WSC Plans Career Day

Wednesday, March 10, is Career Day at Wayne State College for junior and senior high school students interested in home economics, safety education or industrial education.

This is the second annual Applied Science Career Day held by WSC. Students, instructors and guidance counselors from about 75 Nebraska and Iowa high schools have been invited to attend, but other schools are welcome to contact Dr. D.E. Cattle, chairman of the WSC division of applied science, for reservations.

Students will meet at Ramsey Theatre in the WSC Fine Arts Center for a welcome by college president Dr. Lyle Seymour at 9 a.m. Jim Morrison, director of admissions; Doug Barry, financial aids director, and Dr. Cattle will also speak.

Before lunch students will tour the campus and Benthack Hall of Applied Science where displays and demonstrations will be set up in selected labs.

Students will be free from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and may eat lunch at the college Student Center. High school instructors and counselors in attendance will be the guests of the Applied Science Division and admissions office for lunch.

The afternoon program will feature career meetings. Students interested in industrial education and vocational trades and industries will meet at 1 p.m. at Ramsey Theatre. Students contemplating home economics will meet at the Benthack Hall Lecture Hall. Career Day activities will conclude at 2 p.m.

Other counties are: Adair, Boone, Brown, Cass, Cedar, Cherry, Custer, Dakota, Dodge, Frontier, Gage, Johnson, Kay, Paha, Knox, Lincoln, Nance, Nuckolls, Otter, Pierce, Rock, Sherman, Thayer, Thurston, Valley and Webster.

Pharmacist Dies

Funeral services are scheduled for 11 a.m. today (Monday) for Wayne pharmacist Wilmer Griess. He died Friday morning of a heart attack, according to Dr. Robert Garrison.

Born and raised in Sutton, he was a graduate of the University of Nebraska school of Pharmacy. He was married to the former Elizabeth Haberman on June 6, 1936 at Wayn. The couple had lived in Aurora before coming to Wayne in 1945, where he operated the Griess Rexall Drug Store. He was a member of the United Presbyterian Church and Wayne Lodge 120-AF & AM.

'Right to Life' Organizes

A speaker at an organizational meeting for the Wayne County Right to Life chapter Wednesday night said pro-abortion supporters can no longer argue that life destroyed through abortion is not human.

Citing testimony from the first International Conference on Abortion, held in Washington, D.C. in 1967, Mrs. Evonne Krampfer of Dakota City, Right to Life regional director, said national scientific authorities have concluded there is no point in time between conception and birth that is not considered human life.

Mrs. Krampfer was one of several speakers at the meeting, held to organize a local chapter of the anti-abortion organization. Mrs. Jerry Dorsey of Wayne was elected president of the Wayne County chapter.

Other officers are Gil Fournier, vice president; Mrs. John Wilkowski, secretary; and Mrs. Pat Gross, treasurer.

Speakers in addition to Mrs. Krampfer at the informational meeting were Mrs. Margaret Cronin of rural South Sioux City and Jerry Reicks of Sioux City, both members of the Dakota County Right to Life speakers bureau.

Public Invited To Harpsichord Concert at WSC

Harpsichordist Igor Kipnis played the Wayne State College Ramsey Theatre tonight (Monday). The 8 p.m. performance is open to the public. Tickets at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students will be available at the door. Children under 12 will be admitted free.

Kipnis, born in Berlin, spent most of his early years touring with his parents, settling in the United States just before World War II.

Although he took the usual number of piano courses, Kipnis did not become attracted to the harpsichord until his college years when he was a student at Harvard University in the beginning of his employment, but he soon embarked on a thorough and extensive study of late Renaissance and Baroque styles.

Kipnis is professor of music at Fairfield University in Fairfield, Connecticut, and is a contributing author for Stereo Review.

not only directly related to an increase in the "illegal abortion rate," said Mrs. Krampfer, "but also opens the door for more and more violence, including mercy killing, infanticide and danger for the mentally retarded."

Mrs. Krampfer condemned politicians who took to abortion as a way to stop unemployment, saying "we have more positive ways to handle it."

In speaking of an alternative program to abortion Mrs. Krampfer referred to Operation Birth-Right, which provides pregnant women with professional counseling, health care, employment, and, when needed, homes to stay in.

"We (Right to Life) do not condone the actions of unwed, pregnant women, but we believe the Christian way is to make this help available," Mrs. Krampfer said.

Mrs. Croxen, who is the mother of a retarded son, said she became involved in the Right to Life movement because she decided it was time to stop complaining and to do something.

"We've started killing babies, who is next?" she asked. See RIGHT TO LIFE, page 10

Three-To-Vie For PSC Seat

A three-way contest is developing for the District 3 Public Commission seat currently held by Duane Gay of Columbus.

An Elgin livestock raiser, Forrest Barker, Wednesday said he is a candidate for the Republican nomination. Gay has said he will seek reelection.

Former State Sen. Blair Richendier of Walthill has also filed for the seat.

Planning Group Will Consider Land Use Study

Members of the Wayne County joint planning commission Tuesday night will review several studies provided by the State Office of Programming and Planning.

Included on the agenda is the review of a natural environment study and reviews and discussion of a study of existing land use needs.

A study on housing in Wayne County will be presented to the commission members, and they will also consider future land use needs.

The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. Meetings are held in the county clerk's office in the courthouse and are open to the public.

Driver Said She Was in Intersection When Heard Siren

An item from the police report concerning the accident involving the Providence Medical Center ambulance was inaccurately reported in Thursday's Herald.

