Consistency Is Trademark of Herald's All-Area Club

By BOB BARTLETT
 Players on this year's Wayne Herald All-Area Basketball Team have the scoring punch which would make any prep coach smile from ear to ear.

But scoring isn't the only good quality of this year's selections. All have that second ingredient called defensive instinct which to most coaches makes for a solid basketball player.

Wayne, Monte Lowe, and from Wakefield, Scot Keagle.

Labeled as "the best defensive player" at Winside in a long time, Hoffman set a new school record in rebounding, pulling down 661 caroms during his four-year varsity career. This season he cleared 222 rebounds, an average of about 14 a game.

The six-foot guard is a smart player, said his coach, Karlin Lutt. "He has a lot of confidence in himself and the other players pick that up," Lutt noted.

Offensively, the Lewis and Clark All-Conference player has a 19-point scoring average, shooting 45 per cent from the field. From the free throw line, Hoffman hit 72 per cent. He also owns the career field goal record, 398.

Another L.C. All Loop pick, 5'11" Tyler

Frevert, balances Winside's scoring with a 15-point per game average. Frevert shot 38 per cent from the field during the season and made 48 per cent of his free throws. Together, the pair were the main reason the Wildcats finished with one of their best records (11-7).

"Consistent" is how Laurel coach Joel Parks described the performances of his starters—Jon Erwin and Greg Pippitt during the Bears' 21-3 campaign.

"Jon is very consistent both on offense and defense. He's a very intelligent player and makes very few mistakes," the coach pointed out about his 6-1 starter who averaged 14 points and five rebounds a game.

About Pippitt, the coach remarked that "Greg is the type of ball player no one really notices until you check the game statistics." Looking at the season stats, the 6-3 center poured in about 17.3 points a game and pulled down about 10 rebounds a contest. From the field, Pippitt hit a blazing 59 per cent for his shots and made 71 per cent from the field. To complete Laurel's scoring attack, Erwin shot 44 per cent from the field and 65 per cent from the line.

Throughout the Blue Devils' 1975-76 season, senior Monte Lowe was the main leader for coach Bill Sharpe's Wayne quint. The 6-3 product burned the nets for 17 points a game and pulled down 10 caroms per contest. "Lowe's hard work and good attitude during Wayne's 10-11 campaign helped to mold him into a fine offensive player," Sharpe pointed out.

"Monte has worked hard since he was a sophomore on the team and has done a good job," the coach added.

Like most players on this year's All-Area team, Lowe was consistent in his shooting from the field and from the free throw line. He hit 51 per cent of his shots from the field and sank 63 from the line.

The "big man" on the team is 6-5 Scot Keagle of Wakefield.

The three-year veteran was the focal point of coach Joe Coble's offense because he was a line shooter. Keagle hit 55 per cent of his shots and made 63 per cent of his free throws for an average of 15 points a game. He cleared an average of 11 rebounds each outing.

Said Coble about his star player: "He's the guy other teams had to prepare for to defend. Sometimes our opponents had to use two or three players to stop him. That's how effective Scot was."

The only repeater from last year's All-Area team is Hoffman. Like Hoffman, most of the members of this year's team are or will be named to their conference's all-loop squad.

During the West Husker tournament last month, Lowe was picked for the West Husker team. It hasn't been decided, but there is a strong possibility that Pippitt and Erwin will land spots on the Northeast Nebraska Activities' all conference team when coaches meet in the near future.

On the second team are Wayne's Paul Mallette, Laurel's Scott Huetig and Brad Erwin, Winside's Bryan Denkiau and Wakefield's Mike Soderberg. All are seniors.

Redmond Rewrites Cage History for Wildcats

Johnny Redmond wrote some basketball history with his 1975-76 season at Wayne State. And if he has played four years, not just two, he might have rewritten most of the Wildcats records.

Redmond's 519 points this year landed him in the No. four spot of all-time scoring for Wayne. One more game at his 20.7 average would have left him No. three. Dave Schneider occupies the third position with 535, topped by the 649 of Dennis Siefkes and 615 of Dean deBuhr.

