Wakefield Is Site Of Arts Conference

Wakefield will be one of 27 Nebraska communities which will host meetings on Feb. 16 to discuss ideas for a "Dialogue on the Arts" program, sponsored by the Nebraska Arts Council. The council is a state agency with members appointed by the governor, responsible for encouraging and supporting cultural activities in the state.

The town meetings will be led by professional moderators made available with the cooperation of the Arts Council.

Appreciation Days Will Substitute for Pork Promotion

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce retail committee has voted to hold Customer Appreciation Days in the latter part of January in lieu of Pork Days, which had been previously scheduled.

Beef Feedlot, Herd Meetings Planned

Agriculture experts will conduct a beef cow-and-calf workshop for area farmers, today (Monday) beginning at 1:30 p.m. Wayne County agent Don Spitzer will begin the session at the Wayne Methodist Church, with a program on calf weight.

Two Accidents Reported Friday

Larry Creighton of Wayne and two passengers in his car occupied in accident shortly before midnight Friday. Creighton told officers he lost control of his car after hitting a patch of ice on a county road about three miles southwest of Wayne. The car left the road and rolled.

WAYNE HIGH DRAMA Club members Mike Schmidt, Lisa Tooker and Donn Dutton seem pleased with the critique written by Bill Roundy on their performance in their one-act play competition. They have good reason for being all smiles because their club won the first place trophy, shown on the right.

Wayne Drama Club Tops in Conference

Wayne High thespians walked off stage with a major portion of the awards following the completion of the East and West Husker one-act play competition Thursday night.

Another member of their troupe, Dianna Langston, garnered the best actress award, and Lisa Tooker of Wayne was named best supporting actress.

with "To Burn a Witch" and two cast members received honorable mention for acting. Other schools participating in the one-act competition were Plender, Madison, Wakefield, Columbus, Lakeview, Scribner, West Point and Tarkenton.

Record Crop Reported

The nation's corn crop last year, a key ingredient for producing much of what consumers will eat in 1978, was a record of 5.77 billion bushels or 24 per cent more than the drought battered 1974 harvest, the Agriculture Department said Thursday.

Extension Vote Is Underway

Ballots will be counted Friday in the mail election of two members to the Dixon County extension board.

Candidates for the position open for District II are Mrs. Darrel Heald, Don Dohma, Don Rickett, Mrs. Darrold Harder, and Leland Sawtell. District IV nominees are Mrs. Ervin Kraemer, Mrs. Marvin Borg, and Mrs. Ernest Stark.

Schools Are Break-In Targets

A pair of Wayne County rural schools were broken into some time overnight Wednesday, said a spokesman for the Wayne County sheriff's office.

day morning and the Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church, formerly the District 88 school, was broken into last week. Nothing was reported missing from the church, but $65 was taken from a desk drawer in the Middle School.

Road Plan Hearing Set

A pair of hearings one required by law and the other an informal meeting, will be spotlighted when the Wayne County commissioners meet Tuesday.

The legal hearing is required by law, prior to approval of the county's one and six year road improvement plans. Commissioners will be considering approval of the proposed plan, which will be altered at the meeting before getting the final nod.

late Rollie Ley proposed giving their father's home in Wayne to the county historical society for conversion into a museum.

Little Damage Caused by Fire

A fire on the Marvin Nelson farm about eight miles northwest of Wayne had already been extinguished by the time firemen arrived on the scene.

Keynote speaker for the event will be Ben Morris, a North western Bell Telephone Company vice president and chief executive officer for the company's Nebraska operation.

Chamber Will Honor Outstanding Member

Outgoing Wayne Chamber of Commerce President Rowan Wiltsie will present a president's award to an outstanding chamber member at the organization's annual dinner Jan. 26. It will be the first time such an award has been presented by the Wayne Chamber.

Attorney's Opinion Clears Way for NPPD Contract

One of the last obstacles to a contract between the City of Wayne and the Nebraska Public Power District has been removed according to city administrator Fred Brink.

Under terms of the contract, the city will purchase electric power from NPPD at wholesale rates, then distribute it to Wayne customers. At the same time, the city will lease the generating capacity of the plant to NPPD for about $20 per kilowatt. Brink emphasized that the city is not leasing the plant, but rather its ability to generate power. The city is paid regardless of whether or not the plant is actually used.

