

Hey, Mister, Watch

THE ART of blowing bubbles with bubble gum isn't new to most people, and young Patty Cooper thinks it's exciting, fun and sometimes a little messy. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper of Allen, Patty demonstrated her ability Thursday during a break in Bible school classes at Allen High School. After some thought, she moistened her lips, puckered up and started to blow one of her biggest bubbles. The only problem was that the bubble got too big and popped. After wiping the gum off her mouth and nose, she proceeded to start all over again. Photos by Bob Bartlett.

Sales Increased in 1975

Not taxable retail sales in Nebraska during the fourth quarter of 1975 were 10 per cent above the 1974 figure. Total sales during the last three months of 1975, according to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Bureau of Business Research, amounted to $1,532, compared with $1,392 during the same period of 1974. Comparatively, the year-to-year quarterly increases in 1975 have been: first quarter, 1.3 per cent; second quarter, 4.6 per cent; third quarter, 9.6 per cent, and fourth quarter, 10 per cent. However, the 12 months, 1975 growth now amounts to only 6.6 per cent, compared to a 12 per cent increase from 1973 to 1974. The 10 per cent increase exceeded the combined increase in the level of total commodity prices — nearly seven per cent — and population — about one-half per cent. That means the physical volume of aggregate and per capita sales activity exceeded that of the same quarter in 1974 by about three per cent. For Wayne County, the fourth quarter of 1975 was even better than for the state overall, with '75 final quarter sales totaling 121 per cent of the sales during the same period in 1974. However, sales for all of 1975 amounted to only 99.8 per cent of sales during 1974. See SALES, page 8

Planning Group Will Review

Members of the Wayne County joint planning commission Tuesday night will conduct a final review of base maps of the county and will receive a survey of community facilities in the county. The commission, in the process of formulating a county land use plan, will meet at 8 p.m. at the county courthouse. Also slated for review and discussion are a county transportation survey and land use zoning.

New Ambulance Is Standing By

Wayne mayor Freeman Decker handed Mother Imelda the keys to a bright new orange ambulance during ceremonies Thursday morning. The city purchased the ambulance, which now becomes the property of the Benedictine Sisters, who operate Providence Medical Center in Wayne. The hospital staff will continue to provide ambulance service for Wayne County and the surrounding area. The new limousine-type ambulance, delivered to the city Wednesday, was acquired through a Council Bluffs, Ia., dealer, from the Superior Trend Coach Company of Lima, Ohio. Basic cost of the vehicle was $23,800. Equipment, including two stretchers, coils, oxygen and other items, cost an additional $700. Mayor Decker said he was happy to present this ambulance to the sisters for use at Providence Medical Center. It's the only one of its kind in Nebraska and probably throughout the entire midwest. It's a very generous contribution from the citizens of Wayne to the sisters and we hope they will take care of it and use it wisely. I would like to express my sincere appreciation from the city of Wayne for what you (Benedictine Sisters) are doing at Providence Medical Center. Mother Imelda responded saying, "The sisters, doctors, and people of Wayne thank you and the city council for purchasing

Dorm Renovation Approved for WSC

The State College Board of Trustees, meeting in Wayne Thursday, gave approval for the use of $80,000 from a contingency maintenance fund to renovate and remodel dormitories on the Wayne State College campus, including Terrace Hall, which is expected to open in the fall. WSC president Dr. Lyle Seymour said the college office of admissions is projecting an increase of about 140 freshmen enrollment in the fall, necessitating the opening of additional dormitory space.

The expenditure authorized by the trustees will be used to spruce up dorms, make needed repairs, and provide furnishings. Terrace Hall will be designed as a "hotel dorm" for upper classmen and accommodations will include some kitchen facilities. Dr. Seymour said it is hoped the new arrangements for Terrace Hall will make dorm life more attractive for upper class members, who constitute the bulk of off campus students, and will encourage a higher rate of dorm occupancy.

The trustees approved specifications developed by Consolidated Engineering of Norfolk for improvement of the WSC athletic track and authorized advertising for bids. Dr. Seymour said track renovation plans include removal of the present surface, regrading, surfacing with a new all-weather resilient asphalt, and installation of a storm drainage system. The new all-weather surface will make the track much more versatile, Dr. Seymour said, and will permit its use for more activities than are now scheduled. Marking will allow for adaptation to the metric system of measure.

Bids will be opened at the college June 17 and Dr. Seymour said he hopes to receive approval from the board of trustees via conference telephone call so work on the project can begin this summer. Tentative plans are for the track to be ready for use in the fall. In other action related to WSC, the board approved promotion of three faculty members: Dr. Cornell Runestad, from associate professor to professor, and Dr. R. Neal Phelps, and Dr. Marie Groves, both from assistant professor to associate professor. Also approved as part of the WSC report was the reassignment, at his request, of Marvin Brummand from director of the physical plant to assistant superintendent of utilities and facilities. Carl Larson was approved as acting physical plant director.

The trustees and presidents of the four state colleges met Wednesday in Wayne with state Senator Jerome Warner's interim study committee to oversee coordination of the three systems, and to coordinate education. The committee was formed to deal with problems of child abuse and neglect and will consider using the film as part of a training program, chairman Mrs. Linda Baddorf said. She said the viewing will be open to the public and encouraged attendance.

Sen. John Murphy, has conducted a number of public hearings throughout the state, including one in Wayne, on the subject of coordination of public post-secondary education. Sen. Warner said there are now no written guidelines defining the roles of the three basic levels of post-secondary education in Nebraska: the University of Nebraska system, the state college system, and the technical school system. The Waverly senator said the legislature has three basic options regarding coordination: to do nothing, and continue with the present system; to establish a "superboard" to oversee coordination of the three systems, and to coordinate education. See RENOVATION, page 8

Human Resources Committee Will Preview Film

Members of the area Human Resources committee will preview a film, "Don't Give Up on Me," June 15 at Jeff's Cafe (formerly the Cornhusker) in Wayne. The committee was formed to deal with problems of child abuse and neglect and will consider using the film as part of a training program, chairman Mrs. Linda Baddorf said. She said the viewing will be open to the public and encouraged attendance.

Bike License Registrations Due Tuesday

Tuesday is the deadline for registering bicycles in Wayne, according to police chief Vern Fairchild. Owners of bikes previously registered need not bring their two-wheelers to the police station because information already on record can be used. New registrants should bring their bikes along so officers can record the serial number, size, make, model and color. That information is useful in cases of lost or stolen bicycles, Fairchild said, adding that the rate of bike thefts is on the upswing. Cost of the license remain at 50 cents.

Pajama Party? No, Moonlight Madness Sale

Downtown Wayne might look light a giant pajama party Tuesday night as store clerks drop their night time attire for the annual Moonlight Madness sale. Stores will close at 5 p.m., to allow time to prepare for the event. Businesses will reopen their doors at 7 p.m. Store clerks will be clad in PJ's and nighties for the special sale, and judges will be circulated through the stores selecting the lucky winners of prizes for the best men's and women's night time dress. Participating merchants will be offering special prices on selected items and a number of stores will be offering prizes and surprises for their customers.

WAYNE MAYOR Freeman Decker presents keys to the new ambulance in background to Mother Imelda Koch, City administrator Fred Brink and Sister Theresa also took part in the ceremony. Providence Medical Center will use the new vehicle to continue ambulance service for the area.