In only two seasons with Wayne, Redmond's point total of 921 ranks him 16th on the career highs of Wildcats.

Teammate Rick Anderson also mounted to the all-time season point chart—his 458 ranking 10th edging out the 457 by Ron Jones in 1962-63.

In the field goal records, Redmond's 232 this year puts him No. three, behind Siefkes, 267, and deBuhr, 243. For two years, Redmond field goals total 411, good for all time eighth.

And Johnny R also climbed high in rebounds—to No. two on the all-time season chart. He grabbed 327 this year, exceeded only by Larry Coney's 351 about 15 years ago. On the career

Second-Half Press Helps LH to Victory

Laurel's use of a full court press in the second half Saturday night opened the door for the area girls basketball team to score quick points to topple Leigh, 40-21, for third place in the Stanton Tournament.

Elaene Guern and Roxann Gade led Laurel in the second half with a total of 14 of the team's 27 points. Guern sank eight points and Gade hit for six.

WHO'S got whom might be the question in this match between Winside's Tom Koch and Wakefield's Loren Erlanson. Caught between Erlanson's legs, Koch appears to be in quite a predicament. However, it was Erlanson trying to escape during Saturday's wrestle back matches in the 96-pound class. Koch went on to pin his opponent for the win.

NPPD: Wacker Statement False

A Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) official Wednesday labeled as false and misleading a recent statement critical of the capacity purchase agreements being made available to Nebraska municipalities by NPPD.

Schauvelberger said recent statements attributed to H. Steve Wacker, newly-named general manager of the Nebraska Municipal Power Pool (NMPP), were in direct conflict with the harmony of purpose previously reached between NPPD and representatives of NMPP. At the request of the League of Nebraska Municipalities, NPPD at its own expense participated in interventions before the Federal Power Commission to ease curtailment and abandonment cases in an effort to preserve as long as possible a gas supply for municipal generation until alternate power supplies could be developed. When federal officials urged that all not be used as a primary fuel, NPPD developed a program for municipalities facing an uncertain generation future.

"Ratepayers of the municipal will benefit from lower rates and the municipalities furthering regular payments that can be used to pay off indebtedness associated with their plants," Schauvelberger said. "NPPD's other customers are not penalized because the cost to the district is comparable to the installation of combustion turbines."

Wayne recently became the first city in the state to sign such an agreement and city officials here contend that the plan will provide for much smaller rate increases while providing the community with a reliable source of power.

"We are confident that the assessment of the contract by Wayne's city officials is correct," Schauvelberger said, and we feel that other municipalities in the state will realize similar benefits just as the NMPP board had previously indicated would be the situation.

NPPD has a long list of very satisfied wholesale customers because we have dealt with them openly and the benefits to be derived by generating municipalities through the capacity purchase agreement will not alter that pattern," Schauvelberger said.

Leighton also reported that the school has missed four and a half days of classes due to inclement weather. Since the calendar year was set up for 180 days and the state requires a minimum of 175 days, no plans have been made as of this time to make up the days missed.

Starting next school year, Winside will be using the MacMillan math program for students in grades one through eight, Leighton said. This series returns more to the traditional mathematics and metric system.

Butz Announces Target Prices

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz has announced the 1976 target prices for wheat and feed grains. He announced also the 1976 loan rates for wheat and feed grains and a reinstated loan program for soybeans.

Provisions of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 require that target prices for the 1976 crop be adjusted upward from 1975 levels to reflect increased production costs during 1975. The 1976 loan levels are also being adjusted upward from the minimum levels set by the legislation; these increases reflect approximately the same percentage increases as made in the target prices.

"The target prices and loan rates provide a guaranteed support base while adhering to the principle of reliance on the marketplace for farm income," Butz said. "Farm income and farm production have reached all-time records under our present market-oriented agricultural policy," he added.

The 1976 target prices in dollars per bushel, are as follows: wheat, $2.29; corn $1.57; sorghum, $1.49; barley, $1.28.