The article said Mrs. Nancy Ahlvers told police she heard the siren of the approaching ambulance from the back of her car before she entered the intersection, and her car was struck by the ambulance.

The police report says Mrs. Ahlvers' car was already in the intersection and could not avoid the accident.

Machinery Missing

A piece of farm equipment Tuesday was reported stolen, a Wayne County sheriff's office spokesman said.

Larry Stevens said a 21-foot North molder, which operates from the back of a truck, was taken from the field four miles west and four miles north of Wayne, sometime within the past week.

The 3,000 pound machine, red with white teeth, is valued at $550.

Horns Belonged to a Mighty Big Critter

Many a hunter has returned from an excursion with a nice set of antlers to grace the mantle, but usually only after setting out with the idea of bagging a deer. It was 20 years ago when Lloyd Russell brought home a most unusual set of horns—following a duck hunting outing near Wayne.

According to S. Bertrand Schultz, director of the State museum on the University of Nebraska, Lincoln campus at the time, the horns, which measure 34 inches from tip to tip, belonged to a bison antiquus, which lived during the latter part of the Ice Age, from 8,000 to 20,000 years ago. Although it was nearly 20 years ago when Russell received the letter telling him what type of animal the horns had belonged to, it wasn't until 1974 when representatives from the museum paid a visit to his home to measure and verify the authenticity of the find.

Russell has no idea how large the critter was that once sported the horns, but he said modern American bison have horns that measure about 16 inches, tip to tip, at a maximum, with the animal weighing in at upwards to 3,400 pounds. If the buffalo which wore the 34 inch set was proportionately larger, it would have weighed nearly 7,000 pounds.

Even Russell's 34-inch set of bison horns is diminutive compared to some archeological finds. During the medial part of the Ice Age, some really big bison roamed the plains region, according to the letter Russell received from the state museum. Bison horns measuring seven to eight feet have been found in Nebraska, Kansas, Texas, Idaho and other states.

LLOYD RUSSELL of Wayne displays the 34-inch bison horns which he discovered north of Wayne. According to experts the discovery is from 8,000 to 20,000 years old.

Ready to Make Those Deliveries

JUNIOR, Cadette and senior members of the Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council began last week delivering the boxes of Girl Scout cookies, which are sold each year to help raise funds for troop projects.

Ready to start the job of delivering the cookies in Wayne are members of Girl Scout Troop 191, Tammie Murray, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Murray, and Terry Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Johnson. Cookie deliveries will continue through March 7.

Rescue Workers Get Diplomas

Rescue squad and ambulance service workers from several northeast Nebraska communities Tuesday night graduated from an emergency medical technician ambulance (EMT-A) course which began in Carroll in September.

The class met weekly for 26 weeks. The course included 71 hours in the classroom, plus a minimum of 10 hours of on-the-job training in hospital emergency rooms.

Most members gained practical experience working in Omaha and Sioux City hospitals. Classes covered the entire range of emergency medical care including cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, fracture splinting, burns treatment, handling shock, poisons and removing victims from wrecked vehicles.

Emergency room slings gave the EMT-A students an opportunity to use a variety of equipment such as EKG and defibrillators in actual emergency situations.

The class began because of efforts in Carroll to organize a rescue squad. Persons in several other communities also expressed an interest in the course, which eventually included members from Wayne, Winside, Carroll, Pender, Bancroft, Walthill and West Point.

Bob Robertson of Walthill instructed the course and presented diplomas Wednesday at graduation ceremonies which followed a smorgasbord dinner at Ron's Steak House in Carroll.

Almost Ready To Flip the 'Cakes'

Hot buttered pancakes and sausage will be the menu Thursday night at the city auditorium when members of the Wayne Kiwanis Club hold their annual pancake feed.

All proceeds from the feed, which will be held from 5 to 8:30, will go to the club's youth fund, according to project chairman Deryl Lawrence.

Tickets for the dinner are on sale from club members at $1.50 for adults and $1 for children. Tickets also will be on sale at the door.

In addition to the feed, members of the 4-H clubs in Wayne County will display their projects and will give demonstrations in the Woman's Club room, inside the city auditorium.

Guests in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Arterburn and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Benthack were Dr. and Mrs. Walter Benthack of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. G.M. More Sals.

Conservation Corps Has Summer Jobs

Wayne High guidance counselor Ken Carlson announced that youths between the ages of 15 and 18 are eligible to apply for summer employment with the Youth Conservation Corps.

The program is administered by the U.S. Department of the Interior, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission. During the eight-week program, workers will receive the pay according to federal minimum wage guidelines and will be housed during the work-week. Work sites are located in McCook, Chadron, Lincoln and Omaha. Meals and housing are not provided on weekends at some work sites.

Applicants must be in good physical condition and provide their own work clothes. Filing deadline is May 1.

Laurel Man Files for 19th Legislative District

A 53-year-old Laurel farmer who has filed for the Unkempt area seat being vacated by Sen. Jules Burchach of Herington said Friday he is particularly interested in assuring the rights of individual farmers in relation to any land-use legislation which might be proposed.

Life land-use regulations are considered they should be subject to local controls, Warren Patefield said. "I feel we are fortunate in having in the natural resources districts (NRD's) a local unit of government which can provide this local control."

Patefield has been active in conservation for nearly 30 years at the local, state and national levels and feels he is well-acquainted with the Nebraska legislative process.

A lifetime resident of the Laurel area, Patefield was a member of the Cedar County Soil and Water Conservation district from 1948 until 1972 when it became part of the Lewis and Clark NRD. He has been an NRD director since then and is now chairman of the district's board.

