Telephone Executive Says 'Information' Could Cost

Diating for "information" could become an added cost for some telephone customers.

Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. vice president Ben Morris told Wayne Chamber of Commerce members Monday night.

Morris, chief executive for Northwestern's Nebraska division, was the key speaker at the Chamber's annual banquet. He said that the telephone company will conduct a campaign during February, designed to encourage customers to cut down on unnecessary directory assistance calls. If the campaign isn't successful, Northwestern will petition the Nebraska Public Service Commission (PSC) for permission to begin charging for some directory assistance calls.

Morris said most customers won't be affected if that does happen, but customers making heavy use of directory assistance services would have to start paying.

About 100,000 directory assistance calls are handled daily in the company's Nebraska division alone, Morris said. That takes the services of 300 operators, about half the Northwestern operators in Nebraska.

Use of directory assistance has been growing by from eight to 10 per cent a year, and last year cost about $27 million.

Telephone companies are service companies, Morris said, but Northwestern believes that many of those directory assistance calls are unnecessary and pointed out that directory assistance costs are shared by all customers through rates necessary to make up for revenue lost through providing the service.

It isn't fair for everyone to share costs for excessive use of directory assistance, Morris said, because studies have shown that 30 per cent of the company's customers make 90 per cent of the directory assistance calls. About 75 per cent of See TELEPHONE, page 12

Youths Arrested in Break-In Case

Three Wayne youths, ages 14 to 16, were arrested over the weekend, in connection with the break-in at the Middle School on Jan. 24.

Two of those juveniles were also arrested in connection with a break-in last Thursday night on Friday morning at St. Mary's School. The same pair, plus a third youth, age 15, were arrested in connection with a purse reported missing last week by Hattie Christensen.

A resident and employee at the Hotel Morrison, she discovered the purse missing upon returning to her job. Contents of the purse included a $20 check and $15 in cash. Everything was recovered except for the cash.

About $65 was reported in the Middle School incident. The money from St. Mary's School, but two door windows were broken.

County attorney Budd Bornhoff said Wednesday morning that charges had not been filed.

Murphy Resolution Passes First Test

A resolution by state Senator Roy Murphy that Congress be forced upon to balance its budget survived an initial test last Wednesday when it was advanced to the floor by the Constitutional Revision Committee.

Murphy, representing the 17th district which includes most of Wayne County, introduced the resolution in which the unicameral would call upon that Congress to enact an amendment which would require that the federal budget be balanced at whatever level of spending is determined necessary.

The resolution calls for Nebraska to invite other states to join in a constitutional convention to bring about such an amendment if Congress fails to act on the proposal.

Murphy, in his legislative newsletter, said he was pleased to approach a crisis stage.

The 17th district senator also said that "far too many" bills have been introduced that ask the state to assume the funding and administration of federal programs which are being curtailed.

Murphy said he is not in favor of such measures, because they merely shift existing tax burdens, rather than reducing the cost of government.

"The cumulative effect of all such tax manipulations is that fewer and fewer people are paying more and more taxes," Murphy concluded.

Gas Rates Going Down

Peoples Natural Gas is decreasing its rates to residential and commercial firm customers with this month's billing.

This is the result of a similar decrease received by Peoples from its pipeline supplier, Northern Natural Gas Company. The decrease by Northern, which became effective Dec. 27, reflects the settlement of a prior natural gas rate increase filed by Northern with the Federal Power Commission offered by certain increases in Northern's cost of service.

The reduction lowers the rates for natural gas service by .435 cents per one hundred cubic feet. This decrease will reduce by approximately $7.00, the annual cost of gas for the typical Nebraska residential heating customer.

Should Northern's rate be reduced further, resulting in refunds to Peoples, rates will be lowered accordingly, with appropriate refunds and interest.

BILL WORKMAN displays the plaque he received at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner Monday night, citing him for outstanding service to the organization during 1975.

Rare Disease Causes Death

A 17-year old Newcastle track star died Friday in a Sioux City hospital from a rare blood disease.

The death of Natalie Zerbe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Zerbe of Newcastle, was attributed to meningococcus, a bacterial disease which infects the blood stream and can cause meningitis.

Dr. Charles Coe of Wakefield hospitalized Mrs. Zerbe last Thursday night after she became extremely ill. Friday morning she was transferred from the Wakefield Community Health Care Center to a Sioux City hospital, where she died at about noon.

Dr. Coe said Miss Zerbe had been mildly sick for several days before becoming extremely ill Thursday night.

State epidemiologist Dr. Paul Stoess, director of the State Health Department disease control division, said that while the meningococcus bacteria can cause meningitis, the death was not classified as such. Meningitis is a general term applied to various bacteria and virus diseases which infect the meninges, the membrane surrounding the brain and the spinal cord. Miss Zerbe's death was caused by an infection of the blood stream.

Dr. Coe said the fatality rate for people contracting the disease is nearly 100 per cent. Dr. Stoess agreed that it is a dangerous type of infection; but added that there is no need for alarm because it is not highly communicable. In fact, meningococcus cases are so rare that only two or three are reported annually to the State Health Department.

The bacteria cannot be transmitted by coughing or sneezing like many diseases, Dr. Stoess explained. Physical contact is necessary. Because of that, there is no cause for wide

Taxi Will Roll Into Business On Feb. 9

Wayne city administrator Fred Brink announced Wednesday that the municipal taxi service will begin operation on Feb. 9.

Taxi customers should call 375-1733 for service. Fare will be 50 cents, to any destination within Wayne, and to and from the municipal airport.

Taxi service will be available Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Thursdays, the taxi will be available from noon until 9 p.m.

Brink said the city has received the license, preliminary administrative work is complete.

Visiting Nurse Program to Start

A visiting nurse program for Wayne residents and persons in the surrounding area will begin today (Thursday).

Designed to help persons living at home who need health care or counseling, the program will be conducted by Ann Wilkowsky through the cooperation of Drs. Wiseman and Bentback Clinics in Wayne and Providence Medical Center.

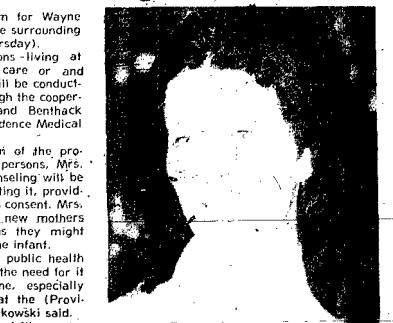

Although a large portion of the program will involve elderly persons, Mrs. Wilkowsky said she has been available to anyone requesting it, providing they have their doctor's consent. Mrs. Wilkowsky will also visit new mothers and answer any questions they might have concerning care of the infant.

"I've been interested in public health for a long time and I saw the need for it (visiting nurse) in Wayne, especially after I started working at the (Providence) hospital," Mrs. Wilkowsky said.

Plans are to operate the visiting nurse program on Tuesdays and Thursdays, starting at 10 a.m. Mrs. Wilkowsky said she will be available to provide information on health care and counseling, and have their doctor's permission, can contact her at her home by calling 375-4509 on Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to noon.

A native of Crofton, Mrs. Wilkowsky graduated from Mt. Mary College in 1966 with a bachelor of science degree in nursing. After working in hospitals in Colorado and Washington, D.C., she received her master's degree in public health in 1973 from Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

Ann and her husband, John, live in Wayne with their 10-month old daughter, Teresa Marie.

City Lacks Parking Resolution

Wayne City administrator Fred Brink received authority Tuesday night to complete arrangements which will be necessary for the city council to decide to sell the power transmission line which connects the city power system to the Nebraska Public Power District line.

After March 1, the city will be purchasing all its power from NPPD and there will be no advantage to retaining ownership of the line, the council was told. Brink said the line is valued at about $65,000. NPPD has agreed to buy the line with the condition that the city can buy it back if NPPD should build a substation nearby. In that case power would cost less if the city owned the interconnect line.

A resolution which would prohibit parking in certain sections of the city between 3 and 5 a.m. was tabled, pending recommendation by police chief Vern Fairchild.

The parking ordinance might be changed when the council takes the matter up again. Some members said they believe the ordinance should coincide with signs in the city, which prohibit parking between midnight and 5 a.m. It was expressed that cost of replacing the signs would be prohibitive.

The council voted to donate $200 to the local Mental Health Association. The association advises professional counselors from Norfolk who provide services on a once-a-month basis. Council member Carolyn Filler, the city representative in the association, said the group has operated on $700 since it was formed in 1973.

Bermuda Triangle Lecture Rescheduled

Author-lecturer Charles Berlitz, whose performance in Wayne has been postponed several weeks, will be at the Wayne State College Ramsey Theatre Monday, February 9.

Berlitz is author of the controversial best-seller, "The Bermuda Triangle," which discusses the area in the Western Atlantic where over one hundred ships and planes and over a thousand people are said to have disappeared without a trace. The Bermuda Triangle is sometimes referred to as the Devil's Triangle, Hoodoo Sea or Graveyard of the Atlantic.

Berlitz will accompany his lecture with slides, charts and other visual aids.

Berlitz' appearance is one of several special programs offered by Wayne State College each year.

Bicentennial Status Goes to 3 Area Towns

Three area towns, Allen, Laurel and Winslow, have been added to the list of designated Bicentennial organizations in Nebraska.

All three have completed the necessary requirements to earn a Bicentennial flag which will be presented at a later date.

Tape Player, Items Missing in Break-In

About $750 worth of tape player equipment and other items were taken from the Linn Malters farm about three miles southwest of Waterbury between 8 and 11 a.m. Sunday, according to the Dixon County sheriff's office.

Malters told sheriff Dean Chase that entry was made by breaking in the front door and damaging a lock valued at $20.

Among the items missing were three tape speakers, a tape player and 25 tapes, two clock radios, a jig saw, skill saw and two drills.

Merchants Show Appreciation

Wayne merchants are showing their appreciation for shoppers during a Chamber of Commerce-sponsored promotion today (Thursday), Friday and Saturday.

Park Days, originally slated for January, has been rescheduled for October to coincide with National Park Producers Month.

Changes Noted for '76 Election

Conclusive, if unofficial, results should be forthcoming sooner in the 1976 elections in Nebraska than in previous years, thanks to a change in election laws.

Wayne County clerk Norris Weible said that a change in state law requires that absentee and disabled voter ballots be counted on election nights.

That should mean that unofficial results released on election nights will be accurate in all but the highest race.

In past elections, Weible said, a reasonably close race could mean that final results would hinge on absentee and disabled voter ballots which were not counted until the Thursday following election days. The primary election in 1976 will be Tuesday, May 22, the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 7.

hence, under the old law it could be two days after election before candidates and voters had any idea who the winners were.