Yank Says It's Different Down Under

Why Australia? Like a lot of folks, Jim Barnes had often wondered about Australia. Unlike most people Barnes let his curiosity lead him directly into the bush country for answers.

Barnes, spending the summer break in the States with two other teachers, has returned with a new perspective. Ronald Barnes in Elkhorn, and stopped off at his alma mater, Wayne State College, last week to pick up some teaching materials to take back to Australia with him.

There is also something of a language barrier for Americans in Australia, explained Barnes. Terms such as "fair dinkum," meaning "to be honest," are totally foreign to Americans, while terms that Americans have commonly used have a totally different meaning to Australians.

supports sheep, wheat and barley. Barnes found the students easy to discipline, food inexpensive but manufactured items as clothing and cars are costly. Starting wages for teachers are higher than in the U.S., but facilities, both living and teaching, are not what the average American is accustomed to.

OBSERVATIONS

Conti's remarks timely

Judge Samuel Conti, when sentencing Sara Jane Moore for her attempt on President Gerald Ford's life, accused her of taking it upon herself to be the judge and the executioner, and blamed her action on a permissive society which does not allow capital punishment. It's doubtful that capital punishment would have deterred Miss Moore from firing the shot, but permissiveness is probably largely responsible for the muddled thinking demonstrated in statements made by her. She said she regretted the attempt because it "accomplished little except to throw away the rest of my life," but she wasn't sorry she tried "because it seemed a correct expression of my anger."

Wasting her life is tragic, she seems to say, but ending someone else's life, because she is angry, is justifiable.

Doing what one feels like and disregarding how it affects others is permissiveness to an extreme. Judge Conti said something that more judges should be saying. — Jim Strayer.

Too much sunshine

There is a petition drive underway in Nebraska aimed at putting the so-called "Sunshine Amendment" on the ballot next November.

On the surface, the idea looks good. Gov. Exon was the first Nebraska to sign the petition which, proponents say, would control lobbying and bring into the open political contributions and conflicts of interest.

That's OK for the governor. But unfortunately, the amendment would require many candidates on the local level to make full disclosure of sources of income and amounts — nothing in various companies and receipts from stocks, bonds and other investments.

City council members from towns under 5,000 population are exempt. The same goes for local school board members.

Those who would be covered include: —All state officials, including members of boards or commissions. —Members of the Legislature. —Elected or appointed officials in counties over 9,000 population, including commissions or boards.

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

A 16-YEAR-OLD West Point girl has been selected as the 1976-Cuming County Park Queen. Alice Hagedorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hagedorn of West Point, was crowned last Sunday night at the annual county Park Producers and Pickette banquet in West Point.

PLANS TO sponsor a county landing strip in Cuming County were temporarily grounded last week when the Board of Supervisors turned down a request to finance part of a survey that would determine the feasibility of the project. The airport steering committee had met with the county board of supervisors Dec. 10 to discuss the need of a government agency to serve as sponsor of a feasibility study. Estimated cost of the survey at that time was about $25,000 to $30,000, in which the sponsor would pick up 15 per cent or approximately $3,750.

THE BANCROFT village board approved the proposed one- and six-year street improvement program at their meeting Jan. 5. The plan was presented by Duane Upton of Consolidated Engineers. Passage assures the village of receiving some $16,000 in state highway allocation moneys.

NELIGH has a new police chief effective with the city council meeting Jan. 12. Lyle Juracek, former Antelope County deputy sheriff, was appointed to the position by Mayor Noel Brennan. Juracek replaces Ralph Woodburn who will work fulltime on his ambulance service. The council agreed to a six month trial contract with Woodburn for 24 hour city ambulance service.

THE MADISON city council removed the last obstacle to the proposed new courthouse site when they annexed the land and changed the zoning to residential urban at their meeting last Wednesday. Involved was a five acre portion in the southeast corner of the Funk farm just north of the Northern Heights addition on the west side of Highway 81. County commissioner Paul Terry said he expects contracts to be let and work begun on the new courthouse this spring, with completion expected in 1977.

