Museum Hearing Planned

The Wayne county commissioners Tuesday set 3 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 20, as the time for a hearing to test public reaction to a proposal that between $3,000 and $4,000 in county funds be dedicated annually for support of a county museum in Wayne.

Under the original proposal, the commissioners were asked to designate one-tenth of a mill annually, but they expressed concern over the fact that revaluation of property currently underway could eventually make the levy amount to considerably more money than originally anticipated.

Library Features

Tax Fact Display

Wayne area taxpayers not familiar with the latest federal tax information should plan a visit to the Wayne Public Library.

The library, located at 410 Main St., is featuring an exhibit of the most recent Federal tax information, including the most commonly used tax forms, publications, pamphlets, books and reference materials.

Librarian Kathleen Tooker said information concerning scheduled taxpayer assistance dates at IRS offices is also available at the library.

Airport Authority Lets Bid

The Wayne airport authority Monday night let a bid for the leasing of slightly under 90 acres of farm land owned by the airport.

Successful bidder for the right to farm the land is William Corbit. His bid of $45.50 an acre per year for leasing the property.

Murphy Wants

Resolution for Balanced Budget

State Senator John Murphy of South Sioux City announced Monday that he has confined his introduction of legislation to only one measure since the Unicameral began its 60-day 1976 session on Jan. 7.

Murphy, who represents the 17th District which includes Dakota, Dixon and most of Wayne Counties, said he has authored only one proposal so far in the 1976 session — a resolution that calls upon the federal Congress to introduce and act upon a constitutional amendment that would require Congress to balance its budget each year at whatever level of spending is determined necessary, permitting deviation only in the event of national emergency.

If Congress declines to do so, Murphy's resolution would call on other states to join with Nebraska to call a national constitutional convention for that purpose.

Recruiting Is Tough Challenge

Nebraska National Guardsmen are regularly called upon to assist in handling situations such as the one caused last weekend by the explosion at the Pathfinder Hotel in Fremont, but during the next three months, the National Guard will be facing what could be one of its toughest challenges — that of filling its own ranks.

Nebraska National Guard adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Francis Winner, attended Tuesday's city council meeting, telling city officials what they can do locally to help with the recruiting effort.

Winner's deputy, Col. Burl Johnson, Sunday visited with Wayne Guardsmen due for discharge soon, to find out what the men think are the Guard's good and bad points.

The Wayne unit, Company A, First Mechanized Battalion, 134th Infantry Brigade, now has 88 enlisted men on its roster, but has an authorized strength of 155 men. About 30 per cent of those enlisted men are due for discharge within the next six months. If the unit isn't kept at 80 per cent of the authorized strength, it could be closed down.

The problem isn't unique to Wayne, Johnson said. The Nebraska Army and Air National Guard now have 6,000 — 70 per cent of authorized strength, and has 150 men due for discharge this year. In order to rebuild its ranks, the Guard will be undertaking a statewide recruiting effort entitled "Cornhusker Minuteman '76" during February, March and April.

From his interviews with men across the state, Johnson said he believes what attracts most men to join or stay in the Guard is the fraternity offered, being part of an organization and working

City Moves Closer to NPPD Contract

The Wayne city council Tuesday night came a step closer to completing an agreement under which the city will purchase all electric power from the Nebraska Public Power District, and in turn, will lose to NPPD the generating capacity of the city light plant.

The city fathers passed a resolution directing that a letter be sent to NPPD declaring that the city intends to enter such a contract, pending a favorable response from the city's bonding attorneys.

About $59,000 remain to be allocated to the generating plant and the city wants to be sure that doesn't present any legal complications.

If the contract is signed, NPPD will pay the city about $20 per kilowatt of demonstrated generating capacity.

Demonstrated capacity now is about 9,300 kilowatts. However, improvements could possibly boost capacity to as high as 13,000 to 14,000 kilowatts, the council was told Tuesday night, and the NPPD contract would allow the city to make improvements to boost capacity. The council passed a motion authorizing a study of the feasibility of a capacity increase, and also authorized a study of electrical rates.

Electrical engineering consultant Norman Armstrong told the council that the city's electric rate schedule is based on information 25 years old, and setting a flat, across-the-board rate increase would not be equitable for city customers.

City administrator Fred Brink estimates that overall rates approximately 20 per cent higher than present will be necessary. See COUNCIL, page 10

Bucks Drawing To Increase $25 Each Week

The grand prize in the weekly Birthday Bucks drawing will increase $25 every week until the jackpot reaches $750.

That means tonight (Thursday) someone who has a chance to win $25 if his birthday matches the winning date drawn at random.

The $25 increase was decided last week by participating Wayne merchants because no one has claimed the top prize in a long time, said Chamber of Commerce manager Howard Will.

The Chamber has some reserve funds so the members decided to increase the amount in an effort to build more interest in the weekly drawing, he added.

The consolation prize remains at $25.

Last week's winner, Mrs. Alan Thompson of rural Wakefield, missed winning the $500 grand prize by only two weeks.

She was at Surber's Clothing when the winning date of April 8, 1954 was announced at 8 15 p.m. Her date was April 7. As a result, she won the consolation prize.

Anyone can win the consolation or grand prize. No purchases or registration is necessary. However, a shopper must be present in a participating Wayne business when the date is announced.

Vandalism Reported

Two cases of apparent vandalism were investigated by the Wayne County sheriff's office Saturday morning.

Glass panes were broken from either side of the front door of the Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church, the former District 88 school house, located south of the Wayne County fairgrounds.

The panes were apparently broken so entrance could be gained by unlocking the door. Nothing was reported missing or damaged inside the church, although lights were left on and the front door was left open.

Mailboxes belong to Russell Johnson and Mrs. Andrew Johnson were knocked down, also overnight Friday. Sheriff office spokesmen said the two boxes, located together on Highway 15, had been hit by a vehicle.

An item requested by the WEA regarding staff reduction was rejected by the school board. WEA president Larry Boetner had previously explained that because of declining enrollment, teachers would like to secure an agreement under which qualified faculty members who fear their jobs might be in jeopardy would be given first chance at filling vacancies left by the departure of other faculty members.

Brandi said Monday night that the item was rejected because board policy and administrative procedures already exist which guarantee due process in re-evaluating teacher candidates and in the election of teachers.

The board will notify the WEA of the decision, within 30 days of the association's request, as required by state law. The first date for a negotiations meeting must be set within 21 days after receipt of the board's reply.

The board also passed a motion to renew school superintendent Francis Haun's contract for three years, with salary schedule to be established at or before the regular meeting in March. A second motion accepted Haun's recommendation that school principals Don Ziers, Loren Park and Richard Mettler be re-elected to their positions, with a similar deadline for establishing salaries.

Board approval was granted for the school district to participate in a two-day Bicentennial trip to Washington, D.C. by charter flight.

The trip is being sponsored locally by the Wayne State National Bank, in cooperation with Financial Marketing, a Minneapolis firm.

A total of 40 people must register for the trip in order for the local school district to participate. Bank representative Beverly Etter said Tuesday that rural school districts in Wayne County will be included with the Wayne Carroll district so far as See NEGOTIATIONS, page 10

The salary schedule, extra duty pay, and income protection were items listed in the Wayne Education Association's negotiations request. In addition, the board has added sick leave and medical insurance.

School board president and negotiations chairman Dr. Irv Brandt said the two items were added by the board because of their relationship to the income protection item.

Senate Candidate Pledges Unconventional Campaign

Former Nebraska Democratic party chairman, Hess Dyas, will make several stops in northeast Nebraska on Friday during a tour to announce his candidacy for the United States Senate.

Dyas said Sunday that he will spend this week announcing his candidacy throughout the state, rather than assembling his supporters and the news media for a traditional press conference.

"I realize that this kind of announcement is unconventional," he said. "But mine will be a conventional campaign. I am beginning my campaign by announcing my candidacy personally to Nebraskans—where they work, where they shop, and where they live."

Dyas, who was a field representative with the State Technical Assistance Agency under former Gov. Frank Morrison, will begin his Friday tour of northeast Nebraska with a press conference at the South Sioux City Marina Inn at 8:15 a.m., followed by a Chamber of Commerce Coffee at 9:30.