He is also a long-time member of the Nebraska Association of Resources (formerly Conservation) Districts, and was president in 1968 and '69 when legislation creating NRD's in Nebraska was passed.

Patefield said that as president of the state conservation association at the time, he actively participated in passage of the bill and believes his involvement with the legislative process would serve him well if he were elected.

The candidate was also a member of the Nebraska Natural Resources State Commission for five years, serving as chairman in 1973 and again in 1975. He also served five years as a member of the research committee of the National Association of Conservation Districts.

Patefield is a member of the Northeast Experiment Farm board of directors and it was during his tenure as president in the early 1950's that construction of the farm began, after land was donated.

At the local level, Patefield has been a member of the Laurel Concord board of education for eight years and is presently vice-chairman.

He is active in the Logan Center Methodist Church and has been a 4-H leader for 17 years.

The 19th District in which Patefield hopes to be elected included Knox and Cedar Counties, the northern half of Pierce County, and the extreme northwest corner of Wayne County.

The legislative seat is presently filled by Jules Burchach of Herington. Patefield was the only candidate to have filed by Friday.

Burchach announced a week ago that he would not seek reelection, after serving 20 years as state senator. "I've served 20 years and I've enjoyed all the 20 years—but I feel there is a time for others to take over," he said.

Burchach is chairman of the Midwest Task Force for Beef Exports, Inc. and added that "if we meet with the anticipated success, the two may not be compatible" with time in legislation and work to promote exports.

Currently speaker of the House, Burchach said he feels his work on taxes is among his top achievements. He served 16 years as a member of the legislature's revenue committee and 14 years as chairman.

Sports critic replies to Guessers

The following article was submitted as a letter to the editor, in reply to a letter which previously appeared in The Herald. The writer asked if his or her name be withheld for personal reasons, which is in keeping with Herald policy. The letter is printed as a separate article, because of its length. — J.S.

Wayne

Dear Editor: As a member of the public, I wish to comment on a public institution's program. Three Second Guessers seem to have taken a letter written to you as a personal affront. This was certainly not the intention of the letter. The intent was to constructively suggest ways to improve the holiday tournament and support from fans attending same. Ditto for the college men's basketball team.

Perhaps the phrasing wasn't 'just so' to please everyone who read the letter, but nowhere was it stated that the contents were anything but opinions. The opinions were formed from articles in three publications. More about this later!

Now come the Second Guessers with a letter that starts off by saying they are going to set the record straight with 'their' facts, not opinions. The very next paragraph then states that larger schools would not necessarily draw larger crowds. They call this a 'fact'?

Next, how many towns qualify as local towns when the tourney is held in Wayne? The sentence that said, 'the crowd is usually local people from local towns,' amused me. It also reinforces my contention that something should be done to improve the tourney to draw more fans. Make it more appealing to 'hype the game.'

To proceed to the subject of junior varsity ball I'll merely say this: let's hope that the lack of it doesn't noticeably affect the future progress of the school's basketball program. Other colleges still have J.V. programs, Kearney State for example, and Kearney has four wins over three Wayne in four attempts the past two years.

As for junior college transfers, while they may help the program, they are only around half as long as a four-year man. Of course they then have to be replaced after two years and this means more and more recruiting. It seems if a local college J.V. team played during the winter, it would also help in recruiting players to Wayne State.

The contention that 'immediate area' includes all the way to Scottsbluff is certainly different to my way of thinking. When originally stated, it was meant to include Wakefield, West Point, and South Sioux City. In other words, the Northeast Nebraska area.

A misunderstanding of 'identify with' and 'identify' was shown in the Guessers' letter. Having seen but a few of the players previously in action, it is not easy to identify with the others, even though their identity is known. The fact remains that too many good ballplayers from our area are going elsewhere. Examples are: Joe Muegling of Norfolk to South Dakota U., Steve Hornback of Wisner-Piager to Chadron State, Steve Erwin and George Schroeder of Laurel to Nebraska U. and South Dakota State, respectively.

I must thank the three individual Guessers for their information on the statistics about the student body enrollment. So 17 per cent of the total school enrollment is from out-of-state. Let's now compare that to the fact that 57 per cent of the current basketball team is from out of state. And that figure would be higher still if a couple of J.C. transfers from out of state hadn't left the team.

Now I discover that the Guessers credit Sioux City with being represented by two players on Wayne's team when, in fact, only one actually is from there. It's possible they meant to include Joe Kurl's transfer from South Sioux City, here, but it's important to note that there is no such thing as false facts. It's either a fact or it is not a fact.

Another erroneous part of their letter stated that the comment about a winning attitude came from a misinterpretation of a quote made by the coach at a Second Guessers meeting. Totally false. This comment about a winning attitude came from an Omaha World-Herald story and I quote the article which attributes the Wayne State coach with this remark: 'Sylvester has the attitude and type of personality we need here at Wayne (State) to help change some of the attitudes associated with winning.'

the World-Herald staff. The date of this article is Jan. 26. Yet another false assumption surfaces in the area of the lack of a pep band. Again I will quote from a newspaper article in Wayne Herald, page 22, page four: 'Not having a band at a Wayne State game has been a sore spot between the music and athletic departments.'

As for the pre-game drill of knocking down, or being knocked down, as a preventive measure to protect against floor burns, I have to take issue with this. My opinion is it's there for show and nothing else. Otherwise it would be normally handled during practice sessions opposed to pre-game and halftime warm ups. For many years I've viewed pro basketball in person and also on T.V. and I've yet to see what the Guessers say their 'pro' has been doing 'it' for years.

