McCullister: Now Is Time To Confront Soviet Expansion

JOHN MCCULLISTER

Republican Congressman John Y. McCullister said in Wayne Sunday that while he would not support the use of U.S. troops to intervene in the event of continued Soviet expansion in Africa, he does think the U.S. should confront the Soviet expansionist policy.

"The quicker we take steps to stop it (Soviet expansion) the better chance we will have of accomplishing it without an explosive confrontation."

The Second District Congressman who is seeking the senate seat being vacated by Roman Hruska said the United States should be spending more for defense. "The Russians are spending $135 billion a year on defense while we are spending $90 billion," he said. The disparity is even greater when it is realized that about 60 per cent of the U.S. defense budget goes for personnel costs in an all-volunteer military, while the Soviet Union, which obtains military manpower through conscription, spends only about 25 per cent of its defense budget on personnel.

That means that in terms of military procurement, operations and maintenance, and research and development, the Soviets outspend the U.S. from two to two and one-half times.

McCullister, who spoke at a coffee in the John Addison home in Wayne after attending services at the Wayne United Presbyterian Church, said he is convinced that in addition to additional defense spending, the U.S. should develop a viable civil defense program.

The Russians have an extensive civil defense program which could make a first-strike nuclear attack appealing to them in the right situation, McCullister said.

He explained that predictions indicate Soviet losses might be as low as 10 to 15 million people in absorbing a U.S. retaliatory strike after a Soviet first strike. The relatively low estimate of losses is due to Soviet civil defense measures.

When it is considered that the communist government has eliminated some 100 million people who have opposed them since they first came to power in Russia, it is conceivable that a loss of 10 to 15 million might be acceptable to them in the right situation if it would destroy U.S. power, he continued.

The good news is that the American people are very swiftly becoming aware of the nation's military shortcomings, McCullister said, citing a recent Gallup poll which showed the biggest swing on the subject in a long time.

Regarding recent investigations of the nation's intelligence community, McCullister said the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) had undoubtedly violated its charter and that must be amended.

But the CIA is probably needed more now than when it was formed, McCullister said, and he thinks awareness of that has also increased.

"It was a big shock to Otis Pike to discover that the House didn't want to release the findings in the CIA."

Angola and other Soviet expansionist efforts have also caused the mood of Congress to shift dramatically, he said, pointing out that the Armed Services Committee reported out a $103 billion defense spending authority measure which exceeded the $101 billion asked for by the President.

Although he would not support sending U.S. troops to halt Soviet expansion in Africa, McCullister said the U.S. should start confronting the Soviets world-wide to halt expansion.

"We must let them know that detente will continue only contingent upon their not taking advantage of militarily or politically."

Vis a vis the U.S.S.R., the United States is now in a worse position than it was before the policy of detente started, McCullister said, because the Russians have been allowed to use the policy to further their own goals.

Putting an end to that situation is also important to improving the confidence of NATO allies in the United States.

And while he favors confronting Soviet expansion, McCullister doesn't have any qualms about continued trade with them. "I want to sell them all the grain we can," he said. "For gold."

Every dollar Russia pays the U.S. for grain, is one less they have to spend for military purposes, he said, and one more we have to spend on oil and other things we need.

The talk of grain sales prompted questions about government controls on agriculture. "I want to see just as little government in agriculture as possible," he said.

George Meaney's labor moratorium on grain sales to the Soviets last year has been allowed to go gross error, McCullister said. "And I think he (Meaney) realizes that now."

The halt of grain sales was also recognition of the fact that the AFL-CIO controls 269 members of the House of Representatives, McCullister said.

On the nation's economy, the candidate said reductions in the unemployment rate are encouraging. The unemployment rate in March dropped to 7.5 per cent and was the fifth consecutive month in which the jobless rate declined.

"I think that shows that President Ford's economic policies are working," he said, adding that Republican members of Congress have been criticized lately for their opposition to proposals for public works employment.

"Unemployment was the result of a superheated, inflated economy which got stretched out of shape. All at once it contracted. I think that would happen again if we voted in public works measures."

Welfare controls are needed, McCullister said, adding that it isn't a simple problem because the government now supports 168 different welfare programs.

A common, uniformly understood set of eligibility rules is needed to make certain that welfare goes to those who can't work and doesn't go to those who can, the Congressman said. The present welfare situation provides an accumulation of See MCCULLISTER, page 10.

City to Split Costs For Fix-Up of Alleys

Wayne street superintendent Vern Schulz has announced that the city will begin making alley improvements and said approximate costs of those projects are available.

As in the past, the city will pay half the cost of road gravel or crushed rock for alleys, in addition to doing the necessary filling and grading. Residents who have signed a petition requesting improvements will pay the other half of costs.

Residents may pick up petitions at the city clerk's office to circulate in their block. Upon return of petitions, the city will begin necessary grading, filling and placement of material.

Schulz said that if all residents sign the petition, cost should run about $3.75 per homeowner for gravel and $8.75 for rock.

In keeping with city policy, the city will not participate in improvements to closed or dead end alleys other than for routine maintenance. Improvements will be made only on through or open alleys for a full block, except in special situations approved by Schulz and city administrator Fred Brink.

Schulz pointed out that it may be advantageous for residents to participate in the improvements even though they do not personally use their alley, because sewer, garbage pickup, telephone, cable television, electric, city, soil water service and many deliveries are served from the alley.

Youngsters Will Perform Sunday In Lions Contest

Youngsters from the Wayne area will show their stuff Sunday afternoon when the Wayne Lions conduct their annual talent contest.

The curtain goes up at 1:30 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College campus.

Prizes will be awarded to the first and second place winners in each of four divisions. The top act in each division will be eligible to compete in the Lions district talent contest in Omaha April 25. Winners there will advance to the state contest in Kearney in June.

Girl Arraigned on Car Theft Charge

Sheree Love of San Francisco was arraigned Monday in Wayne County court on a charge of stealing an automobile.

The car was reported missing Friday morning by her aunt. See CAR THEFT, page 10

School Plans Chautauqua

A full day of fun has been scheduled for the May 5th Chautauqua planned by the Wayne Middle School.

The event will begin at 9:30 a.m. with skits from American history by the Middle school history class.

That event will take place in the high school lecture hall. All other activities will be happening in the Chautauqua tent site which will be on the Middle School grounds.

A dozen demonstrations of old time skills and antiques are planned for the afternoon, from 12:45 until 3:45. See CHAUTAUQUA, page 10

New Bids Asked For Allen Park

The Allen school board will be seeking new bids for construction of new park facilities.

The bids submitted by Wickhorst Construction Co. of Omaha and Plender were too high, according to superintendent Virgil Ferguson. Christianson submitted the lower bid, $50,359.65, while Wickhorst bid $55,617. Miracle Equipment Co. of Omaha asked for $6,007 for playground equipment only.

The project was first estimated to cost about $40,000 when it was first planned last year. Half of the total cost will be financed with federal funds while the state and school district will split the remainder.

Honors Banquet Is Monday

The annual Wayne Kiwanis Club Honors Banquet recognizing the top scholars in Wayne High and Middle School will be held Monday night at 6:30 in the Wayne State Student Union.

Forty students representing the top 10 per cent of their classes at Wayne High and the top boy and girl in the seventh and eighth grades will be introduced by high school principal Don Zeiss and presented medals for their efforts.

Guest speaker will be Wayne mayor Freeman Decker, who will talk about "What Is Total Education?"

Tickets for the banquet are on sale at the door for $3.75. There will be no reduced prices for children.

Teachers Receive 5.53 Per Cent Pay Hike

Wayne-Carroll school system teachers will receive a 5.53 per cent pay hike next year under terms of an agreement reached after two months of negotiations between the board of education and the Wayne Education Association.

Dr. Irvin Brandt, president of the board and its chief negotiator, revealed the terms of the agreement at the board's regular meeting Monday night, when the board members ratified the agreement.

The WEA has already ratified the settlement. Duane Blomkamp was chief negotiator for the teachers association.

The pay hike puts the salary of a first year teacher with a bachelor's degree at $8,100, up from $7,675 last year.

At the other end of the scale, the top salary possible, for a teacher with a master's degree and 27 additional semester hours of education, and 14 years of teaching experience, will be $15,431 for a nine-month contract.

Increment steps for professional training increase salary by 5.5 per cent. Teachers advance one step on the scale for each nine semester hours of additional professional education.

Increment steps for experience increase salary by five per cent. Teachers advance one step on the experience scale for each year of teaching experience, up to 14 years.

The negotiated agreement also sets the salary schedule for extra duties. Duties are valued on a one to three scale, with experience steps at one to three years, four to six years, and over six years.