Report Compares Wayne County With Neighbors

Agriculture is the basis for Wayne County's economy, but how does agriculture production compare with other counties? The 1975 Nebraska State Board of Agricultural Statistics can supply some of the answers, comparing Wayne to eight adjoining counties. Wayne County ranked seventh in 1975 in total number of farms, 840. Custer County has the most farms of any county in the state — 1,640. Adjoining counties, their ranking among the group, and the number of farms, are: Cumming — 1,330; Cedar — 1,310; Madison — 1,110; Pierce — 960; Stanton — 910; Dixon — 900; Wayne — 840; Thurston — 620; Dakota — 410. Wayne County had the least amount of irrigated corn acreage of any of the adjoining counties, but county agent Don Spitz said that might change this year because of the large number of center pivot system being installed. Hamilton County is tops in the state for irrigated corn acreage, with 173,109 acres. Here's how Wayne and the adjoining counties ranked in relation to each other: Pierce — 29,000 acres; Madison — 26,600; Stanton — 10,800; Cedar — 10,100; Dakota — 5,300; Cumming — 4,500; Thurston — 2,400; Dixon — 2,000 and Wayne — 1,200. Hamilton County is also tops in the state in total corn acreage, including dryland, irrigated, and silage acres. The nine adjoining counties are ranked like this: Cedar — 146,700 acres; Cumming — 140,900; Madison — 137,200; Pierce — 124,800; Wayne — 104,000; Dixon — 103,600; Thurston — 91,700; Stanton — 89,100 and Dakota — 62,700. Wayne ranks higher than all, among its neighboring counties in soybean acreage? Cumming — 70,000 acres; Madison — 53,000; Thurston — 16,500 and Dakota — 8,700. Wayne County has long been noted for its beef and hog production, but it's also an important dairy county. Wayne ranks third among the nine counties, with Cedar and Pierce ranking one and two. Cedar County is the state leader. Here's the lineup: Cedar — 9,000 milk cows; Pierce — 6,400; Wayne — 4,450; Cumming — 4,400; Madison — 3,600; Stanton — 2,150; Dixon — 1,900; Thurston — 1,450 and Dakota — 800. Although not known as a low county, Wayne ranks sixth. See AGRICULTURE, page 8

Bible Studies, Library Hour Held at Senior Citizens Center

Monday afternoon, the Rev. Larry Osterkamp of the Evangelical Free Church in Wayne conducted a Bible study of Acts for 16 members of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center. Refreshments were furnished by Louise Hoeman, Henrietta Frost and Elsie Ehlers.

The next Bible study will be held at 2:30 p.m. on Monday, June 14. Members are asked to bring their favorite translation of the Bible.

There were 17 at the center last Friday afternoon for the sermonette, "The Value of the Christian Mother," presented by the Rev. David Prescott of the Norman Anderson Church in Wayne.

Pastor Prescott told the group that we must "train a child in the way that should go, and when it is old, he or she will not depart from it." Alma Splittgerber accompanied for a sing-along, led by the pastor. Refreshments were provided by Leona Hoeman and Mrs. Splittgerber.

The next sermonette and sing-along, scheduled for 2 p.m. on Friday, June 18, will be led by the Rev. Robert Haas of the United Presbyterian Church in Wayne.

Mrs. Ann Waggoner, assistant public librarian, conducted the monthly library hour Thursday afternoon, May 20. New books, now available at the center, are "The Birds" from the Life Nature Library, "Collection of Short Fiction," "Bounty Man," "Familiar Garden Birds of America," "A Death in Indian Wells" and "The Country of the Pointed Firs."

The next library hour will be Thursday, June 17, at 2:30 p.m. Dave Prescott of Wayne State College was in charge of center activities. May 20 while Mrs. Joceli Bull, center director, attended a workshop on aging at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

The workshop was sponsored by the University of Nebraska-Omaha gerontology program, in cooperation with the University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension division, Northeast Technical Community College and Peru State College.

During the month, floral bouquets have been shared at the Wayne center in memory of Henry Franzen, Nora Rehwisch Neva Quinn and Mrs. Marvin Anderson. Homegrown spring bouquets have been shared by Elsie Ehlers, Mary Echtenkamp and Virgil and Cordelia Chambers.

Luncheon Will Honor Mothers of Achievement

Nebraska Mothers of Achievement 1976-1976 were announced recently at an awards banquet of the American Mothers Association in Washington, D.C.

Without Proper Coverage, Pheasant Population Once Again in Danger

Spring nuptial rites of the ring-necked pheasant are drawing to a close, and the fate of the 1976 pheasant crop will be determined within the next two to three weeks.

The key factor affecting the success or failure of this year's crop is the quality and quantity of nesting cover that is present this spring.

Many hens have already established nests and laid their eggs, and are in the incubation phase of the reproduction cycle. However, Nebraska studies have shown that the majority of these nests need to be incubated through June 15 in order to hatch. These same studies show that only 15 to 20 per cent of these nests will actually produce young.

The first three weeks of June is the peak hatching period, and more than 60 per cent of all chicks produced are hatched during this brief period of time. Nests which do not hatch are doomed to failure because of farming operations, predation or abandonment. All three of these factors have varying effects from year to year and area to area, but they normally account for destruction of more than 80 per cent of all nests.

The role of habitat as a factor affecting nesting success is seldom fully recognized. Habitat, and man through his ability to manipulate habitat, can modify the impact of farming operations, predation and abandonment on pheasant nesting success. Secure spring nesting habitat is the key to fall pheasant numbers.

Nests are established in a variety of vegetation. However, pheasant hens show definite preferences for certain types. Roadside, with their abundance of residual cover and early maturing cool season grasses, and alfalfa are especially preferred.

Roadsides are particularly important as pheasant nesting cover. Here is a cover type that comprises slightly more than one per cent of the total land area, and yet it can starve out produce more than 25 per cent of all pheasant chicks.

Alfalfa is also an important cover type for nesting, even though few chicks are produced there. Alfalfa is very attractive to nesting hen pheasants, because it is green early in the spring, and approximately 27 per cent of all nesting attempts are in this cover type. Unfortunately for the pheasant, the harvest of alfalfa generally occurs just prior to hatching time. More than 95 per cent of the pheasants nests in alfalfa are destroyed during the mowing operation. Alfalfa fields often become death traps for the incubating hen.

Winter wheat is not preferred as nesting cover by hen pheasants. However, a combination of the vast acreages of this crop, and a high success rate of nests established there, make it highly productive. In south central Nebraska, over 50 per cent of the chicks produced in a year come from this cover type.

Wetlands are one of the most under rated and least understood cover types used by pheasants for nesting. In wet years, they only provide nesting cover around the perimeter and do not produce a high percentage of the annual pheasant crop. Dry years, however, are a completely different story, and pheasant production is high in the marshes. Wetlands or marshes also provide high quality brood cover and essential winter cover.

Weedy fence rows, the hunter's delight, produce no pheasant chicks. These areas serve as regular travel lanes for nest predators such as the striped skunk or raccoon. Eggs from any nest established in a fence row generally end up as an omelet in some turned opportunist's belly.

Pastures also provide some nesting cover and produce some chicks each year. However, many of these areas have been and are being converted to row crops. Those that remain are generally heavily stocked with cattle and grazed to the point that they offer little if any nesting cover.

Pheasant nesting success is dependent on man's use of the land. Only three cover types produce significant numbers of birds: roadsides, marshes and wetland wheat. Unfortunately, man-induced changes are adversely affecting these. Roadside are reshaped, farmed, sprayed, grazed or burned. Dryland wheat fields are being converted to irrigated cornfields. The once numerous wetlands in the south central portion of the state have been reduced to a mere handful by drainage. Those that remain are faced with the same fate—drainage followed by crop production.