Dyas' itinerary will take him through Wayne, although no stop is scheduled. He will meet with Madison County Democrats at the Norfolk Commercial Savings

Cow-Calf Workshop Slated for Monday

A beef cow and calf workshop will be held Monday at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Scheduled speakers and their topics include: Wayne County extension agent Don Spitze—call veal in program; extension entomologist John Witkow—livestock insects; extension beef specialist Vernon Krause—relations for the cow herd and management tips; extension agronomist Russell Moomaw, getting the most from pastures, and artificial insemination.

Following presentations the staff will conduct a question and answer session. The meeting is open to the public.

Wayne Carroll school superintendent Francis Haun informed school board members Monday that under board guidelines, the school system must offer reduced price lunches to eligible students, or face possible termination of federally supplied commodities.

The school system already offers free lunches to qualified students, and will begin serving lunches at reduced prices to those eligible on March 1. Meals regularly costing 35 cents will cost 20 cents for eligible participants.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown on the table below are eligible for free or reduce price meals or free milk.

Haun said that in addition, families not meeting these criteria but with unusually high medical expenses, housing costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, unusually high special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, or disaster or casualty victims, are also urged to apply. Application forms are being sent by mail to all parents. Haun said, and additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The superintendent said information provided on applications is confidential and issued only to determine eligibility for free or reduced price lunches.

In some cases, foster children are also eligible for the lunch benefits and families with foster children who wish to apply should contact the school for additional information.

Under provisions of the policy, the determining official will review applications and determine eligibility. Parents dissatisfied with rulings may discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis, and can request either orally or in writing, a formal appeal.

Winside Matmen Make It Two Straight

By BOB BARTLETT
Winside High's wrestling team and its fans never were so happy Saturday to see a member of the Oakland-Craig squad win a match.

The victory by 155-pound Darryl Anderson of Oakland over Hooper-Logan View's Brad Peterson insured the Wildcats of their second-straight Winside Invitational championship by just three points over runnerup Logan View.

The Wildcats captured the 16-team meet with 135 points to Logan View's 132 in the see-saw final matches which saw both teams substitute leads.

Randolph nudged out Wymore Southern by a half-point to claim third with 94 1/2 points. Finishing fifth was Scribner with 81, followed by Norfolk Catholic with 78, Oakland with 68 1/2, Plainview with 65, South Sioux City reserves with 58 1/2, Wakefield with 51, Stanton with 38 1/2, Osmond with 27, Wynot with 24, Lyons with 23, Hartington High with 18 and Norfolk High reserves with 10.

Coach Ron Peck had three of six Cat grapplers win their matches in the finals of the two-day meet. Winning the 119-pound division was Bob Bowers, who pushed his record to 9-1 with a 2-0 decision over James Dahl of Scribner. Bowers' two-point reverse came with 18 seconds left in the match and put Winside ahead in the point standings, 128-127.

Keith Suehl went into overtime in the finals of the 125-pound division as Scott Braum for the 126-pound title before winning, 4-2. Suehl, whose record now stands at 13-7, scored one point each for two escapes and two points for a takedown to win the match which was tied at eight all at the end of regulation time. Suehl's win gave the Wildcats a 132-127 edge.

The final points for Winside came when Monte Pfeiffer defeated 132-pound Jeff Heiberger of Scribner, 4-2. Pfeiffer's record is 12-3.

Taking second for Winside were Brad Langenberg, Brad Bummels and Brian Svoboda. Langenberg was pinned by Logan View's 145-pounder, Gary Johnson, who finished fourth in the state last year. The pin quickly dwindled Winside's eight-point lead to three, setting the deciding match between Anderson and Peterson.

Going into that match, Peterson had lost only two matches. Earlier in the meet he surprised fans when he beat the state's No. two-ranked 155-pounder in Class C, Tim Price of Norfolk Catholic.

Logan View, which had five wrestlers in the finals, finished with two first-place winners. Besides Johnson, 105-pound Steve Miller pinned Don James of Wymore Southern to push his undefeated string to 14. Miller is third in the state.

Scribner and Oakland had three each in the finals while Wymore, Norfolk Catholic and Randolph had two each and Stanton had one.

Wymore was ahead of Randolph, 88-83, after the consolation rounds. But the Cardinals had one first-place finisher to credit the dog fight for third place.

Last year the Cats, under the direction of Doug Barclay, won its 17-team invitational rather convincingly. Bad weather last year limited the meet to only 10 teams, including Osmond, Randolph, Plainview, Hartington High, Wakefield, Norfolk Catholic, Lyons, Wynot and Winside. Not appearing were teams from Macy and Stanton.

Sharing the most valuable wrestling honors for this year's meet were Suehl and Randolph's Kelly Stueckarth, who won the 138-pound title.

The fastest pin award went to Vern Cash of Wynot who pinned Jim Coffey of Wymore Southern in 21 seconds during the first round of the 112-pound match. Winning the award for most pins was Rod Horst of Plainview. The heavyweight had two pins.

Nationally-Ranked Penn Invades Rice Saturday

Wayne State's basketball women have a couple of decisive wins behind them from last week, and coach G. L. Willoughby reports steadily improving play execution.

But she hastens to add, they will need to stay off their next opponent — nationally ranked William Penn College, coming to Rice Auditorium for a 2 p.m. game Saturday.

The Wildkittens encountered Penn's First Ladies in the regional tournament last year and gave them a good challenge before bowing 57-50 in the semi-finals. Penn went on to beat Kansas State in the finals.

Miss Willoughby describes the Penn team as the "tallest and most talented we will face this year. That's an authoritative description as she watched Penn play in the Southwest-Missouri Turkey Tournament back in November (Wayne finished fourth in that one).

Interestingly, not long ago Penn's only loss had been to the same Grand View team that barely beat Wayne here, 97-95, in December.

The Wayne-Penn game Saturday will follow a noon game between Wayne's junior varsity and Platte College.

Sunday at Kearney, the Wildkittens bombed Kearney State coeds, 98-64, with almost total domination of rebounds. Connie Kunzmann led the victors with 21 points, though she fouled out in the third quarter. Only one other Wayne player, Lori Mittelstadt, a substitute, scored double figures, with 10.

Friday at Brookings, S.D.

Allen Cagers Host Ponca

Allen's junior high cagers will try to even their record tonight (Thursday) when the area club hosts Ponca's coach Roger Miller's quint fell to host Castle, 33-30, for Allen's loss ahead by three at the half. Allen saw that lead quickly disappear in the third period when New-castle took a nine-point edge going into the final period. Allen came back to narrow the lead to one point with about 45 seconds left in the game, but turned the ball over twice to halt any chances of winning.

Leading Allen scoring was Greg Carr with eight followed by Doug Koester with six and Duane Stolle, Mark Koch, Frank Lanier and Bob Stewart, with four each.

In the reserve match, Allen lost 10-8. Four players had two points each. They were Scott Carr, Randy Smith, Ricky Gotch and Tom Sturges.

HOW DOES a former Dana College basketball star end up as coach of a high school wrestling team which has turned out to be one of the best teams in Class C?

That's one of the questions Larry Anderson seems to be facing everywhere he and his Wymore Southern grapplers go. For Anderson, who has coached the sport since it started nine years ago, the answer is relatively simple. After the head coach quit, he was the only member of the coaching staff who had any wrestling experience. Result: He got the job.

Anderson, whose grapplers took fourth place Saturday at the Winside Invitational, doesn't claim to have any great knowledge of the sport. Most of the credit to his team's fine performances go to his assistant coach and the desire on the part of the wrestlers at Wymore.

A look back over the nine years shows Wymore in 1974 won the Class C title, twice in 1971 and 75 finished second in the state and once in 1973 took third. That's quite a feat for a school which has had little time to develop in the sport.

One of the keys to Wymore's success is to go to as many meets as possible, regardless of the distance. The southern Nebraska school, which is located about 50 miles south of Lincoln, travels about 2,500 miles a year, including about a 400-mile roundtrip to Winside and a good 500-mile jaunt to an Iowa tournament.