Extra duty pay is set at: —Value one, one to three years—$750, four to six years, $900, over six years, $1,050. —Value two, $650; $800; $950. —Value three, $550, $675, $800.

—Value four—$450, $575. —Value five, $350, $475. —Value six—$250, $375. —Value seven, $175.

Extra duty designations are: —Value one — football, basketball, volleyball and wrestling head coaches and athletic director. —Value two—varsity band. —Value three—track and baseball head coaches, Drama Club and Pep Club advisors. —Value four—photographer, vocal music, football, basketball, volleyball and wrestling assistant coaches, freshmen football and basketball head coaches, high school yearbook advisor and assistant Pep Club advisor.

—Value five—assistant Pep Club advisor, eighth grade football, wrestling, basketball and volleyball coaches, freshmen assistant football coach, track and baseball assistant coaches. —Value six—cross country, golf and eighth grade track coaches and Middle School yearbook advisor. Wayne Graduates Well Prepared

The Wayne-Carroll school system does a better-than-average job of preparing students to go on to college, if a report from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln is anything to judge by.

UNL annually issues a report, comparing the performance of graduates from specific high schools with overall performance at the university. Wayne High School principal Don Zeiss distributed this year's report to school board members Monday night.

The grade point average for 11 Wayne High alumni now in their freshman year at UNL was 3.011 at the end of the fall semester, compared with 2.654 for all UNL freshmen.

For nine sophomores from Wayne, the average was 3.34 compared with the 2.908 overall average. For juniors, the comparison was 3.188 against 3.025 and for seniors, 3.237 against 3.081.

The attitudes of students toward their prep alma mater after a semester in college also gives an indication of how well the school system prepares students for higher education. Zeiss recently attended the annual principal-freshman conference at UNL and found results encouraging.

Wayne High graduates now attending UNL as freshmen gave the Wayne School system its best marks in science and German language. The college freshman said-courses they are studying now in those two areas are largely a repeat of what they learned in high school.

The students indicated they were having some problems in mathematics. They reported doing okay when dealing with abstracts but said they encountered some difficulties with basic math. At the same time, however, beginning economics courses were proving no problem and basic math is important to those students, Zeiss said.

He told the board members that he does think the results of the interviews indicate it is time to take a look at the school system's approach to mathematics.

The strongest criticism came from a student now studying agriculture. Zeiss said. The individual noted the school system's lack of an agricultural program, but commended the schools for excellence in other areas.

Overall, the Wayne High graduates were very complimentary Zeiss said. He added he would like to invite former Wayne High students attending college to conduct a group discussion on the demands of higher education, during open house scheduled for next year in conjunction with American Education Week.

Meeting Planned for Area Women Writers

Nebraska Press Women (NPW) will hold its annual spring meeting this Friday and Saturday at the Camelot Inn in York.

Area women writers are invited to join NPW members at this spring meeting. Blanche Bargon of Superior, NPW secretary, is in charge of advance registrations. Registration fee is $10.

A cocktail hour and buffet dinner, with a program to follow, are scheduled for Friday evening. Coffee will be served at 8:30 Saturday morning and the business session, with election of new officers, will be at 8:45 a.m. At 10 a.m., all Democratic and Republican candidates for the U.S. Senate will be present for a question and answer session. Winding up the morning session will be a panel discussion on the "gag orders" imposed on various courts recently. Panel members will include Dean Terrell of the Lincoln Journal Star, Laura Poland, North Platte Telegraph; Helen Green, Fairbury Journal News, and hope fully a member of the bar who asked for the restrictions.

NPW writing contest awards will be presented at the noon luncheon, and Dr. Neale Capple, director of the University of Nebraska School of Journalism, will follow with a critique. A panel of inmates from the Nebraska Center for Women at York will speak to the assembly in the afternoon.

Planning to attend the two-day meeting from Wayne are LaVon Beckman, Wayne Herald society editor, and Sandra Breikreutz, editorial assistant, Wayne State College News Bureau.

It's Carnival Time Again

Everybody's invited to Saturday night's AFS carnival at the Wayne High School auditorium. The carnival will be held from 5 to 9 p.m.

Planned to raise money for the American Field Service, the organization which helps sponsor a foreign exchange student at Wayne High each year, the carnival will feature a variety of booths - dart throw, sponge throw, cane toss, tic tac ping pong game, milk bottle toss, shave a balloon on the line.

Also being planned is a tricycle race, hampaline fun, basket ball throw, and a jail where "selected" persons are incarcerated and must pay to be released. A cake walk will be featured where lucky persons will win an angle food cake.

The Wayne AFS chapter will be serving food for those attending during the supper hour and for persons who wish a snack during the evening.

The carnival is held every two years for the purpose of raising money to bring another foreign exchange student to Wayne High. According to several members of the AFS committee, several hundred persons turned out for the last event and the committee is anticipating an equally rewarding turnout this year.

Wayne is currently hosting Alain Guillot-Pinguet from Belgium, who is making his home with the Dwayne Rethwisch family.

The AFS chapter and students must raise $850 each year to finance Wayne's participation in the American Field Service program. Approximately one-half that amount was raised at a salad supper recently sponsored by the AFS chapter in Wayne.

Auxiliary Members Meet Monday

American Legion Auxiliary members held their regular April meeting at the Vets Club Monday evening with 15 present.

Hostesses for Monday evening's meeting were Mrs. Larry Skokan, Mrs. Dorothy Parent, Mrs. Ethel Johnson, Mrs. Loren Ellis and Mrs. Harold Olson.

Mrs. Charles Sieckmann gave the legislative report in the absence of Mrs. Norbert Bruger, she also gave an Americanism report, reading excerpts from the article, "Anchor the Poppy in '76," taken from The National News.

It was announced that the local unit will make favors for the Providence Medical Center in July.

Brenda Wittig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Wittig, has been selected to represent Wayne at Girls State in Lincoln this June. Named as alternate to attend Girls State was Janet Bauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bauer.

On display Monday evening were various articles which the unit took to the District 111 convention, held March 14 at Pender. Items depicted modes of travel and included a canoe, covered wagon, stage coach, train, car, airplane and air missile. Centennial dolls also were a part of the display. Also taken to the convention were the unit's junior poppy corsage, centerpiece, publicity book, history book and prayer book.

Mrs. Eveline Thompson, past district president, gave a report on the district convention.

Three Showers Held

Bride-elect Sheryl Hansen of Norfolk has been honored with several bridal courtesies recently.

Miss Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Hansen of Winsler, and Fred Kalin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kalin of Coleridge, will be married May 1 at the Christ Lutheran Church in Winsler. The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Wayne High School.

April 4, Bonnie Hansen, Mrs. Calvin Reuter, Mrs. Marlin Reuter, Mrs. Ralph Schmidt, Mrs. Don Matthes and Mrs. Ron Hass, all of Winsler, hosted a miscellaneous shower at the Winsler Public Library basement. Assisting with the shower were Mrs. Mike Bates of Manning, Ia., and Mary Hansen of Randolph.

Fourth-five guests attended and decorations were in the bride's chosen colors of orchid, pink and green. The honoree's mother, poured Mrs. Clarence Kalin, mother of the groom, was at the punch bowl.

The bride's attendants, Bonnie Hansen, Mrs. Mike Bates and Barb Kerkman of Norfolk assisted with gifts.

A shower was held for Miss Hansen March 28 at Coleridge. Ninety-five guests attended the fete from Norfolk, Carroll, Laurel, Wayne, Coleridge, Harrington, Randolph, Winsler and Belton.

Decorations were in the bride's colors, Mrs. Abbie Kalin, the groom's grandmother, poured and Jackie Vock and.

The workshop, entitled "Hello-It's Me", was moderated by Allen O'Donnell, associate professor of social science, and students Linda Baddorf, Leann Schnell, and Paula Gabrukiewicz served as group leaders.

Get-acquainted activities and group dynamics games opened the workshop Friday night. These activities were followed by the film "The Heart is a Lonely Hunter."

Saturday morning featured the keynote speaker, Dr. Jim Roberts, professor of English and comparative literature at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He spoke to the students about the value of keeping an open mind and youthful outlook on life.

That morning students also participated in communication exercises and took turns exploring the Wayne State campus blindfolded. The afternoon session of the workshop was comprised of films and small group discussions dealing with the topic of parent-teen relations and friendship. The workshop was concluded with an evaluation by the students.

75 Students Enter Children's Theater Poster Competition

Seventy-five students from 12 schools entered the Children's Theater Poster Contest this year. Theme of the children's posters was "Young Ben Franklin's Fight for Freedom," which is the children's theatre production at Wayne State College ending Friday.

