

Outdoors Attracts Ikes Members

By JIM STRAYER

Sun glistening off the blades of the device in the middle of the Izaak Walton League pond northwest of Wayne presents a brilliant picture but the wind-powered watermill is more than an ornament.

Last year, about 2,000 bluegill in the lake were winterkill victims so the local chapter decided to install the device to prevent a repeat.

Winterkill occurs in ponds when ice and snow build up on the frozen surface and prevent sunlight from filtering through to water plants below. Plants need sunlight to live and produce oxygen. Lack of sunlight causes the plants to die, and during decomposition, carbon dioxide is produced. If the condition persists, fish eventually suffocate in the oxygen starved water.

The Ikes, as the Izaak Walton League members refer to themselves, consulted the State Game and Parks Commission, and were advised to install the watermill.

The simple device consists of a shaft, with wind vanes on one end and blades on the other. A hole is cut in the ice, the blade is lowered into the water, and the contraption is anchored to stakes. A three-mile per hour wind is sufficient to turn the vanes and shaft. The rotating blades below water cause turbulence which brings warm water up from the pond bottom to thaw the ice. Since the watermill was installed shortly after Christmas it has kept a 25 by 15 foot hole free of ice that should provide enough oxygen for the pond fish.

The late Albert Watson was one of the prime movers in forming the local Ikes chapter in 1954. He originally owned the land where the pond and Ikes cabin is located.

The land was leased by the League chapter until 1967 when Watson's heirs deeded the property to the Ikes. Secretary-treasurer Norris Weible emphasized that two conditions on the deed are strictly enforced. Firearms and alcoholic beverages are prohibited.

When the local Ikes chapter was first formed, the lake site was a marsh. League members built a dam to back up water and form the pond, which is fed year-round by the springs.

Maintaining the lake and property is a never-ending task for the 130 chapter members. The lake is periodically restocked with catfish, bass and bluegill; the combination is by the Game and Parks Commission. Last year 150 catfish were put in the pond to replenish stocks.

In addition to maintaining the pond, the Ikes also take care of a little over eight acres at the lake site. The property is maintained as a wildlife habitat, and Weible said it is probably one of the best nesting areas for pheasants in the county. No hunting is allowed.

Projects to improve the habitat include the periodic planting of trees, and the Ikes plan to plant 150 nut, cedar and Russian olive trees in the spring. Many of the Ikes are hunters and the League also maintains the bluecock shooting range at the Wayne airport. The club holds Sunday afternoon shooting competition from September to Thanksgiving. A new range was built this past autumn to accommodate a new haggard at the airport.

Hunting also figures prominently in another annual activity. This Sunday, the Ikes will meet for their annual game feed. Members and guests will sit down to a meal featuring venison, rabbit, squirrel, wild duck and goose, and a variety of fish including walleye from Canada, spottail from Lewis and Clark lake, and northern pike. The game was donated by members and friends.

Bob Scholz, Game and Parks education and public relations director from Norfolk, will be the guest speaker at the dinner and will present a film showing the results of environmental studies made in northeast Nebraska.

Weible cautioned that anyone with the impression that the Izaak Walton League is a hunting and fishing organization is wrong. Many members enjoy those two activities but the League has also proven attractive to conservationist, environmentalist, bird watchers and other people who have a genuine love and concern for the outdoors.

Named for an English sport fisherman, the Izaak Walton League is dedicated to stewardship of the land, conservation of natural resources including wildlife and forests, and striving to achieve cleaner air and water.

Hunting and fishing are enjoyed by many members but a statement in a league pamphlet reveals the philosophy followed in outdoor activities;

The League was started about four decades ago to teach wise use of our natural resources and of the living things which depend on them."

THE WAYNE IZAAK Walton League installed this watermill to prevent winterkill at their pond. Wind turns the blades which rotates the shaft and another blade, under water. The underwater blade causes turbulence, bringing warm water to the surface so ice will melt. This allows the water to be oxygenated. The Ikes have done other conservation work on their club property including planting trees such as those shown in the background.

County Retains Attorney

Norfolk attorney J. C. Gatz will represent Wayne County in a case in which the City of Wayne is suing the county to recover $7,000 alleged due under an agreement for ambulance service.

Budd Bornhoff had been previously advised to withdraw completely from the case because he serves as both city and county attorney.

Bornhoff told the commission early Tuesday that the advisory board of the State Bar Association had informed him the commissioners could select an attorney to represent the county. They had previously been notified that the district court judge would appoint an attorney in the case.

Bornhoff was told he would not be able to consult with Gatz in preparing the case. Wayne attorney Duane Schroeder is representing the city. No hearing date has been set. Sheriff Don Weiler discussed with the commissioners the possible purchase of a county vehicle for use by his department in lieu of receiving mileage for use of private vehicles. The commissioners directed Weible to prepare specifications for bid letting if they decide to go ahead with the plan.

Weible and the commissioners also discussed a request made in October for funds to purchase equipment and pay first-year salaries for three additional deputies.

The expansion would make possible county-wide law enforcement which would mean the sheriff's department providing police services for Winslow, Carroll and Hoskins.

So far, no action has been taken on the request which must receive regional and state crime commission approval and approval from state communications experts.

WSC Program

Will Present

Charles Berlitz, author of "The Bermuda Triangle," will speak Feb. 9 at Wayne State College.

The lecture, open to the public at 8 p.m. at Ramsey Theatre in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. Tickets will be available at the door on a first-come, first-served basis. Admission is $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for high school students and free to children under 12 and with Wayne State College ID cards.

Berlitz will speak on the strange disappearances of ships, planes and people from the area of the Western Atlantic known as the "Bermuda triangle," and also referred to as the "devil's triangle," "hoodoo sea" and "graveyard of the Atlantic."

Babysitting

Class To Begin

The first session of a four-part clinic on babysitting will be held Monday afternoon at the Redwood Lutheran Church social room in Wayne.

Linda Sander, area home extension agent said the after school sessions will run from 4 to 5:30 p.m. for four consecutive Monday afternoons. Other persons are invited to attend the clinic, which should see BABYSITTING, page 8.

Beef Carcass Trophies Given

Two Wayne County 4-H youths were awarded trophies Tuesday night for their top placings in county beef carcass competition.

Craig Nelson had the top steer in the carcass contest, Karen Wittler had the number one heifer.

Wayne County agent Don Spitzze said 447ers entering the contest paid 50 cents for tags which were attached to animals sent to slaughter. Each carcass was evaluated for yield and grade and data sheets were returned to Spitzze's office, giving information for each animal, and ribbon placings. Judging was

Commissioners Vote $2,000 for Museum

Following 90 minutes of discussion Tuesday morning, the Wayne County board of commissioners agreed to allocate $2,000 in fiscal 1977 for support of the Wayne County Historical Society.

The issue first arose in October when the family of the late Rollie Ives proposed giving their father's home to the historical society if the county would agree to support the organization.

Carroll Town Board Hikes Rental Fees

Increasing costs for heating fuel and electricity were cited by the Carroll town board Tuesday night as the reasons for the rental fee increases for the village auditorium.

All costs will double, including the fees for renting the auditorium for a dance, using the hall and kitchen and using the club rooms. The price for renting for a dance will be $50, cost of

The issue first arose in October when the family of the late Rollie Ives proposed giving their father's home to the historical society if the county would agree to support the organization.

The commissioner originally expressed the feeling that the levy might be too high if total value for property in the county increases as result of a reevaluation of property scheduled for completion in January, 1977. The agreement was modified to set a low for an allocation of between $3,000 and $4,000.

At their last meeting the commissioners held a public hearing on the matter but delayed a decision until Tuesday, in order to see if federal funding for such a project would be available. Funding was not mentioned Tuesday but presumably the grant search was fruitless.