THE VARSITY choir and Trojan Band of Wakefield Community Schools will present a concert honoring the American Bicentennial on Monday, Jan. 26 at the school auditorium. There will be no admission charge for the 8 p.m. program.

OFFICERS of the Dixon County Sheriff's Office continue their investigation into the break-in at the Kenneth Schroefer farm last Monday. The farm is located three miles north, one west and three fourth north of Wakefield. Items valued at $2,405 were taken from the home between the hours of 1 and 5 p.m.

Anonymous report better than none

Dear Editor

This letter is not really for you but to someone else whom I hope will read this. The man who drove or backed his car into the Wayne Greenhouse sometime in the wee hours of Friday, Jan. 16 did far more damage than he realized. The damage to the greenhouse can be repaired. It costs money of course.

I just hope he wasn't a lover of plants because the 6' by 8' opening left was enough at 15 degrees to freeze many tropical foliage plants.

It is sad because if I were only called and told about the accident it would have been simple to equip the opening with plastic and save these plants.

I only hope the person responsible reads this and will realize any damage to a place of business late at night should be reported, even anonymously. Kent Hall

Writer wants museum decision on ballot

Dear Editor

In regard to an upcoming decision by the Wayne County Commissioners to accept or decline the offer by the Ley estate, to maintain the Rollie Ley house as a museum, in escrow, should be of concern to everyone in the county. If $4,000 a year is the estimated cost, then just double that to be realistic. Most property owners feel our taxes are high enough, but maybe they would like to raise it one more notch.

The controversy should be settled the democratic way, that is, put it on the ballot of the upcoming primary election isn't that what our forefathers fought for 200 years ago? — Wayne Resident

Who's who, what's what?

1. WHO was a guest of Tuesday's Wayne city council meeting?
2. WHAT is being sponsored by the United Presbyterian Women of the Wayne Presbyterian Church?
3. WHO were recently elected as representatives on the Wayne county extension board?
4. WHO was the top prize winner following a two-month subscription campaign at The Wayne Herald?
5. WHAT will be held today (Monday) at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne?
6. WHAT was Wayne High host to last Thursday?
7. WHO are the two new teachers at Winside High?

ANSWERS: 1. Nebraska National Guard adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Francis Winner. 2. A Bicentennial essay contest. 3. Lanny Maas to District 11 and Dennis Carlson and Mrs. Albert Nelson. District 1. 4. Dan Coward, a newspaper carrier from Winside. 5. A beef cow and calf workshop. 6. The East and West Husker conference championship in one-act play competition. 7. James Hatterly and Linda Schram.

STRAY'er Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

Whether or not you agree with the way Congressman Charles Thone votes on a variety of issues, you are rest assured that he does vote. Thone was one of only seven among the 435 members of the House of Representatives who took part in every recorded vote in 1975. Since taking office five years ago, Thone has a 97 per cent voting record. That's an enviable record, and one that should assure everyone in the First Congressional District that Thone is doing his best to represent them.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Martin Heinemann of rural Wayne. Mrs. Heinemann gave birth to the first baby born in 1976 at the Wakefield Health Care Center. Tami Jo, weighing eight pounds, eight ounces, was born at 3:08 p.m. on January 8, her mother's birthday. She has a brother, Mike, nine years old, and a sister, Heidi, three. Mr. Heinemann is engaged in farming southeast of Wayne. Incidentally, 26 boys and 33 girls were born at the Wakefield hospital in 1975.

A bill by State Senator Loren Schmitt may offer a solution to a problem which has plagued the health care profession for several years. His Medical Liability Reform Bill, developed in cooperation with the Nebraska Medical Association, "is a solution that everyone can live with," according to the Senator.

Bill Martin, Nebraska Department of Economic Development field representative in Norfolk, called last week, wondering if anyone in Wayne might be interested in leading the community in a 1976 Nebraska Community Improvement Project. It's a good project for the community and any individuals or organization interested can contact Bill at 371-6644, or contact me at The Herald office and I'll have Bill get in touch.

