiches, and, wrapped in foil or plastic wrap, make attractive gifts.

Buzzer Nullified Bears' Chance for Overtime

By BOB BARTLETT

A last-second shot by Laurel's Jon Erwin swished the nets Friday night, but was nullified, giving the visiting Hartington Cedar Catholic Trojans a narrow 50-48 victory.

Erwin had the ball at the top of the key with about two seconds left in the game, but officials ruled that Erwin's shot came after the buzzer sounded. Result: The Bears are still looking for the first win in two outings.

"That's a good ball club out there. They have plenty of depth," said Laurel coach Joel Parks of Cedar's hefty starting five. The standout on Cedar's lineup was 6-2 senior Dick UHING who ripped the nets for 27 big points, including 18 in the rugged second half. Uhing, who crippled Laurel's defense with his inside maneuvers, popped in eight points in the third frame and added 10 in the final stanza. Uhing's scoring was only half of Laurel's problem. The other half was the loss of the Bears' tallest player on the starting lineup, 6-3 senior Greg Pippitt.

Pippitt, who controlled the boards for Laurel most of the first period, got into foul trouble in the early going and got out of all of the second and most of the third quarters.

Without Pippitt stuffing up the middle, Cedar was able to go more to the inside and play its type of game.

Neither team, however, looked sharp from the floor. Cedar finished the game with 35 per cent of its 57 shots going through the net; Laurel made 17 of 58 attempts for 26 per cent.

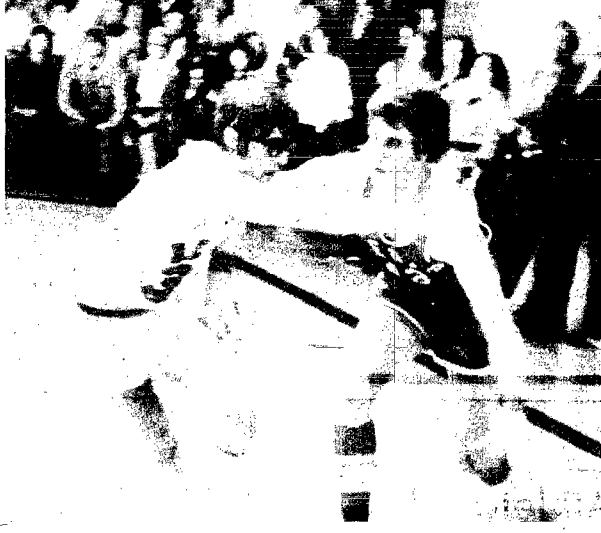

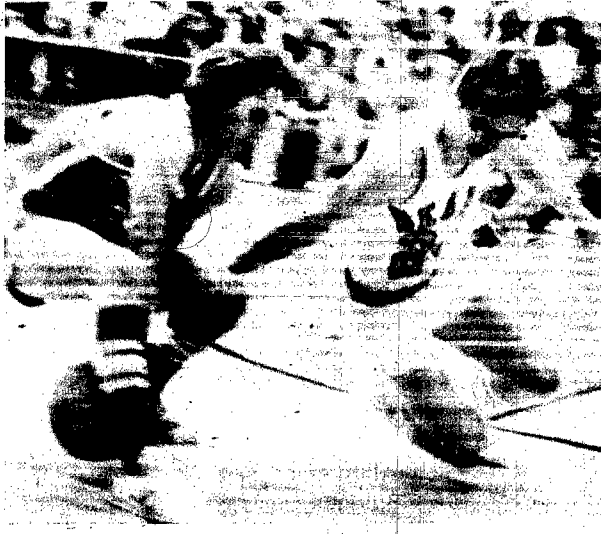

Cedar's running tactics took their effect in the closing minutes of the third period when the visitors pushed the margin to six, 37-31.

That point difference held going into the fourth after a last-second attempt by Cedar's Kelly Suedbeck went in and out of the hoop. That last-second shot resulted after the Trojans, who had the ball with 1:19 left in the period, played ball control for the last shot.

Midway through the fourth, Cedar made it look like it was going to pull the game away when Uhing banged in his 27th points to make the score 45-35 with less than four minutes to go in the game.

The scrappy Bears never said die despite being down 10 points. Pippitt, who tied teammate Brad Erwin for scoring honors with 10 points, sank a pair of free throws to bring his club within eight, 45-37, with 2:21 showing on the clock.