Lessmann's Dream of Racing Starts with Carts

DAVE takes a closer look at one of his disc brakes mounted on all four wheels of his go cart. Lessmann plans to race this summer around tracks in Nebraska and Iowa.

By BOB BARTLETT

Dave Lessmann is taking a tip from professional race car drivers—start from the bottom.

For the 19-year-old sophomore at Wayne State College, the start of his racing career begins with go-carts.

Dave got interested in auto racing in 1970 while watching stock car races on television. But it wasn't until last August that he decided to pursue the career, after talking with several professional drivers, including A. J. Foyt and Dan Pearson during a race in Michigan.

Pearson, who has won the Daytona 500 stock car race, told the Wayne man that he started his racing career by driving go-carts in a year out production.

So this year Dave invested $1,000 of his life savings and bought himself a go cart. Already he's raced at Fremont and plans to continue racing around Nebraska and perhaps neighboring states.

Son of Mr and Mrs Dale Lessmann of rural Wayne, Dave knows that it will be about three years before he can move on to bigger and better things. By that time he hopes to have his degree in mechanical engineering from Wayne State and perhaps start working with stock cars and the like.

His goal is to drive in the Indianapolis 500 race by 1984.

Why start with go cart racing? "You can learn quite a bit about cornering and racing in traffic," Lessmann pointed out.

For the beginning go cart driver the average investment runs between $600-800. His costs are higher because his vehicle has a specially built chassis with a longer wheel base and disc brakes on all four wheels.

Although the average person may think these changes may sound a little elaborate, Dave pointed out "that's not elaborate at all. Some cars have more options, including special gauges."

Lessmann figured that his cart has the potential of running at 80 miles per hour.

Wayne Softball League Starts Wednesday Night

Four of the eight teams in the newly formed Wayne County Softball League will open league action Wednesday night at the Wayne State College fields.

Playing on two fields at 7:15 will be Moorman's Mfg. Co. versus Sherman's Construction and Mike's Tavern vs. Bull & Otte Construction. Other teams in the league are Valley Squire, Surber's, The Wayne Herald and a team from Wakefield.

Each team is scheduled to play once a week, either on Monday or Wednesday nights. Following the seven weeks of play, plans are to set up a playoff for the league champion ship.

A complete schedule for playing dates will be sent to each team captain.

The teams and their rosters: Moorman's Mfg. Co. — Gene Casey, Bob Rowe, Ron Fink,

State Parks Are Planning Summer Fun for Visitors

A number of activities are planned for visitors at Nebraska's state historical parks this summer, according to Bob Killen, chief of the Game and Parks Commission's Historical Parks Division.

For gun enthusiasts and doormen black powder, muzzle loading firearms and toma hawks will be wielded by "mountain men" at Forts Atkinson and Harburt. Demonstrations of spinning, dyeing, soap and candle making and other crafts will be held at Arbor Lodge and Fort Kearny for those with a more domestic bent.

Horse lovers will find the appearance of the Budweiser Clydesdales at Scout's Rest Park of interest, while dead eyes in the group may want to see STATE, page 5.

Newcastle Overcomes Wakefield

An infield throwing error coupled with a Texas League single by John Peterson scored the winning run for Newcastle Wednesday night when the visitors edged host Wakefield, 6-5.

In the first game for both clubs in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League.

Mante Miller scored the go-ahead run in the top of the ninth when he raced to second on a wild throw from third to first.

The game was knotted at five-all in the bottom of the seventh when Wakefield rallied with four runs off four singles. Scoring for Wakefield were Kirk Gardner, Rob Eaton, Roger Lueth and Mike Barge.

Starting hurler Earle Overin put Wakefield on the scoreboard in the fourth when he was safe on first, via an error moved to third on Steve Bates' base hit and scored on Lyle Brown's single.

For the first game of the season I thought we played good defense," said manager Dennis Paul Wakefield. "I committed only two errors. Our pitcher who suffered the loss, gave up seven hits during his winning start on the mound. Reliever Darrell Winger hit. See NEWCASTLE, page 5.

Allen Smashes Pender, 12-3

Everybody picks Pender as the darkhorse in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League, but nobody is looking at Allen Martinsburg. Now maybe they will.

Allen's 12-3 blasting of hometown Pender may change a lot of minds after the Saints ripped Pender hurler John Zwiggart for 13 hits, including a three-run circuit hit by third baseman Tim Hill.

To top that off, Allen pitcher Neil Blom struck out 12 Pender batters and gave up only two hits in the righthander's season debut in the NEN loop.

Hill's roundtripper came in the seven-run sixth inning to boost Allen's margin to 10-1. He drove in shortstop Gary Troth, who got on first via an error by Pender's center fielder, and Blom, who singled. Four runners had scored prior to Hill's slam, including Paul Snyder, Dave Diediker, Roger Anderson and Steve Diediker.

All but one of Allen's starters hit the ball. Leading hitters were Troth, Blom, Hill and Steve Diediker. Each had two hits.

Allen was slated Sunday to host area rival Wakefield in the second league game of the season.

Wakefield May Start SB Loop

Ron Ring of Wakefield is looking for softball teams to form a slow pitch league in Wakefield.

At least three other teams are needed for league play which is tentatively scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday nights at the town park.

Ring said Thursday is the deadline for teams to sign up. League play may start the following week.

For more information contact Ring at 287-2365 or Larry Olson at 287-7866.

Double Play Kills Wayne's Win Hopes

A double play in the bottom of the ninth Thursday night all but shut off Wayne's hopes for over coming Northeast Nebraska Baseball League favorite Homer.

Trailing 4-3, Wayne runners were on first and second with no outs. First baseman Mike Daehnke then hit a line drive to Homer hurler Roger Thompson who fired the ball to put Saul out at third before third baseman Rick Addlund tossed to first to put out Daehnke. The final out came on second baseman Terry Luff's slap to Thompson who threw Luff out at first.

The locals had jumped off to a 2-0 lead after three frames on runs by third baseman Steve Hix and Creighton.

Homer tied the match in the top of the fourth with the help of second baseman Merlin Berkinpas' solo home run and a pair of Wayne errors which allowed Thompson to race from first to home plate.

The visitors took the lead in the seventh after Wayne hurler Roger Saul walked catcher Tom Prince, who scooted around the bases on another crucial Wayne miscue.

Homer pushed the lead to 4-2 when Prince, who doubled, scored on first baseman Bernie Esser's base hit. Wayne clipped the margin by one when right fielder Fritz Weible, who missed most of the game, singled in his first time at bat, advanced on Saul's base hit and scored on Creighton's single.

The double play in the ninth wasn't the only misfortune to hit the locals. In the opening frame, Creighton led off with a triple but was stranded.

Bob Baxter started on the mound for Homer. Lee Quade took over in the fourth and Thompson relieved in the ninth, Wayne striking out 11.

Wayne and Newcastle were scheduled Sunday to play at Newcastle.

Summer Fish Can Make Winter Meal

Many fishing families head for the lakes in the summer and enjoy catching their own dinner. If they're skilled enough to hook more than one meal, they can enjoy the pleasure of a fish fry in the middle of winter. That is, if the fish is frozen correctly.

Most sport fishermen think fish taste best when cleaned and cooked soon after its caught. They're right. But, if care is given to freezing the fish, it will taste fresh from the freezer up to six months later.

For the angler hooked on that fresh caught taste, here's some tips for freezing fish.

— Clean, wash and freeze fish the same day they are caught. Keep them ice or refrigerated until you prepare them for freezing.