Decorations were in the bride's colors, Mrs. Abbie Kalin, the groom's grandmother, poured and Jackie Vock and.

Jones, Sharp Lead Trojans In No-Hitter

Brad Jones and Dean Sharp led the Trojans to their second win of the young season, a 15-2 trouncing of host Hooper-Logan View.

Jones went the first four innings of the game which was played in the fifth due to the 10-run rule. During his stint on the mound, Jones fanned five Logan View players and walked another five and gave up two runs on fielders choices in the third. Sharp finished off the game with one strike and a walk.

Wakefield bats wasted little time in stalking a quick lead. The Trojans scored 12 runs in the first three frames of the majority of the 10 hits.

Leading the hitters were center fielder Tim Rouse and left fielder Dan Byers who were two for two at the plate. The big hit of the day came in the opening frame when shortstop Mike Soderberg slammed a two-run triple that "got Wakefield off and running," said coach Joe Coble.

"We did a good job of bunching our hits together and we didn't strand too many people (on bases). You can tell that by the number of runs batted in we had," he added.

The Trojans collected a total of 10 RBIs, including two each by Jones, Soderberg and catcher Mike Gustafson.

The biggest adjustment Wakefield made Monday was in its defense. The hitters played perfect fielding, one area they had trouble in against their first opponent of the season, Bancroft.

Despite winning 9-7, Coble believes Bancroft may be even tougher when the two teams meet today (Thursday) at Bancroft. "Their pitching is better than it showed in the first game. Also, they're good competition. That's what we need."

Expected to be on the mound for Wakefield today will be Byers and Doug Carl, the same hurlers who faced Bancroft earlier.

Snagging Closed At Gavins Point

The area immediately below Gavins Point Dam is closed to snagging of game and non-game fish, according to John Schuckman, local conservation officer. The area closed includes the tailrace, stilling basin and the discharge channel from the toe of the dam downstream to the boat ramp on the south side, a distance of 3,500 feet. "The season on snagging of game and non-game fish on the remaining portion of the Missouri River continues through April 30," said Schuckman. "In other waters of the state are closed to snagging at all times." Schuckman reminds fishermen that any paddlefish caught must be counted in the bag.

Town Team Meet Is Monday

Men interested in playing on Wayne's town team are invited to attend an organizational meeting Monday night at 7:30 in Lee's Steak House. Manager Don Goeden said he wants to get an idea of how many players from both Wayne and the surrounding area who will be available to play summer ball in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League. The first of about an 18-game schedule is expected to start about mid-May.

WAKEFIELD'S Robin Mills breaks the tape to win the 420 yard and put her team in the running with Winside for first place in the eight team girls invitational at Wakefield.

Drouth Is Over for Trojans

Wakefield Grabs Invitational Title

Wakefield cindermen ended a three-year drouth Tuesday by winning its own eight-team invitational track meet in grand fashion. Powered by three first-place finishers in the field events, coach John Torczon's Trojans hung on to forge a four and a half point margin over its nearest rival, Emerson-Hubbard. The Trojans, who haven't won a major meet since 1970 when Wakefield grabbed the Class C district title, scored 97 points to outdistance Emerson with 92 1/2. Oakland-Craig with 85, Ponca with 84 1/2, Stanton with 79, Winside with 64, Lyons with 25 and Allen with two.

Nine meet records were broken and one was tied in the morning and afternoon meet which was blessed by mild temperatures. Trojan senior Scot Keagle grabbed one of those records with his jump of 6-4 in the high jump to place first. Keagle, who is believed to have the best mark in the high jump in Class C this year, also won the discus en route to scoring 32 of the team's points. Keagle tossed the plate 132-8 1/2. Also winning for Wakefield was Scott Mills with his leap of 40-2 in the triple jump. Oakland broke the majority of meet records when the Knights snapped all three relay times and defending Class C 100 yard runner, Roger Moderow, tied the meet record with a time of :10.

He also set another record in a running event. Winside, which finished sixth in the standings, was led by senior Dave Mann in the 880-yard run. Mann won that event with a time of 2:12. Also scoring points for Wakefield, Winside and Allen: Shot Put—2, Keagle, Wake, 43.3. Field Relay—5, Keagle, Wake, 43.3. See WAKEFIELD, page 6

Game Commission Accepting Deer Permit Requests

Regulations for Nebraska deer and antelope seasons were enacted by Game and Parks Commissioners at their regular monthly meeting in Lincoln. Deer permit applications will be accepted April 10 through May 10 from Nebraskans who did not have a firearm, deer permit last year, or from antelope hunters who did not have a firearm antelope permit last two years. A regulation change that rifle antelope hunters should be aware of is a three-year waiting period between permits for pronghorns beginning in 1977.

The regulations include a special late deer season on the DeSoto National Wildlife Refuge that will be open only to hunters using muzzle-loaders. The Commissioners authorized 100 DeSoto permits good for deer of either sex. Dates for the DeSoto season have not been set, but the hunt will not begin until the first Saturday following the close of the goose season in both Nebraska and Iowa. Permit numbers for both archery deer and archery antelope seasons in 1974 will not be limited, and the entire state will be open. Big game season dates are Aug. 20 to Sept. 24 and Oct. 4-30 for archery antelope; Sept. 25 to Oct. 3 for rifle antelope; Sept. 18 to Nov. 12.

Relay Wins Seal 1st For Wakefield Girls

Wakefield girls added their own bit of glory to their half of the eight-team invitational track meet Tuesday by winning the team title.

The win for coach Ernie Kovar's girls was the first major meet of the season and gave the Trojanettes sole ownership of the title after last year Wakefield and Pender share first place.

But Wakefield didn't have first place sewn up until the final events when the always tough Wakefield relay teams picked up three firsts.

After Wakefield's win in the 440 relay, second place Winside held a three point edge, 81 7/8. Then the Trojanettes turned the tide. Wakefield won with 110 points followed by Winside with 93, Oakland Craig with 52, Emerson Hubbard with 41, Allen with 37, Lyons with 26, Ponca with 26 and Stanton with 16.

On the winning 440 relay team were Lisa Paul, Angie Rouse, Mary Kober and Robin Mills. They ran the lap around the track in 53.8.

The 880 and mile relay teams posted times of 1:58.4 and 4:30.4 for their victories. On the 880 foursome were Cheryl Nelson, Paul, Rouse and Kober; on the mile team were Lori Kaufman, Kay Foule, Joy Bellier and Joy Myers.

Blue Devils Blank Eagles, 8-0

The Wayne Blue Devils opened their season Monday with an 8-0 blanking of visiting Allen as three Devil pitchers worked together to throw a cog hitter. Starting hurler Paul Mallette, who got the win, gave up the only hit of the afternoon when the Eagles' leadoff hitter, right fielder Brent Chase, singled.

Mallette went four innings, striking out seven and walking three. Second coach Mike Mallette put Dave Hix on the mound and later sophomore Vic Sharpe took over pitching duties. Hix and Sharpe each struck out three Allen players.

From the outset of the game, Allen looked as if it was going to give the Devils all they could handle. Following Chase's single, Eagle third baseman Charlie Ferguson advanced to first when he was hit by a pitched ball. With runners on first and second and no one out, left fielder Kevin Hohenstein hit a bouncing ball to Wayne first baseman Doug Carroll, who made a great double play to all but stop Allen's scoring threat.

Carroll picked up the ball three feet in front of first, turned around and fired the ball to second baseman Randy Park for the first out. Park then threw it back to Carroll for the Behind Mills is Winside's Sheryl Petersen. The relay win was the first of three which helped Wakefield overcome the Wildkittens in the final races of the day-long meet.

WS Baseball Schedule Stiffens Up Saturday

Wayne State's baseball schedule has been stiff. It's going to get more so, but a couple of crucial games this Saturday present the immediate problem, says coach Larry Schultz.

Conference rival Chadron State comes to Wayne for a noon doubleheader, and that likely spells trouble, as veteran Wildcat baseball people remember. Never mind what's already happened this season, with three Big Eight teams on the schedule, including Nebraska Wednesday.

A Nebraska College Conference match-up has not only pride as a factor, but season-end NAIA playoffs depend to some extent on the conference outcome.

Coach Schultz approaches the Chadron games with usual confidence in Wildcat defense, especially a solid pitching corps, which seldom gives up much.

However, consistent batting remains a goal to take advantage of stingy defense. At the University of South Dakota Monday, Wayne bats smacked the ball all over the field — "but right at people," Schultz observed. The Cats' out-threw the Coyotes, but lost the opener by 2-0 for lack of timely hits.

Jim Auck, junior who played high school ball at Burke High, pitched what Schultz called "an outstanding game," going all the way.

