"It would be nice to make Jill a freshman again," said Winside High girls track coach after his senior shot putter, Jill Stenwall, won her second straight gold medal during Saturday's state girls track meet at North Platte. Jill's toss of 45-11 bettered the state record of 44-8 1/2 set by Jeanne Boller of Dorchester just a short time before Stenwall cracked that barrier. Pretty, But Where Are the Faucets?

RUB-A-DUB—a star-spangled tub. And it makes a pretty good lounge to watch television from the Neal Phelps family room, although it usually isn't quite as full as shown here. Chris Phelps, 17, and his father bought the tub at an auction, scraped off several coats of old paint, and gave it a new, blue finish, with decorative white stars and red legs. With the help of four or five husky neighbors, they lugged it downstairs to the family room, added four inches of foam cushioning in the bottom, and a few pillows. It became the perfect place to watch TV from, or to enjoy an afternoon nap. Shown above are Frances Praher, Michelle Phelps, Elizabeth Praher, John Kluge, and stretched out in front, Nick Phelps.

Danish Visitor Is Keeping Eye on U.S. Elections

By JIM STRAYER
Americans aren't the only people keeping a close eye on the presidential primary elections now in progress, according to one Wayne visitor. Esper Boel, who, along with his wife, Olga, and brother Hans, were guests of the Val Peterson before departing for their native Denmark Tuesday morning, said Western European residents take a vital interest in American politics. Their main concern, as might be expected, is in United States foreign policy. In Boel's view at least, that means the possibility of either Jimmie Carter or Ronald Reagan becoming president is a cause for worry. Neither candidate has any experience in foreign affairs, Boel said, and that concerns him. His concern might be more easily understood when it is realized that East Germany is separated from some of Boel's property by only 30 miles of water—a mere two hours away by ferry boat. Boel owns Boel Foods Ltd., which produces and exports cheese to a number of countries, including the United States. The company's U.S. outlet, Boel Foods U.S.A., has 14 distributors located mainly on the two coasts. Boel Foods is the world's largest producer and exporter of Danish Bleu cheese. The Boels' became acquainted with the Petersons when Val Peterson was ambassador to Denmark, from 1957 to 1961. Mr. and Mrs. Boel have visited the Petersons in Wayne a number of times previously. Boel has been a commencement speaker at Wayne State College, has arranged for WSC summer study groups to be housed in the high school at his home town, and is a member of the WSC board of trustees. On the subject of foreign affairs, Boel said he is a great believer in nations meeting and discussing differences. He also strongly supports the idea of free trade between nations. Commerce, he said, forces people to understand each other. The Danish exporter has another strong belief—in the importance of NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization).

All Danes don't share that belief, he said, but more of his countrymen are beginning to support the western nations military alliance. There was also opposition to joining the European Common Market, Boel said, but since Denmark joined the economic alliance, many Danes have seen how the organization increases the power of smaller countries. He believes that many Danes now, too, are beginning to be come "enlightened" regarding the necessity of NATO. Boel's home is located on one of two large islands, which, with the peninsular mainland, comprise the bulk of the Scandinavian nation. In Boel's locale, television sets easily pick up programming from East Germany, only a half hour away by jet. Because of the proximity of his country to the Soviet bloc, and because he feels it would be a disaster if Denmark's capitalistic economic system was replaced by communist ideals, Boel is a strong proponent of NATO. While many Americans are clamoring for a reduction in the U.S. role in NATO, Boel feels it is absolutely necessary for the United States to retain that role. Also of great concern to Boel is his nation's welfare and social services system, which he said has placed a heavy tax burden on the people. Inflation in Denmark is higher than in most European nations, he said, and the cost of living is high. For example, a pack of cigarettes costs $1.50—over half the price. See VISITOR, page 4

Bond Sales Total $68,766
Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds in Wayne County during the first quarter of this year amounted to $68,766, according to county chairman Henry Ley. Sales in March totaled $23,346 and brought the county to 31.4 per cent of the yearly sales goal. Dixon County first quarter sales totaled $52,519—18.6 per cent of the yearly goal. March sales amounted to $24,786. Robert Anderson of Wakefield is Dixon County chairman. Statewide sales through March totaled $16,700,446 for an increase of $1 million over 1975—a gain of seven per cent and put the state at 26 per cent of the 1976 sales goal. National sales for the first quarter were up by five per cent over last year.

Monday Issue Will Feature '76 Graduates
High school graduates and their parents, families and friends should be especially interested in Monday's issue of the Wayne Herald. A special section will feature photographs of graduating seniors from Allen, Laurel, Wakefield, Wayne and Winside high schools. Deadline Near For Pioneer Family Awards
Dixon and Wayne County fair officials are once again seeking the names of nominees for Nebraska Pioneer Farm Awards. The special award, jointly sponsored by Ak-Sar-Ben and the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers, is presented to farm families living on property owned continuously by their family for 100 or more years. Dixon County will present the awards Aug. 15 during the county fair. The walnut and bronze plaques, and framed certificates will be presented to Wayne County pioneer farm families July 30 during the county fair. Dixon County families wishing to submit nominations should contact county extension agent Roy-Stohler. Fair secretary Marilyn Koch is accepting nominations from Wayne County. June 1 is the deadline for filing.

16-Year-Old Carroll Youth 'Ready to Fly'
By BOB BARTLETT
April and May have been busy months for Charles McLain. The day after his 16th birthday, April 14, he passed his driver's license examination. Then, on May 6, he got his pilot's license. Believed to be the youngest pilot in Northeast Nebraska, McLain became interested in flying seven months ago and did not want to waste any time learning the sport. The month after he became interested, the Carroll native started taking flight lessons from Wayne airport manager Al Robinson. McLain said he was a little shaky after his first flight, but he soon learned to gain confidence in himself. McLain's learning time in the air was a relatively short period compared to most beginners. After nine hours of in-the-air instruction, he was ready to solo. The average flyer spends 12 to 15 hours in the air before soloing. McLain said the main reason he was able to solo so soon was his ability to coordinate his body with the use of the controls. The only rough part, he confessed, was landing. "I was kind of scared but I made it alright," he smiled. Why flying? "I like to get up and get away from people at times. For most kids it's kind of an honor to drive a car, but I like to take one more step and fly," McLain pointed out. Charlie got interested in flying after his father, Howard, started flying again. His father, who had flown for 10 years, gave it

USDA Offices Will Combine
Local U.S. Department of Agriculture directors were notified Monday that approval has been granted for the three Wayne County offices to be located in a single building. The three Wayne County agencies—the Soil Conservation Service (SCS), directed by Arnold Marr; the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), directed by Lavern Ostendorf, and the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), directed by Roy Butts—are now located in separate offices in downtown Wayne. The approval will mean all three agencies will be located in the old Coryell Auto reconditioning shop, south of the former Coryell garage on Logan St., south of Second St. The USDA agencies will lease the offices from Coryell after remodeling is completed. The building will provide 2,300

Witt: World Full of Ignorance, Apathy

Forty Winside High students received their diplomas Monday night during graduation exercises at the high school auditorium. During the 45-minute program, guest speaker Phil Witt told the graduates of about 1,000 persons that the world is filled too much with ignorance and apathy and that it was up to them "to get off their butts and give a damn." Witt, who graduated from Winside as valedictorian in 1970, pointed out that some of the old clichés such as "ignorance is bliss" and "what you don't know won't hurt you," are no longer true today. People have to become more aware of what is happening and do something about it if they feel that what is being done is wrong, he said. Witt, who graduated from the University of Nebraska Lincoln in 1974 before he became a reporter for television station KMEG in Sioux City, noted that both the print and electronic media may be responsible for not giving the people all the information or for giving some of it incorrectly. However, the final say-so about how things are done rests with the people, he said. Witt encouraged the graduates to get involved and leave a mark in society. "The only ignorance is between you and me—we don't know enough about each other," he added. Following Witt's talk, guidance counselor Lee Johnson presented scholarships to five Winside students. Receiving the Ruth Troutman memorial scholarship was Gail Grone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Grone of Winside. The scholarship is given in memory of Mrs. Trout. See WINSIDE, page 4

Outside Commencement Will Be a First for WHS

In a departure from tradition, Wayne High School will conduct commencement exercises outside this year, at the Willow Bowl on the Wayne State College campus. University of Nebraska professor Dr. Ward Sybouts will be guest speaker for the event, which is scheduled to begin at 7:30 Monday evening. Sybouts is chairman of the secondary education department at UN-L and a member of the board of directors of the Nebraska Human Research and Resources Foundation. See OLYMPICS, page 4

Laurel High Valedictorian Gets Doane Scholarship

Gary Olson gave the valedictorian's address during commencement ceremonies at Laurel High School Monday night and ended his high school career by receiving a number of honors and awards. Included is a president's and special ability scholarship in drama and speech to Doane College in Crete, based on scholastic achievement, the scholarship is valued at $3,000 during a four-year undergraduate program. Olson also received the Dorothy Garvin Roth Award. Salutatorian Sandra George received a one-year board of regents scholarship paying full tuition to the University of Nebraska. She also received the Laurel American Legion girls scholastic award. Other scholarship winners include: Kenny Sanders, Northeast Technical Community College (NTCC) board of governors scholarship, paying half tuition for two years; Steve Thompson, Norfolk Feed Mills scholarship valued at $250, for attending the UN-L agriculture college; Brent Linn, one-half tuition to Wayne State College for four years; Jon Erwin, an athletic scholarship to NTCC, paying half tuition and rent; Neva Arp, a $100 scholarship to NTCC, provided by Northeast Recyclers for scholastic excellence; Mary Johlin, the $1,100 Chederquist scholarship. Other awards presented include "I Dare You" awards to Scott Huel and Mary Johlin; Legion awards for girls athletics to Julie Hirschman, boys athletics to Brad Erwin, citizenship to Delwin Penlerick, and boys scholastic to Steve Thompson, and the Laurel athletic award to Jon Erwin. Julie Baughn for the fifth time in her six years at Laurel was the senior class choice to receive the annual $500 Haskell award. Students in addition to Olson and Miss George ranked in the top 10 per cent of the class and having grade averages of 3.7 See LAUREL, page 2

Allen High Grad Dies in Accident

A 1975 graduate of Allen High School, Patrick Kavanaugh, died in a one-car accident early Sunday morning three miles east of Newcastle on Highway 17. According to the Dixon County sheriff's office, Kavanaugh was alone when his vehicle left the road, went into a ditch and hit a driveway at the Pat Kniffel farm. Kavanaugh, 19, was taken to a Sioux City hospital by the Newcastle Rescue Unit, but was dead on arrival, a spokesman said. Parents of the youth are Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Kavanaugh of rural Waterbury.

