

Laurel Housing Project Is Nearing Completion

A project undertaken to provide additional housing in Laurel is nearing completion, according to Laurel Housing Authority (LHA) chairman Rick Alkins.

The LHA was formed about a year ago to provide additional housing for the community. "It's just like any other development corporation," Alkins said of the 60-member LHA. "Except that it is a non-profit organization."

The project nearing completion is an eight-unit apartment complex on First St. in Laurel, including four 2-bedroom apartments and four 1-bedroom apartments.

Financing for the project was made available through a Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) 50-year loan. Terms of the loan establish a floor price for rent and utilities as well as a fair market value for occupancy. Renters must have sufficient income to pay the minimum for rent and utilities. Higher income renters will pay more in rent, reducing the FmHA rent subsidy. Renters with sufficient income on the FmHA scale will pay the full market value.

Workers for Otte Construction of Wayne are now finishing work on the inside of the apartments, Alkins said, estimating that the project, which began in November, is about 85 per cent complete.

Directors for the project are John McCorkindale, A.J. Mallett, Elmer Munter and Dale Gowers.

Crop Season Ahead of Normal

The 1976 growing season is well ahead of normal according to weather records at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station near Concord.

A summary on April 12 showed soil temperature at two-inch depth was 53 degrees F. for the seven day average. This is about 6 degrees above normal for this date.

Accumulated growing degree days (GDD) for cool season crops was 221 on April 12. In a normal year this number would be accumulated on April 27, which means the season is two weeks ahead of normal.

Precipitation from March 1 to April 12, at the Northeast Station has been 3.25 inches compared with the normal 2.06 inches for this period.

Cal Ward, district director, reports that Northeast Station personnel will do a weekly accumulation on growing degree days and rainfall throughout the season and will keep daily soil temperatures through the planting season.

Normals for each week have been summarized and charted on the inside of the horticulture department in Lincoln to provide a comparison with the current situation.

Ward said the concept of growing degree days is being used more frequently to predict stages of development of crops and insects. Because plants do not grow at a temperature below a specific base for each plant and because rate of growth increases as the temperature increases above this base, the GDD is more closely related to development than time alone.

Growth patterns for three corn hybrids have been calibrated with the growing degree days and this concept can be used to See SEASON page 8

Human Resource Group Plans First Meeting

The first meeting of a local human resources committee being formed to serve the Wayne area will take place Monday morning, April 26, at the Cornhusker Cafe in Wayne.

The 7:30 meeting is being called by Mrs. Linda Baddorf, chairman for the committee. She was named to head the committee March 29 during a seminar at Wayne State College.

Persons attending that meeting agreed that a human resources committee should be formed to determine what services are available in the Wayne area to deal with the problem.

Mrs. Baddorf, a sociology student at WSC, is working as an intern with the Family Health Services office in Wayne.

Letters have been sent to persons who attended the child abuse meeting and expressed an interest in the committee. Mrs. Baddorf said. In addition, she said, anyone interested in the human resources committee is welcome to attend the organizational meeting.

Herbicide Heist Total Is $5,000

About $5,000 worth of liquid herbicide chemicals were taken in a break in at the Farmer's Cooperative Elevator Co. at Allen last week.

The theft was discovered around 6 a.m. Tuesday.

Treflan, Roundup and Tolban brand-name herbicides in quart, gallon and five-gallon containers was taken. Included are 312 quarts, 17 gallon and 16 five-gallon containers.

District County sheriff Dean Chase said entry to the storage area was gained by forcing two doors on the north side of the main elevator.

4-H Dairy and Beef Camps Scheduled

Northeast Nebraska 4-H'ers will have an opportunity to sharpen their skills at two livestock camps, district youth specialist Roy Stohler announced.

A 4-H dairy camp will begin at 5 p.m. Friday and will close at 3 p.m. Saturday, at the Pierce County fairgrounds at Pierce.

The dairy camp is open to all 4-H members, 12 years old and older, enrolled in dairy projects.

A beef camp will begin April 30 and May 1 is open to all 4-H members enrolled in beef projects, regardless of age.

The beef camp will begin at 5 p.m. April 30 and will end at 3 p.m. May 1. The beef camp will also be at the Pierce County fairgrounds.

Each camp will cost $3. Pre-registration is required and can be completed by contacting the county agricultural extension agent.

Both camps are open to 4-Hers from the following counties: Antelope, Boyd, Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Holt, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, Thurston, and Wayne.

'75 Chest' $1,000 Short of Goal

Just over $11,600 has been collected thus far for the 1975 Wayne Community Chest fund drive, the board of directors learned during the annual report Thursday.

The total amount, $11,649.95, was about a $1,000 short of the $12,700 goal members set out to meet last fall, according to secretary Marilyn Carhart.

After naming a new board member and the board president and vice president for 1976, the board voted to distribute a total of $10,764 to nine different agencies according to percentages agreed upon earlier.