The new law is designed to change that. With absentee ballots counted on election night, unofficial results released then should be accurate. In most cases, final results won't be known until announced by the canvassing board on the following Thursday, and ballots received by mail as late as 10 a.m. Thursday morning will still be counted. But the majority of mail ballots are received by election day, Weible said, so a race would have to be extremely close for ballots received later to change the outcome.

Weible Friday attended a meeting in Norfolk, which covered changes in election laws. Deputy secretary of State Ralph Engler conducted the meeting.

Weible said a new election body will be needed to count absentee and disabled voter ballots on election night because See CHANGES, page 12

Inflation Outpaces Income

To what extent has the rising cost-of-living affected residents of Wayne County during the last five years?

How large an income does a local family have to have these days to equal the purchasing power it had in 1970?

A great deal more, according to data obtained from the Conference Board, the Department of Labor and others. In the five-year period, they show, the purchasing power of the dollar eroded by more than 23 cents, continuing the long-time trend in that direction. In terms of the 1949 dollar, for example, it is now worth only 48 cents.

Added to the unrelenting rise in the cost of goods and services has been the increase in taxes, especially for Social Security.

All-in-all, the average family needs to be making nearly 40 percent more than it did five years ago to maintain the same standard of living.

For Wayne County families that had an income of $6,500 in 1970, approximately $9,100 would be required today. Those that had $8,500 then need $11,900 now. Those in the $10,000 bracket have to have $14,000 and the ones at the $15,000 level, $21,000.

Fortunately for most local families, their incomes did rise sharply in the last five years. The average of $11,160 per household in 1975, compared with $8,590 in 1970. It was an increase of 30 percent.

The gains they made enabled them to offset the rising cost of living better than families in many parts of the country.

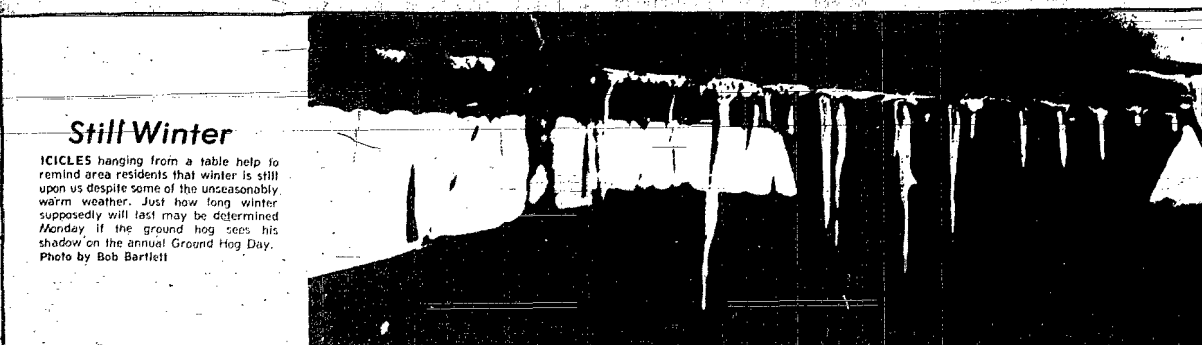

The big losers in the race with inflation include wage earners whose paychecks haven't kept pace, those who are on fixed pensions and welfare recipients.

A study by the Conference Board, covering the past 10 years, shows that taxes continue to absorb a rising share of personal income, about 23 percent today.

Social Security contributions constituted the fastest growing segment of the total tax, shooting up 283 percent in the 10 years. State and local taxes went up 266 percent, it finds, and federal income taxes, 170 percent.

'Lysistrata' To Be Modern Translation

Aristophanes' classic "Lysistrata" is being done with a modern translation by Douglas Parker and is interpretive rather than literal, according to Dr. Helen Russell, head of the Wayne State College Theater Department. Regular translation, frequent adaptation, persistent production and occasional confiscation make "Lysistrata" one of Aristophanes' most popular surviving comedies. The play revolves around Lysistrata and her plan to save the warring city-states of Greece. She convinces all the women to withhold all sexual favors from their men until a treaty is signed to end the war.

Final Festival Plans Made At Woman's Club Meeting

Final plans for the annual Fine Arts Festival to be held Friday, Feb. 13, at the city auditorium, were discussed at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Wayne Federated Women's Club. A report on festival details was given by Mrs. Alfred Koplin.

The arts and crafts division is for club members and for Wayne school students. Arts and crafts entries are to be at the auditorium the morning of the festival.

Local high school students are also eligible to enter the music and high school sewing divisions of the contest and should contact their high school teachers for further information.

In addition to the arts and crafts division, Women's Club members may also enter the adult sewing, and literature, public speaking and drama divisions.

The public is invited to attend the show. The 900s will be open for those who wish to view the displays, from 12:30 to 5 p.m. Proceeds earmarked for one of the club's charities.

Mrs. C.F. Maynard, Women's Club president, conducted the Friday meeting. She reported that she had received a letter from the manager of Wayne Radio KCHJ urging members to write the station expressing their views concerning the proposed agreement under which the family of the late Rottlie Ley would donate their father's home to the county historical society with the condition that the county provide between $3,000 and $4,000 a year to maintain the building.

Thirty-six members and two guests attended the meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. Henry Rehwisch, Ms. Virgil Chambers, Mrs. Alfred Morris, Mrs. Clara Banister and Mrs. Bernard Meyer.

Copies of the present club bylaws and proposed revisions were distributed. They were reviewed by bylaws committee chairman Mrs. Jessie Morgan who suggested that members study the proposed changes and be ready to vote on them at the next meeting, Feb. 13.

The program was given by Richard Metteer, director of Project Success, which deals with children with specific language disabilities and by Mrs. Beverly Scovil, director of the newly organized Project Predict and Prevent, offering special services to children of preschool age who have special needs.

Metteer showed slides of SLD children in local schools receiving instruction from trained teachers, emphasizing that because of such instruction children are able to attain a level of achievement consistent with their peer group. In answering questions, Metteer stated that about 30 per cent of all children are in definite need of such specialized instruction.

Mrs. Scovil spoke of the plans and procedures of Predict and Prevent. She explained the importance of locating children with special needs at the earliest possible age and outlined the screening methods and the home-based teaching which would follow. She distributed information sheets and answered questions.

Both speakers invited interested persons to look more closely at the work of the two projects and said that volunteers would be welcomed as aides. They explained that the projects are federally funded. Project Success by Title III and Predict and Prevent by Title VI B.

Alain R. Guillot, Pinque-Wayne High School's foreign exchange student from Belgium, will show slides and talk of his native country at the Feb. 13 Women's Club meeting. Alain is making his home with the Dwayne Rehwisch family while attending school at Wayne.

The Jinx Is Broken; Allen Wins by Four

Victory has finally come home to Allen. After a 31-game losing streak which spanned almost two seasons, the 1975-76 edition of basketball at Allen High broke what has to be a school record Tuesday night when the invading Eagles stopped Newcastle, 49-45. A hoarse coach Jim Koontz called his team's first victory in 12 starts this season, the team's "supreme effort."

Cats, Chargers To Square Off Tonight at Rice Gym

Wayne State's Wildcats, fresh off a 99-71 scoring romp against Peru State Tuesday, face a stiff challenge on the home court tonight (Thursday) when Briar Cliff comes to town.

The talented Chargers pushed their record to 13-5 as they blitzed Mount Marty, 112-70, in Sioux City. They started the season back in November with a 62-60 squeak over Wayne, and Wayne coach Jim Seward still thinks Briar Cliff may have the strongest collection of players the Wildcats will meet this year.

Frosh to Face North Bend in Schuyler Meet

It's been a long time since Wayne High freshmen cagers have gotten past the first round of the Schuyler Invitational basketball meet, said a happy coach Duane Biemkamp after his team Tuesday broke that record with a 54-43 win over Clarkson.

Laurel Frosh Win

Using a stout defense, Laurel freshmen Monday stopped visiting Plainview, 49-28, for the Bears' fourth win in six games.

over, on far out jumpers, quick drives and tip-ins. His 17 goals was a team high for the season, and Anderson also topped the Wildcats with nine rebounds.

John Redmond elevated his team leading season average to 19.9 with his 25 points, while Rex Pressler also bettered his average with 14.

The Cats' board domination, 53 to 31, "pretty well explains why Wayne ended up 99 points, despite inspired shooting by Peru. The Bobcats made 58 percent of field shots good, but simply could not fire enough of them over the harassing Wayne defense.

A Peru flurry in the second half chipped Wayne leads to 10 at one time, 66-56. Then Pressler and Anderson got down to serious business and put the Wild cats back on a rocky climb.

About four minutes from the end, when Redmond, Anderson and Pressler left the game, Peru's 25-point scoring leader, Aubrey Matthews, not playing at the moment — hurried over to shake hands with the Wildcat trio. They had been instrumental in limiting Matthews to four second-half points after he scored 21 before intermission.

WAVING his arms and hands, Wakfield's Scott Mills (24) tries to prevent Laurel's Brian Johnson from driving in to score. The attempt to stop Johnson failed as he quickly put on the brakes, causing Mills to collide with Johnson. Ready to help stop Johnson is another Wakfield player, Tim Rouse (32).

'Overconfidence Isn't Part of Our Game'

Joel Parks isn't worried about his players becoming overconfident after his Laurel club Saturday night increased its win streak to 12 with a 73-54 whipping of Wakfield.

"We're confident, but we're not overconfident. Just look at the first two games," Parks said, pointing out that after losses to Norfolk Catholic and Harrington Cedar Catholic, "we have to respect everybody."

On the other hand, Wakfield coach Joe Coble commented Parks and his crew, noting that they're "an awfully good ball club. I can't see anybody beating them."

Coble's analysis of Laurel's future was based on the Bear's overall play Saturday which earned them a 14-2 record going into Tuesday night's game with Randolph.

made 49 percent of its shots from the field, pulled down 26 rebounds and only gave up the ball 11 times.

"Seniors Brian Johnson and Greg Pippitt led Laurel's scoring with 19 points each. Also scoring in double figures were Jon Erwin and Scott Hueltig with 17 and 11 respectively.

On the boards, Johnson was the leader with nine caroms. Defensively, the Bears played according to Parks' game plan. That is shut off Wakfield's big man in the center, senior Scot Keagle, and cause the senior Trojan to get into foul trouble.

Without Keagle in the middle, Laurel used its quickness to better advantage for the driving layups. With 3:35 left in the first stanza, Pippitt drove in for a two pointer to put his club in front, 19-8.