Historical society president Lucile Larson and other representatives attended the meeting. Mrs. Larson presented the commissioners with an updated roster for the organization. Membership now stands at 150, with about 40 members from within Wayne, 50 from rural Wayne, 17 from rural Wakefield, within Wayne County, two from Altona, two from Winslow, five from Hoskins, nine from Carroll and three from Stoles.

When the proposal was first made objections were voiced that the historical society was not representative of the county and the organization has been conducting a membership drive to remedy that.

Mrs. Larson added that furnishing the home shouldn't present any problem. At a recent historical society meeting in Hoskins, a man said he would donate furniture from the 1900 period for two bedrooms and a dining room if a suitable museum for display was obtained. Mrs. Larson said many other such offers have been made.

Commissioner Ken Eddie made a motion to put the question on the ballot for the primary election in May, and commissioner Merlin Beiermann seconded the motion.

Eddie, however, withdrew the motion after several objections were voiced. Commissioner Floyd Burt said he had talked to Henry Ley and was certain the offer to donate the house would be withdrawn if a decision were delayed that long. Other persons objected to the election idea, saying that it was a decision the commissioners should make.

Burt was the lone commissioner supporting the museum proposal. Burt never got a chance to get a building like this," he said. However, he indicated that he would vote with the other two commissioners if they reached an agreement.

Eddie said he was opposed to the proposal if it wasn't placed on the ballot, adding that he didn't like the idea of entering a conditional agreement which would see the home revert to the Ley family if funds for the history museum, page 8.

Planners OK State Study

The Wayne County planning commission Tuesday night tentatively approved population projection figures for common uses for use for planning purposes.

A study supplied by the State Office of Planning and Programing (SOPP), planning consultancy to the commission, lists population projections, in order 1975 for each community in the county.

High, medium and low projections are included for each town. The commission agreed to accept the high projections for Winslow, Carroll and Hoskins because of expected growth.

When adjusted to include a recent annexation, the projection for Carroll is 300. The Winslow projection is 451 and Hoskins, 54.

Medium projection figures for Wayne for 1975 is 8,245 and for Sholes, 18. Projections, compiled by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Bureau of Business Research, are estimates of what the population will be if current trends continue and do not allow for factors such as rapid industrial growth which might happen but have not yet occurred.

SOPP planners emphasized that the figures are merely a basis for planning now and that if 1980 census figures dictate, changes would be made to the county's comprehensive plan.

The planning commission also approved a list of sites in the county with historical significance. The action in no way See PLANNING, page 8.

Foundation Hears Report

About $246,000 remains to be collected from a total of $893,000 originally pledged toward the construction of Providence Medical Center in Wayne, hospital foundation secretary Ken Olds said. This is the final year in the five-year pledge period.

Treasurer Joan Lage made the report at a meeting of the foundation. Olds, Mrs. Lage, president Becky Kerdel and vice president Bob Carhart were re-elected as foundation officers.

All incumbent foundation board members were also re-elected.

Olds said about $13,000 of the $893,000 originally pledged has been lost through the death of pledged contributors, or because persons who had made pledges no longer live in the area. About $534,000 has been collected, Olds said, leaving $246,000 in unpaid pledges.

Construction costs have not yet been completely paid. Olds added that the First National Bank and State National Bank in Wayne each loaned $56,000 for the project and those loans have not yet been repaid.

Funds raised through pledges are matched by the Beneficence Sisters who operate the hospital.

Feeder Elect New Directors

The Northeast Nebraska Feeders' Association recently elected six area farmers to serve four-year terms as association directors.

Elected were Rodney Landfer, Pender; Warner Mann, Winslow; Ted Habrock; Emerson; Norman Meyer, Wakefield; Gerald Muller, Concord; and Marvin Russmann, Hubbard.

New officers elected by the board were Bob Boals, Dakota City, president; LeRoy Koch, Concord, vice-president; Cliff Baker, Wakefield, treasurer; and Darrell Rahn, Wayne, secretary.

Retiring president Leon Bruns of Pender said University of Nebraska-Lincoln song group, the Scarlet and Cream, will entertain at the association's annual banquet which will be held in Wayne April 10.

TV Drug Series Planned

A series of hour-long films dealing with drug abuse will be presented on KWSB television beginning Feb. 12 at 8:30 p.m.

Prepared for the Nebraska Commission on Drugs, the series consists of five films, which will be aired on five consecutive Thursdays. A 30 minute question and answer panel discussion will be the final film on March 11. Judy Greenwald, a drug counselor at the Northern Nebraska Comprehensive Mental Health Center, will be at the KWSB stations to answer questions from Wayne viewers. Questions can be presented by calling KWSB at 679-2207.

The five programs presented are: "The Five Deadly Problems (Understanding Addiction)" - Explains some of the language related to drug abuse, explores addiction, examines and redefines the drug abuse problem and discusses specific actions in prevention.

"Social Context for Understanding Substance Abuse" - Gives a historical overview of drug use in America with emphasis on the cultural, social and changes and attitudes of the times when these events took place.

"The Role of the School and the Home in Preventing Dependence" - States that one of the keys to prevention of dependence is provision of growth experience in dealing with one's self, others, and society.

"The Systems Approach - An Alternative Method for Drug Abuse" - Discusses the failure of drug education in the past and offers alternative approaches, such as teaching people what they need to know to manage their drug environment wisely, and to prevent dependence.

A Curriculum Outline for Drug Education Presents an outline for an approach to drug education.

WHS Honor Roll Lists 132 Students

A total of 132 students at Wayne High School have been named to the honor roll for the second nine weeks, according to school officials.

The total includes 15 students who made straight A grades and 39 students who received grades between 3.50 and 3.99 (4.0 equals A).

Students must carry a minimum of 24 credit hours per quarter, have a B average and not have any incomplete grades to be considered for the honor roll.

Date Set

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Noe of Allen announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Paulette Faye Noe, to Glenn Kumm of Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Kumm of Wisner.

Miss Noe is employed at the Milton G. Waldbaum Co. in Wakefield and her fiancé is a teacher in the Allen school system.

Plans are under way for an April 3 wedding at the United Methodist Church in Allen.

'Lysistrata' Technical Challenge

Thirty-two costumes and a multi-level abstract set with eight foot thrust and levels extending from the stage to eight foot high are just two examples of the behind-the-scenes work that must be completed for the February production of Aristophanes' "Lysistrata," according to Dr. Helen J. Russell, head of the Wayne State College Theatre Department.

Art Dirks, technical director and costume and scene designer, labeled his work as "an attempt to abstract the line and color, and the sense of fun the Greeks of 400 B.C. had."

popular opinion that Athenians lived only in white edifices and wore white clothing, the Greeks had quite colorful clothes and homes which the play will reflect.

Dirks said he has attempted to reflect political realities of the play are that the women hold the power. The realities of the period and the play in the costumes and set. The realities of the play are that the women hold the power. The realities of the period are that Athens was the richest of the Greek city states and, consequently, will be exemplified in the set.

Ramsey Theatre. A matinee is scheduled for 2 p.m., the 15th Evening performances will be at 8 p.m. Feb. 16 through the 18th. Reservations can be obtained by writing the Wayne State College Theatre Department, Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb. 68187, or phoning 375-2200, Ext. 234.

One of the unusual aspects of the set design with painted perspective—making a two-dimensional object (a piece of wood or a flat) look three-dimensional (buildings, columns, etc.).

"Lysistrata" runs Feb. 15-18 at the Wayne State College Theatre Department, Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb., 68187, or phoning 375-2200, Ext. 234.

Two From Wayne Get EMTA Training In Omaha Hospital

Paddy Spangler and Karen Estery, both of Wayne, were among several area residents who participated in the Emergency Medical Technician Ambulance (EMTA) hospital training course in Omaha during January.

Both are among about 30 students who are enrolled in the EMTA course in Carroll, under the instruction of Bob Robinson of Wallkill.

The course, which runs for six months, began in September. Final tests will be given Feb. 18 and graduation is planned for Feb. 25.