With less than a minute left, senior Brian Johnson cashed in his last two bucks for a 50-48

Pippitt went to the line where he made both shots for a 50-48 ball game. With :25 left, Cedar's Tom Schieffer had a chance to put the game away when he went to the charity line after Laurel's Scott Hueftig fouled him. Schieffer missed and Pippitt grabbed the rebound only to throw the ball away on Laurel's side of the court.

Laurel set the pace of the game with a quick 4-0 lead on baskets by Jon Erwin and Pippitt. Cedar answered back with the help of a 1-3-1 zone defense to slow Laurel's scoring and make the score 6-4 in favor of the Bears.

Pipit Stevens, whose baskets twice knotted the game in the first half, hit a three-foot jumper for a 6-6 ball game.

Disaster struck for Laurel with a little over a minute left in the first period when Pippitt picked up his third personnel foul and was forced to sit out the rest of the half and most of the third quarter.

Although the Bears took a 12-8 lead going into the second stanza, the absence of Pippitt was felt under the basket as Cedar began to control the boards and the tempo of the game.

Baskets by Stevens, who finished the game with 10 points, again had their effect as he brought his club within one point, in the second quarter, 13-12 and 15-14.

Becker's leaping jumper knotted the game for the second time at 16-16 with about six minutes left in the half. Becker kept his hot shooting streak going on the next play to put the Trojans in front for the first time, 18-16.

Laurel's reserves pushed their win skein to 28 Friday with a 44-27 win over Cedar. The last time the junior varsity team lost was two years ago against Wayne.

Frosh Overcome Hartington by 2

Freshman Brad Emry picked a good time Monday to score his only points of the game.

The member of the Wayne High freshmen basketball team sunk his two points against Hartington Cedar Catholic with only 10 seconds left to preserve a 32-30 Wayne victory during the opening game for both clubs at Hartington.

Trailing 16-11 at the intermission, Wayne came back to take a three-point lead in the third period as the see-saw battle continued. "We played a real good defensive ball game," said coach Duane Blomkamp, noting that Cedar shot the ball only 31 times compared to 62 shots for Wayne. Major reason for the spread was Wayne's press where the Blue Devils took advantage of Cedar's 21 turnovers.

Tom Ginn lead Wayne scoring with 11 points and Dave Schwarz had eight for Hartington. Mike Litz finished with 21.

Monday about 5:30 p.m. the Devils will go against Pierce in Wayne's home debut at the high school auditorium.

Wakefield's junior high cagers Wednesday opened their season with a 48-22 whipping of visiting Emerson.

Cold Shooting Devils Bombed 74-47

WAYNE'S MARK BRANDT (14) puts backcourt pressure on a South Sioux City cager as the Devils found themselves on the short side of the score Friday night and tried to press the invading Cardinals. Nothing Wayne did worked very well, however, as the Cards posted an easy 74-47 win.

By DAN VODVARKA

Cold, mistake-prone Wayne didn't last long Friday night against the Cardinals, invading South Sioux City.

Plagued by turnovers and a cold hoop in the early going, the Blue Devils fell behind in the first half and were blitzed at the Wayne High gym, 74-47.

A six and a half minute dry spell in the first quarter did Wayne in as the invading Cardinals jumped to an early 10-point advantage and were never touched by the hosts.

The loss drops Wayne to 0-2 on the year with a trip to Columbus Lakeview on Saturday and a home game against powerful Laurel on Tuesday night next on the agenda.

South Sioux now is at 1-2 on the year after dropping games to Papillion and Heelan before Friday night.

The invading Cardinals opened the contest with a full court press and almost immediately took control with their pressure defense. After Rick Boyle opened the contest for the winners with a fielder, Tim Koll struck back for the hosts with a layup to knot the score early.

But unfortunately for Wayne, that bucket by Koll would be the Devils' only points until Monte Lowe hit a short jumper with :45 left in the quarter. By that time South Sioux had a 12-4 lead. The brightest spot for Wayne in the whole first half came when Lowe swished a set shot from midcourt as the buzzer went off to end the first quarter.

The invaders opened the second period with a 16-6 lead and proceeded to blow the game wide open. Holding Wayne to only one shot from the floor during almost four full minutes, the Cards ran their lead to 27-8 with 4:35 left in the half.