The Bears rolled on to a 41-19 halftime command and made the score 63 to 36 going into the last quarter where Parks put in his reserve squad.

Keagle got back into the game in the second half where he finished with seven fielders and flipped in two or three free throws for a team-high 16 points. Also, scoring in double figures for Wakfield was Al Johnson with 12.

For the night, the Trojans, who now are 7-5, shot 46 percent from the field, had 22 rebounds and turned the ball over 22 times. Johnson and Keagle were the leaders on the boards with six and five rebounds.

Laurel's junior varsity pushed its undefeated record to ten with a 58 to 31 victory. Tim Harrington had 16, Gordie Karst had 13 and Steve Slope had 12 to pace the Bears. Jerry Echtenkamp had eight for Wakfield, which drops to a 6-4 record.

WS Is Site Of 'Unique' Mat Meet

A unique wrestling tournament is on the Wayne State calendar Friday and Saturday — unique because of the scoring system which Wildcat coach Harrison Haayer devised.

It is a round robin meet with all six teams going against all others in duals, on three mats.

First round action at 6 a.m. Friday in Rice Auditorium will match Morningside and Midland, USD Springfield and Westminster, Wayne State and Southwest Minnesota State.

The second round is scheduled for 7:30 Friday, third round at 1 p.m. Saturday, fourth round at 2-30, fifth round at 4-30.

Haayer's plan calls for six-minute matches, and no riding time will be figured into scores.

His scoring system goes like this: individual weight champions and team champions will be decided on won-loss records as the first priority. In case of ties, placings will be decided next on accumulated team points, then on head-to-head results, and if that does not resolve the tie, the most falls and finally the fastest falls.

As far as Wayne is concerned, Haayer figures competition will be strong. His Wildcats already have met and lost to three of the entries — Morningside, Springfield and Westminster, the latter Tuesday night at Le Mars by a 24-21 count.

Admission is free to all sessions of the tournament.

Pride Is Key to LH Wins

By BOB BARTLETT

Pride is a basic ingredient these days in Laurel High's sports programs.

The fans as well as the players show that ingredient everytime the Bears take to the gridiron or basketball court. Pride, particularly, is the one element which reserve basketball coach Bob Weisenberg believes is a contributory factor to his club's win streak which hasn't been broken in 36 games.

The last time the Laurel JVs lost was in 1974 to Wayne. Since then very few teams have come close to topping the Bears, who are 10-0 this year.

Weisenberg, who is in his first year as reserve coach, noted after Saturday's win over Wakefield that when he was attending classes at Wayne State, Laurel players and their boosters were noted for their pride in winning.

For that reason, Weisenberg doesn't want to take credit for Laurel's current win streak. "We just do the best we can," he added.

This week's selections (winners in boldface):

Tonight (Thursday)
Laurel club at Hartington High—Coach Everett Jensen's Laurel club beat a good Wayne team. Shouldn't have any trouble against Hartington.
Winside girls at Wynot—Wildkittens have the size and ability to be a winner.

Friday
Pierce at Wayne—Blue Devils get back on the winning trail.
Winside at Coteville—Winside will make it two conference wins over the Bulldogs.

O'Neill at Laurel—Bears topped the Eagles in the conference tournament earlier this month and should do it again.
Ponca at Allen—Indians have the experience.
Wakefield at West Point—Trojans should regroup for a victory here.

Saturday
Wakefield girls at Wayne—Wayne gals have the speed and quickness.
Wayne at Schuyler—Schuyler has home-court edge.

Monday
Wayne vs. Emerson-Hubbard—Devils should prevail in this close match in the first night of West Husker Conference play at Wayne High.

Tuesday
Wakefield vs. Stanton—Trojans won't forget their one-point loss to the Mustangs earlier this season. Look for coach Joe Coble's Wakefield quint to be a winner in second night of conference action.
Winside at Wausa—Chalk up another loop win for the Wildcats.

Allen at Walthill—Walthill is the better club.
Laurel girls at Bloomfield—Have to go with a winner.
Winside girls at Wausa—Coach Kathy O'Conner's Winside gals are too potent for this Wausa bunch.

Allen Girls Keep Win Streak Alive

Playing one of their best games of the season, Allen High girls Monday night chalked up their ninth straight win by dumping visiting Emerson-Hubbard, 58-36.

Allen made 45 per cent of its shots from the field and pulled down 40 rebounds to keep its perfect record intact.

Led by three players in double figures, Allen beat to a 29-9 halftime score and hit the basket for another 29 points in the second half.

Senior Diane Witte led the trio with 16 points. Lori Erwin had 12 and Karl Erwin had 11. Karl finished the game with eight assists while her sister, Lori, had 12 caroms and teammate Joy-Kier had nine rebounds.

In the last two games, Allen has been strong on the board. Against host Decatur Saturday night, the area girls team had 47 rebounds to effectively guard the board for a 44-25 victory.

Allen blistered the oets in the first half with an 89 per cent shooting clip. Karl Erwin was the top pointmaker for the night, hitting 23 points. Erwin's total for the game was 25 after a member of Decatur's team scored in the wrong basket.

"Most of our shots were from the outside, about 15 to 20 feet," said coach Steve McManigal.

Allen's All-State player, senior Theresa Conneally, saw limited action in the first half before she exited the game with a knee injury. Conneally, who didn't score any points, reinjured her knee on a layup. She had been out of action since hurting her knee in December. Allen girls will take their 9-0 record into their four-team tournament which runs on Feb. 5 and 7. Playing in that tournament are...

Following that journey, Allen heads for the eight-team Stanton meet in early March.

Allen's junior varsity rapped up its season play with a 6-3 mark, including wins over Emerson and Decatur.

In a pair of close scoring games, Allen netted Emerson, 12-10, and got by Decatur, 11-9. Down by one point with 10 seconds left, Allen's Pam Brownell knotted the game at nine-all against Decatur with her free throw before Grace Luschen sank a two-pointer for the reserves' fourth straight win.

Leading Allen to its win over Decatur was June Stapleton with six points.

JON ERWIN, Laurel High School

For senior Jon Erwin, last Friday night's 30-point performance was a night the Laurel varsity never will easily forget. Erwin set a career high scoring mark for himself while he helped Laurel to a 99-45 blasting of Crotton in a Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference match and led the Bears to their 11th straight victory.

Erwin's 30-point output isn't the main reason the Laurel product is this week's Athlete of the Week. Erwin earns the honor for his consistent playing which has helped coach Joel Parks' Bears to rank among the top 10 Class C teams in the state.

"He's always under control, both physically and emotionally. He doesn't let situations bother him... or let one bad play lead to another." Parks pointed out about his six-foot-one senior starter who is averaging 14 points a game.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford "Pat" Erwin of rural Wakefield, Jon also was a mainstay in the Bears' 73-35 win over Creighton prior to Friday's match. He sank 21 points.

THE IDEA of playing professional basketball is something that has been on Rick Anderson's mind since he started playing in high school and college ball.

For the Wayne State senior guard, that idea isn't too far away from becoming a possibility.

The 6-4 senior product from Chicago, Ill., doesn't have the height to measure up to the six-foot-eight or seven-foot players who dominate the National Basketball League. But he does have the quickness and the instinct to be what he believes, is a player with an outside chance of making the big league.

Talking with a member of the Houston Rockets professional basketball team, Anderson has picked up a few tips about the game and possible chances for getting into professional sports. His contact in the Houston club? Cliff Mealy, a second cousin who recently signed to play with the Los Angeles Lakers.

Anderson isn't fooling himself into thinking that just because he knows a member of a professional team he'll easily get into the pros. It's going to take hard work.

Anderson's goal now, if he doesn't get any feelers from any professional clubs is to tryout for a club in Europe where he possibly might earn a name for himself. Anderson feels that may be a long shot, but sometimes longshots can pay off, he noted.

CURRENTLY, Anderson is second in scoring for the Wildcats with a 16.8 average going into Tuesday night's home tilt against Peru. He's also second in rebounding with 119 caroms, which averages out to seven a game.

It's that kind of consistent playing, said coach Jim Seward during last week's Second Guessers' meeting, which made Anderson one of the Guessers' top two choices for Athlete of the Week honors.

Anderson scored his second high of 37 points against Kearney last week in the Wildcats' 118-117 defeat.

Also receiving the Guessers' award last week was 126-pound senior grappler Craig Hellwege of St. Paul. Wrestling coach Marion Haayer cited Hellwege for winning three of four matches during last week's meets and "for giving 100 per cent dedications to the sport."

DURING last week's meeting, members of the Second Guessers voted to help buy several physical fitness machines for Rice Auditorium. Coach Seward pointed out that the equipment is designed to develop speed and increase jumping ability in athletes.

Total cost would be about $2,500. Members okayed spending, $1,500 with the rest to come from money-making projects by student athletic organizations.

ABOUT coach Haayer, the Wayne Stater, a student newspaper, had an interesting article about the three-year head man. It seems last week that

ABOUT coach Haayer, the Wayne Stater, a student newspaper, had an interesting article about the three-year head man. It seems last week that Haayer and 190-pound wrestler Mike Riedmann were working out on the mats when Riedmann caught his coach off guard and rolled him. Result: the coach is nursing a jammed shoulder, a pinched nerve and a spinning head.

The article went on to say that "Haayer was laughing and joking about the accident the next day, saying that 'they like to beat me up a little bit.'"

Haayer's oddball act—that "Haayer is really gung ho when it comes to getting in there with the guys."

A LETTER from members of Winside High's varsity basketball team wished to point out to Wildcat followers that their support was appreciated during the Winside-Hartington High game Saturday night.

Although the Cats lost, 61-53, the players felt that the good turnout of Winside fans "helped as much as any crowd could have."

The letter goes on to say "Further support like that would be appreciated."

Lesson No. One: Don't Mess Around with Cats

A former pupil of Winside High wrestling coach Ron Peck got another lesson Tuesday night.

Steve Jensen, who wrestled at 133 pounds in 1965 while attending Tri-Center High School in Weola, Ia., learned that no oneses around with Winside.

The Osmond head wrestling coach and his squad learned that lesson very well as the Wildcats started the Tigers for a 20-18 dual with the sixth this year for the undefeated Wildcats.

Coach Ron Peck's Wildcats, which are undefeated in tournaments, were led by Kevin Cleveland, 112; Keith Sueli, 126; Monte Pfeiffer, 132; Brad Brummetts, 138; Brad Langenberg, 145; and Brian Svoboda, 185.

Taking second for Winside were Tom Anderson, 98, and Tom Koll, 105. Neil Wagner finished third at 155.