Wayne's recreation program—one which provides everything from flag football for youngsters to basketball for adults—is the primary beneficiary of the funds. The program will receive $2,760. Other programs and the amounts they will receive: Boy Scouts, $2,300; Girl Scouts, $2,700; Salvation Army, $1,288; Wayne Senior Citizens Center, $644; Arthritis Foundation, $444; Red Cross, $440; Cystic Fibrosis, $276; and Florence Critton Home in Sioux City for

Contingent To Attend Library Meeting

A number of Wayne citizens have accepted invitations to participate in the Nebraska Governor's Conference on Library Services April 27-28 in Lincoln.

Included in the Wayne contingent are Mrs. Eldon Bull, Charlene Rasmussen, Charles Stell ing, Kathleen Tooker, Francis Haun and Lyle Seymour.

The conference purpose is to learn from Nebraska citizens what library services they need and desire and to ask their cooperation in helping Nebraska librarians meet these needs. The theme chosen for the Conference is "The Citizen Challenge." If the Nebraska citizens meet this challenge and voice their opinions about library service, the goals of the conference may be accomplished.

Among the goals of the conference are the involvement of the citizens in the design of Nebraska's long range plan for library development, to create a better understanding of the need for coordinated library services on the local, state, and national levels and to formulate programs of action for the improvement and support of library services. Another purpose of the conference is to further knowledge of the strengths and weaknesses of Nebraska's libraries through assessment by the citizens.

Since this conference is to be primarily a citizens' meeting, representation from the library profession will be limited. At least 75 per cent of the participants of the conference will be representatives from statewide organizations; leaders in the fields of education, government, business, labor, industry, agriculture, the professions; ethnic groups; and student leadership from schools, colleges and universities.

Local goals and actions by citizens and organizations will be formulated by regional follow-up meetings later in the year.

For more information contact Governor's Conference on Library Services, Box 80045, Lincoln, Nebraska 68508

Anyone else interested may attend the conference as an observer.

High Winds Cause Extensive Damage

Winds gusting as high as 78 miles per hour ripped across the eastern portion of Nebraska Friday, causing widespread damage to farm structures.

Complete damage reports had not been compiled at press time Saturday but a tour of rural roads in Wayne County indicated that destruction to farm buildings was extensive.

A 40 by 80 foot pole and corrugated steel machine shed belonging to Willis Meyer, five miles south and three and four-fifths miles east of Wayne was uprooted by the wind and left upside down in the branches of a windbreak just north of the building's location, with support posts reaching above the tree line into the air.

Meyer said he watched as the winds literally turned the $10,000 structure upside down.

Gerald Knesche's farm, six miles south and four miles west of Wayne also sustained a major loss as the wind ripped away the upper structure of a $24,000, 40 by 112 foot hog confinement building, completed earlier this year.

Wayne insurance agents Friday afternoon said numerous accidents of roof and television antenna damage had been reported, along with the loss of a number of farm outbuildings.

Wayne County Public Power manager Cal Comstock said linemen reported considerable damage to a number of farm buildings in the county, including the destruction of four machine sheds similar to Meyer's.

Comstock said wind damage was responsible for the loss of electric power to a number of individual customers but no major power lines were knocked down.

Power was lost in the eastern part of Wayne about noon Friday when the wind ripped the roof off a building and smashed it into a primary power line. The line was not knocked down but a resulting short circuit caused a 20-minute power outage, according to night plant superintendent Bill Miller.

The building is a pole and corrugated steel structure located in the old state maintenance yards on Nebraska St. The Carhart Lumber Company has purchased the building from the city but will not take possession until May 1.

Other evidence of the wind damage could be observed Friday afternoon. Loss of shingles was common and metal sheeting on the Wayne Grain and Feed elevator at 200 S. Logan could be seen flapping as the wind tried to tear it loose.

The sustained high winds were caused by an unusual combination of factors, the National Weather Service office in Norfolk said.

An intense low pressure area over northeast Colorado moved north-northeast over western Nebraska into south-central South Dakota.

At the same time, a cold front in Nebraska located west of the Norfolk area moved east-northwest into western Iowa, with a squall line forming in front of the cold front.

Influenced by the low pressure system, a high pressure system over the eastern Atlantic coastal area moved in to fill the void created and produced the strong, sustained winds.

A spokesman for the Norfolk office said a special warning was issued Friday morning but the weather service did not anticipate the duration of the high winds.

A peak gust of 78 miles per hour was recorded at the Norfolk airport. There is no station in Wayne County which reports wind velocity to the Norfolk weather office.

Sustained wind velocity averaged 40-60 miles per hour, an unusually high sustained wind speed, the spokesman said.

WINDS GUSTING as high as 78 miles per hour and with a sustained velocity of from 40 to 60 miles an hour caused extensive damage to buildings in northeastern Nebraska Friday. Wayne County losses included a 40 by 112 foot hog confinement building belonging to Gerald Knesche (top) and a 40 by 80 foot pole and corrugated steel machine shed belonging to Willis Meyer. Meyer said the wind literally uprooted the 40 by 80 foot building, dumping it into a windbreak.