In addition, to say that 'it's archaic to think of any particular athletic event designed as a non-contact sport,' I can add that the game somewhat, but it's still a game and it is controlled by referees so Neanderthal types do not take over and ruin the game.

My personal opinion is that it's archaic to believe that in today's type of competition, one can believe he can have a championship team when the tallest players on his club (that are on the court — not on the bench) are 6'5" in height. Those that play, I'm sure are giving it their all, but they just didn't quite get it done.

I feel a comment that also should be commented upon is 'that six games have been lost by three points or less.' I've always subscribed to the idea that good coaching and good teams will win the close ones.

Perhaps if there are persons in the public eye, who don't cater to constructive criticism and comments, then it's possible that tickets for games should not be sold to the general public. Not very practical is it?

In conclusion, I must clear up a possible misunderstanding the Guessers could have created. This is to state that at no time was Wayne High mentioned in the original letter. For those three collective minds to try to draw them (Wayne High) into this discussion only further confuses the situation and I want to state that I have been and will continue to be a backer of the high school's programs and events. I'm looking forward to seeing the Blue Devils at the state tournament in the future.

I want to wish Wayne State all the success they deserve and hope to see them again participate in the national tournament in Omaha, City. — Name Withheld For Personal Reasons.

STRAYER THOUGHTS

By Jim Strayer

NEBRASKA ISN'T the only state having problems maintaining manpower levels for the National Guard. An article in the Denison (Ia.) Review reports Brigadier General Ronald Wood, in Iowa National Guard deputy adjutant, said in a meeting there that the Iowa community could see its unit disbanded if strength isn't maintained.

Several Denison firms offered 12 jobs to people who join the Guard now. The jobs could be started on a part-time basis, but would become full time after the summer training period. THE SOUTH SIOUX CITY Community School District has approved implementing a special learning disability program next fall. Project leader developed by the Wayne Carroll School District.

So many schools, both in Nebraska and across the nation, have adopted the program, that the announcement almost isn't news here anymore. But we're glad to see a neighboring community adopt this program which has won national acclaim. It speaks well for the local educator responsible for the program. THERE'S NOTHING worse for a newsman than to discover a "blopper" after it is in ink. Most of us make our share, however, and I suppose that is one reason we enjoy bloppers made by others. I particularly enjoyed this collection by Alexander Schwartz. Schwartz, a Hungarian born linguist, works at the United Nations and has collected these over the past 11 years (correct word in parenthesis).

Let's create a society in which men could enjoy the fruits of their neighbor

(labor) without interference. . . . deprived people of that territory. . . . would give the 18-nation committee a new impetus. . . . Great successes have been achieved in the Uklaian in combating various diseases. The number of hospital deaths (beds) has increased by 300 per cent. . . .

GOOD NEWS FOR gardeners who want to preserve part of their produce. A release from Ball Corporation, a major producer of home canning supplies, announced the company plans to produce and distribute at least 65 per cent more replacement caps and/or canning jars during the 1978 season, compared to 1975.

Incidentally, Ball is estimating that there will be about 35 million home vegetable gardens this year. A recent survey suggests that 41 per cent of American households plan to do some home canning this year. Looking forward to the Kiwanis pancake feed Thursday. This will be my first time at the event, but I understand it's quite a tradition in Wayne. An added attraction this year will be the exhibits planned by the Wayne County 4-H clubs. Hope to see you there.

MRS. EVELYN CARLSON of Wayne received a Merit Citation from President Gerald Ford honoring her late husband, Albert Carlson, who died in Wayne recently. He enlisted at the beginning of World War I and served with the 342nd Field

Artillery in the Alsace-Lorraine region of France. The citation reads: "This certificate is awarded by a grateful nation in recognition of devoted and selfless consecration to service of our country in the Armed Forces of the United States."

A WAYNE WRITER, Gil Fournier, will be receiving some help from "The Bermuda Triangle" author Charles Berlitz, who gave a lecture in Wayne recently, according to an article by Sioux City Journal writer Jean Novotny. Fournier, a graduate student at Wayne State College, is gathering information for a magazine article on incidents of animal mutilations and slayings which were prevalent in Northeast Nebraska in 1974.

Fournier became interested in the incidents while working as an insurance salesman in the area. Fournier has been seeking information on the incidents for the past two months and is particularly interested in the northeast Nebraska area. Anyone with information on mutila- tion incidents may write to him at 407 Nebraska St. in Wayne or call 375-4824

Budget control act questioned

Watch the bouncing ball. If you imagine the economy as a bouncing ball, going up and down, say economists for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, it will help you understand this proposal. This year's federal deficit of $74.1 billion will be the largest in history despite the new budget control act.

"The major variable in the federal budget is the economy and what is happening at the moment," the Chamber says. "What it boils down to is that the budget is a victim of the economy." Some economic factors that frustrated Congressional efforts to hold down this year's deficit were the tax cuts and rebates voted to stimulate the economy, the automatic rise in Social Security benefits to keep up with living costs, extraordinary outlays of $18 billion in unemployment insurance and the fact that, due to inflation, everything government buys costs more.

Therefore, the thrust of government policy must concentrate on important issues of the day that shape government spending policies. The new budget control act, implemented this year for the first time, is helpful since it places the budget in the context of the overall economy.

Under the new act, Congress recently committed itself to a spending ceiling of $374.9 billion. Between now and June 30, Congress can demonstrate, if it has the will, that it can live by that ceiling. One member can block any new spending bill that breaches the ceiling. A simple objection raising a point of order.