Wakelield had four grapplers finish third to pace coach Lyle Thrilling's squad. They were Bill Newton, 98; Dave Gustafson, 167; Steve Greve, 185; and heavyweight Merrill Hale.

Going into the third round of Saturday's match, Wakelield was in second place in the eight-team tournament. However, the Trojans failed to score any points in that round which caused them to drop, Thrilling pointed out.

145 — Eric Vanhank (W) pinned Kellon Korih, 2:33

Peck's crew won eight of the 12 matches, including four by decisions and two by technical wins. Winning by decisions were Tom Anderson, Brad Brummetts, Brad Langenberg and LaVerne Miller. Slicking their opponents were Tom Koll, Keith Sueli and Neil Wagner. Monte Pfeiffer won by forfeit.

Saturday defending champion Winside High added another first-place trophy to its growing list when the Wildcats won the Oakland-Craig Invitational wrestling meet.

Behind six first-place winners, two seconds and a third, Winside had 142½ points to outdistance runner-up Norfolk Catholic, which had 107½. Oakland was third with 80 followed by Tehama-Herman reserves with 77, Elgin Pope John with 69, Wakefield with 59, South Sioux City reserves with 51 and Lyons with 37½.

Penn Makes It 2 Over Coeds

After two decisive wins Wednesday and Friday, Wayne State basketball women suffered a disaster Saturday—losing by 70-42 to William Penn College at Oskaloosa, Ia.

A week earlier the nationally rated Penn quid had beaten the Wildcats, 79-58, at Wayne.

In the second confrontation, Wayne managed only 14 points in the first half while Penn scored 39. After intermission the Wildcats switched to a zone defense and held Penn to 31 while they scored 28.

"We didn't play very well and we had a good team look better," coach G. I. Willoughby said. "There really was no excuse, even after playing Friday night and traveling to Oskaloosa Saturday."

The Wildcats shot 27 from the field, far below their 41 average. Nobody scored in double figures against Penn as Julie Brinkman led with eight. In a junior varsity preliminary, Penn claimed a 62-44 victory.

Next on the Wayne state, Wayne will play at the College of St. Mary, Omaha, Friday, then at home Sunday afternoon, 2:30, against Midland, with JV and varsity games scheduled.

WS Tankers Are Eighth At Grinnell

Wayne State's swimming team won two of three meets Friday at Grinnell College in Iowa, then finished eighth among 12 teams competing in the Grinnell Relays Saturday.

Dual results: Wayne defeated Buena Vista, 65-26, and Grace-Land, 63-28; lost to Rockford, 70-31.

Leading swimmers for Wayne in the duals included Marty Christman of Fremont, with seven firsts, one second and one third; Lance Clay of Honolulu, six firsts, one second and one third; Scott Driscoll of Omaha, four firsts, one second and three thirds.

Saturday's Relays produced the "strongest competition in years," Wayne coach Ralph Barclay said. Chicago State, a non-traditional swimmer, topped 19 events to claim team championship by a wide margin, 395 to runner-up Rockford's 318. Augustana of Illinois, always a high finisher at Grinnell, came in third at 313. Rockford won the meet last year.

Other team scores: Knox, 272; Grinnell, 262; Northwood, 225; South 182; Luther, 162; Wayne State, 142; Cop, 130; Grace-Land, 66; Buena Vista, 55; Monmouth, 22.

Wayne State will swim against Buena Vista and Kearney here, Friday at 4 p.m.

The Wayne dual record books in Barclay noted that Wayne times in the Grinnell Relays were generally better than last year's, but exceptional competition dropped the Wildcats from fifth to eighth place.

Stratton's 32 Cripples Cats

Doug Stratton's 32 points—18 in the second half—stayed down Winside's bid in the race for first place in the Lewis and Clark Conference.

The Osmond junior Tuesday night was the main cog in the Tiger's 60-59 conference victory over the Wildcats who were 5-3 in the loop and 6-5 overall.

The 6-4 Stratton used his height to make the outside shots to cripple the smaller Winside club. Stratton's points in the first half topped the home team's 32-30 halftime lead which Osmond never relinquished until late in the second half.

Winside had a chance to put the ball game away with about 20 seconds left, but a missed shot with three seconds left gave Osmond the win.

"We played some pretty good defense, but at times we made some individual mistakes which hurt us," said Winside coach Korlin Lutz.

Saturday night the Cats fell to host Hartington High, 61-53. Senior Bob Hoffman led scoring with 20 points while senior Tyler Fremont was held to eight.

Winside came back after trailing 36-22 at the half to narrow the lead to three points in the final two minutes of play. Hampering the Cats from taking the lead were fouls and poor shooting from the field. Winside made only 26 per cent.

Winside's reserves also fell to Hartington and Osmond. The JVs lost 48-26 to Hartington and 45-15 to Osmond.

Wayne Drivers Pick Up 6 Wins In JC Races

A pair of Wayne men were among the leading winners Sunday in the second annual Wayne County Jaycee snowmobile race held at the Wayne County fairgrounds, Ia.

They were Terry Slinger and Bob Frey who finished a total of six first-place finishes out of 17 events for adult drivers. Slinger and Frey each won six events. Slinger placed first in modified machines in two separate engine classes and won one division in liquid cooled engines. Frey won an event in the modified machines and one in liquid cooled engines.

A total of 107 entries competed in the meet: With some drivers coming from as far away as Topeka, Kansas and Minnesota.

Another Wayne driver, Mike Niemann, won one of the three air-machine divisions and placed second in the junior class.

Among other top winners were Dick Johnson of Fremont, Art Nitsche of Bancroft, Randy Ehrisman of Beemer and Tom Sokoli of Fremont.

Hartington Takes 2 from Winside

Hartington junior high cagers Thursday took two games from visiting Winside.

The varsity ripped the area club, 58-27, and the B team topped the Wildcats of coach Mike Jones, 20-12. Considering Winside only had seven practices, the players did okay. Jones said about his club which is 0-2.

Scoring for Winside in the varsity match were Bill Gottberg with 7, Randy Ritze with 6, Bob Hawkins 4, Brian Foote 3, Roger Prince, Jon Langenberg and Brad Roberts 2 each and Todd Hoeman 1.

In the B game for Winside, Roberts led with five followed Bill George, Del Risor and Prince with two each and Brad Janke with one. Winside is 0-1.

The largest halibut on record in the U.S. measured 17 inches around and weighed 22 pounds according to World Book Encyclopedia.

some things just don't make cents saving does

It appears to us that fewer and fewer things are making good sense these days. Things come and go so fast that generally it seems we don't even begin to understand something before it's on its way out again. We do know one thing that continues to make real sense . . . or cents . . . depending on how you look at it. Depositing your money in a savings and loan institution will make so much cents for you that it's senseless not to give it a try.

"We Never Say No"

Important News about the News Media.

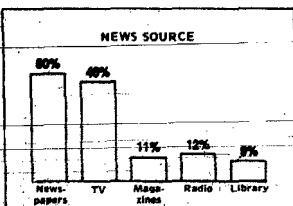

Today, as never before, Americans need information — about events, about people, about products. Read how they use the news media to meet this need.

In March, 1971, Opinion Research Corporation was commissioned to find out how Americans gather the information they need to conduct their daily lives.

Here, from a nationwide sample of 2,023 men and women age 18 and over, are some of the key findings of that research.

1. When people want to find out about news they are very much interested in, they rely on the newspaper more than any other medium.

Opinion Research Corporation asked: "Suppose there is some news you are very much interested in. Where would you be most likely to find out all there is about it?" Here's how people answered:

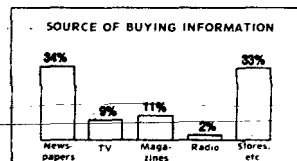

Clearly, newspapers are America's prime medium for news. Your best customers, then, rely very heavily on newspapers for their news. But that's not all. Read on.

2. When people are ready to buy, they turn to newspapers for the facts they need by more than 3 to 1 over any other news medium.

Opinion Research Corporation asked: "When you are ready to buy something, where are you most likely to find the kind of advertising that gives you the facts you want to know?"

Here's how people answered:

Obviously, when people actually start shopping for something in your product category, your advertisement had better be in the newspaper.

3. People trust advertising in newspapers far more than in any other medium.

Opinion Research Corporation asked: "Where are you personally most likely to find advertising that can be trusted? And where are you least likely to?" Here's how people answered:

Trust in advertising is concentrated in newspapers. With today's growing need for believability, advertisers who use newspapers to carry their messages are getting an important advantage.

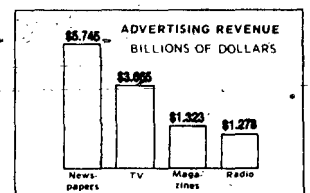

To summarize: Americans rely on the newspaper as their most complete, most trustworthy source of information, whether it is news or advertising. And the better the education and income level, the more this is true.

The findings of the Opinion Research Corporation are strongly confirmed by other equally unbiased statistical data.

Simmons '70, for example, reports that 78 out of every 100 adult Americans read at least one newspaper on the average weekday, far more than are exposed to any other news medium. Simmons also confirms the newspaper's leadership among "best customer" groups, too: daily readership is 87 per cent among college graduates, 84 per cent among those earning $10,000 or more, 86 per cent among under-25 married couples.

While television ratings have dropped over the past five years, the newspaper business has never been healthier. In 1970, circulation increased to a record daily average of 62,107,527.

Advertising revenue is growing still faster. In fact, newspaper advertising revenue has consistently outpaced even the massive growth of the Gross National Product since 1945. In 1970, advertisers spent $5,745,000,000 on newspaper advertising, $3,665,000,000 on television, $1,323,000,000 in magazines, and $1,278,000,000 on radio. To put it another way, advertisers spent almost as much in newspapers, as in TV, magazines and radio combined.

Further, preliminary figures show that for the first 8 months of 1971 newspaper advertising revenues increased 6.6 per cent overall, with national advertising up an impressive 12.7 per cent.

As an advertiser, you might want to take an especially hard look at that last figure. Even national advertisers, wedded so long to the computerized cost per thousand efficiencies of television, are once again realizing that their customers are flesh-and-blood people rather than mere numbers. And that — as the Opinion Research Corporation study shows — the way people use the mass media is at least as important to an advertiser as simple exposure to advertising messages alone.

Retailers, whose advertising must produce traceable results in a day or two, have never forgotten this stern fact. They cannot hide behind exposure figures: they must have sales. That is why department stores quite wisely spend an overwhelming 80 per cent of their advertising budgets in newspapers.