Both Wayne girls worked in the emergency out-patient ward in the Omaha Methodist Hospital for 10 hours of their EMTA training, and were later taken by hospital personnel through the rest of the departments for observation and lectures. Some of the students trained at Immanuel and Lutheran Medical Centers in Omaha.

Couple Planning June Rites

Making plans for a June wedding are Karen Quam and Dennis Mattes, both of Omaha. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Sig Quam of Fairbury and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mattes of Allen.

Miss Quam, a graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, is teaching special education at Plattsmouth.

The course received his bachelor's degree from Wayne State College and his master's degree from the University of Nebraska-Omaha. He is employed at Metropolitan Community Technical College in Omaha as a counselor.

Club to Meet on 15th

The meeting of the LaPorte Club, scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 17, has been changed.

The group will meet Sunday, Feb. 15, with Mrs. Walter Chinn for a 12:30 p.m. dinner.

The set and costumes are not absolutely historically accurate, said Dirks, but are an attempt to bridge the gap between the Greek ideas of set and costumes and those of today. Some of the sexual aspects in costumeing had to be toned down due to the fact that much of the play, in ancient times, was performed in the nude.

The chorus of 10 will be masked. The masks, along with a large number of Grecian urns, jugs, household articles, and even some armor are being made exclusively for the show.

Dirks said that, contrary to

For Variety... Swiss Cheese Sauce

Cauliflower in Cheese Sauce

- 1 medium head cauliflower, broken into florets
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 1 tablespoon corn starch
- ¼ teaspoon dried rosemary leaves
- ¼ teaspoon dried tarragon leaves
- 1 cup milk
- ½ cup grated Swiss cheese
- 1 egg yolk, lightly beaten

Cook cauliflower in boiling salted water 12 minutes or until tender-crisp. Drain; reserve ½ cup liquid. Place cauliflower in 1 quart casserole. Melt margarine in saucepan over medium heat. Stir in corn starch and herbs. Remove from heat. Gradually add milk, stirring until smooth. Mix in reserved liquid and ¼ cup cheese. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until cheese melts. Mix a little hot mixture into egg yolk, then stir into hot mixture in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly about 1 minute. (Do not boil.) Pour over cauliflower. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in a 400 degree F. (hot) oven about 10 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Stress, Strain Pay Off for WS Grapplers

Maybe stress and strain pay off for wrestlers. Consider the fact Wayne State grapplers went five duals in less than 24 hours Friday and Saturday then journeyed to Madison, S.D., Monday.

There they dealt out a 32-19 defeat to Dakota State, regularly one of the stronger teams in recent NIAA national meets.

With that performance, coach Marion Haeyer maybe did not need to worry about Wildcat weariness two nights later. Wednesday, for a double duty at home with the University of Nebraska at Omaha and Nebraska Wesleyan. Of course, he and the Cats needed to worry some about UNO, one of the top national powers.

At Dakota State, three Wildcats earned wins by pins: Mark Ellis, 118-pounder, Craig Hillwe, 134, and Randy Humpal, 158. Humpal, always a fast mover, nailed his foe in 1:40. Haeyer said he thought Humpal actually got a fall in 2 or 10 seconds—but the referee was not in position to see it, and the opponent rolled out.

Also winning for Wayne were 150-pounder Kirk Hanson, with a superior decision, 14-0; Dwight Liemann, 177, with a 5-0 score, and Mike Riedmann, 190, 9-0. Under college rules this year, a wrestler earns a major decision and four meet points if his winning margin is 8 to 11 points, and a superior decision with five meet points if the margin is 12 or more.

Morrise Millard earned a two-point draw with a 3-3 tie at 167 pounds.

The 7.8 Cats hope to lift their dual record above 500 for the first time this year when they meet Chadron State and Dickinson state at Chadron Saturday.

A PAIR of Emerson players, Russ Fuchser (13) and Steve Belt (15), harass Wayne's Vic Sharpe as the 5-11 sophomore tries to escape the Pirates' entrapment during second half action of West Husker Conference play at Wayne High auditorium. Belt finally knocked the ball out of Sharpe's hands, but was called for a personal foul

Spotlight Turns to Wrestling

By BOB BARTLETT

The city of Wayne will continue this week to be the hub of sports activity for teams in the Husker Conference.

No sooner will the last rounds of free West Husker basketball tournament near an end Friday night at Wayne High auditorium when 13 wrestling teams from both Husker divisions will gather that night for the start of the two-day annual meet at Wayne State's Rex Auditorium.

East Husker powerhouse Tekamah Herman will be one of the favorites to take home the team trophy. The Tigers are one of the top Class B teams in Nebraska high school wrestling, according to the latest figures compiled by the Nebraska Scholastic Wrestling Coaches Association.

Expected to give Tekamah a battle for first are teams from Pender and West Point, which also reign from the East Husker. Both Class C schools rank among the top 10 in their division, according to the latest figures compiled by the Nebraska Scholastic Wrestling Coaches Association.

Other schools which will be represented are Wayne, Wakefield, Stanton, Wisner Pilger and Columbus Lakeview from the West Husker; Hopper Logan View, Lyons, North Bend, Oakland Craig and Scribner from the East Husker.

The tournament starts at 6:30 p.m. Friday, then resumes action at 1 p.m. Saturday. Semifinals are at 7 p.m. finals at 8 p.m.

Admission prices are $125 for adults and 75 cents for students for each of the three sessions.

Prep predictions during last week and part of this week took its biggest toll in the number of incorrect selections—five I had Wayne to beat Pierce and Emerson Hubbard and Wakefield to beat West Point and Stanton. Also Laurel girls to beat Bloomfield—all wrong.

The losses leave my record for the season 38-23. I'll try to improve with these selections (winners in boldface).

Tonight (Thursday)

Allen girls vs Wynot—Coach Steve McManigan's girls keep rolling on.

Friday

Laurel at Bloomfield—Bears are the easy winners. Allen at Homer—Knights are second in the Lewis division with two losses, both to undefeated Walthill.

Saturday

Beemer at Winside—Cats have home floor advantage.

Monday

Pender girls at Wayne—Sticks with a winner.

Tuesday

Randolph at Wayne—Feeling its Cardinals will be the winners.

Allen at Hartington High—Wildcats have too much height and experience.

Winside girls at Wakefield—Winside has the board strength, and shooting ability.

Walthill Snuffs Out All Eagles

Undivided Walthill of the Lewis division of the Lewis and Clark Conference pushed its streak to 14 Tuesday night with a 95-30 home victory over Allen.

With about five minutes left in the first quarter, Allen kept the score close, trailing 6-3. But the Bluejays exploded for 14 points to take a 20-3 lead into the second quarter and never had trouble controlling the tempo.

High point man for Allen was junior Denny Uhl who scored 13 points to bring his scoring average to 10 points a game in conference play.

Senior Shawn Persinger continued to be the Eagles' leader on the boards as he pulled down nine caroms.

Friday night the 1-14 Allen varsity travel to Emerson Hubbard.

The Eagle junior varsity will be searching for its first win in 13 games Friday when they take on Emerson in the preliminary match.

Against Walthill, the reserves were shutout, 56-15.

Springfield Tops Field In Wayne State Tourney

Close competition in the last minutes kept team standings in doubt before the University of South Dakota Springfield gained championship of the Wayne State Round Robin Wrestling Tournament Saturday.

The Pointers went through the five dual grind unbeaten and totaled 137 meet points. Their last points came in a 19-15 fifth round squeak over Morningside, which finished second with a 3-2 record and 125 team points.

Another fifth round battle ended in a 23-15 Wayne win over Wayne State, leading both with 3-2 dual records.

Wayne totaled 120 team points, and took third by a one-point margin over Westminster.

Midland defeated Southwest Minnesota State, 45-17, in the other fifth round match.