IT ONLY took Charles McLain six months to learn how to fly and get his pilot's license. Next on the agenda for the 16-year-old is to obtain a private license to operate an aircraft and later, perhaps a commercial license.

Boys Town, tech colleges involved in state court cases

CAPITOL NEWS

LINCOLN—Back in the 1971 session of the Nebraska Unicameral a new system of higher education at the community level, known as technical community colleges, was born.

And, long before that a home for homeless boys came into being in Omaha. It was known as Father Flanagan's Boys Home, better known as simply Boys Town.

Both institutions are involved in cases the Nebraska Supreme Court has taken under advisement. In one, the constitutionality of the system is being challenged and for the technical community colleges it is the second time its core has been probed by the judiciary.

In the Boys Town case, the Douglas County District Court blocked a move by the Millard school district to take some of the Boys Town land for school purposes and the district appealed.

Local or State?

The key issue in the community college case is whether the college areas are really institutions of local government and thus have access to local property tax money.

The state's high court, in 1974, struck down the original community college law saying that the system was an institution of state government and therefore violated the constitutional prohibition against the use of property tax money for a state purpose.

When Nebraska adopted the state sales and income tax system of raising money to operate state government, the ban on using property taxes for any function of state government was imposed. Western Technical Community College area, the focal point of the 1974 decision, called for a levy in 11's multi-county area and Sheridan County, among others, refused to turn over any money.

Western filed suit to get the money and in the Sheridan County District Court it won.

But Sheridan County maintained its stand against paying out the money and appealed.

The county's argument centers on a contention that the Unicameral, when it passed a law in 1975 to try to make the system constitutional, failed.

State Control Questioned

The problem, the county's attorney said, was that the state never really lost control over the areas under the law passed last year.

In short, the attorneys said, the law does not leave "the destiny of technical community college areas to the citizens of those areas" and therefore the lid should remain on the property tax coffers as far as the community colleges are concerned.

In other words, the attorneys said, the 1975 law was simply an indirect path to property tax money which blocked direct access.

Attorneys for Western said there is nothing further from the truth.

The 1975 act repealed the prior state-controlled statewide system of technical community colleges and created six autonomous political subdivisions designated as technical community college areas, whose board of governors have complete operational and fiscal and budgetary control over their respective areas," the Western attorneys said.

They said that for one thing there is no longer a state commission. A state-level group was formed, known as the State Coordinating Commission. But they said it has no control over the areas.

True, they said, the community colleges will, this coming academic year, split among them $13 million in state money. But there are no strings or controls attached to that money.

In the Boys Town case, even the State Justice Department got involved as a third party to the litigation.

Millard wants 40 acres of land for a new school and sought to take it from Boys Town by condemnation.

The justice department said, in short, the district court had no authority to block the condemnation.

'Private vs. Public'

Boys Town said the case was a confrontation between private and public education.

"The constitutional right to private rather than public education is a fundamental right of free citizens," said Boys Town attorneys especially since the school district didn't bother to look for alternative sites.

They've got the lower court, they said, would substitute private education to public education need.

School district attorneys countered that the land is not being used for education purposes; so the private-public education confrontation isn't there.

At Boys Town, they said, "The only vocational agricultural program taught under a certified teacher, although not an accredited program, is classroom instruction in crop production, animal nutrition and husbandry and farm work in which only one student is enrolled."

Also, school attorneys said, there is no suitable alternative site available even if the courts actually had the authority to determine one should be used in place of the 40 acres.

Sales Tax Receipts Up

The State Revenue Department says Nebraska's sales tax rates, even though they are the same as a year ago, brought in $9.99 million in February of this year, up $1 million from the same month a year ago.

That is an 11.9 per cent growth rate. The comparable growth rate for a years ago was 4.4 per cent.

The fiscal year to date (February) sales tax income was $118.1 million, an 11 per cent increase over the same period a year ago.

Individual income tax withholding payments to the state in February increased 52.3 per cent to $5.9 million from $3.87 million. However, those rates are different and thus the real growth was only 1.5 per cent, according to State Tax Commissioner William Peters.

The withholding rate this February was 15 per cent. In February of 1973 the rate was 10 per cent.

In the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, total individual income taxes produced $72.63 million through February, an 18.8 per cent increase over the $61.16 million raised during the same period in the previous fiscal year.

Corporation income tax receipts in February increased 23.4 per cent from $1.25 million to $1.54 million.

In fiscal year totals through February, corporations paid $15.3 million a year ago and $17 million this year, up 11.4 per cent.

Total miscellaneous general fund taxes this February, increased 19.7 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Those receipts include court fees along with liquor and cigarette taxes.

Total February tax receipts were $26.1 million compared to $20.9 million a year ago.

OBSERVATIONS

Sign is fitting tribute

The Wayne County courthouse property has a new sign on display now, and it's educational as well as decorative.

The sign carries a list of sites of historic importance in Wayne County, and those sites are plotted on a map of the county.

It's a terrific Bicentennial project — interesting, educational, and concerned with the local area.

A committee of Dr. Charles Maier, Dr. Marion Waggoner, and Mrs. Richard Baier, began the project last fall when they began digging into the county's history to determine which incidents and places in the county should go on the map.

The research is detailed and the results interesting. It is particularly appropriate that the historic map is dedicated to Dr.

Waggoner, who died before the project was completed.

Maier is a member of the Wayne Lion Club and was a driving force behind the club's sponsoring the sign. He is also largely responsible for the work of erecting the sign, along with fellow Lions including Bob Dwyer.

Rick and Julie Noyes are responsible for the sign's artistry, an occupation job.

The county commissioners should also be mentioned, for allowing location of the sign on the courthouse property.

The sign is something which will have permanence beyond the celebration of the Bicentennial. It is the result of a number of people working together toward a worthy end. It's a fitting tribute to the nation's 200th birthday. — Jim Strayer.

What type of farm program is needed?

Nebraska farmers and ranchers need to be thinking on what kind of federal farm program they want and making their wishes known to the political candidates who are seeking their votes in this election year.

The major provisions of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, including authority for the present wheat, cotton and feed grains programs, will expire at the end of 1977. It might be that Congress would try to pass a "quickie" farm bill this year but that is a remote possibility.

The history of government farm programs goes back to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of May 12, 1933 which authorized production control as the primary tool for raising farm prices and income. The acreage reduction programs could not raise prices fast enough for the producers of cotton and corn and they demanded price fixing. The government responded by creating the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) in October 1933 which made immediate non-recourse loans for these commodities and the CCC has been used to carry out many government programs since that time.

Surplus disposal programs were also initiated in October 1933, first carried out by the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation. Today's Food Stamp, School Lunch, School Milk and other distribution programs developed from these early surplus disposal programs.

Federal farm programs were subject to various and sundry changes over a 40 year period but the basic reliance was on restricting acreage and limiting farm production in various ways in order to avoid a pileup of government-held surpluses.

The genius of U.S. farmers found ways to boost total production on their restricted acreage and, except for emergency periods such as World War II and the Korean War, surpluses remained a problem. Farmers left their farms in alarming numbers during the 1950's and 1960's as government programs hastened the trend to larger and larger units as a means to survival. Many criticized operation of the CCC programs, accused the government of using its vast holdings to dump grain onto the market to hold down prices for the benefit of consumers in a "cheap food policy."

A turn-around came in farm programs in 1970. The Agricultural Act of 1970 discontinued crop-by-crop acreage allotments and marketing quotas for wheat, feed grains and upland cotton. To receive price supports the farmer was required to keep a specific percentage of his cropland out of production but he could then grow whatever he wished on his remaining land except for crops that remained under control because of earlier legislation.

But the big change came in 1973 with the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act which placed its emphasis on production to respond to world-wide demand for food and fiber. A new concept was introduced under which supports were to be used only when market prices fell below target price levels. Payments were not to be made as they had been in earlier programs when market prices were high. An escalator clause allows for adjustment of target prices in 1976 and 1977 to reflect changes in farm production costs. Payments, if used, are limited to $20,000 per person.

Government subsidy payments here in Nebraska to farmers dropped from a record high of $233.3 million in 1972 down to $21 million in 1974. The CCC holdings of government-owned grains was cleaned out by export sales to meet world demand in 1972 and 1973. In 1960, the CCC holdings of wheat had amounted to 1.1 billion bushels, owned and controlled by the government.

The record harvests of 1973, despite substantial exports, have produced surpluses which are now held by the farmers themselves and the grain trade, not the government. Now producers are worrying about how to cope with substantially lower prices if 1974 proves to be another top production year.

Politicians are talking in terms of government held "grain reserves" to "stabilize" prices and insure national and world food supplies. The words are lulling and tempting as they have always been. The real question for farmers and ranchers is, "Do you want to head back into the agricultural conditions of the 1950's and 1960's?" This is decision year on which way farm programs will turn. — M. M. Van Kirk, Nebraska Farm Bureau.

Business leader knocks jobs bill

The Humphrey Hawkins bill to create public jobs for the unemployed would be a great piece of legislation if it didn't have three small flaws.

—It's not needed.
—It wouldn't work.
—It would cause inflation.

Let's take those points one at a time. It's not needed. The problem is diminishing. A year ago, the unemployment rate was nearly nine per cent. It's now down to 7.5 per cent. Furthermore, today's unemployment is concentrated in certain areas and affects certain groups, such as teenagers, for example. The Humphrey-Hawkins bill would apply a massive across-the-board effort to a problem that requires more specialized solutions. The bill would require national economic planning and mass-produced public service jobs. It's like using a sledgehammer to drive a tack.

We often overlook the other side of the unemployment coin, employment. In the last year, the economy has expanded by 2.6 million jobs, at an all-time employment high of 86.7 million. Our private economy is creating new jobs at a faster rate than any other major industrial economy. One reason that the unemployment rate is high is the very rapid growth in labor force participation. This is a healthy sign — more people are being drawn into the labor force by the rapid growth in job opportunities.

It often takes a period of time for this "bulge" of new jobseekers to be digested into the work force.

It wouldn't work. Think it through. What kinds of "jobs" could the government create?

If the pay offered is very much above the minimum wage, (and this is likely to be the case), then people who already have jobs will quit them to join the government program — and the government, like any other potential employer, is likely to hire first the best-qualified applicants.