Anderson's philosophy about the sport is to have his wrestlers participate in as many tournaments as possible. The tougher the better, he quipped, adding that's why he was glad to come to the Winside meet. "The more variety, the better my kids will become," Anderson added.

Because the boy enrollment this year has jumped, Wymore will move up from Class C to B, giving other wrestling teams in Class C a better chance to stake their claim to the state team title when the meet rolls around in March.

Although Wymore will be moving up, Anderson isn't counting out his wrestlers out of the B meet. Sure, it will be tougher. But that's how Anderson wants it. The experience wrestling in Class B is bound to pay off the following season when his grapplers will go back to Class C. Then all other Class C schools better watch out for Wymore again.

ANDERSON wasn't the only coach to praise Winside coach Ron Peck and his staff for the fine tournament, which was the largest of its kind in the state. Coaches from "South" Sioux City and runnerup Hooper-Logan View also had some good comments about the 16-team meet.

Mike McTaggart of South Sioux said it was the finest tournament in Nebraska. "The people at Winside are first class. They do a fine job. And the caliber of competition is as high as I want it to be for my wrestlers," he said.

When it came time to Class A South Sioux reserves to enter the meet, Me-

Taggart wasn't thinking about the class barrier. Just about the kind of wrestlers in the meet.

Logan View coach Hershel Nuzum said his school had been trying to get into the meet for some time, but prior contract commitment halted any hopes. Since Logan View didn't have commitments this year, both Nuzum and his team were eager to get into the meet.

Why? "This is the best chance for my team to get to meet different teams," he noted.

Nuzum added that the Winside meet probably is the best in the state.

WHAT are the prospects for Winside hosting another tournament of this size? Real good Winside administrators Monday gave Winch the go ahead to hold the meet next year.

One of the major reasons for another 16-team meet next year, he pointed out, was its success. The total bill to put on a meet of this size was $1,050. The tournament grossed about $1,500, leaving a profit of $250.

Albrecht, Hoemann Spark Winside Gals to Victory

Trailing by as much as nine points in the first half, Winside High girls used a strong defense in the last two quarters to overcome Hartington High Monday night, 53-37, at the Winside auditorium.

Senior Deb Albrecht sparked Winside's come-from-behind victory with 24-point output, including 11 in the second half. Albrecht — and sophomore Paula Hoemann — broke the game open in the last period when the pair combined for 15 of the team's 21 points.

Hoemann's basket in the opening seconds of the last period put Winside ahead to stay, 34-33. The 5-10 Hoemann then finished the night with 11 points, second high for coach Kathy O'Conner's team.

"We just outbusted them in the second half," was Mrs. O'Conner's explanation of how her girls overcame a six-point half-time deficit to record their first win of the season.

The first three quarters Winside was a little lusterless. The coach went on, but Winside started to press at mid-court which caused Hartington to turn the ball over.

Taking third-high scoring honors for Winside was senior Barb Ritze with 10 points. Hartington lost its scoring punch in the final stanza when coach Mike Hemen had to take out his leading scorer, Marsha Brummer. The 5-2 sophomore wasn't allowed to finish the varsity game because she had played in the reserve game. According to NSAA rules, a player may only participate in a total of four quarters for two games in one night.

Brummer had 12 points in the double-overtime JV game to lead her team to a 29-25 victory. The score was tied at 18-all at the end of regulation play. Three minutes later both teams again were knotted at 21-all.

Leading Winside scoring was Kathy Thomas with 16 points.

Kearney Matmen Tackle Wayne In Dual 31-12

Kearney State wrestlers made their season debut notable Tuesday night when they defeated Wayne State, 31-12, and got falls in two of their six wins.

Those two falls came in the last two matches after Wayne's freshman 177-pounder, Dwight Liennemann of Winside, closed the team score gap to 19-12 with a 3-23 pin. That lifted Liennemann to a 9-4 record, best on the team.

Prospects looking encouraging with Wayne's Mike Riedmann, a seasoned senior, next up with an 8-4 record. But Al Halstead gave Kearney the safety it needed as he pinned Riedmann in 6:19. Then Antelope heavyweight Bob Feurer topped it off when he pinned Wayne's freshman Jerry Mundell in 4:10.

The loss left Wayne with a 1-3 dual mark going to a triple dual Saturday at Yankton with USD, Springfield and Huron the other teams entered.

Other Wayne Kearney results: 118 — Keven Anderson (K) defeated Mark Ellis, 12-3. 126 — Paul Sok (WS) defeated Mike Flesh, 4-2. 134 — Dan Wicke (K) defeated Craig Hellwege, 6-0. 142 — Darrell Barnes (K) defeated Kevin Cuveller, 14-7. 150 — John Puille, (K) won by forfeit. 158 — Kirk Hanson (WS) defeated Randy Nicholson, 9-2. 167 — Matt Trobaugh (K) defeated Andrew Brown, 7-1.

Loss to Kearney had to be disappointment for the Wildcats after they beat nationally-rated Augsburg Saturday at Minneapolis, 30-18. Coach Marlon Heaver rated that a season peak.

Paul Sok and Kirk Hanson won by fall, and Mundell came through with a key-heavyweight decision.

118 — Mark Ellis, W, won by forfeit; 126 — Paul Sok, W, pinned Murry Herzberg in 7:57; 134 — Craig Hellwege, W, won by forfeit; 142 — Rory Jordan, A, defeated Kevin Cuveller, 23:7-150 — Tom Jackson, A, defeated Paul Nicholson, 11:2; 158 — Kirk Hanson, W, pinned Mike Benson in 3:50; 167 — Jeff Swenson, A, defeated Andy Brown, 7:0; 177 — Jeff Bilik, A, pinned Dwight Liennemann in 4:45; 190 — Mike Riedmann, W, defeated Jim Pappas, 6:3; 191 — Jerry Mundell, W, defeated Tom Trouhewig, 6:5.

Team 2 Hands Team 6 Loss To Tie Loop

There's no longer an undefeated team in a league of men's recreation basketball now that Team 6 has suffered its first loss.

Team 2 Monday night spoiled Team 6's bid for its fourth win with a 65-60 upset at the city auditorium. Don Larson pumped in 19 points to lead Team 2 to its first win, which ties Team 6 for first place in the six-team league. Top scorer for Team 6 was Jack Froehlich with 18.

In a game plagued by four technical fouls, Team 1 overcame Team 4, 66-61. Both clubs now are tied for third place with 27 records.

After missing most of first-half action, Team 1 cut scored 12 of its 19 points in the second half to lead the victors from a 36-28 deficit. Brock Giese had 13 of his 15 points in the first half to lead his team's scoring.

Mike Lidie ripped the nets for 25 points in Team 3's 69-62 conquest of Team 5. Leading Team 5's scoring was Mark Flier with 22 points. Both teams are tied for fifth with 13 record.

Wednesday's schedule has Teams 6 and 4 playing at 6:45 p.m., followed by Teams 1 and 3 at 8 and Teams 4 and 2 at 9:15.

Bloom Scores 11

— Laurel senior Brian Bloom scored 10 of his 11 points in the fourth on Thursday night to help lead the Bears to an 83-45 victory over Bloomfield in the semifinals of the Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference tournament at Bloomfield.

In Monday's story it was reported, Brad Erwin had 11 points. The Bear Friday night went on to beat O'Neill, 75-51, to win the championship trophy.

Bergman's 28 Lifts Hastings Over Cats

Except for the outcome, in the local view, Wayne fans knew they had seen a first class basketball game. Tuesday night when Wayne State and Hastings mixed on the Rice court.

Unhappily, Hastings pulled out a 91-88 decision after trailing by 43-34 at the half. En route to the conclusion, these facts stood out.

The lead changed 21 times, and there were seven tie scores. Other than Wayne's quick spurts to the nine-point half lead and Hastings' brief jump to a seven-point spread in the second half, the score usually was three points apart or less.

The 166-pound, 6-8 and 240-pound Paul Bergman, hit 14 of his 15 field shots for a game-high 28. Quick and sure-handed, he was all but unstoppable dropping in fielders.

Wayne's whirlwind team leader John Redmond had himself a hot night too, shooting 12 of 19 from the floor (63 per cent) — several on his remarkable flying shot — when he soars in from near the free throw line. He totaled 25 points.