Midland finished fifth place, Midland finished 3-1 with 94 points. Southwest 0-3 with 47.

So close were the points going into the fifth round that Morning and Wayne both had a shot at first place had they won. Both could have finished with 41 dual marks, same as USD Springfield. Then, according to the tourney's scoring rules, placing would have depended on total team points.

Coach Marion Haeyer reported favorable comments from visiting coaches, who likes his idea for the round robin format and the scoring system to determine team and individual champions. Now he's looking ahead to the second annual meet.

Six Wildcats earned second: Paul Sak, 126; Craig Hallwege, 137; Kirk Hanson, 150; Randy Humpal, 158; Dwight Liemann, 190. Finishing third was Mark Ellis, 118.

Emerson's Charity Shots Spoil Devil's Win Hopes

By BOB BARTLETT

Emerson Hubbard cuffed in at the Pirates' charity night to take a 70-67 win over Wayne High in the first night of West-Husker Conference tournament play at the Blue Devil auditorium.

The Pirates converted 12 of their 23 free throw attempts, including a pair of one-and-one attempts by 5-8 senior Al Fuschser, to lock up Emerson's eighth win in 14 games.

Fuschser, who finished the game with 22 points, gave his club the insurance points with 18 seconds left in the game when he sank both charity shots to put Emerson ahead 68-65. Seconds later Fuschser was at the line again after Wayne senior Monte Lowe picked up his fifth personal foul trying to stop Fuschser. Again he made both shots.

The Pirates are scheduled to play tournament favorite Hartington Cedar Catholic tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 in semifinal play. In the first game Monday night, the Trojans downed Suburban Columbus Lakeview, 61-49, to push their record to 14-1.

"Three things we have to do to stop Emerson are handle their fast break, quickness and press if we're going to win tonight," said Wayne mentor Bill Sharpe before his 6-7 ball club took to the court.

Wayne slowly started to control all three aspects of Emerson's game late in the second half. In the final minutes, Dave Hix dropped in a pair of baskets to forge a 33-28 Wayne lead just before the half.

But Wayne's momentum quickly evaporated when Lowe and teammate Tim Koll picked up their third fouls trying to stop Emerson. Lowe wacked Mick Fuschser who connected on both shots for a 33-30 deficit. In trying to stop Bill Elsasser, Koll was called for a foul after the 6-1 junior. Perisic aside the basket. Result: Emerson's behind leading scorer with 18 points made the free throw line to a 33-30 halftime score.

Wayne's scoring lag during the first 40 minutes of the second half allowed Emerson to once again jump into the lead, 39-33. Before Lowe connected on a 25 footer to put the Devils' scoring machine in gear.

In less than 10 seconds Wayne was in front after Rob Mitchell made a basket and free throw and Lowe added another bucket for a 39-39 lead.

Just before the end of the third period senior Paul Mallette buried in a two pointer for the Devils' biggest lead of the night, 52-45.

But that seven point margin didn't last long. Emerson knotted the match for the fifth and final time, 52-52, on a free throw by Russ Fuschser and Dave Heeny.

Lowe, who led Wayne scoring with 20 points and rebounding with 19, picked up his fourth foul late in the final stanza to force Sharpe to throw out his floor general.

Wayne managed to stay in the lead 63-62 before Elsasser drove around Koll for the two point play. Seconds later Belt hit another basket for a 64-63 command.

Bears No. 4

Laurel High climbed to the No. 4 spot in this week's top 10 prep rating for Class C basketball teams in the Omaha World-Herald.

The Bears, who are 14-2 going into Friday's game at Plainville, held down the No. seven position in the last two weekly polls.

In 16 games, coach Joel Parks' team has averaged 21 points a contest while holding their opponents to 47 points.

36-21, for the locals' third win in four games. Wakefield's record slipped to 1-3.

Other keys to Wayne's victory were better passing and fewer turnovers. Senior Mary Kovensky and junior Julie Overin also were instrumental in Wayne's controlling the boards. The Cats grabbed 31 caroms and held Wakefield to 16.

Both clubs shot 48 times from the field. Wayne made 22 while Wakefield could only sink eight for a 17 per cent shooting average. "Our shooting percentage frustrated the team, otherwise we played quite well," said Wakefield coach Sue Kover. If Wakefield could have improved on its free throw shooting alone (five for 25 for 20 per cent) "it would have been a much closer game," noted Wayne boss Don Zeiss.

Wayne's junior varsity kept its perfect record intact with a 24-10 decision for Wayne's fourth win. Lisa Barclay and Lori Johnson led Wayne scoring with 10 and eight points, Lori Sampson was high for Wakefield with six. Wakefield's JV record is 1-3.

LIKE TO find out more about what the Second Guessers are about and what are some of its future plans in helping to build sports programs at Wayne State and Wayne High?

To find out, just drop by the Cornhusker Cafe today (Thursday) at noon. After you help yourself to a hot meal, march right back into the back dining room where members, their guests and coaching staffs gather for the meeting.

Cost of the dinner is only $2 and the information you get about the college and high school life.

IT MAY be a little early to talk about setting up a wrestling tournament at Wayne State college next season, but members of the Second Guessers already are working on plans to hold a college-high school meet in December.

Believed to be the first of its kind at the college, the tournament will include eight high school teams and two college teams.

Guesteer Doug Barry, who has coached high school wrestling as well as directed several tournaments, has agreed to take care of the paper work to setup a tournament and help officiate the Wildcat meet.

Tentatively scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 4, the meet will replace the four-team Wakefield meet. According to Wakefield athletic director and head wrestling coach Lyle Trullinger, Wakefield decided to drop its meet because many coaches who have teams in the meet, believe that there will be too many open classes next year to make a good tournament.

Barry is hoping that the teams in the Wakefield meet, including Winside, Wakefield, Hartington High and Pender, will agree to wrestle in the Wayne State meet. If so, he'll try to get four other area high school mat clubs which will draw a lot of area interest.

To cap the one-day event, wrestlers from Wayne State will compete with another college grappling team to give the audience and high school grapplers a sample of good college wrestling.

Mustangs Trip Trojans In West Husker Tourney

"The toughest thing about losing is that we have to wait a week and a half before our next game," said a dejected Wakfield boss Joe Coble Tuesday night after his Trojans fell to Stanton, 53-48.

For the Trojans, the loss was their third straight and evened their record at 7-7. The loss puts Wakfield out of the running in the West Husker Conference tournament as Stanton advances to take on Madison tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock in semifinal play.

"I just hope that this losing doesn't bother us in our practices and doesn't reflect in our next game," Coble pointed out.

Statistically Wakfield had all the "pluses" in its favor to win. The Trojans shot 50 per cent from the field, grabbed 23 rebounds and only turned over the ball 13 times.

But game statistics are deceiving. Final results show that Wakfield made 21 of 42 shots—far below the number of shots the fast-breaking club takes in a game.

The big difference in Wakfield's loss, the coach later noted, was at the free throw line. Wakfield only cashed in six of 10 tries.

On the other hand, Stanton, which holds a 87 mark, took advantage of Wakfield's 19 personal fouls to make 15 of 25 from the line and come from a 38-35 fourth-quarter deficit to take command with about 1:35 left.

Stanton senior Joel Moxleit picked the right time to contribute his four points to the Mustangs' win. Moxleit sank both shots of a one and one free throw situation to put his club in

Athlete Of The Week

SHAWN PERSINGER, Allen High School

Allen High basketball coach Jim Koontz won't single out one player on his team who was responsible for the Eagles snapping a 31-game losing skid last week.

Instead, the first-year head man will point out that with the help of senior Shawn Persinger's nifty basket work, Allen was able to clinch a 49-45 victory over Newcastle, thus chalking up Allen's first win in 13 games this season.

For that reason, the 6-3 postman earns this week's Athlete of the Week award.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Persinger of rural Ponca, Shawn transferred to Allen when he was a sophomore. Since the beginning of basketball season at Allen this year, Persinger has been proving to the coaching staff he has the "range and attentiveness to be a leader both from the field and on the boards."