I hope as many people as possible show up for the informal hearing Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock which the Wayne County commissioners are holding. They want to sample opinion regarding the allocation of funds to support a county museum in Wayne. Government officials, of course must make decisions and accept the consequences, but they also represent the people who elect them on this issue are trying to determine what the people's wishes are, before they decide.

The annual Girl Scout cookie sale starts Friday and will continue through Jan. 25. Hope everyone is receptive when the Scouts come to their door. Scouting is one of those activities which enriches our community, and at the same time needs community support to function.

GRADE FOR '76

By EDWARD P. MORGAN

The United States has just suffered a major educational earthquake. Actually it has been rumbling with damage for years but somehow most people failed to pay attention. If they're not "shook up" now, the disaster will be even greater.

After a four year, million-dollar study for the U.S. Office of Education, a team of University of Texas experts has discovered that some 23 million people — about one-fifth of the nation's adult population — are "functionally incompetent," lacking the basic educational skills needed to cope with life as it is today.

This should come as no surprise but in fact it is a shock. There have been warnings. A University of Maryland journalism professor, noting the headline on the report, mourned the fact that his distinguished alma mater, the Berkeley campus of the University of California, was obliged to give special assistance to freshmen on how to handle the English language. Howard University in Washington, one of the world's largest black institutions with more than 7,000 students, had to institute an academic support course to help freshmen learn to read. Graduate students are having similar problems, many are not skilled enough in writing to put their master's thesis together.

The 20 per cent adult incompetents in the Texas survey were, unsurprisingly, on the poverty level, with eight years education or less, jobless or doing semi-skilled work. But another 34 per cent of adult America barely get by, are barely able to "cope." And only a minority of grown Americans, 46 per cent, were rated as "proficient."

This gives a new meaning to "literacy," — defined previously as the ability to read and write with grade-level proficiency. The study tried to determine what skills are needed to function in our complex society. Too many were incapable of figuring change in a drug store, guessing the normal temperature of the human body, how many U.S. Senators there are or solving a simple scheduling problem from an airline timetable. (I fear I would have flunked that one myself.)

The indications are that we are even more incompetent as a nation than we thought we were. We have gone to the moon and back, we are spending billions on sophisticated weapons and we are spending lower level billions on schools. But what is it bringing us? How can we call ourselves a great power with confidence and pride when millions already hit by recession and inflation can't figure out what's the best bargain in the supermarket, have difficulty in reading highway signs and think a "credit card" is a substitute for money?

How can we expect the electorate to demand an intelligent accounting of the defense budget, when 23 million grown Americans couldn't draw up a basic family budget even if they had the cash to operate it?

Such questions go to the heart of the quality, and even the quantity, of American education. We need a new definition for education on the basis of this disturbing study. If a little knowledge is a dangerous thing, scarcity any knowledge at all is deadly.

Out of Old Nebraska

TELEGRAPH TELEPHONE LINEMEN

The hazards, faced by linemen in climbing poles did not occur to pioneer merchant Augustus L. Moyer when he installed the first telephone in Crawford, Nebraska, to connect his drug store and home. Requests for similar service from his fellow townsmen soon made it necessary for Moyer to install a switchboard and then, in 1910, to construct a building to house the telephone equipment. The first long distance lines linking Crawford with Alliance, Harrison, Ardmore and Fort Robinson were built by him. His son John Walter worked with him in the telephone business and the following account of his experiences, here somewhat paraphrased, is in the J. Walter Moyer Papers at the Nebraska State Historical Society. At the time of the four day storm, young Moyer was 27 years old.

On March 1, 1906, a blizzard in Nebraska's Panhandle swept between Alliance and Crawford, two busy stations on the main line of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad. Four passenger trains and one freight train were stopped through Crawford daily, and Alliance itself was a division point.

The storm had begun the day before as a cold drizzle which first turned to sleet, coating telegraph and telephone wires with ice up to three inches thick, and then to snow. The telegraph lines suffered great damage. Although the Burlington carried eight heavy-galvanized iron wires on its poles, the slack had been pulled the previous summer and the wires were taut. The heavy ice combined with the rain caused them to contract still more, and when the sixty-mile-an-hour wind hit them the strain was too much and in some instances they snapped.