— To firm flesh and reduce leakage during thawing, dip lean-type fish in a solution of chilled salt brine (one fourth cup salt to one cup water) for 20 seconds. Do not salt mackerel, salmon or other fatty fish.

— To prolong storage time of fatty fish, such as lake trout and salmon, dip for one minute in a solution of one and one-half teaspoon ascorbic acid (vitamin C) to one quart cold water.

— Filet large fish such as salmon and bass into meal-size portions and wrap in moisture and vapor proof material.

— Freeze small pan fish whole after cleaning. An effective and convenient technique is to pack them in rigid containers such as milk cartons, fill the cartons with water and freeze. The water seals out air, and seals in flavor.

— Another method of "ice sealing" is to glaze whole fish after cleaning, freeze fish wrapped, then dip in water chilled to just above freezing to form ice film. Repeat until one-eighth inch glaze is built up. Wrap and store.

— In wrapping fish for freezing, always use a moisture and vapor proof material. Aluminum foil, polyethylene bags and other polyethylene-coated freezer paper are all good.

Good fishing and proper freezing can lead to some good eating and fall fish stories on long winter evenings.

Mallette Wins Batting Crown

Senior Paul Mallette has captured the top batting crown on the Wayne High baseball team for the 1976 season.

Mallette, who has been the leader most of the season, finished with a .477 average. Mallette also was the leader in the number of home runs, two; stolen bases, 24; runs batted in, 23; hits, 21; and doubles, six.

Also hitting in the .300 and .400 range for the state Class B champions were Doug Carroll, 415; Aaron Nissen, .378; Dave Hix, .348; Mike Rehwisch, .333; and Monte Lowe, .326.

Hix was the leading scorer with 25 runs while catcher Larry Creighton had the most put outs, 112.

Making Soap? Be Careful

Homemakers, who have returned to the golden days of homemade soaps, are being warned of the possibility of dangerous chemicals and fumes in certain soap recipes.

A homemade soap recipe which recently appeared in a Nebraska newspaper, contains a possibly dangerous combination of chemicals, according to Robert M. Hill, associate professor of biochemistry for the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The recipe called for a combination of household ammonia, borax and liquid bleach. In addition to lye and soft water.

Labels on bleach and ammonia bottles clearly state the chlorine bleach should not be used in combination with ammonia or other household chemicals, "said Hill.

"We have experimented with this problem for some time and have found that when the concentration, temperature, ratio of ingredients and other factors are right, a poisonous chlorine gas can be formed," he said, adding "I strongly recommend that these label warnings be observed."

Hill said that lemon scented ammonia will somewhat mask chlorine odors and increase the danger of the soapmaker not being aware of gas formation.

The UNL professor added that lye, ammonia and bleach all have corrosive action on the skin and mucous membranes.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America.

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation. We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such Principles and organizing its Powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future safety. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct and plain the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good. He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained, and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them. He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of People, unless those People would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only. He has called together legislative Bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the Depository of their Public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures. He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the People. He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative Powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of Invasion from without, and convulsions within. He has endeavored to prevent the Population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Law for Naturalization of Strangers; refusing to pass other Laws to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands. He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary Powers. He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their Offices, and the amount and Payment of their Salaries. He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither Swarms of Officers to harass our People, and eat out their Substance. He has kept among us, in Times of Peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our Legislature. He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil Power. He has combined with us to subject us to a Jurisdiction foreign to our Constitution, and unacknowledged by our Laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation. For quartering large Bodies of armed Troops among us. For protecting them, by a mock Trial from Punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States. For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world. For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent. For depriving us in many Cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury. For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended Offences. For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighbouring Province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute Tyranny into these Colonies. For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Government. For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with powers to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever. He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us. He has plundered our Seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our People. He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty & rapacity scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation. He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands. He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of one part, the miserable Indian savages, whose known mode of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions. In every stage of these Oppressions we have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: our repeated Petitions have been answered by repeated injury. A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free People. Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British Brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their Legislatures to extend an unwarlike Jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native Justice and Magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of Justice and of Expediency. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the united States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political Connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of Right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the Protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

NU Will Study Meat Deboning

A $10,000 contribution by the Ezra Levin Foundation of Champaign, Ill. will fund research at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, where food scientists hope to combine mechanically deboned meat with cereal products for a protein-rich processed meat product.

Mechanically deboned poultry meat (MDM), which has been stripped from the bone mechanically rather than by hand, has enjoyed only limited use, according to Dr. L. D. Satterlee, NU professor of food science and technology and project director.

"MDM has been used mostly in emulsified-meat products because of its high fat (14.36 per cent) and high moisture (54.66 per cent) content," he said. However, its use may be expanded through a thermal-plastic extrusion process which, currently is used to cook and structure plant proteins (textured soy protein) to which MDM can be added to develop flavor and enhance nutrition, Satterlee explained.

"These textured plant proteins are made from soybeans and structured meat products. The process works well for plant proteins, he said, but the final product falls because of poor color and flavor characteristics. "But, if we could combine MDM's flavor and nutrition with the texture of cereal products like corn, wheat and soybean, we could make a highly nutritious, palatable food ingredient," he said.

To accomplish this MDM will

Failure to Stop Results in Mishap
Two vehicles were damaged Tuesday when they collided at the intersection of Highway 13 and a county road, three miles north of Wayne, the Wayne County sheriff's department reported.

The sheriff's spokesman said Sgt. Chapman of Carroll, westbound on a county road, failed to stop at a stop sign, and his vehicle collided with one driven by Mrs. Helen Beckman of rural Wayne, southbound on Highway 13.

The Beckman car sustained damage to the front end. Chapman's vehicle was damaged on the right rear side. No personal injuries were reported.

be converted into a powder void of fat and water, mixed with the cereal and poured into an extruder. The powder is cooked and finally is exploded through a mold which yields the desired shape of the meat product.

An addition benefit from the MDM process may come from the residue left behind which, if dewatered and detatted, could be an important source of gelatin, an ingredient in short supply around the world, he said.

Dr. Glenn Froning, chairman of the NU poultry science department, is a pioneer in mechanically deboning poultry meat and will be a consultant throughout the two-year project, Satterlee said.

NRD Has Nine Board Openings

Voters in nine subdistricts will elect representatives to the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District board of directors.

Board members whose two-year terms expire include Verne Mills of Wayne and Lowell Johnson of Wakefield.

Candidates, including incumbents, need to file a petition with signatures of at least 25 voters from the subdistrict in which they reside.

Petitions are available at the NRD headquarters in a group of offices in the county government center. Petitions must be received at the Nebraska Natural Resources District office, Terminal Buildings, Lincoln by June 15.

The other 10 subdistrict seats in the NRD will be filled during the 1978 election.

among its neighbors in beef cattle: Cedar—34,700; Pierce—23,850; Madison—22,600; Dixon—19,950; Cumming—18,150; Wayne—15,550; Stanton—14,100; Thurston—12,550 and Dakota—9,250.
Wayne is a major cattle feeding country, with 88,000 head on feed during 1973, good for third place among its neighbors.
Cumming County leads in the state with 296,000 head.
Figures for the nine area counties: Stanton—296,000; Wayne—88,000; Dixon—58,500; Madison—58,000; Thurston—48,300; Cedar—47,700; Pierce—31,500 and Dakota—21,000.
Cumming County is also the state leader in number of hogs, having 139,000. Wayne ranks sixth among the nine counties which line up: Cumming—139,000; Cedar—121,000; Dixon—123,000; Madison—121,000; Pierce—71,000; Wayne—70,000; Stanton—54,000; Thurston—50,000 and Dakota—36,000.