Persinger pulled down a record-setting 27 rebounds last week to lift his club past Newcastle while pouring in a team-high 10 points. But Persinger's performances during the Newcastle match wasn't the only time this season he has been a leader.

In games against Ponca, he has grabbed a total of 30 rebounds and played against Westfield, Ia., and Wintebago he has totaled 25 caroms. Prior to Friday night's home game against Ponca, Persinger was the scoring leader in three games.

"It's apparent to me his playing in the last four games has turned our game around," Koontz pointed out.

Five Score in Double Figures To Lead Team 3

Five players scored in double figures Monday night to lead Team 3 to a 71-69 win over Team 4 in men's A league recreation basketball.

Mike Little pumped in 16 points while teammates Charlie Roland, Dave Schuyler hit 15 each. Tom Foster had 13 and Rick Mitchell made 12 points as Team 3 posted its second win of the season and moved into a tie with Teams 4 and 5 for fourth place in the six-team loop. All three have 25 records.

High pointmaker for Team 4 was Breck Giese with 20.

A loss by Team 6 enabled Team 2 to take over first place in the league. Both clubs were tied with 51 records, but Team 2 kept its win streak alive with a 71-55 victory while Team 6 fell 75-73.

The win for Team 2 was its sixth as the league leaders, stomped Team 5 Bruce Johnson led scoring with 26 points for the winners; Mark Fleer had 25 for the losers.

Team 1 overcame a nine-point first-quarter deficit to slip by former league leader Team 6. Korlin Lutt was high for Team 1 with 19 points, Marty Hansen led Team 6 with 23 points.

Also scoring: Team 4 — Todd Surber 18, Denny Paul 16, Mike Creighton 11, Ward Barelain 4.

Team 2 — Randy Nelson 12, Don Larsen 12, Gary Walk 11, Leon Jorgenson 5, Maurice Boeckenhauer 3, John Dorsey 2.

Team 5 — Mike Meyer 8, Randy Workman 8, Dave Olson 6, Roger Langenberg 4, Jerry Geiger 3.

Team 1 — Tim Robinson 15, Firiz Weible 14, Mike Loofe 10, Steve Hix 10, Mike Jones 7, Team 6 — Jack Froehlich 12, Bob Nelson 15, Brent Johnson 12, Ric Wilson 7.

Hansen Prevents Schuyler Shutout

Senior Kelly Hansen defied his opponent Tuesday night for Wayne's only points in a dual wrestling meet at Schuyler.

The Blue Devil grappler took a 5-2 decision over 138-pound John Costello to give the Devils three points while host Schuyler racked up 61.

Winside Stays Unbeaten in Duals But Suffers 1st Tournament Loss

Winside grapplers Monday night overcame tough Class C Plainview in dual action to post the Wildcats' seventh straight win against no losses.

Without the services of 98 pound Tom Anderson and 119 pound Bob Bowers, the Cats had to forfeit those weight classes.

But the hosts came back with the help of four pins, two decisions and a forfeit by Plainview.

Anderson, who is hampered by a boil on his knee, is expected to be in action by the end of this week, said coach Ron Peck. Bowers should also be ready if he travels off eight pounds by the time Winside meets Wakefield Tuesday night in the last dual of the season for both clubs.

Bowers is ready. Kevin Cleveland will move down from 119 to his regular 112 pound weight, Peck noted.

Going into the final dual, the leaders on Winside's team are Keith Suehl with a 21-2 record, Brad Brummels 22-7, Monte Pfeiffer, 20-4, Brian Svoboda, 17-4, Brad Langenberg, 17-5, and Neil Wagner, 18-6. Because Bowers has missed several meets his record is 9-1.

Albrecht, Ritze Lead Wildkittens

Seniors Deb Albrecht and Barb Ritze Tuesday night combined 36 of Winside's 40 points to help the undefeated Wildkittens earn their fourth straight win by downing host Wausa, 46-27.

Ritze had her best performance of the young season when she controlled the boards for 23 caroms of the team's 47 rebounds.

As a team Winside didn't take very many shots from the field, but coach Kathy O'Conner's club finished with a respectable 46 per cent shooting.

Score by Quarters	W	F	T	R	W	T
Winside	13	12	11	12	—	56
Wausa	4	7	4	12	—	27

Wakefield Takes 2

Wakefield junior high posted two wins to boost its record to 4-3. The area club Monday defeated Wisner Pilger, 41-28, and Saturday topped Allen, 55-28.

Leading Wakefield scoring was Scott Hallstrom with 16 against Wisner and 18 against Allen.

Wakefield's B team split against those two teams. In overtime, Wakefield beat Wisner, 27-24. Jeff Hallstrom had 11 points to lead Wakefield.

The absence of Bowers and Cleveland Saturday was the difference in Winside missing its bid for its fifth tournament win this season at Plainview. Peck pointed out.

Wisner Pilger captured the meet with 135 1/2 points while host Plainview was second with 121 and Winside was third with 117 in the eight team meet.

Brad Cleveland and Bowers have beaten the grapplers who look second place in Saturday's meet, Peck said, adding that "there's no doubt they would have been in the finals if they had not been wrestled."

Winning their matches for Winside were Brad Brummels, 138; Neil Wagner, 155; and Brian Svoboda, 185. Taking second were Tom Koll, 105; Keith Suehl, 126; Monte Pfeiffer, 132; and Brad Langenberg, 145.

Placing third were Mitch Pfeiffer, 167; and Tom Anderson, 98. Winside's heavyweight, Dan Westerhaus, didn't place.

Undeclared Allen Girls Aiming for Tournament Title

Undeclared Allen girls tonight (Thursday) will be gunning for their first tournament title of the season when the hosts take on Wynot in the second game of the four-day, All-Nebraska regional basketball tournament.

Sporting a 9-0 record, Allen will play Wynot at 8 p.m. in the Allen High auditorium, immediately after teams from New Castle and Ponca finish their 6:30 p.m. match.

Wynot is the only club which hasn't faced the Allen quint in previous games. The Eagles already have posted two wins over Ponca and a victory over Wynot.

First round winners will face each other in the finals Saturday night at 8 p.m. Consolation round is at 6:30.

Frosh Battle Scotus Tonight

Wayne's freshman cagers tonight (Thursday) will try to break above the 500 mark when they meet Columbus Scotus in the finals of the Scuyler Invitational.

The frosh take a 5-5 record into tonight's game after Norfolk High from Monday night handed the local 45-34 setback at the Norfolk High gym.

Wayne held a 15-13 edge at the half, but had its troubles shooting and giving up the ball on turnovers in the second half. For the night, Wayne shot 24 per cent from the field.

Tom Ginn and Brad Emry were the top scorers and rebounders for Wayne. Both had nine points. Ginn cleared 10 caroms while Emry had eight.

Also scoring for Wayne were Al Nissen eight, Dave and Dennis Carroll with one each.

Winside's Press Turns Tide in 70-55 Cat Win

Winside's use of a man to man press in the third quarter Tuesday night spoiled the dual for host Wausa as the Wildcats claimed their eighth victory with a 70-55 decision.

The win also moved the Cats to 7-3 in the final Clark division standings in the Lewis and Clark Conference. Saturday Winside returns home to face Beemer.

Ahead 31-29 going in the third frame, Winside used its press and didn't allow a Wausa field goal until the final five minutes of the period.

Meanwhile, the Cats expanded their lead to as much as 21 points with the help of sophomore Cliff Tillema's 10 points and senior Tyler Frevert's eight. Tillema finished the night with another strong performance from the field as he collected 23 points. Frevert was second in scoring with 17.

Senior Bob Hoffman set a new school rebounding record to snap the old mark of 588 held by Dave Witt from 1966-70. Hoffman, who only needed three caroms to beat Witt's record, grabbed a total of 12 for 597 rebounds.