TELEPHONE COMMUNICATIONS

was severed between Alliance, Crawford, and intermediate stations. To keep the trains running safely, the train dispatcher switched from the telegraph to our Alliance toll which was still operating. The toll line remained in operation until noon of March 3, when it went dead. Every test indicated the break was near the point where our telephone line crossed the Burlington tracks less than a mile south of Belmont. Roads leading to Belmont, ten miles south of Crawford, were blocked, but if my calculated location of the trouble was correct the break in the line could be reached by train.

I called the Burlington agent. A freight train was scheduled to leave the yards as soon as the helper engine could be coupled behind the main line engine, so I collected my equipment and headed for the depot to board the freight.

Looking forward from the cupola of the waycar it was frequently impossible to see the engines because of the blowing snow. The telephone lines were in a condition until we reached Horseston Curve just north of Belmont. There was telegraphic disaster from there on as the line crossed canyons, ravines, and other rough topographic features on its climb up the side of the Pine Ridge.

We had set a forty-foot pole on each side of the tracks to carry our wires over the rails. The next two poles were somewhat shorter, and after that all poles were standard height. The wind was much worse on top of the Pine Ridge, and to climb the highest poles in such weather would be virtually impossible. Carrying the heavy test I pushed through the snow to the second pole, pushed on down to the third, and there found the broken wire. I climbed the pole with difficulty, my back to the wind, and slipped the ends of the broken wire into a sleeve and made the splice.

My safety belt was still looped around the pole and cross arm when a sudden gust of wind hit me. My knees buckled, my climber hooks pulled loose from the pole, and I dangled in mid-air but the safety belt held.

After connecting the drop wire loosely to the telephone line wire so it could be pulled free from the ground later, I jammed my climber hooks into the pole, loosened my safety belt, and carefully descended. To test the line I connected the drop wire to one of the two terminals on the test set and hooked another wire to the second terminal. It was necessary to have a good ground connection since we were using a ground circuit, and although I had a short galvanized rod I had nothing heavy enough with which to pound it into the earth.

Fortunately there was a barbed wire fence nearby. I connected one wire leading from the test set to the pole, wire of the fence as it was the most likely to be grounded, returned to the test set, gave the generator crank a quick short turn, and the bell rang out clear. The Crawford and Alliance operators answered simultaneously. The Alliance operator contacted me with the train dispatcher so that he could give the order for a train to stop for me at Belmont.

Although it was difficult to plow through snow drifts to reach the tracks, the tracks were fairly clear and the mile walk to Belmont was not hard. When the train stopped at the station, I climbed into the caboose and stretched out on a cushion close to the stove. The next thing I knew the conductor was awakening me at Crawford. The telephone line continued to work throughout the storm.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Miller of Winside will observe their silver wedding anniversary Sunday, Jan. 25, with an open house reception at the Trinity Lutheran Church, Winside.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend the event from 2 to 4 p.m.

Millers were married Jan. 21, 1951 at Coleridge and have two sons, Randall of San Diego, Calif., and Galen who is stationed with the United States Navy in Berkeley, Calif.

Learn Canning, Freezing at Home

A home study course in canning and freezing will be available soon to residents in Dakota, Dixon, Cedar, Thurston and Wayne Counties.

The course is being offered free of charge by the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service.

Joyceelyn Smith, area home extension agent, said the lessons are scheduled to begin in February and consist of six lessons and worksheets.

The lessons are freezing fruits and vegetables, freezing cooked and prepared foods, canning fruits and vegetables, making jellies, jams and preserves, making pickles, and canning meat.

Miss Smith said the course is designed to be taken over a six-week period, but will be geared to the individual's progress.

Persons interested in enrolling in the canning and freezing home study course should notify Joyceelyn Smith, area extension agent, home economics, at the Northeast Station, Concordia 1077-0826.

Participants will receive their first lesson about the middle of February.

The course is open to everyone on an equal and nondiscriminatory basis.

Cookies Sales Underway

About 60 Junior Cadettes and Senior Girl Scouts from Pender, Wayne and Winside are participating in the Neighborhood 16 Girl Scout cookie sales campaign this month.

Scouts, working in pairs or groups, are visiting homes in their own towns, taking orders for the five different varieties of cookies, and sesame crackers, baked especially for the Girl Scouts.