Sheep are a relatively minor project in Nebraska and their numbers reflect that. With 1,350 head, Wayne County ranks fourth among its neighbors, and has only 10 per cent of the total in Dawson County, the state leader.
For the nine area counties: Madison—3,000 head; Cumming—2,200; Cedar—1,900; Wayne—1,350; Dixon—1,250; Pierce—1,200; Dakota—1,150; Stanton—1,050 and Thurston—750.

Renovation

through the budgetary process. Adult education has been frequently mentioned in testimony as an area needing coordination to avoid duplication of efforts said during the Wednesday meeting. Dr. Seymour responded to questions on the subject.
He told the study committee that WSC consults with North Dakota Technical College Community College (NTCC) in Norfolk, and with the university extension service, before initiating any adult education programs. The three systems work together to coordinate the needs of people in the region, with the institution best suited offering the desired service.
The presidents of the Kearney, Chadron, and Peru state colleges said similar arrangements exist in their areas.
Sen. Warner said work is continuing on LB579, to provide a uniform data system which will provide a basis for comparing curricula between the three state systems. He said more coordination is possibly needed with elementary and secondary schools because testimony has indicated that some school systems need modification.

According to the secondary schools is important, Sen. Warner said, but the state must also ensure that the quality of education offered at individual institutions is maintained.
The study committee has discussed defining roles of public, post-secondary education institutions in restrictive terms—not what they can do, but what they can't—as a means of avoiding overlap.

Board of trustees chairman Dr. Bill Collwell raised another point during the discussion. He said the power of controlling tuition rates is the power to fill dormitories on the four state college campuses.
Rather than expanding the university system, a substantial differential in tuition rates between the university system and the state college system could make the four state campuses more attractive and divert students from the university.
That would relieve somewhat the need for expanding the capital base of the university system and would make operation of the four state colleges more financially efficient, particularly in terms of paying off bonds of indebtedness on dormitories.
Sen. Warner said scheduling calls for the interim committee to complete the initial phase of its study by the middle of August, and to develop a philosophy for post-secondary education in Nebraska, and to outline alternatives for coordination.

Sales

Fourth quarter sales in Planning Region 11 for the last three months of 1974 amounted to 117.2 per cent of the comparable 1974 figure, and the yearly total in 1975 was 106.6 per cent ahead of 1974.
The region includes antelope, Madison, Pierce, Stanton and Wayne Counties.
Dixon County, in Region 25, experienced a 22.5 per cent increase in sales, comparing the fourth-quarter 1974 figures with fourth-quarter 1973 receipts. Total sales in Dixon County during 1975 were 13.5 ahead of 1974 sales.
Sales during 1974 in Region 25 increased 8.9 per cent over 1974. The fourth quarter figure of 1975 was 21.9 per cent ahead of the same figure for 1974. Cedar, Dixon and Knox counties comprise the region.
Of the state's 26 planning and development regions, 19 had year-to-year fourth quarter changes that were above the 10 per cent increase for the state as a whole. Region 25 was one of three regions which had a greater percentage increase in sales from 1974 to 1975 than from 1973 to 1974.

Business notes...

Pamida, Inc., estimates first quarter sales for 1976 at $7,050,000, an increase of 33 percent over the first quarter of the previous year. Pamida is the owner and operator of 190 Gibson Discount Centers in middle America, including the Wayne outlet. D.J. Witherspoon, Pamida's chairman, said that he felt content that the second quarter would show a 30 percent increase. Pamida had sales of $24,579,000 in the year ended Jan. 31, 1976, and earnings of $7,472,000, equal to $3 per share. Witherspoon also said that he had rarely seen business prospects look better for Pamida. He said that the company's organization was never more complete and skilled than it is today. He enumerated 23 recent management promotions and additions, designed to give Pamida greater control of its store and warehouse operations over 13 Midwestern and Mountain states. In talking about the future, Witherspoon announced that Pamida planned to open 20-25 new stores in the current year, adding approximately 400,000 square feet of floor space. He said 170,000 square feet of floor space were opened in the first quarter and that this compared to 25,000 square feet in the first quarter of last year. Pamida's employment is in excess of 5,000, an all time high. In other business, Pamida's Board of Directors declared a semi-annual dividend of five cents per share payable July 16, 1976 to stockholders of record June 4, 1976. This would indicate an annual dividend rate of ten cents per share.

Service Is Still Top Priority for Charlie

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kudrna this week will sponsor the grand opening of their new business, Charlie's Refrigeration and Appliance, at 311 Main St. in Wayne.

The building formerly housed Swanson's Television. Kudrna is no newcomer to the appliance business. He has been servicing a variety of appliances for 22 years, including the past 19 years in Wayne.

In 1972 he established his own repair business with offices at 106 Main St. The new location allows Kudrna to add retail sales to his operation, but he insists service is still the top priority for his business.

The new store offers a full line of laundry appliances, air conditioners and water softeners. Charlie and Mrs. Kudrna - Marge - will continue to operate the business unassisted.

The grand opening begins Tuesday and will run through Saturday.

Club Planning Tour

All members of the Town and Country Garden Club attended a dessert luncheon Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George Langenberg.

Mrs. Lyle Marotz presided and opened the meeting with a poem, entitled "Walk a Country Mile." Members answered roll call by bringing a colored picture of a flower or arrangement.

Mrs. Arthur Behmer received the prize for the best picture.

It was announced that the trip tour was cancelled. Mrs. Mary Kollath and Mrs. Walter Koehler were named to a committee to make arrangement for a tour to Stanton in June.

Mrs. George Langenberg gave the comprehensive study in Nebraska fauna. Her topic was "Cooper's Hawk." The lesson, "Phlox, Annual and Perennial," was given by Mrs. Arthur Behmer.

The next meeting will be June 27 with Mrs. Howard Fuhrman.

Supper guests last Friday in the Ronald Schmidt home were the Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Bruss and family, Mission, S.D., the Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Beckman and family, Stanton, and Janice Krenz, Pastor Bruss will be moving with his family to Hoskins in June where he will serve the Trinity Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Lucille Asmus, Mrs. Hil da Thomas, Janice Krenz and Mrs. Martha Frevert, Wayne.

Allen FFA'er Wins Ag Award

Rob Bock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Bock of Allen, recently was named winner of the 1976 Dekalb Agricultural Accomplishment Award.

The award is presented to the outstanding senior in vocational agriculture departments around the country. He was chosen for the award on the basis of scholarship, leadership and supervised farming program.

Rob graduated this year from Allen High school where he was president and treasurer of the local FFA chapter. His agricultural program included market hogs, beef cattle, farm work experience and crops.

This fall Bock plans to attend the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Agriculture.

As this year's Dekalb award winner, Rob's name will be inscribed along with previous winners on a special honors plaque provided by Dekalb Ag Research, Inc.

New 4-H Club

Wayne youngsters interested in joining the 4-H are invited to attend a meeting Thursday night at 7:30 in the fellowship hall at the Methodist Church, county agent Don Spitzle said.

Members from two 4-H clubs demonstrated some of their projects for West Elementary school youngsters last week, to show that 4-H is for city as well as rural youths.

The Wayne Winners, and You and Your Bike 4-H clubs will be combining to form a single club with projects designed specifically for youngsters who live in town. Thursday's meeting is scheduled to organize the new group and to discuss projects which will be in the areas of bicycling, electricity, entomology and woodworking.