Roger Saul, junior from Wayne, started the nightcap, a bit shaky at first as South Dakota went ahead 3-0 in the second inning. After that, Saul blanked the Coyotes four innings and got win credit as his mates scored four runs in the sixth. Jim Kopceky relieved in the seventh and preserved the 4-3 victory.

Freshman second baseman Brian Poldberg drilled a two-run double in that seventh frame. The other two runs resulted from a twin error. The Coyote third baseman, fielding a Wayne hit, overthrew second base and the rightfielder muffed the errant ball. Wayne's batter scored with another runner ahead of him.

Schultz noted that Wayne encountered a typical problem at South Dakota — battling against the two best pitchers. That's been the story with nearly every Wayne opponent.

Sunday on the home diamond, Wayne split with Mayville State of North Dakota, losing the first game 3-1, then blitzing the Comets 10-0 on a no-hitter in five innings.

Bob DeVaul held Mayville hitless in his four-innings stint. Steve Russell was scheduled to finish the last three innings. As it turned out, the Wildcats scored six in the bottom of the fourth, for a 10-0 lead. Russell needed only to hold Mayville scorers in the fifth to end the game on the 10-run rule. He did that — and kept the Comets hitless too.

It was the second no-hitter in 18 years of Wayne baseball. DeVaul getting the win credit. Dennis Winger, first-game starter, went four innings, was charged with the loss. Bill Schultz finished on the mound.

The two splits left Wayne with a 6-8 record going into Wednesday's game with 8-13 Nebraska.

Athlete Of The Week

Jill Stenwall
Mark Kober
Scott Mills

Beginning in this issue, The Wayne Herald weekly will honor both the top male and female high school athletes from among the five area high schools.

The top selections this week as picked by the sports staff and coaches are three athletes, who participate in Track.

Wakfield's Scott Mills and Mark Kober and Winside's Jill Stenwall. All three last week were winners in the first week of prep track action for the two schools.

Mills won the triple jump and Kober took first in the 220 to pilot the Trojans to a tie-fifty-place showing Friday in the 23-team Class C Division of the Plains Invitational.

Wakfield's jump of 42.2 also set a school record which bettered the 41-4 held by Dave Scheel. Kober also was second in the 100 yard dash.

Winside's Stenwall started the season just about where she left off last year — breaking records. The senior, who won the shot put, discus as well as anchored a relay team, guided her team to first in a triangular.

Stenwall set a school record in the discus with a toss of 139-8, which is the second best throw ever in the state for girls.

Parents of the athletes are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stenwall of Winside, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mills and Mrs. Don Kober, all of Wakfield.

3 Relay Teams Lead WH Girls At Plainview

MIKE RIEDMANN

Wakfield's relay teams garnered two firsts and a third Saturday to power the girls track team to a fourth-place finish in the 11-team Class B Division of the Plainview Invitational.

The Trojanettes collected 55 points, about 12 points short of winner Plainview with 67. Atkinson-West Hill was second with 66 points followed by St. Edward with 62.

A win by Wakfield in the final relay, the 800, would have knocked Plainview out of the running for first place, said coach Ernie Kovar. But host Plainview got the quick step to take the event by a six-second spread over second-place West Hill and seven seconds better than Wakfield.

Running for Wakfield were Cheryl Nelson, Lisa Paul, Angie Rouse and Mary Kober. They finished in 2:00.6.

Although happy with his team's outcome, Kovar noted that to win major meets Wakfield needs other event winners.

Taking first for Wakfield were the mile relay foursome of Lori Kaufman, Kay Foote, Joy Beller and Joy Myers with a time of 4:49.8. In the 400, the Trojanettes got a first on the running of Nelson, Paul, Kober and Robin Mills. Their time was :56.6.

Other point winners for Wakfield and their events: Kerry Fischer, second in the 800 at 2:45.2; third in the mile at 4:28.4; Robin Mills, fourth in the 100 at :11.9, and fifth in the 200 at :29.3; Gloria Hansen, fourth in the mile; Mary Kober, fifth in the 80-yard hurdles at :13; Lori Kaufman, fifth in the 400; at 1:10.4; and Cindy Rouse, sixth in the discus at 85.4.

Softball, Baseball Practices Start Soon

Girls softball and boys baseball practices for city recreation leagues will be getting into full swing within the next week or two.

Weather permitting, practice for girls softball will start Saturday at the city ball diamond. All girls 12 years or older living in Wayne are invited to participate.

Girls in grades five and six will start practice at 1 p.m. and girls in seventh and eighth grades will hold their practice at 7:30, said recreation director Hank Overin. Practice dates for girls in high school will be announced later, Overin added.

LAST WEEK'S draft by one of the National Football League expansion teams, the Seattle Seahawks, left a favorable impression on the Seahawks newest team member, Wayne State graduate Stan Lewis.

The 6-4, 240-pound defensive end who was drafted last year by the Cleveland Browns before being placed on waivers and later grabbed by Seattle, believes that his new head coach Jack Patera made some good choices.

Patera was going after veteran defensive players to shore up a strong unit, Lewis pointed out. And from all appearances it looks like he might have a good defense when the season opens.

Stan feels that Patera was going after the good defensive linebackers and tacklers when he made his selections from the 39 veterans from each of the 26 other NFL teams. Among the linebackers are Ed Bradley of Pittsburgh, Mike Curtis of Baltimore and former University of Nebraska grad Ken Geddes, who played for Los Angeles.

As far as players who will be trying out for defensive end when training camp opens in mid July, Stan said he didn't have too much information on them. He added that he doesn't feel that he's being pushed out of a starting assignment. To mind what Stan thinks could be a respectable team in its first season, Seattle will have to make some good choices offensively during the draft of college seniors today (Thursday).

Stan, who is completing requirements for a degree in physical education at Wayne State this term, said he intends to leave for Seattle sometime in June. He's hoping to return to his alma mater for some brief visits during the off season.

WITH THE mushrooming of girl athletics this school year in area high schools, it seems only fitting that the Herald should expand its weekly Athlete of the Week honors to giving individual awards to female athletes in addition to male athletes.

In the past, the Herald has awarded only one honor to the person judged as the top recipient by the sports staff and his or her coach.

I held off giving dual awards during the fall and winter sports seasons because of the lack of interest by female athletes and their coaches to cooperate in giving me information needed about girls whom they feel deserve the honor. The response now hasn't been overwhelming, but it has

Wayne Golfers 3rd at Oakland

Wayne High golfers fired a 170 Monday to take second place in a triangular meet at Oakland, Cray.

Senior Tom Johansen led the Blue Devil quartet with a nine-hole total of 39 while 51 Prethe fired a 41, Roger Wacker 44 and Ritch Workman 46. Junior Norman Brown carried a 47 for the fifth man. His score wasn't used.

Host Oakland won the meet with a 163 and Tekamah-Herman had 200.

Wayne's reserve team topped the field for its first victory of the season. Dave Claussen and Doug Pierson led the foursome with 49 each while John Ley had a 50 and John Kealing had a 51. Also competing for Wayne were Bob Bornholt and Jay Stoltenberg with 52 and 56.

The reserves totaled a 199, three strokes better than Oakland with a 202. Tekamah didn't have enough players for a reserve team.

Junior High Girls Rip Plainview

Lynn Surber set a school record in the 880 yard run Monday with a time of 4:42 during Wayne's 107-13 dual win over host Plainview junior high.

Surber broke the time held by Lesa Barclay. Her record was 4:50 last year. Also breaking the 4:50 mark for Wayne was Ann Edmonds who placed second.

Wayne girls won all 13 events. Wayne boys fell 72-40. No results were available.

Wayne Man Wins $25 Bucks Prize

For the second week in a row, a winner in the weekly Birthday Bucks drawing was in Kuhn's Department Store when the winning birth date was announced.

Rich Eslick

Rich Eslick of Wayne, was shopping at Kuhn's last Thursday night when the winning date of June 26, 1953 was drawn by Wayne mayor Freeman Decker and announced at 8:15, in all participating Wayne businesses.

Because Eslick's birthday of June 4, 1953 was the closest to the winning date, he picked up a cool $25 in Birthday Bucks, which may be spent just like cash in any participating business.

Had his date matched the date drawn, he would have won $750. As a result, the grand prize will stay at $750 until some lucky shopper is able to match his birthday with the winning date drawn at random.

No purchases or registration are necessary to be a winner.

Vandals sometime Sunday night or early Monday morning damaged a window at Vel's Bakery, 309 Main, and a door glass belonging to First National Bank, 301 Main.

According to police reports, the damage was done by shots from a .38 Smith & Wesson. No dollar estimate of damage was given.

Vandals also were blamed for damage to a restroom at Victor Park on South Main. A screen around the toilet was damaged. No cost was reported.