Sales, which began Friday, will continue through Jan. 25. Cookies are to be paid for when they are delivered between Feb. 27 and March 7.

Residents who are not contacted during the campaign and who would like to purchase cookies from the Girl Scouts should contact Mrs. Dick Mencl, Mrs. Jean Ley or Mrs. Doniver Peterson. Mrs. Peterson is cookie chairman for Neighborhood 16.

Winside's 'New' Game Plan Spells Disaster For Jordan's Bulldogs

By BOB BARTLETT
Winside High added a new wrinkle of sorts to its offensive punch Friday night.

Instead of relying mainly on the outside shooting of seniors Bob Hoffman and Tyler Frevert, the Wildcats used those same two players to penetrate Cole-ridge's man-to-man defense for the inside layups and a 65-49 Lewis and Clark Conference victory.

The win for coach Kevin Luff's club pushed the team's conference mark to 3-1 going into Saturday night's home contest against Wausa and made the Cats 4-3 on the season.

Frevert started the inside point position in the first period when he sank the first basket. Then minutes later dropped in eight straight points before he finished the quarter with 14 points. By the half, Frevert had 20 of his game-total 22 points.

Hoffman contributed the majority of his game-high 23 points in the second half as the duo finally found a night they both could hit consecutively.

From the start, Luff had planned for his team to go inside for playing on the inside. Winside, overall, would have the height advantage for the first time this season.

Winside's game plan was to run an offense and keep Cole-ridge on the outside on defense. Playing one of its best defensive games this season, Winside did shut off coach Claire Jordan's club during the early going of the game. Winside held the Bulldogs at bay for the first three and a half minutes of the ball game before the visitors scored to make the game 7-2.

Pleased with his club's defensive showing, Luff said "At times we played as good as defense as possible against a team which relies a lot on movement."

Action Plentiful This Week For College Athletes

Wayne State's athletic calendar has eight events in the week ahead, but only two at home. "Wrestling will enter the Bearcats of Northwest Missouri State Tuesday evening, 7:30 in Rice Auditorium. The women's basketball team will be at home to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, with a junior varsity match at 6 and varsity at 7:30 in Rice. Northwest Missouri presents a real toughie for Wayne, which placed sixth among eight teams in the "Northwest" Missouri Tournament Nov. 21-22. The host Bearcats finished second. Since then they have claimed another tournament second place and a 11 dual record. Currently they are rated 20th in Division II of the NCAA. Wayne coach Marion Haydes reports that the Wildcats regained a valuable asset the past week when Randy Hummel, a two-lettered junior, returned to action. He dropped wrestling before Christmas, but decided he missed the action. Heavier this year, he will go at 158 or 167 sell Jansson with 11. Coleridge whittled Winside's 39-24 halftime margin to nine midway through the third period before the Cats cranked up their scoring machine behind a pair of baskets by Hoffman and four points by substitute Rick Hartman to later pull out in front by 14 points.

Winside's reserves suffered their fifth setback of the season, falling to Coleridge, 50-21. The JVs, who were 1-5 before the Wausa match Saturday, were led by Skip Deck and Bruce Smith with six points each.

Defense Does The Talking For Red Hot Laurel Quint

By DAN VODVARKA

at bay for the first three and a half minutes of the ball game before the visitors scored to make the game 7-2. Pleased with his club's defensive showing, Luff said "At times we played as good as defense as possible against a team which relies a lot on movement."

ninth straight win against two losses.

Laurel's scrappy, hustling, pressing defense finally blew the ball game open in the final minutes of the third quarter. Holding a nine-point advantage with four minutes left in the third period, the Bears iced up the Neligh offense for seven minutes as the invading Warriors went without a field goal until the 4:47 mark of the fourth period. By that time the hosts held a 57-37 edge.

Winning coach Joel Parks was not overly impressed with his team's defensive job. "We usually play pretty solid defense," he noted, "tonight it was a little rugged out there but we stayed on the boards well."

Parks pointed out that his ball club has played a lot of basketball in the past two weeks with three games in the Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference tourney last week and "three" games this week.

"We've played a lot of ball and are in good condition although I think we're not as smooth as last week," he said, adding that his hard for a team to ride a peak for any long time.