Leaders of the new group will be Sam Schroeder, Maurice Boeckenhauer and John Struve, and Dian Hasenkamp.

Ice Cream Social

Sunday, Not Monday

A story on Memorial Day services which appeared Thursday in The Wayne Herald incorrectly stated that the Bethany Cemetery Association of Carroll was planning an ice cream social today (Monday).

The social was to have been held Sunday evening, May 30, beginning at 4 o'clock at the United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Ron Stollenberg and Mrs. Wayne Kerstine are in charge of planning Monday's Memorial Day program, beginning at 2 p.m. in the city auditorium.

Memorial Day message

Memorial Day, 1976, will mark 110 years since Gen. John Logan, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic issued his first Memorial Day proclamation:

"The 20th day of May is designated for the purpose of strewing with flowers and other nice decorations the graves of our comrades who died in defense of their country."

How ironic that after the most bitter, hate-filled war in history, a war which pitted brother against brother, that women of the Confederacy should decorate the graves impartially whether from the North or South.

The war between the states has often been referred to as a tragic mistake. No question about that, but the aftermath welded together one of the greatest nations in the history of the world.

One wonders whether enough of us really appreciate the tremendous legacy we have inherited. The question gets stronger as the small group makes its way down the rows of quiet graves on Memorial Day morning — placing a flag and a poppy wreath on each veteran's grave. The glaring evidence is there in such a small group doing the honors. What a slap to those valiant soldiers who gave their all so that we can enjoy the freedom we have.

"Freedom is Not Free." How true these words are and how sad that the prices must be paid. Let us reflect on this Memorial Day 1976 — to want to be better Americans — from the Nebraska Legionnaire.

NELIGH-OAKDALE district voters will again have a chance to decide on June 8 whether the west ward building, presently housing the first and second grades, will continue to be used. Voters will decide on the passage of a $275,000 proposal for the construction of a new 9300 square foot building to be located north of the Keohaven Rest Home.

PLAINVIEW'S board of education recently met with its architects to make plans for a new vocational agriculture structure. After making on-site inspections of possible locations for the structure, and weighing the advantages and disadvantages of each site, the board of education directed the architects to proceed with plans for the approximate 50x110 structure on school-owned property east of the elementary playground area and north of the city pump house building.

AN AERIAL spraying plane was forced down last Saturday morning approximately three miles south of the junction of Highway 81 and 20 west of Randolph. The plane which was enroute from Florida to Montana is owned by Farm Air and received considerable damage when it landed near the Ed Johnson farm. No apparent injuries were received by the pilot who said the adverse weather conditions were the cause of the forced landing.

PFC. JEFF JACOBSEN, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Jacobsen of Wisner, was critically injured during night training maneuvers at Fort Hood Texas last week. Jacobson was run over by an armored personnel carrier (a heavy track vehicle). A full investigation as to the circumstances of the accident is underway.

IN THE 10 weeks since the Ramada Inn was closed by the City of South Sioux City for nonpayment of water, sewer and electric bills, the motel and steakhouse have stood idle. The Omaha couple which purchased the real estate from Romney International Hotels, Inc. in July of 1974 is $154,052 delinquent in their payments to the Arizona-based corporation and warrants have been issued in Dakota County charging them with sales tax violations.

BRUCE MILLER, formerly of Pender, will join the central administrative staff of the Clark County School District in Las Vegas, Nev., on July 1. Miller, son of Forrest Miller of Pender and a graduate of Pender High School, will be director of students activities for the 81,000-pupil school district.

Support appreciated

Wayne Dear Editor: In behalf of our Class "B" state championship baseball team, I would like to take this opportunity to pass on special thanks. First, to a talented, dedicated group of extremely fine young men. To the local media for a job well done, especially KTCH, for coverage of games and the Wayne Herald. To Andy James for his annual pizza feed and Miron Jendry at the Fat Kat Drive-in for his special treats.

Also to the Wayne businessmen for their recognition prior to the state tourney. To those who supported us during the season and at the state tourney. To the many people who were part of the caravan and activities at the ballpark. What a great way to help close a successful school year, by seeing the young men come out winners twice in one day via the championship trophy and a royal homecoming welcome. This day will be remembered by our champs for years to come. — Coach Mike Mallette.

WHS principal thanks college

Wayne Dear Editor: Wayne State College officials and maintenance personnel are to be commended for their splendid efforts in assisting Wayne High School with its first attempt at outdoor commencement exercises at the Willow Grove on May 24. Their cooperation was excellent and certainly appreciated by 100 Bicentennial year graduates. Efforts of this nature lend credence to the Wayne State College image of excellence and diversity. Thanks from the staff and administration of Wayne High School and most importantly from the class of 1976, Donald V. Zeiss, Principal, Wayne High School.

STRAY Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

Wayne High's baseball team is certainly deserving of a hearty "congratulation" from everyone, on their recent victory in the Class B State Championship contest.

We're betting that The Omaha World-Herald gets a basket of letters from Wayne fans regarding their coverage of the game.

The story said Wayne has seldom been a power in state baseball competition. With eight trips to the finals in the past nine years, and three championship trophies in the display case, we'd certainly have to dispute that statement.

Enjoyable Interlude Players provided one of the more pleasant interludes in the city council meeting Tuesday night. They stormed in, displayed their trophy, called for a speech by the mayor, and received a standing ovation from everyone in the room.

Just prior to their visit the council had opened bids for two new transformers under the city's control.

Representatives of the companies which had submitted bids were on their way out after the bid opening, but didn't make it. They were met by a crowd of jubilant youngsters on their way in, so the out-of-towners backed up and joined the festivities. But that's never happened to them before.

Rural Youth Meet Planned The 1976 national conference of the R.Y.U.S.A. will be held Aug. 9-13 at Snow Mountain Ranch in Granby, Colo.

"Reach out is the theme of this year's conference which will include dancing, nature appreciation, horseback riding and a variety of other activities. The Rural Youth of the United States of America brings together single young adults from rural American and cities and urban areas.

Further information on the conference can be obtained by contacting Robert Patefield at Laurel.

New Logo In Use Nebraska Educational Television Network has a new "N" logo, seen below.

Guess I liked the old one better, but the network picked up a half million bucks in a settlement with NBC over the old logo. The national network Jan. 1 began using a logo identical, except for color, to one which the Nebraska network had been using for six months.

working under the supervision of NETV art director William Korbus, who had designed the look-alike "N." The new "N" was one of four designs prepared by the network art department and was sent to attorneys for legal clearance after receiving a clear-cut majority of votes from the NETV staff.

River ports along the Missouri from Omaha Council Bluffs to St. Joseph, Mo., looked forward to short-haul service (passenger and freight) on packet boats in the spring of 1857. This added service reflected the territory's growing economy. The prospects of having a boat based in the Nebraska-Iowa area, in addition to the presence of long-haul vessels from farther down river, was a source of regional pride. The pulse of Nebraska businessmen quickened because they knew the port of St. Joseph was soon to be tied to the Hannibal and St. Joe Railroad which put the Mississippi River traffic and eastern rail lines several days nearer to the West.

The Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad Silver Heels is a very appropriate name, and is given in honor of Colonel Singleton's (of Illinois) fine horse which excited such enthusiasm and admiration at the St. Louis Agricultural Fair and who proved the victor over his competitor, the gallant and renowned St. Lawrence.