Speech Entries Place in Finals At State Meet

Wayne High speech club members made their finals in two events Saturday in the state speech contest at Kearney.

Phil Koerber and Mike Schmidt placed fifth in duet acting with a scene from the play "Slough", which was presented in its entirety at Wayne High last fall.

Koerber and Schmidt plus Lori Lesh, Jo Tomridge and Lisa Tooker placed fourth in interpretation of drama with a cut from "Trial by Jury" by Frank Gilbert.

Both Wayne entries advanced to the final competition from among 50 class A schools by virtue of receiving superior ratings in the preliminary round of competition.

Both entries qualified for the state contest by receiving superior ratings March 19 in district competition.

Wayne Netmen Are Unbeaten

Wayne State stayed unbeaten in tennis Monday with a 5-4 decision over Concordia, following an 8-1 romp past Yankton Saturday, both played in Wayne. That made the Wildcats 3-0 and happy. They have not beaten Concordia, always a strong tennis power, since 1972.

Planning Commission Terms Will Expire

The Wayne County commissioners will be called upon to fill vacancies in two rural members of the county planning commission. The terms of William McQuistan and Lloyd Behmer will expire. The commissioners may either appoint new members or reappoint the incumbents.

Republicans Make Platform Proposals

Inflation is the number one problem of the nation. However, the national government is not the only one to blame, for inflation is government spending.

REPUBLICAN state central committee member Alan Cramer of Wayne, left, discusses agricultural proposals for the GOP platform with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Glassmeyer, rural Wayne, and a Stanton County Republican, right.

Murphy pointed out that the national government should not shoulder all the blame for inflation, referring back to Nebraska's income tax law which went into effect in 1969.

Thought for Today By Brian McBride "The basis of individual and national progress is the willingness to sacrifice the present for the future"

William Feather "It is a fundamental human trait to be self-indulgent. We all enjoy pampering ourselves. We are entitled to live's pleasures and right now...not next week or next year."

Those who are truly dedicated to achieving their goals will sacrifice today in the interest of a better tomorrow. Such people study, acquire capital, practice and prepare. The progress that will be made tomorrow will result from the self-denial and sacrifice that certain individuals are making today.

We are prepared to conduct perfectly appropriate services for all faiths, all creeds, all fraternal orders.

Board Hires New Counselor

Wayne High School guidance counselor Ken Carlson has announced his resignation from that post and the board of education Monday night approved the hiring of a replacement.

Carlson, presently guidance counselor in the Neligh school system, will fill the vacancy.

Carlson said that he will be moving to Lincoln to join his wife who is an X-ray technician in a private medical clinic there. He said he has no plans regarding employment at this time.

Frye, originally from Elk City, graduated from Bennington High. He received a bachelor of science degree in history and physical education in 1969 from Midland College at Fremont.

He taught history and coached in the Cody-Kilgore school system at Cody from 1969 to 1974. He was also involved in counseling there.

In September 1974 he received his masters degree in counseling from Chadron State College and has been guidance counselor at Neligh since then. Combined with his experience at Cody-Kilgore Frye has a total of five years' experience in counseling.

The school board formally accepted three other resignations in addition to Carlson's and was informed of retirement plans by two teachers.

benefits and results in a disincentive to work.

U.S. productivity-ranked compared to other nations has lost ground regularly in the last 10 years, he said. Policies must be set which eliminate programs which provide employment incentive.

"It's a monumental task," McCollister said. "But one which must be done. Now we lack the prime requisite — the attitude in Congress to do so."

Defense is the only area in which the senatorial hopeful favors increased spending. In fact, he said all federal expenditures should be frozen at their present levels for the next two years, except for defense spending and increases necessitated by higher interest costs on the national debt.

That should result in an increase of about four per cent annually in federal spending, while the Gross National Product and the government's revenue would increase by about 10 per cent. By freezing most areas of spending, Congress should arrive at a balanced budget within two years, McCollister said.

Car Theft—

Mrs. Sam Fuoss of Wayne, Miss Lowe was apprehended near Albion Friday after the car she was driving was involved in an accident.

Bond for the 18-year-old girl was set at $10,000. Associate county judge Luverna Hilton Tuesday said Miss Lowe had not yet posted bond and was still in custody in the Wayne County jail.

An attorney will be appointed to represent Miss Lowe. No date has been set for a preliminary hearing to determine if there is sufficient cause to bind her case over to be tried in district court.

Business notes.

Wayne Federal Savings and Loan Association president Mrs. John (Betty) Addison has been appointed to the committee on development for neighborhood and smaller city institutions of the U.S. League of Savings Associations.

Mrs. Addison, a Wayne Federal Savings and Loan director, has been appointed to the league's attorneys committee.

The league is a trade association for savings and loan businesses throughout the country.

Dean C. Pierson of Wayne, attended the midyear board of directors' meeting of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Agents (NAAMA) held Saturday and Sunday at the Houston Oaks Hotel.

As a national director representing the Nebraska Association, Pierson participated in voting on a group of resolutions submitted for the board's consideration. Some of the crucial topics were the insurance industry's current financial crisis, no-fault auto insurance, and regulatory reform.

NAAMA is an organization of more than 23,000 independent agents across the country who sell primarily property and casualty insurance.

Benefits totaling $14.5 million were paid to or for Nebraska policyholders by Aetna Life and Casualty in 1975.

The Aetna benefits total included $1.4 million in automobile claims, $6.6 million in other casualty and property claims, $2.4 million in life insurance and pension benefits and $4.1 million in health insurance benefits.

At year's end, Aetna investments in the state—including stocks, bonds, mortgage loans and real estate—totaled more than $51 million.

In addition, Aetna paid over $300,000 million in state and local taxes and more than $2.6 million in salaries and commissions to its Nebraska agents and employees. The company also paid out $37,000 in dividends to Nebraska shareholders.

Dean Eifson, formerly of Wayne, has been promoted to vice-president for sales at White Advertising International headquarters in Merrillville's Twin Towers.

Eifson, who now lives in Highland, will be responsible for training and supervising WAI salesmen in the northern part of the country.

A native of Wayne, he is a graduate of Wayne State College with a B.S. degree in business. He started with WAI in 1971 as a real estate representative for the Western Region in Ashland.

Students Receive UNL Honors

A number of local students were recognized for superior or high scholarship at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln 48th annual honors convocation Tuesday in the NU Coliseum.

Honored as superior scholars were Elaine Lynett Lundstrom, Wayne College of Arts and Science; Kathy McGhee, Allen College of Home Economics and Lee Dahl, Laurel, College of Dentistry.

Recognized for high scholarship was senior Pamela Nelson, Laurel, Teachers College.

Juniors included Dawn Carman and Lisa Lesh, both of Wayne College of Arts and Science, and Michael Nuss, Wayne Teachers College.

Ikes Get Help In Tree-Planting

Members of the Wayne Izaak Walton League chapter were scheduled to plant over 200 trees at their lake-site property Saturday with help from local Boy Scout and 4-H members.

The Ikes received 200 seedlings from the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission which they planned to plant in clusters on a five-acre plot on the north side of their 18-acre property.

About 50 seedlings each of Cedar, Ponderosa pine, Autumn olive and American plum were to be planted, along with some honey locust trees.

The seedlings are provided free of charge by the Game and Parks Commission to landowners who agree to plant the trees and care for them in an effort to provide increased habitat areas for wildlife.

Police Blotter

An air filter in a car owned by Julie Dowling, 215 Lincoln, was reported missing about noon Saturday.

Cars operated by Darren Probst, 103 S. Maple, and Steve Bottenstedt, 912 Logan, collided about 2 p.m. in the Amber Inn parking lot east of Wayne.

A car battery valued at $40 was reportedly taken about 1:30 a.m. Friday from a car owned by Diane Christensen, Pender, while parked on the south side of Carhart Lbr. Co. 105 Main.

A car driven by David Spooner, 1030 Lincoln, struck the rear end of a vehicle operated by Joan Ellingson, 608 Hitterst, on the 400 block of East Seventh about 4:45 p.m. Wednesday.

About two hours earlier Wednesday, cars operated by Terri Heltman, rural Schuyler, and Carl Pleitner, Norfolk, collided in Lee's Dairy Sweet parking lot.

A sink and toilet rack was damaged sometime before 12:30 p.m. Wednesday at Wayne's Vets Club. No dollar estimate was given.

WSC Students Assist Local Businessmen

Graduate student Doug Livermore and senior Terry Thorn, both of Wayne, were among eight Wayne State College students who recently received certificates of merit for participation in the Small Business Institute (SBI) program—co-sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration and Wayne State College.