Finally, where is the money for the public jobs going to come from? When the government increased spending — for public service jobs or anything else — the money it uses comes either from taxes or from borrowing. In either case, it is money no longer available to the private sector, which is much more efficient than the government at turning money into jobs. Therefore, the jobs "created" by the government are likely in the end to be subtracted from the private sector.

It would cause inflation. The target unemployment rate of the Humphrey Hawkins bill is three per cent. What are we going to do to get that many people into jobs ... revive the draft? Remember, not all of the unemployed are unable to find work. Some of them are unemployed for perfectly valid reasons.

Workers between jobs, housewives temporarily withdrawing from the labor market to raise children, workers waiting for the factory to rehire them, graduates looking for their first jobs, etc.

Trying to get unemployment down to a rate of three per cent would, according to a recent Library of Congress study, cause the inflation rate to surge back to the double digits.

I don't want to minimize the impact of unemployment on those who want jobs and cannot find them. It is a recurrent problem that we need to solve. The best way to solve this, however, is by expanding our economy and creating real jobs in private enterprise. To do this, we need to remove obstacles, such as excessive government regulations and taxes, that stand in the way of economic growth. We also need to improve career education and job training. And also needed is a realistic minimum wage for teenagers so they aren't priced out of the job market.

But what we don't need is the Humphrey Hawkins bill. It's a potential disaster looking for a place to happen. — Richard Lester, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Goss's Wilt Could Endanger Corn Crop

Nebraska's corn crop may be in danger of a serious epidemic of Goss's wilt, prompting three field research projects by the University of Nebraska in an attempt to understand and control the disease.

According to Dr. David Wysong, NU extension plant pathologist and Ben Doupnik, district specialist (plant pathology), the disease appeared in Nebraska in 1969 and has since spread to adjacent states, resulting in an extensive problem in northwest Kansas last year. He said that 38 counties out of Nebraska's 93 have encountered the disease; however, this figure is probably low since these are only counties where the disease has been confirmed, said Wysong.

The wilt and corn leaf blight which results in yield losses of up to 50 per cent, has been researched from the bacterium-disease relationship. But this summer's research will attempt to answer three burning questions, said Wysong.

—What can farmers plant that has resistance to the disease?

—What level of disease can be tolerated without yield depression?

—Will plant time affect disease severity?

To answer the first question on resistant corn varieties, the NU Board of Regents has approved a plan to assess seed corn companies $50 for each entry to be tested for Goss's wilt resistance. Wysong and Doupnik said that 137 hybrids from 32 corn companies will be planted in five different locations — Furnas, Dundy, Keith, Howard and Rock Counties — to evaluate each hybrid's reaction to the disease and to find out if there is a trade-off between resistance and yield.

The plantings will be replicated three times in each location and will be monitored every two weeks to determine the time of infection and disease severity.

Researchers will make stalk rot evaluations and yield data, all of which will be available through county extension offices as reports are forthcoming.

In answer to the second question on yield depression, researchers will utilize two bactericides on three hybrids with high, moderate and low resistance planted in a site highly susceptible to the disease. The hybrids will be replicated four times, each sprayed with different chemicals. A second site in a low disease susceptible area will not have any chemicals applied.

applied to check the affect of the chemicals on the yield, said Wysong.

The diseased planting will be near Dannebrog; the clean site will be at the South Central Station near Clay Center.

The third research project will attempt to answer the effects of planting time on the disease. Two hybrids will be planted three times; the first planting went in April 21, a second series of plots will be planted two weeks after the first planting emerges, with a third planting two weeks after the emergence of the second series of plots. Each will be replicated three times near Dannebrog. Researchers will study the time of infection, the disease development and intensity through the season, and stalk rot data. Yield data will be recorded since planting times will have its own effect on yields, explained Wysong.

Each of the research project deals with genetic control because "genetic control appears to be the most practical at the moment." Fungicides and bactericides cost money and application time; cultural practices are not always feasible since they will result in complications. For instance, fall plowing would help kill the bacterium but would cause erosion.

"Genes governing resistance are available but we need to incorporate them into agronomic material. This takes time but it looks the most logical," Wysong explained.

Other researchers at NU and other universities are investigating the disease in relationship to water resources, winter survival of the bacterium, seed transmission and other factors.

COW-CALF MANAGEMENT
The spring calving season is about over and it's time to start working on the 1977 crop. Breeding season is a critical time for cow call operators. It is the time to aim for a 100 per cent conception rate in females.

The normal estrus cycle for a cow is 18-21 days. If you are going to turn a bull in with the cows for 60 days, you'll have a 60 day calving season next year and it's important to keep this season short.

VACCINATION PROGRAM
While cows are open and before the bull has been turned out, cows should be vaccinated for vibriosis, leptospirosis and IBR (infectious bovine rhinotracheitis).

Another management practice now timely is the castration of age calves at two months of age. Calves at this age undergo less stress from castration. Any dehiscing or implanting may also be done at this time.

Buying A Bull
If you're considering buying a new bull, remember that a performance-tested bull may add pounds and profit.

Here is an example: Bull A has a yearling weight of 975 pounds; Bull B, 1125 pounds, or a difference of 150 pounds. If you breed Bull B to 25 cows each year, you'll find that his calves at an average price of 45 cents a pound, you'll find that you can pay for $1,000 to $1,400 more for Bull B than for Bull A and still make a profit.

RULES FOR ALFALFA HAYLAGE
Haylage should be harvested at bud stage.

Fine chop is important for keeping air out.

Even distribution in the silo.

Rapid and continuous silage filling. If the process of filling is delayed over several days the upper layer from each filling will be noticeably different in quality.

Use a top seal of wet forage. The top seal should be covered with a sheet of plastic film.

PRUNING
The growth habit and flowering characteristics should be taken into consideration when pruning flowering shrubs and trees. Those that bloom in spring usually produce flowers on the growth that was made the previous year. Plants in this group (reubus, crabapples, lilacs, flowering quince, spring blooming spirea, mock orange, forsythia) should be pruned immediately after they have completed blooming.

Shrubs and trees that bloom from early summer to late fall usually form flowers or shoots that have been produced early in the same season. Plants in this group (summer flowering spirea, hydrangea, elderberry, snowball, viburnum) should be pruned while dormant, preferably in April or until the danger of late frost is past so that the growth stimulated by pruning would not be killed.

Wayne Peppy Pals
During the April 14 meeting of the Wayne Peppy Pals 4-H Club at the Howard Peters home, Marion Shaler, a conservation officer from Norfolk, answered questions on hunting and fishing regulations. The group also did a pollution experiment with gold fish.

At the May 12 meeting in the Kent Wilke home, the group discussed decorating the pioneer graves at LaPorte Cemetery, taking part in the July 3 parade and planning for the campout June 4, 5 and 6 at Ponca State Park.

The next meeting is June 26 at 1:30 p.m. in the Richard Baier home.

high speed cultivator
Exclusive Danish vibrating shanks with "bulldog" clamp work at speeds of 50 100% faster than stiff shank cultivators (6 to 8 MPH at 3 to 5 inch working depth suits them fine in most soils). Each S shaped spring-steel shank dances its way down the field - side-to-side, forward and back.

Shovels shatter soil, remove weeds, shake loose trash, sidestep rocks and leave a fine mulch on top. Positive gauge, wheel adjustment and 5-shank gangs easily adjust to fit most row spacings 20-40". Stop in and talk with your dealer about other benefits.

Crop Improvement Group Tells Inspection Dates

Due dates for applications for field inspection and certification have been set by the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association. Deadlines for various crops are:

—June 15: Corn, turfgrass sod.

—July 1: All warm-season grasses, all sorghums, field beans, second crop alfalfa seed.

—August 1: Soybeans, millet, sudan, third crop alfalfa seed.

NCIA manager Dean Lancaster advises "use a separate application of each variety and each class of seed. When applying, be sure to fill the form out completely and accurately, at each a tag verifying the source of seed you planted, and enclose a check for the inspection fee. An incomplete application will cause unnecessary delay in processing.

"Seed producers who have fields that are eligible for certification are encouraged to make application for field inspection. Seed cannot be certified unless the fields are inspected before the seed is harvested."

Application blanks and further information are available from county extension offices or from the NCIA office at Kalm Hall, East Campus, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE 68583.

4-H CLUB

Cloverettes
The Cloverettes 4-H Club held their meeting May 11 in the home of Gwen Victor. Roll call was answered by members saying what they were going to do this summer.

Thirteen members were present. Visitors were Mrs. Gustafson and Mrs. Larry Lueh and Racquel.

The club discussed the theme for their float. It is Happy Birthday U.S.A., 200. Cloverettes 25. The celebration starts June 25.

The group also did some judging on different things.

Gwen Victor gave a demonstration on how to make snickerdoodles and also gave a talk on her cooking project. For lunch, she served many oriental foods for her cooking project.

The next meeting will be in the Murphy home with the date to be decided later.

Hearing Tests Set for Wayne

Electronic hearing tests will be given at the Professional Building, 112 West 2nd St. in Wayne on Friday May 21st from 10:00 to 12:00 by John Collins, Beltone Hearing Aid Specialist. These tests will be offered as part of the Better Hearing Workshop program now being conducted nationwide.

Anyone who has trouble hearing or understanding is welcome to come in for a test using the latest electronic equipment to determine his or her particular degree of hearing loss. Diagrams showing how the ear works and some of the causes of hearing loss will be available.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year. Even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told an aid won't help should have a hearing test and find out about the very latest kinds of hearing correction.

The free hearing test will be held at the Professional Buildings, 112 West 2nd St. on Friday May 21st from 10:00 to 12:00 by John Collins. If you can't get there on that day, arrange for an appointment at another time.

price the result of taxes. The same holds true for gasoline, at $1.20 a gallon. Taxes are also largely responsible for the $15,000 price tag on relatively inexpensive American automobiles.

Government services are wide-spread, including social security for everyone, socialized medicine, and universal day care for the children of working parents.

The government provides so many services, in fact, that over half the country's workers are employed by the state, and state jobs are generally more desirable than private jobs, according to Boel.

Boel said he isn't totally opposed to government-provided services, but he still believes the country cheaper than the government.

"We are being overrun by our own social services system," he said. "There are more people working for the state than in private industry. You can't make a living by cutting your own hair."

up for awhile, but resumed last year. McLain's dad footed the $700 bill for books, lessons and aircraft maintenance, but Charlie says he has to pay it back by working at his father's service station in Carroll.