"The company are duly arie and are determined to establish the trade success fully and upon completion of the railroad will have at least three boats in readiness, formed a tri-weekly line. If three should prove inadequate for the business, six boats will be furnished. "Our citizens and those all along the Missouri from this place to the Bluffs should be ready upon the advent of the Silver Heels to extend to her a hearty welcome and that encouragement the enterprise merits, and which will redound to their very great advantage. The following are the dimensions of the boat: "Length of keel, 175 feet; breadth of beam, 20 feet; three boilers, 26 feet long, 50 inches in diameter, two engines, 20 inch cylinder, 6 1/2 feet stroke, to work in 29 foot wheel, with a 9 foot bucket. "Her cabins will contain 36 state rooms, furnished with all the modern improvements, with accommodations for over 100 passengers. The people of the upper country may look for the Silver Heels upon the first opening of navigation, and we predict for her upon the water of the 'wild Missouri's' career as brilliant as the namesake."

The Silver Heels began trips with the opening of navigation in the spring. An unusual event on one trip that caught the eye of the Advertiser was the birth of a child christened John Barrow (after the packet's pilot) Fitzgerald. Passengers including Secretary G. W. Cargill; Messrs. J. B. Stufman, Sioux City; Patrick and Armstrong, Omaha; and Morton (Thomas or J. Sterling), Nebraska City, met to welcome the youngster and his parents to Nebraska. Jocular motions to name the baby "Nebraska Emigrant" or "Silver Spurs" lost. The mother was presented a 425 purse collected from passengers, and an odd 30 cents presented "male relatives of J.B. for the purpose of such bluffs as may exhilarate their spirits."

The Hannibal and St. Joe Railroad was not completed until two years later (Feb. 28, 1859), by which time a daily packet schedule involving twelve boats was arranged between St. Joseph and St. Louis. In 1858 other packets operating regularly along the Nebraska section of Missouri River included the Omaha Admiral (sank opposite Kickapoo City, Kan., Oct. 8, 1957) Klondike Child and Minnehaha.

THE SPIRAL fire escape on the south end of the old Wayne Hospital, now city hall, was removed Monday afternoon. Here, a workman attaches a chain to the crane used to remove the fire escape, which was tipped on its side, then removed in sections. City administrator Fred Brink said the structure might be placed on its side in one of the city parks, for use as playground equipment.

Career Education in the Elementary at Allen Consolidated THE WHYS & THE WHEREFORES

by Bruce O'Callaghan, Director ESEA Title III Project AWARE

Why do elementary students have to start thinking about jobs, or need to learn to like themselves, or be in self-awareness activities? And why have a career education project in the elementary, instead of the high school years, when students supposedly really start thinking about jobs or even quit school to work? And haven't elementary teachers visited places like the local fire station, only they didn't call it career education? Is career education only for the slow student, or for the gifted, and shouldn't they spend their time on the basics, like reading, writing and arithmetic?

To try to answer some of these more frequent questions then, there have always been some efforts to visit the world of the adults, whether it's a field trip or a speaker, with the objective to stimulate the kids and help them see that their school studies are not unrelated to their future. However, we have a situation that modern science has brought to education, just as scientific methods have helped the farmer. In agriculture, yields have been increased with such methods as using chemical fertilizer, irrigation systems, sprays and better hybrid seeds. Career education too, based on scientific research, has demonstrated better results in motivating students to want to learn their math, science or English communication skills by showing them repeatedly how it is used in many different jobs - some of which each student might and does fantasize that he or she could do some day. Thus as in agriculture, modern scientific methods have brought more and better of the same, to increase "yields" in the classroom.

Everybody knows, as research now also confirms, that kids want to be like and involved with adults, especially the ones they like or believe that they have something in common with. Youngsters too, have a hard time wanting to see beyond their immediate concerns or needs, as we all know around the Christmas season or when school is about to let out in the spring. In school, they become easily frustrated or indifferent if they cannot see the need or usefulness of what they are being asked to learn to master. This includes the slower, the average, or the fully gifted child - and that is why career education is for all of them - not any select or special group!

Research tells us too that work attitudes as well as many other important concepts and habits are formed in the early years of life. This is not to say that we can ignore the development of youngsters in the upper grades anymore than the farmer can ignore his crops at any point after planting. Thus true career education is not going to ignore the basics as some would think. On the contrary, it creates a greater desire and idea of the need of these basics in each child by making and helping him see, even in kindergarten, the reason why he must master them. He then sees along with the fireman's truck or the policeman's badge how these workers use their math or spelling or science.

The Title III program at Allen is the only funded career education in the state of Nebraska to a small class C school, and it expressly covers only the elementary grades. Of course, it is hoped by the director that as the children mature and move up into the junior high and high school years, the philosophy and methods that have been tried and proven successful and beneficial to the students will move with them right up through their senior year.

The Allen Board of education will ultimately make that decision, with input of course coming from the recommendations of the director, the administration, the staff, the results of the Selection Research Co. of Lincoln, and the State Dept. of Education of Nebraska. (Selection Research is an educational consultative firm that helps the project with such things as the measurement of values. Surveys were given to our students in the fall and the spring to see if any change in attitudes was measurable. These were also given to a comparable school that does not have a project. In this case, our warmest thanks to the Newcastle Public School administration and staff.)

In conclusion, one should remember that teachers and especially parents do not always agree as to the best way to raise and educate youngsters - they haven't ever since Cain gave reason for parents to wonder how things could go so wrong! And no doubt, any program that is so new and presented on a voluntary basis can be left alone or rejected because that can be an example of the "good old American freedom of choice" in action! However, the following pictures will help demonstrate that progress is being made, both with the project and in the motivation and education of the Allen youngsters - the same kind of progress that, from a new and unheard of constitution, started a small nation on the road to greatness 200 years ago, because it proved to work and be improved upon with experience, hard work and the blessings of Providence.

(The project presented or reported herein was performed pursuant to a grant from the Department of Education, ESEA Title III, State of Nebraska. However, the opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the State Department of Education, and no official endorsement by the State Department of Education should be inferred.)

... discover what values one should have towards self and country

... and have the rest of the world watch them.

Written by Darlene Roberts
Role playing was introduced to the first and second grade. This provided the child an opportunity to see alternative solutions to problem-solving and decision-making activities. Even in early stages of a child's life emotions play a significant role, as children become older, their emotions become more differentiated and complex.
Some of the understanding goals and purposeful behavior is that every child needs to see the antidote for vacillation, lack of confidence, disappointment and fear of failure and courage. He also needs to become aware of the relevance of tasks involving home, school and community for his present and future goals as well as the values of planning for the accomplishment of these tasks.

4H CLUB

Pleasure and Profit
The meeting of the Pleasure and Profit 4-H Club was called to order by president, Douglas Ellis May 21 at 2 p.m. at the fire hall. The secretary's minutes were read by Derwin Roberts and the treasurer's report was given. Roll call was naming your favorite color.

New officers were elected for 1976 with Douglas Ellis, president; Mike Hoffman, vice-president; Derwin Roberts, secretary and treasurer; Verneal Roberts, historian, and Mike Ellis, news reporter.

The club decided to donate $5 to the Alton Bicentennial. Club dues are 10 cents per meeting or 60 cents per year. Lunch was served by Verneal and Derwin Roberts.

Next meeting will be June 4 at 2 p.m. at the Allen Fire hall. Mike Ellis, news reporter.

Do Bees
Do Bees 4-H Club met May 21 in the LeRoy Koch home with six members and two leaders answering roll call with "Who You Like to Do on a Rainy Day."

An outing was planned for July 6 and 7 at Ponca Park for camp-out. All members are to meet at the LeRoy Koch home at 2:30 p.m. July 6.