The certificate recognizes the achievements of students who provide management counseling services in the business community, according to Dr. Neil Swanson, SBI coordinator.

The Wayne State SBI program, developed in 1972, is one of eleven such programs in Nebraska. The program utilizes senior and graduate business administration student teams under the tutelage of supervisors to provide personalized management counseling to small business.

"Everyone involved benefits from this type of program," noted Dr. Swanson. "The small business client benefits from sound, practical advice at no cost to him. The college provides a real community service, and the student learns to apply theory and concepts."

Vandals Damage Winside Light

The street light on the west edge of Winside at the junction of Highway 35 may not be replaced until fall of winter.

The town board Monday night voted to delay putting in a new light after vandals last week shot out the bulb, supposedly with a .22 caliber rifle, said village chairman Dallas Puls.

Last week's damage was the third time the light has been shot out since it was installed. Cost to replace it the first time was over $300.

Members learned during the meeting that grading of the nearly 12 blocks in town will begin this week for street paving. Central Sand and Gravel of Columbus is in charge of the project.

In other action, members: —Ordered repainting and fixing the women's restrooms in the village auditorium by members of the Winside Federated Women's Club. The village will pay for materials.

—Agreed to allow the Winside Bicentennial Committee to repaint the town's fire hydrants red, white and blue. The town will not pay for materials.

There are 251.6 persons per square mile living in Pennsylvania, making it the seventh most densely populated state in our nation—yet the third most populous.

Exon threatens $38 million cut from 'wild spending spree'

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN — Drawing the most attention this session of the Unicameral was the down-to-the-wire fight by Gov. J. J. Exon to prevail with his "hold the line" policy on taxes.

With the final decision resting in the hands of the lawmakers this week, Exon went so far as to say he could trim up to $38 million from the "wild-spending spree," a repeat phrase of previous sessions. Exon claimed the lawmakers were on.

But while all that was going on, there was a bill conceived of conflict that quietly made its way through the legislative process.

Dubbed a "non-controversial bill" in the legislature, the conflict that prompted it has been anything but quiet. The dispute, however, took place outside the Unicameral.

The Nebraska Public Power District decided to build a coal burning plant at Sierra and ran into immediate opposition from the Sierra Club. The club didn't want the air dirtied and land and water fouled.

Ross Rasmussen of Lincoln, better known as the official representative of the Nebraska School Boards Association, put on his thinking cap saying he enjoyed figuring out solutions to problems like that.

And, he came up with one that would up to LB 826.

North Platte Sen. Myron Rumery acted as the official floor sponsor.

That bill establishes a coal by-product research program that Dr. William Scheller, head of the University of Nebraska chemical engineering department, said is actually an updating of something Germany had in its technological books for years.

But simply, it is a move to base synthetic production on coal instead of the petroleum base the previously never-short United States chose.

Scheller said coal by-products, specifically the 40 per cent coal tar volume the Wyoming coal that will be burned at Sulphur, contains, can be turned into fertilizers, plastics, drugs and other chemicals to name a few. Even the ash has a use. In addition, the coke left behind after coal is burned actually has a more efficient ratio in burning than coal.

The whole idea, the chemical engineer said, is to pay for the price of the coal brought in through by-product sales. And, in the meantime, the air is clean and so is the rest of the environment.

Malpractice Bill Passes

Bellwood Sen. Loran Schmit had to battle to the last minute to get his medical malpractice insurance bill, LB 434, passed.

The last attack on the bill was a kill motion offered by Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha just before the lawmakers were scheduled to vote on whether to pass the bill.

Chambers, accusing the lawmakers of "knocking and bucking" under to the physician lobby, said the bill would become the source of ridicule for those who voted for it once their constituents found out what it contained.

Chambers said the legislation, for one thing, placed an unconstitutional barrier between the patient injured due to physician negligence and the courts in the form of a three doctor review panel. Each malpractice complaint must go before the panel before it goes to court.

Backers of the bill claim the provision was designed to weed out the "irivolous" complaints.

Chambers had his kill motion rejected 34 and the senators went on to pass the bill on a 42-42 vote.

Gas Tax Hike Approved

Other bills passed during the final days of the session included one to hike the state gasoline tax from 8.5 cents a gallon to 9.5 cents.

The increase was to be used to offset inflation-imposed shrinkage in state and local revenues for road construction and maintenance. The revenue to be derived was pegged at $9.5 million.

Also passed was a bill to replace Nebraska's involuntary mental health commitment law struck down in part as unconstitutional by the courts.

That measure would, in short, require a person to be determined dangerous before he or she could be committed to a mental institution without consent. The measure also establishes procedures designed to protect constitutional rights.

Omaha Sen. John Cavanaugh has been objected for some time to the lack of private citizen controls and government surveillance over sanitary improvement districts.

"His bill to provide those controls and monitoring has been approved by the Unicameral including the voting requirements for district boards and county recording of boundaries, finances and plans.

Cavanaugh has contacted a major problem in the past was that a property buyer may or may not find out immediately whether the way was a district. Under his bill, that would show up in an abstract of a deed.

Patients Robbed

Government regulations, are designed to help. But a group of 25 hospitals say different.

"It's a federal rip-off of non-Medicare, non-welfare patients," said Donald Hendee, Sidney hospital administrator, referring to federal regulations which he claimed are robbing those able to pay their own hospital bills of about $2.5 million.

Hendee said the problem is one experienced by hospitals which also offer nursing home care.

He said those regulations force the hospital to average out costs between acute care and nursing home care so that when a Medicare or welfare patient is treated in the acute care unit the other patients who have the finances to pick up their own tab must also pay a share of the bill for those who do not.

Hendee and officials from the other 24 hospitals in the same fix have formed a special committee to try and do something about it. He said at one point the problem was referred to an unnamed congressman and the response was disbelieving. He said the group then turned to the state and the response was a press release from the administration which said there was no problem.

But he and the committee decided to release some figures even though all concerned said they fully realized a paying patient could use the information and go to court to end the subsidy.

Sidney Memorial last year lost $101,000 in its hospital operation, Garden County at Oshkosh lost $27,115, Aurora Memorial, $49,938; Henderson Community, $42,560; Valley County, Ord, $59,627; Burwell Community, $17,688; Gothenburg Memorial, $45,567; and the list goes on until $2.5 million is tallied.

"It isn't fair that these patients should carry the extra burden," Hendee said. "But the alternative is to close down. He noted Cotard made that choice and he said he couldn't blame anyone for closing. But at the same time he said that kind of decision only hurts the community in other ways because some may be left short of nursing home space.

Hendee said the hospitals considered going to court themselves. But then they found out it would cost them $250,000 which would only be heaped on the paying patient too if they lost.

"There's got to be another way to do it, but I don't know how right at this moment," he said.

OBSERVATIONS

A poor nights work

Spring is a lovely time — a time for reawakening the spirit when many of us experience a need to release all that excess energy built up through the winter months.

Some, unfortunately, choose to release that energy and express their exuberance in other than constructive ways.

Take for example the vandalism done to the restrooms in Henry Victor Park last weekend. Police report partitions in the men's restroom were destroyed and will have to be replaced.

More extensive damage was probably prevented because of the durability of the fixtures installed.

We don't seriously contend that the Solon salary hike called fair

By all the standards of logic and fair ness, the voters of Nebraska at this year's general election in November should approve a resolution amending the constitution to increase the compensation of members of the Nebraska Legislature.

The present $400 per month approved by a constitutional amendment by the voters in 1968 was inadequate at that time and now after six years of inflation it is ridiculous. In 1974, the voters by a margin of 162,364 to 141,205 turned down an increase similar to this year's proposal. In 1970 they rejected a constitutional amendment to establish a commission to set legislative salaries and in 1972 rejected a proposal that would have authorized senators to set their own salaries by legislation.

LB 797 originally proposed that the salaries of the legislators be set at what constituted the median family income as determined by government statistics which would have permitted the compensation to float with the economy. Veterans have expressed a healthy distrust of formulas and wouldn't have a chance with the voters, and the $425 per month figure was amended into the bill on the basis that while probably too low, it would be more likely to win voter approval and give some relief to a worsening situation.

Even at $8,100 per year, service in the Legislature will remain a financially losing proposition for most of the state senators. At the present $4,800 per year it's a drain on their resources that only the affluent can afford. The expense of apartments, hotel rooms and meals for what amounts to a three month stay in Lincoln in even numbered years and a five month sojourn in the capital city in odd numbered 90 day session years represents thousands of dollars out of the pockets of the majority of the outstate senators. For those who are close enough to drive back and forth from their home communities, such as the Omaha senators do, the investment in transportation in all kinds of weather can't help being a tremendous burden.