2 Charged With Assault and Battery

Charges of assault and battery were filed against two Thurston County men Thursday morning following an incident Wednesday afternoon at Wayne High School.

One count was filed against Jim Terhune, 19, of Pender, and two counts were filed against Jim Fahrholz, 18, of Walthill. The high school principal Don Zeiss also was charged with assault and battery on a police officer.

Charges were filed against Terhune and Fahrholz in Wayne County court Thursday morning and bond was set at $5,000 for each man. Neither had posted bond Friday afternoon and both were still in custody in Wayne County jail.

No date has been set for a preliminary hearing to determine if there is sufficient evidence to bind the men over to district court for trial.

Mitchell said Zeiss became involved after he tried to intervene.

Fairchild arrested the pair after being summoned to the high school and took them and Zeiss to the police station. Terhune and Zeiss were in the back seat of the police cruiser and Terhune again attacked Zeiss, Fairchild said.

Inattention blamed for mishaps

1976 Total

A rear-end collision was responsible for one of the three accidents which occurred in Wayne this week. Drivers should watch for drivers ahead who may stop in traffic lanes to wait for oncoming traffic before they make a turn, drivers stopping for traffic signals, or preparing to back into a parking stall where parallel parking is in effect. The remaining two accidents this past week involved one-vehicle collisions with utility poles, either because of inattention, losing control of the vehicle, or other factors, a Wayne police department spokesman said. Driving is a full-time job. Pay attention.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786.

Good news, folks, Attorney General Edward Levi said that if FBI or federal narcotics agents raid the wrong house by mistake, the government will pay for property damages.

Now I seriously doubt that anyone in the Wayne area needs to put that high on their list of things to worry about. The feds haven't made too many raids in the area that I've heard about. But it has happened in other places—federal agents armed with no-knock search warrant and battering ram crashing their way into the wrong house.

Frankly, I've never been a big fan of no-knock warrants, and some of the mistakes that have been made reinforce that feeling. Always wondered what would happen if agents forced their way in the wrong home and got in a shootout before they could identify who they were. Mistakes are made, but hitting the wrong house with a no-knock warrant seems pretty serious—good grounds for dismissal along with some personal liability attached doesn't seem out of line.

Liberty Tree Day

If you were planning to celebrate Arbor Day Thursday, forget it. It will be called Liberty Tree Day in Nebraska this year, thanks to a proclamation by Gov. J. J. Egan.

According to a news release I received last week, the change was requested by Mrs. Etwood Kealy of Sutherland, president of the Nebraska Federation of Garden Clubs.

WSC Time Capsule

Wayne State College will bury a time capsule this week.

Wayne Monument Works donated the marker for the capsule and Wayne State staffers were the impetus behind the project.

There's been a considerable amount of criticism about the Bicentennial in recent months and, admittedly, there have been some developments which certainly seem less than appropriate. But the time capsule at WSC is another one of those ideas which makes the celebration worthwhile.

Incidentally, one of the more interesting items which will be unearthed in 2026 is a Wayne County Bicentennial plate, one of the first batch of misprints which, on the back, said "Wayne County, Iowa." That should give folks something to chuckle over in 50 years.

Resolution Important

Senator Bob Murphy and Bess were in the office shortly after the end of the Unicameral session to subscribe to the Wayne Herald and the senator made some interesting observations about the just-ended session.

He thinks—and I agree—that one of the most significant accomplishments of the session was passage of his resolution for the state to join in calling for a Constitutional convention if the federal Congress doesn't balance the budget.

Things seem to be moving well in that direction, too. Sen. Murphy said 11 states have passed similar resolutions, about one-third the number needed to make a Constitutional convention become a reality.

Sen. Murphy is hoping that the necessary number can be obtained within two years, or more to the point, enough to scare Congress into taking the action without a convention actually being convened.

Back to Prairie

An Iowa state senator, William Winkelman, has reversed things a bit on his farm near Lehighville, Ia. A hundred or so years ago, pioneers were fighting to turn the Great Plains prairies into farmland. Winkelman has reconverted 18 acres of his farm back into native prairie as it would have appeared 200 years ago.

Indian grass, switch grass, sideots gramina and western wheat grass—all native grasses—have been replanted, along with native flowers including blazing star, prairie rose, evening primrose, and death aster.

The Iowa legislator has also put in a pond with a variety of native marshes.

Not only will the project preserve the best of the old, Winkelman said, but will also serve as an experiment to see how native prairie grass can be used in modern agriculture.

America's Real Discoverer?

Who is Bjarni Hariulfson? Who is Harvard professor of American history emeritus Samuel Eliot Morison, he is the real discoverer of America?