There has been a lot of reaction about Charlie's flying from his classmates at Wayne High School, especially from friends who want to take a ride in his father's Cessna 150.

But Charlie is going to have to wait another year before anyone can fly with him. According to FAA rules, he must turn 17 and pass a test for a private pilot's license before he can transport passengers.

For now, McLain is satisfied with flying around his home territory, but this summer he'll try his cross-country solo flight to Sioux City, Sioux Falls and back to Wayne.

McLain said the most important tip he's learned to help him during cross country flight is to stay calm. "If you stay calm, chances are you won't lose yourself," he added.

To help him stay on course during his flights, Charlie relies on familiar farms and highway as markers. Later, he'll be using sophisticated navigation equipment.

What's all this flying leading to? If he passes his test for a private license and flies the required 40 hours, the youth is hoping to later pick up a commercial license.

Charlie's older sister, Sandra, 17, also has shown some interest in flying. Perhaps, his younger sister Sharon, 10, will too. But as far as his mother is concerned, "she likes to fly, but she doesn't want to solo," Charlie smiled.

Olympics—

Tour Group Views Conservation Projects

Representatives from a number of local agricultural agencies Friday got a first-hand look at what is being done to conserve soil and water resources in Wayne County.

Included in the tour of farm and other conservation projects were Arnold Marr and Verlin Frances from the county Soil Conservation Service (SCS) office, Ray Butts, Lynn Kramer and Irma Uebel from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASCS) office, Lavern Ostendorf from the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office, county extension agent Don Spitzer, USDA county committee member Alden Johnson, Norris Hansen and Ralph Olson, and USDA district director Gordon Nuernberger.

Butts and Marr said the purpose of the tour was to see what is being done locally regarding the application of conservation measures. The ASCS administers the agriculture conservation program (ACP). SCS field technicians assist with much of the actual conservation work, and the FmHA is involved in conservation through farm loans.

Sites visited on the tour include: —A seven-year-old windbreak on the Wilbert Stuthman farm nine miles south and one and one-half miles east of Wayne.

—The Otto Fields road structure, 15 miles southwest of Wayne. The earthen dam road structure replaces a conventional bridge and helps prevent water erosion. The tour group viewed, in the same general area, an example of a watershed protected by terracing, on the Harry Heinemann and Billy Suhl farms.

—Feedlot waste management was the reason for a stop at the Mike Deck farm about seven miles southwest of Winside. Deck's system diverts runoff water away from a creek, and onto a field where feedlot wastes have some value as fertilizer.

—Just west of Deck's farm is the Program road structure, similar to the Fields structure. The Program structure was built two years ago with the county and the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (NRD) sharing the $16,000 cost. Replacement of a bridge there would have cost about $40,000, and would have allowed continued erosion from water flowing in a gully. One of the largest such road structures in the county, it includes a drainage tube four feet in diameter to channel water from one side of the road to the other.

—Two miles northwest of the Program structure, the tour group viewed a badly eroded gully. The location is the site for a proposed project which will include three earthen road structures, two field structures, and over a mile of grassed waterways. Costs for the project will be shared by the Lower Elkhorn NRD, the ASCS, Wayne County, American Telephone and Telegraph, and Lyle Maroz, Harold Wiffler and Don Langenberg.

The project was proposed by AT & T because a telephone cable buried in the gully was uncovered by water erosion. The road structures will replace conventional bridges. The field structures, on property owned by Maroz, Wiffler and Langenberg, will help prevent erosion of agricultural land.

—The tour group also viewed a center-pivot irrigation system on the Gene Behringer farm east of Winside, and a tile drainage system, which converted useless marshland into productive farm acres on the Lester Sprowl farm.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE director Arnold Marr surveys the massive tube which drains water backed up on the other side of this earthen dam road structure, southwest of Winside. The road structure was one of a number of conservation projects toured by Wayne County USDA workers Friday afternoon.

Ladies Hold Guest Day At Grace

Members of the Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid met at the church May 12 for their annual guest day meeting. One hundred and twenty attended, including guests from St. John's Lutheran Church at Wakefield, First United Methodist Church at Wakefield and Grace Lutheran Evening Circle.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ed Baker, Mrs. Herbert Barrett, Mrs. Lillian Berres, Mrs. Adolph Clausen, Mrs. Amos Echtenkamp and Mrs. Herb Echtenkamp.

Mrs. Herman Vahlkamp gave devotions and the group sang "God Bless America." Mr. and Mrs. Alex Liska showed slides of Czechoslovakia.

Potted plants were awarded to Bertha Utech, oldest woman attending; Mrs. Ron Holling, youngest; Mrs. C.C. Powers, who was 76 years old; Mrs. Lester Hansen and Mrs. Harvey Echtenkamp, allied in most red, white and blue; Mrs. Jim Marsh and Mrs. Carl Frevert, wearing the oldest jewelry; Mrs. Harry Wert and Mrs. George Holtorf, who still make homemade soap, and Mrs. Carl Bichel, most grandchildren.

Mrs. Marvin Victor read a poem, entitled "Guests," and the program closed with prayer. Seated at the birthday table were Mrs. Adolph Clauson, Mrs. Herb Echtenkamp, Mrs. Bill Fredrickson, Mrs. Herman Ruebig and Mrs. Lillian Berres. Next regular meeting is scheduled for June 9 at 2 p.m. Hostesses will be Mrs. Julius Bajer, Mrs. Harold Ekberg and Mrs. William Eynon.

Engaged

Making plans for a Sept. 18 wedding at Sioux City are Marian Delaine Anderson and Michael George, both of Sioux City. The engagement has been announced by the couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson of Concord and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert George of Sioux City.

The bride-elect graduated from Sioux City Central High School and her fiancé graduated from Heelan High School in Sioux City. Both are employed in Sioux City.

Club Officers Installed at Breakfast

Mrs. Edna Casper installed new officers at a breakfast Friday, the final meeting of the season for the Wayne Federated Women's Club.

Mrs. Letta Maynard is president; Mrs. Charles Maier, first vice president; Mrs. Robert Vakoc, second vice president; Mrs. Henry Rethwisch, treasurer; Mrs. Mildred West, secretary; and Mrs. Alvin Daum, auditor.

Fifty-six women attended the breakfast. Hostess was Mrs. Don Wightman, assisted by Mrs. Clifford Johnson, Mrs. Vernon Predoehl, Mrs. Robert Haas, Mrs. Willard Wittse and Mrs. Lillian Miller.

Chairmen of standing committees for the coming year were announced. Mrs. Hazel Smith is music chairman. Mrs. Howard Witt, publicity; Mrs. Lucile Larson, house and rentals; and Mrs. Clifford Johnson, budget.

Others named to chairmanships are Mrs. Alford Koplin, arts and crafts; Mrs. Edna Casper, registrar; Mrs. Martin Lage, receptionist; Mrs. Robert Gormley, hostesses; Mrs. Mabel Sorenson, Wayne County Historical Society; Mrs. Maunso Ulrich, gifts, and Mrs. Frank Morgan, parliamentary.

Reports by officers and committee heads, summarizing the activities of the 1975-76 club activities were given, and it was reported that the average attendance for the year had exceeded 40, not including program guests. Convention delegates reported on the state meeting held in Norfolk April 28-30. The club's Bicentennial quilt, which received a citation from the state crafts committee at the convention, was displayed and Mrs. Maynard read the essay which won her first place in this year's NFWC professional writing contest.

Tomatoes will taste better if not refrigerated, but do not delay using them.

MEMBERS of Wayne's Federated Women's Club held installation Friday, following the group's May breakfast meeting. New officers are clockwise from front: Mrs. Letta Maynard, president; Mrs. Robert Vakoc, second vice president; Mrs. Henry Rethwisch, treasurer; Mrs. Mildred West, secretary; and Mrs. Alvin Daum, auditor. Not present for the picture was Mrs. Charles Maier, first vice president.

It was announced that Mrs. Paula Strahan will be chairman of a reading program to be initiated next year. Prizes are awarded by the NFWC to clubs with the highest percentage of members who read three books during the year, one of which must be non-fiction. Readers will report to Mrs. Strahan. Signing up as new members at the breakfast meeting were Mrs. Arline Ulrich, Eleanor Heithold and Mrs. William Hagerman.

Officers and members of the executive board and committees will meet during the summer to plan for the coming year. The next regular meeting of the club will be Sept. 10.

During the business meeting following the breakfast, the group voted to accept bids for redecorating the club kitchen and bathroom, approved a $25 donation made to the recent ARC Olympics, and made a gift of $100 to the Wayne County Bicentennial committee to assist in the celebration to be held July 3-5 in Wayne.

Brandstetter Has Leading Role in Minnesota Opera

John Brandstetter, voice teacher at the University of Minnesota, was one of the main characters in the Minnesota Opera Company's premiere of Dominick Argento's opera, "The Voyage of Edgar Allen Poe." The production was staged April 24 and May 1, 7 and 8 at the I.A. O'Shaughnessy Auditorium at the College of St. Catherine.

Brandstetter, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Brandstetter Wayne, and a graduate of Wayne High School, plays the character Rev. Rufus Griswold. In the opera, Composer Argento treats not the author's creations but his life, taking Poe's death as its starting point.

Brandstetter received his BME and MM degrees from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, during which time he sang 15 leading roles including Figaro in "Barber of Seville," Horace Tabor in "The Ballad of Baby Doe," and Nick Shadow in "Rake's Progress." This season he appeared in Minnesota Opera's "Black River" and "El Capitan."

JOHN BRANDSTETTER

Brandstetter's past honors include several Metropolitan Opera Regional Auditions awards and second place in the Washington International Competition for Singers.

Gardeners Club Meets Thursday

Eleven members of the Roving Gardeners Club met with Mrs. Val Damme Thursday, answering roll call by naming a flower in mother's garden. Mrs. Ed Grubb was a guest.

Mrs. Harry Heinenmann read an article, entitled "A Way Out of Wastemaking." Mrs. Walter Spittgerber presented the comprehensive study on lilies and Mrs. George Biermann had the lesson on gardening in containers. Club members helped Wisner Manor residents plant their gardens and flowers Tuesday.

Next meeting will be June 10 at 2 p.m. with Mrs. George Biermann.

Castillo-Lesh Plan to Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Castillo of Caracas, Venezuela announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rosa Mery Castillo, to Kurt Lesh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lesh of Wayne.