The only way to circumvent that obstacle is for Congress to adopt a new ceiling, which then requires agreement of both Houses.

In other words, said a member of the House the other day: "The ceiling stands 'until Congress changes its mind.'"

Rep. Brock Adams (D-Wash.), chairman of the House Budget Committee, corrected him. "Until Congress adopts another concurrent resolution changing the ceiling."

Rep. Adams then pointed out the consequences of a spending ceiling of only two votes, 187 to 185. "I think the Congress has pretty well agreed where they want the ceiling," Rep. Adams added. Now if the bouncing ball would stop bouncing so.

Tax claims called silly

It's high time that some outstate senators stood up in Nebraska Legislature and knuckled under the total 47 per cent of the state's sales and income tax revenues are paid on a per capita basis by the people of the metropolitan areas of Lancaster, Douglas and Sarpy Counties, which represent approximately one-third of the population of the state.

That argument has been trotted out once more by metropolitan area interests in their latest attempt to discredit and revise the 1972 personal property tax exemption law. State tax commissioner William Peters is quoted as saying that these three counties get only 21 per cent of the benefits returned to the counties on 1975 personal property tax reimbursement.

The figures are probably accurate but the use of them is something else, particularly in the case of the sales tax revenues. The people of the Omaha and Lincoln areas simply do not pay all those sales tax revenues, no more than the people of North Platte, Scottsbluff, Grand Island, Norfolk or any other major area shopping and trading center can take credit for. All the sales taxes reported from their immediate confines.

Omaha and Lincoln are major retail and wholesale shopping, trading, financial and service centers which serve a vast area. Just like Denver, Kansas City, Minneapolis and Chicago, the wealth of a region funnels into them and they enjoy the benefits from it. It has always been so. But on a per capita basis on sales tax revenues — and on income taxes to some degree — to say, "Look at what the people of Lincoln and Omaha pay in sales taxes," is ridiculous.

One need only go to the big suburban shopping centers of Omaha or Lincoln on a busy day and check the outside and out-of-state cars to get some idea of the millions of dollars in sales tax revenue generated by "non-local" sources. Every Chamber of Commerce in every hub trading city across the state spends a sizable portion of its budget to develop and attract business from what it envisions as its "market area."

There is nothing the matter with this. It's free enterprise at work. Modern transportation and a good road network have made it possible for shoppers to travel hundreds of miles to seek the largest selections of goods and services available in the city and towns across the state. One may lament the decay of the villages and small towns because of it, but it is an inexorable fact of economic life. The backbone of Nebraska's economy is its more than $4 billion annual agricultural production which multiplies many times over in sustaining the total economy. The wealth of the entire Midland is dependent on agriculture to a very large degree — on the region's soil and water resources and the productivity of the farmers and ranchers who put them to use.

Think of the sales tax revenues generated in the City of Lincoln on a "football Saturday" with the influx of fans from all parts of the state. Think of the sales tax revenues generated from money from outside to send thousands of young people to the University of Nebraska. Think of the sales tax revenues in the City of Lincoln paid by the hundreds and thousands of people who travel in and attend legislative hearings and deal with state government. And then think how silly it is for a metropolitan area senator or an official of state government to say, "Look at the burden of sales taxes paid by the people of Lancaster, Douglas and Sarpy counties." — M. M. Van Kirk, Nebraska Farm Bureau.

Self-help needed

If Nebraska homeowners are to make a dent in easing their energy costs, they may have to do it themselves without help from Washington. Legislative help in the form of the long-talked-of tax credits for energy-saving home improvements may be long in coming. The President says Congress are still on what must be done.

Our alternative is to make these home improvements now. The stakes can be very high. Proper do-it-yourself efforts can reduce home energy cost by 30 to 50 per cent whether you really do it yourself or hire outside help.

Easy-to-do home improvements that save energy at reasonable cost include installing storm windows and door caulking, weathersipping and insulation. A homeowner who is halfway handy can pick up all the supplies at a local lumber supply dealer or hardware store and do the work himself. After insulation, for instance, can be installed in around eight hours.

March is Energy Conservation Month in Nebraska. Don't wait for help from Washington. Start energy saving home improvements now! — Nebraska Energy Conservation committee

Writers commend

Dear Editor: The members of the Wayne County advisory committee on mental health express our appreciation to you for the fine coverage your paper has made of the drug abuse series carried over KWSC. One of the purposes of our committee is education and we feel that this series is a worthy mode of educating the public on a potential mental health problem.

Without the cooperation of your paper and other publications our task would be limited, and for such cooperation we are grateful. — Mary Alice Haas, secretary, Wayne County Advisory Committee on mental health.

And condemn

Dear Editor: I was very disappointed in your coverage of the Wayne County spelling bee. Surely Kim Blecke deserves at least as much recognition as the children who attend Kindergarten Roundup.

Also, I felt there should have been some mention of Kim's teacher, Mrs. Don Kott and her school, District 57. Surely an event that involves eighth graders from all over Wayne County deserved better. — Linda Janke.

And say 'thanks'

Dear Editor: The Wayne County rural spelling committee would like to publicly thank the following people for their contributions to the rural students in last week's contest. Wayne Women's Club: lunch for the entire group. Gibson's: 25 red pencils. State Value: $5. State National Bank: $10 savings account. First National Bank: twenty student dictionaries. Wayne Book Store: dictionary. Carhays: $10. Chamber of Commerce: name tags. American Family Insurance: student pencils. Fred Rickers (County Superintendent): paper. Wayne State College: facilities for the contest. With their help and the help of Mrs. Letta Maynard (who graciously consented to select and pronounce the words), this spelling contest would not have been possible. — Betty Lawrence, chairman, Wayne County spelling committee.