Any grade school child knows the story of Christopher Columbus stepping ashore from his long boat in 1492, and in recent years, we've heard quite a bit about Leif Ericsson, son of Eric the Red and his brief adventures in America.

But according to Morison, Hariulfson is the one who told Ericsson about the "new" continent.

Hariulfson, a Norwegian commander of a trading ship, supposedly missed his Greenland destination and made landfalls on the eastern seaboard. Although he and his crew never set foot on the new land, he did tell Leif Ericsson of his find.

Hariulfson's ship, incidentally, was no viking ship and Leif Ericsson was no viking, Morison tells us.

Out of Old

Nebraska

Most Nebraskans are familiar with the famous "silver tongued" orator from the plains, William Jennings Bryan. Few are aware of another Nebraska politician who enjoyed a reputation second only to that of Bryan as a spellbinder. He was Senator John M. Thurston.

Proof of his oratorical ability is best illustrated by an anecdote from the presidential campaign of Republican James G. Blaine of Maine in 1882. Blaine, while speaking to a large crowd in Buffalo, New York, under far from ideal conditions in a lecture hall, lost his audience. (It was before public address systems made "speakers" of men with small voices.) The spectators' boredom became evident as Blaine plodded through his speech.

Senator Thurston followed Blaine to the rostrum and began speaking. Soon the entire hall was silent, and he held the audience's attention for one hour and forty minutes. He was carried from the hall in a gesture of admiration.

John Mellon Thurston was born and raised on a farm near Montpelier, Vermont, on August 21, 1847. After an abbreviated education and service in the Union Army, Thurston arrived in Omaha in 1869 to establish a law practice. He slept on the floor of his office during the first year. His discouraged partner left the poverty of the fledgling firm, but Thurston remained and eventually his personal as well as his political fortune rose.

In 1871 Thurston entered the political arena by appointment as justice of the peace to complete an unexpired term. In 1872 he ran for the Omaha City Council, gaining a two-year term. He was city attorney in 1874, a position he held while simultaneously serving in the Nebraska State Legislature from 1875 to 1877. He became a "wheel horse" of the Republican party, participating in several state conventions, twice as chairman (1888 and 1896).

The Union Pacific Railroad employed Thurston as assistant attorney in 1877 and promoted him to solicitor-general in 1888, a position he retained until 1895. Along with several other Nebraska politicians, Thurston was considered by the Legislature for the United States Senate in 1893. He was defeated, but by 1895 after the Legislature had become overwhelmingly Republican, he was easily elected senator. He served but one term, during which he was a principal advisor to President William McKinley.

Following his six years in Washington, Senator Thurston returned to his Omaha law practice. In 1901 he was appointed United States commissioner for the St. Louis Exposition. Although often incapacitated by poor health, he continued the practice of law until his death on August 9, 1916.

Despite his long service to state and nation, none of the personal papers of John Thurston are today available for historians to consult and study. The Nebraska State Historical Society is now attempting to collect documents pertaining to his career and would appreciate any help the public can offer.

OBSERVATIONS

Tax break for education?

"Our present federal income tax laws are strange," First District Congressman Charles Thone writes in his latest weekly letter.

A craftsman can take an income tax deduction for the cost of the special tools he needs to do his work. The tools, however, are worthless by themselves—what is valuable is the knowledge and skill the craftsman has. But he can't take any deduction for the educational cost of learning his craft.

Thone makes several other good points concerning tax laws and education. A powerful business might be able to deduct the expense of entertaining customers on a yacht but parents can't deduct the cost of their children's educational expenses.

Tax breaks for educational costs have been added to tax bills three times in recent years but have been chopped by the House Senate conference committee.

Thone wants to see such a law passed and the basic idea is good. Education is an investment in the nation's future and allowing deductions for education costs seems more equitable than many deductions now allowed under tax laws.

Such a law will have to be carefully constructed, however, so that it achieves the purpose for which it is intended and doesn't become just another tax loophole. And some provision should be made for students who are self-supporting.—Jim Strayer

Trees help save energy

If you agree that there is nothing more lovely than a tree, you're right. But there is also very little else as beneficial as a tree, either. And in the newly-found energy consciousness, trees and their bag of conservation tricks should loom high in energy-saving plans.

Trees are nature's outdoor air conditioners and when they get together, they can control hot summer winds, raw wintery blasts, and fast-moving topsoil. Dr. Jim Brandie, assistant professor of forestry at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, says the conservation values of windbreaks can help people live more comfortably, work more easily and improve their quality of living.

Just a quick look at the major benefits derived from windbreaks will explain why trees and energy savings go together. Brandie said that when soils pick up and blow, which has been happening throughout the Midwest this winter, often the particles that blow contain 10 to 20 times as much humus and phosphate as the heavier particles that stay put. When the wind goes beyond 13 mph, the soil starts going so any reduction in wind velocity will have a proportionate reduction in soil loss.