Winside jumped off to a 15-12 lead in the first period, thanks to 11 points by Tillema. "He put us in the game and kept us there," said a pleased coach Korlin Lutt after his team pushed its record to 8-5.

Bloomfield Nips Laurel

Bloomfield girls Tuesday night scored 17 points in the final quarter to overcome Wakefield's nine-point lead and beat the Laurel five, 35-34.

Laurel, which shot only 22 per cent from the field, had its biggest problems in the fourth quarter from the free throw line. The Bearettes made only two of 15 charity tosses and ended the period with a total of seven points.

"It was our inability to shoot and our inconsistency at the free throw line which hurt us," said coach Everett Jensen after Laurel suffered its third loss in eight games.

Laurel's junior varsity had its share of problems in the preliminary match where Bloomfield topped the reserves, 23-15. The loss evened Laurel's record at 4-4.

It's Easy To KILL YOUR BUSINESS

Don't Advertise

Just pretend you don't have anything to advertise this week. Forget the thousands of items you have on the shelves of your store or the service you have to offer. You don't let potential customers know about them. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

Don't Advertise

Say you don't have the time to fix up an advertisement this week. Just let opportunity after opportunity to promote your business pass by — it will take less of your time. And you'll be less busy serving customers if they don't know what you have to offer. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

Don't Advertise

Assume everybody in the trade territory knows what you have for sale that you've been in business so long you don't need to advertise since the customers will come to you without it. Forget that there are new potential customers coming into the community, that you have new and better products to offer. Forget that you have to keep reminding your established customer to trade with you. Forget you have Big City competition trying to attract more customers. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

Don't Advertise

Tell yourself it costs too much to advertise — that you don't get enough out of it. Overlook the fact that advertising is an investment in selling — not an expense. Be sure you don't provide for an adequate advertising budget for your firm. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

Circle K Tests Blood Pressure

WAYNE STATE'S Circle K Club, looking for a campus service project, came up with an idea — offer a blood pressure checking clinic for students. It turned into a popular idea. So far, club members have visited four of the five dormitories, and close to two-thirds of the residents have had their blood pressure checked. The final visit is scheduled at Nebraska Hall tonight. Tom Becker and Larry Habrock suggested the project. Dr.

Robert Bentback, college physician, thought it a good project and arranged to have Circle K members taught how to check blood pressure. College nurse Florence Pankratz, who volunteered to help each night, is pictured explaining the technique to Brian Stricklett, as he operates the sphygmomanometer on Ellen Hulsebus, a Circle K member already trained in BP testing.

If you had High Blood Pressure what would you do?
If you have high blood pressure, don't think that the height of the blood pressure alone shows how serious your condition is. It doesn't. The important thing is the ability of your heart and arteries to cope with the work.
For those who need medical help, medicines and other kinds of therapy are used to bring blood pressure down and keep it within safe limits. It is important to follow and remain on whatever therapeutic program is prescribed in order to avoid possible complications.

Historical society were not allocated in any year. "I wouldn't go into private details but we are Eddie and Beiermann both said they had received numerous telephone calls on the matter, with the majority being opposed. Burt pointed out that only a few people were present at the public hearing to speak against the proposal while many people were there to speak in favor of it. He said he believes people would have been at the hearing if they were strongly against it.

Planning: (Continued from page 1) commits any governmental body to acquire the sites but means the planners will take the potential historical value of the sites into consideration while compiling the county plan.

Sites include the county courthouse, the site of the first county courthouse, several cemeteries and grave sites, including the LaPorte Cemetery, the Allona Bank, Hunter Grove, where the county was organized, the Wayne Middle School, and the railroad depot in Wayne.

There was never any intention that all of the money would be used for the museum, Ley said. "The main intent was to build a good historical society for the county."

"I think the $2,000 would probably take care of the house, but I think the decision dropped the price of the house."

'Child's Handicaps Can Develop at Birth'

According to a researcher on child developmental problems, children with handicaps have to be helped before they reach the age of two, or it may be too late.

"For that reason, we must observe a child's growth from birth," said Beverly Scovill during Monday's Kiwanis Club meeting.

The researcher, Dr. Burton White, has pointed out that parents must become more aware of handicaps in their children, beginning at birth, or a child may be handicapped for the rest of his life, Mrs. Scovill said.

Mrs. Scovill, who is director of the federally-funded Project Predict and Prevent, said parents who want to know about detecting developmental delays in their children can contact her for help.

Located in Carhart Science

Hall on the Wayne State campus, Project Predict and Prevent office and its services are available to anyone who has school children with special needs.

Mrs. Scovill urges parents not to wait until their child reaches school age before discovering that their child has a developmental lag. "School age isn't soon enough, most developmental problems begin earlier," she said, adding that if a parent waits, he only compounds the problems.

The Predict and Prevent program is set up on a weekly basis where a member of the program works with the handicapped child about an hour and a half a week in the child's home, Mrs. Scovill pointed out that the program is better suited to be given with a parent present since he or she is with the child more often.

For that reason, the Predict and Prevent program is offering a 12-week course which meets two hours every week to give parents the proper training to detect possible handicaps which might hinder a child's learning and steps to help their child overcome the handicap.

"We aren't trying to establish a criteria for parenting or values. We're just helping a child progress to his potential," Mrs. Scovill said.

Started in October of last year, the federally-funded program will continue until August. At that time it will be decided if funding will continue.

There is a possibility that public school systems may take over part of the program if the Nebraska Legislature adopts a bill which would make it mandatory that school districts lower the age limit from five years to two or three years for educating a child.

Another possibility is that the educational service units may take on the responsibility, she said. "I just don't know right now what will be the next step," she added.

THE HEAD of Project Predict and Prevent, Beverly Scovill, talks with Wayne-Carroll school superintendent Francis Haun about the future of the federally funded program.

Allen Town Board Okays Resurfacing

Allen town board Monday night okayed bid letting for resurfacing about 15 blocks this summer.

Members agreed to spend $11,000 for the project, which should include at least 12 blocks, according to a town board official.

Plans call for armor coating the majority of the 15 blocks with additional repair work to include about four or five blocks.

In other action, members voted to create an additional sewer district which will extend two blocks east of town. If the creation of a new district passes a public hearing slated in about three weeks, the board will let bids.

George Rehm, Extension agronomist, reminds us that field tests from throughout northeast Nebraska have shown that nitrogen and phosphate are the two nutrients that are needed on the vast majority of oats fields in the area. When compared to oats which is not fertilized, the application of 50 to 60 pounds of nitrogen with 25 to 30 pounds of phosphate per acre should produce a 20 to 25 bushels per acre increase in yield. Rehm points out that at current prices this type of a yield increase is more than enough to pay for the fertilizer. As a result, net profit per acre is increased.

Rehm also reminds farmers that all accurate fertilizer recommendations must be based on the results of a soil test. Soil samples collected in early spring will be returned in time to plan a fertilizer program for the oats crop.

The fertilizer requirements for barley are quite similar to oats. One important point to remember is that all fertilizer applied to small grains should be broadcast and incorporated before planting.

Did you know that despite the talk about the number of acres now in agriculture production that the United States has less acre in cropland than it did in 1949?

Low Soybean Prices Predicted

The largest soybean supply on record, coupled with modest increases in use and increasing tough competition from foreign producers, is expected to keep soybean prices in the 1976 marketing year below levels of a year ago.

This means probable prices below $4.50 a bushel for Nebraska farmers throughout the winter and early spring, although it is unlikely the price will dip below $4.00 a bushel.

This is the analysis of University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension economist Dr. Michael Turner, who notes that current soybean supplies nationwide are 18 per cent above last year. The eventual carryover for the current marketing year, which began on Sept. 1, is estimated at 325 million bushels, up from the 186 million bushels in 1974-75 and 271 million bushels in 1975-76.