Miss Castillo graduated from Wayne High School in 1972 after attending classes there for one year as a foreign exchange student. While attending school in Wayne she has made her home with the Max Lundstrom family. She graduated this year from Wayne State College where she was affiliated with Alpha Lambda Delta and Cardinal Key national honoraries.

Her fiancé, also a 1972 Wayne High graduate, attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln where he was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, Phi Eta Sigma scholastic honorary and Nu-Meds. He is a medical student at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha.

Plans are being made for a July 3 wedding at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

Policy on Weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a column underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

Exchange Wedding Vows May 15 at Hoskins Church

Debra Renay Kruger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvon Kruger of Hoskins, and James William Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Denker of Norfolk, exchanged wedding vows Saturday at the Hoskins Trinity Lutheran Church.

MRS. JAMES RHODES

officiated at the 6:30 p.m. rites. Cindy Thomas sang "O Promised Land" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Ronald Schmidt.

The bride's honor attendant was Bev Tiedgen of Norfolk. Bridesmaid was her sister, Diane Kruger of Hoskins. Best man was Steve Kruse of Norfolk.

and groomsmen were Larry Rhodes of Norfolk, brother of the groom.

The bride appeared at her father's side wearing a white satin, gown trimmed with lace and pearls. Her veil was attached to a lace and pearl headpiece and she carried white daisies and yellow roses.

The bridal attendants wore floor-length yellow gowns. They wore matching bridal hats and carried white daisies. The men wore brown suits.

Mrs. Kruger wore a blue floor-length dress. Mrs. Rhodes also chose a floor-length dress in light blue. Both had a daisy corsage.

Rosind Miller of Norfolk registered the 200 guests who were ushered into the church by Doug Ojien of Norfolk and Keith Denker of Wisner. Candles were lighted by the bride's brother, David Kruger of Hoskins.

Reception hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Frederick of Randolph. The reception was held in the Trinity Lutheran School basement following the ceremony. Gifts were arranged by Lynn Ojien, Vicky Heiderman and Ann and Kay Hensley.

Mrs. Gene Wagner and Mrs. Gerald Heiderman cut and served the cake which was baked by Mrs. Harlen Raabe of Norfolk. Mrs. Gilbert Ojien poured and Donna Anderson served punch. Waitresses were Tracy and Treasa Lewis. Helping in the kitchen were members of the church's Ladies Aid.

The couple are making their first home at 309 N. First St., Norfolk. The bride attended school at Winside and Norfolk and is employed at Dale Electronics. The bridegroom attended school in Norfolk and is employed with Bleyht Construction Co.

June Bride Honored

A miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Karen Quam of Omaha was held at the Trinity Lutheran Parish Hall, Martinsburg, Sunday afternoon.

Miss Quam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sig Quam of Fairbury, and Dennis Mattes of Omaha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mattes of Allen, will be married June 18 at the Methodist Church in Fairbury.

Sixty guests attended the fête from Sioux City, Laurel, Dixon, Allen, Waterbury, Fairbury, Ponca, Omaha, Concord and Bancroft. Decorations were in red, white and blue.

Mrs. Ted Johnson had devotions. Piano selections were presented by Shelly and Julie Frederickson, and a poem, entitled "How to Preserve a Husband," was read by Mrs. Francis Mattes.

Shelly and Julie Frederickson and Ellen Mattes carried gifts. Assisting the bride in opening her gifts were Mrs. Tom Frederickson of Laurel and Mrs. Gary Seachord of Lincoln.

Hostesses were Mrs. Frances Mattes, Waterbury, Mrs. Elli Schoenroch, Ponca, Mrs. Elmer Schutte, Mrs. Walter Schutte, Mrs. Dea Karnes, Mrs. Ted Johnson, Mrs. Steve Schutte, Mrs. David Schutte and Mrs. Mike Kreiff, all of Dixon, Mrs. William Schutte, Allen, and Amanda Schutte, Laurel.

Daughter Baptized
Kandi Lee Bodlak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bodlak, was baptized Sunday afternoon at the Evangelical Covenant Church, Wakefield.

Devotions were luncheon guests afterward in the Jerry Bodlak home, Thurston.

Five Courtesies Held in Honor Of Jane Ring
Five bridal courtesies have been held during April and May for Jane Ring of Wayne.

Miss Ring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ring, and Kerry Jech, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Jech, all of Wayne, will be married Friday at the Wakefield Christian Church.

Karen Black of Wayne was hostess for a miscellaneous shower April 6 and ladies of the Wakefield-Christian Church honored Miss Ring with a miscellaneous fête April 23. Hostesses for the April 23 courtesies were Mrs. Gene Fletcher and Mrs. Wilbur Giese, both of Wayne, and Mrs. Brice Nicholson and Mrs. Dale Malmberg, both of Pender.

The bride elect was entertained at a grocery shower in Pfliger on April 25. Hostesses were Mrs. Dorothy Anders, Mrs. Sally Stuthman, Mrs. Clara Severa and Mrs. Florence Carson.

LouAnn Nicholson of Norfolk held a personal shower for Miss Ring at the Norfolk Christian College on May 4 and Mrs. Ron Ring of Wakefield held a linen shower in her home May 8.

May Meeting Is Breakfast
United Methodist Women met at the church for a breakfast May 12.

About forty-five women attended the meeting. The Guilders Interest Group was in charge of serving. Tables were decorated with spring colors and flowers.

President Mrs. Mildred Jones opened the meeting. It was announced that 18 Methodist women were guests at a meeting of the Logan Center ladies. Mrs. Jerry Kohl reminded members to "contact her" about persons who are ill so they can be remembered. Several thank you notes were read from persons remembered in the past.

Plans were made for a congregational potluck dinner this Sunday at 12:30 p.m. to honor graduates and the Rhodesian speaker who will be at the church that day. Volunteers who will help with the dinner are Mrs. Robert Porter, Mrs. Jim Marsh, Mrs. Kenneth Edmonds and Mrs. William Sharpe.

Mrs. Lester Hansen gave devotions and introduced the speaker, Dr. Neal Phelps of Wayne State College. Dr. Phelps' topic, "Death and Dying," emphasized the need for better communication with persons who are dying.

Next meeting will be June 9 at 1 p.m. with Mrs. William Wilson in charge of the program.

Bridal Shower Held at Carroll
Becky Owens of Carroll entertained classmates and ball team partners at a bridal shower Friday evening in the Dean Owens home, honoring Judy Kavanaugh of Carroll. Co-hostesses were Peggy Bowers and Debra Brader.

Decorations were in blue and white and games served for entertainment with prizes going to the honoree.

Four Observe Birthdays at Senior Center
Annie Ruebig, Emma Soules, Leona Bahde and Ruby Jensen celebrated their birthdays at the Wayne Senior Citizens Center Friday afternoon.

Sixty-eight persons attended the celebration. Following the traditional birthday song, Mrs. Jocell Bull, center director, led in group singing. Accompanist was Alma Spittiger.

Tables were centered with Lily of the Valley flowers and a homegrown bouquet was furnished by Mary Echtenkamp.

Furnishing a lunch of sandwiches, relishes, ice cream and coffee were the honorees and Goldie Leonard, Mathilde Harms, Ed Johnson, Glen Sumner, Elsie Ehlers, Nellie Brockman, Mina Dunklau, John and Myrtle Weber, Alice Dorman, Mary Kleper and Mary Echtenkamp.

Helping the honorees in serving and cleanup were Goldie Leonard, Mathilde Harms, Mary Echtenkamp and Bessie-Peterman.

JO Tryouts To Be Held At Sioux City

Youngsters under 18 years of age in Wayne, Dixon and Cedar Counties who want to test their abilities in Junior Olympics will have a chance to do so Saturday, May 29, at Sioux City.

Verne Parmelee is in charge of the meet which includes participants from eight Nebraska counties and five Iowa counties. Youths entering the contest can write or phone Parmelee in Sioux City for entry blanks or pick them up at the meet. Parmelee advised that contestants should get their forms in to him by May 25 if they want to be assured of competing.

The meet at Roberts Stadium will start at 9 a.m. for the field events and noon for the running events.

There are five age group divisions for competition: banquets (under age nine), midgets (10-11), juniors (12-13), intermediates (14-15) and seniors (16-17).

The winner and runnerup in individual events plus the winning relay team will qualify for the Midwestern Association championships at Hastings, June 12-13.

The Midwestern meet will determine qualifiers for the regional championships in St. Paul, Minn., July 17. The winners at the regional level then qualify for the national J.O. championships in August at Memphis, Tenn.

Off-Road Vehicles Causing Problems

Four-wheel-drive rigs, all-terrain vehicles, dirt bikes and other off-road vehicles are good things in their proper place. But that place is not the hills and fields of state parks, outdoor recreation areas and wildlife lands. And, neither is private property if the landowner has not given his permission.

These off-road vehicles have been a source of problems in recent years. Contrary to regulations, drivers have been taking these machines off roads and heading across country on Game and Parks Commission areas. And, the same thing has also been occurring on private property without the owner's permission.

Game and Parks Commission regulations prohibits use of any vehicle off established roads and parking lots, and both the vehicle and its operator must be licensed. Of course, very strict state laws on trespassing govern access to private lands.

Penalty for trespassing on private property is a maximum of $500 fine and/or six months in jail.

Action in NEN League Opens Sunday

Two of the three area town teams will open season play Sunday in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League fresh off victories over a pair of clubs from the Tri-County Amateur Baseball League.

Wakefield pounded Tilden-Battle Creek, 14-4, and Allen-Martinsburg whipped Laurel, 10-2. At Crofton, Wayne fell 21-3.

Wakefield hurler Randy Nelson only gave up one hit in five innings and Earle Overlin who threw for one frame didn't give up any hits. Overlin led hitters with a three-run circuit shot while Rob Eaton, Kirk Gardner and Dale Belt each doubled.

Tim Hill blasted a solo home run to lead Allen's hitting. Sharing the pitching duties were Paul Snyder, Neil Blighm and Gary Troth.

No information was available for the Wayne game. Two area teams open at home Sunday. Wayne hosts defending champion Homer and Wakefield takes on Newcastle. Allen travels to Pender.

AN ATTEMPTED pick off play at first base almost goes awry for Wakefield Tuesday when pitcher Mike Soderberg throws wide to teammate Chuck Wageman. The ball jumped up and back into Wageman's glove, giving Wayne runner Doug Carroll plenty of time to get back on first. The Blue Devils went on to win the Class B district title by nipping the Trojans, 9-7, in the seven-inning contest which saw both teams rap a total of 17 hits.