Rich Anderson hit half his field shots, for 22 points, but had no chances at the line.

In fact, the Wildcats had only eight free throws and hit four while Hastings shot seven of 12, an unusually low free throw total.

Both teams hit 42 field goals. The Wildcats shot a lot, 85

Hartington forfeits Aid Trojan Foremen

With the help of five forfeits by Hartington High Tuesday night, Wakefield grapplers posted their third dual win in four matches, 48-16.

Wakefield won matches in the 98, 105, 119, 132 and 145-pound divisions after host Hartington failed to have grapplers in those weights.

Sophomore Dean Sharp, who replaced Dan Byers at 126, pinned Hartington's Kevin Pedersen for Sharp's second dual win in three matches.

Dean's really improving, said coach Lytle Trullinger.

Athlete Of The Week

KEITH SUEHL, Winside High School

Winside High senior Keith Suehl is this week's "Athlete of the Week" after the 126-pound grappler Saturday captured first place in the 16-team Winside Invitational.

Suehl who is ranked third in the state, earns the honor after he defeated Popper Logan View's Scott Braum 4-2 in overtime to post his 13th win against a solo defeat.

Using his balance and hand strength, Suehl twice scored one-point escapes before he got two points for his favorite move — a fakedown — to end the match in the closing seconds after both grapplers tied at eight-all at the end of regulation time.

Keith has tremendous balance and a lot of strength in his hands. That's why he's such a strong wrestler," said coach Ron Peck, adding that when Suehl gets into a position which most wrestlers would lose, Keith uses his balance to get on top.

Son of Mrs. and Mr. Bill Suehl of rural Winside, Keith last year finished fourth in the state in the 112-pound division. Keith's only loss this season was to the state's No. one-ranked 126-pounder, Bill Snell of Millford. Like Saturday's match, the final decision was in overtime where Snell broke a 1-1 deadlock to win 5-3.

Walhill Roms Past AH, 87-21

Shooting only 16 per cent from the field Tuesday night, Allen succumbed to visiting Walhill, 87-21.

The Eagles made only eight of 51 shots to suffer the area club's ninth straight loss. Friday night Allen travels to Ponca in search of its first win of the 1975-76 season.

Led by Denny Uhl and Tod Ellis, who each had six points for the night, Allen hit nine points in the first half to trail, 45-9.

Allen's reserves also are looking for their first win as Walhill handed the hosts a 53-19 setback for Allen's seventh defeat.

The hosts jumped to a 23-8 halftime command and never had trouble stopping the Winside quint.

Allen Subdues Pender Girls For Sixth Win

Allen girls used a controlled game in the second half Monday night to subdue host Pender and claim the Eaglettes' sixth straight win, 44-29.

Coach Steve McManigal's girls, who will be going after their seventh victory tonight (Thursday) at home against Ponca, held Pender to only nine points in the second half while the host team popped in 17.

Leading Allen's scoring was senior Diane Witte with 12 points. Witte pumped in eight points the second period to break a 12-12 first period score and help give Allen a 29-20 halftime command.

Junior Lori Erwin, who finished second high with 11 points, was the Eaglettes' top rebounder with 14. Witte was second with 10.

Allen went to a controlled game in the second half after both clubs were plagued by fouls in the first half, McManigal pointed out.

In an overtime decision, Allen reserves evened their record at 3-2 with a 12-10 victory. June Stapleton scored the winning points when she sank two free throws to break the 10-10 deadlock.

Wayne Girls Top Wakefield For 2nd Win

Wayne's varsity and reserve girls basketball teams Tuesday night boosted their records to 2-0 with victories over visiting Wakefield.

Using a full-court press in the second quarter the varsity pulled away from the Trojans to take a 28-9 halftime command before the hosts topped Wakefield, 40-18.

Senior Mary Kovensky scored eight of game-high-10 in the first half to lead coach Don Zeiss' Wayne quint. Julie Kay, who was second high with nine, made five points in a span of 10 seconds in the second quarter.

Sydney Mosley, Bobette Caffey and Peg Pinkelman each hit four points to lead the JV's to a 23-14 win over Wakefield. Lynn Hold had eight for coach Susan Kovar's club.

IN A scramble for a loose ball, Hartington's Amy Hegert right, goes down on one knee to grab the ball from Winside's Barb Ritze in varsity action at Winside High auditorium.

Bears' 4th Quarter Spree Rips Stanton

"It's a good place to start," Bears started passing the ball better and began scoring on the fast breaks to put the game away. Another factor for the Bears' strong fourth quarter performance was the absence of three of Stanton's starters who fouled out. They included scoring leader Mike Hinnericks, who exited with 10 points, Kent Pohlman and Joel Maroltz.

As it past game, Laurel had balanced scoring, especially in the last period. Brad and Jon Erwin and Brian Johnson each had six points in the final frame.

The leaders for the Bears throughout the contest were Brad Erwin with 18 and Scott Huettig with 16. Huettig carried Laurel in the first half with 14 points. Erwin pumped in 10 in the second half.

The reserves pushed their season mark to 5-0 and the win string to 31 over two years with a 48-35 victory. Doug Thompson, had 15 points to lead the JVs.

Prep Picks: Bears Gearing Up for State?

By BOB BARTLETT

It's a little too early for Laurel High basketball fans to be thinking about winning a berth to the state Class C tournament in March, even though coach Joel Parks' Bears look like they could gun down any Class C quint without much effort.

The varsity last week just waltzed through the Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference tournament, hardly taking a second breath to knock off defending champion O'Neill, 76-51. Even the junior varsity got in some licks during the semifinal game against Bloomfield Thursday night, prompting Parks to point out during Friday's booster breakfast that he had to put his varsity back in the game late in the fourth quarter just to hold down the score.

Parks later explained that his JVs have been so "hungry" to see action that they couldn't resist pumping in 12 of 13 attempts from the field. The final score was 83-45.

With the annual loop tournament behind them, the Bears can now look forward to going after the season NENAC trophy when the area quint hosts Neligh Friday, then travels to Creighton Saturday night.

Although the Bears had little trouble in winning the tournament, Parks isn't taking conference teams for granted. Each game, he pointed out after Friday's victory, will be important.

As of Wednesday morning, my record stood at 30-11. Correct picks included Allen girls to beat Newcastle and Pender, Wayne girls over Wakefield, Wakefield over Oakland-Craig, Laurel over Stanton and Walhill over Allen. I missed on Madison beating Wayne, Winside girls topping Hartington High, and Stanton girls defeating Wakefield.

—This week's selections (winners in boldface):

Tonight (Thursday)

Newcastle girls at Laurel—Red Raider girls didn't look that impressive against Allen. Laurel should have this one easy. Ponca girls at Allen—Who else?

Friday

Wayne at Stanton—Mustangs knocked off Wakefield in a surprise game that victory tends to make the hosts the favorite in this matchup.

Coleridge at Winside—Wildcats are eager for a victory. Neligh at Laurel—Chalk up win No. nine for the Bears. Allen at Ponca—Indian's home court makes them the team to beat.

Coleridge (girls) at Winside—Those Wildkittens are wild on the court. There's no stopping coach Kathy O'Conner's club.

Saturday

Pender at Wakefield—Trojans bounce back from loss to Stanton.

New Senior Center Could Be Ready Soon

If all goes well the next two months, members of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center could be moving into their new location in the basement of the new City Hall at Second and Pearl.

That's the official word from city administrator Fred Brink, who spoke Monday at the weekly Wayne Kiwanis Club meeting.

Brink said that the biggest obstacle to having the center open in 60 days is the installation of a second basement door. Right now, the building has one outside door, but the state fire marshal said there must be two exit floors.

While discussing the city's move from the auditorium to the new offices in the former Wayne Hospital, which also houses the police department, Brink noted that renovation of the four-story building should be completed in six months.

Besides housing the center in the basement and one of the city offices on the first floor, the City Hall also will be the site of new city council chambers on the second floor. In addition to the council's chambers, there will be offices for engineers, building inspector, administrator and the planning commission on the second floor, Brink said.

The third floor primarily will be used as meeting rooms for groups such as Boy and Girl Scouts, Brink added.