Good plant cover and tillage practices and windbreaks all cut down on wind erosion and in Nebraska's windy climate, it is important to muster all possible forces to conserve soil. Once windbreaks are established, they will protect fields all year and provide full protection to an area 10 times the height of the trees measured in the direction the wind is blowing, said Brandie.

What about the icy winds that force Nebraskans to button and bundle up? Windbreaks can make a difference there, too. A dense windbreak reduces a 30-mph wind to 15 mph, which means a change in wind chill index from -33 to -13 Fahrenheit.

When people get home, they find the same kind of chilly blasters bombarding their houses. Windbreaks not only beautify a home, they protect the house and yard from freezing gusty winds, blowing soil and drifting snow. Because of wind reduction, the home will be more comfortable and less expensive to heat. Brandie said that home-fuel needs can be reduced 15 per cent or more with windbreaks offering their protection. Proper placement can also control snowdrifting and dust.

Livestock in the state do better in winter with a windbreak to protect them from wintry winds and snow. Livestock winter well behind windbreaks—they eat less grain and gain faster since some winter stress is eliminated, said Brandie. Calving and lambing time carry less risk and dairy cows produce more milk on less feed if they live in the comfort of a windbreak.

Once Nebraskans are free of the icy drafts in winter, they face the hot blasts of summer winds. Yields on some crops can go down with the winds and constant whipping action by dusty winds can damage the leaves of tender plants, which means replanting. Fuel consumption and seed costs multiply. Windbreaks alter these conditions and can make the difference between a good year and a bad year, said Brandie.

Wildlife depend strongly on windbreaks for shelter, nesting areas, and valuable cover. In summer, these windbreaks provide homes close to cropland for insect-eating birds, and food for nonmigratory birds in the winter. Finally, trees can become a living snowdrift when planted parallel to highways and driveways. The area between the windbreak and road can be planted to crops or grasses that benefit most from the additional moisture from melting snowdrifts.

A special election was held in which voters were to give their opinion on the issuance of bonds totaling $1,500,000 for school construction. The election saw over a 56 per cent favorable vote. While definite plans are not complete, the proposal calls for the demolition of the junior high building, remodeling of the senior high building into classrooms, construction of an additional gymnasium, construction of other areas for science labs, business lab, home ec facility, art lab, library-media center, vocal music, junior-senior high

Government gets a dose of red tape

Lots of us gnash our teeth in frustration at the government red tape we have to cope with—especially the managers of small businesses, who must fill out scores of forms for dozens of agencies. But few are ever lucky enough to exact vengeance in kind.

Mayor Ernest Angelo, Jr., of Midland, Texas, got that chance. Midland, it seems, had just been put through the federal mill. The city applied for funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. It took eight months to get the application processed. Therefore, the HUD's regional office in Dallas asked for a reserved parking space at the Midland municipal airport.

Mayor Angelo replied (in part as follows): "You must obtain from the U.S. Government Printing Office, or the National Archives, or the Library of Congress, or COM-1975. You must submit three executed and fourteen confirmed copies of this application."

"Along with the application submit the make and model of the proposed vehicle together with certified assurances that everyone connected with the manufacture, servicing and operation of same were paid according to a wage scale that complies with the requirements of the Davis-Bacon Act."

"Submit a genealogical table for everyone who will operate said vehicle so that we can ascertain that there will be a precisely exact equal percentage of white, black and other minorities, as well as women and the elderly."

"Submit certified assurances that this plan has been discussed at length with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and submit that commissioner's certification that requirement three above has been fully complied with."

"Submit certified assurances that all operators of said vehicle and any filling station personnel that service same will be equipped with steel-toe boots, safety goggles and crash helmets and that the vehicle will be equipped with safety belts and an air bag to show compliance with the Occupational Safety and Health Act."

"Submit an Environmental Impact Statement. You will probably want to hire an expensive consultant to do this. The statement should show the number of times the vehicle will be operated, times of day, the name of the operator, and the number of other vehicles that might be coming into or leaving the parking lot, as well as the number and type of aircraft that might be landing or taking off at the airport at the same time and an exact conclusion as to the effect this will have on the atmosphere in West Texas."

"In order to obtain approval of a negative Environmental Impact Statement, you will not be able to operate the car on gasoline produced from domestic oil because that would require that someone discover it, process it and deliver it, and it is possible that some private person, firm or corporation might realize a profit or operate the car from energy produced by coal because this might require digging a hole in the ground."

"Submit a certificate from the Attorney General of the United States that all of the certifiers of the above assurances are duly and legally authorized by Congress and the President to make this application, and that the United States of America is a duly organized and legally existing independent nation with the full right, power and authority to operate automobiles in the first place."

"Upon receipt of the foregoing, rest assured that the application will be promptly referred to someone for approval. We cannot state at this time who that someone will be because whatever department he or she is in will be undergoing a process of reorganization..."

Despite the remarkable similarity between Midland's red tape and Washington's, there is a very important difference. Mayor Angelo was only kidding. The federal government isn't.