'This Could Be the Year to Win State' Devils Are 'B' Champs

By BOB BARTLETT

Wayne High will have to clean up a few errors if the Blue Devils are going to play championship caliber baseball against Omaha Bishop Ryan High in the finals of the state Class B high school playoff Monday.

The locals committed a total of six miscues during their 9.7 struggle over Wakefield Tuesday to clinch the district title at Wayne.

The Devils of coach Mike Mallette will have their best shot this year to bring home a state championship trophy—the first since 1970—if they play heads-up ball and relax.

Playing relaxed ball was the one thing neither club displayed in the seven-inning contest which saw a total of 11 errors.

"The kids were just too nervous to play good ball," Mallette pointed out after Wayne notched its 13th win against only two defeats.

Wayne regained its composure late in the fifth inning when the Devils took advantage of two costly Trojan errors to score three runs and forge a 8-7 margin.

With two out, designated hitter Larry Creighton walked to first and stole second. Second baseman Randy Park followed when an error on Trojan shortstop Mike Soderberg allowed him to get on first. Then relief pitcher Dave Hix ripped a two-run single to tie the game at seven-all. Hix later scored when third baseman Doug Starzl muffed the play.

Despite trailing 8-7, coach Joe Coble's club didn't fold. Wakefield had runners on first and third and tried a delayed steal in the fifth.

Soderberg, who got on first via a walk, later advanced to third while teammate Dave Gustafson was on first. Gustafson started to head for second in an effort to force Hix to throw him out and let Soderberg score from third. But the take didn't work.

Hix threw to second baseman Steve Bodensiedt who started the chase down. After several throws, Soderberg decided to make his running attempt to wards home. By that time, converted shortstop Paul Mallette lifted the ball to freshman catcher Tom Ginn who tagged the Wakefield runner.

Wayne jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the top half of the first inning off one run and two Wakefield errors. The Trojans countered with two in its half off a run and a pair of Wayne miscues.

Each club added one run each in the second before Wakefield garnered two in the third to Wayne's one for a five-all ball game. Wakefield continued to harass Wayne's defense in its half of the fourth by scoring two more runs for a 7-5 command.

Hix walked Dan Byers and Soderberg before a bunt down third base line by Starzl loaded the sacks. Byers raced home apparently catching the Devils off guard when Hix threw to the plate. Ginn dropped the ball out of his glove. Soderberg later came home when the wind held up a fly to left field, allowing the ball to fall to the ground.

WAYNE'S drop this year from Class B to Class C in American Legion baseball this summer apparently has caused a lot of concern among area coaches. Rumors have it that Class C Emerson and Laurel, to name a few, may jump up to Class B just to get away from having to play the locals.

Reportly, Emerson will have a strong nucleus this year which could give the area club a good shot at a state title. Rather than sacrifice that chance in Class C, the team may pick up a few players from surrounding schools to make the move to B. The same applies to Laurel which will be coached by Bob Weisenberg. If Weisenberg picks up some players say from Allen, chances are Laurel will compete in Class B.

Wayne coach Hank Overlin said that now he wishes his club would have stayed in B after he learned that Class B will be double elimination rather than single elimination because of the few teams in that division. Also, there won't be any district playoffs in B, just area and state tournaments.

In Class C, however, there will be district, area and state meets.

THE MIDGETS division of the Ralph Bishop Baseball League is back to a healthy eight teams, reports league manager Hank Overlin. Wakefield coach Rod Storm contacted Hank last week and got the okay.

Although the summer schedule already is made, Hank said teams with a bye will play Wakefield at 7 p.m. It will be decided later which team will be the home club. The other seven league teams are from Wayne, Wakefield, Wisner, Laurel, Pender, Emerson, and Bancroft. Wakefield, however, will not belong to the Pee Wees or Legion divisions.

THAT LIST of players interested in playing slow pitch softball in Wayne is really growing. If you're interested and haven't contacted me to include you,

According to the last census, the population of Pennsylvania was 11,794,000—that's more than the populations of Denmark and Bolivia combined!

Over the past 20 years Pennsylvania's Department of Commerce has lent $334 million to help business in that state. That has paid off in 164,000 jobs!

The lending arm of the Department of Commerce is called The Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority (PIDA).

One rule of thumb of PIDA is that at least one job should result from every $5,000 lent. But they calculate that so far more than two jobs—not just one—have been the result!

Saul Ends Season with Lowest ERA

Roger Sauk, junior from Wayne, led Wayne State pitching statistics in the 1976 season just finished. Freshman Brian Poldberg topped the batting averages, and Jerry Frerichs had the best fielding average. Sauk posted the team's lowest earned run average at 1.98 and tied with senior Bob DeVaul for the best win-loss record, 5-1.

In a year when coach Larry Schultz had unusual depth and balance of pitching talent, no hurler logged a lot of innings. Darrell Winger got in the most, 42 innings, followed by Sauk's 40 2/3. DeKaul, usually the team's most active pitcher in other years, worked only 27 2/3 innings, but struck out the most batters, 37.

Saul and Jim Auck tied for second in fanning batters, 34. Curiously, Auck finished with a 1.3 record—most of his innings in relief against strong teams, ahead at the time.

The whole pitching corps posted a 3.99 earned run average. Two batters finished over 300 — Poldberg, 314 and Terry Thorn, 303. Rookie second baseman — sometimes first baseman — Poldberg led in doubles, nine, and sacrifices, five. Thorn registered the most at bats, 142, and most hits, 43.

Randy Miller, who divided time between first base and outfield, finished with a .298 average and led the team in three statistics — 32 runs, 38 walks, 30 runs batted in.

Jim Kopecky batted .295. Jerry Frerichs, 288, Don Hasenkamp, 281 and Lyle Smith, 277, all of these above the team's .268 batting average.

Frerichs topped all batters in home runs, eight. Although he performed as designated hitter much of the time, Frerichs played first base enough to rank third in put outs, and his fielding average of .984 ranked No. 1. He made only two errors.

First baseman Miller logged 149 put outs, three errors and a fielding average of .961. Senior catchers and team captain Nick Danze accounted for 115 put outs, and a fielding average of .977.

The team's fielding average was .944. Season combat ended Saturday.

day on a disappointing note when Kearney State defeated Wayne 5-1 in the Nebraska NAIA district playoff at Kearney. It was the Antelope's third straight district championship, matching the three straight Wayne won in the preceding years.

In regular season games, Wayne beat Kearney twice to claim the Nebraska College Conference title, undefeated.

But in the playoff, Schultz said, "Kearney just beat us. We didn't get the hits, but the pitcher did well in all four playoff games."

Wayne dumped Dana twice, 5-2 and 6-3, lost to Kearney 4-0 between the two wins.

The Wildcats finished at 21-19, an improvement on last year's rare losing season, 15-21. This time the schedule presented the toughest opposition ever, including 12 games against five Big Eight teams, Wayne winning two.

Entry Blanks Available for Tennis Tourney

Entry blanks for the Northeast Nebraska Bicentennial Amateur Tennis Tournament are available in several Wayne businesses.

Persons interested in playing in the tourney can pick up forms at State National Bank, Peoples Natural Gas, Fal Kat Drive-in, The Wayne Herald and First National Bank.

The tournament, which has 10 age divisions, will run from Thursday, May 27, through Saturday, May 30.

The categories are: boys, 14 and under, 15 through 18, doubles; mens, 19 through 34, 35 through 44, 45 and over and doubles; women and girls singles and doubles, and mixed doubles.

Deadline to enter is Friday at 6 p.m. Costs are $2.50 for singles and $2 per person for doubles. Checks should be payable to Wayne Tennis Club and mailed to Tom Roberts, tournament director, at 512 Valley Dr., Wayne, NE 68787.

PAUL MALLETT

Mallette Intends To Play at Wayne

Paul Mallette, a multi-sport senior athlete at Wayne High School, has decided to limit himself to one sport at Wayne State College—baseball.

Already registered for the fall term, Mallette weighed in and potential in both football and baseball before choosing the latter. WS baseball coach Larry Schultz said.

"He can pitch and play infield, and he's a fine hitter," the coach commented. "We probably will use him both as an infielder and pitcher, where he is most valuable."

Another area player, Mike Soderberg of Wakefield, signed a letter of intent Wednesday to play for Wayne State. Both Soderberg and Mallette each received scholarships, the coach noted.

Mallette's choice of baseball is a blow to football, where coach Del Stollenberg expected him a good prospect as a quarterback and punter, his high school forte. Mallette also was a basketball starter.

5 Earn Ribbons

Five members of Wayne's trainable mentally retarded class earned ribbons during the handicapped children track and field meet sponsored by the Fremont Jaycees Saturday.

The youths are Michael Larson, Tami Hartmann, Rick Kenney, Cindy Siltman and Mark Faye Marolt. Each of the students completed in seven events.

Adults attending the meet were Mrs. Gertrude Vahlkamp, Mrs. Randall Larson and Mrs. Owen Hartmann.

Dry cleaning is recommended in caring for batik. If the fabric is to be used for screens, wall hangings or lamp shades, a coat of clear shellac may be applied or a protective plastic finish sprayed on.

'Pressure Doesn't Bother Stenwall'

Winside High senior Jill Stenwall "came through when the pressure was on" Saturday to win her second straight gold medal in the shot put during the state girls track meet at North Platte.

Stenwall, who was the last person to throw, pushed the steel ball to a new state record, 45-11, on her first toss.

"She got the suspense out of the way immediately," said a relieved coach Jim Winch. Winch said he was worried the pressure might get to Jill, but "she had her sights on another gold medal and met the challenge."

That challenge was from Jeanne Boiler of Dorchester, who was on top of the pack with a heave of 44-8 1/2 in Class D.

Last year Stenwall won her first gold with a make of 43-3 1/2, her first gold for the best throw among the competitors in all four classes. She repeated this year caused Winch to comment, "It would be nice to make Jill a freshman again."

In the discus, Jill finished first in Class C with a toss of 125-4, about 11 inches short of her all-time best. That toss also won her a gold in Class C.

Three area girls, Lisa Nuss of Wayne, Patti Stark of Laurel and Lori Erwin of Allen, placed among the top six in their events. Erwin missed winging the mile by almost two seconds. The Allen junior was clocked at 5:38.6, for second place in Class D.