"The thing I'm really satisfied with," he concluded, "is that we are not getting frustrated when things aren't going right. We just hang in there and wait for our chance."

That "chance" for Laurel came midway through the third quarter when Neligh went cold and the Bears turned it on. Led by Greg Pippitt, Scott Huegel and Jon Erwin, Laurel made a runaway of the contest.

Parks pulled his starters mid way through the final quarter but the Laurel reserves kept the pressure on as the hosts slammed Neligh 28-12 in the final eight minutes.

Neligh played some aggressive ball through the first half and Laurel had to depend on Pippitt scoring to stay in the contest. At halftime, the six-foot-three center had 17 points for the winners and finished with 26 points and 13 rebounds.

Parks described Pippitt as just a solid player who isn't very flashy but gets the points. Parks also lauded the efforts of Jon Erwin on the boards and Brad Erwin against Neligh sharpshooter Ross Udey. Udey got only two points in the last 12 minutes of the game but finished the night with 17 points.

The contest was the first league game for the Bears and moved their overall record on the year to 9-2 with a trip to Creighton slated for Saturday night. Neligh had entered the game with a 6-3 mark and did nothing to change Laurel's scoring averages. Coming into Friday night's game the Bears had been averaging 68.5 points a contest and had been allowing their foes 45.9 points.

Scott Huegel followed Pippitt in the scoring column with 10 tallies while Jon Erwin had 10 for the winners.

Neligh trailed by only three points but couldn't stay with the young Laurel Bears as the hosts also won the JV game Friday.

The 47-35 win marked the 33rd straight win for Laurel JV basketball teams over a three year period.

Koill's 15-Footer Lifts Devils to 61-59 Victory

Tim Koill's 15-foot jumper with three seconds left Friday night lifted Wayne High to a 61-59 decision over Stanton and gave the Blue Devils their third win over a West Husker opponent.

The victory put coach Bill Sharpe's club record at 5-5 before Saturday's home tilt with Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference representative Bloomfield.

Wayne, which led by as much as seven points, saw that lead fall apart in the closing minutes of the game with just 18 seconds left.

Following a time out call by Wayne, Coach Sharpe instructed his players to keep the ball outside until the closing minutes, then gave the ball to the team's leading scorer for the season, Monte Lowe. That strategy paid off for Koill for the winning bucket.

Koill was one of four players who scored in double figures in what Sharpe described as the "most balanced" scoring game for Wayne. Senior Paul Mallette led with 14 points, followed by Koill with 13, Lowe with 11 and Tom Mitchell with 10.

"We played well and we hustled well," Sharpe pointed out, adding that "rebounding was the only difference in the game, especially on the offensive boards."

Wayne had 15 offensive rebounds to eight for the losers. Although Wayne had 36 to Stanton's 28, Koill was the leader on the boards with 15, followed by Lowe with 14.

Kirkland led Stanton's hot shooting quint with 16 points. The Mustangs finished the night with 26 of 51 fielders for 55 per cent; Wayne made 27 of 66 for a respectable 41 per cent.

The Wayne JV record fell to 3-4 Friday with a 40-28 loss.

LAUREL'S INSIDE GAME accounted for a bundle of points Friday night as Scott Huegel (shooting) got 16 points and Greg Pippitt (52) tallied 26 points. Trying to stop Huegel on this play is Neligh's Gene Magwire (15) and Dave Ehlers (3).

Forfeits Aid Winside to 4th Dual Win
Winside matmen had little trouble Thursday night in racking up their fourth dual win when defeating Hastings High. They forfeited three matches and lost five more to give the Wildcats a 4-1-1 record.

Another factor which didn't help Hastings' cause was that both teams failed to have any one wrestler at 98 pounds and heavyweight.
Coach Ron Pock decided to keep Tom Anderson out of the lineup in the 98-pound class because he's rapidly approaching the 26-match limit. Anderson's record is 9-6. Heavyweight Dan Westlerhaus wasn't able to attend the match.
Two members of Winside's

DRIBBLING around Brad Katin of Coleridge is Tyler Frevert of Winside who finished the night with 22 points, second high to team leader Bob Hoffman who had 23 points in the one-sided Wildcat victory.