The 1976 loan rates are: wheat, $1.50; corn, $1.25; sorghum, $1.19 ($2.13 per hundred weight); barley, $1.02; oats, 60 cents; rye, $1; soybeans, $2.50.

In light of expanded production of Brazilian beans and Asian palm oil a loan program has been reinstated on soybeans. The 1974 soybean loan level was $2.25 per bushel. There was no loan program in effect for soybeans in 1975.

Anniversary loans which were implemented for 1975-crop grains will be continued for 1976-crop grains and also included in the soybean program. Loans offer agricultural producers an opportunity to obtain cash and hold their crops for later sale and to even out marketings in determining loan rates. Butz is required to take into consideration a number of factors, including for example, world markets for wheat and corn and the relative feeding values of the various grains.

USDA announced that the interest rate for the period April 1, 1976 to March 31, 1977 for commodity loans and on storage facilities and drying equipment loans will remain at the current level of 7.5 per cent.

Resale prices per bushel for 1976, which include carrying charges, (with 1975 comparisons in parentheses), will be at the market price but not less than $1.81 for corn ($1.59), $1.71 for sorghum ($1.51), $1.47 for barley ($1.30), $0.87 for oats ($0.78), $1.45 for rye ($1.28), $2.63 for wheat ($2.36), and $3.62 for soybeans. There was no resale price established for soybeans in 1975 as there was no loan program. The per hundredweight resale price of sorghum in 1975 is $3.05 compared to $2.70 in 1975.

Provisions of the 1973 Act require target price adjustments

WAYNE COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

Here are some interesting facts that I read in the Farm Picture which is sent to First National Bank of Wayne customers.

"Prices of wheat and bread - A bushel of wheat makes about 70 one pound loaves of white bread. An increase of $1 per bushel in the price of wheat adds about 12 cents to the cost of ingredients of a loaf of bread. Currently, a 25 per cent increase

UN-L Tests Manure Value

Getting the maximum value out of manure is the objective of research being started at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

At present market prices, the nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium in the manure produced each day at the University's Field Laboratory at Mead is worth $68, according to Conrad Gilbertson, USDA, Agricultural Research Service agricultural engineer stationed at the University.

Animals there include 460 beef, 130 dairy and 600 swine.

The problem is maintaining that value until the manure is applied to the land. Bacterial action in manure stored at high moisture reduces the amount of nitrogen in the manure, he said.

Also, hauling liquid manure in honey wagons is wasteful, since so much of it is simply water, he added.

The engineers plan to experiment with methods of drying the manure down without using heat. Gilbertson said. One way that may work is to add dry matter to the fresh manure.

Gilbertson has been experimenting with several systems for handling waste. One system is an oxidation ditch for beef cattle under roof but that has not proven satisfactory, besides destroying nitrogen, he said.

So, he is converting the building to dry handling by filling in the ditch and plans to use a dragline to remove manure daily.

Not only will he get fresh manure with which to experiment, he will learn the effect on the performance of the animals as they have to step over the drag, he said. The floor has pipe to convey hot or cold water and this may also affect the animals', but more important is the effect

Does Well at Carcass Show

The Pat Finn family of Carroll finished well up in the standings at the recent swine and carcass show in Norfolk.

Finn placed fourth in the purebred category with a 210 pound animal yielding a 156 pound carcass, 44.62 per cent ham and loin.

Daughter Annette Finn placed fifth with a 205 pound animal yielding 44.03 per cent ham and loin.

Sally Finn's 220 pound entry, yielding 42.64 per cent was good for ninth place. Mrs. Finn's 250 pound entry had a ham and loin yield of 40.84 per cent.

Researchers Continued Sorghum Studies

Sorghum yield is influenced by a host of factors, some of which still are not completely understood.

However, University of Nebraska-Lincoln sorghum physiologists feel they are approaching the day when maximum yield can be achieved over the range of environments where sorghum culture now exists or is likely to in the future. But before that time comes, the factors governing yield must be more fully understood.