A demonstration was given by Cheryl Koch on how to put in a fly zipper. Awards have been received by Cheryl Koch, Tammy Carlson and Kay Anderson on dress reviews. Cheryl also received a Native of Nebraska award and Nebraska Heritage. Koch was served by Cheryl Koch.

Next meeting will be June 4 at 2 p.m. at the Northeast Station, near Concord, with Donna Peterson, hostess. Cheryl Meyer, Wakefield, will demonstrate judging.

Carla Johnson, news reporter.

America's oldest veterans include 800 of the original 392,000 participants in the Spanish-American War, the Veterans Administration reported.

Health Council Will Review Manpower Plans

The Northern Nebraska Health Planning Council will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Services Room at Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk.

Items of business include a report on the status of the emergency medical services program in Northern Nebraska, an update on the Greater Nebraska Health Systems Agency, and a presentation of the results of the health manpower planning effort. Revisions in the By-Laws of NNHPC will also be discussed.

The public is welcome to attend.

Plan Upcoming Events

Concord Betterment Association and Bicentennial committee met at the Concord fire hall Wednesday evening with 12 present. Chairman Norman Anderson led the business meeting.

The historical booklet of Concord was discussed for final details as it is almost ready to go to press. A site was decided for the flag pole for the new Bicentennial flag.

A clean-up day was set for June 2 at 4 p.m. Anyone who wishes to help should meet at the bandshell. A picnic potluck supper will follow. Coffee will be furnished. A report on the Concord High School alumni for July 2 was read.

A motion was made to have an old-fashioned celebration and picnic supper July 3 at 5:30 p.m. at the Concord fairgrounds with entertainment following and fire works. Committees were elected. Coffee will be furnished. Anyone is welcome to attend.

OBITUARIES

Norma Kern

Norma Kern of Austin, Tex., sister of Val Peterson of Wayne, died recently at Austin. Funeral services were held at Austin and Monday at Fremont with burial at Oakdale, Nebr. A 1923 graduate of Wayne High School, she attended Augustine Nursing School in Chicago and was a nurse in Northeast Nebraska until her marriage to the Rev. Fred Kern. She had lived in Venezuela for several years, where her husband was in charge of the Lutheran educational activities. She was a public speaker and well-known writer.

Other survivors include her widower, two brothers, Evar of Long Beach, Calif., and Carl of Encinitas, Calif.; a sister Thelma Launt of Fremont, and several nieces and nephews.

Emma Gerlemann

Funeral services for Emma Gerlemann, 85, of Wayne were held Friday afternoon at the Wilse Mortuary, Wayne. She died Tuesday at the Providence Medical Center. The Rev. S. K. deFosse officiated and pallbearers were Stanley Redel, Dan Gelster, Ted Hoeman, Clarence Hoeman, Gerald Kniezche and Gilbert Baier. Burial was in the Greenwood Cemetery.

Emma Gerlemann, daughter of Henry and Wilhelmina Wiffler Brune, was born Feb. 3, 1891 at Wayne. Following her marriage to Otto Gerlemann Dec. 9, 1914 at her parents home, the couple farmed until 1942, when they moved into Wayne. She was a member of the Theophilus Church, southwest of Wayne.

Preceding her in death were her husband in 1973, two sons and three sisters. Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Mel (Helen) Gelster of Omaha; three grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Youth Receives Altar Award

Mrs. Mary Tiegs and her children, Rose and Tom Malin, all of Wayne, attended ceremonies May 14 at St. Peter's Church in Omaha in which Mrs. Tiegs' son, Stanley Malin Jr. received an altar boy of the year award.

Archbishop Daniel Sheehan presented awards to 130 youths, three from each parish in the archdiocese. Stanley Malin Jr. and his brother Michael live in Boys Town in Omaha. Michael sang in the Boys Town choir during the presentation.

Rose and Stanley Malin Jr. also celebrated their birthdays during the get together.

Also attending was Stanley Malin Sr. of Norfolk.

Gas Rate Hikes Scheduled for Winside, Laurel

Laurel and Winside are among 153 Nebraska communities which will undergo increases in natural gas rates July 1, according to Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co.

The company said the new retail rates reflect increase in the cost of gas purchased by KN for use in the Nebraska communities. The company said the rate hike will add about 75 cents to the average monthly gas bill.

WAYNE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska
May 18, 1976

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met May 18, 1976 with members Biermann, Eddie and Burt. Minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

Advance notice of this meeting was published in The Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on May 13, 1976.

Upon motion by Burt and a second by Eddie, Chairman Merlin Biermann was authorized to sign a grant award form received from the Nebraska Crime Commission which assures the County's payment of the cash match for the Constitution of Law Enforcement Grant recently approved.

The following Resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, THE eighty-third session of the Nebraska Legislature enacted into law the Nebraska Civil Defense Act of 1973, which authorizes and directs each county, and each city which is desirous, within the State of Nebraska to establish a local organization for Civil Defense, and to do certain other acts in connection therewith, and

WHEREAS, such action is not only required by law, but that it appears to be in the best interests of the City and County and of the citizens thereof to participate in the benefits and responsibilities of said act, and

WHEREAS, it is the desire and intent of the Board of Commissioners for Wayne County, Wayne, Nebraska to establish a City/County Civil Defense Organization

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY SAID (BOARD) AND/OR SAID (CITY COUNCIL):

- That there is hereby established within said City/County a Joint Organization for Civil Defense to be operated in conformity with the Nebraska Civil Defense Act of 1973, as amended. This organization will be known as the WAYNE-WAYNE COUNTY Civil Defense Agency.
 - That, respecting certain confidentially in his infancy and ability, E. L. Hillyer, whose address is 314 Lincoln St., Wayne, Nebr., is hereby appointed director of Civil Defense for said CITY/COUNTY organization, to serve during the pleasure of this City Council and County Board until a successor is duly appointed.
 - That the County Treasurer will be responsible for the receipt and disbursement of all Civil Defense Funds, where funds are provided for Civil Defense purposes.
- It was moved by Floyd Burt and seconded by Ken Eddie that the above and foregoing resolution be adopted. Roll call vote results: 3 Ayes and 0 Nays.

The following claims were audited and allowed. Warrants to be ready for distribution on May 28, 1976.

Lady Surprises Family With 2nd Set of Twins

It's a rare event when a mare foals twin colts. But it's even rarer if a colt when she does it twice and the twins are born alive.

That rarely happened two weeks ago on the Gaylen Jackson farm, about six miles northwest of Allen.

The proud mare named Lady accomplished that feat seven years after she became the mother of twin fillies, Smokey and Sparky, on April 13, 1969. Shortly after 2 a.m. May 5, she gave the world twin colts, named Tinker and Tonka.

Lady's owner, Kim Jackson, wasn't around when the news happened, but she was just as surprised as the rest of the family when her father called her in Lincoln about the good news.

Jackson bought the Quarter horse 10 years ago at a Norfolk auction when she was two years old. Since then she's been a good horse to help roundup the cattle, Jackson pointed out.

When the twin colts were born, Gaylen wasn't sure if both were going to live. Tonka appeared to be real weak. "She had some problems so I didn't expect him to make it through the night," Jackson pointed out.

The surprise came later in the morning when he found the colt prancing around.

By fall the colts should be weaned and on their own. Probably then he'll decide whether to keep the sixth and seventh additions to the family of horses the Jacksons now have.

ONLY TWO weeks old, these twin colts scamper with their mother, Lady, in the front yard of the Gaylen Jackson farm about six miles northwest of Allen. The pair are the second set of twins for the 12-year-old quarter horse who belongs to Jackson's daughter, Kim.