If you are not taking advantage of the newspaper's unique place in your customers' lives and overwhelmingly strong position as the Number One medium for news information and advertising information, let us show you how newspaper advertising can help you.

this inexhaustible power source, Roger Hamilton put it this way: "The government's keen new interest is seen in the sharp spur of federal financing for wind power research — up from a token $500,000 just three years ago to $12 million in fiscal year 1975. Nearly 50 wind-power projects are now supported by federal funds."

Some wind-catching concepts seem as the sky: 13,000 giant loggers offshore in the Atlantic, each with three 200 foot poles, theoretically supplying all of New England with two and one-half times the electric power used in 1974.

Other ideas seem scaled for backyards: A 15-foot "bicycle wheel" windmill, strong but light, with aluminum blades along the spokes and an outer rim that would power a long drive belt.

Wind power is no stranger to Americans. Still working today are about 150,000 of the old skeletal, galvanized iron windmills that — 70 or more years ago — creaked above almost every ranch and barnyard.

Time was when a bucolic rhyme scrawled on a western Nebraska barn spoke for count less contented farmers:

"We like it in the sandhills, We like it very good; For the wind it pumps our water, And the cows they chop our wood."

But, just as burning cow chips from the farm's fuel factory ended decades ago, the windmill surrendered its chores when the electric power line reached the farm during rural electrification in 1974.

in the 1930's. Windmill projects out there. The New Mexico State University at Las Cruces is going to teach how to repair old farm windmills, and the California Institute of Technology now offers a course in windmill design.

A major problem in utilizing wind power is storing it for cloudy days. Batteries, giant flywheels compressing air in cylinders, manufacturing hydrogen gas as fuel, pumping water to reservoirs above hydroelectric plants — these are envisioned as ways for practical storage of wind power.

Windmill designs can be ingenious. The vertical axis windmill, looking vaguely like a giant egg beater standing on its end, is popular because it has to be turned into the wind.

It could be the farm prototype for the future. A 10-kilowatt windmill developed at the Plum Brook test center at Ohio. It is on a tall tower. The generator powered by the propeller blades 125 feet from tip to tip.

It would be dwarfed by a 100-kilowatt windmill with two blades, 175 feet once mounted on a 100-foot tower in Vermont. It would cost 1,250 kilowatts, off and on for five years until it has paid for itself. One of the eight-ton towers would be set down the mountain.

Trees Were State Landmarks

Throughout the investigations of Nebraska Folklorist Roger Wetsch, he has consistently countered stories underlining the scarcity of trees on the Nebraska Plains.

Wetsch told an Indian joke that poked fun at a little boy who assured his mother that he had not lost his blanket. He knew right where it was — on the edge of the shadow. The Plains Indians saw the humor in this story since he knew that the only thing that threw a shadow of any size was a cloud.

Wetsch said, "Lynch mobs during those early years found their style considerably cramped by the lack of trees from which to hang miscreants. More often than they had to

Trees were so scarce that they became state landmarks for the Central City area.

The very scarcity of wood became the topic of talk and pioneer humor as the pioneer referred to his best fuel as buffalo chips — not because of the lack of trees.

Wetsch speculated a railroad bridge to be built across the state forest in the Central City area.

Wetsch said, "Lynch mobs during those early years found their style considerably cramped by the lack of trees from which to hang miscreants. More often than they had to

If this is a suspended ceiling ...where's the grid?

It's there, all right. But it's hidden within the tile itself. No bevels, either—just one beautiful pattern from wall to wall.

The "hidden grid" is the key to a whole new method that makes putting up a ceiling so much easier! You don't need special tools... or even to lay out the room—just drop the ceiling to any height you want, or install it flush to wooden joists or present ceiling. There's no need to level the tile... no furring strips or wasted material. No border tile to cut, no seams to line up. The large 1' x 4' tiles go up fast, and the grid snaps together. The design flows from wall to wall, with no bevels or exposed grid. See the handsome patterns today... install one in a few hours this weekend.

Permits on Sale
Beginning Feb. 1

Nebraskans may begin applying for 1976 spring turkey shotgun permits on Feb. 1, provided they did not have a shotgun permit last spring, according to the Game and Parks Commission.

The commissioners set the spring turkey season at their last meeting on Jan. 16, when they also decided opening dates for most of the rest of Nebraska's hunting seasons and set application dates for turkey, deer and antelope permits.

Applications for the spring shotgun turkey season will be accepted through Feb. 17 from Nebraska residents who did not have a permit last spring. A Feb. 25th drawing will be held in over-subscribed units, and remaining permits will go to Nebraskans applying between March 1 and 15. Archers may apply anytime after Feb. 1.

The spring turkey season will offer 1,275 shotgun permits in five units, the same number as last year except for an increase of 100 in the Niobrara Unit. Permit numbers include 1,200 in the Roundtop Unit, 500 in the Niobrara Unit, 75 in the South-west, 125 in the Verdigris Unit, and 75 in the Wildcat area. Archery permit numbers are unlimited.

The spring archery turkey season will run from April 1 through 23 and the shotgun hunt will go from April 24 through May 9.

Other dates set at the January meeting include opening dates for archery antelope, Aug. 20, cottontail, Sept. 1; squirrel, Sept. 1; archery deer, Sept. 18; grouse, Sept. 18; rifle archery turkey, Sept. 1; fall shotgun turkey, Oct. 30; pheasant, Oct. 30; quail, Nov. 6; and firearm deer, Nov. 13.

The commission also decided on application dates for deer, antelope and fall turkey permits. Resident firearm deer hunters who did not have a permit last year, and resident rifle antelope hunters who did not have permits in 1974 or 1975, may submit applications April 10 through May 10. A second round of applications from June 1 through 28 will be open to all nebraskans, who will vie for permits remaining after a May 20 drawing.

Applications for fall turkey permits will be taken from Sept. 4 through 20 from residents who did not have a fall permit last year. Following a drawing Sept. 24, all Nebraskans may apply for remaining permits Sept. 27 through Oct. 5.

Chance for Museum Grant Said Slim

Inquiries have been made regarding obtaining federal funds to support a proposed Wayne County museum but Mid-Elkhorn Council of Governments director Steve Martin said Tuesday that he thinks the outlook isn't good.

If a grant could be obtained, it would be used to provide support for a museum to be operated by the Wayne County Historical Society.

The children of the late Rollie Lee have agreed to donate their father's home to the Society for use as a museum if the county commissioners will agree to allocate between $3,000 and $4,000 a year to maintain the building.

Following a public hearing on the matter last Tuesday, the commissioners decided to table the matter until they could find if any grant money would be available for such a project.

Commissioner Floyd Burt contacted Martin, who made an inquiry to the state historical society in the county's behalf. The Council of Governments (COG) assists member agencies, including Wayne County, in a variety of functions, including grant applications. Martin said he doesn't know for sure about the availability of grants for historical projects, but did say that he made similar inquiries last year for several other communities but wasn't successful. Some grants had been available but "apparently there wasn't enough to go around," Martin said.

The COG administrator added that to be eligible for those grants which had been available, the project receiving support was required to be listed in a federal catalog of historical sites.

Martin said he had asked the state historical group to contact Burt directly with any information they could provide. Burt said Tuesday that he had not yet received a reply.

State statute allows counties to allocate up to one-tenth of a mill to support county historical societies. Commissioner Marlin Biersmann attended a legislative meeting for county officials held in O'Neill last Thursday and polled officials from other counties about the support they provide.

Of the 15 counties polled, eight — Pierce, Knox, Cuming, Stanton, Boyd, Brown, Platte and Dakota — provide no direct support.

Cuming County allocates money to the county agricultural society (fair board), which, in turn, gives a portion to the historical society.

Proposals to provide historical society support were defeated in special elections in Stanton and Brown Counties.

A similar proposal passed in Dakota County in 1959, Biersmann said, but the county mill levy was already at the maximum of 14.28 mills and funds have never been allocated for the historical society there.

Other counties provide direct support in a variety of ways and in varying amounts.

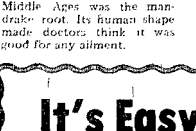

Keya Paha County furnishes a building for use as a museum. Madison County provides $500 a year. Nancy County allocates $1,000 every two years. Dodge County provides $300 per month (deducted in a special election). Holt and Rock Counties each have a one-tenth mill levy, and Boone County has a .25 mill levy

It's Easy To KILL YOUR BUSINESS
Don't Advertise

Just pretend you don't have anything to advertise this week. Forget the thousands of items you have on the shelves of your store, or the service you have to offer... don't let potential customers know about them. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

Don't Advertise
Say you don't have the time to fix up an advertisement this week. Just let opportunity after opportunity to promote your business pass by — it will take less of your time. And you'll be better served by customers if they don't know what you have to offer. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

Don't Advertise
Assume everybody in the trade territory knows what you have for sale, that you've been in business so long you don't need to advertise since the customers will come to you without it. Forget that there are new potential customers coming into the community, that you have new and better products to offer. Forget that you have to keep reminding your established customer to trade with you. Forget you have Big City competition trying to attract more customers. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

Don't Advertise
Tell yourself it costs too much to advertise — that you don't get enough out of it. Overlook the fact that advertising is an investment in selling — not an expense. Be sure you don't provide for an adequate advertising budget for your firm. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

State Economic Activity Off during September

Economic activity in Nebraska dropped off slightly in September 1975 when compared with its year ago level, according to "Business in Nebraska," the monthly publication of the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

September's dollar volume of overall activity moved slightly upward to a level six per cent above that of the same month in 1974. After deflation of the dollar volume of total activity for the price level increase, the real physical volume was nearly three per cent below a year ago after being down about 1.5 per cent at August.

As a result of a large increase in the level of agricultural prices, the agricultural sector showed a dollar gain. The gain in prices more than offset a decline in volume. The agricultural price index rose from a level 13 per cent above a year ago in August to a level 23 per cent above in September. Physical volume fell from a level about 11 per cent below a year ago in August to a level 15 per cent below in September. Manufacturing activity fell off relative to September 1974, dropping to a level about six per cent below the year ago level. The government and construction sectors showed a considerable decline in Nebraska when compared with August's situation.

In September, retail activity — as measured by net taxable retail sales — showed a remarkable increase. After being below year ago levels for eight months, the physical volume of retailing climbed to seven per cent above September 1974. All the state's principal trading centers had physical volumes above a year ago except for Bellevue, South Sioux City, Holdrege, and Sidney. Lincoln and Omaha's sales levels were above year ago levels by 7 and 5 per cent respectively after being below year ago levels for several months.

Telephone

those calls are for numbers listed in telephone directories.

Northwestern Bell will begin an advertising campaign in February aimed at getting the heavy users to cut down. If the campaign isn't successful, the company will ask the PSC for permission to begin charging for directory assistance, in some instances.