Ponca's Lead Too Much for Allen

Jumping off to a 10-0 lead, Ponca easily handled invading Allen 62-35 Friday night.

The hosts never were caught after the opening minutes and led 29-14 by halftime. The loss dropped Allen to 0-10 on the year with a trip to Westfield, Ia., slated for Tuesday night. Allen has now dropped 29 straight basketball games.

A cold night from the floor spelled defeat for the invaders as Allen hit on only 14 of 52 attempts from the field for a 26 per cent clip. Meanwhile, Ponca hit at a 53 per cent clip with a 28 for 53 count.

On the boards, Allen held a 45 to 40 edge with Shawn Persinger pulling down 16 rebounds. Turnovers again hurt the losers as Ponca made Allen cough up the ball 29 times.

Brian Voss led the winners attack with 16 points while Penny Uhl had 14 for the losers.

Losing coach Jim Koonz said that Ponca's half court trap press hurt the Eagles but Allen's real problem was just finding the bottom of the hoop. "I was really pleased with this game" because we came back and rebounded real well. One of these nights those shots, have just got to start falling," he pointed out.

WHEREAS, it is for a public purpose and in the interest of the City of Wayne, Nebraska, to secure into itself and its inhabitants a reliable and adequate supply of electrical energy for the remainder of this decade and the more distant future.

WHEREAS, it is the duty of this body to supply the citizens of Wayne, Nebraska, with adequate electric service and to assure that such supply of electrical energy is provided to the City and its inhabitants.

WHEREAS, the supply of electrical energy traditionally relied upon by the City of Wayne, Nebraska for local consumption is available only at substantially increasing costs to the City, and its inhabitants, and will not be the most economical supply of electrical energy both for the present and future.

WHEREAS, the City of Wayne, Nebraska is the owner of and has made substantial investment in facilities for the generation, transmission and distribution of electrical energy, and it being of the utmost importance to the City that said facilities and the City's investment therein be preserved and properly utilized in the most efficient manner possible in meeting the City's future electrical energy needs.

WHEREAS, the foregoing difficulty has touched upon the future supply of electrical energy to the City of Wayne, Nebraska are difficulties now confronted and shared by numerous other incorporated municipalities within the State of Nebraska, and it being for a public purpose and indispensable to the best interests of the City and other municipalities to combine their economic and technical resources to create such difficulties on a basis consistent with the common interest of such municipalities and to provide the most possible their autonomy and freedom of choice as municipal entities engaged in the municipal electric utility business as authorized by the laws of the State of Nebraska.

provided advance notification of the time and place of said meeting and the subjects to be discussed at said meeting. Bruce Mordhorst, City Clerk (Seal)

LOSE UNWANTED POUNDS
Do your clothes have that "after Christmas" tight feeling? If they do, your scale will tell you the sad tale. Now is the time to do something about those extra pounds before they become a permanent fixture.

First, take stock of your eating and nibbling habits. Write down everything you eat for 24 hours, even the "tastes" you sneak while cooking. Everything counts.

Next, check off the things you don't need for an adequate diet. Here is the "Basic Four" list to use as a guide: milk group, 2 servings; meat group, 2 servings; fruit and vegetable group, 4 servings; and bread and cereal group, 4 servings.

A serving of milk is 1 cup, cheese, 2 ounces; meat, 2 ounces; fruit and vegetable, 1 cup; bread, 1 slice; and cereal, 1/2 cup.

FmHA Announces Lower Loan Rate

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced today that Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) housing loans to families of low and moderate income for single family homes will be made at an interest rate of 8.75 percent. The previous rate of nine percent had been in effect since Sept 2.

The new rate, already in effect, will apply to FmHA loans to eligible families for purchase or improvement of individual homes. FmHA's rate is consistent with the current interest rate on housing loans insured by the Department of Housing and Urban Development and Veterans Administration.

The interest rate of nine percent will continue to be applied to FmHA loans for the development of rental and cooperative housing.

Housing loans are administered by FmHA in rural areas including rural towns of not more than 10,000 population, and in certain designated towns and cities with populations between 10,000 and 20,000.