SPAKING OF PEOPLE

'Nutrition' Workshop Topic

According to home extension agents at the Northeast Station, Concord, two workshops designed to relate good nutrition to weight will be held next month. Jocelyn Smith, area home economist, said the good food you eat daily does become you, and it's important for families to eat a well balanced diet each day to maintain shiny hair, clear complexion, strong bones and toned muscles.

The "Eat Better - Live Longer" workshops will be held on Wednesday, May 5, at the Woman's Club room in Wayne, and on Thursday, May 6, in the basement of the Hartington city auditorium.

Participants will learn to plan nutritious meals using a food exchange list to meet their needed caloric intake.

Both workshops are scheduled to last from 10 a.m. to about 2:30 p.m. Registration fee is $2 to cover the lunch each plans and prepares. Registration will be limited to 30 persons at each location.

Ethel Diedrichsen, foods and nutrition specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, will conduct the workshops. Assisting her will be Jocelyn Smith, area home extension agent at the Northeast Station.

The workshop is open to all persons in Dakota, Dixon, Cedar, Thurston and Wayne Counties on a non-discriminatory basis. Persons planning to attend are asked to notify Jocelyn Smith at the Northeast Station, Concord, by April 28, indicating which workshop they plan to attend.

erson presented corsages to Mrs. Sharon Crossadale, pianist, and Miss Gardner.

Pastor Gard has served the Calvary Christian Church in Baton Rouge for the past 11 years. Prior to that he served churches in California, Wisconsin and Louisiana. He is a native of Iowa and a graduate of Minnesota Bible College.

The new minister and his wife, Margaret, have six children, three living at home. Beth, 16, is a sophomore. Patrick, 10, is in fourth grade and Gail, seven, is a first grader.

Maude Theophilus, George Baird Observe Birthdays at Center

Mrs. Maude Theophilus, at the age of 92, is too young to recall the nation's Centennial celebration, but she isn't missing anything as preparations continue for the country's 200th birthday party.

Mrs. Theophilus, who along with George Baird of Wayne, celebrated her birthday Thursday afternoon at the Wayne Senior Citizens Center, entertained the 62 guests attending the birthday party with several poems she has memorized for the Bicentennial.

The poems, entitled "Honey Chile" and "Barbara Friesche," depict major events in America's history, including the civil war. She also recited two poems in memory of her husband, Dave Theophilus. They were entitled "The Flag" and "Building a Bridge."

Jack Trippy of California read an article from the book "Bicentennial" by Michener, about an army captain's thoughts of Kansas and Nebraska. Alma Splitzgerber spoke on behalf of George Baird, who observed his birthday of April 3. Mrs. Splitzgerber told of how the Baird family was one of Wayne County's pioneer families and that 89-year-old George is the only survivor. Baird spoke about his days as a young boy, telling of how he used to "run from the Indians."

Marilyn Trippy of California, daughter of Mrs. Pearl Griffith, showed a movie that she took last summer of members of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center taking part in Winside's Old Settlers parade, and of the center's Bobbles and Bubblettes band playing for residents of the Wayne Care Centre. Mrs. Trippy also showed movies taken at the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Trippys have donated their film of the Bobbles and Bubblettes band playing for residents of the Wayne Care Centre. GFWC Presents First Lady With Bicentennial Plate

The General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC), of which the Wayne Woman's Club is affiliated, recently presented First Lady Mrs. Gerald R. Ford with a Bicentennial commemorative plate.

The plate was the fourth and final series issued by the General Federation, and was presented to Mrs. Ford by the GFWC's president, Mrs. Carroll Miller, in a special ceremony held at the White House.

Four years ago in an effort to celebrate the nation's Bicentennial the GFWC commissioned an American artist to sculpture in glass a series of four collector's plates. Each plate features a scene depicting one of the four major movements of the American Revolution.

Wayne area persons who would like to order one or more of the commemorative plates can do so by contacting local Woman's Club president Mrs. Leila Maynard. Mrs. Maynard said orders will be taken until June 10.

According to spokesmen for the GFWC, the molds for all four plates will be destroyed on July 4 in a ceremony at Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

MRS. MAUDE THEOPHILUS and George Baird, both of Wayne, show off the birthday cake baked for them by Mrs. Betty Ulrich. Mrs. Theophilus, 92, and Baird, 89, observed their birthdays at a party held for them Thursday afternoon at the Wayne Senior Citizens Center.

Senior Citizen activities at the Center for future showings. Mrs. Theophilus and Baird were honored with the traditional birthday song, accompanied by Pearl Griffith, and helped furnish a lunch of sandwiches, relishes, cake and ice cream.

Also furnishing food were Emma Soules, Lottie Longnecker, Dorothy Kabison, Mina Dunklau, Minna Otte, Annie Ruebig, Helene Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Chambers, Pearl Griffith, Nellie Brockman and Mary Echtenkamp.