Anonymity defended

Dear Editor: Concerning letters to you in regards to writers using pseudonyms, or their given names, I volunteer additional thoughts on the subject.

I believe it's more important to concentrate on what is being said, rather than what the writer's name is. Apparently this thinking also prevails in most publishing circles. It's thus possible to air one's views, either pro or con, on an infinite number of subjects. It's just one more freedom we Americans enjoy, as I believe it goes hand in hand with freedom of the press.

As long as it isn't slanderous or libelous, it shouldn't be prohibited from being printed. This can lead to pen names, initials, groups, associations or a recently used "in this fine paper" — multiple signatures affixed to a singular letter.

I congratulate you on your public spirited attitude. Keep up the good work. — Another Anonymous Author.

Young writers wants counselor

Dear Editor: I write to you in desperation in hopes someone who can help will read this letter.

A counselor is desperately needed in Wayne Middle School. I find it evident that kids need an advisor, someone they can trust and rely on and possibly, an honest friend. Frequently news is heard of the wrong doings of juveniles. Silence is of troubled, miserable teens. What is to happen to these people? Growing up is a painful process as parents will remember. Especially today as we're much more independent and self reliant.

Cries for a counselor are increasing. I fail to see how better relations among teens, parents and fellow citizens will occur if the daily tensions of life continue to burden us. I feel a counselor will lead to a stronger, healthier and happier community. I speak of this as a Middle School student. I've heard and seen the cries of many students — including myself. I really believe a counselor is an immediate necessity. — Please consider. A.H.

Cats Cough Up Ball 19 Times

Turnovers Aid Norfolk in 52-48 Overtime Win

Nineteen turnovers Thursday night prevented Winside from hurdling into the finals of the Class C district tournament at Norfolk Catholic when crippled Norfolk Catholic rallied in overtime to beat the Wildcats, 52-48.

Leading by as much as eight points in the first half, Winside lost its momentum when the Cats coughed up the ball for most of its miscues in the second half which resulted in the overtime play.

Tied at 44-all, the game finally swung into the Knights' favor thanks to the free throw shooting of sophomore Tim Beltz and senior Myron Throener, who seeded all of Norfolk's points in overtime.

Throener broke the ice with a basket to put Norfolk in front 46-44. Then the Cats coughed up six straight free throws which gave the Knights a 52-44 cushion and eventually the win.

Norfolk, which was minus starters Mike Hupp and Kevin Bomar and later lost Jeff Hauser who picked up his fifth personal in the fourth, never said die throughout the ball game.

Coach Terry Conroy's club got the scoring leadership from 61 senior Jeff Hauser with 18 points and Beltz with 10 and a lot of delatks from the rest of his team to overcome a 30-22 half time deficit.

The Knights used a stiff man to man coverage in the second half to throw the Cats off balance and not allow their guards to get the ball inside to Bob Hoffman or Cliff Tillema for the scoring plays. After the game, Winside mentor Korling Luff pointed out that Norfolk's defense did a fine job of containing Winside. "Our guards were handling the ball too much and weren't getting the ball inside. Our guards were really getting the pressure," Luff noted.

Norfolk battled back to trail 38-35 going into the last stanza. After a two-minute stall by Winside, Norfolk's Hauser stole the ball and drove in for the "ray" which tied the game for the first time at 39-all.

With 1:46 left in the game, Norfolk's Randy Sock sank a two pointer to put his club in the lead for the first time of the night, 44-43.

After each team turned the ball over, Winside got it back with 1:11 remaining. With :27 seconds left, Winside's scoring leader, sophomore Cliff Tillema, made the second of a two shot foul to knot the game at 44 all and send the game into overtime.

Tillema, who led the Cats with 14 points in the first half, finished the game with 17 points and 16 of the team's 40 rebounds.

Besides the 19 turnovers which resulted in 14 points for Norfolk, the Cats also were hampered by the rather cool shooting by senior's Bob Hoffman and Tyler Frevert. Although Hoffman was second high in scoring with 14 points, he was about six points short of his average. Frevert, who made five points, missed See TURNOVER, page 5

NORFOLK CATHOLIC'S Tim Beltz concentrates on the moves of Winside's Tyler Frevert as the senior brings the ball down court during first half action of the Class C district meet at Norfolk Thursday night.

College May Join Great Plains Loop

Wayne State College has received a go-ahead from its governing board to join the Great Plains Athletic Conference, and President Lyle Seymour said a final decision probably will come Thursday.

Presidents of the eight colleges in the proposed new alignment of GPAC will meet Thursday in Kansas City to iron out final details.

Dr. Seymour said it seems highly probable Wayne State will accept the conference invitation to join, "unless we discover some condition we can't live with."

He said, "The Great Plains Conference includes colleges with similar academic philosophy and enrollment ranging from about 2,000 to 5,000. Their athletic practices also are compatible."

Other newcomers expected to join are Missouri Western of St. Joseph and Missouri Southern of Joplin. Present members continuing in GPAC are Kearney State of Nebraska and four in Kansas: the state colleges at Emporia, Hays, Pittsburg, an Washburn of Topeka.

Two current members, Northern Colorado and Southern Colorado will leave the conference when the present school year ends.

Wayne State athletic director LeRoy Simpson said he expected the new conference can reach full scheduling of basketball in the 1977-78 year and football in 1978.