The change wouldn't affect most customers, Morris said, because everyone will be allowed to make a certain number of toll-free directory assistance calls. Charges would be added for calls above the limit.

The Northwestern executive said a similar plan has been instituted elsewhere in the Bell system and has been effective in reducing the number of directory assistance calls. Experience has shown that generally, only about five per cent of all telephone customers go over the limit on toll-free directory assistance calls.

Workman was recognized for his work with a variety of activities, including directing the All-Star Basketball camp, the Nebraska Winnies camp, Band Day, and organizing companies and workers who volunteer their time to put up and remove Christmas decorations.

The award presentation was made by Rowan Wittse, retiring Chamber president. Wittse said 1975 had been a good year for the organization, citing the record number of progress awards made by the Chamber for new, expanded or improved businesses in Wayne, and the new downtown-improvement committee.

Wayne State College vice president for administration Dr. Ed Elliott, and First National Bank president John Nigh informed the audience about a proposal which would allow Wayne State College to charge out-of-state students the same tuition rates as resident students.

Originally conceived by Herald publicist Alan Cramer, former president of the State College Board of Trustees, the pilot project would be designed to bolster declining enrollment by out-of-state students. The loss of revenue from the lowered tuition rates would be compensated for by 250 additional students could be attracted. No increase in faculty would be necessary.

At the same time, the added occupancy in WSC dormitories would generate enough additional revenue to pay off bonded indebtedness incurred when dormitories were constructed. Dorm revenues now aren't sufficient to meet the bond schedule and state government will eventually have to pick up the tab.

Nigh focused on the monetary impact of additional students.

measure. Both said they think the association provides a tremendous service but don't believe it is proper for the city to provide support. Vakoc proposed that allowance for similar donations be made in the next budget, with no variance from amounts set then permitted.

No action was taken on another expenditure item, placed on the agenda by Vakoc. He questioned the need for the city to pay for advertising on KTCB radio promoting the community. He pointed out that the Chamber of Commerce, Wayne Industries, and Wayne State College all receive funds from the city to be used for promotional purposes and asked if perhaps those organizations should be handling promotion of the city.

In other action on the council: Set 8 p.m. on Feb. 10 as the date for a public hearing on a rezoning for Class C liquor license for Melodee Lanes.

Approved the First National Bank of Wayne as a depository for city funds.

Authorized Brink to proceed with preliminary design studies necessary for improvements on Fourth St. between Windsor and Dearborn Streets.

Heard a presentation by representatives of Chiles, Heider and Co., Inc., an Omaha firm offering their services as fiscal agents.

Mayor Freeman Decker appointed Brink, Jimmie Thomas and Carrel Fuebber to a committee which will meet with National Guard officials to discuss what the city can do to encourage participation in the Guard.

for both the state and the community. Students pay a variety of state taxes, such as sales and gasoline taxes, while attending Nebraska schools. Studies have shown that the average student spends about $600 annually in local businesses. In addition, Nigh said, about 20 to 30 per cent of out-of-state students attending Wayne State have traditionally remained in Nebraska after graduation.

A committee of community leaders including Elliott, Nigh, Cramer, WSC president Lyle Seymour, WSC administrative vice president Max Lundstrom, state college trustee Henry Ley, and Arnie Reeg are actively engaged in gaining support for the idea, first from the college board of trustees, and then from the state legislature. If the idea is accepted Wayne State would institute the proposal as a pilot project.

Roy Hurd, 1976 president, introduced his officers, including Roger Nelson — president elect; Willis Meyer — treasurer; Allan Wittig — agribusiness chairman; Dean Pierson and Gerald Bofenkamp — convention, tourism and hospitality co-chairmen; Larry Johnson — education, industry and urban affairs chairman; Workman — legislation and transportation chairman, and Charles Surber — retail affairs chairman.

Also introduced were James Evans — Wayne State College liaison representative; Ted Storck — city council liaison representative; Larry Skokan — extension council representative, and Howard Will — Chamber manager.

Wayne optometrist Dr. William Koerber was master of ceremonies for the dinner. Wayne schools superintendent Francis Hays was chairman of the annual banquet and gave the invocations and benediction.

hired, although he did not give the driver's name.

The taxi pilot project was proposed to the city council last fall by administrative intern Dave Bernhardt. The council gave its approval then, but later found that the city would have to apply to the Nebraska Public Service Commission for a license, and implementation of the project was delayed.

Disease

spread alarm of the disease will spread. Dr. Stoess said the main danger is to members of the immediate household. Throat cultures have been taken from members of Miss Zerbe's family to test for presence of the bacteria and they have received medication.

"I want to stress that there is no need for wide-spread alarm," Dr. Stoess said, adding that he will not recommend the suspension of any social functions, unless further cases are reported.

That is unlikely now, he said, because of the short incubation period of the bacteria. Further cases usually show up within two or three days, or not at all. The illness usually comes on suddenly without much warning. Dr. Stoess said. Symptoms are high fever, intense headache, extreme drowsiness and the appearance of skin lesions.

Dr. Stoess advised anyone in doubt about similar symptoms to contact their family physician or the state health department.

election officials counting regular ballots in the primary and general elections this year.

Weible said. In the past, unopposed candidates did not appear on the primary ballot but did run in the general election.

Unopposed candidates in first and second class cities will have to run in the primary and general elections this year.

Top Tourney Keglers

THE DOUBLES team of Ken Spittgerber, left, and Willis Lessmann did more than just win their division in the annual men's city bowling tournament. Individually, the pair also were winners in two other categories. Lessmann this week was crowned the singles champion and Spittgerber won all events. Winning first place in the team division was State National Bank. On that team are, from left, Glenn Walker, Tony Olson, Pat Healey, Norris Weible and Otto Baier. Baier, who is a substitute didn't bowl in the two-week tournament at Melodee Lanes. Sweed Healey, who is hospitalized, was the other kegger to help make up the winning team. Also substituting on the State Bank team is Ralph Etter.

Most Nebraskans Can Ignore Township Question

Taxpayers in two-thirds of Nebraska's 93 counties can ignore the township question on the tax forms 1040 and 1040A. Everett Lorry, district director of Internal Revenue for Nebraska, said.

The reason for this, said Lorry, is that in Nebraska only 28 counties have township government eligible to receive revenue sharing funds. In the remaining 65 counties the equivalent geographic divisions are called "precincts." These precincts are not eligible to receive revenue sharing funds. Taxpayers in precinct counties should leave the township column blank. They should however, complete all of the other revenue sharing questions. Lorry cautioned.

Wayne County residents can ignore the township question.

Nebraskans Love of Trees Is Inherited

On March 1, 1878, Alfred P. Seymour wrote in his diary, "Left old Connecticut," and until March 8, his entries read "On the way to Nebraska." On March 9, he arrived with his father and mother, brother and sister in Syracuse, Nebr., where they bought 160 acres of railroad land. To be known throughout the land of his journal as "Prairie Farm." On September 27, 1879, he ordered 500 maple trees.

Roger Welsch, Nebraska folklorist and University of Nebraska assistant professor, shared the settler's diary to stress early Nebraskans' love for trees. He noted that Seymour came from areas where trees were weeds — pioneers in Indiana, Connecticut, and Vermont fought trees every step of the way. In Czechoslovakia and Norway, they grubbed out the roots, hacked the saplings, and hauled away the logs. But when they surveyed Nebraska's desolate plains, they agreed with the world of James Fenimore Cooper:

"(The Plains) resemble the Steppes of Tartary more than any other known portion of the world, being in fact a vast country incapable of sustaining a dense population in the absence of the two great necessities (wood and water)."

So these pioneers who had once "curled trees" now found themselves buying saplings, turning them through the dry seasons, carrying water, and praying for the twigs' survival.

Said Welsch, "That's why Nebraska became the home of Arbor Day — not because there were so many trees here, but rather because there were so few, because it was here that people learned the hardships of a life without trees."

On July 29, 1878, Alfred Seymour photocopied "AS I sit here I think how great will be the changes in 10 years. There are several tracts of railroad land yet for sale and the speculators are largely represented around us. There is but one house nearer than a mile and comparatively little of the prairie is cultivated."

Concluded the folklorist, "Today, thoughtful Nebraskans are still struggling with the hope of realizing Alfred Seymour's dream of 1878, bringing trees to the Great American Desert. Just as land becomes the more precious in the eyes of the sailor because it is so scarce, trees have become the priceless treasure of the Plainsman because trees, like man, have had such a struggle for survival on the Plains.

"I'm trying to help the pioneer dream by planting trees on my farm in Howard County, with the help of the state forester's office in Lincoln."

Four Recitals Planned

Four music students will present senior recitals at Wayne State College next week.

Jerri Paulison of Omaha and Diane Erickson of Lyons will share the program Tuesday. Terry Hanzlik of Nebraska and Michael Harnen of South Sioux City, formerly of Columbus, will share the Thursday recital. Both begin at 8 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre.

Bundles Tied? Paper Drive Is Saturday

Only a couple of days remain to bundle papers for the Boy Scout paper drive on Saturday. Scouts of Troop 172 will be picking up bundled newspapers in Wayne. Anyone wishing to contribute should have the papers on the curb in front of their home on Saturday.

Papers should be bundled in 12-inch stacks, with the newspaper ends folded back. Bundles are available at Gerald's Paint and Decorating, or at Carhart Lumber Company. The Scouts won't be able to pick up papers outside of Wayne, but papers can be taken to a collection center in the building on south Nebraska St., which formerly housed the State Roads Department maintenance shop.

Miss Paulison, a 1972 graduate of Abraham Lincoln High School, Council Bluffs, Ia., will perform on the flute accompanied by Bonnie Selken, Winside. Miss Erickson, a 1972 graduate of Lyons High School, will sing, accompanied by Janice Grolighn Schaller, Ia. She will also present her recital on baritone horn. Harnen on tuba. They are graduates of Nebraska and Columbus High Schools, both in 1972.

Correction

Members of Winside's rescue squad, Charlie Jackson, George Voss, Russell Prince and Ted Horman, have completed their EMT training. In information below, a picture in Monday's paper, it was noted that the four still were taking their training at Carroll.