Looking over the history of the new City Hall building, Brink said the structure was built in the late 1930's and early 40's and opened about 1941. At that time, the structure was valued at $60,000. Now its appraised value is near $375,000, he said.

CITY ADMINISTRATOR Fred Brink goes over some of the building plans for the new City Hall with a member of the Wayne Kiwanis Club.

Students Eligible For Scholarship

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln Department of Food Science and Technology has announced the availability of ten $500 scholarships to high school seniors interested in this field.

Harold Barnhart, UNL food science instructor, said the scholarships are available to persons who are interested in studying food technology at the University of Nebraska. The scholarships, given for the freshman year, are renewable for the sophomore year.

Nebraska students will be competing with students from other states for the scholarships, which will be awarded national ly.

In addition to the national scholarships, several scholarships from the food science department valued at $200 will be awarded. These are selected from Nebraska applicants only.

Barnhart said food science and technology is a relatively new field. "It developed during World War II and has grown rapidly during the decades of the 50's and 60's." Basically, food technology is concerned with the industrial processing, handling and distribution of food, he said. "In other words, it encompasses all of the activities involved with getting the raw food from our farms and ranches into the finished products that appear in our supermarkets."

Barnhart said that the job prospects for food technology graduates "have been and are very good." The career opportunities for food technology graduates continue to grow every year.

The greatest need is for students who have the Bachelor of Science degree in Food Science and Technology, he said.

Any graduating high school senior, both men and women, are eligible to apply. Barnhart said a farm background is helpful, but not necessary.

Interested seniors can obtain application materials by writing to the Department of Food Science and Technology, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE 68583. Application materials should be requested by January 24, 1976, and must be completed and returned by February 7 to be submitted for national competition.

ary obligation. The advent of the volunteer Army ended that. There are some encouraging signs, however. Johnson said that for the time the Guard was caught in the aftermath of the Vietnam war, and many people were "turned off" about the military. That is starting to change now, he said.

The state has also offered an incentive to encourage enlistments. Guardsmen attending state colleges and universities pay half the regular cost for tuition, and over 2,400 certificates of eligibility have been processed during the four regular semesters since the bill became law.

Extra income is also an incentive. Depending on rank, the average Guardsman earns about $1,200 a year in weekend drill and summer camp pay. Guardsmen may also receive training in skills which can lead to careers in civilian life. And Col. Johnson said the Guard experience offers some less tangible benefits. Good management is important to the Guard, Johnson said, and many Guardsmen find these skills useful in their regular jobs. Much of Guard operations are concerned with exchanging information of a technical nature and communication skills gained are also valuable, Johnson said.

Communications will be vital to the Guard's recruiting effort which will begin in February. Guard representatives will be visiting schools, businessmen, community leaders and local government representatives.

"I don't think we can make the case clear enough," Johnson said. "It's not 'our' National Guard. It is 'their' National Guard too. It is needed in communities, and we can't maintain it without everyone's help."

Russell at the meeting that such was not the case.

Russell criticized The Herald because "one had asked him how he had figured that the cost of publishing claims would triple if a different method of publication was used. He concluded by asking Herald news editor Jim Strayer, present at the Tuesday meeting and responsible for the editorial, 'Mr. Strayer, what have you done for the community besides tear it down?'"

Norman Armstrong, electrical engineering consultant, told the council the rate study will cost $4,500, the capacity increase study, about $5,000.

A pair of items on the agenda were scratched at the insistence of councilman Vernon Russell. Russell had placed on the agenda for the discussion of claims, and of the state open meeting law, but refused to talk about the two subjects in open session and asked that the items be dropped after being informed that there were no grounds for a closed session.

Russell cited as the reason for wanting a closed session, the "adverse publicity" he had received following the last council meeting, referring to a Wayne Herald editorial criticizing him for his motion to discontinue publishing of claims, as required by Nebraska statute.

Russell said he felt he had been "slandered" and had been caused a great loss of business by the news media.

City Attorney Budd Bornhoft reviewed the Nebraska open meeting law and said he could see no legal justification for a closed meeting.

Bornhoft also related that Russell had asked him to examine the editorial to determine if any statements were possibly libelous, and informed

The 1976 interns will be chosen by geographic areas. Two will be chosen from Lancaster County and one each from the following areas: Knox, Cedar, Dixon and Wayne Counties; Pierce and Madison Counties; Dakota, Thurston, Cuming and Stanton Counties; Colfax and Dodge Counties; Butler and Saunders Counties; York, Seward, Fillmore and Saline Counties; Thayer, Jefferson, Gage and Pawnee Counties, and Richardson, Johnson, Nemaha and Otoe Counties.

Intern activities will include private meetings with eight senators and eight Representatives, attendance at Congressional session, and work on pending bills.

achieving the minimum number is concerned, but each district will be under a separate contract.

Price for the trip, opened to students, teacher, and parents of the school district is $169. That will include roundtrip airfare on the Overseas Nations "Bicentennial DC 8" all sightseeing and entrance fees, professional guide service, transportation while in Washington, meals, and reimbursement to the school for fees for teachers substituting for regular teachers taking part in the excursion. One teacher must accompany each 19 students attending.

Mrs. Etter said brochures are being prepared which give further details of the trip. The brochures will be distributed in the schools, and parents must sign a letter of intent if their children will participate. Haun informed the board members that an insurance in-sector has recommended that the boiler at the Carroll school be replaced. It is feared that sealer being used in the boiler will eventually block steam passages. Haun said the main concern is that the coal-fired boiler would crack and become inoperative.

Board members Milton Owens and Dale Stollenberg were appointed a committee which will investigate the cost of replacing the boiler or switching to an alternative heating method and make a recommendation at the next board meeting.

Wayne High teacher Verne Mills will again next summer be able to offer a course in environmental studies, thanks to board approval for the project. Cost is about $7,500.

"I think it is a very worthwhile class," board member Dorothy Ley said. "Not only for the students taking it, but for the rest of the community. Their knowledge spills over to the rest of the community and makes us more aware of our environment." In other action the board:

Was informed by Haun that, under federal mandate, the school system must begin offering reduced price lunches.

Was to accept a revised edition of school board policies. Main changes made by the board deal with due process for students and faculty, and eliminates any reference that might be construed as discrimination based on gender.

Was advised by Haun that no progress has been made in an attempt to recover damages from Ford Motor Company which the board feels is due the school district because of late delivery of a school bus.

Wayne County Cancer Rate Above Average

The dramatic increase in cancer deaths in the United States in the past year, recently disclosed by health officials, draws attention to the situation in Wayne County. What do the latest figures show for the local area? How does its mortality rate compare with that in other communities?

Figures released by the National Center for Health Statistics show that the increase in the cancer rate throughout the country as a whole was more than five times greater than had been expected.

Instead of a rise of about one percent, which had been the norm for many years, there was a sudden jump of 5.2 percent. It was the biggest one-year increase ever recorded.

Thus far the experts are baffled as to the cause. Some of them suspect that the surge may be due to a big rise in lung cancer among women, who are smoking more than they ever did.

In Wayne County, the figures show, cancer continues to be second only to heart disease among the major causes of death.

On the basis of the U. S. Public Health Service's last three annual reports, the number of deaths in the local area attributed to cancer in one or more of its various forms has averaged 19 per year. Lung cancer was blamed for four of them.

The figures refer to the resident population only. Deaths of non-residents are not included.

In terms of population, the local mortality from the disease was equivalent to a rate of 181 deaths per 100,000 people.

The average rate nationally, by way of comparison, was 163 per 100,000. In the State of Nebraska it was 176.

Health officials at the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute are engaged in in-depth examinations of the death records to determine the cause of the sharp increase.

It will take the better part of a year, they believe, before a detailed analysis of the statistics will show what types of cancer have become more prevalent, what environmental factors, if any, may be responsible, what foods and food additives may be having an effect and whether the cancer surge has been concentrated in particular sections of the county.

Recruiting

The biggest problem faced in keeping the men in the Guard is time conflicts caused by participation. Guardsmen drill one weekend each month and spend two weeks in training each year. They must naturally rely heavily on the farm population for manpower, Johnson said, and that causes problems.