Outstate senators usually travel hundreds of miles to their homes over the weekends to look after their business and family interests and spend time conferring with their constituents. The state constitution limits their transportation expenses to just one round trip for each regular session and each special session. If a senator didn't get back in his district fairly regularly, his constituents would be screaming that he was ignoring and losing touch with them — but those trips home are at his expense.

Service in the Legislature under the present compensation from a practical standpoint becomes limited to those with the financial resources to stand such expenditures. Most younger men and women cannot afford to leave their farms, businesses and occupations to provide such public service for months each year.

Why do people seek the office of a compensation figure that they would laugh at if offered in the private business world? There is prestige and personal satisfaction in being a state senator. The few younger people who seek the office often have their eyes on political careers that will be more financially rewarding. It should be noted that a number of senators in 1974 and again this year did not seek reelection and were frank in saying that they had to get back to making money for themselves and their family obligations.

This is unfortunate. Good legislation requires good balance in the type of senators serving.

Nebraska taxpayers should not expect a cheap ride by electing only the rich and retired who are willing to subsidize their offices. Quality and leadership in the Nebraska Unicameral are going to suffer badly unless the voters recognize this LB 797, proposes a very modest compensation that is many years overdue. — M. M. VanKirk, former Bureau Federation.

Unemployment a heavy burden

Beginning this month (April) some 31,000 Nebraska employers will start paying more for their unemployment insurance fund because of the declining economy have been high.

The State Labor Department said in January that without the increase, the fund will be $12 million in the hole by the end of this year.

With the increase is, it hits businesses with histories of few or no lay-offs as well as those with a high lay-off rate.

The amount each business pays in is based on its "experience rate" which in turn is based on its record of lay-offs.

Employers are required to maintain an unemployment insurance account a percentage of their payroll average for the past four years. Only the first, $4,200 in annual pay for any individual employee is counted.

The experience rate ranges from a minimum of 0.1 per cent on the current payroll, which the employer must pay in each year, to a maximum of 2.7 per cent. As the incidence of lay-offs increases for a company and its unemployment insurance account is depleted, the experience rate goes up.

That's how it is supposed to work at least. Now, small businesses with good records regarding lay-offs are finding the percentage they must pay in taking

LETTERS

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786

Leshner: Has EPA been misleading us?

What if a scientist holding a key position in a powerful federal agency began to question the scientific basis of some of the important decisions are based? According to the Los Angeles Times, that appears to have happened at the Environmental Protection Agency.

The issue is the degree to which air pollution from sulfur bearing fuels threatens human health.

The Times' story charges that a high official in EPA's research arm — Rewrote the work of agency scientists, often deleting what the researchers felt were important qualifiers on experimental results.

Deleted material from the reports that did not show a connection between sulfur pollution and adverse health effects.

Screened statistical analyses to downplay evidence tending to weaken or contradict the case against pollution; and Overrode agency scientists' objections to publishing estimates of the health impact of pollution which were either statistically dubious or unsupported.

Shouldn't we err on the side of caution in such matters? This is essentially what the official is quoted as saying in his own defense.

The answer is "yes." We should err on the side of caution where human health is concerned. But the decision on where to draw the lines ought to be made on the best available data about the degree of risk. A satisfying data is not "erring on the side of caution."

Pollution is a two edged sword in excessive amounts, it damages both health and property. But needlessly stringent pollution control efforts can also have harmful effects.

For example, in order to meet proposed EPA standards on the burning of high-sulfur coal, the nation's electric power utilities may have to install antipollution equipment costing $11 billion. And the equipment itself creates a solid waste disposal problem in the process of solving the air pollution problem.

Have no illusions. Ultimately, the consumers electricity will have to pay that bill, if it comes due. There's nowhere else to get the money.

Even $11 billion is not too much to pay to safeguard health. But it is much too much to pay because a key individual in a critical government post is carrying on a crusade for a degree of environmental purity that has little to do with the evidence of real hazards.

The irony of it is that such extremism almost invariably hurts the cause that evokes it. If the Time is proved correct, many honorable, dedicated scientists in the environmental movement — both within and without EPA — will suffer an unearned loss of credibility.

Are the charges correct? I don't know. But the evidence presented by the Times deserves a full and public investigation. I have written President Ford urging him to conduct one. We have all seen the tragic consequences of trying to sweep such disclosures under the rug. Richard Leshner, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Estate tax issue growing

Things are looking up for those who would take some of the sting out of death. Estate tax revision is fast becoming an election-year issue and friends of the family farm can only hope that's a factor in their favor.

President Ford's popularity on the campaign trail has been on the rise ever since he came out of Illinois for boosting the federal exemption to $150,000 from $60,000. The Wall Street Journal called it the "most popular and correct tax proposal he has made during his administration."

The Journal is delighted not solely for the sake of helping families hang on to a farm rather than sell it to pay death taxes. After all, the tax revision would benefit anyone — farmer, laborer, businessman — who aspires to leaving an estate to loved ones. Indeed, the Journal likes Oklahoma Senator Bartlett's call for a $400,000 exemption even better.

The present $150,000 figure, of course, is ridiculous. Inflation has made it so. Estate taxes weren't much of a problem to farmers until a few years ago. Most farmers were not worth $60,000 when that writer wrote in 1942. A USDA economist has estimated the average value of farm assets in the U.S. was only $51,440 as recently as 1960. By 1974 that average had reached nearly $170,000. Today a typical estate is well over $300,000.

Scouts appreciate paper drive support

Dear Editor:

Thanks to the people in Wayne, Carroll and Winnsboro for their excellent support of our paper drive conducted March 27-31. —Members of Wayne Boy Scout Troop 174.

AFS says 'thanks'

Dear Editor:

The Wayne chapter of the American Field Service wishes to thank all the members of the community who contributed to the success of the fund-raising salad supper.

We appreciated the publicity provided by the Wayne Herald and KTCH radio. The entertainment provided by the scout groups added to everyone's enjoyment. We particularly wish to thank all those who took the time to prepare the many delicious and colorful salads that graced the table.

Bringing a foreign exchange student to the Wayne Carroll school is a community endeavor and we urge all groups to invite the student to share his experiences in international living. —Margaret Lundstrom, secretary.

Meat Board: Don't Call It 'Swine Flu'

The National Live Stock and Meat Board has asked various government agencies and private medical groups to take immediate action in assuring the American public that both pigs and pork are neither the cause nor focus of medical concern regarding potential influenza outbreaks.

The Meat Board also requested that the groups discontinue use of the word "swine" in identifying the influenza virus which is being reported as a major health concern in this country.

"Since the influenza danger is a human-to-human problem and does not really involve hogs or pigs, we feel the term 'swine influenza' is a misnomer and could have a negative impact on the pork industry," stated David Stroud, Meat Board president.

The board's director of news service Richard Smith said the contacts were being made with the U.S. Public Health Service offices including the Center for Disease Control. Additionally, other offices of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare plus U.S. Department of Agriculture are being alerted by the Meat Board.

Physicians will largely be reached through efforts to have the American Medical Association spread the word, Smith said, in addition to asking the American Veterinary Medical Association to contact animal practitioners. He noted that the Meat Board has developed a compendium of information and data on the so-called 'swine virus.' He said the Meat Board also is working with the media to clarify any possible public misunderstanding regarding the term 'swine' influenza.

He said a number of authorities in the fields of human medicine and veterinary science have assured the Meat Board that —Medical concerns center on human to human air borne transmission of the influenza virus, not swine to human.

Sen. Church Calls for Forage Crop Research

Senator Frank Church has called for increased funding for USDA research on forage crops. In a letter to Sen. Gale McGee, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Appropriations Subcommittee, Church noted that at present only some three per cent of the USDA research budget goes for research on grasses and legumes.

"As you know," Church said, "about 60 per cent of the feed units fed to livestock in the U.S. are supplied by grasses and legumes. Because of the fibrous nature of these plants, they cannot be directly consumed by humans, but are easily broken down in the stomachs of ruminant animals — chiefly cattle and sheep. Through this process, some 25 to 30 per cent of the typical American's diet is directly based on forage crops."

Church said to date only limited research on forage crops has been undertaken. "Consequently, relatively little is known about the genetic structure of most important forage species. Until such genetic information is available, progress in improving forage is likely to be slow," he said.

In an earlier speech on the floor of the Senate, the senator candidate said, "all indications point to continued increases in the demand for exported grain. If this holds true, less grain will be available for ruminant livestock. Thus live stock will be increasingly dependent on forages. It can also be expected that farmers growing grasses and legumes will be under pressure to grow more forage, to produce forage of a better quality, and to utilize forage crops more efficiently."