Both Nuss and Stark finished fifth. Nuss won 5-1 in the high jump in Class B and Stark ran a 5:46.9 half mile in Class C.

A bit of bad luck hampered Wakefield and Wayne from possibly placing other entries. Wakefield's 440 relay team of WINSIDE HIGH'S premiere gold medal winner senior Jill Stenwall collected her second straight over-all gold Saturday in the state-high school girls track meet by winning the shot put with a record loss of 45-11.

Cheryl Nelson, Robin Mills, Mary Kober and Lisa Paul finished in 1, 3, 8, one tenth of a second off of a tie for sixth place. According to coach Ernie Kovar, his girls had a bad exchange.

For Wayne, long jumper Sydney Mosley twisted her ankle in practice at North Platte and couldn't compete.

Other area entries who competed but didn't place were:

Wayne—Lesla Barclay, shot put; Allen—Susie Erwin, 880; Lori Erwin, high jump; Laurel—Anita Eckert, shot put and discus; Winside—Gail Grone, high jump.

It's Easy To KILL YOUR BUSINESS

Don't Advertise

Just pretend you don't have anything to advertise this week. Forget the thousands of items you have on the shelves of your store, or the service you have to offer... don't let potential customers know about them. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

Don't Advertise

Say you don't have the time to fix up an advertisement this week. Just let opportunity after opportunity to promote your business pass by — it will take less of your time. And you'll be less busy serving customers if they don't know what you have to offer. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

Don't Advertise

Assume everybody in the trade territory knows what you have for sale, that you've been in business so long you don't need to advertise since the customers will come to you without it. Forget that there are new potential customers coming into the community, that you have new and better products to offer. Forget that you have to keep reminding your established customer to trade with you. Forget you have Big City competition trying to attract more customers. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

Don't Advertise

Tell yourself it costs too much to advertise — that you can't get enough out of it. Overlook the fact that advertising is an investment in selling — not an expense. Be sure you don't provide for an adequate advertising budget for your firm. IT'S A GOOD WAY TO KILL YOUR BUSINESS!

Card of Thanks

WE WOULD LIKE to thank all of our friends for cards, words of sympathy, food brought to our home, flowers, memorials, prayers and any other acts of kindness at the time of the loss of our mother and grandmother, Mrs. Julia Perdue. Our special thanks to Rev. Doug Porter for a beautiful service, and to the ladies of the Womens Association of the Presbyterian Church in Wayne and the Royal Neighbor Lodge in Wayne for the luncheon served to our family and friends. We will always appreciate your kindness. Hannah and Allan Perdue, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Geiger, Robert Perdue, Bill Perdue. m20

A BIG THANK YOU to all my friends and relatives for the many thoughtful acts given to me while I was in the hospital and since returning home. The many visits, cards, flowers and gifts were so greatly appreciated and the wonderful care from Dr. Wiseman and Dr. Dahlhelm, the nurses and good cooks made my stay an enjoyable one. Again many thanks. Angle Preston. m20

County History on Display

WAYNE LIONS CLUB members Bob Dwyer and Charles Maier (on ladder) put panels for the county historical sign on a framework which had been previously erected at the Wayne County courthouse. A pair of center panels form a map of the county with sites of historic importance noted. Two outboard panels give the map legend. The Wayne Lions sponsored the project. Rick and Julie Noves provided the artistic talent.

'System Saturated with Record Supervision'

Following a statewide trend, judges in Northeast Nebraska courts are using probation in a record number of cases as an alternative to imprisonment, according to Edwin Garrison, state probation administrator.

Garrison noted early this week that the Nebraska Probation System is saturated and that additional probation officers must be authorized by the Nebraska Legislature next year.

Staff officers in the state office in Wayne, headquarters for a 12 county probation district, supervised a record 548 persons and prepared 355 presentence investigation reports for the various juvenile, county and district courts last year. Counties included are Antelope, Wayne, Madison, Stanton, Knox, Cedar, Dakota, Cuming, Dixon, Burt, Pierce and Thurston.

The administrator states that 9,662 people were placed on probation by the courts in Nebraska during the year ending March 31, an increase of 2,350 over the year previous. Persons on probation earned $15,632,064 by working rather than sitting in jails or development centers, and paid $549,458 in costs, fines and restitution, he said.

Pointing out the saturation level with a total of only 74 officers statewide, Garrison said the previous caseload couldn't have been handled if he hadn't received a large federal grant through the Nebraska Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice and I.E.A.

Area probation officers working out of the state office in Wayne are Herbert Hansen, chief; Martin Wright; Richard Brown, DeWayne Witt and Ron Nicholson. Branch offices are located in Norfolk and Dakota City.

In noting the ever increasing probation caseload, Garrison said Nebraska is also a member of the Interstate Compact System which provides supervision for probationers moving to another state. Nebraska supervised 215 such persons last year, according to the administrator.

"With the cost of incarcerating individuals skyrocketing, both in maintaining the individuals and the cost of brick and mortar, the 9,662 people placed on probation by the courts are saving taxpayers literally millions of dollars this year," Garrison stated.

Three M's Meeting Held in Otte Home

Members of the Three M's Home Extension Club met Monday evening with Mrs. Dennis Otte with six members and one guest, Mrs. Byron Heier, who became a new member of the club.

Mrs. Robert Porter reported on the spring tea. The group decided to help with the style show to be held during the Bicentennial celebration.

The group will meet June 21 at 8:15 p.m. with Mrs. Evan Wecker. Mrs. Gerald Otte will have the lesson, "Household Inventory."

Biology Instructor Speaks at AAUW

Verne Mills, biology teacher at Wayne High School, spoke last Thursday evening to members of Wayne's American Association of University Women. Mills gave a slide presentation, entitled "Nobara - A River in Jeopardy."

Thirty AAUW members attended the 6:30 p.m. salad supper at the Wayne State College Student Union. Guests were members of the Norfolk branch of the AAUW. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Howard Schmidt, Mrs. Louis Luft, Mrs. Donnell Cattle and Mrs. Charles Denesa.

Thursday's supper marked the final meeting of the season for AAUW. Meetings will begin again in September.

Thought for Today
By Roman Wittse
"To me, fair friend, you never can be old. For as you were when first your eye I eyed, such seems your beauty still."
William Shakespeare

The poets sing of young love... ardent, impetuous, not to be denied. We are entertained by movies and books telling tales of the devious course of love for youthful lovers, usually endowed with notable physical beauty.

Shakespeare tells us one reason why the less flamboyant love of older folks is nevertheless deep and satisfying. "We truly love, the passing years can take no toll... the beauty of our loved one never fades."

Our best recommendations come from the families we have served. They appreciate the extra things we do, beyond their expectations.

Bicentennial Tribute Given at Tea

Eighty five women turned out Thursday afternoon for the annual May tea of the Carroll Women's Club.

Mrs. Ann Roberts registered the guests, who were welcomed by retiring president Mrs. Edward Fork. Mrs. Fork was presented an appreciation gift by Mrs. Leo Jordan in behalf of the club.

Theme for the tea was "Our Musical Heritage."

Mrs. Jordan introduced the program, aimed at paying tribute to the Bicentennial year. Taking part in the program were Mrs. Milton Owens, Rev. Iulion period; Mrs. Robert I. Jones, post-revolution; Mrs. Ervin Wittler, Civil War; Mrs. Merlin Kenney, Westward Ho; Mrs. Lynn Jones, the early 1900's; Mrs. Robert Johnson, World War I; Mrs. Enos Williams, roaring 20's; Mrs. Leo Jordan, World War II, and Mrs. Lynn Roberts, the 1970's.

Mrs. Edward Fork accompanied Mrs. Robert Johnson who sang a war song, entitled "Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning." Mrs. Fork accompanied herself in singing "Rainbow at Midnight," and played for Mrs. Robert I. Jones, who sang "Oh, Johnny," and for Mrs. Jim Robinson of Hoskins who did the Charleston. Mary Hansen of Randolph sang several selections, accompanying herself on the guitar.

Sholes School pupils and their teachers, Mrs. Twila Maxon and Mrs. Fran Blason, square danced and the Wayne High School stage choir sang several selections.

Awards were presented to Mrs. Cliff Johnson of Wayne and Mrs. Charles Whitney, winners of the "name that tune" contest; Mrs. Don Bauer of Sholes and Mrs. Werner Jank of Wayne, both grandmothers of Bicentennial babies; Mrs. Anna Hansen, oldest woman attending; Mrs. Eldest Pearson, married longest to a World War I veteran; Mrs. John Hansen of Randolph, traveling the greatest distance to get married to a World War II veteran; Mrs. Roberta Welte and Mrs. Richard Gubbels, winning the most red, white and blue; and Mrs. John Solter of Randolph, winner of the cake walk.

Time for a Pow Wow

THE WEATHER cooperated just long enough Saturday for Allen residents to watch the history of their community unfold with events portrayed by a cast of 50 who relived the coming of the first white men, early settlers, building of the town, and other historical events. Here, Fritze Kramer (left) and Bob Jones portray two explorers named McKinzie and Connor, supposed to be the first white men to enter what is now Dixon County. Ben Jackson is the Indian chief. The pageant was written and narrated by Glennis Swift and directed by Karen Knepper. The Golden Spur Saddle Club contributed much to the pageant with their horses, covered wagons and members in the cast. Randy Benton and Paul Stewart, saddle club officers, opened the evening with a mounted flag drill ceremony, followed by the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by Glycerann Koester, accompanied by Jean Carlson. At intermission Glennis Knepper, Bicentennial chairman, named Mrs. F. McNoe honorary senior citizen queen for Allen's Bicentennial year and presented her with a pin and memento award. Mrs. Noe will be 101 in July and is Allen's oldest citizen. Three of her children were present to accept her honors in her absence.

University Doctors Discovering Nature of Cardiovascular Drug

A drug which has been used since the 1940's to control rhythm disturbances of the heart is finally being understood through research at the University of Nebraska Medical Center.

Dr. Barry Dzindzio, assistant professor in the center's division of cardiovascular medicine, and Dr. Clarence Ueda, acting chairman of the department of pharmaceuticals, have determined the nature and a means for measuring individual doses of quinidine, the first drug used to treat cardiac arrhythmias.

Up to now physicians had been unable to determine how much quinidine was effective for their patients because of the drug's impurities, said Dr. Dzindzio. He said impurities may account for 5 to 25 per cent of quinidine, derived from the South American cinchona tree.