"Farming is a seven-day-a-week job, especially for farmers with several diverse operations," Johnson said, and that can cause problems for the farmer-Guardsman. For example, a young specialist due for discharge soon told Johnson Sunday that a drill date change had interfered with a swine operation. Johnson said that type of conflict hampers many Guardsmen to fulfill their uniform when their six-year Guard obligations meet.

Summer training also causes scheduling problems. The Nebraska Army National Guard as a whole comprises one unit, the 5th Infantry Brigade, and as such, it is imperative that the brigade train together as a unit at least once every two years, Johnson said. With the diversity of agriculture present in Nebraska, it is impossible to find a location that doesn't conflict with some farming operation.

"We're concerned about keeping strength up in rural areas, because rural areas are where it's needed," the deputy adjutant said. He pointed out last winter's blizzard as an example. The western part of the state was particularly hard hit. The Guard entered 500 men in western Nebraska to help and had all of its resources in the immediate area committed, but it wasn't needed, Johnson said.

Another example was the explosion of an anhydrous ammonia tank in Crete a few years ago. Guardsmen responded quickly to the emergency.

"There was a need for the National Guard then, just like the volunteer fire department," Johnson said. Now, the Crete unit is one in danger of deactivation if recruiting isn't successful.

Manpower problems are complicated by the fact that the Guard hasn't conducted recruiting on a wide scale for three years, Johnson said. "We've forgotten how."

Intensive recruiting hadn't been necessary for some time because many Guard enlistments were motivated by the draft. The Guard was a way for many men to fulfill their mili-

Unicameral 'lack of memory' cited on list of old legislative bills

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN — Nebraska's lawmakers go off to the roiling start that was promised.

But it begins the year was born of confusion and a slight lack of memory when it came to that list of 100 bills already on the board for immediate action which were carried over from last year.

As a result, most important bills were scheduled for debate later in the session.

One of them was Bellevue Sen. Frank Lewis' LB 167, which would shift the responsibility for setting Nebraska's sales and income tax rates from the State Board of Equalization over to the Unicameral itself.

When the bill came up on the agenda, Lewis got to his feet and looked around and finally asked for a delay until "say about March 1."

The idea of having the Unicameral set the rates has, since the time the state stripped property taxes as the main source of revenue, been bounced around.

Gov. J. J. Exon, for instance, claims the legislature, because it makes the ultimate decisions on spending, should also set the sales and income tax rates. That task is now done by the equalization board, chaired by Exon.

Exon claims the board really doesn't have all that much control over tax rates anyway because the law sets forth a specific formula.

But at the same time, the three Republican members of the board have out-voted Exon and state tax commissioner William Peters on their rate recommendations.

Another bill delayed was Ralston Sen. Gerald Koch's LB 120. He asked that action be held off until today (Thursday). It would change the date of Nebraska's primary election from May to September.

Koch said he wanted the delay to prepare the technical amendments that would, in fact, insure no disruptions in the electoral process. The bill, besides changing the time for the election from the spring to the fall, must of necessity extend some terms of office because some local offices are decided at the time of the primary.

If enacted, the primary would be held the first Tuesday after the second Monday in September.

The legislation would also allow voters to request the party ballot they wish to vote from when they showed up at the polls. Voters now must vote according to the way they are registered. The provisions would not change procedures for handling those registered as independent. They would still receive only ballots for nonpartisan offices.

Then, there are all the new bills that have been introduced.

The problem of making sure Nebraska physicians stay in business is the subject of a bill Sidney Sen. Robert Clark introduced.

The Nebraska Medical Association contends unless something is done, and fast, in the area of malpractice insurance there are going to be some serious problems. The seriousness, the association says, may include "closed" signs on doctors' offices.

In recent years, the rising cost of getting malpractice insurance has meant increases in physician fees. The latest problem is getting an insurance company to write malpractice policies.

Clark claims his LB 880 would "cure 95 per cent of the problem."

In short, it would limit the claims for damages that could be filed by a patient yet still preserve the right to file suit.

The difference, a nebulous one to nearly anyone but attorneys, is the difference between "negligence" and "gross negligence." Clark's bill would limit action to those involving gross negligence.

That concept is nothing new. It has been around in the form of a provision in the state's so-called "guest statute" for some time. Under the law, a passenger in a motor vehicle can't claim damages from his host driver unless gross negligence is involved.

Clark admits to having no idea how his colleagues will react to his suggestion.

The same questions of easing malpractice insurance problems is being addressed by Unicameral committees and a bill is in the works.

The money that a family earns and the property that accumulates when all are alive and well should not be taxed away when death occurs. That's the idea behind Scott Sen. Dennis Rasmussen's LB 868, another of the bills introduced early in this year's session.

While the bill introduced involves only the state, Rasmussen hopes the federal government will see what Nebraska is doing and follow suit.

The biggest estate drain, particularly for those without the means to hire a staff of attorneys and accountants to find loopholes that allow survivors to inherit without loss, is taxation, the senator contends.

Under current law, inheritance taxes are collected on anything above $10,000. Rasmussen's bill would up that to $300,000.

"Why should people work all their lives together only to give up what they earned when one is alone?" asks the senator.

Nebraska voters may get a chance in the November general election to decide the fate of a proposal Sen. Glenn Goodrich of Omaha says is designed to do just one thing — provide jobs for the unemployed.

That proposal is a constitutional amendment contained in LB 467.

The idea is to allow counties and municipalities to offer more incentive to industries that want to locate in the state.

They are now limited to issuance of industrial development assistance bonds to finance land acquisition efforts and build buildings.

Goodrich, citing the loss of two industries that went to Oklahoma and Texas, said that isn't enough. Industries, he maintains, need financial assistance in buying the equipment they need.

In the two instances Goodrich based his legislation on, he said they couldn't get that kind of help in Nebraska but could in the other two states.

"This is a time when we should be doing everything possible to get jobs for the unemployed," said the lawmaker.

OBSERVATIONS

Hearing is good opportunity

The Wayne County commissioners most soon make a decision about whether or not they will allocate between $3,000 and $4,000 a year to support a museum in the home of the late Rollie Ley.

This is one of those decisions in which public input is vital. The gift by the Ley family is a generous one, and the home would make a beautiful museum. But opposition to the use of county funds has been expressed because some people feel the project would benefit only Wayne citizens.

The commissioners have scheduled a hearing on the matter for 3 p.m. Tuesday at the county court house. Whatever decision is made will dispense at least a segment of the population. At the commissioners are trying to learn the opinions of as many county residents as possible. It's an opportunity for taxpayers to have a direct influence as to how public monies are spent. Hopefully, as many people as possible will take advantage of the opportunity. — Jim Strayer

Chamber president defends advertising

Item: According to Rep. Frederick W. Richmond (D-N.Y.), "demand is artificially created through advertising which is tax deductible, and so comes out of the consumer's pocket."

Congressman Richmond (and various consumerists and economists) believe advertising can add unnecessarily to consumer prices.

Item: Ralph Nader says, "I'd move decisively on getting rid of state regulations — those that prohibit pharmacies from advertising prescription prices, for example, and those that prohibit opticians from advertising eyeglass prices. Barriers of that kind are put up by businesses that want to protect themselves from competition."

Ralph Nader, the Federal Trade Commission, and various consumerists and economists believe advertising can promote competition and hold down prices.

Goodness gracious, what's a body to think? Does advertising increase prices or restrain them? And why can't the "consumerists" agree with one another on the point?

To an economist of the neoclassical school — one who believes in the aggregate infallibility of the free market — the question is easily settled: In the absence of coercion, businesses would not continue to spend significant sums of money on a practice with no economic utility.

In other words, businesses advertise because they have found it helps them earn a profit, and the urge to earn a buck is what keeps them in business.

What about the argument that advertising "makes" us want things we don't really need? I've always thought that people who subscribe to this view have a very contemptuous opinion of the mental abilities of their fellow human beings.

I don't think advertising creates new cravings in us — at least not in any basic way. If can, and does, play on existing needs and emotions. But then so does entertainment, or art, or music. In this sense, advertising can make us aware of a greater variety of ways to satisfy our differing tastes.