Contributing to the record carryover was the 1975 crop of approximately 1.5 million bushels, up 19 per cent from 1974.

The largest uses for soybeans are for crushing, resulting in soybean oil and soybean meal for food and feed, and exports to foreign countries, with a small amount of the total going for seed and other miscellaneous purposes.

Turner estimates 750,000 million bushels will be involved in crushings for domestic use—up over a year ago but below the 821 million bushels utilized in 1973-74. A modest increase in livestock feeding plus an increase in requirements at home. The rate is estimated at 70 per cent of capacity, still below normal average levels.

Factors determining the extent of domestic use of soybeans include requirements in the overall U.S. economy, the rate of economic recovery of other industrialized nations, the price of soybeans, soybean oil and meal, the profit margin in livestock feeding and resulting increase in feeding activity, and increased competition from foreign producers.

Following a year of low export shipments of soybeans, U.S. exports in 1975-76 are expected to show a modest increase of between 30-80 million bushels. A short 1975 sunflower seed crop in Russia should allow some potential for increased U.S. exports to the U.S.S.R. this year. However, the Russians have been actively buying from Japan, Turner commented.

"Improvement in economic activity in Japan and western Europe will be important to expanded U.S. exports," Turner explained.

Brazil looms as an increasingly important competitor to U.S. soybean producers, the NU economist warned.

The 1975 crop in Brazil is about one-third above a year ago and another increase is expected in 1976. This crop will hit the market during the latter half of the U.S. marketing year.

New Grading Standards Yield More Choice Beef

Beef steers and heifers yielded nearly 14 per cent more choice carcasses under the soon-to-be implemented grading standards than under the current system, according to a study by University of Nebraska-Lincoln animal scientists.

In a study involving 830 head of cattle, the same carcasses were graded using the current USDA Department of Agriculture (USDA) quality grading standards, then regraded according to the revised standards scheduled to go into effect Feb. 23.

The new standards require slightly less marbling for cattle under 20 months of age to grade prime or choice.

"We would expect our results to be representative of most feedlot cattle," said Stan Farlin and Paul Guyer, cattle in the six different feeding trials, including both steers and heifers, and were of Charolais, Angus, Hereford, Brangus and Simmental breeding.

All were fed finishing rations from 87 to 134 days, with average final live weights ranging from 975 to 1,087 pounds, the two animal scientists explained. Age at slaughter ranged from 17 to 24 months.

The results? There were 13.8 per cent more choice carcasses using the proposed grading system. "Results were variable in the six group marketed," say Farlin and Guyer, "with one group increasing as little as 2.3 per cent and another increasing as much as 26 per cent."

"Nearly two per cent of the carcasses dropped to the standard grade and the number of good grades went down 15.7 per cent."

The new grading system did not help younger cattlemen as much as older cattle, they add.

More complete results of the grading comparison will be forthcoming in the 1976 Nebraska Beef Cattle Report, scheduled to come off press in February.

Beef Equation

Prepared by The Beef Industry Council of The Meat Board

Generally cattle are not fed grain during the first 3/4 of their lives. Total grain consumption ranges from 2 to 3 lbs of grain per pound of market weight, or about 2,100 lbs. of grain in total.

Nebraska Pig Exposition Will Be Held in Columbus

"The largest commercial showing of hog equipment and supplies in Nebraska" awaits producers who attend the third annual Nebraska Feeder Pig Exposition in Columbus Feb. 11-12.

Dr. William T. Ahlschwede, University of Nebraska extension livestock specialist, said the two-day event at the Platt Agricultural Park combines the trade show, with more than 50 commercial exhibitors; three information education sessions and a feeder pig show.

"The exposition is open to all pork producers without cost. Program topics were chosen to be of interest to both feeder pig or market hog producers," Ahlschwede emphasized.

The feeder pig show, open to all Nebraska feeder pig producers, is tied to a performance test. All pigs exhibited will be sold to and fed by a cooperating pork producer. Ahlschwede explained: "Gain and carcass information will be returned to exhibitors upon completion of the finishing period."

This year's show, to be held the afternoon of Feb. 12, will again be judged by nationally known swine authority and industry leader, Roland "Pig" Paul of Willow Springs, Mo. The emphasis of the second day's speaking program will be on feeder pigs—buying, starting, pricing and performance. The latter topic to be a discussion of data gathered on pigs from last year's show.

Displays open at 9 a.m. on both days in the spacious exhibit hall at Ag Park, on the east edge of Columbus. Six talks will be given the first day, on topics ranging from housing, management and health programs for feeder pigs to financing and experience stories by leading producers. A featured speaker will be Dr. Erwin Kohler, Ohio Agriculture Research and Development Center, Wooster, Ohio, on baby pig scours, management and vaccination. Frank Murphy, a Stuart pork producer, will discuss "Space Age Dirt and Shade."

Misuse Blamed for Insecticide Failure

Complaints in 1975 regarding the use of soil insecticides to control corn rootworms led University of Nebraska extension entomologists to develop a survey of farmers. Results of that survey reveal that failures of rootworm insecticides were largely due to incorrect calibration of granular applicators, improper placement of the insecticide band, and failure to incorporate the materials into the soil.

No evidence available at this time supports the theory of rootworm resistance to currently used soil insecticides.

Extension entomologists Dr. David Keith and Bob Roselle, and extension entomology technician Tim Miller received 514 replies to the survey, which probed 132,365 acres of corn that about 73 per cent of this acreage (95,950 acres) was treated with a soil insecticide for rootworm control in 1975; of these acres, the researchers were able to identify the insecticides used on only 89,177 acres.

Failure to control rootworm occurred on 6,277 acres or 7.04 per cent of the 89,177 acres. The failing acres had 21 per cent or more lodged corn.

Said the entomologists, "Although 21 per cent seems high, we must allow for other factors that might cause lodging, including excessive irrigation, wind, poor brace root development due to heat, dry soil or improper herbicide use. On closer examination of these fields where failures were reported, about 76 per cent of the acreage received too little insecticide to provide adequate control. Many farmers apparently have not adjusted for the additional row length when spacing from 40-inch rows to narrower row spacings."

Another possible cause of poor results is application of the insecticide in the seed furrow, resulting in a band too narrow to fully protect the root zone, they explained. "A six-inch wide band is recommended, applied over the row after the seed furrow has closed. Failure to incorporate the material or cover with soil may be another factor."

"Failures for the three most commonly used materials were in more or less direct proportion to the total acreage treated with each material. When used correctly, the percentage of failures was very low," they said.

The survey shows that in the total acres treated, Furadan was used on 57.7 per cent with one per cent of unexplainable failures. Thimet was applied to 12.2 per cent of the acres, with 3.9 per cent unexplainable failures, and Dylone went on 12.1 per cent with 1.2 per cent unexplainable failures.

The entomologists do not have any data that suggest resistance at this time. The recommended materials performed about as well in 1975 as they did in previous years, in researchers' tests. In addition, data developed by NU researcher Dr. Harold Ball indicates no alarming increase in the amount of materials needed to kill adult rootworms.

Said Keith and Roselle, "Many of our problems appear due to inaccurate calibration in a year when overall rootworm populations increased, placing

Fritschen: Straw Hovers Most Effective

Straw hovers gave the best results in relationship to their added cost in a University of Nebraska study comparing catalytic zone heat, plywood hovers and straw hovers for growing pigs.

Bob Fritschen, district extension animal scientist at the Northeast Station near Concord, explained that pigs make the best use of feed energy when they are in the "thermoneutral zone." However, the cost of added heat to maintain that thermoneutral zone does not always pay off.

Results of a study involving 380 pigs are given in the 1976 Nebraska Swine Report, now off press. In the two-part study, pig weight gains and feed efficiency were compared under the different types of heat and in three types of buildings—modified open front and environmentally regulated with both optimum and minimum ventilation.