Devil turnovers completely froze up the hosts' offense attack and fueled the fire of South Sioux's fast breaking game. In the final three minutes of the half, Cardinal coach Ken Major went to his bench as his cagers pushed their lead to 24 points.

In the first half, Wayne hit on only five of 22 shots from the floor committed 13 turnovers and found itself outbounded 17-11 with only two offensive rebounds.

Boyle poured in 15 points for the winners in the first half and husky forward Marc Fugleberg had 11 for the Cards midway through the contest. Lowe had eight for Wayne at half and Paul Muller had six.

The final stats show Wayne hit on only 19 of 54 shots from the floor while the Cards hit at a 48 per cent clip. Wayne committed 22 turnovers to the winners' 11 and South Sioux held a 34-23 edge on the boards.

Devil coach Bill Sharpe pointed to South Sioux as having a good ball club but added, "We should have played a better game."

"We weren't looking for the shot much of the time and we just were unorganized out there. A lot of it probably is inexperience," the coach noted.

Sharpe used a number of players Friday night and noted that in the future he will be trying more different players and combinations of players. "We are going to have to do things a lot better," he said.

Lowe again led the Wayne scoring attack with 18 tallies while Koll finished with 10 points. Ten players scored for the winners and five were in double figures. Boyle finished with 15 points while Scott Ford flipped in a dozen tallies.

While Wayne settled down a little bit during the second half, the Devils just couldn't keep up with the aggressive invaders. With 1:05 left in the third period, South Sioux had a 30-point lead with the score 59-29.

Both benches saw considerable action in the final period.

The opening game of the night was about the same story with the invaders' reserves snipping the Wayne JV's 73-34. Trailing by two points after one period, the Devils were outscored 15-4 in

Balanced Scoring Leads Winside Past Wynot, 69-27

Winside cruised by Wynot, 69-27, in high school basketball Friday night, on a shooting of seniors Bob Hoffman, Tyler Frevert and Rick Hartman.

Hoffman, who had game high the week before against Wakefield with 22 points, pumped in 15 against the smaller Wynot team while Frevert added 12 and Hartman dropped in 10.

Balanced shooting highlighted the Wildcats' second win against a solo loss. Hartman, who missed the first two games because of a shoulder injury, came on in strong fashion to prove himself as a potent scoring leader. Right behind him was Cliff Tillema with nine and Joedy Brummels with seven points.

The Cats put up a total of 87 shots, converting 28 for 32 per cent during the one-sided contest which saw the visitors take a

Visiting Winnebago Hands Eagles Third Loss, 79-59

Allen outscored visiting Winnebago 43-30 in the second half, but the Indians did their damage in the first two periods to establish a 79-59 victory Friday night.

The loss was Allen's third of the season. Tuesday night the Eagles hope to break a 2-2 game losing string when winless Newcastle invades.

Behind the scoring of Neil Solomon, who had 24 points for the night, Winnebago coasted to a 49-18 halftime command as the Indians pressured the inexperienced Allen quint into Winnebago's type of game.

Solomon had eight points in the first period while teammate Steve Swanson hit seven to help give Winnebago a 24-9 lead.

The second half was a different ball game for coach Jim Koontz's Eagles. Junior Denny Uhl and senior Charlie Ferguson each scored eight points in the third period to lead Allen's 22-point output in that frame. Uhl and Ferguson finished with 13 and 12 points, Senior Shawn Persinger contributed eight of his 10 points in the second half while he cleared six of his eight rebounds.

Koontz pointed out that although his team looked better in the second half than it ever has, the club needs to be more consistent and play a lot better defense. In Allen's last three outings, the Eagles have given up an average of 76 points a game. "The main thing we have to work on now is consistency," he said.

No results were available for the junior varsity match.

Athlete Of The Week MIKE SODERBERG Wakefield High School

Consistency is the trademark of last week's "Athlete of the Week," the first award winner of the winter sports program. Wakefield High senior Mike Soderberg is the recipient after he helped to lead the Trojan cagers to win over Allen and Winside during the season openers. Soderberg was second high in scoring both nights as he pumped in 16 against Allen, then poured in 17 against Winside to keep Wakefield undefeated in two starts.