Thought for Today

By Rowan Wiltse

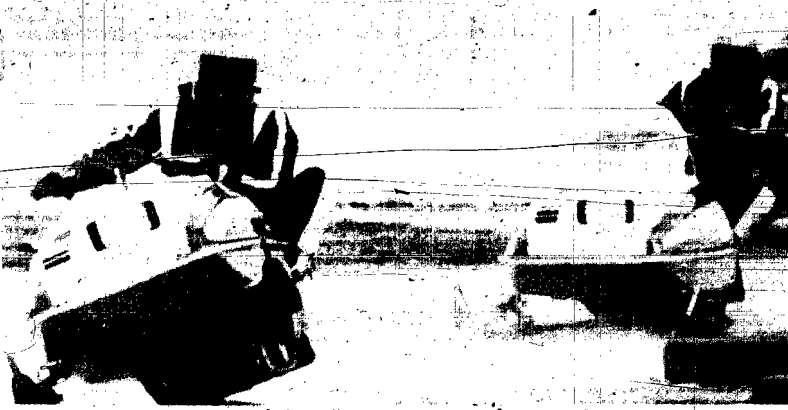

"He who lives only for himself reaps unhappiness. Don't put off the joy to be derived from doing helpful, kindly things for others." B. C. Forbes

Some people are so preoccupied with improving their own status, they think of no one else. Such an attitude can become an obsession, so powerful that it may prevent them from realizing that they are not happy.

It's possible for anyone to be joyously happy, merely by doing nice things for others. Maybe we should all use this technique more often?

THE LACK of snow didn't pose any problems for the nearly 100 entries in the second annual Wayne County Jaycees snowmobile race Sunday at the Wayne County fairgrounds. Using sawdust, mixed with water, the track conditions were just right for a slippery turn around the corners as these unidentified racers soon found out in the early going. According to JC Bob Meyer, who was in charge of this year's meet, this year's attendance far surpasses last year's 70 entries.

A Look at the Ley Home

THE HOME OF the late Rollie Ley, located in Wayne, has been proposed as the site for a county museum. Built in 1902, the home is one of the oldest houses in Wayne and its architecture of this period is shown in the exterior picture (far left). The center picture shows one of the home's four fireplaces. The top right photo gives a close up view of some of the elegant, hand-crafted wood work to be found throughout the home. In the bottom picture, the front staircase and railing frames a portion of the inlaid, hardwood floor on the first floor of the home. Many original light fixtures, stained glass windows and other features add to the historical impact of the house. Wayne County Historical Society president Lucile Larson said that if the home does become a museum, it will be furnished with pieces from the 1930 era.

Students Seats With Trustees Are Proposed

Students at Nebraska's state colleges may get a chance to help govern the colleges if a proposal by the Board of Trustees gets approval from Gov. J. J. Egan.

Wayne State president Lyle Seymour said Tuesday the trustees have suggested the governor appoint one student from each of the four colleges to serve as non-voting members of the board.

Voting membership would not be possible without a constitutional amendment, Dr. Seymour explained. The state constitution specifies that six members shall be appointed to the board by the governor.

President Seymour said he heartily endorses the idea of students taking a roll in college governance.

He further explained that anyone who enrolls during the open season will have the coverage go into effect in July of the year in which they enroll.

If you wish to enroll in medical insurance, or if you have any questions, you can get help from your local Social Security Office. The address is 1310 Norfolk Avenue, and the telephone number is 371-1595.

Beerman says not enough money to compile corporate farm report

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN—In December, state welfare officials told the Unicameral's Appropriations Committee they knew nothing about a nursing home boycott against welfare patients.

State Sen. Glenn Goodrich of Omaha tried to tell them otherwise, but to no avail.

This month, the truth is out and that boycott is here.

And first to feel the impact was Douglas County. Michael Healy, welfare director for Douglas County, said welfare recipients who should be in nursing homes were being kept at hospitals because there was no nursing home willing to take them.

"Nursing homes claim they've lost enough money on welfare patients and the hospitals were getting tired of them too because they were receiving only the rate paid to nursing homes.

—Even in the face of Healy's comments, the official cutoff from the welfare department was that the situation hadn't yet become serious.

Goodrich took matters into his own hands and introduced LB 939 in the legislature, seeking in it a 10 per cent immediate increase in nursing home rates. He said nursing homes, based on average costs, were still going to lose money. But he hoped the 10 per cent increase, which works out to about 90 cents a day per patient, would be enough to end the statewide boycott.

The boycott began just before Christmas, a time when there are few people put in homes. Some homes, however, were not participating in the action and were accepting more welfare patients.

The official response from state welfare director Alan Ihms when told of the Goodrich measure: "We're going to finish the fiscal year within our budget."

Nursing home rates for welfare patients by the way, are due to increase at the beginning of the next fiscal year, on July 1 when, under federal mandate, the rates will be directly related to cost. Goodrich said the average cost per day per patient is now $14. The average rate paid is $9.82.

Meanwhile, Healy doesn't know that an increase in state money would help much because Douglas County, now afloat, is having financial problems for one can't absorb easily any increase in its share of the welfare tab. Counties pay 20 per cent of the welfare nursing home bill, the state pays 22 per cent and the federal government pays the rest.

Goodrich and Healy both said it was only a matter of time before the boycott hit the rest of the state, explaining Douglas County was hit first because of its population.

EMPLOYERS WILL PAY MORE
 Nebraska's 31,000 employers will find themselves paying more into the unemployment insurance fund beginning in April because the drains of the declining economy have been too much.

The State Labor Department says that without the increase the fund will be $12 million in the hole by the end of this year.

State Senators Jack Mills of Big Springs and Donald Dworak of Columbus have introduced a bill that won't solve the problems of the past. But, they claim LB 819 "will at least cut down on future problems."

A major problem which accounts, at least in part, for the drain on money collected from employers to cover unemployment benefits, according to Dworak, is that people in Nebraska have found out the law can be had.

"People have learned how to get around the intent of the law," says Dworak, explaining unemployment benefits were set up only as a stopgap source of income and not a mainstay. "They are taking jobs and then quitting just to establish unemployment benefits."

Under the bill, the minimum waiting period for benefits for those who simply quit their jobs for no reason would be changed from the current two weeks to five weeks. The maximum would be changed from five to ten.

The same minimums and maximums, and their changes, would apply to those persons who were fired for good cause.

The waiting period is determined by the labor department based on the facts of the case. The problem, according to Dworak, is that the average waiting period now is just 21 weeks for those who simply quit and those who are fired for good reason. If it were longer, Dworak says there's no reason for the bill.

TAX CHANGES CONSIDERED
 A session can't go by without bills being introduced to change tax laws and this year is no exception—some changes good and others still awaiting a verdict.

Sen. Richard Marech of Milligan, saying the counties and the state must get some more road building and maintenance money from somewhere, introduced LB 863. It would, in short, require collection of sales taxes on motor vehicle fuel sales.

Marech figures the additional income from the sales tax on fuels, which would not replace the fuel tax already collected, would bring in about another $13 million. The new money would be distributed on the basis of population with 23 and one-third per cent going to counties and a like amount to cities. The rest would go to the state.

State Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue, meanwhile, is trying to save money for the state by cutting off an ever increasing amount going to the counties to replace local property tax money being lost through personal property tax exemptions.

Lewis' LB 850 would freeze state money allocations to the counties at this year's $33 million. In turn, LB 851 would freeze the exemption allowed on farm and business equipment and inventory at this year's 37.5 per cent, not allowing it to reach the 50 per cent that was envisioned for next year.

AN END TO CORPORATE FARM REPORTS
 Last year, the Unicameral decided it wanted to know if family farms were being replaced by non-family corporate farms and enacted a law which required reports were to be filed with the secretary of state on corporate farming activities.

But Secretary of State Allen Beerman says his budget doesn't have enough money in it to pay for handling, filing and putting together reports on those farms. He also confirmed they weren't all that interesting anyway.

Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh introduced a bill, LB 933, which would do two things.

First, it would order Beerman to destroy those reports already filed by corporations and secondly it would repeal the law that says they must be filed.

Farm Bureau favors House version of beef checkoff

Figures recently released by the USDA concerning the size and number of cattle feedlots in the United States, provide clues as to the problems of national farm commodity checkoff programs such as the Beef Checkoff bill pending in the U.S. Congress.

Those figures show that there were 137,732 cattle feedlots in the 23 major feeding states in 1974, and the average number marketed per feedlot in these 23 states that year was 169 head.

But from 1969 to 1974, the number of feedlots increased 49 per cent and the average number marketed per feedlot in these 23 states that year was 169 head.

By contrast, the average cattle feedlot in Iowa, the second largest cattle feeding state as of Jan. 1, 1975, marketed 97 head per lot in 1974. There are very few really large cattle feedlots in Iowa just as there are not very many extremely large cattle feedlots in the major feed grain-producing areas of Nebraska.

Total commercial cattle slaughter in the United States in 1974 was 36,812,000 head. According to the U.S. Census of Agriculture for 1969, 1,645,518 farms reported cattle and calves sold in that year and they marketed an average of 45 head of cattle.

The House and Senate passed two different versions of the Beef Checkoff bill, with the differences to be ironed out by a House-Senate conference committee. The House version would, if any referendum of producers, hold to a "one producer, one vote" standard. The Senate version would be weighed according to the number of cattle a producer marketed. The president of the American National Cattlemen's Association put it in its simplest terms: "The House version says one person, one vote while the Senate version says one cow, one vote."

While it doesn't say that of course, that is what the Senate version actually means.

Great pressure was put on American Farm Bureau Federation delegates at their recent convention to reverse their policy position which insists on the "one producer, one vote" House version. The delegates reaffirmed the organization's policy.

Cattle producers have every reason to ask whether a beef checkoff program is to be determined by the operators of the feedlots or by the average producer and feeder. In any commodity checkoff proposal, the issue should be producers, not cows, bushels, bales, tons, cases, or any other unit of measure.

OBSERVATIONS

Report requirement is folly

This week's "Capitol News" (elsewhere on the editorial page) reveals an instance of a governmental regulation which apparently was now really necessary.

Last year, the Nebraska legislature decided it wanted to keep tabs on corporate farming in Nebraska, in an effort to determine just how much danger family farming is in.

An admirable idea, on the face of it. Preserving Nebraska's tradition of family owned and operated farms is important to the state's future. But now, Secretary of State Allen Beerman says the budget doesn't allow for compiling the information into a comprehensive study. So apparently, nothing will be done with the report which would require corporate farm families to file partnership reports.

Neligh senator John DeCamp has introduced a bill which would end the report requirement. If the state is not going to do anything with the information, the bill makes sense.

The report requirement itself isn't objectionable. It will help preserve family farming, fine. But farmers—family or corporate—as well as every other businessman in the country, already shoulder enough of a burden for filing reports. Passing a law which requires one more sheet on an ever increasing pile of government mandated paper work, and then not following up because lack of foresight has not allowed for any kind of analysis is a folly that no citizen, private or corporate, should be subjected to. It is time that all levels of government started giving careful thought about the utility of additional reports, before action is taken to require filing. Jim Strayer.