That's the word from NU agronomists Jerry D. Eastin, Max D. Clegg and Jerry Maranville who are studying how plants use water, light proteins and carbohydrates in order to increase sorghum yields.

"Scientists of sorghum have spent their lives learning about any one of these processes," Eastin said. "Much has been learned, but we still are just scratching the surface."

Eastin explained that understanding these processes means that eventually man will be able to manipulate them to increase yield in a given environment. The researchers' goal has been to track grant support from the Rockefeller Foundation and the U.S. Agency for International Development, U.S. Department of State.

"To increase their understanding of the factors affecting yield, the NU scientists are taking a closer look at a basic plant physiology fundamental photosynthesis. This is the process whereby plants change light into chemical energy."

Photosynthesis research was hampered initially because they could not measure the amount of radiation available to plants and how much they used, Eastin explained.

This led to the development of a special device which senses energy in much the same way plants sense energy for photosynthesis. The PAR quantum sensor has since been refined produced commercially and is used worldwide as a standard in the field.

A second instrument was built to facilitate plant science research. A portable leaf area measuring instrument now makes possible leaf area measurements without harming plants during growth. Plant area can then be related to changes in the way plants use light and the weight gain during the growth period.

"Obviously, these two electronic instruments are proving invaluable in understanding how a number of physiological and environmental factors influence grain yield," Eastin said.

In addition to photosynthesis, night time respiration rate is an important yield determinant, Eastin said. At night an increase of five degrees Centigrade above optimum reduces grain yield by one third to one fourth. If the temperature were increased by an additional five degrees Centigrade, yield would be reduced more than 50 per cent.

This and That...
from YOUR COUNTY AGENT

Prices of wheat and bread - A bushel of wheat makes about 70 one pound loaves of white bread. An increase of $1 per bushel in the price of wheat adds about 12 cents to the cost of ingredients of a loaf of bread. Currently, a 25 per cent increase in wheat prices would add less to the cost of a loaf of bread than a four per cent increase in processing and distribution costs involved in getting a loaf of bread to the consumer.

"How many more will be at the world's dinner table tomorrow? Every day there are 219,000 more people to feed than the day before. That's one way to express the population explosion. It means 219,000 more diets to balance and more stomachs to fill. World population reached one billion in 1830, doubled by 1927, doubled again by 1973, and at the current rate will double again by the year 2000."

FEEDING EWES
The general practice of sheep producers is to overfeed their ewes during cold winter months.

The last six weeks of gestation is a critical time, and energy should be increased to meet the demand of fetal growth. In no way does this concern poorly or undernourished ewes, but ewes that receive a maintenance ration.

Controlling intake is the best method of feeding late pregnant ewes. Control of intake can also balance the ration and save feed from being wasted. It also will cut down on lambing disease or pregnancy disease and save more healthy lambs.

During the late gestation period, ewes should receive a rate per cent protein ration and consume feeds amount to 3.035 per cent of the body weight. A 160 pound ewe should eat about 4.8 pounds per day, larger ewes should get a lower per cent of body weight.

During the first 70 days of lactation, the ration should increase to a 9.5 per cent protein ration with feeds amounting to 3.542 per cent of the body weight, so 160 pound ewes would be eating 5.7 pounds of feed per day. The ration may include urea up to one third of the protein equivalent feed.

Omaha Market Will Honor Pioneer Patrons

Omaha livestock market entries have set May 19 as the date for the market's 29th Annual Pioneer Patrons Recognition banquet to honor long time patrons of the terminal market.

Any livestock producers who have been patrons of the Omaha Livestock Market the past 50 years, either as sellers or buyers of livestock at the market and who have not been so honored before, are eligible for recognition as Omaha market pioneer patrons.

Nominations of persons to be so honored may be made by the candidates themselves, by members of their families, friends or business acquaintances.

Nominations should be submitted to: Pioneer Patrons, Livestock Foundation of Omaha, 717 Livestock Exchange Building, Omaha, Nebraska, 68107. Nominations must be received by May 1.