Seven of the eight colleges currently play baseball—Pittsburg the exception. All compete in track-cross-country, golf and tennis. Three compete in swimming. Wayne, Kearney, Pittsburg, three in Washington, Wayne, Kearney, Fort Hays.

The new GPAC will also provide women's sports in volleyball, basketball, track and probably softball, Dr. Simpson said. Scheduling will move into conference play for women as soon as possible.

Wayne has sought a new conference affiliation for several years, Simpson noted. Although Wayne and state colleges at Chadron, Kearney and Peru compete as the Nebraska College Conference, it is not official in the eyes of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) which requires five colleges for a conference. The Nebraska College Conference had as many as 10 members at one time.

Bears Making Third Trip to Regionals

By BOB BARTLETT
Laurel spelled Wausa a 40-0 advantage in the first minute of the Class C district tournament finals. Friday night before the Bears proceeded to do what they have been doing all season—blow their opponents off the court.

Scoring 94 points, Laurel walked to the district title over Wausa at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium and secured itself of its third straight ticket to the Class C regionals against the winner of the district meet at Wayne-Pilgrimage.

Behind the scoring of senior Jon Erwin, who had nine of his game-high 25 points in the first period, Laurel ran off 21 points in seven minutes to take a 21-8 lead going into the second quarter. From then, it was all Laurel as the Bears chalked up win No. 21.

Rounding out Laurel's scoring were seniors Greg Pipitt and Scott Huelig with 22 points each while the rest of the points were sprinkled among Laurel's reserves.

From the outset of the game, coach Joel Parks game plan was to play "our normal game," which includes a fast-breaking offense and a stingy man-to-man pressure defense.

That combination, which worked like perfection as it has throughout Laurel's 1975-76 campaign, was the area Wausa mentor Stan Hageman hoped to break with his fast break game.

But Laurel shut off any hopes Wausa could use a running offense to outdistance the Bears as Laurel's defense forced Wausa into committing 38 turnovers.

The Bears, who shot 45 percent from the field, were even hotter at the free throw line where they made 22 of 27 tosses for 82 percent. After the first half, Laurel missed only one shot from the line.

Huelig was the leader in the second period, pushing in 12 points before Pipitt took over in the third stanza with 16 points. By the time the third period was over and Laurel had a comfortable 71 to 38, the reserves flexed their scoring muscle to push the score near the elusive century mark for the fourth time this season.

Playing with a sprained ankle Thursday night in semifinal play against Osmond, Huelig ripped the nets for 23 points to lead Laurel to a 63-52 victory.

"We didn't shot particularly well, but our defense and rebounding pulled us through," Parks pointed out.

The Bears, who trailed at one time by one point, took a 55-47 lead into the final stanza where both teams slowed the pace. The Bears only scored eight points, one more than Osmond.

Leading Osmond's scoring was Doug Stratton, who had 24 of his 32 points in the first half. Also scoring for Laurel in double figures were Pipitt with 12, Erwin with 12 and Brian Johnson with 11.

WS Grapplers Win District Mat Title

By a decisive margin, Wayne State wrestlers won the Nebraska-NIAA District tournament Friday at Kearney. They scored 80 points to 58 by runner-up and defending champion Peru.

Going into the meet, Wayne coach Marion Haeyer calculated it would take every possible point to win. Instead, the grapplers won by a wide spread in the eight team meet. Kearney came in a whisker behind Peru at 57 1/2, trailed by Chadron, 45; Midland, 37 1/2; Deane, 21 1/2; Concordia, 9 1/2; Doane, 4.

Dwight Lienemann and Paul Sok won individual championships for Wayne and four others placed second. All of them automatically qualify for the NIAA Nationals at Edenboro, Pa., March 3-6. In fact, several other Wildcats might qualify on other factors, coach Haeyer said.

For Wayne, this championship was its fourth in nine NIAA district meets dating back to 1965.

Lienemann, 177 pounder from Winside, continued winning ways as he took a 7-1 decision in the second round after a first-round bye. In the championship toss, he got the job done quickly with a 3:35 fall on Larry Traub of Concordia. That put his season at 31-5-1, with 15 pins.

Sok also drew a bye in his first round at 126 pounds. Then the Oakland junior won an 8-0 decision advancing him to the finals and a 5-3 decision over Mike Flesch, Kearney. Sok's record now is 17-1-1.

Four other championship matches gave these results, with Wayne placing second in each

Kirk Hanson lost a 3-6 decision to Willis Stalman, Chadron at 150. Hanson had won previously by a 6-36 pin and an 8-4 decision. Randy Humpal lost an 8-10 decision to John Whistler, Peru, at 158. Humpal had a first round bye and won his second round match, 4-1.

Alennis-Midland lost a 5-10 decision to Mark Hopkins, Midland, after winning 11-7 and 15-8 decisions.

Mike Riedmann lost by pin at 3-15 to Kent Coleman, Peru, after winning 2-1 and 4-1 decisions.

Placing third were Craig Hell woge, 134, with a fall and Jerry Mundell, heavyweight, with an overtime 7-2 decision. Mark Ellis, 118, and Kevin Cuveller, 142, both placed fourth.

Champions in the other four weights, where Wayne did not compete for the title, were Mark York, Peru, 118; Doug Jones, Chadron, 134; Phil Sanders, Chadron, 142; Fred Marisell, Peru, heavyweight.

Waterfowl Migration Continues

A brief return to winter last week apparently failed to halt early migration of waterfowl into Nebraska, according to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission men in the field.