Common situs defeat 'blessing in disguise'

Will the construction industry suffer a year of "unmitigated hell," as Labor Secretary Dunlop said, because of the President's veto of the common situs picketing bill, and Dunlop's subsequent resignation?

Not likely! Current conditions in the industry just don't permit organized labor the luxury of throwing a tantrum for the dubious benefit of a small minority of workers.

The bill in question—with a latin name that sounds like some rare skin disease—would have permitted a union having a dispute with a contractor to picket a construction site to picket the entire site. Such picketing would cause all other union workers at the site to stop work also, in all probability shutting down the project completely.

Since there are likely to be numerous unions and dozens of subcontractors involved in a major project, opponents of the bill feared it would make the completion of a project nearly impossible, unless the contractor and all subcontractors were ready to agree to any demand by any union at any time. The probable outcome would have been to raise costs steeply in an industry that is already suffering severely from unemployment.

Nevertheless, some of the leaders of organized labor considered the bill an important goal. It is their pique that has caused the predators of labor trouble.

But there are solid grounds for wondering if common situs picketing would not have been a hollow victory for the unions. Nonunion contractors say the law would have forced them to deal only with nonunion subcontractors, because they could not risk a minor dispute holding up an entire project.

These statements need to be read in the proper context to be fully appreciated: Organized labor in the construction industry has been losing out in competition with nonunion firms and workers. With inefficient "work rules" and unrealistic wage demands, the unions have simply priced themselves out of the market. Nationally, nonunion companies have been underbidding union shops by as much as 30 per cent.

The trend toward nonunion contractors has so alarmed some of the unions that they are trying to become more competitive.

For example, construction craft unions in the Pittsburgh area have been sitting down with contractors to discuss ways to cut costs and improve labor productivity. And the bricklayers union in New York has cut its wage rates one third for small jobs.

Such moves are intelligent, progressive responses to the depressed state of the construction industry. I hope—and trust—that they will spread.

On the other hand, "protest" strikes and other labor difficulties in an industry that is still suffering a major recession would be self-destructive and senseless. I mark union members as smart enough to see this. Therefore, I think they will refuse to carry on an ill-advised campaign of vengeance merely to salvage the wounded pride of their national officers in Washington.

The defeat of the common situs bill is a blessing in disguise for all construction industry labor, union and nonunion. Construction workers need the jobs that can come only from a healthy, thriving construction industry. Expanded strike privileges, high wage rates and soft work rules are a poor substitute for steady employment. Richard Leshner, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

101-year-old man wants news of Wayne

Dear Editor,
 My father, Ralph Jacques who operated Jacques Cleaners for 20 years in Wayne is celebrating his 101st birthday on Feb. 7.

On his hundredth birthday he enjoyed many interesting cards & letters from old friends there in Wayne, thanks to your arrangement.

He is mentally alert and cheerful but blind and incapacitated by a stroke, so could not answer. Some addresses were inadvertently misplaced at the nursing home, and I could not answer all the letters.

He remembered all who wrote and enjoyed recalling incidents associated with each of his friends, although he left Wayne 36 years ago.

He'd love to hear from them again with news of their lives and families.

My father's address is: Ralph Jacques, Marshalltown Manor, 2706 South Center, Marshalltown, Ia 50158. Mrs. Hilared (Guliver) Marks, 1511 Roosevelt, Ames, Ia 50010.

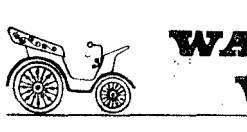

Dr. Waggoner eulogized

Wayne
 The mark of a man is left behind him. It is left on those touched by the man as he lived a life. Dr. Marion Waggoner served many in his years in Wayne and at Wayne State College. He touched so many.

Marion brought love to life. He was a man of compassion, cared for others and he shared his love with others.

Marion was truly a civilized man for he was gentle and he helped those who needed him. He brought a smile and a sense of goodwill—the warmth of friendship and love—to us all.

He will be missed. But when we think of him we will smile for it was good being touched by him as he passed our way. Allen O'Donnell

Native Wildflowers Certified Through Agencies' Cooperation

PURPLE PRAIRIE CLOVER—KANEB THICK SPIKE GAYFEATHER—EUREKA PITCHER SAGE—NEKAN

The adaptation range of the Midwest's first variety releases of native wildflowers—purple prairieclover, thickspike gayfeather, and pitcher sage—encompasses the area inside the solid line. These three varieties' natural distribution range includes the areas within the broken line. Certified seed for areas within the solid line will become available in the fall of 1976.

Purple prairie clover, 'Kaneb,' is a native legume. It has the capability of fixing nitrogen into fertility-depleted areas. Animals can also graze it. The seed can be grown best in the central Great Plains states of Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas.

Thickspike gayfeather, 'Eureka,' is a tall spike-like purple flowered plant that can add beauty to gardens and highway corridors and can be grown with little or no additional water and fertilizer. It can be grown best in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas.

Pitcher sage, 'Nekan,' is a bushy plant with blue flowers that resemble snapdragons. Nekan will help strengthen prairie grazing land and serve as food for Great Plains birds. It can be best established in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, and portions of Iowa and Missouri. Certified seeds for state road departments, urban communities, garden clubs and others will be available in November. The 'SCS Plant Material Center at Manhattan will produce and distribute foundation seed as it becomes available. Breeder seed stocks will be maintained by the Nebraska University Department of horticulture at the field laboratory near Mead.

Heart Fund Drive in Wayne Starts Sunday

VOLUNTEERS Mrs. RaDelle Erxleben, left, and Judy Peters look for their names on packets for the Heart Association fund drive, which begins this Sunday. Helping to distribute the packets during Monday night's meeting was drive chairman, Mrs. Charles Carhart, right.

Volunteers for this year's Heart Fund campaign in Wayne will start their door-to-door drive Sunday and continue throughout the month of February.

The annual drive, which in the past has been held on one day only, has been switched to an entire month in order to give workers more time to canvass the city, said drive chairman Mrs. Charles Carhart.

About 95 men and women will help in the campaign which hopes to top this year's goal of $1,800. Last year's funds surpassed the $1,500 goal by almost $150, said Doug Halteen, North-east Nebraska state Heart Association representative.

Halteen, who presented two films about the Heart Association and its function during a drive meeting Monday night at the city auditorium, said that 75 per cent of the proceeds from this year's funds will go to the state fund and the remainder will go to the national fund.

North Platte Site Is Added To All-Star Basketball Tilt

The All-Star High School Basketball Game will expand to two games in 1976 with the addition of a contest in North-Platte, announced the sponsoring Nebraska Coaches Association.

The North Platte game will be played on Thursday, Aug. 5, the night before the traditional all-star game at Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium. All-Star director Bob Morris of Waverly said the North Platte game will be played at Mid-Plains Community College.

At a briefing for North Platte news media, Morris cited several factors in the Association's decision to produce an additional game in the western part of Nebraska.

Most all star coaches, Morris observed, have felt that the teams were ready to play the night before the traditional Lincoln game. Training camps open the Thursday of the week before the all star contest.

Impetus to test western Nebraska's acceptance of an all-star contest was also provided last summer by a proposal from the Iowa Boys Basketball Coaches Association which wanted to engage Nebraska all-star in a two-state contest.

Reception toward the Iowa proposal was lukewarm, Morris said. Nebraska coaches felt there was a sizeable portion of Nebraska which needed to be served before the Association engaged in a game with any other state.

The selection of North Platte as the site for the game was based on location, population base and available facilities.

A former Alliance coach, Morris said North Platte is located sufficiently west of Lincoln and Omaha to be considered a part of western Nebraska. Among other communities considered a part of western Nebraska, Morris said each of the two games this year will count in dividuality in the record book. The North leads in the first seven years of the game, 4-3. Last summer, the South posted a 109.99 victory, the first for the South after four consecutive North triumphs.

North Platte's population is now estimated at more than 20,000 and the city is easily accessibly by highway from any point in western Nebraska.

The one year old facility at Mid Plains Community College also drew special praise from Morris. The gymnasium has seating for approximately 2,000 and the 140,000 building was air conditioned, an important factor in the Association's decision.

The North Platte game will feature the same two teams and coaching staffs that will play the following night in Lincoln. Training camps for the teams are at Wayne State College for the North and at Kearney State College for the South.

Morris said the teams will arrive in North Platte the day of the game and travel to Lincoln on Friday, Aug. 6.

Coaches and players for 1976 have not been selected yet. Athletes participating in the game represent a cross section of the best graduating Nebraska high school basketball players. Morris said each of the two games this year will count in dividuality in the record book. The North leads in the first seven years of the game, 4-3. Last summer, the South posted a 109.99 victory, the first for the South after four consecutive North triumphs.

Most Americans Say 'Phooey' to Exercising

The best types of exercises to stay physically fit are swimming, cycling and swimming for at least 30 minutes a day. But many Americans won't take the time to exercise daily because most exercises are time consuming and boring.

That's the outlook the majority of Americans have today about keeping physically fit, said Glen Houdersheldt, during Monday's Kiwanis Club meeting.

DEMONSTRATING the Apollo exerciser, Glen Houdersheldt tells members of Wayne Kiwanis Club how they can help reduce their waistline and at the same time help strengthen their hearts.

Houdersheldt, who is area director of the Physical Fitness Institute of America, said that regular exercise is the best method to reduce the number of heart attacks and other heart diseases which increasingly are becoming one of the major causes of death.

Statistics show that 30 percent of those persons who suffer their first heart attack will die because they aren't in good physical shape to survive. Exact is, nearly one million Americans will die from cardiovascular diseases this year from all other diseases, including cancer, and accidents, he said.

In a study by the American Heart Association, about 77 percent of all deaths happen on Saturday and Sunday. The major reason for people dying on those two days is that people are more active than any other days of the week. People simply overexert themselves, Houdersheldt said, pointing out that exercise should be done on a daily basis.

About 100 years ago, there wasn't a lack of physical fitness because most Americans had to use their muscles to work. Now, about 76 percent of all labor is done by machinery.

In giving an example of the lack of physical fitness in America, Houdersheldt said that in the 1950's the U.S. Army secretly had to lower its physical fitness requirements in order to get enough men to build a fighting force. "They simply couldn't pass the exam then," Houdersheldt said.

A native of Wayne, Houdersheldt graduated from Wayne High where he earned 11 letters in football, basketball, track and golf. He played on Wayne High's 1956 state Class-B championship basketball team and earned all state honors in basketball. He also played on the American Legion basketball team which was state runnerup in 1955.