Mrs. Ann Waggoner, assistant public librarian, was also at the center Thursday afternoon to conduct the monthly library hour. Twenty-eight persons attended.

New books, brought by Mrs. Waggoner to the center, include "The Pony Express," "Nebraska: A Fictional History," "In the Footsteps of Lewis and Clark," "Cowboys and Cattle Ranching," "U.S. Department of Agriculture: Landscape for Living" and "Bulbs."

The books may be checked out at the center and returned to the center or to the Wayne Public Library.

Next library hour will be at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, May 20. Mrs. Waggoner will show a film on birds.

Twelve center members were present Friday afternoon for the Good Friday service. Mrs. Jociel Bull, center director, led the group in the Lord's Prayer and Mathilde Harms gave the meditation, entitled "The Seven Last Words of Christ." Goldie Leonard gave a reading entitled "Drudge or Artist," with each member giving some thoughts.

Mrs. Bull closed with "Your Day of Commitment," "My Lord and My God" and "Just for Today." Alma Splitzgerber accompanied for singing of "How Great Thou Art."

Next sermonette and singing will be Friday, May 21, at 2 p.m.

Trojans Escape With 9-8 Decision

Whew! Miscues Almost Trip Trojans

By BOB BARTLETT
Wakefield baseball coach Joe Coble was still shaking his head Thursday after the final frame of his club's 9-8 escape of visiting Allen.

The Trojans, who earlier had amassed a 9-2 lead, saw the majority of their lead disappear in the top of the sixth when the Eagles scored three runs off two Trojan errors for the final score.

With the bases loaded and two outs, Allen's third baseman Charlie Ferguson stepped up to the plate where Wakefield's second relief hurler, Doug Starzl, threw three strikes out of five pitches. However, Wakefield catcher Dean Sharp dropped the ball and missed tagging Ferguson, who charged down the first base. Instead of touching home plate for the force out, Sharp elected to throw to first, only to have the ball zip over the head of first baseman Bal Brown. Meanwhile, two Allen players raced home and a third was on the way when Brown's throw to home missed its target. Result: Three unearned runs.

"That's the most flagrant case of not being heads up I've witnessed. Rest assured it's not going to happen again. We're going to play heads up," Coble emphasized.

Wakefield's miscues, which nearly cost the Trojans the game, almost overshadowed the efforts of senior center fielder Tim Rouse who hit an in-the-park home run in the five-run third inning with two players on base. Rouse connected with pitcher Jeff Creamer's fast ball which sent Allen's Darwin Kliver scurrying to left field fence. By the time the ball was relayed to home plate, Rouse was sliding into home.

Allen had its share of glory in the opening frame when Creamer belted a two-run homer over the 320-foot center field fence with the aid of a strong wind to give his club a 2-0 command.

Wakefield charged back in its half of the first on Mike Soderberg's run-scoring single and three Allen errors which accounted for three more Wakefield runs.

Allen whittled the lead to 4-3 in the top of the third, but Wakefield retaliated with five runs in the third, including Rouse's circuit hit.

The Eagles pushed across two more runs in the fourth when catcher Brad Chase's grounder bounced off the feet of two Wakefield players for a 9-5

Creamer, who was charged with the loss, was replaced by Tod Ellis in the fourth. Allen is looking for its first win in four starts. Starter Dan Byers got credit for Wakefield's fifth win against no defeats after he was relieved by Brad Jones and Starzl.

Wayne, Wakefield Collide Wednesday

Unbeaten Wakefield put its record on the line Wednesday when the Trojans visit once-beaten Wayne at 4:15 p.m. at the city diamond in Wayne.

Both coaches approach the game with respect for the other club. Some of the coaches' comments:

Joe Coble of Wakefield (5-0): Wayne has the top two pitchers in Northeast Nebraska in Paul Mallette and Dave Hix. If we can put together some hits, we can give Wayne the kind of game we're capable of.

Mike Mallette of Wayne (4-1): Wakefield has beaten Bancroft twice and we've lost to Bancroft once. We're going to have to have a good effort to put Wakefield down.

Everyone's Safe on Base

STEALING BASES became a regular part of Thursday's Wakefield Allen baseball game. For many of the players, most attempts were successful, including, top to bottom, Allen's Charlie Ferguson and Darwin Kliver and Wakefield's Tim Rouse. Ferguson's theft second resulted when the throw to Wes Lueth went wide and high. Lueth made the grab in midair, but came down just as Ferguson touched base. Center, with one away in the second frame, Kliver steals third after teammate Rayne Dowling singled to first for the second out. Shortstop Mike Soderberg was covering base. Below, Rouse slides safely into home after hitting a three-run infield circuit hit in the bottom of the third for a 7-3 Trojan command. The throw to Allen catcher Brad Chase was in time, but the ball (right-hand corner) trickled out of his mitt. Photos by Bob Bartlett.