There are two other criticisms of advertising which are much more sophisticated than the "consumerist-inevitable" line of reasoning.

The first is that advertising creates barriers to the entry of new firms — at least in industries where heavy consumer advertising campaigns are the norm. A new challenger, so the argument goes, cannot raise the millions of dollars necessary to compete with the ad budgets of the established giants.

But even if this were true — and the evidence on the point is not clear-cut — why should advertising costs be any more of a barrier to entry than any other kind of capital outlay? The high cost of equipment could be called a barrier to entry in the steel industry, the high cost of exploration a barrier to entry in the oil industry, etc.

The second sophisticated argument against advertising is that non-price advertising creates brand loyalty, which distracts consumers from choosing the lowest-cost product, thereby reducing price competition.

In rebuttal to this theory, it can be argued (and is, by economist Phillip J. Nelson of the State University of New York) that even non-price advertising informs consumers of possible substitutes of their customary choices, thereby increasing competition. Also, a company that pays a lot for advertising is going to invest the money in promoting its winners, not its losers — therefore, the best buy may well be the most heavily advertised product.

Which side am I on? I believe in competition and maximum free choice in the marketplace — and I believe advertising promotes both. That doesn't mean, however, that I haven't had an occasional urge to put my foot through the TV screen when an especially tasteless or obnoxious commercial comes on! — Richard Lesher, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

LETTERS FOR 76

Oddly enough, Americans have not enjoyed a marked improvement in the quality of their government since Richard Nixon departed the White House a year and a half ago. Ironically enough, it is the Congress, whose swift preparations for impeachment and trial hastened the already disgraced president's exit, which now appears to be the most stubborn obstacle to substantial reform.

"Congress Unwilling to Clean Its Own House," shouts a headline in red ink in a Common Cause monthly report from Washington. The lion's share of recent issue of Saturday Review is devoted to an examination of what is happening to ethical standards in government, law, business, accounting, journalism, medicine and education. The Review's umbrella cover title is "Watergating On Main Street." Congressional Quarterly's excellently balanced news service circulates a feature labeled "Should Federal Agencies Be Required to Conduct Their Business in Public?" And in a special release, U.S. News and World Report published comments from 22 senators and representatives under the title "Congress Tells What's Wrong With Itself." And so on.

Nixon knew neither party was all that moral but his basic mistake was a cynical arrogant attempt at a stuporous con job under the guise of tough but sanctimonious leadership which, unreported, would have created an atrocity. He forgot, to mangle Lincoln's dictum, that you can't can all the people all the time.

But, like smoking, politicians and the public found bad habits hard to break. The major political reform legislation passed in the wake of Watergate, control

More on closing

Dear Editor:

I am writing about the letter in Monday's Wayne Herald entitled "Closing policy questioned." This was a very well written letter and I too agree with the writer.

It certainly goes to show that with consolidation you lose local control. The writer stated that if they were allowed to vote again on the issue of consolidation they would vote to keep their country school open. A lot of promises were made before the county schools were closed but those making the promises were very careful not to put any of these promises in writing.

About 10 years ago the Haun Building was used for a grade school. When it was time to vote on having the Elementary School in the west part of town, the parents of the children who were then attending Haun were promised bus service. In fact, several pick-up points were even mentioned. The school was built in the west part of town and there never was bus service to the east. Questionnaires were sent home with the children to see how many would use the service but it was to cost the children to ride. If you had three or four children using the service, it would have become costly and so the bus service never materialized.

This is all past but there is something in the present that we should be informed on. There is a bill LR89, which was introduced May 19, 1975 and for which there are hearings being held across the state of Nebraska. The senator who introduced the bill, Frank Lewis, indicated that the school district reorganization issue must be resolved and that he favors some form of mandatory reorganization law. This bill will be considered in this session of the legislature.

I think we all agree that we do not need bigger schools which will require bus longer distances. After all there are five months out of a school term that could be bad weather. — Also a Taxpayer.

Business law under attack

Signals have gone up from the Justice Department that a 29-year-old law designed to protect small businesses may soon be under attack.

The law, known as the Robinson-Patman Act, outlaws business practices that undermine fair competition, and prohibits unfair price discrimination.

In recent hearings before a House Small Business Subcommittee, Justice Department officials expressed concern that Robinson-Patman was being used as a defense against price-fixing charges by certain companies. Justice stated that in cases against gypsum, paper label and bread companies, the firms claimed they had checked prices with competitors to avoid violating the Act.

At the same hearings, the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives (NCF) argued that if Robinson-Patman is repealed, or its prohibitions of discriminatory discounts and allowances weakened, the harmful impact upon farmers and their cooperatives would be substantial.

First, said the NCF, the large food processors and retailers would be able to operate as they did prior to the act in 1930's. They would "once again be able to secure back-door discounts allowing them to purchase produce at below market prices. This money would come directly out of the pockets of America's most vulnerable small businessmen, her farmers."

Secondly, noted the NCF, if the large food processors and retailers used their power to secure goods at below-market price, they would not only drive out commercial competitors, but also decrease potential purchasers of farm produce. This would further strengthen their power to secure discounts.

NCF General Counsel Donald E. Graham said that "while enforcement of Robinson Patman has been less than zealous over the years, the fact that it was the books helped small business immeasurably. Its brooding omnipresence has served as a shield against the assaults of the corporate giants."

Graham stated that both farmers and their cooperatives need this law to protect the limited power they now have in the marketplace.

White House Domestic Council hearings December 8-10 on controversial Justice Department proposals to revise or repeal the act, were expected to give the Office of Management and Budget a briefing on all sides of the issue before it decides which, if any, of the Justice proposals to clear for presentation to Congress. — Farmland News.

3,000 Farmers Expected For Agriculture Expo

Over 3,000 farmers and agribusiness dealers are expected to attend the annual Nebraska Agricultural Exposition, Jan. 28 and 29, at the Omaha Civic Auditorium in Omaha. They will hear state and national leaders' projections on agriculture's future.

Robert L. Anderson, executive vice president of the Nebraska Grain and Feed Dealers Association and the Nebraska Fertilizer Institute, Inc., and the speakers for the two associations' annual convention will fill this year's bicentennial theme. The theme for this annual Exposition is "1776-1976, 200 Years of Agricultural Progress."

Anderson outlined speakers and topics for the two-day exposition:

January 28—William E. Peters, Nebraska tax commissioner, how agribusiness can avoid state tax problems; Dr. Richard Crow, Cook Industries Grain Division, future trends for the grain industry; Bill Price, political action director, Phillips Petroleum Company, agricultural government inter-relationships.

January 29—Congressman John Y. McCollister, how the

Herbicide Use Heads Agenda For Crop Clinic

Many aspects of herbicide use will be discussed at the 1976 Annual Crop Protection Clinic in Norfolk Friday. The program will be held at the Villa Inn beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing through 4 p.m. Farmers, agricultural chemical dealers and applicators, and farm managers are invited to participate in this clinic.

Northeast Station weed control specialist Russell Moogam lists these program topics dealing with herbicide application:

How to select a herbicide — help will be given on how to choose between the dozens of available herbicides.

New herbicides and equipment — Update on what is new for 1976.

Soybean herbicide injury from Senex and Banvol — what effect this injury has on soybean yield will be discussed.

Herbicide use on sandy soil — sandbur control and use of ryegrass cover crop will be covered.

Update on applicator certification — latest information on the law dealing with certification of pesticide applicators will be discussed.

Other topics will consider using alfalfa for weed control, herbicide carryover, and 1976 herbicide recommendations. University of Nebraska entomologists and plant pathologists will also discuss new developments in those areas of crop protection.

No advance registration is required. A registration fee of $5 will be collected to cover the noon luncheon, coffee, and the printed proceedings which each person receives.

central government affects agribusiness. Dr. D.B. Varner, president, University of Nebraska, how the university helps agriculture and agribusiness; R.R. Johnson, group vice president of Marketing, Agric. Chemical Company, future trends in national fertilizer industry; presentation of the Farm Supplier of the Year Award.

Anderson said a special ladies program is also arranged. Events scheduled are a tour of SAC headquarters at Offutt Air Force Base, a tour of the renovated Orpheum Theatre, and special Westroads Dinner Theatre Matinee.