Livestock producers selected to be honored as Pioneer Patrons will be banquet guests of Kay Omaha Livestock Market Inc., the Omaha Live Stock Exchange, the Livestock Foundation of Omaha, and other Omaha livestock market interests. The honorees receive Pioneer Patrons lapel pins, certificates of recognition, and color photographs taken at the banquet.

More than 1,000 patrons of the Omaha market have been honored since the recognition program was started.

Growers Urged: Order Soon

If Nebraska soybean, sorghum and corn growers delay ordering herbicides much longer, they could get caught with local chemical supplies down and their weeds up!

This warning comes from John Furrer, University of Nebraska extension agronomist, who says many growers have delayed placing herbicide orders with their supplier.

"Although there is no real chemical shortage this spring, a distribution problem could develop later. Herbicides may not be on hand where they are needed at planting time," Furrer stated.

The specialist cited three main reasons why farmers have waited so long to order their chemicals this year.

Some producers are still undecided on whether to grow soybeans, sorghum or corn.

Most growers feel plenty of herbicides are available, so they've held back on ordering.

In some areas there is a lack of cash flow because of the 1974 and 1975 droughts.

The problem revolves around the fact that crop production chemicals, including herbicides, must be ordered weeks in advance so that farm supply centers have adequate supplies before planting season, Furrer explained. Most outlets have limited storage. Product movements over a greater time period is essential if total needs are to be met during the two to three week planting period, he stressed.

Officials estimate that Midwest corn and soybean growers this year will use herbicides totaling an astounding 60 million pounds in shipping weight. At 24,000 pounds to the truck load, this translates into 16,000 trucks loaded with herbicides that must be moved from manufacturer to warehouse. From there, the material must be transported to the farmer's local distributor.

Logistics are staggering, and the need for lead time and earlier ordering of herbicides becomes evident. 1976 could be a year of filled pipelines and local pipelines and local short ages," Furrer concluded.

These are HARVESTORE TIMES

Why is SLURRYSTORE so popular with Farmers in this area?

The SLURRYSTORE relieves their winter hauling problems and provides the necessary long term storage.

Many Farmers report they selected SLURRYSTORE over other manure handling systems because it offers more advantages for the farmer. Others say the SLURRYSTORE is the most efficient way to go since it also allows them plant food benefits, thus saving many dollars each year for commercial fertilizer.

Dairymen state the SLURRYSTORE provides a clean, odor free operation, while reducing barnyard runoff. The SLURRYSTORE also meets EPA Regulations.

Call me for more information as I would welcome the opportunity to help you with your Manure Handling Problems, and assist you in turning this "aged" problem into a PROFIT for your operation.

Pancakes Are Good Any 'le Time

ALTHOUGH Thursday's snowstorm forced the Wayne Kiwanis Club to postpone its annual Pancake feed until Saturday, the delay didn't seem to bother most area residents as an estimated 800 persons attended the annual dinner to help raise funds for the club's youth program. During the dinner, which ran from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the city auditorium, visitors got a chance to view projects by members of 4-H clubs in Wayne County. In addition, several 4-H'ers gave demonstrations, including Anita Sandahl, right, who cleans a grill after giving a demonstration on making sourdough flapjacks. Among those attending the dinner were persons of the Wayne Care Centre, Villa Wayne and Wayne's Senior Citizens, Center who were given free tickets by the club.

Thought for Today
 By Brian McBride
 "Most of the troubles of humanity are imaginary. All is well until the stroke falls and even then, nine times out of ten, it is less bad than anticipated. A wise man is a confirmed optimist."
 Andrew Carnegie

Some people's lives are filled with terrible troubles, most of which never happen. Perhaps the worst things in life are imaginary, for we have more time to worry about them.

We've never known anyone who actually kept a record but it would be interesting to list the things we worry about and keep a score of how many of these resolved themselves harmlessly, save for the sleepless nights they caused. Let's all try to be more optimistic!