Mallette's No-Hitter, Timely Hits Lift Blue Devils to Pair of Wins

A combination of perfect pitching and timely hitting Wednesday lifted Wayne High past visiting Homer in a doubleheader at the city ball diamond.

Senior hurler Paul Mallette tossed a no-hitter in the first game to lead the Blue Devils to a 5-0 decision. In the nightcap, Mallette rapped a three-run deficit to help Wayne overcome a 5-0 deficit before going on to win 8-5.

Wayne bats connected for six hits in the first contest, two of which came in the six-run second inning. Second baseman Tom Ginn drove in the first run on a slap to shallow right center and left fielder Monte Lowe connected for a two-run single. Wayne's other runs on walks and an error.

Mallette, who was two for two at the plate, doubled in the fourth inning with two men out to set up Wayne's final score. First baseman Vince Jenness finished to score Mallette for a 7-0 victory.

Homer came alive in the second game with five runs off two hits and a pair of Wayne errors for a sizeable command.

"When Homer took a 5-0 lead I thought it would be pretty tough for us to win in only five innings," said Wayne coach Mike Mallette after his club posted its fourth win against one loss.

Mallette's three-run homer in the third started the rally for Wayne. Mallette's hit sailed 355

RUNNER Aaron Nissen on third eyes teammate Monte Lowe in the batter's box, hoping the senior left fielder will connect with two outs and the bases loaded. Homer hurler Gail Jensen, however, didn't buckle as the righthander struckout Lowe.

feet over left center to score second baseman Randy Park and center fielder Aaron Nissen, who both walked to get on base.

In the fourth, Wayne bats connected for four hits to score five runs. Winning pitcher Dave Hix and first baseman Doug Carroll each rapped two-run singles and left fielder Monte Lowe ripped a run-scoring single. Also getting a single was catcher Larry Creighton.

Hix picked up his second win on the mound after relieving sophomore Vic Sharpe. Hix came in the second frame and finished the game with eight strikeouts. He gave up three hits and walked one.

For the same reasons, insect and weed development is related closely to GDDs and the concept can therefore be used to alert us to timeliness of operations. This concept will be used in more ways in the future as it is more accurately calibrated with more plants and insects.

Ravioli Wins Hands Down

There's a great resurgence of at-home games...more people play chess, checkers, cards, dominos, scrabble, even Uncle Wiggley, than five years ago. Here's a chance to have an inexpensive fun evening at home. For game-time refreshments, why not serve that all-time eating favorite, ravioli? We've had some fun connecting two different recipes from a 40 ounce economy size can of Mini Ravioli; half the can was used in a casserole, the other half was fried for crunchy, munchy finger food. Both will delight your guests after a fast poker game.

CHECKERBOARD RAVIOLI CASSEROLE

- 1/2 pound ground beef
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/2 can (40 oz.) Chef Boy-a-Dee Mini Ravioli
- 1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup bread crumbs
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Brown ground beef in butter; add garlic powder. Combine ravioli and beef mixture. Arrange one-half of mixture in bottom of 8" by 8" by 2-1/2" square baking dish or a 2-quart round casserole. Cook frozen spinach according to package directions; drain well. Combine spinach, cheese, bread crumbs, egg and salt. Spread spinach mixture on top of ravioli mixture. Arrange remaining ravioli mixture on top placing ravioli like squares on checkerboard. Bake at 350°F. for 30 to 35 minutes. Serves 4.

60 Attend Breakfast

A 9:30 a.m. Easter breakfast was held at the Covenant Church Wednesday with 60 women attending.

Tables were arranged to form a large cross. Lavender table runners on white accented the lilies used for centerpieces. Those serving in the kitchen were Mrs. Reynold Anderson, Mrs. John Viken and Mrs. Malcolm Jensen.

Mrs. Jensen, chairman, welcomed the ladies and read a narration on white accented the group was at the cross on Good Friday morning.

After the breakfast, the group went into the sanctuary for the program. Mrs. Marvin Felt played Easter music on the organ. All sang "Beneath the Cross of Jesus."

Elmer Carlson led the program entitled, "Were You There?" She introduced the cast of characters who portrayed their reactions at the time of Jesus' death on the cross. Each character expressed deep feelings of anguish and foreboding as the events led to Jesus' trial, the mockery, the sorrow, his death, his resurrection and new life.

Mrs. Eugene Lundin portrayed Pilate's wife; Mrs. Dwayne Erickson, Mary; Mrs. Dennis Carlson, Martha, Mary's sister; Mrs. Myron Olson, Mary, the mother of Jesus; and Mrs. Ron Weststrand, Mary Magdalene.

Mrs. Ron Headlee sang, "Man of Sorrows." Mrs. Felt played, "Were You There?" with the continued production leading to Easter morning. The group joyously united in singing, "He Lives."

The climax was Mrs. Headlee singing, "Heaven is Nearer." A prayer of Thanksgiving and promise closed the program.