WAYNE COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

We are all familiar with branding cattle, but have you ever heard of grain being branded?

All of the above names are tractors and complete test information on them is available in the bulletin Nebraska Tractor Test Data 1976 available free from the extension office.

Good broomgrass pasture management requires that a continuously grazed pasture be stocked so that no more than 40 to 60 per cent of each year's growth is used. Continuous overgrazing of pasture will result in an unprofitable program. If a rotation pasture program is followed, each lot should be stocked and grazed to remove most of the broomgrass.

USDA Confiscates Mislabeled Seed

One of the most effective actions under the Federal Seed Act is the seizure of seed that is allegedly mislabeled according to the Department of Agriculture. A case of this nature occurred in the middle of 1975 and was not completed until late in January 1976, illustrates how a seed seizure action protects buyers.

The case involved 2,100 bags of soybean seed destined for a firm in Mexico. The seed was labeled as the "Jupiter" variety, a variety of soybean recommended for production around Tampico, Mexico. Information that the seed was not the "Jupiter" variety was first determined by the Texas Department of Agriculture in June 1975. Texas seed officials stopped sale of the seed and asked the USDA for seizure action under the Federal Seed Act.

In December 1975, one of the firms involved in shipping the seed entered into an agreement with the consent of the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Texas. The seed was condemned and released under bond to the shipper for diversion into feed or manufacturing uses. A month later the seed was reshipped to California where it was eventually processed into soybean oil.

Conversion into feed or for manufacturing uses is not always the fate of seed seized under the Federal Seed Act. In another case involving a Nebraska firm, the sale of 26 bags of soybean seed was stopped by the Kansas State Board of Agriculture. The seed was labeled to show a germination rate of 89 per cent, but was found to have a germination rate of 78 per cent.

Once again, Federal Seed Act officials with the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) stepped in at the request of state officials. The case was referred to the U.S. District Court of Kansas in a decree of condemnation in mid-January, the court ordered the seed destroyed.

Oral Vaccine Now Ready for Calf Scours

An oral vaccine now is available to combat two types of calf scours during the 1976 calving season, said Charles Mebus, veterinary science professor at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Scourvax II prevents two of the most common forms of calf scours during the 1976 calving season. Both viruses occur commonly during the first two weeks of a calf's life but do not respond to antibacterial drugs.

"The scours virus was isolated by NU around 1971," Mebus said. "Since that time, Norden Laboratories has conducted field tests and obtained licensing for the release of the vaccine last month."

Mebus said the development of a scours vaccine has been a cooperative effort between NU and Norden Laboratories of Lincoln. An earlier vaccine, Scourvax-1, was especially formulated in 1973 to combat rotavirus scours. Both Scourvax-1 and Scourvax II are given orally as soon as possible after the calf is born.

Mebus said both rotavirus and coronavirus are widely distributed in the U.S. and Canada. He said he is optimistic, however, that Scourvax II will be successful in preventing both types of calf scours.

Harvestore Times

Many people in today's society are concerned with the ecological problem of feedlot runoff. Some local area farmers have come under scrutiny of the Department of Environmental Control, whose job it is to clean up our local creeks and streams. Area farmers have been told to stop polluting our streams or stop raising livestock.

Harvestore has a design for positive control of waste runoff, the HARVESTORE SLURRY STORE. You can control your waste, and as an added benefit, provide good fertilizer for your land. The HARVESTORE SLURRY STORE has been approved by the D.E.C. as a method of solving your runoff problem.

Contact me for details regarding the SLURRY STORE and its applications.

Call me for more information as I would welcome the opportunity to help you with your Manure Handling Problems, and assist you in turning this "aged" problem into a PROFIT for your operation.

Tornado Season Calls for Advance Planning

Nature's most concentrated, devastating and potentially deadly winds are those resulting from tornadoes. Nebraskans can expect to experience 30 or more tornadoes this year during the peak danger months of April through July, with more than half that number expected to occur in the eastern third of the state.

The potential for injury or property damage in Wayne County is great enough that individuals and communities should establish tornado planning measures to insure adequate warning and protective procedures.

Tornadoes can occur at any hour of the day or night, but are most likely to occur in mid-afternoon, generally between 3 and 6 p.m. Twisters are formed by severe thunderstorm cells which can occur either singly or in combination. Thunderstorms and tornadoes are associated with cold, dry air moving rapidly over warm, moist surface air. Tornadoes generally start as rotating, funnel-shaped clouds building downward from a thunderstorm cloud.

Thunderstorms also pose other hazards. Lightning is the worst killer, and flash flooding is always a threat during extremely heavy rainfall.

Wayne County Civil Defense director Pat Halley, offers these suggestions for safety during dangerous weather conditions:

— When lightning is prevalent, stay indoors and away from electrical appliances. If caught outdoors, stay away from and lower than the nearest high conductive object. Dismount from tractors, which are often struck by lightning in open fields.

— Thunderstorms are frequently accompanied by heavy rainfall which may cause flash flooding. Be careful in seeking shelter, and be prepared to evacuate home or place of work in the event of high water.

— Hall and heavy straight winds sometimes accompany severe thunderstorms. If outside, seek protection indoors until hall and winds subside. The strongest winds often occur with the initial onset of a severe thunderstorm.

— A tornado watch occurs when weather conditions are favorable for the formation of tornadoes over a wide area, and generally are in effect for several hours or until weather conditions change.

A tornado watch tells people to continue with their business, but to keep an eye on the sky and in touch with weather bulletins issued over the radio or television.

— Tornado warnings are issued for much smaller areas and periods of time than watches, and indicate an actual sighting or an indication by radar of a specific threat, and urges persons in the danger path to prepare to take immediate cover for safety.

The Civil Defense director offers these safety rules, which could mean the difference between life and death in the event of a tornado or other violent weather:

— In homes take shelter in the basement in the center, under heavy furniture. In homes without basements get under heavy furniture in the center of the house.

— In schools which have adopted advance plans for such events, move quickly to shelter areas or to an interior hallway on the lowest level of the building. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums or other structures with silepspan roofs.

— In office buildings proceed to an interior hallway on the lowest floor, or go to a designated shelter area.

— In shopping centers and stores, move to a designated shelter area. Do not remain in parked cars.

— Mobile homes are particularly vulnerable to damage from strong winds and should be evacuated when strong winds are forecasted. Damage to structures can be minimized by securing mobile homes with cable tie-down devices. If no designated shelter is near a mobile home park, leave the area and seek low, protected ground.

— In open country move away from a tornado's path at a right angle. If there isn't enough time to escape the storm, lie flat in the nearest depression (such as roadside ditch) with hands covering the head.

— During a severe thunderstorm or tornado emergency, listen for radio and television broadcasts of latest National Weather Service bulletins.

— Always stay away from windows during high winds and tornadoes. Death or severe injury can result from wind-blown debris. When possible, wear protective headgear.

Laurel Makes Plans for Its Bicentennial

A band concert, horse show, parade and water fights are just some of the activities which will highlight the Bicentennial celebration in Laurel on July 23 and 24.

In addition to the activities, members of the Bicentennial committee also decided during their March 19th meeting to hold an ice cream social, baseball game, fireworks display and special dedication of the city park.

Earlier last month, Laurel was named a Bicentennial community and received a Bicentennial flag and plaque during ceremonies at the high school auditorium.

Following the advancement of the colors by Laurel American Legion Post 54, Laurel mayor Morlin Swanson welcomed the audience. Addressing the gathering was Cedar County Bicentennial chairman the Rev. Robert Neu of Colebrook, who talked about the nation's upcoming 200th birthday.

After the presentation of several songs by the Laurel High stage band, and a musical, "The Colonies Fight for Independence," by elementary and junior high students, the Rev. Neu presented Laurel with its own Bicentennial flag.

During the ceremony, Mrs. Blanche Sauser and Mrs. Freda Swanson presented a Bicentennial birthday cake baked by the Laurel Thrifty Home Extension Club.

'Dairy Industry Adds $14 Billion to Economy'

Dairymen in the United States contribute nearly $14 billion annually to the American economy, according to a film "The Day Milk Was Turned Off," presented by Gaylin Hartman.

Wayne Kiwanis Club Monday last week at Mike's Tavern have been able to contribute more to the economy mainly through the efforts of American Milk Producers Inc.

Hartman, who is manager of the Laurel court, said the need for more bargaining power in the market was the principal reason for a lot of dairymen forming AMPI in 1959.

Originally started in Texas, AMPI coops are located in 21 states across America, with about 30,000 members.

During Monday's meeting, club president Dan Sherry told members that the club was awarded an emblem for its 100 per cent participation in donating $1 for each member to the International Kiwanis fund for testing of hearing in children.