Offensive scoring isn't the only strong trait of the 5'10 veteran. Soderberg also is noted for his fine defensive play as a guard. "Quickness is one of the greatest assets on defense," said coach Joe Coble. "If there's someone we want to deny the ball to he's (Soderberg) the man we will go to."

At the beginning of the season, it was doubtful if Soderberg would play until later after he suffered a knee injury while quarterbacking the Trojans' football team. Last year, Soderberg missed a good share of the cage season when a broken hand in football kept him out of varsity action almost half of the season. Soderberg did play some reserve ball, but he never did play as well as he is playing now, the coach pointed out.

Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Soderberg of Wakefield.

Ambulance —

(Continued from page 1) ical Technician (EMT) training course. Pinkelman said it usually takes six-months to complete the 81-hour course. He said some Nebraska communities have been waiting as long as two years to acquire the services of a qualified instructor.

An important factor in considering establishing a rescue unit will be cost. What the cost would be for setting up the unit is unknown, but an examination of ambulance records can give an indication of what revenue from charges would be. In fiscal 1974, (May, 1974 to April, 1975) total income for the ambulance was $4,660. Of that amount, $1,870 came from charges for mileage traveled and $2,790 came from charges made according to the call fee schedule.

Residents from Wayne County are charged the following fees for ambulance transportation to the destination indicated: Sioux City—$30, Norfolk—$20, Omaha—$15. During fiscal 1974, total of $10,241 was paid in salaries. That includes payment both for time on call, and for services actually rendered, for drivers and attendants.

Money paid to standby drivers is entered as a fee. Total fees for the year were $170,500. Other expenses include gas and oil, about $535, repairs and miscellaneous expenses, about $1,500, for a total operating cost of about $12,500. That leaves an overall deficit of about $7,700.

Mrs. Thomas also pointed out that the expenses listed do not include insurance premiums nor administrative costs because hospital staff members perform that work as part of their duties.

During discussion at Tuesday night's meeting, several council members said they have been questioned repeatedly about the need for a Cadillac ambulance, rather than a van-type vehicle with four wheel drive.

Dr. Willis Wiseman said Cadillac is the only company which now makes a limousine-type ambulance and explained that the ambulance operators feel that this type of vehicle is best suited for the type of service provided.

Dr. Wiseman said most ambulance runs are made over roads and four-wheel drive would seldom be helpful. Ambulance records from January, 1972, to the present show that the greatest number of ambulance calls — 340 — were to transfer patients within the city limits to the Wayne Hospital when it was in operation, and to PCC since it opened.

The largest category, totaling 140, involved transporting patients from the Wayne Hospital or PMC, either to other hospitals, clinics, or their residences.

A total of 58 calls were made during the period in which rural Wayne County residents were taken to a Wayne hospital, and 32 residents of other Wayne County towns were taken to the Wayne Hospital.

About 20 calls were made in which patients were transferred between other hospitals, for example, from Norfolk to Sioux City. Patients were transferred from other hospitals to Wayne hospitals on 17 occasions, and to Wayne hospitals from other locations outside the county on four occasions. Transportation from other towns to other hospitals was provided six times, from other hospitals to Wayne addresses other than hospitals nine times, and to and from Wayne clinics about 10 times.

Winside Releases Mrs. Puls From Teaching Contract

The Winside school board decided at a Dec. 8 meeting to release Mrs. Ruth Puls from her teaching contract for the remainder of the school year.

Mrs. Puls, who teaches first grade, will be leaving before the end of the current semester, said superintendent Don Leight. She was released because she is pregnant.

A replacement for Mrs. Puls hasn't been named, Leighton said. Concerning the replacement of social studies teacher Carter Peterson, Leighton noted that a person to fill Peterson's position will be named within the next week. Peterson, who also is head track coach and assists in football and wrestling, handed in his resignation last month.

During the meeting, the board appointed members Earl Duerig, Harlin Brugger and Myron Deck to represent the board when teacher contract negotiations for the 1976-77 school term begin in the near future.

Also, the members agreed to contract with a Sioux City firm to figure all payroll checks by computer on a three-month trial basis.

In other action, members voted to pay the remaining $1,200 due the school district for lots purchased by today (Monday). The board also instructed Leighton to seek a person or persons for snow removal on school grounds.