This varied potency and ignorance of dosage volume may explain why some patients were hardly affected by the drug, while others received toxic effects, said Dr. Dzindzio.

"Before now the drug was given on a hit-or-miss basis," he noted.

Dr. Dzindzio said the only way a physician could know if he had given the right amount was if his patient's rhythm stopped.

A more reliable way of administering quinidine was found by Drs. Dzindzio and Ueda through a four-month research project. Dr. Ueda first developed a way to separate the impurities from quinidine.

"They're hard to separate," said Dr. Dzindzio, "because both come from a family of drugs that tend to behave similarly."

The drug was given to 11 patients with cardiac arrhythmias at University Hospital. By monitoring their arrhythmias while taking blood and urine samples, Drs. Dzindzio and Ueda were able to determine the amount of quinidine in the patients' bodies at the time their arrhythmias were controlled.

"This allowed us to see how the body handles quinidine whether administered intravenously or orally," said Dr. Dzindzio. "For patients who have life-threatening arrhythmias, our method can be used to determine individual doses of quinidine so that the patient is getting good therapeutic effects without the toxic side-effects."

Dr. Dzindzio said the next step in the quinidine research program will be determining how it affects patients with certain diseases. He said the nature of quinidine's impurities will also be explored.

Carhart Lumber Establishes Ten WSC Scholarships

The Wayne State Foundation announced this week that ten new scholarships have been established for Wayne State College by the Carhart Lumber Company.

According to Robert Carhart of Wayne, Ne., president of the company, and Charles Kay, executive secretary of the Wayne State Foundation, the $200 awards will be made available annually to one graduating high school senior from each of the ten towns where Carhart plants are located: Albion, Bloomfield, Hartington, Neligh, O'Neill, Pierce, Plainview, Randolph, Tilden and Wayne.

Students wishing to apply for one of the awards must make written application to the guidance counselor or principal of their school prior to March 1 of each year. The awards will be presented at the annual spring commencement exercises by Carhart representatives, and are to be used for tuition, books, fees or board and room at Wayne State.

Selection of recipients will be based on citizenship, character, school and community involvement and demonstrated ability to succeed in post-secondary education.

HOME SEWING

One way to stretch the family clothing dollar is to do some home sewing. A recent USDA survey found that saving money is a major reason for home sewing.

Sixty-five percent of the women who buy fabrics gave "cheaper, more economical" as one of the reasons for making garments rather than purchasing. Other reasons given by a high percentage of the women included "better fit", "can make exactly what you want", "creative satisfaction" and "better quality and workmanship."

People who do not sew probably don't consider home construction of garments a choice activity. Some lack sufficient skills to meet their own standards for garments, and home sewing takes time. Many women can find acceptable ready-made garments and feel more certain of suitability when they can try on the completed garment.

Direct comparison of the cost of ready-made garments with a comparable garment made at home is difficult. If not impossible. Studies which have been made indicate about 40 to 60 per cent savings on home sewn garments. These savings do not include cost of time devoted to sewing. A greater per cent of savings is usually recognized on garments such as suits, coats and party dresses. A lower savings is realized on nightwear and underwear.

The growing popularity of home sewing is resulting in a sharp increase in sales of fabrics, patterns and notions. In a 10-year period of time the sales volume of such items has nearly doubled.

April Rainfall Tops Average

Temperatures in Nebraska averaged one to four degrees above normal during April. High temperatures in the 70's and 80's occurred on one or more days during the first half of the month. At some sites temperatures averaged as much as 15 to 20 degrees above normal on a few days. The highest reported was 88 degrees at Osmond on April 15.

Low temperatures were recorded at most sites during the first four days of April. Most stations had lows in the 20's; a few sites in the eastern half of the state reported lows in the low 30s. In the Panhandle Division most sites recorded lows in the teens. The lowest reported for the state was 12 degrees at Sidney on April 3.

Valentine received 63 per cent of the possible amount of sunshine: North Platte, 53 per cent; Omaha and Lincoln, 58 per cent.

The map shows that precipitation in April was normal or above in all divisions of the state. In only one year since 1931 has the southeast division average precipitation in April exceeded the 5.55 inches received this year. Precipitation fell on several days during the month. In the South Central and Southeast divisions, many stations reported monthly amounts from four inches to more than seven inches. The greatest amount reported was 8.02 inches at Rulo in southeastern Richardson County. Some snow fell in the western part of the state, but warm temperatures caused rapid melting.

Wakefield station reported 2.27 inches, .06 inch above average. High winds averaging 30 to 40 miles per hour, with stronger gusts, occurred on several days throughout the month, causing destruction to buildings and trees. On April 14 and 15, tornadoes were reported near Chester and Fairbury as well as in York and Clay counties.

Hail, from the size of peas to golf balls, was reported at several points throughout the state from April 14 through 22.

Legion Auxiliary Holds May Meeting

The May meeting of the Allen Legion Auxiliary was held at the legion hall last Monday evening. The president, Phyllis Swanson, presided.

Sixteen members answered roll call. The secretary and treasurer reports were approved. Rehabilitation chairman, Kathryn Mitchell reported sending many get-well and sympathy cards to members. The unit voted to order sympathy cards for the rehabilitation chairman to use.

A letter from new district president, Irene Muller of Thurston was read. Donations were sent to Norfolk annex in the names of Gold Star mother, Anna Carr and Gold Star sister, Vida Douglass. Nominating committee appointed Jackie Williams, Kathryn Mitchell and Phyllis Ruback.

Delegates to the state convention June 25, 26 and 27 are Deanne Von Minden, Nola Potter, Kathleen Lee, Marilyn Creamer and Donna Stalling. Alternates are Margaret Isom, Mable Mitchell and Gail Hall.

Memorial services will again be presented to the public May 31 at 10:30 a.m. at the Eastview Cemetery. Past boys stater, Jeff Creamer and past girls stater, Diane Witte, will be among those participating, along with the Allen band under the direction of Lorna Stapp and members of the Floyd Gleason Post #131 and Auxiliary Unit 131. Unit members voted to pay $3 instead of serving a dinner on Memorial Day. Marilyn Creamer and Eva Durant served lunch.

Observes Birthday

Sunday dinner guests in the Ken Linafelter home to honor Denise on her birthday of May 19 were Mrs. Ardith Linafelter, the Francis Schroeders, Dakota City, Clayton Schroeder and Connie Schroeder, Lincoln.

Poppy Poster Winners

Poppy Chairman Nola Potter and her committee, Marion Ellis and Joanne Rahn have announced the poppy poster winners. In class I, grades four and five, Deanna Hansen won first, Edward Sturges, second and Eva Sturges, third. Michelle Williams had honorable mention. In class II, grades six and seven, Lisa Hansen won first, Desiree Williams, second and David Hanson, third. Mary Walsh had honorable mention. Judges were Mrs. Earl McCaw and Mrs. Vick Carpenter. The posters will be on display in the windows of the Allen businesses.

Poppy Day will be observed May 22 in Allen.

Graduates Honored

The Loren Carrs and the Bill Kiers entertained in the Kier barge following the graduation last Tuesday evening honoring their daughters, Diane Carr and Joy Kier, members of the Allen graduating class.

Later in the evening the guests surprised the Bill Kiers for their 25th wedding anniversary, which was also on Tuesday.

The Fay Bocks entertained in their home following graduation honoring their children Roxane and Robert Bock, members of the graduating class.

Cathy Smith was guest of honor last Tuesday evening following graduation when her parents the Forrest Smiths entertained guests in their home.

Tomrdle Gives Talk Monday at Kiwanis Club

Jack Tomrdle, owner of Kuhn's Carpet and Draperies in Wayne, was the guest speaker during Monday's Kiwanis Club meeting.

Tomrdle, who took over ownership two years ago from Clarence Kuhn, said that his operation covers the majority of towns in Northeast Nebraska. Kuhn started the service about 15 years ago when Tomrdle first started working in Wayne. Since then the business has expanded to employ eight persons.

"By being a small company, we're able to eliminate errors," he noted, adding that "by staying small he's able to keep the quality of his work high." Making drapes basically requires five steps, he said. The material has to be cut, then seamed, pressed, headed and hemmed, and finally pleated. Club president Dan Sherry and secretary Vern Fairchild and their wives recently attended the Nebraska-Iowa district convention at Cedar Rapids, Ia.

More than one million people annually visit the Veterans Administration's National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific in Honolulu.

The Duane Koesters held a graduation party in their home last Tuesday evening honoring their son, Lindy, upon his graduation from high school.

Mrs. Lillie Lippitt, Winslow returned to her home last Wednesday following a two week visit with the Jay Mattess and attending the graduation at Allen.

Attend Graduation

The Milford Roebers, Mrs. Paul Freidrick, Marilinsburg and Mrs. Jay Mattes attended the graduation of Mikki Roeber, who received an associate of applied science degree in architectural drafting at Northeast Nebraska Technical School in Norfolk Saturday. Mikki is now employed at the Tompkins Construction Company in South Sioux City.

Coming Events

Thursday, May 20: Waterbury Homemakers, guest day. Mrs. Marlen French, 2 p.m. Members should bring a reading and a finger food for lunch.

Monday, May 24 thru Friday, May 28: Community Bible school, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Tuesday, May 25: Lucky Lads and Lassies 4-H Club, after school.

Workers Should Apply Promptly for SS

Working people who face a long-term severe disability should apply promptly for social security benefits to avoid loss of payments they may be entitled to, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

Social security pays monthly benefits to eligible workers and their families if the worker is severely disabled and cannot work for a year or more. Payment begins with the sixth full month of disability, but it isn't necessary to wait that long to apply.

"Back payments can only be made for up to 12 months," Branch said. "So disabled workers should apply as soon as possible."

Herbicides Save On Fuel Use of chemicals to control weeds in Minnesota's corn and soybean crops saves 9 to 10 million gallons of fuel each year, according to University of Minnesota researchers.

ers shouldn't delay their application, even if they're not sure they'll qualify for payments. About one of every 12 workers getting special security disability payments miss out on some payments because he applied too late."

Disabled workers who haven't applied for benefits should call any social security office as soon as possible, according to Branch. Or, they can ask a friend or relative to make the call.

Social security disability benefits are paid to over 2.3 million disabled workers and over 1.7 million dependents. The average payment is $224 a month. Disabled people who have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more are eligible for Medicare health insurance.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Norfolk social security office is at 1310 Norfolk Avenue. The phone number is 371-1595.