In his article, Fritschen states, "Since utilities such as propane and electricity are used in swine housing primarily for a feed sparing effect, the utility cost was added to the feed cost to get a feed and utility cost per hundredweight gain.

"Doing this, the straw hovers reduced the feed-utility cost $2.32 per hundredweight as compared to catalytic zone heat, and 73 cents per hundredweight as compared to plywood hovers."

Switching to the environmentally-regulated (ER) versus modified open front (MOF) comparison, Fritschen says, "The pigs in the MOF building had a feed-utility cost per hundredweight gain of $2.68, which was $3.42 less than for the ER with optimum ventilation building and $2.29 less than the ER with minimum ventilation.

"The difference between the two ER buildings suggests that this type of building may be overventilated during the winter," Fritschen says.

Americans eat 10 times more meat than the Japanese, but in Uruguay and New Zealand the average person eats more meat than the average American!

He suggests, "For those producers with an ER growing-finishing building, a reduction in the amount of air movement might be beneficial to pig performance as well as lowering utility usage and cost. "Use a trial and error approach, starting the ventilation low and increasing it until a satisfactory level is reached," he concludes.

Copies of the 1976 Nebraska Swine Report, E.C. 76-219, may be obtained at local extension offices or from the department of agricultural communications, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE 68583.

Misuse—

severe pressures on corn root-worm insecticides.

"A few failures cannot be explained. It is possible that insecticide resistance might develop on a field to field basis, but we are not entirely convinced. Our researchers will continue to watch carefully for the first definite signal of resistance through their experiments at the five Nebraska stations and in the laboratories at Lincoln."

Winside Caucus To Pick Nominees

Members of the Winside town board will meet in a special caucus on Wednesday, Feb. 18, to nominate persons to replace board members Frank Weible and Robert Cleveland, whose four-year terms expire this year.

During Monday's board meeting members were told that the nominees who accept must file with the Wayne County clerk's office at least 60 days before the May 11th primary election.

IVIL NELSON

BB Prize Inches Upward to $600

The grand prize in the weekly Birthday Bucks drawing climbs to $600 this week after no one claimed the amount during last week's drawing.

Larl Nelson of Wayne was the person last Thursday night whose birthday came the closest to the winning date of Nov. 22, 1919 when it was selected at random by Wayne businessman Jim Marsh of The Wayne Herald and announced at all participating stores at 8:15.

Nelson, who was born on Oct. 4, 1919, was in Bill's G.W. at the time of the drawing. As a result of the date being the closest to the winning date, Nelson received the $75 consolation award.

Anyone can enter the weekly contest by just being present in a participating Wayne business when the winning date is announced. No purchases or registration is necessary to be a winner.

Social Security Manager Says Show Card

Social security numbers are becoming more important as the social security program grows and social security takes in crease, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

According to Branch, you should always show your social security card when giving your number. He said, "Hardly a day goes by that we do not encounter problems caused because someone gave an incorrect social security number from memory. Use of an incorrect number can cause eventual retirement, disability or survivor benefits to be reduced, or in rare situations, lost entirely."

It takes several weeks to replace a lost social security card or issue a new number. This is because all applications for social security numbers must be screened against records at Baltimore. He said, "We must be certain that no other number was ever issued to the same person. It is important, because of the time involved, that anyone needing a number apply well in advance."

There is no age limit for issuing social security numbers. According to Branch, social security numbers are frequently issued for infants when parents or grandparents start savings accounts for the new arrival. Savings institutions require social security numbers for all accounts that draw interest.

When you get a social security card, you should put the stub, or some other record of the number in a safe place. By doing this, you will be able to furnish the number to the social security office if you lose your card. The stub greatly cut-down the time needed to replace your lost card.

If you have any problem with an incorrect social security number, you should contact your nearest social security office.

YOU NAME IT, BEEF HAS IT

All right beef-eaters, if an average 1,000 pound steer yields about 432 pounds of steaks, roasts and beefburgers, what happens to all the rest?

Derivatives from byproducts in the beef production process can end up almost anywhere. That includes insulin, steel ball bearings, automobile tires and insulin, to name a few of the more unusual places.

Only a small part of the animal is wasted. According to the Meat Board's Beef Industry Council, the multiple uses of the many beef byproducts keep beef prices well below what they might otherwise be.

Edible by-products are by far the most well known. Nutritious foods such as liver, kidney, heart, brains, tripe and tongue are considered delicacies among certain nationalities.

Several non-edible products, like leather, felt and hair from the hide are also familiar to most people.

Few people are aware of the wide variety of lifesaving and life improving drugs derived from cattle. The best known is probably insulin, needed every day by 125 million American diabetics. Other pharmaceuticals used every day make child birth safer, prevent blood clots, help settle upset stomachs and assist in cancer research.

Other not quite so glamorous derivatives help to hold plaster on walls and asphalt on streets, prolong the life of your automobile tires and insulate many homes. Violin strings, soaps, lubricants, cosmetics and adhesives are also on the cattle by-product list.

Yep, the steer offers lots of byproducts, besides good eating.

Gramlich Joins Block and Bridle

Steve Gramlich of Carroll is one of 39 students inducted into the University of Nebraska Lincoln Block and Bridle Club last Thursday.

Block and Bridle is an organization for students interested in animal, science and livestock production.

Gramlich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gramlich, was active in Wayne County 4-H activities before entering UNL. He entered 13 pens of sheep in county fair competition and was a consistent winner.

Gramlich was also president of the Teens Supreme 4-H leadership club, president of the county 4-H council, and won a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, based on his overall 4-H record.

Thought for Today

By Brian McBride

"Vanity is a mortgage that must be deducted from the value of a man"

von Bismarck

In our personal "balance sheet" we have both assets and liabilities. Our good traits and our bad. We strive to improve ourselves to earn the admiration and respect of our peers. If one is successful, who can blame him for being somewhat proud of his accomplishments?

Pride, when justified, can be tolerated. When it develops into vanity, it becomes another liability which, as Bismarck points out, detracts from our total worth.

Few people are really well informed about funeral services. We're available to answer questions about any aspect, including costs. Phone for an appointment or drop in when it's convenient for you.

bury rescue squad met last Wednesday evening at the Allen Fire Hall.

New officers, elected during the business meeting, are Sam Knipper, captain; Craig Williams, first lieutenant; Ken Linafelter, secretary and Bill Snyder, treasurer.

It was reported that 61 calls were answered during the year 1975, representing about 732 volunteer man hours.

There are 14 regular and four back up personnel on the rescue squad. These men represent 2,000 hours of the Red Cross first aid training, 1,200 hours of Emergency Medical Technician Ambulance (EMTA) training, and an additional 200 hours which are spent at monthly business meetings and training sessions each year.

The Allen-Waterbury rescue unit has been in operation since March of 1973. Money to purchase the unit and associated rescue equipment has been entered in the form of donations.

Emergency number to call is 635-2141.

New Books Received

Collision Causes Minor Damage

Minor damage resulted from a collision on Highway 15 Monday night, according to the Wayne County sheriff's department.

Mrs. Gladys D. Duncan of Takoma, Wash., driving an auto owned by Charles Meier of Coleridge, was attempting a left turn into Fredrickson's Oil Co. when struck from behind by a vehicle driven by Allen L. Schufelt.

Schufelt, following the Meier Auto north on Highway 15, attempted to slow down when he saw the signal for the left turn. His vehicle hit an icy spot, pulling the auto to the left. In an attempt to avoid collision he tried to turn into Fredrickson's entrance, but struck the Meier car, causing minor damage to the left door and fender. No personal injuries were reported.

If fabric isn't too delicate, ordinary rubbing alcohol may be used to remove ink stains.

Coordinated Effort

FOURTH GRADE youngsters from Wayne West Elementary School demonstrated coordination exercises at Saturday night's basketball game. The students have been practicing the exercises in physical education classes.