The Exposition begins at 9 a.m. both days.

Pond Workshops Set

Three farm pond workshops are being planned in northeast Nebraska by the Game and Parks Commission.

All workshops begin at 1 p.m. and will be held on Jan. 20 at the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District office at Norfolk, on Jan. 21 at the Lewis and Clark Natural Resources District office at Hartington, and on Jan. 22 at the American Legion Hall at Homer.

The workshops are designed for the pondowner and are set up to allow him to discuss any particular problem as he as well as learn some preventative maintenance for some unexpected problems.

Topics to be covered include site selection and stocking, pond problems, winterkill and vegetation control, landowner responsibility, pond-related wildlife habitat and federal cost sharing.

There is no charge for the workshops.

This and That...

from YOUR COUNTY AGENT

Most cattle herds have lice now and severe infestations will develop during the winter unless herds are sprayed now to kill the present infestation.

Lice reproduce fast as the eggs hatch in one week and the lice are mature in another two weeks. Feeding starts soon after they hatch.

Cattle are damaged by blood loss and the irritation from lice feeding. Blood-sucking lice extract blood almost continuously. The biting louse causes blood loss from the injuries made by its sharp claws and jaws. Affected cattle lose weight and dairy animals produce less milk.

Some may be so weakened that they don't survive the winter.

—Lice are most numerous on the neck and between the legs. The head and tail should also be examined.

As lice infestations become more severe the cattle will rub against trees and fences and leave traces of hair. Lousy cattle develop a rough looking coat of hair that might take on a sooty appearance.

Backrubbers and dust bags help in lice control, but heavily infested cattle should be sprayed to control lice adequately. Spray only on mild days. At least two

Geranium Care

It is important to rejuvenate geraniums which have become too tall and leggy. If they have grown very tall, have lost most of their leaves near their bases and are generally unattractive to have around, it's time to take care of them.

The best way to improve geraniums is to cut them back severely. Cut back to about three to five inches above the soil surface. If there are side branches, down this low, cut them back to about two inches from where they grow out from the main stalk.

After you have finished this operation, all that will be left is the bare stub with no leaves, but if you care for the plant, it will grow back healthy and revived. It is important to hold back on water at this time — with the leaves removed too much water is apt to injure the plant.

Don't throw away the top growth that you have removed. You may be able to root these pieces and increase the number of plants that you have.

1976 Foreseen as Good Year For Farming

The agricultural outlook for 1976 appears good, even though prices and net incomes may slip somewhat below 1975 levels, according to an article by Dr. C. Edward Harshbarger in the December Monthly Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City.

In line with an upturn in the overall economy, agricultural conditions improved considerably during the second half of 1975. Dr. Harshbarger points out, it is now estimated that 1975 net farm income will be approximately $26 billion, as compared with $27.7 billion in 1974. Most of the 1975 decline resulted from the continuing rise in production costs.

In addition to the economic recovery, a number of other factors led to an improved picture for agriculture in the latter half of the year. An increase in foreign demand helped absorb the large harvests and this prevented a precipitous drop in prices. And as red meat supplies continued to fall, cattle and hog prices showed marked improvement.

The favorable prospects for 1976 are based on certain assumptions, Dr. Harshbarger explains. These include good weather for crop production, favorable profit margins for livestock feeders, strong foreign demand, and, of course, continued growth in the economy. Although demand is expected to be strong, large supplies are expected to put some downward pressure on prices, especially during the second half of the year when livestock production will probably start expanding more rapidly. Gross farm income will probably be up somewhat, but continued increases in production costs will likely leave net income a little below the 1975 figure.

Due to large harvests in 1975, crop supplies for the current marketing year are sharply higher than a year ago. Thus, grain stocks for the coming year appear ample for expanded domestic and foreign demand while still allowing for some buildup in the carryover next summer and fall.

In the last marketing year, farmers received prices which averaged about $4.33 and $6.50 per bushel for wheat, corn, and soybeans, respectively. Dr. Harshbarger states with the exception of wheat, which may average near last year's level, prices will likely average lower in the current marketing year, especially for soybeans.

Despite the improved profit picture of recent months, cattle feeders and hog producers apparently are taking a guarded approach to expanding output, due to uncertainties about future cost-price relationships. Nevertheless, pork supplies in 1976 should be slightly larger than in 1975 which, on a per capita basis, were the lowest in 40 years. Some seasonal strength in prices may occur in the spring, but once supplies of pork and other red meats begin to expand more rapidly next summer, retrenchment in pork prices is expected. For the year as a whole, prices on barrows and gilts will probably average a little below the $50 per hundred weight estimated for 1975.

The sharp rise in 1975 cattle and calf slaughter in 1975 apparently will stem the buildup in the cattle inventory. While this will not necessarily result in higher cattle prices in the coming year, it at least sets the stage for a stronger and more profitable market at some point in the future. Although the price outlook is mixed, most of the evidence suggests that choice steer prices should average near the $45 per hundredweight received this year.

White prospects are good for agriculture in 1976, there are many factors that could change. Dr. Harshbarger concludes. Therefore, farmers should exercise more than the usual amount of caution in their production and marketing decisions for 1976.

Senator Knocks Pesticide Bill

The pesticide bill before the Nebraska Legislature's agriculture committee is the best one they've ever had but it has one problem—the bill does nothing to promote safety or security for man or the environment, according to state senator Loren Schmitz.

Schmitz of Bellwood, voiced his views during the Friday morning session of the Nebraska Turfgrass Conference in Lincoln. He continued, "The federal government tried to browbeat the Nebraska Legislature by offering $180,000 of what I call sucker money to pass the bill."

Schmitz explained that the bill now under consideration allows a farmer to purchase and apply pesticides with a minimum amount of training but requires stringent tests before allowing certification of a commercial chemical applicator. He said, "The protection of the individual farmer should be just as valuable as the applicators. By profession, the applicator would be most competent to handle the chemicals. The aerial applicator makes up two to three per cent of the applicators and only works with about seven per cent of the environment, while farmers and ranchers work with 93 per cent. Why pass a bill to protect two to three per cent of the people and seven per cent of the environment and disregard the rest of it?"

Obviously, the federal pressure is political. If they applied the pesticide bill to all people involved with pesticides, it wouldn't sell. So under the guise of protection, they present a bill that just touches on it."

The Bellwood senator speculated that the legislature would pass a pesticide bill eventually, but he said, "I don't know if you watch? You'll just be putting out bonfires and we can do that now with the courts."

Schmitz outlined his idea of a fair pesticide bill. It would include:

—Protection for a person handling pesticides and for people who might be affected by the chemicals.

—Protection for the environment.

—Education and training for applicators.

Protection and education for homeowners, children and all others who use chemicals in their homes.

"We've had no problems with chemicals in this state. Therefore, I propose that we certify everyone and then take the certification away if they goof up. This would eliminate the certification costs and we could spend the money on education and training and physical examinations. But the EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) says 'no. Too simple—Not enough paper work,'" said Schmitz.

Around 40 states have passed pesticide legislation in keeping

Northeast Feeders Will Meet Monday

The annual meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association will be held Monday at the Paddock Steak House in South Sioux City.

A social hour is scheduled for 6:30 p.m., followed by the 7:30 p.m. dinner meeting.

Speaker for the evening will be Dr. Bert Evans of the University of Nebraska. Dr. Evans, who teaches courses in taxation, will discuss "Inflation and Recession — What They Are Doing to Agriculture."

Dr. Evans is an absentee farmer, owning a cow-calf operation near Bloomfield where he spends much of his spare time.

He is presently working with State Senator Bill Burrows on legislation on exempting the personal property tax.

Persons paying their membership dues on or before the January 19th meeting receive a free meal at this meeting.

A Feeders Auxiliary has recently been formed on the state level. Women who are interested in joining the auxiliary should remind their husbands to so indicate at the January 19th meeting.

"Because feeders are competitive grain buyers and support some farm legislation, we also encourage grain farmers to become association members," says Leon Bruns of Pender, president of NEHLFA.

Bruns also asked that feeders who are unable to attend this meeting give or send their membership dues to a local director.

A storm date of January 26 has been reserved.