Goose numbers and ducks and geese are on hand in many parts of the southern half of the state and many ducks and geese have also moved to the Missouri River in Northeast Nebraska. According to reports from the field, outdoor activity in Northeast Nebraska includes:

Snaggers who have been taking pederfish to 30 pounds in the Gavins Point tailwaters, and their counterparts downstream on the Missouri who have been taking many varieties of fish in Dakota and Dixon Counties.

Snaggers near Panca who have been getting 25-pound pederfish, along with occasional flathead catfish to 20 pounds, blue cats to 15 pounds, channel catfish up to six pounds and some carp and bass.

Cedar County which has become temporary headquarters for a good number of migrating waterfowl, including Canada, snow and blue Geese, redheads, mallards, pintails, gadwall, wigeon and mergansers.

College Coeds Out of Tourney

Wayne State basketball women battled through four games in 25 hours Saturday and Sunday. In the end they came out second best to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln women, who played four games in 51 hours.

The Nebraska women's championship in the big-league division rested on a Sunday night game in the UN Coliseum. Going into that game, Wayne had beaten the tourney's other team, UN-OMaha, 68-56, and split with UNL. The first resulted in a UNL overtime win of 71-66 Saturday morning, then a Wayne win of 60-51 over UNL Sunday afternoon.

That left both Wayne and UNL with one loss. Their final clash went to a furiously contested 22-21 half score. Wayne leading, then an 48-48 tie as regular time ran out.

Wayne finished with a 16-10 record.

Dixon Tourney Starts Tuesday

Junior high basketball teams from Wayne, Waterbury, Dixon and Osmond will play Tuesday night in the first night of the Dixon tournament.

Teams from Wayne and Waterbury will play at 6:30, followed by Osmond and Dixon playing at 8 p.m. Consolation and championship matches will be at 6:30 and 8 on Wednesday night, according to Mike Farley, in charge of the program.

Wayne '5' Faces Pierce Tuesday

Wayne will take on Pierce Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the second round of Class B district basketball play at Norfolk High School.

The Blue Devils, who are sporting an 8-10 record, felt to Pierce in overtime in their first meeting 59-54.

his 18-point average.

Norfolk came into the game with a 12-9 record, but coach Conroy felt his team was in serious trouble without Hupp, who led Norfolk during the season with a 15 point scoring average, and Bomar with 14 points. Hupp missed the game because he was sick with the flu. Bomar's father had died.

"We're going to have to play super defense if we're going to beat Winside. I expect them to run with the horses they have," the coach noted.

The key to a Winside victory, which would have put the Cats at 12-6 and in the finals Friday against Battle Creek, would have been their field goal percentage. "If we can do as well as we did the other night, we had a chance to win," Luff said prior to the semifinal match. In first round play for Winside, the Cats hit 40 per cent against Plainview. However, against Norfolk Catholic, Winside made only 18 of 54 for 33 per cent.

Initial Report Reveals Tax Is Losing Money

Wayne municipal taxi lost about one dollar a day during the first 11 days of operation. City administrator Fred Brink submitted the report to the city council Tuesday night. Total revenue taken in during the first 11 days (Feb. 9 Feb. 23) excluding weekends, was $39.50.

A total of 79 customers used the service, paying 50 cents per ride. Of that total, 63 customers were over 60 years of age. Total number of calls was 68. Total cost, excluding upkeep and depreciation, was $50.11, leaving a deficit of $10.61.

Mayor Freeman Decker, commenting on the report, said, "Frankly, I'm disappointed the taxi isn't being used more extensively. Of course, we haven't had any bad weather and that might have an effect, but usage will have to increase to justify its (taxi service) continuance."

The city is receiving assistance from the State Labor Department Community Action Agency in operating the taxi.

The city pay only 40 cents an hour in wages for the taxi driver, with the remainder of his salary being paid by the Golden Rod Hills CAA office at Walthill.

The taxi operates from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and from noon until 9 p.m. on Thursdays. The number to call to summon the radio-dispatched taxi is 375-1733 during all hours of operation.

Computer Speeds Up Soil Data for NE Farmers

A portable computer terminal is helping to speed the results from the University of Nebraska soil testing laboratory to Northeast Nebraska farmers, said George Rehm, agronomist at the Northeast Station near Concord. Rehm said that by using this portable terminal, results of the analysis of soil samples can be sent directly to the Northeast Station. There is no time lost in making these results from Lincoln to the station. After reviewing results of the analysis of the soil samples, Rehm then is able to make fertilizer recommendations for the intended crop.

Using this system, fertilizer recommendations are made from the results of the analysis of soil samples submitted from 18 counties in Northeast Nebraska. Rehm pointed out that this new equipment allows the University of Nebraska to improve its service to area farmers. At the present time, the results of the analysis reach the Northeast Station approximately seven to 10 days after they are received at the soil testing laboratory in Lincoln. As a result of this new system, area farmers will not have to wait as long for their results.

A RESEARCHER at the Northeast Station demonstrates the use of a computer terminal to help find solutions to many of a farmer's problems. The terminal is designed similar to a keyboard on a typewriter. However, the information is typed in code and relayed to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln computer where it is analyzed and returned within a matter of seconds.

The North Eastern Fertilizer Co. suggests that you check their prices when thinking about those spring fertilizer needs. Prices are much, much lower than they were a year ago so it should be very profitable to do a good job of fertilization this year. They will have 18-46-0, 0-46-0, 29-14-0, 16-20-6, Anhydrous Ammonia, and most any other grades you may want. They will also have insecticides and herbicides at very competitive prices, so see the North Eastern Fertilizer Co. before you buy. NORTHEASTERN FERTILIZER CO. Wayne, Nebraska
